

For more African books please visit <https://novelsguru.com/>

*****

Thank you guys for downloading this book from my site please keep visiting <https://novelsguru.com/> for supporting me and also don't forget to share it with your friends.

Dear Friends please download these books direct from <https://novelsguru.com/> bookmark this site for latest African books, and also supporting me Thanks.

*****

1

Muzi Moyo is the eldest son of Mthulisi Moyo and Sethule Mpofu. She was scolded by Sandile and the little girl was Simingani who is the only female in the house. Moyo is a person who loved humanity and all of his children were brought up with this attitude since he used to take care of everything for himself while other people flocked to his home wanting to strengthen their homes. He was in his home here in the countryside of Lupane, because he grew up at home, he did not know many things.

He said that when Muzi grew up, he left home and we went to research like all grown up boys.

Luckily, he got a job herding cows in Plumtree, which is where Moyo's boy was living.

He was lucky and was taken by a man who had a good family in that section, even though sometimes he was angry, he shouted and silenced the whole house. Dingani Dube and his wife Ntombi Ncube and their two daughters Thobeka and Thando. They have grown up, it's just that they are women, that's why the father hires boys to help here at home and take care of the cows that are full of the barn. Thobeka did well in her studies, her father told her to continue studying. She is studying to be a nurse at Plumtree General Hospital. Thando was stubborn and did not succeed well in his studies, he tried to get his father to go back to school but he failed. He lives at his mother's house.

It's nice here at Dube's because Muzi is treated like a child of the house to the extent that the neighbors say that he uses medicine here because Dube's boys didn't stay for a month until they were three years old without being chased, but Muzi stayed until he was a few years old since he came when he was a little boy until he grew up and used to tend Dube's cattle. Dube is a man who works to load people's belongings from the south and bring them to their homes, so he has a big house and a cow which they say is not much for others. Muzi is loved here at home, even when Dube is there, you can see them all driving around in the car talking to each other and sometimes they all go to herd when Dube finds time.

It's nice here at home, Muzi and Thando have started to be friends because when he was growing up, Thando didn't like Muzi. Friendship continues but love is not just friendship anymore, someone is forcing him to love Muzi. The loneliness of not having someone to talk to has made this village closer to each other in a big way because when Ncube goes to bed, he leaves the two of them in the room and they talk until late at night, since his sister only comes to visit their resident's house.

He visited Thobeka as it is the weekend but his sister is not happy with his visit here at home.

They didn't talk to each other and she looked at him with a talking eye, they slept the whole night without talking to each other That burdened Thobeka and she told herself that

As soon as she wakes up, she tries to ask her mother what is bothering her sister.

"Wake up, mother", it was Thobeka who entered the room yawning because she had just woken up even though the sun had just risen

"We are awake my child, how are you getting up?" replied Ncube without a moment's hesitation

"I'm waking up, but I'm not doing well, mother

Advertisement

You know, I didn't sleep thinking about it", it was Thobeka who wanted to tell her mother about her concern because the way her sister acted she didn't understand her and she asked herself many questions whether it was because they didn't live together anymore or if there was something else.

"Wake up mother", greeted Thando and entered the room stretching. When he finished, he picked up his sister, looking at her with a winking eye as he spoke. Thobeka is also bothered by her sister's behavior, she asks and reprimands herself thinking that she has grown up and Thando is still the same girl they all used to play with when they were growing up but she is again bothered by why she has changed so much.

"We are getting up my child, how are you getting up?" answered Ncube the one who clicked in the crowd saw that it was the two of them they care about each other.

"I woke up, what's for dinner today?" asked Thando, shaking the pots, because he had woken up in a fit of rage. We are hungry more than satisfactory self-control.

"But Thando, you say you just woke up at this moment, who says who has woken up and cooked?" Thobeka asked in a calm voice "And you didn't cook? You woke up a long time ago and I thought we were done", replied Thando with tears in his eyes

"Oh Love, don't you ever answer your sister. The elder is a human being, so you must answer with respect and since you are the youngest, you better cook", replied Ncube

"Mama, I cook every day, I thought that since Thobeka was here, I would rest for a while. But what can I say as he is already loved here at home", replied Thando as he pulled the pots to wash so he could start cooking breakfast.

"Oh, what do we mean when you say that your loved one is from here at home. Who is the favorite?" Thobeka asked

"Love, speak well of your sister. What do you mean when he says he is loved from here at home. Who hates you?" asked Ncube in a high-pitched voice, after all, the heart of Ncube is small here.

Thando came out with his pitcher and washed us outside.

His coming out gave them the opportunity to stay talking here in the crowd even if Thobeka was no longer out of the bag.

He has told himself that he will keep quiet but be aware of everything that Thando does in case he finds a reason but the difficult thing is when he will do that as he has been spending a lot of time in his studies, only coming back from visiting home. Thobeka tried with all her might, but she couldn't see anything. What is this that makes Love doesn't he enjoy my presence here at home? Am I confusing you with something? What could it be after all, I have never heard of it being said to be in a hurry? Is it growing up or do you suspect that even though I am there, he is the one who cooks? Thobeka asks herself repeated questions, but she doesn't get an answer, so she tells herself that she will be the one to cook in the evening to see what Thando will say about that.

He has told himself that he will wait for Muzi when he comes back in the afternoon and let him talk to her even though it will be difficult for us to find time to talk with Muzi alone because no one will hear because he doesn't want Thando to find out that someone is thinking about him.

2

The day went on and Thobeka kept asking herself and answering about Thando's actions because not long ago he was saying that he could go on a trip and enjoy each other and laugh all day long and into the night they talked endlessly but all this has changed now that they are looking at each other as if they were wives in a tent. When the sun was cool, Thobeka fished her konza and went to the cistern to get water, Thando stayed by himself until Ncube woke up, that's why he stood up and fished his own konza following behind but his walking was that of someone who doesn't want to. It was left for him to speak because his mother had already shouted.

Since Thobeka had already left first, she turned around first and came and drew a pot and washed herself in peace and threw herself into the fireplace, she said when Thando arrived the sun had already reached her mother and she found her sister shaking and this scared her because she wanted to come and speak badly when she found that nothing had been done. Seeing her sister shaking she started to hold him here and there and we tried to help but Thobeka refused and asked her to sit down and rest today. He was shocked by Thobeka's action but in his heart he was very happy, telling her that he found her today.

The sun has set and we have locked up the cow in Muzi so they can all sit down dinner is served in the church.

"You cooked today my child, thank you", Ma Ncube said as we washed his hands. After all, it was said that Thando can cook food left over, but Tobeka can cook, and people eat until they lick the food.

"I said this morning that Thobeka is loved, I cook every day but my mother has never finished the food I give her, I don't take it for Thanksgiving anymore", said Thando angrily.

"Oh, my child, you know that your sister cooks better than you".

"No, if that's the case, he will always cook like a person who knows how to cook", replied Thando. Thobeka stood up quietly and collected all the dishes that were used to eat and went out to wash them because we saw for her that her sister no longer loved her so she didn't want to make any noise about washing.

Muzi, on the other hand, has been silent all this time but he has noticed that there is a misunderstanding between the two, and he wonders what could be causing it. But who are these two?, he was proud of his brother Moyo after all as they are all grown up in his eyes, he knows them how they loved each other and the many things they all did. He asked himself and he didn't have an answer, so they concluded that he was trying to ask Thobeka, because they had a good relationship, so he could tell him what could be causing the misunderstanding between them, but what was difficult was how they would find time for them to talk together. Muzi's head was full of thoughts because he was in the dark and didn't know what was making Thando bitter because since his sister had arrived he was unapproachable.

After talking, he said goodbye to Ncube

Advertisement

He went to his bedroom leaving the three of them in the room. After a while, Thando came out with him because he kept quiet and didn't speak to anyone here, Thobeka and Muzi were talking to each other and he was silent as if nothing happened and he just laughed but that was it. He said that by going out, he gave them a chance that they had both been crying for, he went out and looked outside and Thobeka saw him entering their exhibition and he knew that this was the time when they could visit the Village,

"You know what I'm eating inside", Thobeka said

"What's that Tobeka? There's something I wanted to ask you", answered Muzi and stayed on the subject

After all, you don't want to waste time on the possibility that someone will come in before they have told their story.

"Tell me, Thando, do we live like this every day?"

"Why do you say that?" Muzi asked himself what he was doing it's useless.

"You know, since I arrived, we haven't talked well, I'm just bitter, I don't know my sister like this. Do you have any information about what is going on with him?" Thobeka asked as she approached the fireplace and turned it on so that it would shine in the room.

"No, of course I was going to ask you what you did to him, after all, he was like this a few days ago. And what did your sister do?" asked Muzi and then we saw that Tobeka was seeing what he was seeing.

They continued to talk but it was difficult to find out who would ask Thando because he was not able to come in these days.

They agreed that they will be aware of all his actions and that Muzi will have to stay to see if he continues or changes when Thobeka returns to school.

They talked and sat until they fell asleep, so they said goodbye to each other as they went to their bedroom. He said as soon as he entered the house he felt nervous

Thando is gliding and looking at the wall. Thobeka wondered if she had the courage to ask

"Oh, you're still not sleeping".

"It's a matter of asking me that, did you want to find me sleeping? Is that why you were sitting in the village hall?", Thando turned and asked her sister in disgust.

"No, I wasn't fighting, I was asking why, because you left a long time ago, I thought you had died".

"You don't care if I'm sleeping or looking, you keep doing what you're doing and leave me", he replied

"Okay then, sorry for asking", Tobeka lowered herself.

It was quiet after that. Muzi is in her bed while she is slipping and telling him to sleep, she is wondering what Thando is eating because yesterday they were talking and it was good but it was enough when her sister arrived and she changed. Of course

Did you miss your sister's visit? If that's the case then why doesn't he talk to me anymore? Muzi asked himself over and over until he told himself that he would wait for Thobeka to leave as there was only one day left.

3

It was a difficult week for Thobeka because it was difficult for her to think about Muzi lo Thando, she even dreamed of them all sitting in the house talking to each other, but she comforted herself by saying that they grew up not understanding each other and that it would take a long time for them to get along. Since that day, they have been talking every day and Muzi wonders if Thando has anything to say, but his purpose is to hear how the two are doing. It hurts when he thinks that the person he loved for a long time will be taken away by his sister, he asks himself many questions about what he can do to prevent that from happening.

While Muzi was sitting in the crowd, his phone rang like every day Thobeka was calling, and she started to ask if she was calling every day.

"How is Tobeka?" It was Muzi who answered his phone. Ask each other about life as usual.

"How are you, my sister, as these days you only respect me?"

"No, he continues, know that people change in the truth, because I could not have said that the day will come when I will be surrounded by Love, since you are the only one.

we used to get along and you always treated me with respect", answered Muzi because the ringing of his phone made him go outside so that those in the queue could hear what he was saying

"Ha-ha-ha, yes they are changing people but Mangoye blames Uchago. I think he is looking for something or hiding something because I know my sister when she asks for something. I'm doing everything", Thobeka replied with a smile on hearing that she was the only one who could treat Muzi in a respectful way but she also wonders what she will do if it is possible that her sister also wants what she wants.

"Do you think it's been a week since he asked for what he wanted?" Muzi just asks, confused

"Yes, it happens, sometimes he waits for you to speak. After all, it's difficult for us to start it as women, ours is to show it with the actions of the cylinder. He might be waiting for you". They said that with the intention of hearing what Muzi will say after this, after all, we are determined that he must take action, he must find out where Muzi is going first, and then he will reveal himself to him.

"Hey Thobeka, but how can you imagine something like this. After all, you are becoming the same as my sisters, and Thando, of course, why can't I play for him in the right way he was looking at me and I don't see that that is what he wants. If it was you, I would understand".

"Oh, but buddy, don't ever say that, Thando and I are the same after all, if you see her as your sister, you must see me as your sister, there is no difference". Thobeka is just talking with her heart and lungs because she can see that they are moving towards each other.

After hanging up the phone, he went back to the room where Ncube lo Thando was sitting, when he entered the door, Thando changed and looked at him with eyes full of many questions, and Muzi asked himself what he had done wrong. Ncube wasted no time they said goodbye like the day they left both of them in the crowd.

Advertisement

"These days you are always on the phone at Muzi. Are you still young?"

"Wow, does a person who is on the phone every day have a girlfriend?"

Muzi asked him, he remembered what Thobeka was talking about

"No, I'm not saying that, I was just asking myself, after all, these days, at this time, this is the person who calls you. I'll tell you who the bride is who has taken his heart", he said laughing at Thando trying to hide the fact that he was there he is considering Muzi, since he still wants to hide with a finger.

"Ha-ha-ha, if you knew who I was talking to on the phone, you would never have said that. I was talking about your sister". He's just answering because Muzi doesn't know anything

"Hmm! But everyday? Why does it matter so much when your phone rings and you go outside to hear it alone? What is this Tobeka saying so much every day?" he just asks because he is scared inside because he saw that his person was taken away and he said that he is preparing for himself.

"What is it but we can bring this Tobeka together without just talking?"

"What do we know, we keep saying that people are talking and we see a stomach appear right there".

"But would you ever think such a thing about your sister? You and I are like one family, I can't do that. What would your father say if I did something similar to that? I will never dare to do that sister".

They talked until they fell asleep, like every day one of the other went to his office, he refused to fall asleep in Muzi and asked himself about Thobeka's speech since Thando's questioning made him start paying attention to something he never thought of. At least once it made him look at Thando and he felt lonely, he had never thought that Thando would be sleeping in that state of mind. Takama Ncube is beautiful, he once again took his mother's well-shaped body, all the boys in the section are obsessed with him, but it's hard to find him and he's not in his mouth, they're afraid to greet him. He wonders again that if what Thobeka was saying is true, how will he stop that, since long ago he would have chosen Thobeka because he is honest and knows someone.

It was difficult for Thando to sleep thinking of many tricks on how he could get Muzi for himself because he saw that it was a good time to take care of himself since his sister was not around. He is sliding around and looking here and there trying to find a solution to his problem but it is difficult how he will do it.

He didn't go with Thobeka, who was trying to figure out what plan he could do at the weekend when he visited home. He ended up telling himself that he would come and get closer to Muzi first so that his sister would he didn't get a chance, until he finally thought that there was something going on between them, but he was determined that he would first ask Muzi to hear who he chose between the two of them since he didn't want to work for nothing but as far as he knew, he was confident that no matter what happened, he was the one who took the place.

Muzi was a good boy, he behaved well and they never heard anything bad about him, he was a boy that every woman who is willing to build would desire. Maybe he didn't study anywhere but the way he thought and the way he handled things, you could swear he was a scholar because this respect was asked of him a boy.

It was a difficult night for the three of them, but they didn't know that all of them were thinking about the same thing, it was difficult for Muzi to come out of this decision even if he wanted to. Thobeka was also shocked by her learning and she saw herself as nobody there.

4

The day went by, and the weekend that Thobeka was crying for came. When it was Friday afternoon, he didn't waste time and packed his luggage for his wife, because he was in a hurry to see his wife, but what was on his mind the most was to come and see Muzi.

He tied his clothes and carried this small bag because he is only going for two days so he doesn't need to carry a lot of luggage.

Thobeka entered the house in the evening and found them all sitting in the crowd finishing their afternoon meal.

"Wow Thobeka came in like this today why? Why didn't you call and meet your brother Muzi?" asked Ncube after all he knew that it was early at the bus stop.

"Goodbye, everyone", greeted Thobeka, because her mother had come down with a question before she could sit down.

"Yes, how are you, my child?" Ncube replied that it was clear that he was waiting for an answer from his son who entered in the dark because he had never done this and when he came back after a while he used to call and let them know.

"I'm fine, I just told myself that there's nothing wrong, mother. I didn't want to smoke, but what will I do when Muzi is not there?"

"It's okay, my child. Love, get up and put some food for your sister if there is any left".

Thando stood up and did as her mother said, even if she had a good heart for her sister's arrival, there was nothing she could do, she didn't want her mother to see this.

They talked until he said goodbye to Ncube, like every day he leaves himself in his room, Thando gets up and carries the dishes and goes out because the moon is shining outside. They were left talking about Muzi lo Thobeka in the crowd, and we could see that only Thobeka was smiling.

He said he could finish washing his dishes and Thando went into the kitchen, he didn't stay any longer and he went out peacefully because this heart is no longer happy with the presence of his sister here at home, he is determined to find Muzi for himself but it is difficult to do all this as his sister has always told him how he feels so he chooses to leave both of them. who are still hoping that Muzi will never end up throwing two at his sister.

They chatted and chatted, when laughter was heard coming from the crowd, Thando felt his heart pounding and wondered.

what were they talking about that made them laugh so much, while Thobeka asked Muzi to hear what he thought about the two of them. Muzi's answer made it clear that he was selfish but as far as he knew his sister, he knew that she is a determined person when she wants something. They stayed in the crowd until they fell asleep, then they said goodbye to each other and went to their booth.

"Love

Advertisement

Are you sick?"

"No, I didn't sleep, what's the matter?"

"It's nothing, I just wanted to talk. You told me what happens when I'm not there, until I came back here you said you were not happy because of that I didn't like to talk too much", Thobeka said.

"Oh, and you brought it to tell the story of the family? I was saying that you should download it to see it. Then who said Is there anything left to happen that you should know?"

"Oh, but Thando, why don't you answer so badly, I'm asking you nicely. I wasn't fighting, I was saying we should just talk like before but it's clear that you don't like to talk anymore mine. I wanted to ask, but I'm going to keep quiet about my sister, I'll ask others".

"What did you want to ask?"

"I heard that Muzi has a girlfriend right here in the section, I thought you might have this information and tell me because you know I can kill someone with Muzi, so I want to let them know that his girlfriend and reprimand her".

"Why are you bothering yourself so much about Muzi who doesn't care about you? When did he start telling me about himself, but to this day, he has never mentioned one to you. How do you know that you will end up being yours? It is possible that you are talking so much and he sees his sister in you. Get up from the eggs, sister, your house will be taken away by others, and you will be left with nothing to eat". He answered and Thobeka was so moved that he felt pain when he thought that Muzi had never spoken like someone he saw.

They talked for a little while Thando wanted to talk about it, but then he saw that it was a good opportunity to try to lure Thobeka away from Muzi, and this sister is something he is trying to come here because you can see what trick he is lying on.

They woke up in the morning and we were going to get water, when they came back they had to go back a second time and Thando immediately left with water in the fireplace which scared Thobeka and she wondered if her sister was in trouble for her actions. The whole weekend was Thando cooking, Thobeka didn't get a single chance to cook even though she was determined to cook every day if she could find her sister in the first month.

Mvulo arrived, he caught Thobeka on her way back to her school, but she was just walking away, her heart aching because this time of speaking, Muzi did not find us from the enemy, He then relied on his cell phone to say it is the one that will bring them together every day. He knew that his sister would be left with a lot of opportunity to do what he wanted, and he no longer trusted her with his kindness thinking that he could feed Muzi.

Thobeka's departure was a great joy for Thando because he knew that he and his family would be left alone, with plenty of opportunities to do everything he wanted.

He no longer respected Takama Ncube, you could not deny that he was the one who said he could be sent to command, he was fulfilling the saying that the king is right when he still wants the kingdom.

5

The day went by, and the weekend that Thobeka was crying for came. When it was Friday afternoon, he didn't waste time and packed his luggage for his wife, because he was in a hurry to see his wife, but what was on his mind the most was to come and see Muzi.

He tied his clothes and carried this small bag because he is only going for two days so he doesn't need to carry a lot of luggage.

Thobeka entered the house in the evening and found them all sitting in the crowd finishing their afternoon meal.

"Wow Thobeka came in like this today why? Why didn't you call and meet your brother Muzi?" asked Ncube after all he knew that it was early at the bus stop.

"Goodbye, everyone", greeted Thobeka, because her mother had come down with a question before she could sit down.

"Yes, how are you, my child?" Ncube replied that it was clear that he was waiting for an answer from his son who entered in the dark because he had never done this and when he came back after a while he used to call and let them know.

"I'm fine, I just told myself that there's nothing wrong, mother. I didn't want to smoke, but what will I do when Muzi is not there?"

"It's okay, my child. Love, get up and put some food for your sister if there is any left".

Thando stood up and did as her mother said, even if she had a good heart for her sister's arrival, there was nothing she could do, she didn't want her mother to see this.

They talked until he said goodbye to Ncube, like every day he leaves himself in his room, Thando gets up and carries the dishes and goes out because the moon is shining outside. They were left talking about Muzi lo Thobeka in the crowd, and we could see that only Thobeka was smiling.

He said he could finish washing his dishes and Thando went into the kitchen, he didn't stay any longer and he went out peacefully because this heart is no longer happy with the presence of his sister here at home, he is determined to find Muzi for himself but it is difficult to do all this as his sister has always told him how he feels so he chooses to leave both of them. who are still hoping that Muzi will never end up throwing two at his sister.

They chatted and chatted, when laughter was heard coming from the crowd, Thando felt his heart pounding and wondered.

what were they talking about that made them laugh so much, while Thobeka asked Muzi to hear what he thought about the two of them. Muzi's answer made it clear that he was selfish but as far as he knew his sister, he knew that she is a determined person when she wants something. They stayed in the crowd until they fell asleep, then they said goodbye to each other and went to their booth.

"Love

Advertisement

Are you sick?"

"No, I didn't sleep, what's the matter?"

"It's nothing, I just wanted to talk. You told me about what happened when I was away, until I came back here you said you were not happy and I didn't like to talk too much", Thobeka said.

"Oh, and you brought it to tell the story of the family? I was saying that you should download it to see it. So who said there is something left to happen that you should know?"

"Oh, but Thando, why don't you answer so badly, I'm asking you nicely. I wasn't fighting, I was saying we should just talk like before but it's clear that you don't like to talk anymore mine. I wanted to ask, but I'm going to keep quiet about my sister, I'll ask others".

"What did you want to ask?"

"I heard that Muzi has a girlfriend right here in the section, I thought you might have this information and tell me because you know I can kill someone with Muzi, so I want to let them know that his girlfriend and reprimand her".

"Why are you bothering yourself so much about Muzi who doesn't care about you? When did he start telling me about himself, but to this day, he has never mentioned one to you. How do you know that you will end up being yours? It is possible that you are talking so much and he sees his sister in you. Wake up from the eggs, sister, your house will be taken away by others, and you will be left with nothing to eat". He answered and Thobeka was so moved that he felt pain when he thought that Muzi had never spoken like someone he saw.

They talked for a little while Thando wanted to talk about it, but then he saw that it was a good opportunity to try to lure Thobeka away from Muzi, and this sister is something he is trying to come here because you can see what trick he is lying on.

They woke up in the morning and we were going to get water, when they came back they had to go back a second time and Thando immediately left with water in the fireplace which scared Thobeka and she wondered if her sister was in trouble for her actions. The whole weekend was Thando cooking, Thobeka didn't get a single chance to cook even though she was determined to cook every day if she could find her sister in the first month.

Mvulo arrived, he caught Thobeka on her way back to her school, but she was just walking away, her heart aching because this time of speaking, Muzi did not find us from the enemy, He then relied on his cell phone to say it is the one that will bring them together every day. He knew that his sister would be left with a lot of opportunity to do what he wanted, and he no longer trusted her with his kindness thinking that he could feed Muzi.

Thobeka's departure was a great joy for Thando because he knew that he and his family would be left alone, with plenty of opportunities to do everything he wanted.

He no longer respected Takama Ncube, you could not deny that he was the one who said he could be sent to command, he was fulfilling the saying that the king is right when he still wants the kingdom.

6

Days passed, Thobeka and Muzi continued to talk on the phone because it was difficult for Thobeka to present her case and she was determined to continue talking on the phone. It was fun to talk to them every day because they didn't lack things to talk about and when they were growing up they got along well so it wasn't difficult for them to talk.

The days of the second week went by and Thobeka did not return home, she did not want her visit to be suspicious and she wanted to see what her sister was up to. Thando got up to fetch water, he said when he came back he started cooking as usual, he cooked until he finished and Muzi himself did not return to the kitchen as he was a person who used to cook for us.

When he entered Muzi, he was attracted by a flower coming from Ncube's neck. He put his hat on display, and pulled out the bathtub he used to bathe in to take water and wash his eyes.

He dragged himself towards the kitchen, where he found Thando bowing down to wash his dishes, and Thando was alone at home as Ncube had gone out in the morning to attend a meeting. Thando bowed down and wrapped his towel around himself, saying that he was waking up Muzi's eyes, and Thando's legs were stretched out.

outside, the boy stood and looked at it, he felt something coming from inside, and he tried to control himself.

"Oh, we saw Thando", he said because he thought that he might be seen by Ncube looking at Thando, he was shocked before he agreed and raised his head to this side smiling because he heard that the person talking was Muzi

"Yes, Muzi, how are you?" And we came back so soon?" asked Thando when he stood and understood that the towel had come down a little and covered the leg that Muzi was covering.

"Yes, I've been back for a long time and you didn't see me?"

"Wow, I didn't know that we were back", answered Thando, but Muzi didn't listen to him since he created an image of Thando in his heart, and he reprimanded himself because he is afraid of him since he is used to hearing the boys complain that he doesn't play with yelling.

"I would like to ask Thando, have they ever told you that you are well made?" asked Muzi, but he only asked looking away because he was afraid to look him in the eye.

"Hahaha, who am I to be told, but Muzi is better than you, the one I live with?" Thando replied smiling until he looked down. Muzi was shocked by that because he was expecting insults but he was determined today.

"No, you've been made, man. You know you are a second temptation, people are scared and fired from work because of you", said the one who entered the crowd Muzi didn't wait for an answer, it was difficult to know what Thando was going to answer. He ended up just keeping quiet, smiling and continuing to bathe himself, but there were many thoughts in his head. He wonders what Muzi might be trying to say with what he is saying, but he is not saying what I am thinking.

He asked himself again and again when it was difficult to come up with the answer until he decided that he would think about it better when they were sitting in the afternoon talking but he also wondered how he would ask something but that was enough. Muzi takes the water and quietly leaves without waiting for Thando to answer, and she just leaves wondering what makes her not scold him or speak badly, because it is known to Takama Ncube that her mouth is in need of prayer.

Thando continued to ask questions since he wanted to understand what Muzi's speech meant.

It was too late for him to ask Muzi about it, but Mthembo insisted that he hold back because he didn't want us to end up enjoying something that doesn't exist.

It was a good day for Muzi, even if they didn't talk about anything, but Thando's silence made my heart flutter. He was waiting for it to sink the sun so they can see what Thando will do later to see him in the morning.

The sun has set, we have locked up his cows, Muzi is sitting on the side of the barn talking about his friend who shepherds the neighbors, they are just talking and Ntando asks Muzi to speak for Thando because he has been dying for him for a long time but as he yells all the boys are afraid of him.

"Man, do you know Thando what he's like, do you think he'll never scold me when I tell him that I'm dying for him?"

"Hey Muzi, man, why don't you do this to me, my friend, I'm begging you?" Or are you the one holding yourself back from Dube's children, that's why they were just yelling at us?" replied Ntando, making fun of Muzi, because he can see that Muzi is also being kicked on the knees.

"Oh man, how can you say that? You know that if it is said that I will throw something in the bin, I can take Thobeka, I will leave Thando for you guys". Muzi answered and then they told each other about their stories until their eyes closed.

He entered the room, and went straight to the room where you were sitting uNcube

Advertisement

Thando himself was shaking while preparing dinner.

After they had finished eating, Ncube said goodbye like every day and left the two of them in the house talking to each other while Thando was shaking and washing his clothes, he had taught Ncube that clothes should be washed when people finish eating.

"Muzi, what did you say this morning?"

"What did I say Love?" let Muzi ask himself

"You said that I am a temptation and I can fire someone's job, what did you mean by that?"

"Oh that, I was just speaking for myself, don't worry about it, but there is something I just wanted to tell you, Love. Please don't yell at me, but as the boys say, you don't play with yelling".

"Did those boys ever tell you that I yell at them or do they just say that I yell at them?"

I don't go chasing after people and yelling at them, after all, they just despise me. Both have told you that I yell at them when we say something, but if you say something out of the way, I will never let it go. What is it that you want to tell me?" Thando is the one asking the questions, he is confused and his brother Moyo is lost, he doesn't know how he is going to start his story because that will make him take insults himself.

"No, it's nothing Thando, I don't want us to end up not getting along with each other, we live together because I don't like being scolded, I'm old

It's too bad that I can be scolded by you and I just keep quiet", replied Muzi, trying to stop himself from saying anything

"Oh, you just wanted to talk about something who will scold you about me? Talk to me, maybe you were lucky enough to find me happy and not yell at you", he wanted to hear what Muzi wanted to talk about, after all he had seen the opportunity for Muzi to come to see him.

"Hahaha no, I will tell you one day when I see you you are happy".

"Oh, it's okay if you don't want to tell me what you're talking about," answered Thando

"Oh well. So tell me, if you were to choose one boy in this section, who would you choose? Think of all the boys you know and tell me, don't be afraid".

"Oh, that's what you wanted to tell me?" Well then, here in the section there is no good boy that I can choose. There are many people who don't bathe, especially your friend Ntando, I don't know how it feels to be a person who is always dirty", answered Thando and closed Muzi's story to speak for Ntando, it was difficult to speak and he kept quiet.

"Don't talk too much about my friend, you know how he loves you so much that I think that I am holding my own here with Tobeka, that's why you are just yelling at them".

"Why are you holding back? Are you afraid to hold back?" he asked, leaning on Thando, who was shocked by that City. He thought about how he saw Thando's legs in the morning, and wondered why he might ask for a chance to stop if he was speaking for Ntando, and he also wondered what Dube would do to him if he did that.

After that, he mustered up the courage to ask.

"Would it be me who is obsessed with you, would you agree?" Thando was startled and raised his head and looked Muzi in the eyes. He said before he could answer, Muzi's phone rang and Thobeka called, he did as he does every day and went outside to pick it up because what made him go outside was that he didn't want Thando to hear him talking because that would cause a lot of hatred between them.

They talked to Thobeka as usual, until she forgot that Thando was alone in the crowd. When he left there, he went down to his shop, waited and waited for Thando, until he came out and said he looked and saw no one outside. The elder shut up in silence and went out with him towards their exhibition, he was confused by the power and didn't know what he was going to say. We wondered what Muzi was being asked about? Of course

Was he trying to hear what he would say? Thando's mind was confused and he didn't know what to do, but he didn't give up and told himself that he would continue to harass her until he got his insides out like a boil.

7

Day after day, weeks ago Thobeka had not come home for a month and Thando had not given up trying to get Muzi to be his. It was difficult for Muzi to love Thando, but the way he was doing it made him wonder many times what he would do if he didn't let go of Thando who was being abandoned by Thobeka, he consoled himself by saying that Thobeka was better because he didn't know that he was in love with her. Muzi was at a loss as he tried to reconcile and think about what his lover would do if he might find himself falling in love with one of his children.

Over the course of the day, he finally told himself that nothing can die, and he promised himself that when that day comes, he will go out and end up in this place because it will no longer be habitable. It was Tuesday, and Thando had finished cooking, After dinner, everyone was sitting in the crowd They were having a good time.

"And Muzi, when are you going to bring us a daughter-in-law, after all, my daughter is grown up, so we should find someone to take care of us" he said.
uNcube

"Oh, but mom, why did you ask me this today?"

But I will need it, don't worry because it is difficult for a person to find the right person in a day

These are ours, after all, there are many people who are still in the truth, a person has become an unreadable book", he said, stealing Thando's eyes with his eyes, wanting to see what he had to say about all this.

"I was just talking, my son, some of your peers are now housewives, you, I have never heard of this kid who is making fun of each other here in the section", Ncube replied, laughing at himself as if it was nothing bad until he said goodbye and went to sleep.

"Oh, and you were telling us that people are not trusted these days, Muzi?" I'm like this, don't you trust me?"

"I was just saying that these days it is difficult to find someone who is right, some of you are going to say who is the person, so we who are cowboys, of course I don't want to talk because they don't look for us. You may hear someone say that they will never fall in love with someone who dies one after the other he is a cow".

"Hahaha, you even made me laugh, have they ever told you that they won't accept you because you are dying in a row of people?" But I don't know what kind of people you want, a crocodile would want to eat a fish in a pond". Muzi wondered before he could finish after Thando's speech, because he had already made it clear from the knees of the goat that she could be Muzi's girlfriend. Muzi braced himself and asked himself

"But my love, why don't I look further? Would you agree if I put two to you, or could you tell your father and I'll end up losing my job?"

"I will never answer that, you must be a man and find the answer yourself. And are you saying that you are afraid of losing your job in such a way that you may not be able to find someone you like or you are not there when we are running away from work?" asked Thando staring at Muzi until we looked away and Muzi still didn't know what his brother Moyo was going to answer.

They talked until sleep intervened, and Muzi came and showed his wife. He slipped and slipped into a state of sleep that never came, he kept bragging about the story he had told Thando. While he was sleeping, he felt courage and woke up. He looked outside and saw that it was dark like a wolf because the moon had not yet risen. He left the exhibition and went straight to Thando's door. When he got there he stopped for a while wondering what he was going to say to Thando he can open it for him. After a while, Moyo's brother gathered courage, came closer and hugged him, and there was silence for a while. After a while, a voice was heard inside the house and he was allowed to enter.

"Hey Muzi, what are you doing here? Why did you come into my house at night, something you have never done before?" Thando was probing questions until finally Muzi asked himself why he let his heart lead him astray. He said he was leaving before he could answer, he felt a hand pulling him he said to Kwimili, not knowing what he was going to do.

Advertisement

"Don't go to Muzi, of course I'm not sleeping and I'd be happy for us to sit here and talk". He said them as he approached Muzi, and Muzi laughed inside when he saw that they were moving towards each other. They sat in Thando's exhibition and continued to talk quietly with the lamp unlit because they don't want Ncube to see what they are doing, as Thando's work might end and he carried his belongings and followed each other back to Lupane.

After talking for a while, they fell asleep while defeating the king. They found themselves in Bhuka's land, listening to themselves until they woke up and were startled by a dog barking outside. He got up, jumped over Muzi, took off his shirt and went out towards his bed, he said when he got there, he always lost sleep and we wondered how he could have found himself sleeping in Thando's bed in the middle of the night.

It was as if all this was a dream to him.

Thando, on the other hand, was very happy with Ncube's love since it was clear to him that his efforts would have tangible rewards. He wanted to call his sister and tell her to forget about Muzi because it was taken, but he restrained himself again as the elders said that it was not taken from his head as nothing had happened, who knows, he might wake up and change his mind and not want to see her around him anymore. He slept at Bhuka's that day
Love.

He said that while Muzi was trying to sleep, he got the idea to call Thobeka and talk because he wanted to ask something else. Thobeka's phone rang until it rang and there was no one to pick it up since it was night and she had already arrived in Bhuka's country, and she was making fun of Takama Ncube. It rang for the second time as we hit it again, he jumped up and grabbed it and greeted each other.

"Hey Muzi, is everything going well, why are you calling so late at night?" Thobeka asked "Go back to sleep, you know, my sister, I was thinking of you because there is no one else I can talk to but you", answered Muzi, and Thobeka got up and sat next to her, smiling because she was happy to hear that.

words like this coming from Muzi, that makes him realize that this is his person and no one will take it from him.

"I wanted to ask something else here, what would you do when there is someone you love but he has never said anything to you?" That scared Thobeka because this is something that happened to him. He was silent for a while wondering what to say in response, but Muzi did not hear from anyone that he loves her.

"It's difficult for us, the women of Muzi, because we have to die inside. It's better for you guys here because it's the courage to say how you feel about another person. It's not easy, but what I can say is that when it comes to who it is, some women show their actions while others remain silent and wait until that day comes. It is painful and you can wait for someone to finish without saying anything until others take him".

"I understand sister, what would you do if it was you?" He continued to ask Muzi, after all, he doesn't know how difficult it is for Tobeka to keep answering this.

"You know me, I keep quiet until that day comes. What I can do is to try to get close to the person in the hope that he will open his eyes and see the food in front of him, but it is very difficult for us females, most of the time we die inside. What happened today but you ask me such things, do you think anyone loves you?"

"There's something I was thinking, it's difficult but so I said it's better to ask you before I do something stupid because I don't want to find myself in a bad way. You know that something is hard to say back and it can start, so I don't want to think that's why I said it's better to ask you. I hope you don't mind that".

"Hahaha, we don't know who that is, but keep quiet, brother Mthembu, he will ask for it when we are mature", he said as he hung up the phone.

It was difficult for him to sleep that day as Thobeka wondered how things would go and if there was anything Thando had done that made Muzi ask this. He was thinking hard but he decided to tell himself that he will see what will happen because he was far away and there was nothing he could do.

He thought until he realized that the weekend had come and he went home to see for himself what was going on between his sister and Muzi since he suspected for a long time that something will eventually happen.

8

Friday came and Thobeka collected her belongings and headed home. He said we were on the way and called Muzi to let him know and asked him to meet him, he was doing this to get a good chance before Muzi both reached home so that they could talk to him and let him know how he felt about him. He said that when he came down from the waiting room, he found Muzi already here, after all, he came down after the sun had set for his mother, that's why Muzi was content to meet him because he had already closed the cow. From there they walked slowly like a couple and rushed home as there was nothing they were rushing home. They were silent for a few minutes, while Thobeka took Muzi from her feet to her head, she was complaining and trying to find the strength to start her case.

"You know, Muzi, I've been wanting to tell you this for a long time, but please hear me out, don't take it bad", he took Thobeka away and then remained silent and waited for Muzi to answer.

"What's that Tobeka?" Muzi asked nervously.

"It's nothing bad, you know from a long time ago when we were young I wanted to tell you this until now. I see but it's too late, I better tell you and hear what you have to say about it".

"Wow, what is that Thobeka, what do you want to tell me, maybe that's what I was expecting to hear". He asked Muzi if he wanted Thobeka to remove the thread from the page and stop if he was going along with the guma. There was silence for a while when Muzi finished asking what he had to say because it was difficult for Tobeka to say let out what he wanted to say.

"Muzi, I love you. I would also be happy if you always felt the same about me", he answered after a while in silence.

"Huh, what are you saying? Please repeat and I may have missed it it's good what you said".

"Do you know how difficult it is for me to say what I just said, you wouldn't have asked me to say it again. It's a shame what I just said, but I've been waiting for a long time, wondering if you'll ever throw two, so I agreed. I said I love you Muzi". There was silence

For a while, Muzi was wondering if he should he answered what he said. He had the same desire that the two of them fall in love, but he always wondered how he would go about telling Thobeka everything about this Love and he was confusing her. Before he could answer, he kissed her and pulled her close to him. Thobeka was shocked, they fell in love with each other until they found themselves angry for a long time. He woke up Muzi moved his head and said.

"I love you my Thobeka, I wanted to tell you that for a long time but I was still afraid, I don't know how you will take it when I tell you that. But please promise me that you will never tell Thando about this, we will wait until we see where it goes".

"Thank you Muzi, it took me many years to gather the courage to tell you this. Relax, it's a matter I will never say because he might end up becoming jealous of wanting to take me for you, after all, I know my sister", when he says this, Muzi's heart thinks of the things that Thando is always doing, the way he is tempting, because he is beautiful to his sister and she is well formed, the problem is that he has a green mouth, he can say he speaks to everyone's surprise.

They took the road until they entered the house when it was dark. They found Ncube and Thando sitting and eating in the evening. As they walked in, they all changed their faces of Love

Advertisement

He immediately got up and washed his hands and left the food he was eating because his heart darkened when he saw Muzi's sister coming in one after the other.

Ncube shouted when he saw Thando lying on the floor and not getting up to prepare food for Muzi's sister. So he got up and fixed what little was left. They chatted, until Ncube said goodbye and went to bed, Thobeka talked to Muzi and waited for Thando to leave them both as he always does, but that day Mr. Dube stayed as if he was waiting for something. In silence, he said goodbye to Thobeka and went to their exhibition, he came to listen to himself because this white heart is happy because what was always weighing on his shoulders was presented today. After a while they fell asleep and went to Bhuka's house.

They lived in Muzi lo Thando, after all, it was the day they both left after the surprise that had happened, Muzi had been running away every day, not wanting them to collide.

"Oh, and Thobeka told you when she came home, we saw both of us walking away without knowing anything".

"No, I didn't know that he didn't know because he only asked me to meet him. So what about my meeting him or did you want to meet him you, your sister?"

"He was met by the fact that we still know about them today. A long time ago, he was met by whom? I suspect there is rain what brings you both together, this phone calls you every day, but my sister has never called me once".

"Oh, I didn't know that you don't want me to talk to your sister, but what do you think we can do?" humble?

"Hahaha, you say that because you don't know or you're asking yourself, you're acting like a child. How can you put a potato mouse in one place in Muzi? After all, I know my sister has been in love with you for a long time, but it's hard for her to tell you, so let's take her we are always waiting for you to speak". He raised his head

It's Muzi's, after all, to hear Thando talking like this after his actions that he always does.

"And it's nothing, you're like this, I live with you every day but I've never done anything, why do you think I can do anything for your sister?" asked Muzi as he looked at Thando wanting to hear what he would say.

They talked until sleep intervened, then they said goodbye and Muzi went to his exhibition of Love and he went to their exhibition of Tobeka. He went in and found his sister who was not there but his own playing with his cell phone.

"Why haven't you slept until today?" asked Thando as he entered the door and found Thobeka lying down playing with her cell phone.

"Oh, why are you asking that?" I'm sitting and playing by myself this is my cell phone

"You've been away for a long time, I thought I'd find you dead. Tell me, we only sweep the house when you come home, and you don't tell the rest of us anymore?"

"I called him because I saw that we would arrive in the dark, so I wanted him to tell me that he knew it was a long way from here to here, so I didn't want to walk alone at night. Until I finally got here, you said you weren't happy, so I didn't want to bother you, mother", replied Thobeka, not paying attention to mother Ncube as she continued to play with her phone.

"It's okay, sister, tell me that Muzi has never seen one day and missed one since it's so close to each other? This time for the two of you did you find today and the sun has set and you failed again?" asked Thando, after all, the fact that he did not know that his sister was coming back makes him not believe that nothing is happening between the two of them.

"And you still want to know about that? I was saying that you want me to forget about Muzi, but he didn't say anything. Let's go on our own. You can take him if you want. I'm already wasting water, there's no chicken. It's up to you to mention them as they are all just spending time together, so tell them I don't see them

That's something that can't defeat you", answered Thobeka, wanting to hear that her sister is just standing there asking what the point is because she accuses him of wanting Muzi for himself. She also wonders what he will do if we end up taking him, but he also trusts Muzi as he is an honest boy, he knows that once we start, there is no one who can take that piece from his mouth.

"I didn't care about him, but since he gave me permission, I will take him, he is easy, of course, if I wanted him, I would have taken him a long time ago, because we spend a lot of time with him every day, my mother leaves us to talk in the room until we go to sleep", answered Thando mockingly

They chatted for a while, after all, it was a long time ago that they had a good chat as Thando was always worried that her sister was at home. They didn't have enough time to talk to each other like siblings, but today is better because they are all happy. Love and he is happy that his sister says that she has put down Muzi's story.

9

It was a good weekend for Thobeka because she was happy without knowing her husband Mthembu since she already knew that she had found a house for herself. He was doing everything he could to find time for the two of them, even though it was difficult, but he finally gathered his courage. It was Sunday afternoon when he woke up and left the next day and told himself that he had to find time for Muzi so that they could say goodbye to each other, he was doing this with the aim of Muzi still misses him.

After they had finished their dinner, they were left talking to each other in the crowd like every day, after all, Thando had come down and said goodbye to his mother at the same time and headed to his exhibition. They talked to each other while sitting in the crowd and kept calling for light, he said goodbye to Muzi and he went out to his exhibition. Thobeka was already closing the door, she said that Muzi was entering his house from the barn to dump the water and saw Thobeka standing next to the farmer. Muzi asked himself before he finished what he had in mind for doing this, he tried to make him laugh but he finally saw that he was serious with what he wanted to do, after a while he allowed him and they all entered.

"Don't be afraid Muzi, I said I won't just say goodbye my love, it would have been up to me to spend the night together but I don't want to Thando finally needs me because this is not going to cause a lot of noise and we will end up being mixed up here at home".

"I understand, my love, but don't you think that Thando is still suspecting that I saw you took a long time without coming to your exhibition? I would be happy to stay with you all night, but I am tied hand and foot and the situation does not allow me, what can your father say after trusting me so much?"

"It's difficult, but with the passage of time we will find time to be all of us without fear. It's better that I don't live too much anymore." When Muzi approached him, they hugged for a while and ended when they stuck their mouths together, he felt that Moyo's boy liked him.

He even wished that he would go and take Thobeka for himself and run away, but he didn't want it to get worse at Dube's.

Thobeka's heart was pounding in her lungs, because it was clear now that Muzi was hers, after all, they had promised heaven on earth.

He said that as soon as he entered the house, he met these questions from his sister since she had already started suspecting Thando, but since she has no proof that anything is happening between the two.

"Today, this town has been in the rain for so long money?"

"Wow, did you hear that we are rude enough to ask such a question? Relax my sister, there are no people who give up here, Muzi was telling me what happened in my home and I forgive him for my school".

"Hmm! It's not good, after all, there are only two people who can be trusted. Until today, Muzi will never try to give you one, if that's the case, then you have to start it yourself, and let others take it for you. I don't want you to cry for me when they took him away".

"You know how difficult it is to follow someone like Muzi, I'm asking you to send me because my sister talked to him for me hear what he has to say"

Advertisement

removed Thobeka, after all, she was smart, so she blamed Thando's question and thought it was better to say he restrained himself.

"Oh, that's a simple thing, I'll do it for you, I'll never stop talking. I promise you tomorrow I will change your answer. I hope you will accept it no matter what it is", answered Thando, happy that he will have the opportunity to speak for himself and Muzi, he has told himself that tomorrow she will lie to her sister so that she can play for a while and be alone.

"It's okay sister, I'm always grateful to hear about you when you talk to him".

They chatted until they fell asleep, but Thobeka didn't sleep because happiness was playing with her, when she saw herself in Muzi's arms. He was thinking about his own until he bit his lower lip, because he could see everything happening even if he had to hide from his sister.

Thando woke up the next day determined to talk to Muzi, because being sent by her sister gave her a good opportunity to talk even if there was nothing between them but talking made him feel loved.

"Today you woke up in the clouds Thando, tell me why you are so happy?" Muzi asked

"No, it's nothing, but she wants me to wake up and keep quiet. She asks me what is bothering me. Today I woke up happy to be asked again. And what do you want me to do?" answered Love

"No, it's nothing, I was just asking, because every time your sister is around, you're not as happy as you are today. Tell us some interesting stories and we want to hear what makes you happy".

"Relax, I will tell you in the afternoon if you will never be left alone with your girlfriend Thobeka".

"Oh, why do you say it's my girlfriend Thando?" Muzi asked nervously, since they had agreed that they would never tell anyone about their love, but now we were confused and wondered if Thobeka was so happy until she came he told his sister.

"Hahaha, why are you panicking? Am I telling the truth, when my sister is there, you can't see me, and I'm going to say that there's something she hasn't told me yet", Thando said, and Muzi calmed down after hearing this.

"It's nothing, we just talk to each other. You are only thinking about things that don't exist. Relax, even if there is something, I don't think we would have told you a long time ago, he would never hide it from your sister". He finished saying that and laughed as Muzi went out, leaving him with a lot of questions, but he comforted himself by saying that if something was going on, his sister would have told him about it a long time ago.

When he was left alone, he decided to leave Thobeka will do everything possible to say he found Muzi who was yours and he was threatening his sister even though he knew that it would make them quarrel but he wanted to hurt his sister.

10

Since Thobeka left, both Thando and Muzi are left talking to each other in the crowd as usual. After all, if Ncube doesn't sit still, he can eat well and leave those who listen to someone of the king.

"Muzi, this is what's bothering me that I wanted to ask you, but please don't come close to me, I'm just asking" Thando said as he approached the fireplace and turned it on so that it would light up in the room.

"He sounded like it was a big deal, Love, what is it?"

"Please tell me the truth, what is going on between you and Tobeka? After all, when he is there, he is bright and happy, and most of the time he spends all of it. What is going on?"

"Oh Love, wasting someone's time means that is something going on? It's as if you and I die together every day, but nothing has happened", answered Muzi

They talked about the Muzi lo Thando and sat in the crowd until it arrived it's time for each other to understand their position.

They say goodbye, Muzi goes into his bedroom and tries to catch some sleep before coming down, he comes out when he says he looks and sees a light in Thando's house. He put his steps and went straight there because when they were separated, Thando was a person who cried himself to sleep. He came

He looked at the door, and he said that he saw Thando taking a bath, and then he looked away and his eyes went back to his wife. It's good that it's hard to sleep because our mind is always watching the image of Thando that we saw, and Thando is telling us to fall asleep until Takama Ncube gathers his courage. He gets up, grabs his towel and goes to Muzi's booth. He woke up and sneaked to Muzi's door, wanting to see who it was that was hiding in the night.

"Who?"

"Yimi Muzi, please open it for me", answered Thando because he didn't want to speak loudly until his mother finally helped him and it became a noise. Hearing the voices, Moyo's boy didn't listen too much, he opened the door a little and saw Thando standing in the front, he was shocked to see her and thought that he might have seen her while he was taking a shower.

"Hey Thando, what are you doing here so late at night?"

"I can't sleep in Muzi.

Advertisement

I have no one to talk to anymore. I'm sorry to keep you up at night, I hope I didn't disturb your sleep yours", said Thando, sitting on the sleeping terrace next to Muzi, who was confused.

"No, you didn't confuse me, I wasn't sleeping yet, I was thinking about my own. Why don't you sleep, what are you thinking?" Muzi asked

"I came and took a shower, and when I finished, I fell asleep. I mustered up the courage to come here, it's better because I didn't confuse you", he said as he approached. Muzi started to go back a little, wanting to try to run away because mentally he could see what was going to happen next, but he was thinking of what Thobeka would say to him if he happened to find Thando sleeping. They sat and talked for a while, then Thando changed and sat on the wall. He fell asleep while sitting, it was difficult for Muzi to wake him up and he decided it was better to listen to him from the side. He had told himself that he would wake up in the middle of the night, Muzi didn't know what to do anymore but he had to control himself so as not to hurt Thiobeka. Thando woke up in the middle of the night and pulled the blanket until he was startled in the morning when a chicken crowed, then he remembered that there was no one in his house.

Muzi woke up with many questions, he was wondering how Thando would look at him after what happened yesterday because it is difficult to settle a lightning rod in one place that everything is perfect. He got up and went out to find his friend Ntando because he wanted to hear someone else's opinion so he could know what Thando was going to do because crocodile food was always coming.

"Man, I want to ask, but please don't laugh at me, I know because you might think I'm stupid, you were laughing", Muzi said.

"You are already a fool, I am the only one, I would go out with him to Dube, now you are afraid of Dube's children, I don't know what you were fed or is it being raised by your grandmother that makes you so stupid, boy?" removes Ntando making a joke about Muzi.

"Man, I'm in trouble here because I might lose my job soon".

"Hey, what's up boy? Why did I trust you so much?"

"It's a long story, boy. You know I'm getting jealous of Tobeka and she came to tell me that she's coming back, luckily for me I've been in love with her since a long time ago. It wasn't difficult then, the story of the good ones among us is now the problem I am facing is Thando mfana. Don't throw two or three of you in half and I will forget what he wants to do to me".

"Hahaha, I said that you are at home and we are holding hands, but tell me what Thando wants to do?" it asked
Will

"Hahaha, you can't say that if Dube hears that, he can eat me alive, I'm not talking about Ncube as he trusts me so much, I might lose my job for a small thing. You know Thando was sleeping in my house yesterday, boy", he said looking at Ntando.

"Hey boy, why are we holding brothers? Dube
If you can hear it, boy, you can point to a house that has a drink in the sun. Boy, do you know that I always say that you are stupid and you are silent about such nonsense?" asked Ntando.

"Man, stop threatening me with Dube. I need a solid plan here and I want to know how to do it. Thando is sleeping in my house but I didn't touch him because I was thinking about his sister that the day she hears something like this she could kill him and I don't want to end up being hated by Thobeka because I love her child", answered Muzi

"Oh, I understand, but that's easy, boy, the only thing you can do is tell Thando the truth to make him stop if he throws himself around you and respect you as his sister's chaser. I don't know what you are confused about or do you feel sorry for him too?"

"Man, it's difficult because with Tobeka we agreed not to tell anyone, I'll wait until we see whether it's successful or ends up on the way. Thando Lawe knows what the boy is like, he is attractive even if you look at him, so it is difficult what I should do".

They talked while trying to come up with a plan on how to get out of all this Muzi.

Thando was dying and wondering how Muzi would look at him after he slept in her house all night and he also wondered if Muzi was not perfect because he was thinking that something would happen between the two of them and that would make him know that he is hers.

He would stand up and look at himself and wonder if he was completely unattractive or if there was something else that Muzi blamed on him. He wished that he was going to ask himself again and it was difficult, wondering what he would do to start something like this.

11

The sun went down hard for Thando who was asking himself many questions since he thought that Muzi was seeing him and that's why he didn't look at him all night. He ended by telling himself that he would wait for Muzi to arrive in the afternoon he asked him nicely.

It was difficult for Muzi, he felt despised by Moyo's boy because this had never happened to him.

He started to spend the whole night with the girl doing nothing, that made him think that if Thando does it again, he will never let her go even though he knew that it would hurt Thobeka, but he told himself that he would eat and spread himself on the floor like a chicken so that it would not be of proof of what you have done.

He shut up his cattle, went home and had a good supper. It didn't take long for Thando to stand up and give him his own, staring at him with a talking eye. She was wearing a dress that showed all her legs, after all, she was doing everything

This is to see what Muzi is going to do.

"Oh, but Thando, you didn't like this anymore?" Ncube asked, after all, he had said that by bowing, Thando remained as if he was not dressed.

"Then why am I looking for you, mother, this hat is long, it's just that it's getting too small for me, so we're putting it on ourselves", he said, pulling it under. UmfokaMoyo was silent as if there was nothing here in the house, but Thando's dress touched him and he swore in his heart.

"That's what I'm saying, if you know we're climbing, you'd better put a towel over them. You must respect your brother here Thando".

"I will love you, mother, but since it's only this afternoon, there is no reason for me to love you now".

He was answering when Thando was sitting down but his eyes were always looking at Muzi who was too shy to look him in the eyes. After waiting for a while, he said goodbye to Ncube as he went to bed and left them both, then Thando got up quickly and washed his legs, while he was bowing down a lot trying to caress Muzi. Wisely, Moyo's brother got up and looked at him, even though he was a sleepy person, and he was trying to get rid of the idea that came to his head. Thando was left confused wondering what was going on with Muzi.

The boy entered his apartment, took his phone and called Thobeka. They talked until he said goodbye when he heard the sound of someone coming to his house, he said as he just finished putting it down someone knocked on the door. He kept quiet as if he heard, and someone called him again, he got up and stood by the door asking who it could be. He found out that it was Love.

"Oh Love, I thought we were just going to sleep. What are you being put here for?"

"It's not like he ran away and left me alone in the crowd. This is the question I want to ask you Muzi. Please tell me the truth, don't lie to me because you think I will feel pain".

"What do you want to ask?"

"The city

Advertisement

Am I not beautiful? Why aren't you looking at me, are you saying that I won't be your girlfriend if you look at me?"

"Hey Thando, why are you asking such a question?

I told you that you are like my sister so I never thought of making you my girlfriend. Of course, when I look at you, I see that you look like my sister", answered the boy in a humble voice.

"Get out of your place of honor. How can I be your sister, I was born in Dube and you in Moyo?"

Our parents were never related and you call me your sister. Tell me, Muzi, but everything is going well with you as a young man?" he asked in a voice of anger.

"Then you're right, but we've all been together for a long time, so we can say we're just sisters..." While he was talking, he felt his tongue sticking out of his mouth.

He understood the courage of the boy, he held him, they communicated verbally for a while like a person speaking.

"But Thando, your sister and I love each other, so I shouldn't be kissing you. You know he won't treat her well when he hears that and he might leave me and hate you for the rest of your life".

"Wow, didn't you see her as your sister?"

I don't care about that, can you tell me about the person who lives here, do you know what he is doing in this area?"

Don't be a fool boy, I am here and I can treat you better than Thobeka. Do you also know that he is educated and you are a cow boy, do you think you will live if this uneducated man is educated?" asked Thando, trying with all his might to get Thobeka out.

"Thobeka will never do that to me Thando, we love each other and we understand each other since long ago".

"You were so stupid, boy, wake up and open your eyes", she said, kissing him and kissing him. What happened there was not a game of fools.

"Now what was difficult here in Muzi? Is he your Tobeka who makes you feel like you're not complete? I don't know why he is hugging you like this until you are afraid of him when he is not near you". He did not answer when Muzi was very calm about what he had done and he even wished to find a plan to chase Thando away and buy this time back. He held his head wondering Many questions do not answer.

Thando, on the other hand, was very happy for Ncube's sister because she had finally found what she had been looking for, all that was left was for her to get her sister out of Muzi's mind so that she would be left alone. He knew that it would never be easy but he was willing to do everything to help him stay alone.

They slept until morning or until dawn in Muzi who couldn't help but wonder what he was talking about, what was Dube doing after trusting him so much. They woke up as usual as if nothing had happened, they were just looking at each other, Muzi said that he saw his friend from there.

12

He was always biting the one who was under Thando and he was always relaxing alone because he realized that he had conquered this town and it would be his from now on. He didn't shut his mouth when he was bragging about having these plans, at that time he didn't care what his sister would say if she heard this. He happily picked up his phone, and it rang right away from his sister. It rang for a while before it was picked up, Thobeka grabbed it and they greeted each other because she thought something had happened.

"You know, I called to tell you a good story, I don't think you are fooling us smart people into taking people for ourselves".

Thobeka was confused and wondered what he was talking about his sister

"Hey Thando, I think something has happened at home and you want to tell me your stories. What are you talking about?"

"I'm talking about Muzi, sister. I don't think you are waiting for him to put two or three. We Thando will take care of ourselves you are left holding the pen, I tell you".

He kept on saying that he didn't want to reveal the story as it is, but that left him with many questions and he wanted to understand what Thando could have meant.

with his speech since they did not call each other every day.

He came and told Thando the whole story as it is because he wanted to find a way out of this story since he did not like Thando so he was trying in every way to find a way out of him.

"Boy, you are in the middle of a rock, but there is one thing you have to do, boy, to get out of this story alive".

"Who is that man after all here I said I have to choose one between the two but who will I choose because I love Thobeka and I don't want to hurt her".

"In this situation, my dear boy, you must forget about Tobeka, because if Thando tells his parents, he will either lose his job or become Dube's daughter-in-law, I don't trust the old man". He was talking and laughing.

While they were talking, Muzi's phone rang, and when he looked at it, he was shocked to find it was Thobeka. He thought a lot and wondered how it would be until he smoked in broad daylight.

"Did you wake up today, miss me, my love, and call at this time?" It is Muzi who is wondering

"You know, I've talked about Thando, he sounded happy today, what did he do to make him so happy?"

"Wow, Thando, have you ever cleaned your phone? What were you saying?"

"He sounded as if he was just scared, what was he scared of?" Is there anything Muzi is hiding from me? I would be happy to hear about you everything that is happening than to hear about Thando who was laughing at me. Please tell me if there is anything you haven't told me yet".

"It's nothing, I'm just wondering why he called you today because you two hate each other, it's like they're not children from the same womb".

They talked and it was difficult for Muzi to go out to the yard and tell Thobeka what had happened, he was afraid to hurt her because he would end up losing her. On the other hand, he was very sorry for telling a lie.

The sun was setting hard for Thando because he was in a hurry to see his Muzi and talk about what happened. He kept looking at himself and boasting about all of Dube's and he saw wisdom again. Takama Ncube was very happy. Muzi, on the other hand, was proud and wondered what the matter was, he finally told himself that he must try with all his might to escape so that it does not happen again.

what happened at night even though he knew it would be difficult to avoid.

It died as the creator did not wait for anyone. He locked up his cows and entered Muzi's house, and as soon as he entered he was met by a sweet flower sticking out of a small neck, because he put all his energy into cooking for Thando. It was eaten, and they said goodbye to each other as they went to their room.

Thando tried to sleep and refused to fall asleep, until he woke up and went to Muzi's exhibition when he arrived he was lucky and Muzi hadn't slept yet. He entered and went straight there Muzi sat beside him.

Advertisement

"Why do you say you are worried about the mood?"

"I have a lot on my mind, Love, what happened yesterday, I ask that it not happen again, I don't want to end up losing my job and Tobeka who hated me to death. I'm begging you, Love, let's continue the way we've been living".

"What are you saying, Muzi, do you think you could come here and do what you are doing and you would just throw me away? You will not see what you are asking for, so I will tell you, if you are still looking for your job we will continue with what we started. Don't worry about Tobeka, I will talk to him and put him in his place, you are mine, I don't want anyone to play next to you".

"Wow, did you call him in the morning and was it okay to put him in his place? I'm begging you Love, I love Thobeka, what happened yesterday was a mistake.

I admit I committed a crime but please let it pass".

"Forget Muzi that you will never see". He said that as he approached her and kissed her. It was difficult for Muzi to order because he could see for himself that trying to run away from Thando would trouble him so he had to do what he wanted.

Thando woke up early in the morning and went back to his office, while Muzi had not slept that night and was thinking a lot. He wondered what he would say to his elders if he left his job. The boy was thinking hard as he regretted getting himself into trouble.

A day went by, and it was time to visit Thando at Muzi's exhibition, and he had already woken up the way he was.

The weekend came and Thobeka packed her things and headed home. When he was about to arrive, he called Muzi to visit him. He did so and Muzi waited for him at the bus stop. They greeted each other on their way home, and it was already getting dark.

When they were in the middle of walking, Thobeka stopped when she saw Muzi as if she was worried because the boy thought that he should reveal the truth but he reprimanded himself because he didn't want to break Thobeka's heart.

"Muzi, everything is going well, but after all, when we greeted each other, you didn't open yours again. How are you, aren't you happy to see me?"

"I'm glad to see that what I'm eating is what made my mind go. I'm not here, you know, I'm thinking a lot, but don't worry, it's not a big deal".

"You have been quiet for a long time but you say how can I not be tired?"

It bothers me to see you so quiet because you are used to having a nice conversation and you have never hidden anything from me, how is this bothering you alone?" Thobeka asked when they stopped and looked at each other. He didn't answer Thobeka's question, he approached her and kissed her, they kissed for a long time while standing there. Thobeka couldn't control herself that day and got scared after they finished the service, thinking that it was time for them to go home.

From there they shook themselves and entered the road, and Muzi was very quiet. There were many thoughts in his head wondering where he would take and where he would leave. What would he do if Thobeka did what Thando did to him. Thoughts were piling up in his head trying to find a way to fix this issue without it getting worse.

13

They entered the house one after the other and found Thando nervously preparing dinner. Thando changed her face when she saw them entering the door, wondering why Muzi had met her sister without telling her, but there was nothing she could do.

On the other hand, Ncube was happy to see his son because it was at that time that Thobeka stopped coming home.

While they were talking, Muzi realized it was a good idea to go to the small house where Thando was cooking, since he had seen her face decorated. As soon as he entered, he found Ncube's wife sitting there, he had finished cooking and it was time for him to wake up.

"Oh Thando, why did you stay alone?"

"Who do you want me to stay in Muzi, since you left, he used to come back to Thobeka, because when he is there, you don't talk to me, that's why I chose to stay here alone".

"Oh but Thando, Thobeka is just your sister and you have to be happy for her when she visits, isn't this what you are doing or do you want her to see that something is happening between me and you?"

"I already think that I will tell him so that he will give me my time and he will not go down when he is there".

"Oh Thando, we just agreed that we will never tell anyone about me and you know that Tobeka and I are in love. Telling him that will be very confusing and will cause a lot of noise that will be difficult to break. Please don't say anything to her and treat her like your sister. I am asking you Love, if you love me you will do so".

"Oh Muzi, I said you love me and you will stand by me as we all live here, but I will do as you say, I will try to control myself and treat him well, but you have to choose one of us, it will never be right for us to continue this way".

"Hey Muzi, we are just choosing between whom to choose Who did you choose and why?" Thobeka asked as she stood at the door, after all, they had talked until Ncube was surprised that Thando had been stopped from talking. He had been sent to look for Thobeka.

"Tobeka, when did you get here?" Muzi asked

"It's been a long time since I came and heard everything that was going on".

"Oh, you heard everything, so you don't have a problem with what you heard?"

"Hahaha, I'm just kidding, I didn't hear anything when I arrived, so I'm asking why we're being singled out every now and then?"

"It's nothing much, we were talking here in this town. He was asking me who cooks better than me. He says we cook the same thing, that's why I've been telling him to choose who is better than the other, now he can't choose".

Thando replied as she dragged them away and covered her sister so she wouldn't know what they were talking about.

"Oh, but Thando, you know that I cook better than you. It's just that Muzi doesn't want him to hurt you by saying he's not mine".

Thobeka answered, and Muzi was silent as if he was not here in the crowd because Thando had been scared by Thando for telling a lie when he realized that he was going to break down and tell Thobeka everything they had discussed.

He took it easy and they ate and they talked for a while, he said goodbye to Ncube like every day and he didn't think about the old man as he is used to leaving them every day. Thando didn't say goodbye that day and the conversation was good because he didn't want to leave them both here in the crowd, Thobeka was worried wondering why Thando wasn't doing what he used to do.

They talked until sleep intervened and they all said goodbye to each other and went to their places, Thando and Tobeka followed each other to their places. He slept hard that day Since Thando was used to sleeping in Muzi, he could sense why something was going to happen while he was sleeping.

Thobeka did not sleep that day because her heart and lungs were full after what happened. He wanted to break free and tell Thando to reprimand himself he kept thinking about Moyo's boy, and he who hadn't slept was talking and wondering what the story was because he saw how to quarrel with one's children.

Advertisement

He ended up telling himself that he had to go out to Thobeka's yard, who was one of them but he wanted Thobeka for himself.

It was a rough weekend for all three. Dube's children were trying with all their might to find time to talk about this town, but since they were all hiding it was difficult to find this time, so everyone was in a hurry for the weekend to get better. There was a change in Thobeka wondering why Thando didn't want to give them time to talk, it was difficult in Muzi trying with all her might not to be in the same place with the two of them because she was at a loss for words.

At the end of the weekend, he went back to where Thobeka lived, he was just walking with his heart left because he hadn't had much time to talk with his lover, but Thando was overjoyed because there was no one else to disturb him. Even the weekend had passed without Muzi going out to the yard, it was difficult how he was going to start Thobeka telling him something like this.

He woke up in the middle of the day, the sun was here after all, he had fallen asleep in the early hours of the morning.

"How do you wake up mother".

"We are waking up, how do you wake up? Today you wake up like this why Muzi or don't you feel well in your body?" Ncube asked worriedly because he was not used to waking up after the sun had risen in Muzi.

"I'm fine mom, there's nothing wrong, it's just that I didn't sleep well today until I fell asleep like crazy." I think that's what made me wake up this afternoon".

"It's okay, I was just scared, why did I throw up today and I sent Thando to check if he was sleeping".

They are just talking and Thando is shaking in the kitchen preparing breakfast since this heart is white for brother Dube and he knows that since his sister has just left he will be content to find time for the City. The weekend ended without them seeing each other because Thobeka was there.

When he finished eating, Muzi came out saying that he had stretched his leg and that he saw his friend Ntando to let him know about the difficulties they had faced.

"Hey man, I've made a mess of the story, I'm always wondering how I'm going to get out of it, but I can't find an answer. It didn't help me boy".

"Haha, man, I told you a long time ago that you have to choose one, even if it's something that hurts the other, but try, boy. Let's hope that none of them are pregnant". Muzi felt panic because he had never thought about what could happen to one of them she was pregnant.

"You know boy, let's touch on another story that I never thought of. What will I do if I find out that Thando is already pregnant". He was talking holding his head because he didn't intend to choose Thando, but he could see that if she might be pregnant, he would have to choose her even if he didn't want to.

"Oh, I was just kidding, I didn't know that you never used a coat. You can see when it can be Love

If you are carrying yourself, then there is nothing you can do except to take him".

"From today I have to start putting on a coat because someone will end up doing something else here".

After talking, they parted, one went towards them and the other went towards them.

The sun went down hard for Thando because he was in a hurry to be with his lover. Muzi, on the other hand, wished that he could find time to not see her, but it was unavoidable as they all lived together and Thando was used to walking alone.

Night came, Thando didn't waste time, he got up, got up and opened the house. They were talking but Muzi was uncomfortable, wanting with all his might to ask but it was difficult, when they started their service, Muzi asked them to put on a coat.

"Oh, why does Muzi want to just wear a coat?"

"You know, I was thinking, Love, we need to protect ourselves, in case you find yourself pregnant, we need to protect ourselves from sexually transmitted diseases, so I ask that we start using a coat".

"Hey, Muzi, just tell the truth and tell me what makes you say this. If you don't like it, you can tell me, don't be afraid, but I was enjoying the way we were doing it.

They talked there until they finally agreed that they would use it, and Muzi was set up knowing that nothing could happen after that.

14

Every day, weeks and months went by without visiting Thobeka and she was crying because she was constantly looking at her tests. Life was good in Muzi lo Thando, he was convincing Thando because everything was going the way he wanted.

Thando woke up feeling like a lost person, and spent the whole day sleeping as a person with no good feeling in his body as he was taking it out through his mouth so he thought that he had eaten something that made him feel sick.

He didn't feel well for a day and didn't even go to Muzi, he was happy that the boy had finally rested.

One day he went out looking for wood and met Ntando and they helped each other. Entering the guts,

"How is Moyo's daughter-in-law, boy, these days, I think you have been hiding. Are you doing well?"

"Haha, he treats me well, man, but I'm happy so that I can rest these days as he doesn't feel good".

"Wow, why are you being killed, man, I didn't know it felt good".

"Ah, he said, "Do you know me?" He was crying on his stomach and said he was tired, so we told him to go to sleep. This release was released in previous days".

Ntando stood and took Muzi's hand and Moyo's wife was surprised, wondering why he was doing it.

"Do you know what's wrong with me holding your hand, boy?"

"Then I wonder why you are holding my hand when I tell you that Thando is sick".

"You have grown up boy, you are going to be a father. You know that the things you name are the same as the things that happen to people who are pregnant and especially when it's still a few months old".

He felt his knees first and the boy stopped together and held his head when he realized that the thing he was trying to escape from had happened. He had to be willing to face this Dube or quit his job.

"No, man, don't play around, you know that I will never choose Thando, so please don't scare me by telling me that you are pregnant because that means that I have to take her".

"I'm right, man, if you ask elders who know things, they will tell you something similar to what I'm telling you".

They were having a heated conversation and Moyo's boy was thinking about what he would do if he might be pregnant with the truth Love.

It went down asking many questions to Muzi, and when the sun went down he knew that it was a good time for him to talk about love. He went out and went to Thando's shop, opened it after closing it twice.

"You know I miss you my love, since you don't visit me anymore as you don't feel good about these day".

"I miss you so much, my love, but I will get better and I will come back and tell you".

"How are you feeling?"

"You know, my body doesn't feel good, Muzi, I don't even know what's killing me anymore. I just feel lazy to do things".

"I'm asking, but don't take it badly, didn't you behave yourself?".

Thando was silent for a while before answering, wondering if they were pregnant for real or if Muzi was thinking ahead.

"I didn't get pregnant myself, if I had gotten pregnant then I would have known, would I have had a miscarriage?" What will my father say to me if he hears something like this?"

Thando was wondering while holding his head even though he was trying to convince himself that he was not pregnant but in his heart he was mourning her.

"It's okay if you say you didn't get pregnant, I don't want to be beaten by Dube for impregnating his daughter".

"Haha, are you afraid of being hit yourself? Relax, my father will never beat you, he will accept you, so there is nothing he can do but accept".

They talked until the middle of the night, when Muzi got sleepy he came out and went to his house.

Days went by, and it was Friday and Thobeka tied up her clothes and headed home

Advertisement

he was going to see them as he had not been home for a long time and he had heard that his sister was feeling well. He even took something to check if a person is pregnant because according to what he heard, Thando was sick but it was suspicious thinking that he might be pregnant even though he was wondering who the owner of that burden might be.

He called Muzi to meet him as usual, and Muzi did so.

Thobeka was overjoyed to see her Muzi as they had been close for a long time. They went and when they reached their place they held the service for a while, Thobeka was trying with all her might to please Muzi. It was difficult for Muzi to order because that would make Thobeka suspect that something was going on that made Muzi refuse.

They went into the house, and found Thando and his mother sitting on the couch eating. They greeted each other well,

"How is your body, Love? I heard Muzi saying that you are not feeling well these days".

"He is better because he was no longer a cook. I am not talking. He used to say that he could eat and he would take that food out".

Ncube answered.

"It's better when he's better, you're thinking about what it is but Love or did you eat something that caused stomach upset or gall bladder?"

"Ah, I don't know Thobeka, I was thinking that there was something I could eat, but I'm not sure what it could be".

"Don't worry, I brought you some pills that will help relieve the pain. I will give it to you when we go to bed because he wants you to go to bed."

"Thank you sister".

"It's nice to have your sister Thando here to help you

Now, if you were her, where would you get those pills, since the hospital is so far away, who visits you, you would not be in need of those pills.

Thank you my child for considering your sister".

They talked until they fell asleep, everyone went out to their room.

Thobeka and Thando followed each other towards their exhibition. As soon as they arrived, Thobeka took Thando, who is a small boy, out of the box, and instructed him what to do. Thando did the same, after a few minutes they looked and found out that Thando was pregnant, and she had to reveal the truth.

Bakhuliuma agreed that Thobeka would never talk about the matter until Thando spoke for himself in his own time.

Muzi and Thobeka woke up in the morning to fetch the wood they had cut during the week, but Thobeka refused to keep the story quiet, she wanted to remove Muzi's suspicions and asked again and again who the boy was who had the courage to cross Dube's fence.

"And Muzi is not telling me about Love?"

Moyo's boy was silent wondering if Thando had told his sister the truth and he was wondering why Thobeka asked laughing to herself because she was thinking that if she didn't hear this it would be a noise.

"What am I telling you about Love?" he tried to brace himself

"He tells me that it's too late, after all, Thando is not sick; you are carrying yourself".

": Ah Thobeka, is what you are saying true? How do you know that Thando is pregnant when she is just sick?"

"Hey Muzi, I'm not a nurse, there are many ways we check when we want to be sure that a person is pregnant. Yesterday I came to check on Thando and I found out that she is pregnant but please don't tell anyone until she speaks for herself. But tell me whose boyfriend is this love?"

Muzi was silent for a while because there was a lot in his head and he was asking himself many questions.

"No, I can't and I didn't think that he could carry himself as intelligently as he did. Then my father What will Dube say when he hears this?"

"Ah, now if I don't know you, then who knows or are we just talking about you?"

"Hah me! I'm not yours, how can I give love to you when you're there?
But what would you do if it were me?"

"Ah, what can I do, I'll let you continue with him, I don't think it will be clear that you should choose him. I don't have the heart to fight for someone myself. I can let you continue but all I know is that you only regret it when my sister shows you who she is".

They talked and ended it at Thando's, Thobeka insisted that Muzi not reveal the matter no matter how happy they are. He asked her not to try asking Thando again because that would cause a lot of noise.

15

That day, Muzi was thinking a lot and wondering what he was going to do the day it appeared, what bothered him the most was that the first person to know was Thobeka and he failed to appear in the yard.

He was sleeping all night because Thando had not yet talked about letting him know about this matter and hearing what he had to say about it. He even wished that he would find time to talk with Thando so that they could fix it before it reaches the elders.

He thought about Moyo's boy until he came to the thought that if things continue to be bad, he will go to his father as he was a man of our culture to give him medicine to remove that stomach but he will reprimand himself because this father would never allow him to kill his grandson. He could see that the boy was in the middle of the stone but there was nothing he could do.

Thobeka woke up early in the morning getting ready to go back to where she lives, then she thought of asking Muzi to accompany her so they could say goodbye alone. When he finished, he grabbed his bag, went to Muzi's house and collected it, luckily he didn't take it it's time to wake up with Muzi as he was already looking at the day before.

Muzi got up, got dressed and went out, he was restless until Thobeka took care of him.

"Muzi, why does it seem like something in your spirit is bothering you?"

"I wonder, Thobeka, that since we've gone to bed without a coat on, you'll never feel like you're pregnant, will you?" Moyo's boy asked anxiously

"Oh, does that bother you now? Don't you want me to give birth to your first child? I was just telling myself that this is something you can enjoy." He was asking Thobeka to hear what Muzi had to say about it.

"It's not that I don't want to, but I never thought of it that way and I couldn't say that it would be your desire to build mine, after all, you are educated and I am a cowboy, so I thought that in another year you would leave me and see those of your level". Muzi answered, it was as if they were playing a mind game.

"Wow, you're saying you're just afraid to be here? Relax, I haven't thought of leaving you yet, I like the way I see you working for us; I think that you can be a father and a good citizen regardless of your education or where you work".

They continued on their way until they got to the waiting station, luckily they said that just as they were getting there the bus arrived so they didn't have to. He stayed for a long time waiting for Thobeka. He slipped. Muzi went back, he was walking arrogantly and wondering a lot about Thobeka lango Thando, after all hearing that love was carrying him was something that was bothering him day and night and he was trying with all his might to find a plan to get out of this.

It continued for minutes until the sun went down, that day it took a long time for the sun to set for Muzi because he wanted to see Thando since he thought he was stopping her with his behavior.

When the evening meal was over, they talked and said goodbye to each other as sleep prevailed. Muzi left and went straight to his house but the thought was left behind because Thando was left alone washing his clothes. He came and sat on his terrace and waited for Muzi after a few minutes he heard someone knocking on the door.

Advertisement

Muzi got up and opened the door, after all, we didn't know who it was.

"We saw Thando, you know I was happy to see you today because I was tired of waiting for the weekend to end. How are you but you". He tries to plead with Muzi, thinking that this is to soften Thando and bring out this issue that he just wants to hear.

"I'm fine, I'm tired of waiting my love".

Thando replied madly, our heart is pounding in love because he truly loves Muzi and it's not the same as before.

"These days you are sitting well my dear, the body has started to come out all over". It made Muzi laugh because he kept trying to clear his stomach thinking that something was wrong. He will see them and he will ask them, but it will be difficult for him to see nothing.

"Hey Muzi, why are you starting me to keep quiet? I love you but Muzi, I am asking you to make me your wife one day. I don't want anyone to play around with you anymore because you are mine". When he was no longer pretending to be Love, it was not him who was speaking and he heard what just came out of his mouth.

Muzi was startled and kept quiet for a while as he tried thinking about Thando's speech as Thobeka had told him the same thing in the morning, he even wished to run away from Dube before things got worse.

"Are you right, Thando, or are you playing with me, because that would be something that would make me very happy". Muzi answered because he didn't want to disappoint him as there was still a matter he wanted to hear.

They sat for a while and talked, then Love fell asleep. Mr. Dube does not drag his skin, but it is difficult for Mr. Moyo to sleep; His mind thought a lot until he finally came up with the idea that he should go to them and discuss the matter with his father, hoping that he would get better advice.

What bothered him the most was Thando's behavior because in his heart he didn't want to find himself building a house with her.

Thando dragged his skins, until in the middle of the night when he turned around he found his house facing the direction of yesterday. He got up with him, and sat standing on the wall;

"Muzi, why didn't you sleep and think so much?" it asked Thando kept trying to rub his eyes.

"I am thinking of going home this coming weekend, I want to tell my parents that I have found a girlfriend here in Dube". He answered with eye contact.

"Oh, but Muzi is so fast, but; What are you chasing?"

"I don't want it to end up happening to us without my parents knowing. What can I say if you can carry them, right?"

Then I have a red case with Dube so I try to avoid that. It would be better for us to do everything according to the law".

Thando remained silent as we tried to ask ourselves what he was going to do about this issue because he still didn't have the courage to reveal the matter to his parents, so what would he say if Muzi might turn around and be driven by his parents.

"This is what I have to tell you, Muzi, but I don't know how to start and I didn't intend to tell you yet".

Muzi stood up and sat down as we wanted to hear the matter because this is what he had been looking for and when it came out it was a very good thing for him.

"Wow, it felt like it was a big deal, what could it be?"

"It's difficult, Muzi, how to tell you. I wonder how you will take me after hearing this story that I want to tell you, please don't take it badly". He was silent for a while like a person waiting for an answer from Muzi but it was difficult for him to know what to say, he was thinking silence.

"Muzi, I love you with all my heart, that's why I chose to dedicate myself to you, but you must know this as we wish to go to you with our story. I used to say that when I was young, something happened that made me hate boys, so I always scolded them when they greeted me. What happened to me, I swore that I would never tell anyone, but I don't know what you did to me that made me open my heart to you...". While he was talking, he saw that Muzi was upset and that scared him and he asked why he was being teased before he finished his story. He was disappointed by the fact that he was being told a story that he was not ready to hear because he wanted to hear about his behavior.

"I'm not worried but I'm wondering what could be causing the boys to grow up like this and I'm wondering why you didn't tell me a long time ago when I saw those boys you're talking about. What are they doing anyway?"

"We were coming home from school one day with other boys. When we were on the way, they started asking for something that we didn't know, and I tried to refuse...". The boy suddenly had a banana in his mouth as he told his story.

"Please come down and don't tell me because I want to know who that person is and I'm going to kill someone. Please leave it as it is, as you told yourself, I will make him pretend he doesn't know anything". Muzi didn't want to hear this story, he felt like you were wasting his time by telling him about the past.

16

He did not show love to know what was happening to Love because he wanted to hear the story of his conduct but he did not touch it. Muzi was confused and wondered why Thando didn't understand such a thing, he ended up telling himself that Thobeka was the one who lied to him about everything. Muzi woke up not knowing what to do but he had decided that he would visit home for one day.

When the sun went down, he shut up the cow, and sat down in the udder of the barn. While he was sitting, he saw Dube's car entering the house, he panicked twice when he saw it, but he regained his composure. He entered the house as usual and helped deliver the goods like every day. Until it was dark, they continued to present the goods to us, and when they finished, they entered the crowd and found all the right food.

"Mom, I was asking you to visit our place for just one day this weekend". Thando raised his head in shock because he hadn't told himself that Muzi would not have continued with his story.

"Hey Muzi, what's up, did something happen here at home?" Ma Ncube asked, since Muzi was not used to asking for a visit in a hurry.

Muzi's speech did not sit well with Thando because he thought that this was Muzi's plan to run away, he had realized that he could let him go and never see him again and he would be left to raise the child alone. He hated and got angry thinking about that, he was about to laugh and then he pulled himself together again because he knew that the bath could be in the bag in the blink of an eye so he refused even though he was on fire inside.

"It's okay mom, I just want to go see them and I'll be back in a few days".

"Hey boy, let's all go tomorrow for the Lupane goods that I have to deliver to the owners tomorrow, they are said to be in a hurry, so maybe we can work together if you don't have a problem with that".

It took Dube away as they continued to talk and eat happily, because when the father of the house is there, it seems that the dogs are happy.

"Thank you, father, we can work together. I will call Ntando and ask him to take care of my cattle for me these days while I am away". As he said this, he met Thando's eyes, he was looking at him as if he was scolding him, and he felt that Muzi was scolding him.

They talked until sleep intervened, Dube was the one who started to cry in his sleep because he was tired of sweeping the whole way. They came out one after the other Ma Ncube and his wife.

Both Muzi and Thando were left, he was washing his hands but the way he was holding them, it sounded like he was a hater.

"Oh Thando, why did you kill Miganu today?"

"Don't ask me that, do you think what you are telling me about you describes me? So what do you want to do because I thought we agreed that you will never do that now until I find the courage to tell the elders". Thando replied angrily

"I'm not staying, Thando. I want to go see them at home. It's been a while since I last saw them. And you don't want me to visit you, all this time you didn't care about my visit. How is it going?"

"Muzi, I can see that you think I'm kidding when I tell you that I love you. I don't want you to leave and don't come back here, who will come to you here in Lupane and I don't know?"

While they were talking, the door of MaNcube's big house was heard
When we were born, Muzi immediately became silent and changed his speech. That was the end of his departure.

He got up and got ready, they put the goods in the car, said goodbye and went out on the road. He was kicking Dube for getting used to walking the long mango and getting used to running with it they quickly arrived. He left her by their side after they had finished everything and he went in the way and turned around.

Moyo was very happy to see her boy because he was not visiting at the time so they were thinking that he was eaten from the place where he worked since they could only hear him on the phone.

"My son, you are doing well, Dube, you have come out with so many cheeks". It is Dube who greets his son.

"Hahaha, father, where are my cheeks when I'm so tired? How are the others, after all, it's been a long time since I've been here?" Muzi asked as they sat in the pens under the shade on this side of Moyo wondering about his ploughshare because they had arrived before the sun had set.

"No, you are doing well, Dube, my boy. I must thank him one day when I see him".

"Dad, this is a big issue that brought me here, but it's not a bad thing, I just want your opinion on this issue".

Muzi and his father were silent for a while and then he raised his head and looked into his eyes, wondering what kind of issue the boy was bringing.

"What kind of issue is this, after all, a person would never leave the ground with a small issue".

"I am in love with these two girls who are siblings, but I think that the other one is pregnant, so I want you to help me and tell me how to stop something like this.

My biggest problem is that the one I think is pregnant, I don't like her as much as the other one, so if she might be pregnant, I don't know what to say."

"He ate Moyo's son, Sayi, Dewa Vumabalanda, Magegeza with chago while others bathe with water, the Ancient Warrior who seated Mzilikazi on his throne, smokes two at the same time. That's being a man, boy. So don't complain, that's something I can fix. Those people get along well, and you take your wife in peace."

Advertisement

"Dad, I don't want to commit polygamy and this other person, of course, I don't see him as someone I can build a house with. I was thinking that there is something you can give me so that when she is pregnant, I can remove the stomach that I cannot".

"What are you saying? Here's a boy that I can't wait for during the day when the sun is shining. Those of Moyo are not taken out, boy, except when you want to kill a human being, and you are left to regret everything. It would be better to think of a better plan and not madness Yours is the one you are telling me". He answered when Moyo raised his voice, because he had never heard this coming from this village.

"No, father, I didn't intend to raise you, I was just thinking about myself because I don't want to take both of them. I always want to take one of them, the old one, because he behaves better than the other one. Now how can I order him father? So when she's pregnant, what should I do with her?"

While they were talking, Makhabo, who is Muzi's mother, moved, and she was coming back with her hand on her forehead trying to show the person who was sitting with his wife, because they had not seen the boy since he was absent. When he saw his mother, the boy stood up and walked towards her, they hugged and greeted each other, and he was happy to see his son.

He did not return to his father Muzi and immediately entered his mother's house. Moyo was left proud trying to find an easy way to help his boy. He didn't want her to give up her child, she tried with all her might finding a plan but it was difficult until he finally told himself that the boy must be strong in everything.

Thando had been dressed up all day, thinking a lot, wondering how she would tell her parents that she was pregnant and that the burden belonged to Muzi. He thought that his father saw him being kicked out of the house, everything was difficult and he didn't know what to do.

The sun went down hard asking herself many questions but she didn't find the courage to take the issue away from her mother and she told herself that she will keep quiet until it comes out. He cooked and it was eaten in the afternoon, but that day he was the one who started sleeping until Ma Ncube suspected, even though he ended up telling himself that it was done because of who your Muzi is going to talk to.

As soon as he entered his house, he picked up his phone and dialed it to Muzi who was lying on his bed wondering, they greeted each other nicely.

"What are the parents like there like when you left and forgot that you left people behind. So how did it go?"

"We had a good trip, how did you stay there, mother?"

The parents are alive and I am very happy to see them as it has been a long time since we have been close to each other".

"Okay then, I'm just knocking because I miss you, when are you coming back?"

Before he could answer that question, Muzi heard his door open, and he said, "Look, it's his father coming in." Ah, he went and said goodbye to Thando so that they could have a good talk with their father.

"My boy, this story you told me is inconceivable.

I'm trying to find a better plan for everything but I've decided that if it's possible she's pregnant one would be better to take it than to shed your blood for the other.

I heard you don't like him though here you are doing for us, my son".

"But father, the way it is, I don't like it because if you are disrespectful, you will end up disrespecting each other, mother, what am I saying?"

"Relax about that boy, have you ever seen when a chicken is bought in the house, what happens when you bring it home?"

"Yes father, it is printed by the foundations so that it does not go".

"Tell me, boy, do you think the chicken will know that if it doesn't step on that foot, it will come back? That's how this woman is when you take her, she must be printed on the basis of this word so that she obeys the laws here and respects them, hold back".

"My father, of course, I don't want to build him the way he is, but it's clear that I have no choice but to be firm and take him. It's a shame that the other one died with a wound, but I don't think they will get along again".

"And that's not difficult, boy, I can fix it for you right now, so we can start working on them".

They talked until Moyo said goodbye and we went to bed, and the boy was left alone thinking that there was nothing left to do.

what he thinks. All that was left was for him to beg himself inside to take Thando even if he didn't love her.

*****

Thank you guys for downloading this book from my site please keep visiting <https://novelsguru.com/> for supporting me and also don't forget to share it with your friends.

Dear Friends please download these books direct from <https://novelsguru.com/> bookmark this site for latest African books, and also supporting me Thanks.

*****

17

He stayed with them for two days and went back to his work in Plumtree this afternoon. Moyo's boy was living a difficult life, always wondering a lot and wishing with all his might that Thando would reveal the truth and let him know about his behavior. He was always waiting for the news but Thando was living his life as if there was nothing, which made him think that Thobeka had told him a lie.

They quarreled for a day because they don't wait for anyone to say that they have a problem or are happy, they continue to do their work. He visited Thobeka at the weekend, and he said with great care that his sister's belly had grown it's hard for him to keep quiet.

"Mama, have you noticed that Thando has been away these days?" Thobeka asked her mother as they went out to pick you up water.

"I have never paid attention to him or because I live with him, but I have to look for him because he will not just leave for nothing. Then there is something that is already there for him".

"What could that be, mother?" asked Thobeka, wanting to understand, after all, her intention is for her mother to make sure Thando is pregnant because she doesn't want the day we show up the story then emerged that he knew all this about it trying to cover that up.

"Ah! And is it trusted? I don't want to live with these crimes because your father can do something else to me if something happens, so I have to take care of myself while I talk to Thando, but you, as your sister, you could talk to him if there is something he tells you." Ma Ncube removed it because he had been thinking a lot and he knew Thando that he is not a person who can get away from the body regardless of what is happening.

"Hahah, you will never tell me anything, mother, because we are not as close as before, but I think it is because I don't live here anymore, so it is difficult for her to talk to me like before".

"Alright, I'll look for him myself, thank you for letting me know, my son, I would end up being helped by the cutters, after all, they don't care what they don't know".

They were just talking as they entered the road on their way home, after that he was silent and said Ma Ncube, he was thinking a lot in his head and wondering a lot about his son
Love.

As soon as they entered the house, his eyes were fixed on Thando, he looked at him and stared at him until he was there which he suspected, but he didn't like to memorize the night, he told himself that he would look for her for a whole week so that he would be sure of everything.

Days went by, Ma Ncube was still looking at his son wondering a lot but Thando was not paying attention to all this. After some days passed, he looked at him and saw that he was getting everything he wanted. While they were sitting in the crowd one day, he didn't say goodbye to Ma Ncube until Muzi went out to sleep.

"My child, I want to talk to you as Muzi is just sleeping". Ma Ncube moved this way and that, calling for light in the crowd.

"Oh, mother, why can't we wait until tomorrow to talk about the light?" Thando asked as he pulled his door open and sat down.

"Tell me my child, don't be afraid to speak my mind. You've grown up, my son, but I've never seen boys playing outside or yelling at them all." Ma Ncube asks because he doesn't want to sit on the matter he wants to know.

"Hahaha, mom, and that's something you want to talk about. I was still scared and asked if I had done something wrong. It's not just the guys here in the section so I don't bother about them these are the ones and they know that, that's why you have never seen them sneaking around this city". Thando answered freely and without any guilt since he knew where his mother's questions were going.

"Wow, thank you for hearing that my son, I was just asking because I don't see well these days the way you are far away from the body, I think that there is something you are hiding that you would like to tell me as soon as your father has not seen it. Is there anything I should know, my child?"

Advertisement

He was silent for a while, wondering what to say in response to his mother's question, wondering what he would do if he didn't tell her the whole truth. He thought about the answer for a while and finally told himself that it is no longer useful to hide when there is something that his mother is accusing him of and he must tell her the truth as it is.

"Yes .... yes, mother, there is something I was saying that I will take care of when the time allows". Thando, who was waiting, replied as if he was someone who wanted to hear what his mother would say.

"I'm pregnant mom, I found out about it at the time but it was difficult for me to tell because I was afraid of my father".

"What do you say to me, Love? Are you pregnant? How many months have you been pregnant? But what are you doing my child, you want to kill me

I am the father who said that I am the one who allowed you to do this while hiding me from him? Where is that boy from?" He was asking Thando questions until he finally regretted what he had said but there was nothing else and he had to tell the whole truth as it is.

"It's Muzi, mother..."

"What are you saying?" (he asked as he approached him as if he wanted to slap him) "Is Muzi the one we live with or is there another boy named Muzi here in the section that I don't know?" Ma Ncube asked angrily, but he had noticed that he always left them both in the crowd, thinking that they were talking and fooling around.

They told the story, Ma Ncube told himself that he would wait for Dube to come back and let him know because he didn't want to tell him by phone because he could come and kill someone.

He didn't change the way he treated Muzi and he kept trying to make us ignore him because he had asked Thando not to try to listen to him about this matter.

Then Dube came home as he is a person who works with people, he got caught delivering people's goods everywhere Muzi goes with him, and what do you know, Dube's brother said that everything was done when he woke up and returned to the goal that's when he was satisfied sleep at home to rest better. When they were in their room, Ma Ncube removed the story and told it as it is.

Dube didn't wake up angry but he told himself that he would wake up and see his brothers so they could sit down and discuss this matter, he didn't need Moyo to be there, he only wanted to talk about this town.

He got up and called all the friends who sat down and discussed the matter but he did not want to fine the boy but only wanted to punish him for breaking the fence. He asked why he was going to punish him since he was just sad for himself, so he thought it would be better to punish himself in the way he thought.

Muzi was called and sat down and they asked him about his crime. He quickly agreed to everything.

"From today, you are the one who will do all the chores around the house, boy. Since you hid the fence and created fruits for yourself, all the work that Thando and MaNcube were doing is yours. You are the one who will fetch the water, cook the washing stones and you will continue to take care of the cow". It removed Dube's brother. Muzi saw it as an easy job, so he didn't refuse, he quickly agreed.

He said that when Thando heard that, he was happy and wet because he had told himself that they would tell him about his Muzi and not to do it again see him again.

The story of Muzi lo Thando reached Thobeka's ears and all that Muzi had been turned into Dube's daughter-in-law. Her heart ached, wondering why her sister had done such a cruel thing to her because she blamed Thando for everything. He wondered why Muzi allowed herself to be a daughter-in-law who would do everything.

MaNcube's brother didn't settle down so when the weekend came, he started going home, like every day he asked Muzi to meet him once and he did so because it was difficult for Muzi to refuse as he told himself that Thobeka and Thobeka are the helpers of their family in everything.

"Oh, Muzi, but you're not telling me that you and Thando are making fun of each other until the baby comes out?"

"I'm sorry Thobeka but it was hard for me to tell you because I love you and I don't want to lose you again." I tried to stop Thando until I told him that something was happening between me and him, but that was as if I was stoking the fire because that's when he kept coming back stronger".

"Okay, I understand, of course I know my sister, don't you?"
seeing me is what he refuses, but why did he agree to be turned into a daughter-in-law at home?"

"What made me agree was that I thought that my refusal would cause me to be tortured and end up not seeing my child anymore and I don't want to shed my blood but I hope it will pass in time".

Muzi answered as they continued on their journey. They talked until they entered the house, but Thobeka's heart was so wounded that she said even when she looked at her sister, she felt that she hated her, but she didn't want to say it because she didn't want them to know what was going on between her and Muzi.

18

The day went on, she had become Dube's daughter-in-law since everything was done by her at home, even cooking, while Thando sat on a wooden chair watching. He even rested when Thobeka came to visit him because he was the one who sympathized with her and helped her with cooking and washing.

One day during the weekend Thobeka visited, they went out to fetch water,

"But Muzi will stand for how long it will be used how much is my father? Why don't you move to the Uki, I hope you will live better there". Thobeka asked.

"It's difficult, Thobeka, because I don't want to leave my blood behind. When I go, I have to ask Thando to take us all, but I don't see him agreeing to that, you know your sister."

"I understand that it will be difficult to persuade Thando, but if he loves you, he must agree, after all, you will not live so painfully because of a child. If she doesn't want to, she should give you a child because the life you're living hurts me, I even wish I was content to help you".

"Relax, don't worry about me, I'll get out of this, I promise you I'll find a way to use it everything is ready. I can see what is going on and let the elders take out the rest because at this point I was still standing. I know I can take it out and it will be easy for me to be given love and go with him".

They told the story and it seemed to Thobeka that he didn't care about her if she was doing something else, she again wondered how Thando could agree to do something like this to someone she said she loved but she didn't have any other answer and she realized that it was done by her sister's hard heart.

They were fighting each other for days and weeks causing months. Thando gave birth to a boy and they named him Pendulo Blessing Moyo, she gave him the name Blessing because Moyo's son had received a blessing.

Relatives came to see the child, and this was the day to discuss the issue of child dowry.

It was a long day that day as the elders kept arguing trying to come out of the agreement, the most difficult thing for Dube was to accept that his son had to go away. They begged him while his brothers begged him until he finally agreed, and that was Muzi's relief.

He had to go and take his children with them in Lupane.

They went there

Advertisement

since Muzi is the boy in the family and the firstborn, he was not hit by the tree. Uma Dube (Thando) used her mother-in-law's grandfather. It was fun in the early days,

"Oh Muzi. The daughter-in-law appears to be a good person, so why did you blame her?"

"Hm, my father, I don't know why he is like this these days, because I am afraid of him, I don't know him as such a person, the way he respects my mother, I appreciate it, or is it because a girl is good when she is still looking for a way? I don't know what your daughter-in-law is like". Muzi was responding because the way Thando was behaving, you could have sworn that he is the one with a hard heart who always comes out to fight.

"I told you that we have to lay the groundwork for him.

Do you see that our old things you despise work?"

Moyo asked as he and his boy walked around cutting bushes in the fields.

"Hahaha, I can see that they work but let's hope he will never change us and show us his color". They talked to each other they entered the house, they got all the food to wait for them alone, Muzi laughed until he saw that Thando was an honest person because he never thought that I would behave like this.

Thobeka and Muzi had not stopped contacting each other by cell phone. He used to smoke every day when Thobeka asked about his sister and he was afraid that he would show them who he really is, not every day of drinking but he was shocked when he heard that Thando was behaving well and there was nothing wrong with him.

A few months have passed and the child has started to live a happy life here in the home of all the people of the class looking at Moyo's daughter-in-law, after all the other children have come to be reprimanded by her for the way she respected and behaved well. One day he got up to fetch water, he finished cooking when the sun had risen and when they said they were going to milk, they found him before he finished, that was the first time this had happened since he arrived. Makhabo came in, he came and reprimanded the prostitute after all knowing his wife does not like his cattle waiting for food which is in the world.

Thando didn't like that, but he kept quiet and told himself that it was his fault and it is said that it is tolerated on the road.

That day was difficult because he wanted to tell Muzi that he must reprimand his mother who knew how to talk to him, because he did not behave well. He had been sulking all day and that made him die listening to himself in his room

He did not speak to anyone until he woke up and it was time to fix it evening.

He locked Muzi up and went home, after they had said goodbye they all went to sleep in their houses and he left his chaser in the house washing his clothes because after all Ma Ncube had tried to teach him that he must sleep after washing everything.

"He came from what I wanted to talk about in the middle of the day and now he has gone away and it was difficult to say how can I tell you". He removed Thando who was wasting time.

"Why did you call me by my first name today? What did you want to say?"

"Hey mani let him stop with that. I wanted to ask you to admonish my mother, I didn't like the way she spoke to me during the day when she found me cooking". Thando removed his case.

"So that's all you wanted to talk about?" What did my mother say that this will never hurt you and that you will never keep it in your heart".

"He talked a lot, I won't tell you everything, but I was asking you to try to talk to him and let him know that I didn't like the way he talked. I am asking you to do that for me because I can start answering him and it will be said that I am disrespecting my mother-in-law, and I don't want that".

"I understand, but I don't think that my mother would have said words that could hurt in such a way that you could drown each other because of it." Don't pay too much attention to it, you know, it is said that daughters-in-law don't understand their mothers-in-law because they are all daughters-in-law. I am asking you not to talk too much, mother, because it will not happen again touch each other again".

"Of course, I don't care about your mother's relationship, I brought you here, not her, so whether we get along or not, I will never get anything out of it".

"Oh, but don't you ever talk like that, Love?"

They told the whole story and it was clear to Muzi that his mother had wronged Thando but knowing both of them he tried to put out the fire and ended by promising that he would talk to Makhabo about this, on the other hand he told himself that he would ask his father and try to talk to his mother.

19

Muzi woke up in the morning and talked to his father trying to ask him to talk to his wife because he was afraid that one day the fight would end up being something that would surprise the whole class. Moyo also agreed that he would talk to the wife once and for all, Makhabo kept saying that he didn't want his daughter-in-law to be blamed for pretending and she should be reprimanded. They argued, and Moyo tried to persuade his wife that she should try to help Ma Dube when she saw that he was confused as he was a small child and did not let him do everything by himself.

"I was helped by someone when I arrived here at home, and she is not a daughter-in-law, she has to learn to do everything and when she doesn't have a child. We were doing everything and putting our children on our backs, they didn't hear this when they were put to bed. You can let him do his own thing and he will show you something, I tell you".

"Ma'am, I would say that we should allow him, but things may be difficult for the child, after all, he is still a child and still wants to be helped here and there.

You may leave everything to him, it will hurt him, it would be better if you helped him with something else, I don't think you were doing it before he arrived, so how can we change it".

"It doesn't change, father, but you say you help and they turn around and say that this is the one who likes to bother, you know these children now want to do things their own way, especially those who come from rich families, that's why I leave him to do his own thing, I don't want to end up being called a troublesome mother-in-law". Makhobo replied that they were arguing about this issue elomkakhe.

"Wow, how come you are bothering and you are helping? Now leaving everything to him is what will make you end up talking bad to him after he has done something you don't want. He is a child who will never sit quietly every day and one day he will fall asleep and tell you that the bathtub is full". Moyo answered.

"And you spoke up for him so much, child. Stop getting into the issue of wives and we will fix ours together.

What he tells me is that, I call him to the yard when he is strong, I will never be disrespected by such a child in the house mine."

"Oh Makhobo, you are the oldest person here who should have a better understanding of where this thing is going to end up."

You call them to the yard to fight, but how do the people look at the stage?"

"I don't care about people, but what I don't want is to be disrespected in my home, but it's okay, father, I've heard mine

I will try to be quiet about the rest." They talked about it until they were done they agreed.

As the days went by, Moyo's daughter-in-law continued to behave well and started to make friends in the section. They all kept asking him how he managed to live all this time without ever arguing with his mother-in-law or anyone from Moyo who lived with them.

The time came for Muzi to leave home and we needed a job to feed the children. He went out, and Thando was left to stay at Moyo and his cousins without doing anything bad. One day they came from the fields and found her before she had finished cooking, at that time they should have taken the cow out, she was tending to Moyo so she said that she saw her daughter-in-law still busy cooking but she didn't ask many questions and she didn't say anything. He opened his cattle and entered such an ungrazed path, he left and told his two servants to eat and follow him, because the cattle had been grazed for a while.

Makhabo came in from the fields, he was shocked to be met by his grandchildren but the cows were not in the barn, he asked and they told him that Ma Dube was cooking. He went into the crowd before he had eaten any more,

"Hey Ma Dube, since you always cook at this time, why did you stay and not cook in the morning? It's like if we all went to the fields because there is no light left here at home. Since the cow is no longer in the barn, does the father go and eat or do you starve him to death?" asked Makhabo standing at the elder's door holding his back because contempt was written on his back here.

"I'm sorry, mother, it was a mistake, because I was fetching water in the morning. I didn't want to go to the river in the middle of the day, so I repeated the sun several times until it was noon. I thought I would finish cooking quickly before he came back. My father went to the desert, I'm sorry, my mother, forgive me very much for that. I promise I will never do it again".

He apologized to his brother Dube on the other side with his knee on the ground trying to plead with his mother-in-law.

"Why are you apologizing when my father left without eating? Why are you going to fetch water so much today, or are we pointing out that my child is not here".

"Oh, but my mother has come to think that I pointed out because Muzi is not there?"

"And what can I say when a person does something he has never done before while Muzi is there, why do you start today. If you point to the boy, you can point to the alcohol, I can show you the serpent's tongues for scorning my child." Makabo replied and then he went to his rest room to wait for food

Advertisement

until it comes back after some minutes. He used to cook for Mr. Dube and no one ever criticized his food, they would eat it until they licked it because of its deliciousness.

Thando had a hard time that day, and ended up picking up his phone and calling his mother to let her know how Makhabo was treating him, even though it was an everyday thing, but the conversation did not go down well with him.

"Why do you sound like you were crying, Thando, they treat you well, but I'm not there, my son?" Ma Ncube asked hearing Thando's voice tremble

"They treated me well, mother, but it is possible that my voice was made by the fact that I was sleeping as if it were daytime. We are still resting for people who have not returned to the fields in the afternoon. How is it raining there?"

"We are fine, don't sleep too much because they will wonder what kind of daughter-in-law you are who dies while sleeping. I suspect, my child, that you are hiding something from me, what is troubling you?"

"It's not what my mother said, it's that my mother spoke other words to me in the morning. Since Muzi left us

He watches over everything I do. I can just do one thing and it doesn't go well. He talks until he is silent. Today, he finally said, "I have pointed out that Muzi is not at home."

"Be strong, my child, it's the same on the road, but you stay
You put yourself down every day even when you apologize and make it clear that it happened
It's a mistake, I hope your mother-in-law is still trying to make you see what kind of person you are. You just keep quiet until he gets bored, he was treating you well." His mother comforted him and told him that he must be strong no matter what his mother-in-law said.

They went on for days, for weeks. Then one day when Muzi entered the house from work, just as he entered the house as he was putting the water in the bath, he heard someone knocking at the door. He asked himself in surprise because since he came here to Bulawayo and lived in the house, no one has ever taken care of him and his friend from this place as he wakes up from work every day and only goes in to sleep.

He stood up quietly and went to the door without asking who it was, when he said that it was Thobeka. That scared him, and he asked how he got here.

"Oh Thobeka, what are you doing here at this time and how did you get here?" Muzi asked after asking him to come in and sit down.

"Hey Muzi, aren't you happy to see me here? I don't think we talked before and he directed me to where you live, so that I can get here and be helped by my friend who lives in the third house when you leave here. He is the one who ordered me here even if he doesn't know."

"Hmm! I'm scared, after all, who is collecting like this. Now he joined me at night, is everything going well?"

"Yes, everything is going well. I was here in town this morning to fix something and now it's taking all day.

After the sun set, it was difficult for me that I needed a car to go back to us, so I thought of guarding my friend to come here, so I trusted my friend that if I couldn't find it, I would sleep with him. I woke up in the morning and entered the road but it was bright and I was lucky." Thobeka narrates as she gets up and grabs the pots and starts cooking when Moyo's boy runs out before she knows what to do, she is also afraid that if Thando doesn't hear this, it will be spilled and digested.

He prepared his bath water and fed the boy, when he turned around he found the right food and came to eat, because of his tiredness they didn't let him sleep.

After a while, he was at Bhuka's, and he was snoring.

Thobeka took a bath with her, and then she went to the side

he didn't take her in front of her and left her like that because she saw for herself that sleep was taking over Muzi.

*****

Thank you guys for downloading this book from my site please keep visiting <https://novelsguru.com/> for supporting me and also don't forget to share it with your friends.

Dear Friends please download these books direct from <https://novelsguru.com/> bookmark this site for latest African books, and also supporting me Thanks.

*****

20

Muzi woke up in the morning getting ready to go to work, he was shocked when he saw Thobeka and wondered why he didn't hear from her last night. He wondered if they all slept in the same clothes. He didn't care too much about that, but when he looked at her, he felt his blood rush throughout his body. He approached her in a hurry since he was in a hurry to go to work, they held each other hard and after a few minutes they saw that they were done and he was already sweet of Tobeka.

When he got up in a hurry, he showered and went to work, leaving Thobeka sleeping but he instructed her where to leave the keys when she left. Thobeka listened to herself until the sun rose, she started to clean the house and washed the other things that she had seen dirty.

Muzi was stubborn at work, wondering if what he did was right, but since he loved Thobeka, he didn't see it as a bad thing. He was just wondering how long their affair would continue without Thando knowing that they were continuing.

Days went on, weeks passed, and months passed. He sent Muzi a little sweetie, as it was only summer time it was difficult for Thibeka to visit his wife in the city so he had to stay at home until the Muzi wakes up. With all the young age of the body, the blood started to run in Thando but there was nothing he could do. One day she talked to her friend Ma Nyoni who was a neighbor's nurse, asking her how she was doing since her husband was in Goli and had been gone,

"Haha, you're still asking that, I saw how hard it was to hold on to the boy from my village who was shepherding it. I just feel like I'm getting fired up and I tell him in the afternoon to go for a visit, and he comes back to work because I could die waiting for someone and not know what he's doing when he's there". MaNyoni replied that she didn't pay any attention to the girl's child and didn't see any fault in what she was talking about because she had told herself that this is the life she will live so that she can continue to be a daughter-in-law.

"Hey Birds, these cowboys don't bathe?

How does a person who smells armpit sleep? I don't see how I could do this without Muzi and he was a cowboy but I don't remember smelling his armpit. They are cleaning and I can clean if he tries to kiss me". Thando replied with his nose down, showing that he hates them and never sees him come close to one of them, I'm not talking about putting him to sleep in his clothes.

"Hahaha, you even made me laugh, but I can see that you are not hungry yet, because they say we can get hungry eating grass. This day you will be hungry, well, you will never think about all this, child, I was already dead with memory, think of a person coming home once a year. These people are there when you ask for a visit, they don't agree, so you might find yourself what I call my person when you want me. This is where you need your own, if you want the truth, we can talk to this boy from our village, come back to his friends and choose the best one for yourself".

Ma Nyoni answered as they continued down to the river.

"Then I miss my Muzi but I don't think I can get to that state of succession of cowboys. Another thing that disgusts me is that they don't wash, because the one I would choose would have to wash first. They talked about their story until they crossed the river, luckily when they arrived they found a neighbor's boy who was visiting his friends.

Thando looked at all of them, but he couldn't choose one, so he decided that it was better to wait for Muzi or ask him to come home for the weekend, since he is not at the goal here in Bulawayo. He looked at those who saw that he was looking at them, because of his beauty and his body, they all said that when they saw him, they shouted, all they wanted to get a chance to get close to him but since he had never given them a single day it was difficult. Until someone removed it and said.

"Man, can you visit yours and ask me to speak for this friend of his that we are traveling with, he is a good man, Muzi's wife, I wonder where he took the boy. You can see that when it comes to his father's roots, it doesn't mean that they are working and I will go and need them".

"Man, what you're asking me is difficult because we don't talk much about mine, I come to do my work and go out. I don't know how to start this story". MaNyoni's boy was answering and he was trying to avoid talking about people and he was afraid that he might end up having nothing to talk about like this.

"Oh, and you are being made to do what you want. Now, if they think like that, I don't want it anymore, I don't want to be pulled by the nose, boy, but what will you do if you steal when it's not yours. You must follow the law given to you".

They were talking to the boys while walking, Thando himself was trying to look around but they didn't see anyone better than all of them.

When he got home, he didn't hesitate to call his wife and asked her to come visit him at home but Muzi did not agree and told him that he would come back once on Christmas instead of spending money in the days left.

a few. Thando understood that and was determined until the days of Christmas approached.

When he was about to go home, Muzi called Thobeka to inform her that he would be going home for two weeks. He didn't waste any more time Thobeka

Advertisement

He said that when he arrived at work in the afternoon, he got into the car and headed towards Bulawayo. He came to Muzi to close his eyes. He was doing everything here in the house and passing by, he wanted Muzi's wife not to go because there was nothing he didn't do and never complained and he did it as he pleased. They slept in the morning, he got up the next morning and went into town and bought the child and his sister some clothes that he said were theirs for Christmas.

Muzi entered the house in the dark and found the cow before it entered the barn. Love was so happy that Thando saw Muzi because his presence at home made him feel fearless and fell as if he was sitting next to them. He came and closed the cow, they stayed in the barn for a while while they talked, until they entered the house to close their eyes. They found the right food and ate it, they talked and talked, Moyo said goodbye and we cried because we were tired of the cows of heaven as it had rained. It didn't take long for Makhabo to follow him, that day he went down to take a bath when he saw Muzi, he would listen to a passer-by.

Remembering each other, they didn't talk about where they went when they got to their house, when they saw that they had finished, that's when they started talking. Muzi opened his bag and took out the things he had bought and those bought by Thobeka. Thando was happy and wet when he saw that his sister had bought him goods because by taking Muzi for him he thought he would be lucky forget him.

He picked up the phone lying on Muzi's chest and turned it towards Thobeka, and it rang until it was silent.

He hit it a second time and grabbed Thobeka, after all, he just grabbed her when she woke up from her sleep and she was fast asleep that day.

"How are you sister? Thank you, I have seen the goods that Muzi has entrusted to you, the children's ones are so beautiful that I think that Muzi should be asking you to choose for him, because he is unable to choose". He took Thando away and the joy could be heard when he spoke, until Thobeka was startled and wondered what made him so happy.

"Okay, my sister, when I heard her saying that she was coming home, I thought it would be better if I took one for Christmas wear. I am happy to be visited by you today".

"Okay sister, thank you. Say hello to my mother and you can go home".

Thando hung up his phone and they continued talking about this town until they fell asleep. The day Muzi was there, Thando felt comfortable with her mother-in-law and she spoke well to him.

His last days of the new year break are over, he returned to his job in Muzi as of course it is the busy time some go back to school and others go back to where they live. Thando started to feel lonely because he was used to staying at home aside.

They woke up and went to their mother-in-law's fields and we were weeding as they were just plowing together and weeding together, and when the sun had risen, Makhabo released Thando, and took her water bottle to go and get water on the way home. He is walking alone because most of his people are in the fields, and when he finishes climbing the river he meets Sipho who is a boy who herds cows in another village in that section but he has never seen him before. They greeted each other, the boy's voice was nice in Thando's ear and he heard him turn around, and he said that he looked up and found the boy standing and looking at him because he was Dube's husband is shaking his head, Siphon is standing watching Thando. Embarrassed, he turned around and looked forward, firmly on his feet. Siphon was left standing and wondering because when he arrived, he had never seen Thando and Thando and neither had he ever seen her.

He walked proudly wondering where he was from and who he was? But is he a cowboy or someone who visited for a break before returning to work?

But if he is always there, if MaNyoni ever told me about him, why have I never seen him as a boy.

He is beautiful, this is his voice and I thought I might stick with him. He is talking to himself while Thando is on his way to the terrace saying that he will see her again. She was thinking about the boy until she forgot that she was someone's wife, and she remembered when we entered the house. He decided that he would ask MaNyoni about the boy.

He cooked and finished, and the cow came out. He went out with the heat and went straight to his neighbors wanting to understand because he was no longer content to wait for the time to go to the river to ask the Birds.

"My friend, I met another boy today. He is not a good boy, this is his word, some people God made old knows. A boy was created to fight".

"Where is that boy you're talking about, I've never seen him?"

"I don't know him, I met him and we greeted each other. How many days will it take for me to be held back by my knees or by another visitor who will return to his work?"

"No, we don't know if we should see him or if he is a boy from Hadebe, I have heard that it is a new boy who has arrived, but I have not seen him yet. I don't think so there is no one left who does not return to work because most of them have already returned".

"This one, we have to try a plan and see him. I'm telling you, you can see him yelling, child."

They talked about each other until Thando said goodbye and we went back to them, but he wanted to see the boy he knew again and where he was from. There he was determined to do whatever it took.

21

They went on for days, weeks, and months, and they kept arguing with each other. He started to miss his wife, Thando, and tried to persuade her to come back, but Muzi was adamant that they would only see each other during the Easter break. Thando tried to be strong, but when he thought about the whole month that was left until Easter, he realized that it was a whole year.

He started looking for the boy he met one day coming from the fields, after all he had forgotten about you and they told him that he would be patient until his wife came back.

The Birds went out to the river when the sun was getting dark, and while they were walking they saw a person crossing the road running behind a cow, who led Thando to follow with his eyes but he couldn't see well.

"Oh Thando, who is this you are looking at so much? You don't care about the boys who are shepherding, but the one you look at and follow him with your eyes, I can see that you care about him".

It took MaNyoni away.

"You know the person who crossed the road here, he looks like the boy I was asking about. So it could be can it be removed? Let's go with the power of possibility to see him". That's what Thando said as he stepped on his feet because he wanted to see who it was that he saw jumping the road.

They walked until they reached the place where Thando was looking, he saw someone under the trees. They stopped and looked until they saw the boy, and when they realized that they had seen them, they went straight to the river as if they had done nothing. Out of curiosity, he followed the boy to see who was spying on him. He went down to the river and found them fetching water, greeted them and begged them to drink.

"And who are you, my friend? I've never seen you here before?" MaNyoni asked, because he didn't take time when he wanted to get to know them.

"I am Sipho, a boy from the Hadebe family. I have been here for months but I have never met you, only the one in the well I liken him as if I had seen him before. Where are you?"

"I am the daughter-in-law of Ndlovu, this one is from Moyo, since you say you are only a few months old, you don't already know half of the houses I am talking about. It's like ordering someone who doesn't know anything".

"You guys, you know how to grow back, if I had grown up half as fast as one of you, it would have been mine".

He spoke while laughing at Siphon.

"Hahaha, a child of your size, do you think you could satisfy us already? I also don't go with the herding boys, so forget that you would never see me, we don't know Ma Nyoni, he could still feel sorry for you, but you are too young of course". Answered Thando who had been silent all this time without opening hers.

"Hahah that's what you think? I may be small in body, but the years have passed, that's why I haven't taken it yet, but all my peers have children now, but I won't say anything because I know everyone thinks I'm a child".

Siphon answered and finished there and turned his back and left them like that.

They raised their flags and headed home. On the way, they were walking with the young man, talking about everything they thought about him.

Thando was so fascinated that they agreed that they would go to the river at the same time every day so that they could see him again.

The boy was left wondering why he didn't throw two or three, and he scolded himself for being afraid of human beings. There were many questions and answers in his head and the boy ended up telling himself that he would always play near that place every day at the same time.

He had told himself that this would cause him to take a bath while it was still light so that when it happened he would see them and see that he had taken a bath.

Then one day they were going to the river and they met Hadebe's boy, they walked together talking and laughing, that day the boy didn't waste time and threw two to Thando and he lost his words for a while until MaYoni, a wise man, answered,

"Oh Siphon, I thought you were our friend and you saw a girlfriend here.

Then he shows the wife

Do you think that you will agree like this or are you just trying your luck and want to see what will happen?" Ma Nyoni asked him questions one after the other, when Thando remained silent as if it was yours because the way he had put the boy had made him salivate.

He quickly apologized to Siphon and they continued on their journey but he could see for himself that Thando had died inside, he told himself that he had to find a good time they were both. There he was sure that Thando would only agree. He came and passed by and left them at the well to draw water, he crouched behind a tree and listened,

"Ma Dube, what do you think the boy is doing to make you kneel down and fail to answer? I can see that it is only a matter of time before you agree, I helped and quickly answered".

"Haha MaYoni, how do you take me? I am frozen by this boy

Advertisement

This one is young, I'm looking for his uncles. All that was left was for me to yell at him and let him know that I don't want to be disrespected by small boys, seeing me laughing at him and thinking that I can become his girlfriend. I am my man, I don't want little boys around me". Thando answered as he pulled out the chalk green ones, he was talking as if he knew Siphos was listening behind the tree.

"No, we don't know, friend, but I suspect, if the two of you meet while I'm not there, there are many things that can happen to me, especially these days, and you'll be caught in your own way. It's better because there are a few weeks left for Muzi's return, we can wait until he arrives".

They told the story until they carried their basket back home, the boy said that when he heard that Muzi was on his way, he went looking for him that he should do everything in a hurry so that when Muzi arrives he will find everything ready for him. He was dying to wait for Thando, luckily they met each other.

He continued where the boy left off, and Thando was shocked when he agreed. They planned this meeting day.

It didn't go away that day, Sipho was always building his Love with his mind's eye when he saw them kissing.

The boy was very happy, while Thando was very sorry, wondering why he was so quick, he agreed.

He decided that he would go where they had agreed, but he went to tell her that they should break up without harm nothing.

The day came, Thando cooked and finished. They talked, until they said goodbye to the others when it was time to go to bed, he kept looking at his time and wanted to see Sipho and wanted to tell him to break up. He sneaked out towards them and they met, kissing each other as a handsome boy, smelling good again that day. They talked for a while, and their mouths stuck together for minutes, loving each other. Thando was startled and jumped to Sipho's side,

"Oh, what are you doing my love? What scared you?"

"No, Sipho, what we are doing is not right. I am the person of the owner, so I don't want to bring shame on myself by bringing shame to people's homes. I'm begging you, it's better to let this not go bad". He was talking and Thando's knees were frozen, the emotions wanted but the mind remained.

He was thinking about what Muzi would say if he didn't hear

It is said that we are playing cowboys here in the section. He thought about what his father would do to him if he might be kicked out of the road for misbehaving, and all his emotions ran away in a moment when he felt like stopping.

He tried with all his might to plead with Siphon but the spirit did not leave, Thando could no longer hear that. He hurriedly asked to return home, and he did so. He regretted it all night, he was asking himself, but when he thought of Siphon's cup, he felt his blood rush. He was trying to ignore that but it was hard.

Siphon came back disappointed but there was nothing else he could do, he had to accept the situation as it is, on the other hand he was wondering what he did not do well because he had found Thando where he was little. He berated the boy but felt sorry for himself the answer.

A day passed and Muzi arrived, he felt a great guilt that Thando was here because sometimes he even wished to tell Muzi what he did but it was difficult for him to wonder how Muzi will take that. He didn't enjoy the days of Muzi's visit since he ate them day and night, he was shy when he looked at him.

"Mamakhe, you know that I came as if you were not happy. What are you thinking so much about?"

"I was thinking here, father, I wanted to ask you to go away for a while or for a visit we can finish the harvest because when I'm left alone here at home I miss you a lot." He was trying to close Thando

"Then I would be happy to leave, but the house I live in is still small and we will live hard here.

It would be better if we stay, I need a big house so that when we finish our visit, I will have found it. I don't want you to miss me too much, because you will end up pulling cowboys here". He was talking trying to cover up since he thought that Thando's visit would prevent him and Tobeka from seeing each other, so he wanted her to first hear if he agreed.

"Oh, but don't you ever consider me cowboys?"

Did anyone pull you when you were a cowboy?"

He asked as if he was laughing at Thando, but knowing that Muzi was telling the truth, that made him feel guilty big.

They told their story until they agreed that Thando will visit when we find a house that is not big. Thando liked that because he saw it as a good plan that would help him Sipho didn't think since we were running out of time built.

*****

Thank you guys for downloading this book from my site please keep visiting <https://novelsguru.com/> for supporting me and also don't forget to share it with your friends.

Dear Friends please download these books direct from <https://novelsguru.com/> bookmark this site for latest African books, and also supporting me Thanks.

*****

22

Days went on, weeks turned into months], it was fun in Bulawayo, Muzi was leading Thibeka and he was visiting as he liked. The love had gone back to where it was and it was burning strong but Thobeka kept reminding Muzi about her children every day. He used to say that when he visited at the end of the month, he would make sure that they all go and give Thando a sweet treat and the baby's clothes, you could swear that Thobeka was taken by Muzi by her sister the way she did things for him.

When some months passed and it was winter time, Thando thought of visiting the city,

"Mom, I was thinking of visiting the city since it's only during the winter when there is a lot of work to be done." He was talking to his mother-in-law while they were sitting in the church in the afternoon after dinner.

"Oh dear, you can't wait for Muzi to call you here. What will you do if you find out that things are not going well with him and he ends up having a hard time or arguing with him. I thought it would be a good idea for you to wait for him to be the one to call you, my son."

Makhabo replied that he was speaking for himself, thinking that when Thando is gone, he is now in control of everything as he is alone as his youngest is still in school.

"But we could let him go for a week, wife, and see where his wife lives. I thought that was a good plan, especially since he asked for it."

"No, we don't know, it's because the children now want to stay attached to their wives, as if it's a belt.

A long time ago, a man lived with his wife for years and it was nothing to worry about. You have heard that we are working here in the city because they like this money, but what can I say, who am I? If he and his wife agree, it's okay for him to visit."

He added that there was a lot of Makhabo trying to stop Thando from going.

"Thank you, but I'm not going for a long time."

"When are you leaving, cousin?" Makabo always asked.

"I don't know yet, mother, I will talk about this town first, let's agree, but if he agrees, I'll leave anytime just for a while."

"It's okay, we'll hear about you when we meet." Thando stood up happily because he hadn't expected that his mother-in-law would agree to say goodbye to him.

They sit and talk in the crowd until sleep intervenes.

They stood up and said goodbye, Thando rushed to his house to talk to Muzi about the visit. He quickly picked up his phone and it went straight to Muzi who didn't take time to pick it up.

"How is your mother?" It was Muzi who answered his phone.

"I'm fine, I'm just smoking and I was asking for a visit to the city at the end of the week. I have spoken to my mother and father and they have agreed that I can visit for just one week so that I can get to know where you live." Thando quickly removed his story, he didn't delay.

"Oh, mother, didn't we just agree that I should first find a house that looks like a barn you were visiting?"

"I miss you, Muzi, and I'm not pretending that we're leaving. If we're all staying together, the situation doesn't agree with me. I accept that, but I was asking for a visit. And don't you remember me, because I thought my visit would make you happy." He asked as if Thando was getting angry, because the way he felt, he was not satisfied to wait another months to be by his wife's side.

"I miss you but it's difficult in this matter where I live it's small."

"Okay, I'll be back at the end of the week. Go ahead and tell your underlings that the owner of the house is coming

It won't be long before they play a long time because I can kill someone if I find them there." He laughs at Thando, but that speech breaks Muzi's heart, and he thinks that he should tell Thobeka that he is not coming because she said that she will be visiting for the whole weekend.

They talked until they said their goodbyes when the air on the phone ran out, when Thando was happy, he said, he knows that within a week he will be with his wife, which he has been waiting for a long time. Muzi took his own fish and called Thobeka, knowing that Thando is visiting, Thobeka should not be your business, Muzi panicked, and when he heard Thobeka saying that he was taking some of his belongings, he told himself that he would take care of himself at the weekend. Muzi thought about the matter and wondered what he should do, so he thought of hiding. Once he needs a hidden place and hides himself under his terrace where he sleeps.

Days went by and it was the weekend and Thando visited. It was nice to see each other as they had only known each other for months. One day when Muzi went out to work as usual, Thando woke up and thought about cleaning everything in the house. He took a lot of things outside, saying that he was often blown by the wind and hit by the sun. He took all of Muzi's unclean things and burned them.

due to the large amount of goods, he decided that it was better to use the big bath that was not on the terrace.

He pulled it out, took out everything in the bath for the purpose of using it, but he said that his eyes were looking at the clothes belonging to a woman. Fear struck him, he didn't know what to do, he lost his strength and ended up returning to the bathtub.

He didn't wash them that day because he didn't know what to do with them. He wondered who the secrets under the terrace belonged to. When he thought about it, it was like he was dreaming, because he had never thought that Muzi could be the other person he was joking with here in the city. He tried his best to think it through story but it was difficult to understand

Advertisement

while he was sitting he fell asleep. When he woke up, he thought to his sister that there might be a plan to help him, but then he thought again that since he chased her, he told her that he had given up. It was so difficult that he thought of calling Ma Ncube's mother on the phone,

"Mom, how is it there? I was about to tell you that I am here in Bulawayo these days on a visit."

"It's okay, my son, but why does your voice sound like someone crying, is everything okay there or is your son-in-law harassing you?"

"The thing I found here is what makes me cry, I was cleaning the house here looking for something to wash and now I found this woman's clothes and I don't know what to do with it. Muzi himself, I ask him what he has to say about them."

"It sounds like it's difficult, my child, but some things require patience as a woman. If he doesn't do anything bad, he will tell you who it is for. It is also possible that they belong to your sister, after all, she has visited the city to prepare her papers. The sun went down there and he ended up asking us to take a bath in the village, so don't take it rashly."

"Mama says what did Thobeka do? When did you do it?"

"This town he didn't tell me about? And why didn't you tell me that you have come here to my house?"

"Did your sister talk to him about this matter?" If you haven't talked to him yet, when you finish here call him and ask, tell him that you heard from me. If it's his, he'll tell you, but I'm just thinking that it's him. I don't see that Muzi can be a person who can be someone who makes fun of each other, we all know Muzi and we spend a lot of time with him, he was not the one who scolded us." He answered

When Ma Ncube was in Love of the Good, it became clear that Muzi Lo Thobeka's story was not over.

He hung up his phone and thought of calling his sister but failed again because they had never talked about Muzi's issue since he disappeared so he didn't want to start it by asking about the property. He kept quiet and told himself that he would ask Muzi himself when he arrived in the afternoon.

It was a good day for Muzi at work, he was happy because he knew that when he got home he would find water to wash everything and food for him. He went out and went straight to the house, and as soon as he entered, he met the pots shining on this side and Thando was watching TV. He put his bag down and sighed

He opened the jar, and found them shining as if they had just come out of the store. There were questions in his head and he was wondering why Thando didn't cook food in the house. Without asking much, he put his bath water, let it heat up and went out to bathe. When he came back and put the pot in and started cooking, it was difficult for Thando to know what to do as he was waiting for Muzi to ask him but since we are just doing it, how are we going to get rid of the issue.

Thando gasped, hurriedly pulled the blanket over her and pretended to be sleeping on this side with tears closing her eyes. Wisely, Muzi realizes that something is not right, but he doesn't like to ask, because he has already told himself why Something is bothering Thando, we should have talked because when he was growing up, he would go out and talk.

They slept all night with no one talking to each other, Muzi woke up as usual and took a shower to get ready to go to work. He said that he was just leaving the door and met Thando,

"Muzi, I was thinking of returning home in how many days."

Muzi stood and looked at him, then asked and said;

"Oh, why did you think of going back so soon? I was thinking that you will stay for two weeks or a month as it is only winter and there are no jobs at home".

"I think they miss me at home as I already told them that I will stay for one week. It's better now that I know where you live so I can come back anytime.

The way you are acting, I can see how unhappy you are with my presence here, so I don't want you to stay as if you are running away from your house."

They talked, and as time was running out they agreed that they would talk about this issue in the afternoon when Muzi showed up at work. It remains difficult for Thando when he tries to think that this person is left playing with her husband while he is at home. He pulled out the tub and took out all the clothes between them, he quietly put them in the fire, telling himself that Muzi will ask when he sees them gone. When he finished, he returned the bathtub as it was. He did everything in his house, that day Muzi was surprised to find water for bathing and food cooked what he likes.

They all ate in the afternoon, talked happily until they finally agreed that Thando would return home but since he was visiting every month when it was winter, Thando's heart was hurting because he was angry with each other about the things he wanted to talk about but he didn't know how to start the story especially when he thought that when he started dating Muzi he knew that he was taking her for his sister. He wondered if Thobeka had felt so much pain, but he consoled himself by saying that if he had felt so much, he would never speak to her again for the rest of his life.

23

Then the weekend came and Thando had returned home, but he left with his painful heart full of sores and bleeding, wondering why Muzi did something like this to him.

He woke up the next day and went to his neighbor, Ma Mpofu, who came and told him everything that happened in the city and why he went away and returned home because they had agreed that he would stay there for the whole month.

when you agree.

"Friend, why do you only set yourself on fire without doing anything? They will take you as a husband, I tell you, I could have made that woman. She didn't get her period until she apologized for sleeping with my husband. You're being stupid by burning only because you're going to buy some, but this man of yours continues."

"Ah! Poor people, I don't know that. Utsukuthi never bewitched someone because of the man you found with his mouth full of teeth? I'd rather say that I'm a fool, I'll never do something like that.

It would be better for me to do what he is doing."

Thando answered as he was startled by his friend's speech.

"Hahaha, you are a fool. You used to think that your father-in-law is a half human being, he is just here and they fixed it a long time ago that no one gets along with him except Muzi, but you yourself say that you cannot bewitch someone.

Think about it, Mr. Dube, and please think about it carefully."

"How did you know all this when you are so young? I have never heard what this mother has heard, I don't see that she knows what she is telling me."

"I see you are still young my son, you must have known these things because what our ancestors did does not start with you.

What do you think they were living in their homes while they worked in the cities. Of course, your mother will never tell you everything. You listen to me, next time don't burn yourself and don't worry about taking too much. You have to take one and I will show you how to do it."

They told their story but Thando kept not understanding and asking many questions, he told himself that he should try to do what Muzi is doing. He held Siphon to himself so that he wouldn't suffer too much, he told himself that if he wasn't caught, he would say that he did what Muzi did.

They agreed with his friend that it will happen these days and they need Siphon to find him and tell him that it is ready so that they can make fun of each other. Once in the course of the day they met him coming from the river, as the cow was wintering they can be taken care of and the boys get time to do what they want.

When he met Sipho, Thando wasted no time and immediately asked him to meet in the afternoon where they had met before, Sipho was happy with that, which made him quickly agree.

When the sun went down, he bathed and gave love to Thando, as he had come back from the city, the perfume was still sweet, and he put it on until Makabo was scared, but he ended up failing. self control.

"Hey Ma Dube, today you took a bath and insisted so much, where are you going? Or is it because you came back from the city yesterday, you still have all the toiletries?" She didn't try to answer when Thando kept quiet because she was afraid that she would end up talking bad to her mother-in-law. They talked until they said goodbye to each other and we went to his bedroom and he did the same. As soon as he entered his house, he received a message from Sipho informing him that he was standing outside their place. Anyenye and Thando went out, and they met in their place. In a hurry, they had already entered and were close to each other, after some minutes, Thando was shocked when he saw that they had finished the service. He stood up and ran towards his house without saying goodbye to Sipho. He did not swallow it

He slept that day regretting what he had done, but there was no turning back.

He visited Thobeka

Advertisement

He came and needed his belongings and was destitute, so he decided to wait to come back and asked Muzi where he hid himself. When Muzi arrived, he found Thobeka already cooked and doing everything, because he had the key, so he entered when he wanted. As soon as he entered the house he was met with a question,

"And where did you hide my belongings for a long time when I needed them and didn't see them?" I know that since your wife was there, you didn't want her to see it, so you hid yourself, but where did you hide yourself?" asked Thobeka looking at Muzi in the eyes.

"You can hear the noise that would arise there if you haven't seen it for a long time. You know your sister, it would end up not being good, or you would end up not talking to each other for the rest of your life."

"Then he said why are you doing that? He took me for a man but I didn't stop talking to him and I did everything he wanted. The clothes he chooses are bought by me.

He convinces the mother-in-law, but it will be over soon."

Thobeka spoke what was in her heart until she was satisfied with Muzi and she didn't know what to do. He tried to comfort her by pulling out the tub in which he had put his clothes. But search

He didn't find anything, but it was clear to him that Thando saw them he took them.

He quickly grabbed his phone and called Thando, who did not take time to answer.

"How are you, father?"

"I'm fine, you know what I forgot to tell you until now he left". When he said that he opened all his ears

Thando wants to hear how things are going here
Thobeka wonders what Muzi is doing when we want to make them fight out.

"What is that?"

"These things that I put in the bathtub under the terrace, they were yours and Thobeka gave them to you, saying that you will use them in the fields. Now I don't see them here, have you gone with them?" He exposed the boy to lies, Thobeka lo Thando was shocked by that and wondered why he didn't tell her when he arrived before he was hot after all they were beautiful.

"Oh, I saw myself on fire and thought to myself that this is the person who is making fun of him when he leaves his belongings in your house. I'm sorry for not asking because I thought about a lot and didn't want to ask anymore that you are going to tell me a lie, but it hurt me every day when I think about it."

"Please ask next time, you see now that you burned things that belonged to you thinking of me." He hung up his phone and turned to Thobeka and explained everything that Thando had done, it was surprising that Thando was the one who was content to do such a thing without making any noise.

They talked to each other, until they fell asleep because they knew what happened to Thobeka's property and there was nothing else to worry about. Thobeka slept hard wondering if Thando was telling the truth that he had burned himself or if he was doing it for Muzi so he wouldn't ask too much. He consoled himself by saying that he would see about it if he didn't take it, after all, he was frightened by the fact that he had heard people talk about witchcraft even though he didn't know how true that was.

Thando didn't stop asking himself many questions, regretting why he didn't ask Muzi before he got angry, even regretting that all of that threw him into Siphos arms, which was eating him up, wondering what he would say, how Siphos would tell him to stop seeing each other after this incident. There were many questions in his head and he wondered what he was going to do he searched telling himself that he should try to tell his friend about the possibility and help him give him a strategy on how to get out in all this.

Sipho was happy in those days because he had finally found what he wanted, even though after that they did not see each other again, this love of response did not respond to his message anymore.

24

Thando woke up and did all the household chores, as soon as he finished he called Ma Mpofu and asked him to see him about the story he had to tell her. He didn't take time, he poured because he loved the story.

"You know, my friend, I made a big mistake, I don't know what to say to Muzi if he doesn't hear this." Thando quickly deleted his story.

"What mistake did you make that you never asked me about during the day?"

"I don't think you know my story about Sipo, that I was finally blessed by something I saw when I arrived in town. Yesterday, Muzi called me and asked me about the goods I came and burnt myself, I am here and I am very sorry for what I did."

"What did Muzi do, friend?" Does your wife have the courage to ask you about the belongings of another woman that you found in her house? Me, I could have studied well there, after all, this is to make you a fool who doesn't think. I would tell him what to eat when I was hungry. So you regret why you bought the property for yourself?" Ma Mpofu replied that he didn't hear the whole story, he was just muttering that Muzi is being rude.

"I understand, but you were the one who was suspecting this. When he asked, he told me that the property belonged to me

It was given to me by my sister to wear to go to work. I burned myself without asking because I told myself it was for another woman. You know if I had asked Muzi all this, I wouldn't have done it."

"You Ma Dube are really stupid and your wife knows that and that's why she's doing this. So if they were yours, why didn't he tell you earlier? Why was he hiding himself?

Why did he ask you after you left, don't you think that the owner is the one who came to need them and they were planning to ask you? Think girl, you didn't make a mistake by burning. One day you will find the truth, I tell you."

"He said he had forgotten to tell me about them and when he was talking, I thought maybe one of them was taken out and I was comparing it, but I told myself again that the goods are the same. I have destroyed my house, I don't know how I will stop all this from appearing in the yard because I might be kicked out of Moyo." Thando replied holding his head, clearly showing that he is very sorry for what he has done.

"Relax yourself. There is no one to tell Muzi about all this, you just have to be strong because if you stop being strong, your house will be destroyed, they will drive you here again."

"Now, Siphon, what should I do to him, girlfriend, because what I am doing is bad. I was doing everything thinking that Muzi was there what he is doing but after his phone call yesterday, I realized that I was thinking about something that is not there, brother Moyo, but my mother had reprimanded me and told me to ask Thobeka, but what am I doing?" They chatted like friends until they parted after some minutes.

Life went on, a month went by, and Christmas break was approaching. Everyone had started preparing for the break, the wives of the daughters-in-law were all happy that their wives were on their way. He was waiting for his Muzi and Thobeka, but since it happened to Sipho, the one who came here for us is the one who did the dowry. Thando realized that when he got home, Muzi made sure that this person was still drinking from his well, so he ran to MaMpofu.

"Friend, since the fathers are just coming back, they will never pay attention to the person who is left to drink from the well. After all, there is a noise or someone finally finds out do you know when he is old?" Thando asked as they were on their way to the river.

"That's easy, my friend, I have some medicine here that I use when my father comes back and I don't feel anything. I can give you this one if you want to use it so that he doesn't hear anything and tells himself that he is just sitting around doing nothing."

Ma Mpofu replied, he lived wisely plans every day.

"Oh, that's why you don't care. You know, I was worried and wondering what I was talking about. I want my medicine if it works because I still want my house.

Now how are you used?"

"You trap with a fingernail and tie it to a small engine that you were about to install let it sit on its own and take it out in the afternoon and wash it. You can do this for days in a row, I tell you, when my father arrives, he feels as if everything is thick." Ma Mpofu answered.

Advertisement

They agreed that he would take it and start using it as the day was just around the corner.

He used it well, but on the fourth day he saw that nothing was changing and he thought of putting it in as it was without using the bulb, after all he had heard that you can put it in without the engine working hard so he wanted everything to go away. He did that for three days in a row, and he saw the change until he relaxed on his own.

The day approached and Muzi arrived, everything was done and there was no suspicion. After two weeks, the break was over and the boy returned to town. He said he slept for one night

In the city, he woke up one day wet, and asked himself many questions about how things would go. He persevered, but when the sun went down he could see that it was going forward, so the next day he woke up in the hospital to hear how things were going. When she arrived, the nurses admired her and told her that she was doing well to hurry because the disease inside would have hurt her and she would end up not having children. They asked him why he did not think of anyone here because he did not suspect anything, and he told himself that it was done by bathing in the river.

After three days, Thando started to itch on the bottom, it was like he was scratching all the time, but it was difficult to figure out how to scratch in front of his father-in-law. He persevered, but the next day he woke up looking up, feeling pain and asking himself a lot of questions.

"My friend, you know I'm itchy on the bottom and I'm always scratching. Does this ever happen to you?" It is Thando who asks his friend.

"Oh, I've never met you like that. So what is the medicine of the same, you did not use it without putting it in the engine. If you have ever done something that is likely to be the one that makes you feel itchy." Ma Mpofu answered and we rolled our eyes because he has never done it to her that.

"You know, you may be right, now I have to go to the hospital as soon as possible before it gets worse, because I don't want this Muzi to find out what I was using because he will want to know the reason for using that medicine. I'm accompanying you to the hospital, my friend." They talked as they got up because he was afraid that it might end up hurting him and he didn't want Muzi to hear about it.

They came in to hurry me to the hospital, when they arrived they told her that the fever was cured but they told her not to repeat and use what she had used because it will hurt her and she ended up having her uterus removed for trying to please her wife. When he got out of there, he swore that he would never do it again use that medicine.

Muzi was worried, wondering again and again what kind of disease he was talking about, until he thought of calling his wife to let her know, even though he was wondering how he was going to get it, but there was nothing else he could do.

"How is his mother?"

"I'm fine, how did you go? How is it at work?" That's Thando talking to himself as if nothing happened.

"When I arrived I didn't go to work, I wasn't feeling well these days but it's getting better. I wanted to ask you How did you stay because I got sick here and pus came out of my body." He was silent for a while and Thando was so scared that he didn't know what to say because he knows what caused all this.

"I'm sorry, father, I've only got to do it, but forgive me for embarrassing you. In the other drug I was using, I tried to make it clear when you got home. That's the one who caused me to be sick, I'm just talking from the hospital but I promise I won't do it again." It was difficult for Muzi to continue asking or fighting as he quickly went down and apologized to Thando for a long time.

"Don't do it again because you will kill me with your medicine. They Who did you say it to?"

"I told my friends that they are the ones who use it, I didn't know it would end like this, but I'm sorry, my parents. Please forgive me, I'm no longer obsessed with things I don't know."

They apologize to each other, and Muzi apologizes as he has found out the truth he has been looking for it.

25

After that, he immediately told himself that he would separate from Sipo, even if that would be a difficult thing, because there was a lot that united them. He woke up one day determined to end everything between him and Sipo. While walking with his friend Ma Nyoni, they met Siphon and he was walking with the cow he was tending as the goats were already in the fields and they were being grazed.

"This is what I wanted Siphon to talk about when he has time." It took Thando away as they finished greeting each other.

"He sounded as if it was something difficult. What could that be? Is there anything I need to know that you haven't told me yet?" asked Siphon and we were surprised that what made Thando ask to talk to her during the day.

"I was thinking, Siphon, I am Moyo's daughter-in-law, so I was asking you if you need a girlfriend your age who doesn't own you."

"What do you say to me, Love?" Siphon asked, after all, this is not what he had been expecting.

"I say we better stop what we are doing, I don't want to lie to my wife every now and then when this happens, I will be fired from Moyo, so I didn't want it to come to that."

I ask that we stop what we have been doing." It answered you
Love

"Don't tell me what you want us to do, what we are doing will end when you want me to." If you don't want that, I will inform the relatives of your friend, I know his affairs, so don't bother me to reveal them to everyone." Siphon answered. MaNyonni got scared and ended up joining the story because she heard that they were putting her in it.

"Ma Dube, we better leave him like that because he will end up causing us a lot of trouble with this boy of yours." We will see another plan for this. Let's go." He said goodbye because he didn't want to end up being portrayed as a misbehaved daughter-in-law.

They left there and said their goodbyes without Thando wondering what the story was about. Thando was having a hard time trying to find ways to break up with Siphon, but it was difficult because it was Siphon who promised to tell people about his story. They talked to his friend trying to find plans to get out of all this but they didn't find any so they finally agreed that his gift will continue until they find a better plan.

The day went on, Thando and Siphon kept stealing from each other even though Thando didn't want to do that anymore but there was nothing he could do. He was left what else can he do without doing what Sipho wants. Then one day they agreed to meet at their place like every day. Sipho arrived, Thando sneaked out and said that Muzi's brother was outside spilling water. As it was dark, Thando could not see anything, but Sandile had already done it, she sneaked behind him and followed him until he reached where he was going. Sandile hid behind a tree and watched everything that was happening. When they were done they parted ways and he returned home and he entered his exhibition with many questions wondering what he should do about what he saw.

Sandile woke up in the morning wondering what to do about what he had seen last night. He kept asking himself, but as a young man, he saw it as a good idea to use to shake the termites in his brother's house rather than allowing other boys to do it but he wondered how he would start the matter because of the way he respected his brother's daughter-in-law that is becoming a difficult plan.

The sun went down, Sandile was locked up as the scores were closed and he was the shepherd. Dinner was eaten in the evening, and they talked and talked until saying goodbye to Moyo and Makhabo. They both stayed here

After all, Simingani, who is a little girl, was not able to sleep at all, she was the first to fall asleep.

"Ma Dube, you know you are beautiful, I even wonder how my brother saw you. If I grew up half way back then you would be mine." It made Sandile want to hear him say that what will you say?

"Oh little one, why did you say something like this today?

Maybe it's something you always think about or something that makes you think about saying this. Unfortunately, you are still young, if you saw me, where would you see me without your brother?" answered Thando with great confidence.

"Hahaha, why am I too small for this Gift?" he asked Sandile after all Thando's answer had given him courage as he was no longer insulted as he thought.

Thando was silent for a while, wondering and wondering why he came and chose Siphos among all the people in this section.

"Siphos, where is Sandile from? You are still young and you must continue with your studies and stop what you are thinking. What are you into today?"

"I meant Siphos, a boy from beyond Hadebe. You are beautiful, Ma Dube, I just wonder how the boys feel

I could see it from the other side, but what speaks to me is that I thought that I might be touching a termite since Muzi is not nearby." The boy answered bravely because he hoped that even if he tried to get up, Thando would come up with his story that he was jealous of.

"Oh Sandile, you're making me feel bad here, I thought we were just talking to each other. Why do you despise me so much, do you think I am that person? I have to tell my mother this

this is my father tomorrow

Advertisement

what you are doing is disrespectful." Thando replied angrily, because he saw himself as being very despised. He didn't answer and Sandile said goodbye quietly and went straight to his house over there, telling himself that he would take care of his daughter-in-law. He was determined that he would ask her to hold his Sipo that he had chosen for her. Thando left and listened to himself, but he was worried in his mind, wondering what Sandile had gotten into. Is there anything he has heard in the pastorate that gives him the courage to say something like this to him? They had a hard time sleeping that day.

He woke up in the morning wanting to tell his friend MaNyoni because he was looking for someone to show him.

"You know my friend Sandile did something for me yesterday. He was telling me that he was asking to shake off the termites in his brother's house."

"Ah! So what did you say to him? Why would he even ask for something like this, I knew him to respect you after all the boy was not in love what is it?" asked MaNyoni, who was surprised by the news that Thando had come up with and wondered if Sandile had thought of such a thing at such a young age.

"He said I'm beautiful, but I suspect myself. Don't you think that he has heard something about me that gives him the courage to say something like this? But if he heard something, why hasn't he told his mother and father yet? You know, I ask myself many questions. How do you think I should do this."

"Hm, this is difficult, but first we have to see Siphon and we went around telling lies until it reached Sandile's ears and we wanted to see if it was true."

"You know, you may not be right because Sandile once asked me if you are young in this Siphon. My friend is right, you know, this is what he heard, so he was trying to hear what I was going to say, and now he has beaten Moyo's boy to the ground. Siphon, I have to talk to him about this as soon as possible, I don't want to be thrown out of the house when I'm so young."

"You're right, we need to talk to Sipho, we're getting used to it, we want to go and bring people in, I see. You have to fight, but try to talk to Sandile so that he can tell you if he has heard or knows anything, but please don't show him that he is scared because he will take what he knows as the truth."

They agreed that Sipho should see her and talk to her and she should stop telling lies about them to people. When they saw Sipho, he denied digging the boy down and it was something that confused them so much that they wondered how things were going with Sandile. The whole day went on as the boy tried to get hold of his daughter-in-law, but it was difficult and he wondered if what he had seen was true or false.

He visited Thobeka in Bulawayo, the Muzi was nice but he looked worried in the mood which was something that bothered the Muzi until he ended up asking,

"Be humble, why does it seem like your spirit is low? How's it going?"

"It's nothing much, I'm just asking myself a lot of questions about my sister Muzi, but don't worry about it, it will pass."

"Whose questions are those that bother you so much, or are they the ones that you are carrying thinking about what you will do if you don't hear them?" that?" Muzi asked because he wanted to understand that how is it going

"Ah, I carry myself? Forget about that, I'm a nurse, I will never carry myself without wanting to, so I have to let it be clear where we stand before I carry it. I don't want it to be like I'm taking my sister's husband for her. It has to start separating but I wonder what it will be separated from because you will never follow her without doing anything and say you don't want her anymore, you were taking me. It's something that bothers me so much that I think I'm the idiot waiting for a bus that doesn't exist."

"I understand, Thobeka, it will be difficult for me to follow him without doing anything, but I know your sister, there are places where she will go astray. Let's wait a little longer and see how it will go, my dear."

"Wow, that's why you don't walk around the house anymore and make sure that he goes astray and use that to leave him. What I don't want is for me to be the one who broke up with Thando because how will my father take me after that. I just wonder how long we will have to wait because years go by and we don't grow up and go back. A person grows old waiting for it to fall apart." Thobeka answered it sounds like he is worried about his Muzi issue but the love he had was difficult for him to get up and leave without anything bothering him.

"It will be alright, my love, I promise you, just be patient until it's alright with you." Muzi answered. They continued their conversation until they fell asleep.

26

The sun rose that does not wait for anyone and is not selective whether you are a foreigner or you are sitting well. Thobeka woke up he arranged for Muzi everything he needed at work, he treated Muzi so well that he was confused and wondered why he always stayed with Thado, but he didn't want to drive him away and abandon his son. He was left preparing to leave and return to his work, even though he had many thoughts in his head wondering how long what they are doing to this Village will take for things to be right.

Thando woke up and fixed everything and did all his work in the right way Sandile.

"You know, Sandile is the one that I always wonder about here. I hope you can sit down and talk." He removed Thando because he is trying to do what his friend agreed that he must find the truth.

"Hey Ma Dube, what is that?" asked Sandile as he pulled up a wooden chair and sat down.

"Your story that you told me that day always bothers me and I wonder why you said something like that to me because I thought you respected me but that day he showed me something that I had not considered."

"Hahaha, are you still bothered by that? I was playing with myself, I want to see what you are going to do now, you are lying with one eye open and thinking about that. You know it's time to think about useless things." Sandile answered

he said, pulling out the chalky green ones, trying to cover Thando that he does not see his plan.

"Ah! You think I would never have thought that because of the way you spoke to me. I was wondering why you even thought of something like this and said it to me, after all, that is not a small thing, Sandile. You can play with things like this, you know it scared me." Thando replied that his lungs had dropped when he saw that Sandile was playing for himself in all this.

"I was playing for myself, don't take that to heart, even if it has been said that I am right, what would you say to me? What does Muzi do when he hears something similar to that? It might be bad for you, after all, Muzi, we found out that you give other people his things, if you get fired, you might be fired, after all, don't be sorry, my brother, I know him. I don't want to argue with this newtiu about something small. Please go and forget about it because it will eventually reach the wrong ears and it will become a very bad thing." Sandile answered, always playing with his mind of Thando who wants to see him, it is good to know what he will do after hearing something like this.

"Alright, let's not talk about it anymore because I don't want to think about what could happen to both of us if something like this happened." He replied, showing concern in his heart, because Thando was thinking about his Siphos story, he always prayed that it would not appear because it would be a big shame if we were dragged from the road because of failure self control.

He said goodbye and went out as Sandile went to the barn as it was milking time.

He was smiling at the boy, telling himself that he had found Love. They milked the cows, and the people rested without returning to the fields. Makhabo had agreed with his daughter-in-law that they would all return to the fields at noon.

Thando went out and went to his friend, and the story became so interesting that he forgot that he had to go to the fields.

Makhabo prayed and prayed until he went out to the fields. When Thando came out, the sun was already low and he realized that he had children who would never wait for him, he didn't bother trying to follow because the sun had already gone down. He fished his fishing rod and went to the river, and when he came back he started preparing dinner.

Makhabo was furious because his daughter-in-law ran away and he had been asking them to help each other. When he came back, he didn't waste time. As soon as he entered, he immediately went to the kitchen where Thando was trying to cook.

"You child, I asked you to dig in the fields and tell me what laziness is driving you? But if Muzi hears what you did today, what will he say?" Makabo asked, his heart racing because he was telling himself that Thando has run away.

"I'm sorry, mother, I went to MaNyoni and I forgot that they said we would all go to the fields until I saw the sun bowing down, it was no use for me to follow." Thando answered in a low voice.

"I can see you and your MaNyoni, we don't know what it is that cooks so much every day that makes it stay whole. I hope you haven't started what he is doing to follow the cowboys because if you do that, I want a short mother, you might be out of here that day, I hear you say do it. Get rid of this MaYoni of yours, now you don't have to do the chores around the house because of him. And are you the daughter-in-law of Sigcebe?" replied Makhabo and we touched on the matter which quickly reached Thando's heart.

"Mom, stop talking to me, why are you talking this child. Where do I cook, cowboys? Mom, why are you talking like you don't want me here at home? By making one mistake, you will never speak so much?" Thando asked as he stood up.

"Don't wait for me, child, I'll slap you right now on your little one." I am not your mother who pampered you. You don't see this growth and you think you can beat me.." he was talking approaching Thando. Hearing a sound from the crowd, Moyo quietly got up from his seat to see what was happening, and found that they were facing each other and promising to marry each other.

"Hey Muzi, what's wrong with the child's name?" Moyo asked standing at the door.

"You despise me child, you see how much you can beat me. I'm much older than the one I despised, I'm now a slap in the face." Makhabo answered in a loud voice when Thando kept quiet because he respected his father-in-law so he didn't want to raise his voice when he was there. Moyo didn't want to listen to what was happening, he asked Makhabo and they went to their bedroom where he scolded him telling him that he didn't see Thando in the boy who was disrespecting him and thought he was going to hit him.

"Naka Muzi, power does not say goodbye. Don't try to fight again, this child will hurt you. You can tell yourself that you are hitting, but your child is still young and he has that strength, so what will be said in the section that has been hit by the in-laws?

Here's another thing, learn to control yourself, old lady, when you're so old, having these grandchildren does not test you, it indicates that you are grown up so talk to this child like a grown up person."

"I'm sorry, father-in-law, for raising his voice, but..."

"But

Advertisement

But what? I don't want her to hear that you are the elder, so you should discipline your daughter-in-law like your daughter.

Reprimand yourself and Muzi, you will end up insulting yourself in the section and you can continue doing this. Do you think the child will be comfortable living here again? If Muzi didn't hear this, he would take his children, can you blame him after your actions? He is raising his family." Moyo was talking about his anger because he saw that the story started here with his wife.

He finished cooking and Thando was talking to himself saying that he was drunk, he should have slapped her but he consoled himself by saying that he did well not to start because what would have happened, people would have blamed him for hitting his mother-in-law. It was eaten in the afternoon, while Moyo was eating he asked

The love of Makhabo remains in the group so that they can sit down as elders and settle their issue. He was still afraid that he would come to Muzi and end up taking his children.

They were left talking, they all shared their feelings and finally Moyo said they should forgive each other and promised Thando that this would never happen again.

When they were in their bedroom, Moyo started talking again,

"But Muzi doesn't think you would have beaten Ma Dube?" Moyo asked, laughing

"Don't act like you don't know me, I would have taught him respect, I'm a Makhabo, I'm not played with, those who ask others will tell him well."

"Hahaha, but what do you want to show me, Makhabo, it would be a story where you were beaten by your in-laws until you settled down with your bums." I don't think you would wake up and go to the chief and be surprised when it was said that I failed to rebuke my wife. Do you want to shame me in the section? He's a child, he's going to kill you, stop chasing him." Moyo answered and they told the story until Makhabo finally let go of him and Makhabo admitted that the power is not the same as before, and he promised that next time he will try to talk to him nicely.

Thando woke up, called his friend and asked him to come back for a visit, Ma Nyoni did the same.

"You know, yesterday you were asked when it was said that I was fired from Moyo, I threw and slapped my mother-in-law."

"Wow, Ma Dube, what did you do when you went to give birth to something that wouldn't have slapped you?"

"We are disrespecting this old woman, think of someone who will leave me alone and tell me that he is going to slap me. You know yesterday he would remember what he ate when he was hungry. You see, even if it is said that he smokes, I would never agree to being smoked by Makhabo, when it would have been different, I tell you."

"Hahaha, you make me laugh. Utsukuthi already wanted to hold hands? Who were they anyway?" asked MaNyoni after all he wants to hear the whole story.

"He told me to break up with you because he is going to teach me the sequence of cowboys. He said a lot of good things and I quoted him."

"What did you say? Please tell your mother-in-law to stop being mean to me. Where did you see me following these cowboys, what will my cousins say when I hear all this.

It's good because he said it to you, if he had said it to me, he would have seen me well, we used to go to sleep after arriving at the chief he was paying me. I hate your old mother-in-law." Ma Nyoni got up with anger, and she ended up putting out the fire for Thando because she saw that it would be a big deal and they had agreed yesterday that they would never tell anyone it would end with them. He extinguished the fire until MaNyoni let him go, and they agreed that they would keep quiet about this but if he did it again, they would show him the snake's fangs.

When he came back from the fields, Makhabo met his friend MaMlotshwa. They were walking and chatting and Ma Mlotshwa asked.

"And even Muzi looked as if what is bothering you is that everything is going well at home?" But if I love things, what can make you mad, a mother who does everything for you?" Then we touched on an issue that MaKhabo is not handling well "Someone's cousin said that the little one I threw was lazy and I caught it with my own hands yesterday. You know this town has never disrespected me the way this child has disrespected me."

"Oh MaKhabo, what do you say to me, what kind of mother-in-law are you, but when we hold hands with this daughter-in-law. Have you ever thought about how people will look at you in class?"

"I let him do that of course, if it wasn't for that I would have beaten him. I am not disrespected by a small child, I am MaKhabo."

"You sounded like you were just worried, what were you doing?"

"You are disrespectful to the child, his laziness made him run away yesterday. I asked him to go, he was helping me in the fields, and he sank to the ground. Where did you see someone who visits friends until he forgets about his work?"

"When I ask him, he doesn't get up and he says he's going to hit me." They talked to his friend on their way to their homes.

27

The day went by and Sandile had been waiting for the day to come where he will hold his Love and Gift.

Fortunately, one day he came to accompany his friend Methuseli as they finished their school work. When they got home, he thought he should dump the water, and stopped under a big tree on the side of the road. He said while he was standing he heard from the people who are talking among the trees but he was sensitive to that, he listened carefully and heard that it was really about people.

He had not continued his journey and thought that he was looking for who and what they wanted in the darkness so close to them. He came closer, and when he looked, he saw his daughter-in-law. The boy was overjoyed that he had found what he had been looking for, and he approached the lock without them seeing him.

"See you later." He greeted Sandile in a low voice, they were all startled and jumped and stood there and it was difficult for Siphon to ask for his feet. No one answered when everyone was silent and looked at him and he said goodbye quietly without saying a word and went home. Proudly, Thando followed behind, trying to say that he was asking Sandile not to bring up the matter.

"I understand Ma Dube, but you know Muzi is my brother and I will never be content to keep silent about something like this. How can I look at him knowing that I am hiding so much from him? So why are you doing something like this to my brother?" they were talking in whispers while standing under another tree before they reached them.

"I'm sorry Sandile for what you saw because I was tempted but please don't reveal this. It would be nice to have something that stays between the two of us.

I can do whatever it is you want to do to keep your mouth shut." it was Thando who tried to persuade Sandile.

"What can you do for me, Ma Dube?"

"Whatever you want, I can do it for you if you promise me that you will never open your mouth to tell Muzi." He kept trying to persuade Dube's brother.

"That's right, if you keep saying that there's only one thing you can do for me, I don't see anything that can defeat you as you're just doing it." He replied that Sandile looked into his eyes even though it was dark but he wanted to see what he was going to do after that.

"Sandile named it and I will do it."

"Okay then, what you are going to do is break up with your gift tomorrow. You can stop when you tell me, but all this Sipo is doing will be done to me so that I don't have to tell my brother what kind of person he is."

"I can part with this Gift, I promise you that, but this will be difficult Sandile, you are still a child and still learning. What can your brother do if it comes to his ears that you are doing something like this behind his back and he doesn't know? I don't want to get into trouble with my wife, Sandile, you'd better think of something better than this."

"I am done talking about this, you will do what you see will work best for you." He said that and turned his back on Sandile, leaving him standing there wondering what to do with all this. He stopped for a few seconds, then he thought about going home, and he entered his house.

He couldn't sleep that day, trying to figure out how to get out of the trouble he had gotten himself into.

He tried all night thinking that he should go away from Moyo but again it is difficult that he will come and say why he was removed from them. When he thinks about Sandile's story, his heart hurts so much, he wonders what Sandile got into, but he doesn't blame him, he blames himself for being a liar.

He went into his house, helping Sandile, telling himself that he had found him where Thando was young, and he knew what he would do when his story came out. The boy was very happy knowing that Thando would never get the plan to get out of this story. He went to bed and told himself that he would wake up and try to find Sipho to reprimand him and tell him that he must break up with Thando if he still wants to stay in this section.

Thando woke up in the morning not knowing what to do, until he failed to see his friend to inform him about what was happening. He thought it best to do it alone in his own way.

When the sun was setting, Sandile met Sipho who saw him and tried to run away but he was behind the scene because there was no escape.

"Goodbye Sipho, you know I've been wanting to meet you for a long time without seeing you or are you telling me today as we used to meet a few days ago." Sandile asked you, after all, this courage was always with Sandile, and you never thought that he trusted you.

"Oh, what are you doing that you need me so much today? Can I feed your breasts and apologize now." He replied disdainfully to Sipho, thinking that Sandile was joking.

"Hey, man, I wanted to tell you to stop your thing of seducing my brother's wife. I saw you yesterday and I kept quiet and I hope you saw that I was the one who came to greet you here. I just wanted to warn you to break up with him today if you still want to stay in this section."

It moved Sandile from this side and sat on top of it his little one.

"I understand, boy, now you say that if I don't break up with him, what will you do? After all, I love your daughter-in-law and I still don't want to break up with her when I think about the way she stands and I'm crazy boy. You would come back and tell me to break up with him as if he was yours." He answered and took Siphos.

"Oh Siphos, I was saying that we treat each other well, my brother, like men, but you are replying disrespectfully?" I thought that you would pay attention to how dangerous what you are doing is and you can leave without anything in this section because of what you are doing, but I can hear Ma Dube driving you crazy. I was warning you to stop what you are doing if you still want to live well here, but what can I say. You will do what you think is best for you."

Sandile answered

Advertisement

he finished there and turned away, not wanting to hear what he was thinking about this.

Sandile was left wondering if this boy trusted her he lacked an answer. He was trying to strengthen himself but inside he knew that what he was doing would put him in a big problem but he didn't want to be separated from Thando because he loved her. While he was standing, a message came from Thando asking them to meet at their place in the afternoon,

The boy became very happy when he saw that. He told himself that he will never break up with her no matter what.

When the sun went down, Siphso locked up his cows, he didn't waste any time and went from there to their place of Love. Thando cooked and finished with him, dinner was eaten, they said goodbye to each other and went to their bedrooms. Thando went out to meet Sipo.

"Sifo, I called you one thing here. Please let's break up because Sandile saw us yesterday and this will cost me a lot and I will end up losing my marriage."

Thando was looking at Muzi.

"I love you, but Ma Dube, please don't divorce me because of Sandile, he is a little boy, we can find a plan to silence him." Siphso replied with a heavy heart because he truly loved her.

"I understand, but if you love me, you will allow us to separate and I will start to fix my family's affairs. If you agree, we will continue, I promise you that, and if you promise me that we will stop this."

"It is clear that you have already made your decision and I am concerned. I have nothing else to say except that I love you Ma Dube. I ask you to always know that."

Sipho answered, he felt Thando's knees go weak because he had never been told by anyone that he loved him, even Muzi had never told him that. He didn't answer but that, he just turned his back and headed home walking rubbing his eyes because after all the tears were coming out of him. It was difficult for him to control himself because he felt the pain of the separation of the Village.

As soon as he entered the house, he went to Sandile's room and opened the door twice. When he opened his eyes and saw that it was Thando, he didn't ask many questions and asked him to come in, and he did.

"Sandile, please let's talk if you don't mind."

Thando was standing on the side of Muzi's terrace.

"We can talk if you tell me what you think about the issue we talked about yesterday because I was right about this what I said." Sandile replied sitting on his terrace without paying any attention to the boy.

"I came to tell you that I broke up with Siphon, but I'm asking you for one thing. I ask that I stay like this and not sleep with you, after all, you are my wife's blood, so how can I do what you say. I am asking you to think this matter through because this is how Muzi will not like you for that."

He was trying to ask for love

"Oh, I thought we just agreed yesterday and you're still asking for something else?" You think that it's because the elders will understand that you are sleeping with me and that he was a man of cowboys except this one. Don't you see that it degrades your dignity and that of the citizen, I'm not talking about Muzi, how will people in the section look at him when they hear your story about Siphon?" It removed Sandile with confidence, not wanting to give Thando the slightest chance to escape.

"Alright then, I'm asking you to analyze the issue because it's something which became very difficult for me."

"Why was it not difficult for Siphon to do it? It is difficult for me, or do you want me to tell Muzi what he is doing? After all, it is not difficult for me to speak and the days of his coming are near, so you must think carefully while it is still bright, before the sun sets. Please pull the door behind you let's go out." The boy said disdainfully, pulling the blanket over his head, clearly not wanting to hear anything coming out in Love.

Life was difficult for Thando, as he got down from his body and thought about what to do. He didn't want to lose his home and he didn't want to embarrass himself by saying that he was driven out of control because he knew that his father would always scold him every day if he might return to them. His weight loss was noticed by MaNyoni who was afraid to ask until he finally got up the courage.

"Ma Dube, is everything going well, you just lost weight? What is bothering you?"

"Friend, I don't want to include you in my affairs, but I am in the middle of a quagmire here and I don't know what decision to make. I try to think but it's hard to come up with a better plan to do things."

"Are you being tortured? Tell me, you know, I always have plans."

"It's difficult my friend, you know that Sipo and I are separated because of Sandile. Sandile knows that I was joking with Sipo, so he uses that to get me to sleep with him. What is difficult for me is to sleep with him,

He is the son of Lwana and he is Muzi's brother, of course that doesn't go down well with me, but he says that if I don't agree to sleep with him, he will tell Muzi about everything that will be bad. I can't be chased back to our place and what should I say to Dube? It's hard, friend."

"Hahaha, how can you be bothered by such a small thing? Are you willing to lose your home because of something like this? If you don't make up your mind, there is nothing else you can do but give Sandile what she wants and even if there is a mistake, she will never see that she is not the child of your heart, as she is her brother's. This is easy, I can't be bothered, until you lose your body with this?"

"Ha! It's to carry it again, and when did we get there?"

"I'm trying to show you that Sandile is the best in this gift. Of course, there was a long time ago that a person was admitted when he was old enough to pass away, and he did not do anything bad. I think the elders can understand that. You stop thinking and give Sandile what he wants.

It's been a long time since he's been drunk."

It was difficult for Thando to agree because it was something he had never thought of doing.

28

The days went by for weeks, and the month that he was determined to visit Muzi was approaching. Thando with his stupidity that Sandile was doing, he did not know how Muzi will stop him when he arrives because Sandile will be here at home. He was trying to make a plan so that Muzi would not pay attention to anyone playing in his barn but he was afraid to use MaNyoni's medicine because he was afraid of getting sick and he always knew that this would make Muzi not forgive him.

He was worried that Thando didn't know what to do, but because there was no other option but to give up, of course, but he always wished that it wouldn't happen because that would be a big shame. As the day approached, Muzi arrived, there was no one he suspected but Sandile was not happy with Muzi's return, he even wished that Muzi would return to Bulawayo so that he could stay with Thando.

Life was difficult for Thando who was always uncomfortable because he asked himself many questions, he had the thought of telling Muzi about everything but then he was afraid of wondering what Muzi would say to him.

A day went by, a week passed and Muzi was there innocently, but Sandile's actions were what made him suspicious until he said one day when they were at the river fetching water he thought to ask,

"You know Sandile, when I came I said you are not happy, you are not the same as before when we used to talk about everything. Has anything changed?" Muzi asked

"It's nothing to say, brother, I'm just wondering, when you're in town, do you miss Ma Dube since you've been away all this time? Do you have the mentality of the elders that the bird is driven by the elders?"

"Oh Sandile, is that what bothers you so much that you don't enjoy me when I come home? Or is there something else you are trying to tell me? Is there anything left to happen when I'm not there?" Muzi asked as his mind raced to think of something else.

"It's okay, my brother, because Ma Dube is beautiful and always stands up well. Do you think they'll let the boys leave him since he's been going all this time?" Sandile asked himself to hear what his brother thinks about it.

"Hahaha that's not done to Moyo, the day he thinks about doing that he might lose his way in the morning. Even if no one told me, I will feel that there is something left to happen, that boy may move here in the division because he is very disrespectful to me." The speech shocked him of his brother Sandile, he asked himself again that if he doesn't know what Ma Dube did, what will his father do? He also consoled himself by saying that he would hide with his finger and say that he was helping his brother's wife and that is the custom.

"I understand, but since the daughters-in-law are now living with their wives like a pair of pants, those who live in their homes are still bringing boys in. It doesn't start with you. There is no need for you to drive him away, it would be better to take him and live with him."

He was talking trying to be strong every time he scolded his brother.

"It's because you're still young that's why you think this way. MaDube is my mother's only daughter-in-law, so she has to stay here at home and help, but if there is anything I hear about her, she goes straight to that side." Sandile was happy because he knew that his plan would continue well.

"Then you are right, you know that his presence here at home has put a burden on my mother's shoulders. It's better at the time of weeding when they are cultivating, it's better not to rush for anything, sometimes they all go, even if the mother is like a lover."

"Why do you say my mother is like a lover?" Muzi asked in surprise

"Oh, Ma Dube didn't tell you? There was a loud noise here until they threw and held hands, my father intervened and reprimanded them and that was the end of the noise." Sandile removed the boy innocently.

"Oh, mother, and now you are still disrespectful Dube. I will talk to him and if he doesn't want to stay with him, I better leave because they will end up holding hands when my father is not around and hurt each other." Sandile was shocked and realized that he had made a big mistake by telling Muzi
It's a matter of Muzi wanting his children to go.

"I was just talking to you, but I don't see that there is any need for you to go. What can we do when Ma Dube is no longer here? Will the mother be able to do everything as she used to with the helper?

Think carefully about the matter, you don't have to go, please."
That's Sandile and we tried to persuade his brother.

"Okay, I understand, but my mother has to talk to her. I don't want the shame of it being said that Muzi's wife beat her mother-in-law there, but I don't hear that it's going on and I'm taking them. You have to tell me everything that happens when I'm not there because it's clear that everyone is just hiding from me

Advertisement

This father never said that." He removed Muzi after thinking a lot, thinking that he could take Thando and go with him and his plans and Tobeka would not succeed.

They made water and put all the things in the cart and headed home when they were talking and it was good because Sandile was happy that Thando was still there as he was afraid that Muzi would take him and go with him and that would be the end of his well-being. When they entered the house, he went straight to his mother who was sitting under the shade of the house preparing her seed as the time for farming was just around the corner.

"I heard that when Ma Dube threw a fight, mother, how was it going, mother, and why has no one told me that story, why are you hiding it?" Muzi asked as soon as he sat down, because he wanted to feel for himself what was the reason

"Oh Muzi, is that how you woke up your mother? We didn't tell you how much because it wasn't a big deal, there was a misunderstanding between us but your father intervened in that matter and we agreed that it will end with us. I don't know who the one whose chest was kicked by Dube came to tell you." MaZikhali replied without hesitation because he did not see the reason why Muzi asked like a warrior.

"What I want to hear is that they were friends, even if it was MaDube who messed up, he must tell me so that I can rebuke him." Muzi is the one who always tries to understand the story.

"That's right, he made your wife crazy and that didn't treat me well. What he quoted me the most is that when I say that I am talking to him, it is good for me not to stand up as if he is going to do something, I see that he forgets that this is my house. He must do the way I want even though he no longer wants to be reprimanded by me as his mother, that doesn't bother him. It was MaZikhali who had raised his voice, and Muzi asked himself what his wife had done that his mother had quoted.

He stood up when he was determined to have a conversation with his father before Ma Dube had spoken so that he could hear the matter properly.

Just then, the heart of the cow was poured out and it became clear.

Well, Sandile and Muzi went out, following behind, after all, they were the ones who were milking. When they had finished, Sandile took his clothes and entered the house, and Muzi got a good chance to talk to his father.

"Dad, I heard a story here that your mother and daughter-in-law threw and held hands, and you helped me through mediation.

I'm just wondering why there was such a fuss." It removes the Muzi

"Hahaha, are you still asking about that? That is something that has passed a long time ago, let's forget about it. It wasn't a big deal, you know these mothers, each other wants their voice to be heard. Your mother is very aware of opposition now that she found her age here and that's what caused the noise."

Moyo replied that he didn't want to reveal to Muzi what Thando had done wrong and what kind of words MaZikhali had said.

"Oh, but you're so talented, but why don't you make people hold hands? So what would people say about Muzi's wife? This is a shame, I have never heard that this daughter-in-law has fought with her mother, even if they don't see each other for a long time, but the hand-holding has never reached that point."

"I think that the mother-in-law is another crazy person who is just disciplining herself, but don't bother about that. I reprimanded them and we agreed that it will never happen again." You just don't dare to ask Ma Dube if he hasn't told you because you will think you already know the whole story." Moyo answered, they entered the house and found all the food already cooked. Muzi was left with questions because, like everyone else, he wanted to know how it was going.

We continued for a long time because we were doing our job regardless of whether there were any or nothing those who suffer. The sun went down and he locked Muzi up as he was the one who had asked them to come out that day. He entered the house and had dinner, they said goodbye to the people and they all went to bed and went straight to their bedrooms. He kept thinking about the story he heard about Muzi and wanted to ask his wife why she didn't tell him about it.

"Ma Dube, the thing that bothers me is, I heard that you threw and held hands with my mother, why? Why don't you tell me again?"

"Oh, who did you hear that from?" What I didn't tell you is that I didn't want you to think that I was disrespectful because everything that happened, we agreed that we would let it pass." Thando answered

"Are you saying that you will never tell me the whole story of how things were going until this mother threw a fight? So if I am hidden from you, who will I be told about the things that are happening here at home? It's because I have to rely on Sandile as she has been content to tell me the story." When he heard that, Thando got scared because he no longer knew what else Muzi knew.

"Sandile is the one who told you? It was a small thing that we were arguing about and my mother started talking bad."

"Wow, he had spoken badly, what did he say that could make you wake up angry?"

"He told me that when I went to MaNyoni, we were talking about cowboys, so I had forgotten that he said we should all go to the fields. The thing I quote the most is that you see me as someone who can run the boys.

They talked about their story until they fell asleep, but Muzi was determined to talk to his mother and scold him the way Ma Dube talked because they would end up fighting one day and he didn't want it to end up being embarrassing, or he would end up having to choose between his mother and Thando.

29

The sky is beautiful today, and the sky has forgiven them as it is just its time, but today it woke up and opened up, shining with a little mist until this big ship shines in the sun. When they returned to the town of Muzi, Sandile was left to do what he wanted with Thando, you could not even swear that she was his wife. They got up to fetch water as it was just the weekend, when they came back from the other side, seeing that it was nobody, Sandile felt the idea that they pull this Love. He tried to refuse Thando but Sandile did He ended by telling him that he would reveal the matter if he continued to stay, and that was his acceptance.

When they finished, Thando was left feeling very sorry for coming to find plans to get out of this life that Sandile has been living. He even thought that it was time to tell the truth, but it was difficult when he thought that everyone would blame him because he was the oldest.

She was having a hard time because she didn't like what Sandile was doing, she was being made to try to protect her shame and what bothered her the most was that this coat was not being used wondering who the child would be when she was pregnant and it is still possible for people to make sure that she was impregnated by someone else as Muzi does not live at home. Dube's brother remained proud

He could not find the answer to all the questions he asked in his heart.

Thando didn't sleep for days, trying to find a way to get out, but it was difficult until he lost weight, which was seen by all the people, asking him every day what he was eating. He was trying to hide it, but it was written on his face that this was eating him up.

One day at night when he was trying to sleep but he couldn't sleep, he hung up his phone and called his wife,

"Muzi, I think it's time for us all to stay close because the life I live without you is tormenting me and I've lost weight. I ask that we all stay for a while and I can be better." It is Thando who is trying to plead with Muzi because he thinks that staying together can help him get away from Sandile, who has turned his wife.

"I understand, mother, but let's wait until the end of the year and we'll talk about it. Well, I can come back for Christmas as there's only one month left for me to come back. It can't be accepted that you came this way now that we are all going back home and you better wait there."

"I understand but you don't know how I miss you or you don't remember me?" Is there another woman there that makes you not remember me do I miss you so much? I don't think I'll be satisfied with waiting until Christmas, it's up to me if I can get there." While he was talking, he heard someone knocking on his door, and Thando was startled, got up and opened the door, his phone still to his ear.

"Reassure his mother that there is only one month left. Good night, let's go to sleep and we will talk about this issue when I get home." They said good bye to each other while Sandile was listening to try to find out what they were talking about.

"Who is he talking to on the phone?" Sandile asked as he finished closing the door. Thando lost his love and didn't know what to say to that, he chose silence and didn't answer.

"But Sandile, when will you let go of what you can do to me, because we are doing so much right now. So if we are all caught, what will people say about me as you enter my house and interfere as you want? I'm asking you to stop this because I'm going to live in the city of Muzi because of you."

It made Thando try to beg Sandile to stop what he was doing but that didn't change anything.

"Are you saying that you are thinking of running away and living in the city? How much do you think that will help you? You don't think that Muzi will tell her about your boyfriend Siphon and you will never deny it that. When you know what is right for you, you will sit down and lean on it."

Sandile answered.

"If you want me not to go, lower the way you are doing it, after all, why am I your wife? I can't even be happy when Muzi is there because of what we are doing."

Thando answered because it was difficult for him and he didn't know what to do. He was talking about how much he was determined that no matter what happened he would stand up for Thando but his heart was telling him because he didn't know what to do anymore.

The day went on, and the weeks that made up the month were created, and then came the break enjoyed by everyone, which is the Christmas break. So many people are visiting home during this break, you would swear that they work all year and only work for one day. Everyone had visited, the shepherd boys in other sections, and those who worked in the cities were all there. Muzi was one of those who visited. She was happy with Thando after all, like everyone else, she had bought herself this Christmas gift and Muzi's presence was relaxing her emotionally and physically and she was no longer happy to get into the dress with him because it made her remember what Sandile did.

The atmosphere was beautiful that day, it was as if he knew it was Christmas day many had woken up and headed to the fields and those who had finished painting in the fields, it was the day of awakening and they were dying in their mouths. The Moyo people are some of those in the field who have become big so they woke up and drew them like others. As usual, when it was early in the morning, the sun turned and the cow was about to be released and milked, Muzi promised Sandile that he would be the one to go out with them so that he could convince many. They were married and Muzi came out, they all washed and went out together. Sandile was beautiful that day but Thando felt pain when he looked at her wearing clothes that her brother had bought for her. He was hurt by what Sandile was doing since Muzi loved her and did everything she asked for.

Advertisement

They said they had all gone out, but Thando was left, who did not want to go out and play with the other children because of the life he was living. He went out and went to his friend MaNyoni, he said as soon as he arrived he found him shaking and taking a shower as if he was going out because he and his wife were willing to go out as he was there from Johannesburg. Before Thando had sat down, he quickly turned around, went into his house and tried to sleep for a while did not fall asleep. She stood up and asked her mother-in-law to leave the child while she went out to the river, which scared Ma Zikhali to come out and stab the earth.

Thando fished his fishing rod and entered the path towards the river. He entered the field and went to a tree in the middle of the field and sat there.

He thought of taking his own life and disciplined himself again, he sat there until he fell asleep. They took him from Bhuka and took him to a country he did not know because it was his first sleep after some days. He slept until he was woken up by the children who were caressing him. He said he said that he saw that it was dark, and he was panicking when he was fishing in his bowl, and the water did not rise, so he headed home where he found everyone standing there wondering where he was because those who were in the balls had turned around and denied that they had seen him.

Muzi, on the other hand, was worried and didn't know where to go because Thando was the first to do this, while Sandile, who is no longer talking to her, got over her fear and told herself that they had returned to their side. When he came in carrying an empty jar, they all opened their eyes in surprise,

"You see, Ma Dube, this is disrespecting my son. Tell me, how do you get the courage to go out and see your friends all day? Aren't you ashamed that your wife is there? You don't even go out during the day when the sun is hot until you turn like this, he belongs to this boy who drives you so crazy until you learn to be patient." It was distracting Ma Zikhali because he was not drinking, he would talk to someone looking him straight in the eye.

"I'm sorry, there's a lot in my heart that's bothering me. I promise that no boy called me when I was alone but I didn't see how the sun went down. I'm sorry, parents, please believe me."

"So since you went out as a person to fetch water when the sun is hot, how did the sun go down without you seeing it?" And where have you been all this time since you didn't carry that water and here your cup is empty. It doesn't explain your story well, what bothers you is who can do this until you can't see the sun? And are we bothering you here at home, is it the person who is bothering you or is it Muzi?" MaZikhali was exchanging questions, she failed to answer Thando but answered with tears as she walked out of their bedroom. Muzi was still surprised because he could see that something was not going well with Thando, so he didn't he didn't say anything but he followed in silence trying to find out what was bothering him so much.

She cried until Thando fell asleep, and Muzi was bothered by that until she left and went to Sandile's exhibition. As soon as he arrived, he found Sandile looking at him but also worried. They kept talking trying to find the reason for everything that happened.

30

It's the middle of the night but outside it's bright as if it's daytime because the moon has shone today as the sky has forgiven them. Every time Muzi slips, he tries to sleep but doesn't. He refuses to fall asleep, thinking about the love he saw in the faraway country, wondering a lot about him, but who will answer all the questions in his head.

He slipped but Muzi continued to have no sleep until he thought that there is a lot going on in Thando here at home where they are hiding him.

He tries to sleep until the early chicken crows and he looks at Muzi from yesterday because there are many thoughts in his head, until he realizes that Thando was asking to stay with him because there is something wrong with him, but what could this be that Thando is so afraid to tell his wife. When you are sad, take what belongs to Bhuka and it just takes for it to be dawn, after a while he wakes him up and it's time to harvest. It was hard for Muzi that day as he always wished he could find an opportunity to ask Thando about everything that happened yesterday.

In the evening, that night everyone was in a hurry to sleep since it was pouring down the sky and it was pitch black so they all ran away to their dormitories.

"Ma Dube, you know I am worried about yesterday's story, please tell me what is bothering you so much that you went out during the day and came back at night empty-handed. Don't try to tell me that it's nothing because it's clear on your face that something is bothering you and your body has gone down." It is Muzi who is gliding towards his wife his.

"Don't worry too much about what will pass, I have a lot to think about, but it's not a bad thing.

What happened yesterday is that I went into the fields and sat under a tsetshane tree, I don't know when I fell asleep, until I was startled by a snake biting me.

I think it's because I haven't slept well since I told you that day that I miss you." Thando replied saying that he took them out raw because it was difficult to explain what was bothering him, even if he had come to the idea of telling the truth.

"Then why was my mother talking about boys' things, saying that we can't control ourselves even when I'm here, and are you used to doing this when I'm not there?" Muzi got up and sat down, wanting to understand everything because his mother's words entered his mind.

"My mother doesn't trust me because she thinks I like boys. At first, we would throw hands and hold hands and she would talk

He said that I was seeing boys and that's why I didn't go with him to the fields. Some of the things that bother me emotionally, but as my mother-in-law says, I don't put it in my head too much. But you think that I can love these cowboys until I die even though you are there?"

"I understand, don't pay too much attention to my mother, she is just talking, but I was wondering why she doesn't trust you, what did she do to make her not trust you? the way?" Muzi asked.

"It's nothing, my mother suspects that MaNyoni and I are friends. He said that MaNyoni is the one who has taught me the boys, but is MaNyoni known to like cowboys? I always wonder why my mother talks like this about her or does she not want us to be friends?" Thando answered. They talked and talked about Thando's visit to the city, but they ended up agreeing that Thando should stay for a while to help at home since it's only summer time. They agreed that he would visit during the harvest time in winter, and they talked until they fell asleep. That day Muzi went to bed because he was feeling much better after talking to his wife.

A day passed as usual, and Muzi's day came to return to his work. Sandile was happy that day, because he knew that he was still waiting for Thando, but Muzi's stay at home for a long time was getting worse because he missed seeing his man, Thando.

He continued where he had left Sandile, when after three months he saw that he had passed the time, Thando was very scared but he told himself that he would tell Muzi the day he arrived in town to start buying the baby's clothes. That day he saw a good opportunity to finish his story with Sandile.

"This is what I have to tell you, Sandile. It's time to stop what we're doing because I'm already pregnant with Muzi's belly, so you should stop coming here every month to come and I'll be in my wife's town." It took away Love

"So you're saying that I have to stop coming here because you're pregnant? You're pregnant and you're not sick, so I won't be stopped by that from coming here and since you're leaving, I have to do the last thing so I'll miss you." He answered Sandile is stubborn.

"Oh Sandile, you know, I thought you would understand what I am saying. Please give me a chance to be at peace in my mind, I don't want to end up losing it It's my child because of emotional trauma. And why don't you need your own female who is your age? Is it difficult to speak for yourself and tell me to help you so that you can get rid of me?"

"Forget about that, did you hear that I'm looking for a female?"

I don't want anyone to bother me, I don't think you are there.

Why do you want to get me a girl? Who said I can't speak for myself?

I won't bother about that, and Muzi, when he goes to town and leaves someone like you at home, he says, "What should we do?" Sandile replied, stop there, pull the blanket and listen to the boy, after all, it's like it's his house. Thando did not respond to that, he only looked at her and closed her mouth because there was nothing else she could do.

After the day and the weeks created the month, the month came which they agreed was Love he is visiting the city. They talked and agreed that since the child has just grown up, he will leave him at home with his mother-in-law so that they can find time together. He did not spend It was time for Muzi to inform Thobeka the one who didn't care about you that Thando is visiting.

Advertisement

The way Thobeka was acting, you wouldn't want Thando to take her man, this Muzi was wondering why is he so good. He wondered if he trusted this which made him not fight this love but he continued saying that he loves Muzi and wants to marry them all.

The day came, he caught the bus in the morning and it dropped him off at Bulawayo, he said as soon as he arrived he started washing them even though he was shocked to find the house clean. He knew Muzi that he was a dirty person but the way the house was clean made him suspicious even if he didn't he said nothing.

Two days after he came to visit Thobeka, Muzi was startled when he saw her coming in and wondered why he was here because he knows that his sister is there.

He came in and brought them food and his sister's clothes, they enjoyed this love, they spent the whole day talking and he saw a good opportunity to tell his sister that she was pregnant

Thando told him that Muzi had not told him about it. They talked about the story until they agreed that he should visit the hospital where Thobeka is working, which he is examining first before telling Muzi.

It was difficult for Thando to leave the hospital he didn't tell Muzi because he wanted this little food to travel with to pay for other things needed here.

"Father, tomorrow I will wake up in the hospital." Removes Love

"Oh, why are you being killed since you don't look like a sick person?"

"I am not sick, I have not had my period for a month so I spoke to Thobeka and she told me to come to the hospital tomorrow for a check-up to see what is wrong good."

"Okay then, you will tell me how you got on when we get there." They closed the matter so it wouldn't be a problem. Thobeka had called him to the hospital because he suspected something, but he didn't want to tell her that he was suspicious, so he wanted to check on him so that if there was anything suspicious, he could tell Muzi to be careful.

It woke up in the sun as the creator was doing his work, those who went to work were busy getting ready to go out and Thando was getting ready because he didn't want to leave because the sun was hot. He got into a truck that took him and dropped him off at Mpilo hospital where his sister Thobeka was working. He said as soon as he arrived, he didn't wait to follow the others who came in the same way, he immediately called his sister and she was the one who took him and they went to the room where pregnant women are examined. When she got there Thobeka asked the nurses working on that side to help her and explained that she was her sister, they did not ask

After all, they looked so much like Dube's children, you wouldn't want to say they were twins.

In the blink of an eye they had finished their work and gave Thando her results which showed that she was three months pregnant. That scared him so much that he called his sister outside so they could talk and explain to her how their detectors work. Seeing the results, Thobeka immediately realized that her suspicions were true, but she did not say anything to her sister, who explained everything about the detectors and the way they test. Thando was bright and worried, which made her sister even ask,

"And he looked as if he was just worried, how is it going? I thought you would enjoy the same results as this one?" Thobeka asked

"I'm not interested, it's just that I wonder if I can get a child so soon. I didn't want to have another child yet, when I came back here I wanted to find my own job and work for a while now I'm going to work what if I'm pregnant?" answered Thando as he took out the chalk green ones.

"And don't worry too much about that, my sister, I will help you with the baby's clothes. Don't bother anymore by finding a job, tell me everything you need and I will help you where it pleases me." He was smiling back at Thobeka's kiss, happy that he had found a good opportunity to get Thando out of his way. They said goodbye, Thando went out to his house, but the results came and he told himself that he would hide it and never show it to Muzi.

When Muzi arrived and found him sleeping, he asked how he went to the hospital and what time he was put to bed during the day when the sun was shining,

"I went well at the hospital but they said I was pregnant. The thing that bothers me is that we haven't thought about having a child yet and I still want our firstborn to start growing a little. What are we doing in this city?" answered Thando as he got up and sat down.

"Don't worry about that, it is said that children are a blessing, so you must accept the blessing you have been given, others cry for those who don't get it. We will raise him like all children. Don't worry, I will never be defeated by my two children." Muzi answered as he approached him. Thando was touched by those words and tears came down forcefully when he thought that he would lose his way when it was revealed that the child had not gone to Muzi but he consoled himself by saying no one will tell him, it must be his secret that he will enter the cave.

31

As the days went by for two weeks, Thobeka kept waiting for Muzi to tell him about Thando's behaviour, but it was difficult for the boy to tell the story because he was afraid of losing Thobeka.

Muzi knew that Thobeka might turn away and never find him again, so he was afraid to tell him.

After a few days, they agreed to meet in the city at the same restaurant and meet because they want to find time for both of them, so it is not possible to go to the house as Thando is only there.

"You don't tell me that Thando is pregnant, you even tell me about her coming to town. Why are you hiding that from me Muzi?" asked Thobeka as they were sitting on the floor eating after all, I'm not afraid to buy things that die in Thobeka's mouth and the way she likes Muzi makes her not care about much.

"Wow, do you know? I'm still afraid to tell you that you're pregnant with Thando because that's why it's hard for me to tell you about it." Muzi answered, they are talking about themselves and have forgotten.

"Hahaha, you know you are a coward, Moyo boy. I have never seen a man as cowardly as you, you are not afraid of losing me, you are your wife in the house. But you don't see that I am me

"What makes me crazy because I'm following you and you are my sister?" he asked Thobeka and ended there eye to eye.

"I understand what you are saying, but you know that I love you more than your sister, because she took it upon herself, so it was difficult for me to let her go and not take her." My father would never allow that for my child to grow up around you while he was still alive."

"I understand that and I understood that there was nothing else you could do and I don't want to separate you from your child. Since they are pregnant again, does Thando think that I should continue to understand or is it time for me to break up with you, stay with your family?" he used to throw stones on Muzi's back wanting to know if he knew how many months that stomach was.

"You know what you are saying is true, but please give me a chance to think about it because I see that I have to make a decision that will help me and my children. I also don't know why your sister was silent, after all she told me the day she left you in my hospital and I didn't know all this time." Muzi answered but it was difficult words for Tobeka because we asked ourselves a lot.

"Oh, why were you silent? And how many months has it been since you left home?" Thobeka asked, trying to open Muzi's eyes.

"I've been at home for five or six months. You know, he even showed me something else, after all, it's too early for a person to start buying baby clothes, as there are only a few months left for her to give birth." Muzi replied, and Thobeka was shocked when he noticed that it was Thando

He lied everything to Muzi, and asked himself what he was aiming for? What will Muzi say when we find out that I know something that I hid from him? There were so many questions in Thobeka's head that she was shocked to be called by Muzi after a few seconds of silence.

"You are so quiet, what are you thinking?" Muzi asked

"It's nothing much, you know, I didn't expect you to be late, but don't worry, I'll help you as much as I can. Don't cry too much because it will use the ones left by your firstborn." Thobeka answered and asked them to get up and leave because there were so many thoughts in her head and she wondered if she couldn't find an answer.

They separated from each other and he went to where he lived in this village and he went to his house. He said that as soon as he arrived, he found Thando cooked and even put the water in the bath

Advertisement

He didn't ask a lot, he left the bathtub and went to the bathroom and took a shower. He said that as soon as he finished his bath, he didn't wait for him to eat, he asked

"But mom, why didn't you tell me earlier when we started buying things, because we end up staying here while the child is on the way and we haven't bought anything yet."

"I didn't know that I was pregnant until I heard about the day I went to see Thobeka at the hospital, so I came and told you just so we can start preparing. If I had known a long time ago, I would have told you, why was I hiding it from you?" answered Thando, taking them out they are chalk green.

"And doesn't it sound good when a person carries himself to the hospital? I used to think that a good person feels that there is something there after a few days."

It removes the Muzi

"Hahaha, that's right, there's a lot I've been thinking about and that's why I didn't pay attention to what's happening in my body, because it's been more than a month and I haven't paid attention to it." He continued to stretch Thando.

They discussed and agreed that they should start buying the baby's clothes, and they took a nap at Muzi. It was difficult lying in love trying to figure out how to reveal the truth.

Day after day, the weeks of the month ended and the month came when he had to return home. Muzi had informed the parents and that's why they said it would be better for Thando to be at home so that his offspring would be satisfied and take better care of him. Thando returned home like that and did not reveal the truth to Muzi because it was very difficult and he did not know what he would do to both of them if he told him something like that so he decided that it would be a good idea if he heard from the elders at home. Sandile was happy to see Thando come home because that's what he always looked forward to,

"Sandile, we must tell the truth before things get ruined because in the end it will be clear that this child is yours." Then Thando sat in his room.

"What are you saying? Who do you say the stomach is? Where do you take this and who has proof that the stomach is mine, Ma Dube. If you don't want me anymore, why don't you tell me it's better that you lied to me so much? What will the parents say if they hear you say something like this?" Sandile replied angrily, after all, this stubbornness was in Moyo's boy, he didn't want to be shown or contradicted.

"Oh dear, why should I lie to you? Do you think I would hate you so much that I would lie to you like that Sandile. I wish things were different but there is nothing I can do, we have to accept that you are the father of the child. If you don't want it, that's fine, but when the time has come for me to tell the truth, I will tell it myself and I will explain how we got here."

"Don't try to talk like this. Of course, I don't trust your story that the child is mine. Who are you?
is it for them to leave Muzi's house?" asked Sandile as he got up of getting up and wanting to go out.

"Wait a minute Sandile, look here and tell me what you see?" Thando answered by pushing the paper they had given him as he was leaving the hospital.

Sandile looked at it but didn't see anything until he ended up asking where it was written who the baby belonged to and how many months old it was? You know you want to get drunk on me, I can see it, if it's your plan to break up with me, it's good because it works." Thando stood up when he saw that Sandile was always disrespecting him and did not want to listen to him.

"Think about it well, when was Muzi last at home? How many months do you think a child should be in Muzi? I'm not saying you're educated, start counting and you'll see what I'm talking about, but if you want to continue, deny it ok, I will reveal the truth when it is difficult. I will not die alone, you are the one who started this." Thando answered and opened the door for him to go out. He realized that Thando was left alone as Sandile, who had trusted him, denied everything. He couldn't sleep anymore in those days when he saw the loss of his wife, even though he consoled himself by saying that Muzi would understand and forgive him.

He had already found a house for Thobeka to live in, so he didn't leave Muzi anymore, he was the one who was cleaning and cooking and doing everything better than Thando was doing. One day when he came to Muzi he found Thobeka lying in the house,

"How did you die? You know what I always want to ask you, but please don't take it badly." Thobeka then got up and sat down

"Don't tell me that you are talking about your story of my separation because Thando is going to have another child?" replied Muzi after all he was sitting in fear waiting for one day he would hear Thobeka telling him that it was over between them. He didn't want to lose Thobeka because he loved her more than Thando.

32

They do their work for the day, they go without waiting for anyone. They don't care whether you are sad or happy. They were like each other in those weeks that lasted until months, in the month of April, which is the month that everyone was looking forward to when Love would be freed. Muzi was still close to his phone because he didn't want to be disturbed when they informed him that his wife was free. As the days went on, they were all looking at each other with red eyes, and it was difficult for Thando to walk around because he was afraid that people would ask him about his stomach.

As the day passed and Mpandula was in the middle, MaKhabo began to have many questions wondering about Thando's behavior and ended up expressing it to his wife.

"Eka Muzi always says that I am lying. This year, the whole truth will come out, I'm telling you, do you think that Ma Dube's stomach is for someone who can give birth this month if you look at her?" Ma Khabo asked as he and his wife sat in their bedroom.

"Wow, madam, was it his month to relax this or that one, let's rush things? Why don't you just love your daughter-in-law? How many?" Moyo asked, laughing.

"You know, do you ever ask me other questions, am I friends with this child?" I saw him coming through the gate, the child said that he is very smart, but this year I know that only the truth will come out and he will say that I told you. You are boycotting because you don't study, because you don't know when to give birth to someone because this belly belongs to my child. I wish that what I always talk about will come out, so let's see what hole he will hide in." MaKhabo replied, reinforcing the story that the truth will come out.

"Since you are considering such a thing, madam, what will we do if what you say happens to be true? After all, you have disgraced the house." Moyo asked calmly.

"What are you doing here, you are leaving, we will not end up crossing the road at our house. Muzi, who will look after people in such a category? When I won't be afraid to drive him myself, I will be kind to him and come and thank him." Ma Khabo answered, they talked until they fell asleep when this Moyo told them that he would pay attention to his daughter-in-law in case something goes wrong, as a person who follows humanity, he thinks that there are jealous people who will not be naughty with his daughter-in-law.

Moyo woke up in the morning the next day and looked at his daughter-in-law and saw that her belly was still small don't show yourself as someone who can be free at any time. That scared Moyo, and the sun went down hard as he waited for him to inform his wife that he had thought of seeing Shkhumba who was a big moon who was known not to tell lies. With the consent of his wife, he went out this morning and Moyo went towards Skhumba, when the sun came up he entered Skhumba, knowing each other very well he was not waited on like others because Skhumba also knew that when he saw Moyo coming towards him, something was not right for him.

"Moyo, the story you came here with will want you to handle it like an adult because otherwise you will be lost by one of your sons." He said this before Skhumba said anything about where he was going

Advertisement

Moyo immediately became confused and wondered what could be the reason for him to lose his only son.

"I understand father, but please explain everything to me because I don't understand what you are talking about. What is this that can cause me to lose my son and which of them was lost because I have two sons?" Moyo asked in confusion because he was not afraid to ask because they already knew each other very well.

"Oh Moyo, the story of your daughter-in-law. Please go sit down and sit down for the story I'm going to tell you and find a way to solve it because if you stop doing that, your other boy will hate you for the rest of his life." When he finished saying that, he narrated the whole story to him as it is, and he came out like a chicken rained by heaven.

He walked until he reached his home when the sun was beating down, because he didn't want to talk to anyone. He came and entered his bedroom and slept. MaKhabo tried to ask how it would go but he didn't get an answer. The days went on eating away at Moyo trying to find a plan on how he could do it since his moon said that there was no medicine that could cure that unless he sat down with his boys and talked to them like an adult.

After a day and a month, Mpadula, when Ma Khabo was blowing the whistle saying that only the truth would come out, he had come to know this boy there. He was only waiting for the sun to come. When Mpandula died, Muzi lost hope because he had been waiting desperately to hear them tell him that his son had been delivered.

One day, while he was sitting, Tobeka had a thought that he should ask Thobeka as she is just a nurse, thinking that what might happen she counted the months.

"And Thobeka, tell me about what's bothering me here, you as a nurse, I think you know this better. You know Mpandula is over, which is the month I thought your sister should give birth." Muzi asked, it was difficult for Thobeka to express the truth and she ended up only looking down until Muzi kept shouting seeing that he was trying to hide something from her.

"It's hard for Muzi to know how to start, but please talk to Thando and find out how things are going, I don't want us to end up fighting with my sister because of this. I might be a nurse and there is something else going on in her body so please talk to her. You know my sister how she is, she will end up arguing with me thinking that I want to take her man, but as you say it has been a month since you were looking for something else before that. What were you thinking about?" Thobeka asked in a low voice. Muzi was at a loss for words and wondered what he should do until he finally thought that he should wait for the next month in case it gets worse.

"I understand that it is a matter that is bothering me, is it that I didn't calculate well? It's better if someone doesn't rush, we'll see so but you can see this month ends, there is something I have to tell you that is hidden from me." Muzi answered.

They continued talking to each other until sleep intervened. Thobeka didn't sleep that day wondering if she should tell Muzi the truth or wait until Thando reveals himself to her.

It was difficult for Thando in those days because he knew that all the people were looking at him wondering what was going on. Uma Khabo was looking at him with a look that said he was suspecting something else but it was difficult where to start the story, he was just waiting for someone to ask him so he could talk about everything and get some rest.

33

The sun is scorching these days since it is the month of October and the trees have not yet sprouted. Moyo was still proud of the story he had been told by his mother, when one day he was sitting and came up with an idea to call his family and talk to each other because he had never heard this since he was photographed by a tiger and it was difficult for him to come up with this plan.

"Makhabo, you know I crave courage these days." It was Moyo who took the matter away from his wife because he had thought that slaughtering the cow would be a better plan for him to call his brothers so that no one would notice what was going on.

"Dad, don't cry bravely, you're a farmer, I was just saying that I'd ask for a piece of bread to rest these biddies that we eat every day." He replied smiling at MaKhabo because this meat is dear to him.

"I was thinking of calling my brothers tomorrow to help Ganukazi, she is the old lady here in the barn. Can a person die with a pet?" answered Moyo.

He woke up in the morning and sent Sandile to the younger and older boys who lived nearby. Since it was winter time, they all took their coats and went straight to Seka Muzi. They didn't take it the time had fallen on the cow and they were operating on this side of the conversation. They finished the operation and sat under the saffron tree that was in the barns, and that's when Moyo asked his brothers to remain sitting on the matter he wanted to discuss.

After saying goodbye to all those who were present at the surgery, the Moyos were left alone, he took away the issue he was asking them for. He had only thought of this plan because he had not told MaKhabo about the whole story, so he wanted them to start dating as men alone before he had spoken to his wife.

"Men, the issue you have called me is difficult for me. I am trying to think about it today but I can't find a better way to deal with it. I don't want to end up losing my boys because of this issue. I asked you here to help me and let's talk about it and find an easy way." When he finished saying that, he told them the whole story as told to him by his mother. They were all in awe gaping their mouths and saying that they have never heard this before they were determined to help their brother.

"But my brother, how did such a thing happen under your nose? You mean you've never seen anything suspicious?" asked Thabani who is the youngest of her mother.

"I showed up and blamed my daughter-in-law, MaNyoni is always walking, but who knows how the little one is doing?" My brother, I think he should have sat down and his daughter-in-law ordered him to separate from MaNyoni. In my opinion, all these are MaNyoni's thoughts, after all, this is what they say. All the cowboys were completely obsessed with him until I saw him walking right here." It removes the Prayer that is related to the Heart.

"Brothers, I understand, I didn't want my daughter-in-law to end up saying that I put barriers on her. Your self-doubt will never help us at this point, let's not try to talk to this guy because I haven't talked to him yet. I wonder how to ask him about this. This boy shocked me with his courage to do something like this, I have never heard this myself. In the past, didn't people enter when his wife died, but now he wants to enter his brother's wife who is still alive? Who are the nurses?" answered Moyo. They talked for a while and then agreed to call Sandile and feel for him. A few minutes later, the boy was still there and we sat down as if he was the son-in-law who was about to appear.

"Sandile, I hope you know why we called you here?"
Is this the story you want to tell us?"

"No, father, I don't know anything, so it doesn't matter what I wanted to tell you..." he said before he could finish that speech and Moyo stood up, he said well, he hit him with a stick and his brothers caught him and warned him not to lay a hand on the boy because he might hate him.

"It's okay, boy. Do you know Ma Dube?" Thabani continued. Shocked, Sandile bowed his head to the ground and was still drooling a little, looking at them as if he was staring at them, wondering why they were asking him such a question today. they asked him this.

"Yes, I know him, father." He answered in a low voice

"Tell us about Sandile, it doesn't help that he died and you hide it from us because he confessed to the crime." He was shocked when he wondered if the Dubes knew about his story but he comforted himself by saying that there was no one to tell the Dubes and he would not dare to say it because he was afraid of being thrown out of the house. He tried to avoid the boy but he mistakenly said that he knew Ma Dube, because according to him, they took it to mean that he understood the question and explained that he knew who he was. When he saw that there was no way to escape from this situation, he ended by revealing the whole truth saying,

"I'm sorry for what I did, but I was attracted by Ma Dube's beauty every time I held her

As for the boy from Hadebe, I may have found a way for him because I told him that he can stop agreeing to me and I will enrich him with what I did and he lost his way, so he wanted his way and there was nothing he could do but do what I said."

"Where is Hadede's boy? If you tell your brother or your father that he is here and stays at home, you chose to take care of your brother. Do you think that what you are doing can reach your brother's ear and he will hear each other again? Since you took your responsibility, Ma Dube, how have you thought about doing that?" Thabani asked the questions, after all, he was gifted with the ability to speak, so he is the one who speaks more than his brothers. Others you see only by nodding their heads. The questions became difficult for Sandile and the boy realized that they were right when they said that the contents of the horn are not hidden in the sheath. He ran out of hiding places and it was difficult for him to answer the questions and he ended up just hanging his head on the ground.

"We are talking about this Sandile, we have to fix the issue so that when your brother hears it, he will hear it from us. Answer

Advertisement

What did you think you would do in this situation?" asked the Prayer.

"He told me that the responsibility is mine, but I denied it because I did not intend that it would end up at this stage. I'm sorry, father, I made a mistake, I should have told the story and I did it for myself.

I am very sorry."

"When you say you're sorry, you just want us to tell Muzi that? Are you willing to be the father of Sandile's family? It's an issue that you want to make us fight in this town, who did you think you were?" asked Moyo, because the anger is sitting in his neck and he wants to swallow the boy, sometimes he bites him like a stick, but he still respects his brothers.

"Brother, it doesn't help that we ask each other about this boy

I was worried. It is clear that he did it without thinking about all this.

From this day on, he should know that we are going because I am not going to stop and I don't want us to lie to Muzi.

We have to tell him the truth and tell him how his wife is doing or what." Removes Thabani.

"You are right there, brother. Sandile should have known that he is not looking after you, I am not saying that you have grown up. After all, these Dubes can't bring him to their side because of you, then we go crazy." He answered Mthandazo and they all agreed that it was time for Muzi to be called home and talk to him.

It came out in the sun, as it is only October, and the sun is burning as if it were fueled. He shakes the City he is getting ready to catch the buses going home after all he said after receiving a call from his father he immediately realized it was important not to waste time and the story of Thando being transferred for months scares him. He got out and entered the buses, saying that they were entering the barns and he was already at home. Sandile was shocked when he saw his brother and thought that he already knew the whole story, he thought of running away but then he wondered who he was talking to.

They sat down and ate dinner, Muzi kept looking at his father thinking that he would clear up the matter that he called him but Moyo kept quiet as if he didn't know anything. Sandile was consumed by conscience that day, it was difficult for him to talk about it, so he said goodbye and went to his exhibition. They all said goodbye to each other and went to their bedrooms,

"It's good that my daughter is back, I've always wanted her to come back here so that this witch can tell us the truth. As long as he is there, I will keep my eyes open for him to come and fix the issue, we will never keep someone who will bring us people to Moyo." MaKhabo removed, Moyo quoted that.

"Makhabo, why did you hate him, child? Why don't you want him here at home? What will you say if you find out that what you think is not true?" asked Moyo.

"I am not stupid, Muzi, even if it is said that he is a child, he is able to turn people around with words that will not satisfy me.

to tell me a lie. I'm telling you there and I'll do everything in my power to let the truth come out."

"How are you, wife?" Some things you just keep quiet. Stop thinking about people without knowing the whole story." Moyo replied angrily.

"Wow, why do you wake up so angry? Why are you protecting the child? Do you know whose belly you are carrying as the second month has just passed and the distance is almost over. But that's you, after all, we've been talking so much about the one you're fighting for, and you're the one." He didn't answer when Moyo chose to listen to himself, determined that he would wake up and take his boys to Mthandazo to talk about MaDube's story.

He went into his room as if Ma Dube was withered on his face because he was asking himself many questions wanting to know why Muzi had brought him home without telling him that he will come. He lay there waiting for him to hear the question Muzi didn't say anything, he kept on taking Moyo asking him what would make his father call him home.

34

It woke up beautiful in the sky, there was a constellation of stars, those who knew it said that it was a sign that it would speed up the dawn that year. Moyo woke up and woke up Muzi and they went to Mthandazo who is Muzi's elder. He was walking and wondering about Moyo's boy, not knowing what he was called. When they arrived, it didn't take long before he hung up and sent the children to call their brothers and gather and hide under the tree in the middle of the village.

"Don't panic, son, we called you here because this is a big issue that we have to deal with, and we didn't want you to end up hearing it from the cutters because some people ended up putting in a lot of soup that the father couldn't swallow."

When he finished saying that, Thabani took the matter away, they just chose him to be the one to speak because he was always given a word of mouth. He said that when we finished talking, Muzi was angry and angry, he was about to get up and leave, but out of respect for his father, he sat down and looked down, and it was seen that the tears were flowing down.

"But how can my brother do this to me? Why didn't Ma Dube tell me that Sandile did something like this? Why didn't you tell me that the responsibility is not mine? You, father, how do you let them do something in your house?"

Ma Dube even humiliated me, what was I doing?"

Muzi was asking questions but who would answer them. They all looked into each other's eyes but did not want to answer Muzi's questions.

"I can see that you are worried, son, but we are We understood that your brother was trying to cover up the scandal. What would you be in the stage when you are a wife who plays for cowboys? I think your brother had no intention of getting to this point, he just wanted what his daughter-in-law was doing not to be embarrassing. You must take it as saying that your brother loves you. We apologize for what he did, but we have to come to a decision on how to do it, that's why we called you here. We would never have made that decision alone without you."

"It's okay, father, I understand, but what he did, I couldn't imagine that my brother would do to my wife. The decision we can take is for him to take Ma Dube as his own, as I told my father that I love his sister and we never broke up. I think he will enjoy this that the opportunity he has been waiting for has come." They are struggling they all opened their mouths and their eyes widened, because Moyo had not told them about this matter. Moyo nodded and looked at Muzi and asked,

"Are you explaining that you don't care if your brother takes MaDube as his wife because of MaDube's sister? Will Dube admit that he took MaDube's sister?" they all raised their heads they looked at each other and thought that it has never happened that a person takes his wife's older sister because she is respected as a mother-in-law, but there was nothing they could do. They discussed the story and finally agreed that they would sit them all down and explain the decision they had made, what made them happy was that Muzi did not fight about the matter.

The sun went on while Moyo's face was clean, and everyone could see that he was no longer thinking hard.

It was late at night when he was in his bedroom when he got the idea to tell MaKhabo about everything.

"Ma'am, the story of your daughter-in-law is fine and I think it's time for you to love her because she is out of place." It takes away the heart

"What do you mean Moyo when you say it's not a place? Have you allowed my child to stay at this intersection? You, I saw a long time ago that you love the child, why would you embarrass your child so much because of him?" asked MaKhabo

"Haha, Muzi is also making fun of me, Ma Dube is going to be Sandile's wife as the responsibility is always hers Muzi said that he is taking himself for MaDube's sister who are in love since they were children. You are just determined that Ma Dube will live with him here as Sandile is the youngest of the boys." He replied smiling at Moyo. MaKhabo's face changed because he could not imagine that his son would do something similar to this.

"But Sandile what can you do? I always say it's cowboys and it's Sandile right here at home. How were they doing when we didn't see anything?" They told the story until they fell asleep.

The story went until it came to Thando's house over there in Kalahanga in Plumtree. When Dube heard that, he was shocked, and thought that he should take him there, but Ma Ncube refused until they finally agreed that they would go on a visit while we were seeing the child, that's when they would come and hear the whole story. They drove for a day and Dube and his wife packed their bags on their way to Lupane, they came as tourists. It was good to see each other as they had not seen each other for a long time

Advertisement

They talked about the story and his mother asked Thando to take it away.

"But my son, why did you act so ridiculous?

Why didn't you point to another person on the side but this or did you leave because you were not happy in your path? What did your wife say about all this? Are you still doing well?"

"Muzi is still my wife, I don't think she is in love with Tobeka, so she didn't care about what was happening." That speech scared Ma Ncube and he asked himself many questions because he had never met anyone like this since he became her.

"Don't be afraid, mother, I was the one who took my sister's husband for me. They are right that if something is not yours it does not stay with you no matter what you do to try to keep it. Muzi and Thobeka have been in love for a long time and I was the one who was jealous because all good things always happen to Thobeka so I wanted to take Muzi for her but it is clear that I was playing with my time because it is clear that they never stopped loving each other. I'm sorry, mom, for creating all this in your home, I know that everything I do brings shame to my father's home. Please forgive me, father, I know that I may hate you." Thando moved away with tears running down his cheeks, it was difficult for him to hold back and he ended up crying. Feeling sorry for him, Ma Ncube approached and kissed his son, feeling sorry for him you are a mother or a child, what you are doing, it is sad when you see it your child is in season.

"Okay, my child, I hear you, don't cry, sister. We, as your parents, love you, that's why we are here to see you, we were just worried and wondering why you did something like this, but I understand. Don't cry too much, sister."

He was comforting her with a kiss, but he always wondered about Thobeka's story. They sat talking to each other, and when the sun had set, they said goodbye to Dube and his wife and went straight to their place.

MaNcube was silent the whole way, only agreeing to what his wife was saying. Dube stopped paying attention to this and asked.

"Why is his mother so quiet? You know when we left you haven't opened yours and you're just nodding your head.

What did you hear in your chest?"

"Do you think Thando didn't do everything we had to do for us?"

"What are you asking for?" There is nothing we have not done for him. He remembered that he tried this school until he gave up on his own accord. He said that from there it didn't take long for him to become pregnant, and he became Moyo's daughter-in-law.

What else should we do for him?"

"I just wonder why he was so jealous of his sister. When he was young, he was always fighting when his sister was there and he didn't want to cook, but he is the youngest. This man he was visiting took his sister because he didn't want to see her happy, I even think that maybe we didn't do everything we could for him to feel that he is an important person in life and that's why he is doing all this." Ma Ncube replied that he was in tears because he felt sorry for him his son.

"You said the man had taken his sister, what do you mean by that?" asked Dube

"He says that Muzi and Thobeka have been in love for a long time, and he took her because he didn't want to see Thobeka get all the good things. He said he did that on purpose because he wanted to hurt Thobeka, and that's what makes me think about the fact that we looked at Thobeka a lot and forgot about him because he wasn't given a head like his sister." They talked until they went to their house and they discussed Thando's story, they regretted something else but they also told themselves that they are trying to do everything in their power. They would laugh again when they thought that he even carried himself to go all that was an effort to hurt his sister.

It continues to do its work until the sun sets, and it leaves
The days make weeks and each make months. Thando stayed at home since she became Sandile's wife, they stayed at his wife's house and worked hard to cultivate bids to do other jobs to earn money for living.

Life is good for Thando and her body is clean because of the things that are eating her from the inside, but Sandile is the one who is upset because she did not promise Thando, she thinks that she will do the same thing she did when she was Muzi's wife. Thando was forgotten about the story of the cowboys and he immediately told himself that he would never listen to these birds again.
Muzi chose to stay in the city and visit home after a while because no one is chasing him anymore.

Moyo returned to his home, because everything in his house was in good order, no one could fight with one another, and his children forgave each other, and no one held a grudge.

As time went on, they prepared for the wedding in Muzi lo Tobeka where they were preparing for a big wedding. They got married but did not stay at home, they continued to live in the city where they finally bought a big house since Muzi had found another job where he was earning better.

35

It's no wonder that he didn't find his work like every day, the people of his creator are going up and down the world with sharp guards, they are struggling every day trying to find something that will help them in their lives. Sandile and Thando continue their lives together, he lives by cutting wood for people and Sandile asks Thando to help him by planting a garden, life is difficult but they have nothing else to do. Mistrust continues between the two, Sandile regrets what he is doing until he finds himself drowning in alcohol because he is drunk as if he were drinking water, so this is one of the reasons why they keep arguing every day.

After dinner, everyone said their goodbyes and went to their bedroom, Thando was the only one since his wife had left early in the morning to go home before returning. He asks himself a lot of questions about how he can get out of the life he is living with Sandile, because he never dreamed of living with someone who would sleep there like Sandile. While he was thinking and asking himself questions, he heard his wife's footsteps approaching the door, got up and went to lock it. He kept Sandile close until he woke up and opened Thando's mouth, and when he got down he stepped on his tail while he was curled up.

"I've been searching for a long time out here, why didn't you open it?"

"Oh, and I have to stand up for you. I don't know what you are doing there and when will you be back?"

I was still asleep, after all, I'm not like you who will become a slave to alcohol. Are you going in or are you going to stand outside?" Thando asked, pretending to be asleep and judging by the time feeling him coming.

"You despise me, I see it. You are confused by your fornication, after all, who agrees to be taken by his wife's brother. You know, I don't know what I was seeing right there, this beauty is being played.

Where is my food, I'm hungry after all." Sandile asked, after all, he despises Makhabo's brother. Those words did not sit well in Thando's ears, he was silent for a while, wondering why how did he do.

"And who told you that you can hit me?"

Why do you despise me so much, it was you who forced me to sleep with you so that you wouldn't tell Muzi. Today I am a bad person. You know you have been talking to me for a long time and this is yours. Who do you want that food from, do you think I should carry your food here?

I don't think you know your local elder, go straight there." He answered when Thando slipped and prepared the terrace for sleep. Sandile stopped for a while trying to think what should he do, this way the alcohol is going to his head.

After a silence, Thando grabbed her neck and held her there this power is not yours, but you have made a fool of yourself. He slipped in a hurry, Thando was down and up since then, she was pregnant with Sandile, and she ended up begging for forgiveness from the one who kept holding her on top of her. He killed it until Ma Khabo's mother woke up and she didn't hesitate to come out of her room in a whirlwind to he did not intervene for his son.

It was a heavy noise that day when Thando couldn't hold it anymore and we woke up from Dube. They tried to separate them

MaKhabo and Moyo, who were still inside the in-law's house because it was no longer allowed for them to watch from outside. After the noise subsided, they asked Sandile to sleep in another room.

"Makhabo, I think we have stopped for a long time
These children always fight and even hurt each other. Let's represent Let's deal with this matter now before anyone else gets hurt, how about we call the Dube family and talk about the matter?" asked Moyo

"Why are you asking me? I don't know Muzi's situation because if everything was up to me, the child would have left when it became clear that he had not behaved. What kind of person is impregnated by her husband's brother and continues to live with him village. Can't you see that it's already in the liver in the bone what is this child? I think it would be a good idea to talk to them if they agree and thank them for taking their child because I might end up losing my child.

Did you just see how he was beating him when he was drunk?" MaKhabo replied because he was not praying for his daughter-in-law because of his actions. He just didn't want her in his house because he said he was embarrassing them.

"I understand you, madam, I was hoping that they would grow up and stop talking to each other like this, but I see that I am just dreaming and they will never change.

I have to get up tomorrow to pray and discuss this issue because I don't see that these children will get along well."

Moyo replied that he was worried about the fact that Love and Sandile's story of staying in a fight is not going well for him.

"Okay, but of course it should have done that a long time ago. I just want him to go and let me rest. You know, ever since the child arrived, it has been fought here at home

Advertisement

I know that in my days I was untouchable, but I did not disgrace my parents-in-law's house in the way this crosser did." MaKhabo replied with a limp and looked at him.

"Oh, but MaKhabo, why don't you talk so badly?

I agree that he has shamed us but it is not right to call him names. There is no one without this fault, what will we do if we find out that this one of ours is the one who started all this and raised the alarm when we heard she was pregnant? You know your son." Moyo looked at his wife.

"This is how I stand, my child Moyo, please let me listen to myself, don't you make noise about your daughter-in-law. If you don't want to drive him out of here, I will personally cut him the tree he used to build his own house on the other side of the ruins." It was MaKhabo pulling his cloak over his head.

Moyo did not sleep that day, he was trying in every way to find a better plan to get out of the whole situation. He finally decided that he should get up and talk to his brothers about this issue.

In the smoke, they are smoking, the car is roaring here and there, because there are no end of people. Some I went to the city and some I went to their homes and some I always went to places of entertainment. Those from Thobeka Village have gone out like a couple every now and then as they have been just a child, it makes it easy for them to go where they want when they want since after all, we are there for those who buy.

they are pointing inwards. They sat in one of the resting places,

"My love, I think we can be ready now that when we have children, we can give MaKhabo grandchildren. You know people, as soon as we get married, they will start talking."

Muzi turned to Thobeka and played with her hair, after all, the way they were acting made him realize that there was only love between them.

"I understand, my love, but why are we in such a hurry?" I was saying that I still want to continue with my studies, I might end up becoming a doctor, so I haven't thought about it yet. Can we be there now, who will be taking care of you since you are sitting on the floor?" Thobeka asked as she slowly raised her head and looked directly into his eyes. Those words didn't go down well with Muzi but he didn't want to show it to his lover because he didn't want him to feel bad.

"Okay, my love, I understand. Why do you still want to learn as we are getting old? Or do you want to study until you are an old woman? I was thinking that it is time for us to think about our whole house and the children dying while playing outside, because we have everything, so two cannot defeat us." Muzi replied, and Thobeka was silent for a while, because she is not handling this but he doesn't want his lover to see so he tries in every way to hide it. He was closing by saying,

"I will think about it, my love, but two are too many. I think if we can be one now, we will be one in another year if it's okay. And you still want to be like the people of the past who filled their homes with children when they had nothing? Right now, we have to think about our lives and that of our children. It is too early to hope that the king will see us. We are strong that children are a blessing, but it is becoming difficult to feed them." Thobeka answered, they will talk and laugh and have a good time because life is going well for them. While we were talking, a call came from MaKhabo's home.

"How is mom?" answered Muzi

"I'm fine, how are you? My son, please come back here and take what is yours, what you brought us, and come back to our cousin. I'm tired of being scolded every day. And what's the situation there, why don't you call your brother because it's possible that you're human, this is good to go." When MaKhabo left, Muzi was shocked and wondered why his mother spoke so badly.

"Hey mom, why did you say such bad words?

Since you don't like your daughter-in-law this one

"If I come back to him, will you love him since they are the same person?" Muzi asked.

"You listen to me, the daughter-in-law of course, if she is the one who lives here, we wouldn't have seen all this. I like the way this little girl behaves, she's not as cute as her sister's, she's crazy. Meanwhile, there was a fight yesterday with Sandile and it was from the ground up." MaKhabo answered.

"And why are we fighting now? I was saying that when they grow up they don't fight anymore, so my daughter didn't see them fighting? What is this that they are teaching the children, I think I will come back and take my son and stay with him here because he will end up becoming violent and hitting others at school." Muzi replied, looking at Thobeka to see how she felt about the matter. Thobeka ignores that but sees it as a good idea for the child to stay with them because she tells herself that she will delay Muzi and forget about the fact that the child was theirs, and tells herself that she will treat him like her own. He talked to Muzi's mother until she lost her breath, then hung up the phone. He turned and looked at Thobeka and the two friends smiled at him, then they discussed the matter of the child coming back to live with him here in the city. It was a good idea that he will get better grades in the city, Muzi is happy about that, they agree that Thobeka

He had to try to persuade his sister to give it to them a child.

36

It's morning, it's hot today and only the stars are shining in the sky. He got out of the chicken while Moyo was coming down from the trees and headed towards his brother, because he didn't chase it after Sandile and Thando intervened. His brother did not ask much when he saw him enter because he knew him,

"My brother sees me here, I didn't talk yesterday, this issue is bothering me, I don't know what to do, so please let's sit down and talk to each other." It takes away the heart

"I saw the way you came in that something was not going well at home. What is it about Muzi that is keeping you awake?" asked Mthandazo who is his brother.

"This is a story I have never told. MaDube and Sandile are always fighting, every day he can go and talk to Sandile and we have to mediate the noise. I don't even know who is the one talking between the two of them.

I have come to think that we made a mistake in that these two married each other, Sandile is still young and there is no one who can stand up to this village, but then how would we do it, because we would not drive away our daughter-in-law carrying our son-in-law." Let Moyo get rid of the story he is going with.

"I had never heard anything and I always told myself that they are living well here in the garden, they help each other and buy their stuff. Did you just sit them down and ask what is causing them to fight every day?"

"I once spoke to Sandile when their story started, I told him that it is wrong for them to remain unaccounted for. He promised me that it wouldn't happen again, but when it got to this point, I think they would end up hurting each other, we would end up being guilty of Dube." Moyo answered with a worried expression.

"Okay, I understand, I think it would be better if we sit them down and try to find out if they are friends and discipline them like children. It would be better if we did it this morning, I rushed to the boy who called our family so that they would be there when we try to discipline them." Mthandazo answered without wasting any time as he slipped towards where the boys were sleeping, waking them up quickly and telling them to call their elder and younger father.

After a few minutes they were all sitting on the floor trying to find the best way to help Sandile and Thando so that they don't keep fighting each other. MaKhabo made it clear that he no longer wanted Thando in his home

Who is he to make that decision? So they were reprimanded their children apologize and promise that they will never they fought again, Mthandazo immediately told them that he heard that they had fought and that he was taking them out of his brother's house because they were disrespectful.

Thobeka's day off today is smoky, she is lying in her house because the sun is hot outside and she has no choice but to lie down and rest. He is just sitting there, his brother Dube is not in his mind, he is asking himself many questions and he doesn't know how he will persuade his sister to give them a child, he thinks about the whole matter but as far as he knows, Thando finds it difficult to call him and ask him for that, and later on they finally tell him that it is better to die trying. He picked up his phone and dialed it looking right at Thando's stomach, he didn't take any time and he grabbed it.

"Sister, may everything go well until I am remembered by you today, because you said you just hate me, but I don't blame you for what I did, it hurts." Thando answered the phone.

"Everything is correct, sister, I'm just making a request here, I don't know if you will agree, but even if you don't, I understand. We have lived on the floor of this House

Advertisement

we were thinking that we should ask the child to sit next to us to try to lighten the burden." He removed Thobeka who was introducing us like someone who is waiting for an answer because as far as she knows her sister is waiting for whatever it is. Thando remained silent and did not answer until she and Thobeka continued.

"We thought that you would be happy if we lightened the load for you. I know it's the last thing you'd think would be asked of me after all."

"I understand you, but I never thought that after what I did, you would want to help me, not to mention seeing my daughter in your home.

It scares me to hear you ask for this and I don't know what to say because it was not difficult for me to raise myself and I wanted to raise all my children." Thando answered

"Okay, I understand, he asked us and said that we know the difficulties at home, so we thought he would be happy with that, but if you are not ready, there is no problem, we will wait and give you permission. Also, we thought that the scores here are better than back home, so we said we would get him a score that is good for him, but I don't force it. It's a matter you can think about, but you've been keeping us informed."

"Okay, it is difficult to give your child to someone else even if he is not your blood, but it is difficult to give it to him without knowing how he will treat the child. I will think about it and talk to Sandile and hear what he has to say."

"Wow, I forgot to ask how he is doing. I heard he was like did you fight yesterday?"

"Don't ask me about that one, you know you despise Sandile. I'm just holding back.

He was lucky that the mothers came quickly and intervened, but next time he does his thing again, I will show him who I am. I don't want someone who is drunk on me." Thando replied that the voice had already risen and it sounded like it was his aggressive. The sisters talked and he tried to reprimand him, telling him that it is not right to fight with his wife because she brings down his reputation in the eyes of other men's neighbors, but Thando insisted that Sandile should stop.

to despise him.

The sun has risen and lunch has been eaten, Thando is sitting in his room and he is thinking of going out to see his friend MaNyoni because they haven't seen each other for a long time. He went out of there and went to his neighbor, he found him sitting with him and he was tapping his phone on the other side smiling to himself.

"You smiled so much, friend, who are you talking to when the light is telling you good stories?" Thando asked as he entered.

"I'm speaking for Thembani, he's telling me other stories here. He says he wants to see me this afternoon, but the way he makes me laugh, I'm thinking of giving him a chance to see if we're talking face-to-face. MaNyoni replied glancing at her friend because she never stopped loving the boys she was shepherding. The story that happened to Thando did not scare him at all because he said that he is smart and will never be caught like Thando.

"Hey friend, are you still talking about your boys? Your wife even put something else in you, especially if she doesn't feel the things you do. I'm telling you, you will become a joke in the section, look how I am after Sandile's story. Leave it to the boys your wife is waiting."

"Do you want me to listen to you? You are just talking about leaving here and your wife finds her waiting for you at home, were you saying that I am waiting for someone who is traveling all year? I'm human too, I have feelings, if I don't think about it, I'll change boys until I get what I want, because I didn't buy food here." MaNyoni replied, let Thando see for himself that what he is doing is like pouring water on a duck's back. He immediately closed the matter.

"Hey! You know of course I was going to come back to see you when I heard that you beat a man yesterday, who were you friends until you beat your mother-in-law at night?" continued MaNyoni when we asked and lowered his voice.

"Ah! Don't know who you are. They are right that it is not a matter of sleep. Sandile despises me, he came and called me a whore, while crossing the road, I could hear myself gasping. Fortunately, he was drunk and I caught him, and I hit him, but you can see that he is disrespecting me again, and now I am hurting him, I tell you." He answered proudly
Love

"I don't blame you my friend, of course men are rude sometimes. I don't know who told them that they have the power to do whatever they want from us. You did well and you showed him that you are not bad for him but you only respect him, if you had let him go he would have continued to do your best every day. I think after that he will respect you."
MaNyoni answered.

"But when I think about it, I sometimes feel regret because they have disrespected other people and called him about a man who is beaten by his wife. Don't you think I should apologize to him?" removes Love

"He's sorry, he's the one who started it. What is clear is that they despise him and he is the one who has common sense and respect. Of course, I will not apologize because you can do this while walking around bragging and how will people look at you?" replied MaNyoni. He kept quiet when Thando didn't answer because he was wondering what to do since he didn't want to hear his wife being laughed at by other men outside. He ended by telling himself that he had to wait for her and calmed down and apologized nicely.

37

It's late, but there's a strong wind blowing outside and the moon is in the yard today, the ice has fled and left the big ship. By burning in the fire, many light fires outside while others always choose to sit and take in the strong wind. At Moyo and some of those who sit outside, dinner is eaten but Sandile has not returned since he went out in the afternoon with his friends.

While he was sitting down, he staggered as if he was trying to stop a goat, and Moyo saw that he was sitting on his own. in the head.

He greeted the elders and it was good that he joined the crowd where his wife was washing her dishes. They always got along well. Moyo waited for her to hear the noise like every day, but that day she collected Sandile, ate quietly and said goodbye as we headed to her room. His parents were surprised but they concluded that it meant that he had heard a reprimand and behaved well.

They stayed at Thobeka's house and finished dinner, but Thobeka was the only one who was worried about her mood. Don't ignore this Muzi he was trying to intervene to find out what it could be which worries Thobeka.

"You looked as if something is bothering you in your soul, I'm telling you what's bothering you?"

"Oh, why do you say I'm worried? I just kept quiet, I think, but it's nothing to worry about. It will pass." Thobeka replied trying to shut up

City.

"I want to hear this little bit of torture my wife."

"I have spoken to Thando, he said that he will not give us a child and he will raise his own children. I am asking now if we will do it since he is the one we are counting on, that's why you saw me as if I was just thinking."

"Wow, you said it's a matter of not wanting to give us a child? Does Thando think that we are going to torture his son?" There were so many questions for Muzi that Thando wanted to speak to him and he thought that it would end up as if he wanted to adopt a child for Thando.

"But MaDue, it would be easy to have our own so that we don't have to ask people for children. But what can one child do? You are satisfied with the progress of your studies and after that, the house will be heated until we will be crying all day long." It removes the Muzi

"And you continue with your story about having a child?"

I thought you understood that there is still a lot I want to do before I become a housewife." Thobeka answered, it was difficult for Muzi to continue the conversation because we thought that Thobeka would end up taking him as someone who doesn't care about him.

The sun went on, and Mlimu's came out. All the people have woken up and are getting ready to go to work, there is chaos here and there as people go up and down. Thobeka woke up and went straight to work, but her heart was not there when she was thinking hard about the child. He wonders how he is going to get that idea out of Muzi. He entered the hospital, and continued with his work. His friend Dudu was already noticing that something was wrong with Thobeka and was thinking of asking.

"Friend, is everything going well? After all, you arrived in the morning and I haven't seen you smiling at all?

What is bothering you so much?" asked Dudu

"You know my friend, I'm wondering what the hell I'm talking about right now. You know Muzi we want a child and we always talk about it every day now it makes me eat a lot and wonder why he wants him so much."

"Oh, and you say that you will live until you are old in Moyo without a child? What do you think your cousins will say? You have to strengthen your family, at least one, but that is to shut people's mouths because you know that they will end up talking bad and calling you names."

Dudu answered.

"And do you think I don't want a child? The thing that bothers me the most is that Muzi and I haven't used a coat since we started getting to know each other. A long time ago, I could agree because I used to protect myself, but since we got married, I may have stopped protecting myself, but I don't know why, I even think that I may not have children, after all, Muzi has a child." Thobeka replied in a low voice, it was clear that the story she was carrying was weighing her down and bothering her.

"Oh, my friend, I always told myself that you are protecting yourself, so don't worry about it. So do you think he might be the one with the problem? If that's the case, what will Muzi say, will he never end up going back to Thando since we just want a child?" asked Dudu as they sat down as it was time for them to take a break and relax for a few seconds.

"That's the thing that bothers me so much that I finally told him that I don't want to take care of myself because I still want to study but in fact I don't know what to do. I think I need to check to be sure what's going on He's going to tell Muzi the truth, and he's giving me a stomachache, because I can see that he'll lose me if he doesn't know that, after all, all men feel better when they have a child." Tobeka answered.

"Well, don't worry about that, my friend is another doctor I know in town. He once helped me here when I was poured into my car by something that is not clear

Advertisement

I went to him and it ended after a few days. It would be better if we get out of here and go over there and check what is not going well, but let's hope it's not what we think." Dudu answered, and they talked to each other until their time was up.

It continues with its work without looking at it, it works for free and does not care that there are those who are in the pain of the happy, it is only doing its job.

After they got off work, they went to the center of the city where Dudu knows, Thobeka only follows this way and the questions are piling up in her head.

He wonders what he will do if it is true that he is not pregnant.

They continued for a day, while Thobeka waited for the results. It's hard to wait after all we wonder

What is it that makes it take time for him to know the truth because he wants to be good and try other efforts it divides us.

Life has improved between Sandile and Thando even if MaKhabo is always vigilant as he no longer wants Thando in his home, he would have left long ago. It's time to eat dinner, just as Thando changed and we cook while it's still light, so they hurry and eat, when it's finished eating, it's difficult to sit in the crowd and talk as the daughters-in-law here at home just don't get along. Ma Khabo and his wife are in his bedroom talking to each other,

"You know, father, it is my fault that we left this child's family a long time ago, but you always protect him, I don't know why you did this. Why don't you want to kick him out, child?" removes Makhabo

"Haha! You make me laugh sometimes. What you want is for the child to leave, but have you ever thought about what might happen after we kick him out? What do you say about our relationship with Dube? Then we can say we chase him away and go with his children, what will he say because this is the blood of Moyo, I don't want to end up drinking my grandchildren while he is gone and they give others priority." Moyo answered and laughed to himself, it was clear that MaKhabo was laughing at the stupidity.

"Are you saying that the issue of children is what makes you always cross the road in your house or when the child has fed you, you no longer see anything bad about him? We'll take the children, I don't think they're ours, after all, we paid him a ransom, so it's okay if he leaves and leaves them." MaKhabo answered.

"It is clear that you are no longer thinking with your head, MaKhabo, who is considering all that you are saying because it is not my wife that I know who can say such a crude thing. Have you forgotten that the law gives the child's mother the right to stay with him until he reaches a certain age, then we can take him. I think it's better for our children to grow up in front of us than to end up being called "golas" in other villages as if they don't know kibo. These days they are bright and sitting with the children, there is nothing bad that I have seen, I think they hear when we discipline them." Moyo replied, trying to explain to his wife what could happen if they were to divorce
Love.

"Hmm! Then you are right, father, of course I had never thought of it that way. What kind of parents are we who abandon such young children? Look at the people, who will we look to if we do that, but let's hope that the child will grow up and change this way he behaves with it. Another thing I suspect here is his friend this Ma Nyoni, I don't see him as a reasonable friend, I don't know how we will get him out of him." Ma Khabo replied as if he cares about the matter but he doesn't trust Thando and is willing to keep an eye on everything and he wonders how he will get Ma Nyoni away from his friend.

They talked until they fell asleep, but MaKhabo finally told them that he should try to get closer of his daughter-in-law, he used to admonish her and direct her to other things because she didn't want to lose her grandchildren.

38

Not surprisingly, it has been two weeks. to Tobeka as if it has been a long time since she is waiting for her results. He woke up, showered and went to work like every day, but it was difficult because he was waiting for the phone call as they promised him at the hospital that they would call him when his results were received.

While he was working, his phone rang and the doctor informed him of his results, it was difficult for Thobeka to wait until he finally asked at work to see for himself.

He went in and came out with a sad face because what he got was not what he expected.

Last night he was listening in the house trying to find a way to tell Muzi about everything but he wondered how Muzi would take it. When they finished dinner, Thobeka removed her issue.

"Dad, this is what I have to tell you, but please don't hate me and don't take it badly. I always love you and I don't want to lose you Muzi, so please understand."

Thobeka looked at Muzi, and Muzi was startled by what she thought, and she wondered what this could be, and she thought that Thobeka had done what her sister had done, but she caught herself early.

"Wow, you talked like it was a big deal, how is it going?

What is this you are talking about that will make me feel bad?" Muzi asked as he sat comfortably and waited to hear the whole story from Tobeka, who was no longer content to hold back tears rolling down her cheeks.

"I know you want a child, Muzi, and I wish we could have our own family, but...?" Tears came down as we spoke. Muzi is surprised, there are many questions in his head, he wonders what is this that is making Thobeka cry.

He pulled her close, trying to comfort her.

"But what is it Thobeka, please tell me I will understand and I will support you in everything." Muzi answered the one who wanted to hear what the story is.

"I went and checked why I didn't carry myself.

The results are out and they say that we can't be satisfied with having this child because I don't have children..." Tears fell from Thobeka who couldn't control herself.

"They say how are you? Does this mean that you and I will never have a child of our own? So who will have a home for children? They are right that God doesn't give you everything and here we have everything, we lack nothing, this house is big, but it will belong to both of us, not to this child." Muzi said, when we are talking alone, there is no one to answer him.

"I'm sorry, my family, I didn't know that I wasn't given a child, so please forgive me, I didn't do it." Thobeka couldn't sleep that night wondering what would happen and what the Village would do about Thobeka's infertility. Questions were important to Muzi wondering why bad things happen to him. First it was Thando who forced him into habits that he didn't like, this time it was Tobeka. He wondered what to do and decided to ask his son at home to stay here with him.

Advertisement

The weather was beautiful, and Makhabo and Thando went out to the fields as it was always time to weed and they all plowed. These days, they seem to be getting along, but Thando does not trust her mother-in-law, telling herself that she is only bringing her closer because she wants something. UmaKhabo is trying with all his might to get close to his daughter-in-law because he no longer wants her to be discussing things about his house with the Birds.

"Mom, this is what I always ask myself, but I don't know what to do about it." Thando asked to hear what her mother-in-law had to say.

"What is that, Dube?" asked MaKhabo when we were standing on his tilling plow because he loves the story and Thando's openness makes him happy because of course that's what he wants to happen.

"My sister got married two years ago but we haven't heard that they are pregnant or are they hiding it from us?" What is very strange to me is that a few weeks ago he called me and asked the child to stay with me because he said they wanted to lighten the load for me but I refused because I wanted to.
to raise my children." Removes Love.

"And what do you say to me Ma Dube? You know, I never paid attention to the fact that it's been so long since they got married but they still don't have a child. But do you think that the child is too late or since he is a person who likes to learn, he doesn't want to have a child? But if he didn't want it, why did he ask for yours? You are right, my son, I have to sit with your father and talk about the possibility of helping your father-in-law, as he is a person who knows these traditional trees." MaKhabo replied with surprise because all this time he was always looking at Thando and he didn't care about Tobeka, that's why he forgot that he has been in Moyo for a long time but he is not his.

"I didn't say anything to my mother, it's something I was just wondering about. If it was me, I hope my father would have been called."

It is said that I don't want to raise the last name, but since she is just my sister, no one cares about her because everyone loves her. Nobody cares about me, everyone sees me as a bad person who is always expected to do something bad." He spoke to Thando with a heavy heart, but those words were directed at him by MaKhabo.

He felt her touch him and MaKhabo began to regret everything he had done to Thando.

"But that's not the case, dear, we always live here, so everything that happens coincides with each other and that's why you see how many of us are always waiting for you to do something bad. We all love you, we don't like you, you would have left a long time ago because of your actions, but we care about you, that's why we're here. I wish that our relationship would be better so that we can talk about a lot and trust me, I'm sorry my daughter for not being a good mother-in-law until you found yourself getting along with those MaYoni children who were not brought up well, I took you to be like them. Forgive me for that and please let's try to have a better relationship and trust me as a mother-in-law." MaKhabo said, when they were talking they were sitting under a tree in the field and they were showering each other with water as the sun was hot.

"It's okay, mom, maybe I wasn't a good mother-in-law. I was very disappointed but I wish

I want her to trust me again and especially Sandile, I want her to trust me and I will never let her down. I will never let you disgrace the reputation of the village again." Removes Love.

They talk to their mother-in-law, about how to weed and how to enjoy, because the conversation burns until laughter is heard. They beat them all, they went straight home and the boys were about to milk each other. Seeing that the sun had risen, Ma Khabo got up and tried to help his daughter-in-law so that they could prepare food for the cow and go out before it got too hot. Moyo was shocked when he returned from milking to find his wife and daughter-in-law shaking in the crowd, and he wondered what MaKhabo had gotten into today that made him even help Thando to make food and as they talked it was clear that they were happy people.

Moyo is sitting under the shade of a tree thinking about the handle of his hloka since the cow and the boys came out.

His wife came and sat next to him and sewed on his scapula.

"Makhabo, I am happy to see it as if it is your daughter-in-law's word. I have been crying for a long time to see them helping each other and talking to each other. Did you change your mind today or did something make you happy." Moyo moved away, speaking softly so that it wouldn't be there who hears.

"Oh, but father, don't even ask what you don't want to see a person who gets along with his daughter-in-law? It's because we talked Today we are in the fields of MaDube. Some of the things he said made me realize that I did not treat him well when he came here. But in this case he whispered to me that we must act as soon as possible before it gets damaged." Removes MaKhabo. Hearing that, Moyo stopped questioning because we wanted to know whose story his wife was talking about. He tried to question Moyo but MaKhabo said that he didn't want it to be heard by people who shouldn't hear it but he promised that he would tell him.

39

It woke up and covered the sky, it is a barrier, it is impossible that they are harvesting. Ma Khabo and Thando are sitting in the crowd, while Ma Khabo is sewing his own clothes and Thando is watching because he wants to learn even if he has a mother-in-law. he promised him that he would teach him. They both sat by themselves discussed,

"Tell me, young man, if it happens that your sister is pregnant, can you give Muzi's brother to raise her as his own?" asked MaKhabo because he wants to hear what Thando has to say so that if something happens, he can have a plan as soon as possible.

"I never dreamed of separating from my children, mother, but since she is my sister and everything I did to her, I felt sorry for her and it was my way to apologize to her, but if she treats her well, I can't make her because she can't treat her well, I take care of her." Thando answered

"I'm glad to hear that. I feel sorry for him, my daughter, how will he take this after all, it is expected that Moyo's surname will be raised by him and he is the first born here at home." MaKhabo replied showing concern because he did not want to see his firstborn in pain and that was what made him hate Thando with all his heart his whole. Their relationship is growing stronger and better these days you won't hear them talking to each other but when they are there you can hear only a pleasant conversation of laughter.

In Bulawayo, Muzi and Thobeka are trying to understand why this is happening to them but there is no answer. He was thinking of calling his father, Muzi, to inform him about the matter because he felt that he was failing him alone, so we tried to find someone who could advise him,

"How are you my son? How are the children?" Moyo answered his phone.

"I'm alive and they're alive too, I don't know who you are."

Muzi answered

"We live for ourselves, I just wanted to call you.

This is a matter that we have to discuss, but when she has the time, she can visit us with her daughter-in-law for a few days, as in the past, we were just friends." Moyo moved away, Muzi was startled by that and he asked himself many questions but there was no answer.

"Okay dad, we can come back on the weekend. I will talk to Ma Dube and see how we can do it because it sounds like a big thing that I am calling for."

"Okay, then do it." Moyo hangs up his phone and thinks about preparing the trees so that when they arrive they will find them standing ready and waiting for them because he doesn't want to end up giving them the wrong medicine.

Let the day come to the weekend, and visit his wife's house. Like all homes, it is happy when there is a visitor that day, Moyo was the same after all, Muzi because when they visit, everything changes here at home and this goat is caught.

It was discussed in the crowd until they fell asleep, and the man went out to his room. They entered the Village of Tobeka, and they said that they did not sleep when they heard the person knocking at the door. He immediately opened the door and found his father standing. He asked them to sit down and talk, Muzi waited for a while but realized that trying to refuse wouldn't help him, they went out one after another with Tobeka.

"Don't be afraid, my dears, to call it this late at night, because this is the story I want to talk about, so I don't want it to be heard by many people, you know, people may end up talking about it wearing the saudo or not."

It took away Moyo sitting in his rest house.

"We know that she has been married for about two years, but we do not see a child. Lani knows that when people get married, what people expect is that they see a child running around in the name, so that has not happened to you. We would like to ask here as a mother so that if there is a place where she needs help, we will be happy to help my children. Please don't take it badly, especially for you, my daughter-in-law, but as a family we try to help each other. It won't be good for us to hear people walking around talking outside." Moyo continued while everyone was silent

Advertisement

Thobeka bowed her head down.

"Okay dad, I'm happy to hear you talk like this.

We were just saying that we wanted to tell you something since we are talking about it, it would be better if we let you know. We checked on Ma Dube and she said we are worried like you, we found out that Ma..." Thobeka raised her head and looked him in the eyes like someone scolding her but Muzi ignored that and continued, "We found out that Ma Dube is infertile so it means that she and I will never have a child, we were thinking about it that we will ask little Ma Dube to give me my child so that we can raise him here but I don't see that he will agree to that." Thobeka was not impressed by that speech, but there was nothing she could do but be quiet and listen.

"It's okay, my friend, but don't worry too much about that, your mother and I have already sat down and talked so that's why we called it here every now and then to these certain trees that I had prepared for it so that we can see if it is successful. If we fail here, we will try other plans. I don't know, Makhabo, whether your daughter-in-law is willing to take it trees?" asked Moyo looking at MaKhabo.

"I don't know, father. I'll talk to him and find out if he's free?" they talk and say goodbye, take the medicine given to them and go to their bedroom but Thobeka is angry inside and wonders why Muzi revealed the whole matter to her parents because that is to humiliate her since we see them yelling at her one day.

"But Muzi, was there any need for you to say all that in front of my father-in-law?" Thobeka asked with a bright expression on her face that she was not feeling well, but as a humble person, this voice is not enough to scold or fight like Thando.

"I think it was a good idea to tell them so that they don't have to wait for a grandchild, because if we don't tell them they end up thinking a lot, it's better if they knew the truth early and I knew that my father would try something that would help us." Muzi answered.

"I don't have trees myself, my results made it clear that I will not have children and if it was something that could be fixed we would try to fix it so I don't see that these trees will keep me safe. Sunganata you but I don't feel like wasting time and I can accept that I will never have my child in my life." Tobeka answered. He tried to persuade Muzi, and he did as he was told, but he did not sleep that night. Thobeka was running endlessly around the small house, and Muzi became suspicious of him.

Morning came, and they went out to the fields like every day. Many people today have left and closed this role by weeding. He walks back to Muzi with his father as they are the two who are going because Sandile is asleep and has eaten so he failed to wake up with the others.

"Does the daughter-in-law have the medicine I gave her?" asked Moyo

"Yes, father, but I'm worried because the sun didn't shine after drinking it. I think it's not compatible with his body, or should he have done it that way?" That is Muzi.

"Hmm! Here we are looking at this big problem, my son, he shouldn't have slept on it all night because when he goes out, it is obvious that the problem is big and it is not something that can be fixed. You should have started running him a day after you cleaned everything inside. We have to accept that the daughter-in-law will never have those children because the medicine you gave me is the one I trust all." Moyo replied with a worried expression on his face.

"It's difficult then, father. I don't know what to do or if I didn't leave Thando, but how could I stay with him without loving him even after he slept with my brother? Why do such bad things happen to me, why me?" It is Muzi who asks himself endless questions because of anxiety.

"Don't worry, my friend, we are helping your mother, but we should try to sit down with Sandile and his wife and talk about them, but your brother, as he is an alcoholic, should not know the whole story because he went drinking with alcohol, and eventually the whole class will be filled, and they will end up disrespecting Ma Dube."

Moyo answered, and they talked until they entered the field.

The sun has risen today and the sun is shining, they are shining until they come out and it's going to be hard.

40

It's getting dark, the Moyos are sitting outside the big one since the sky is not there today, the moon is shining over there and there is a strong wind blowing and the small ones are not there because it can be a small wind and it disappears. They are just sitting there, Moyo trying to eat the bones of his mind and wondering how to solve Tobeka's infertility issue. He asks himself a lot of questions because he doesn't know what decision to make and he is even afraid to tell MaKhabo because he is afraid that he will end up calling him that or yelling at him for it. They stayed until they fell asleep and said goodbye to each other. It was nice because MaKhabo and Thando's relationship was beautiful, I'm not talking about Tobeka's. He fell in love with her the first time he saw her. Thobeka and Thando have forgiven each other, they understand each other as if nothing had come between

"Dad, how did the medicine you gave your daughter-in-law go, will there be any changes so that we will have grandchildren soon." MaKhabo then looked towards his wife, who was holding her head and it was clear that she was thinking a lot.

"It's difficult, madam, I spoke to Muzi this morning.

The way he told me, I think that the daughter-in-law will never be satisfied to give the grandchildren, we have to do it it's theirs. You see what I was telling you to chase away the little daughter-in-law, now we need her children so that we can be called a grandmother."

Moyo answered with concern.

"You're right, father, I was already thinking about the matter at this point and we followed him there in the morning looking for our grandchildren. So what will we do about MaDube's story, I love this child the way he humbles himself and his respect and I don't want to see my daughter Muzi go through another pain. I'm exhausted when it's like this."

"It's difficult, madam, but I was thinking here. Why don't we ask the younger Ma Dube to let them take it Do Muzi's parents raise them as their own? So will you agree to that? Where did we start asking him for something like that?" Moyo is the one who answers the questions.

"I once thought about that, father, then I talked to Ma Dube, as these days we just get along. He is a child who respects and has compassion, when I was talking to him he said if possible his sister should not be his child

He is willing to give his firstborn son to him so that They raised him in that city." They said that they were silent like someone who is waiting the answer is MaKhabo.

"You see, madam, your relationship with your daughter-in-law is working for us right now. Why didn't it start long ago harmony, maybe something else would not have happened.

I am grateful that you have already done something, but I think it would be better if I call my brothers tomorrow and we can sit down and agree on everything. I don't want things that will bother us in the future." Moyo answered.

They agreed that they should talk about this issue in order to even if there is someone who wants to deny it even if they have the evidence.

They woke up in the morning and said that they were a family and those who have Moyo were called to be the ones to handle this matter. It was difficult for Thobeka, who asked herself many questions and did not know how it would go, as everyone here at home knew that the child was pregnant, and when her parents came in, she immediately realized that she had been taken away from Moyo.

It was difficult to leave his house, until his sister Thando was picked up by him. As far as she knew him, she didn't trust him because she thought that he was calling her to be a liar, but she begged him until she agreed. They went out and went to the room where everyone was sitting, and the tears wanted to come out to Thobeka but she held back.

"Thank you for your presence here, this is a matter that we have to deal with as a whole and we do not want what is happening here at home to feel that it is coming from our neighbors, especially you Sandile, this story involves everyone so there wherever you go, don't go and sprinkle it." It removes Mthandazo as he is the one who represents the whole family every day because they say he is able to put the story well and these words were given to Moyo's boy.

"We are here about the daughter-in-law's issue, it is clear that the daughter-in-law has not been given children. For a long time, we have been looking as adults for something to happen. We have tried and he said that we could satisfy you and I think that it will only be the mercy of the king and we have nothing else to do. By looking at the situation The boy has gone through it and we think it's a good idea to ask for it We are all here to find a better way out of this situation.

I hope a guy like this wants children but there is nothing he can do. We would like to ask the younger Ma Dube when he is free to help his sister because there is no other plan we can do." He spoke and remained silent like a person waiting for an answer. It was difficult for Thobeka to hold back the tears and they came out by themselves when she thought about it that he once tried to talk to his sister but he strangled him. Let the prayer continue saying;

"We're taking it to you, Ma Dube, it's up to you whether you help your sister or let her stay like that, but it would make us happy if you softened your heart and helped. We love our daughter-in-law and we didn't want to lose her, so we came to this decision." They don't say keep quiet. Thando tried to raise his head but all eyes were on him except for his sister. He tried to open his mouth but it was difficult because he thought about everything he has done in this house and everything he has worked for, and tears came to his eyes. Ma Khabo came close to him and whispered to him, then Thando was squinting, trying to correct his voice. After all, it is difficult to act like a daughter-in-law in front of her cousins, so she tries in every way to humble herself. He coughed a little and said;

"Thank you Moyo for your kindness, I ...." he couldn't finish that speech, tears started to fall again. We are wondering where these sisters came from and everything that has happened between them. He even apologizes for all the jealousy that he did for him because he says that he always gets everything, and his parents love him without knowing that gifts are not always the same for people who are given the same. Ma Khabo always came close to her and comforted her and she was close to tears because she hated her daughter-in-law but today the whole family came together to ask for her help.

"It's okay, he can take the child, I feel the pain that my sister knows and I would ask him to do something similar to this for me. To you, sister, this is my way of apologizing to you, I wish you to forgive me for everything I did and the pain I caused. As if don't forgive me, treat this child like your own." That is Love.

"Hey, Ma Dube, why don't you give people this child? Do you think that we will find the child again when he lives with his father? Why do you think to yourself? I say it's a child's place and I will raise him as my own." Sandile is the one who wakes up angry because he already thinks that the child's departure will make Muzi not to bother them again.

"Shut up Sandile, what are you thinking about only wanting to eat? You destroyed your brother's house and don't regret it, you still want to continue and make a living for him. Come out like a man, you need a job and stop wanting to rely on your brother, how long do you think you will support this old man?" when MaKhabo woke up, everyone who was here was shocked because it was his first day to greet Sandile as he was sitting on his arm.

"Let's calm down. Thank you very much Ma Dube for what you have done. I think we can fix the rest. I'm just happy that the daughter-in-law has helped a lot, because Ma Dube was still being scolded outside here, it's said that she is a little girl, but she has only one child that they raised for herself. That is prayer.

They told the story since they were all happy, only Sandile closed his mouth because he thought that Muzi would leave home after this.

The sun went down beautifully and everyone was happy, but Muzi was happy that she would raise her son herself. They didn't stay any longer, they got up in the morning and took the exit towards Bulawayo, since Thobeka's days to return to work had arrived. Muzi's house was falling apart, and they were shouting from side to side. Thobeka, on the other hand, had vowed that she would never forget them, she would always give them a little something every month.

After a few months, Sandile left home trying to find work, since she had come to trust Thando since they were speaking her mother's tongue. Thando himself went out and ended up at MaNyoni's because he told her aside, and everything that was bothering him he asked his mother-in-law. You could have sworn that they were all daughters-in-law here at Moyo and they were treating each other as if they were their own children, Thando is not talking about her body was back, it was full of itself and what is it that you are still suffering from?

.....The End.....

*****

Thank you guys for downloading this book from my site please keep visiting <https://novelsguru.com/> for supporting me and also don't forget to share it with your friends.

Dear Friends please download these books direct from <https://novelsguru.com/> bookmark this site for latest African books, and also supporting me Thanks.

*****