“After they got married, they treated each other with respect. However, Iris was too stubborn. When she found out that he already had someone outside, she couldn’t bear it anymore. But in a wealthy marriage, isn’t it normal for a man to have one or two mistresses outside? The marriage was based on two good surnames. Even the old man was very infatuated when he was young...”

When Mdm. Lea heard this, she hurriedly interrupted her. “Madam isn’t bad. At least, Justin’s father’s outcome was better than the one in the Smiths...”

Her words stunned Mrs. Hunt. She asked, “I heard that the person from the Smiths is dying?”

Mdm. Lea sighed. “Isn’t that so? Back then, he and Justin’s father were the two elites of New York. Although Yvette chose Ian, Ian didn’t even have a child with her in the end! Now that he’s terminally ill, I heard he won’t live for long. In comparison, Justin’s father is at least still alive...”

Mrs. Hunt sighed again.

At the same time, she was even more dissatisfied with Nora and hated the Andersons even more.

Although they all knew that it was his own fault that Justin's father had come to this point and that the Old Master had given up on him, as his biological mother, she was still filled with anticipation for the brilliant Boss from back then.

In the end, her son had fallen into dire straits. On one hand, she blamed her son for being disappointing. On the other hand, it was convenient for her to vent her anger on the Andersons.

She had her own bottom line.

At the very least, they had not kicked the Andersons while they were down for so many years.

Moreover, Yvette had passed away many years ago, and the Andersons were gradually falling into decline. Logically speaking, everything that had happened in the past was already in the past. After so many years, she could not even remember the Andersons anymore.

If Nora was not Yvette's child, perhaps she would not be so harsh to her.

As she was thinking, she heard footsteps outside.

Mdm. Lea hurriedly reminded her, "Madam, they're here."

Mrs. Hunt immediately sat up straight and looked sharply at the door.

That woman thought highly of herself and refused to come over.. Therefore, she would first take a look at her child and see what she looked like. After all, the daughter would surely be a miniature version of her mother!

Chapter 251 - Meeting

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The first to enter was the butler.

He looked a little surprised, but he still held it in. When he saw Mrs. Hunt, he bowed. “Madam, Ms. Melissa is here.”

Only then did he move aside and reveal the person behind him.

Melissa was wearing a casual family suit. She did not look like she had specially dressed up. However, her clothes were fitting and elegant. She was smiling as well, but her smile was appropriate and did not appear flattering. She was poised and composed.

When Mrs. Hunt saw her, she nodded secretly.

At least in this outfit, she was not the type to curry favor with the Hunts, and would not be hated.

She looked at Melissa and behind her. After a while, she asked in surprise, “Where’s the child?”

When she said this, Melissa revealed an awkward expression.

She looked at the butler and felt a little uncomfortable when she thought of the situation earlier.

Just now, when Melissa looked at Pete, she realized that he was hugging his head and burying it on the sofa in the backseat. After she spoke, he directly said gloomily, “Aunt, my... my stomach hurts. I want to go home...”

Melissa was shocked and hurriedly asked, “Where does your stomach hurt? Why are you feeling uncomfortable? Cherry, let me take a look!”

“I don’t want to,” Pete said firmly. “I want to go home and find Mommy. Mommy is a doctor. She can treat all illnesses.”

Melissa was anxious. “Then I’ll accompany you back.”

No matter how important it was, it was not as important as the child.

However, just as she finished speaking, she saw Pete look up from inside the car. He blinked at her and said softly, “I’m fine. It’s just that this butler uncle looks too scary. I don’t want to get out of the car. I want to go home and find Mom.”

Melissa: “...”

The butler, who had taken the blame for no reason: “...”

The butler touched his face. If he had not always been famous for being polite and gentlemanly, he would have felt like a monster!

Look at how frightened the little kid was!

Melissa was helpless as well. She coaxed Pete to get out of the car again. “Cherry, Uncle Butler is very kind. If you get out of the car, he’ll take you out to play with toys and eat delicious food, okay?”

Pete shook his head like a rattle drum. “I don’t, I don’t want to. I want to go home and find Mommy!”

Melissa: “Cherry, you’re being rude~”

Pete retorted seriously, “I’m a child. I’m unreasonable!”

Melissa, “...”

Pete said, “Besides, bringing me in like this is embarrassing. You might as well let me go home to Mommy.”

Melissa: “...”

She had been convinced!

In the end, she could only get out of the car and get the chauffeur to send Cherry home first. The chauffeur would pick her up later.

Facing Mrs. Hunt's question, Melissa could only explain, "The child is very clingy to her mother. She didn't see her mother and wanted to go home. I got the chauffeur to send her back first. Mrs. Hunt, how have you been lately?"

Looking for her mother?

Mrs. Hunt glanced at the butler and saw him nod.

She looked down on Nora even more.

She had indeed grown up in a small place and was not generous at all. Her daughter was also so willful. She had already arrived at the door and had left again.

As she thought this, she revealed some impatience on the surface.

She pointed to the chair beside her. "Have a seat first."

Melissa's body stiffened.

This condescending attitude was obvious, and even though she was experienced and concealed her expression, she still revealed a little impatience. It made Melissa very uncomfortable.

After she sat down, Mrs. Hunt smiled and said, "You can't spoil a child too much."

Melissa lowered her eyes. Although Cherry had indeed lost her composure today, she still protected her own family. She smiled. "You're right. However, Cherry is a delicate girl. Aren't all wealthy families raising their daughters like gems? This has always been the case in our family. Our daughters are all very precious! Boys are tougher, on the other hand."

In other words, “Our girls are willful! Nora is also very willful!”

Melissa felt that she could not lower her stance and blindly pander to her. She had to tell Mrs. Hunt that Nora had also been pampered by the Andersons since she was young!

Mrs. Hunt understood and smiled. “Isn’t this how wealthy families raise their children? But why do I hear that Nora grew up in California?”

Melissa smiled. “Yes, my elder sister married into California back then and set up a company there. However, it’s more difficult to raise children there. Nora’s good skin is all because of her. Also, you haven’t seen her fingers before. They’re as fair as freshly peeled onions without any creases.”

Mrs. Hunt smiled and remained silent.

Mdm. Lea said, “That’s because you raised her too carefully. The boys in our family are raised roughly. Our family has only raised one child who is not rough. That child is our Young Master. Sir raised him himself since he was young.”

Mdm. Lea smiled. “Sir fed Little Young Master milk powder and changed his diaper. Speaking of which, even in an ordinary family, a father who can do this is already a good father. Moreover, our Sir highly values Little Young Master. He never left his side for more than three days since he was young and even taught him personally... At that time, we said that we would find a mother for Little Young Master. Sir said that the child was still young and was afraid that a stepmother would be bad. We would talk about it when the child grew up. He even said that he wanted to find someone from a small family. Someone who would not dare to bully Little Young Master. Speaking of which, Little Young Master is already five years old!”

In other words: Justin cared about the Little Young Master the most. Even if he married, it could not affect the Little Young Master’s status.

Melissa clenched her fists.

After Nora marries Justin, it was her freedom to have children or not. However, the Hunts were clearly looking down on them by saying all this in advance.

What small family?

She was instantly furious, and her smile stiffened.

Mrs. Hunt scolded, “Mdm. Lea, what nonsense are you talking about? The Andersons aren’t a small family!”

Mdm. Lea immediately slapped her mouth gently. “Ms. Melissa, don’t take it to heart. I didn’t think before I spoke. That’s not what I meant. Of course, the Andersons are not a small family. Your Carefree Pills are too famous. Even our family has a few for emergencies.”

Melissa: “...”

She clenched her fists tightly, but she knew that even if this marriage did not succeed, they could not fall out. After all, the Andersons could not compare to the Hunts.

However, she had already made up her mind to persuade Nora to break up with Justin.

She could not marry into such a family!

As she was thinking to herself, a clear and cute voice suddenly sounded. “Great-Grandmother, is my little sister here?”

With that, a small figure ran over.

Chapter 252 - Nora Is Petes Biological Mother??

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Melissa looked over subconsciously, but the moment she lifted her head, she froze all of a sudden.

She stared incredulously at the child running in, and swallowed hard. Cherry also noticed her while she was running in. The little fellow came to a stop, and a touch of surprise appeared in her big round eyes.

An astonished Melissa said, “Ch...”

But before she could say ‘... erry, why are you back?’, the little fellow suddenly exclaimed, “Ooh! Hi, Grand-aunt!”

She interrupted Melissa, ran up to her, and sat on her lap.

Melissa: “?”

She couldn’t understand how Cherry could go in and out of the Hunts’ residence at will. Moreover, she had clearly come from the inner premises. Shouldn’t she be in the car going back to the Andersons right now?

While she was in a daze, Mrs. Hunt frowned and asked, “Grand... Aunt? Pete, do the two of you know each other?”

Cherry nodded at once. “Uh-huh! Great-Grandma, this is Grand-Aunt. Grand-Aunt, this is my great-grandmother~”

Even more question marks filled Melissa’s mind: ???

She suddenly turned to Mrs. Hunt and asked, “W-what did you call the child just now?”

Pete? What Pete?

Before Mrs. Hunt could explain, Cherry said, “Don’t you remember who I am, Grand-Aunt? I’m Pete Hunt! My father is Justin Hunt!”

Then, she looked at Mrs. Hunt again and said, “Are they the guests you were talking about, Great-Grandma? I’ve been to their house! Daddy took me there before, yeah!”

Cherry’s young and tender voice rang out in the living room, shocking Melissa so badly that she was practically crispy on the outside and tender on the inside.

What nonsense was Cherry spouting?

Pete Hunt? What nonsens...

No, wait, Hunt?

And ‘Great-Grandma’...

‘My father is Justin Hunt’...

She looked at Cherry, who was in her arms, in disbelief after connecting the pieces of crucial information. She swallowed hard and asked, “Y-your father is Justin Hunt?”

Justin was the father of Nora’s child???

Cherry blinked at her and replied, “Uh-huh! My father is Justin Hunt, and I am his son, yeah!”

She deliberately placed emphasis on the word ‘son’. Then, she asked, “Where’s my sister? Didn’t she come?”

If Pete had come, he would definitely find a way to escape!

There was absolutely no way he would stay!

Cherry understood her elder brother very well, so there weren't any loopholes in her words at all.

The dumbfounded Melissa's mind was a complete blank.

Mrs. Hunt, however, was very displeased with how close and intimate the two of them were. She beckoned to Cherry and said, "Come to Great-Grandma, Pete."

Cherry nodded and ran to Mrs. Hunt.

After getting her to sit beside her, Mrs. Hunt looked at Melissa and asked with a fake smile, "So, Justin has already paid your family a visit?"

Melissa: "..."

When had he ever paid them a visit?!

But when she thought of what Pete had said just now...

She looked again at Cherry, who was sitting beside Mrs. Hunt obediently...

The child in front of her felt more like the Cherry whom Nora had brought with her from California. On the contrary, it was the Cherry, who was always so quiet and taciturn lately, that felt more like she would be the little mister of the Hunts...

Could it be that...

Everything suddenly clicked in her head in this instant.

She looked at Mrs. Hunt again, who said with a smile, "You mustn't be so casual with your terms of address, Pete. You should call her Mrs. Anderson instead."

Cherry blinked. "But Daddy told me to call her Grand-Aunt!"

The clever Cherry had long since discovered that everyone in this family became fearful the moment she brought her father into the picture!

Sure enough, Mrs. Hunt didn't make any more mention about changing the term of address. Instead, she looked at Melissa with a smile and said, "Would you just look at this child? He's just so innocent that he can't even distinguish between who's family and who's not. That said, it's not really a big issue even if he goes along with it and addresses you as Grand-Aunt."

Mrs. Hunt could tell from Cherry's attitude that Justin had already taken care of everything long ago. Knowing that there was no way she could stop the marriage anymore, she heaved a silent sigh inwardly.

In that case, there were some things that must be made clear.

She took a deep breath and said with a smile, "Mrs. Anderson, I asked you over because there's something I want to talk to you about. I should think that you're already aware that Ms. Smith and Justin are dating. What are your thoughts on this? Also, our family has high hopes for Pete. Surely the Andersons won't mind if he becomes close to his biological mother in the future, right?"

Although they didn't know who Pete's biological mother was, they would eventually find her.

In Mrs. Hunt's opinion, no one could compare to their own blood relatives.

It was just like Iris back then. For Justin's sake, hadn't she also willingly suffered injustice for so many years? She was the only person in this world who didn't harbor any thoughts of using Justin and treated him well.

Although she didn't know why Justin had never made any mention of Pete's biological mother, these thoughts of hers had never once changed.

Melissa had already recovered from her shock and consternation by now. As expected of someone who had experienced so much in life, the woman had already understood everything during these short few moments.

No wonder Nora had kept in contact with Justin. As it turned out, the father of her children was none other than Justin himself!

Although she didn't know how Nora and Justin had come to have children, or what exactly had happened back then, what she did know right now was that Mrs. Hunt was obviously unaware that Nora was Pete's biological mother!

She coughed and asked, "Do you know where Pete's biological mother is, Mrs. Hunt?"

Mrs. Hunt, however, misunderstood her.

She thought what Melissa meant was—how was Pete going to become close with his biological mother when they didn't even know where she was?

At once, Mrs. Hunt smiled and replied very meaningfully, "Of course, I do."

Melissa: "??"

Then, Mrs. Hunt puffed herself up at her own cost and said, "It's said that mothers and their children share a connection. You should have heard of that saying before, right? You're also a mother yourself, so you must know how a mother feels toward their children. Although there are some misunderstandings between Justin and her, for the boy's sake, I think Justin will eventually forgive her."

She looked at Melissa again after she spoke, and thought of a way to get her to back down. She said, "Of course, if Ms. Smith doesn't mind, then it's not a problem."

Melissa: "..."

The corners of her lips spasmed a little. She suddenly felt very much like laughing.

She asked, "How do you feel about his biological mother, then?"

Mrs. Hunt became domineering this time. She replied, "I don't care who she is. She deserves my gratitude just for giving birth to such an excellent successor for the Hunts!”

Her words were filled with heartfelt sincerity.

Pete was simply too outstanding. Even his IQ showed signs of surpassing Justin’s!

Melissa glanced at Cherry when she heard what Mrs. Hunt said, and she couldn’t help but laugh. She suddenly felt like it didn’t seem that bad for Nora to marry into the Hunts, either?

Her smile baffled Mrs. Hunt.. “What are you laughing at, Mrs. Anderson?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 253 - Isiting God-Sis

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Melissa lowered her gaze and hurriedly reined in her smile. “I was just amused, that’s all. These are the Hunts’ private affairs. I shouldn’t be asking about it.”

“Our private affairs?” Mrs. Hunt frowned. “It’s not really just our private affairs anymore, is it? Aren’t Ms. Smith and Justin in a relationship right now?”

Melissa feigned surprise. “Are the two youngsters dating? I really wouldn’t know about that.”

She didn’t know what Nora’s plans were, so there was no way she would agree to any sort of request.

Mrs. Hunt: ??

What was the matter with her?

Melissa wasn’t that wary and cautious anymore all of a sudden!

Was it really like what Justin said? Nora Smith wasn’t interested in him?

That... wasn’t quite possible, was it? Which girl could possibly resist the temptation that was Justin Hunt?

However, since Melissa had already put it that way, she couldn’t go on about the topic anymore. She changed the subject tactfully and invited Melissa to stay for dinner.

However, Melissa declined the invitation and hurried back to the Andersons before dinner.

As soon as she entered the compound, she saw the usually asleep Nora looking at her. Her brows were drawn together as she asked, “I heard from Pete that you went to the Hunts’?”

Pete...

So, the child in their house was indeed the Hunts’ little mister!

The news astounded Melissa so badly that her legs turned into jelly the moment she got out of the car. She held Nora’s arm for support, grabbed her hand, and asked, “Nora, Cherry and Pete are...?”

“They are twins,” replied Nora simply.

Melissa swallowed. Even though she had already guessed it, she nevertheless couldn’t help but ask hesitantly, “And Justin is their...?”

“He’s their father.”

Nora sounded very sure.

In the past, she was sure because Justin must have already done a DNA test for himself and Pete. As for now, it was because Lily had already compared Justin’s DNA with the twins’, and Justin was indeed their father.

She still remembered what Lily had said then:

“Oh, by the way, I also checked the father’s IQ genes while I was doing the DNA test, and it’s astonishingly high. It’s at the highest end of the range of values for normal people though, so it’s still a teensy-weensy, itty-bitty bit inferior to your crazy IQ.”

Since she had emphasized how minimal the difference was, it meant that there really wasn’t much of one.

However, Nora had been more concerned about the children at the time.

“What about the children?”

“... The children’s IQs are also out of this world. Pete has the same IQ genes as you—in fact, they’re even a bit better. As for Cherry, hers is even crazier. Her IQ is the average of yours and her father’s, so it’s even higher.”

Nora: “...”

Her IQ was obviously a ‘teensy-weensy, itty-bitty bit’ higher than Justin’s. Pete was a boy, so he had fully inherited his IQ genes from her. It was normal for it to be slightly higher than hers.

However, Cherry’s was the average of hers and Justin’s, so how was it higher than Pete’s?

Nora’s lip corners spasmed. “You must be mistaken.”

An exceptionally serious Lily replied, “Please do not question my professional abilities, Anti. I personally carried out all the tests involving your DNA.”

Nora: “...”

Before she hung up, she made it a point to remind her, “Please delete all the data.”

“No problem.”

...

Melissa stared at the girl in front of her in shock.

The unattainable Justin was every girl’s dream in New York.

When her daughter Sheril met him at a party when she was young, even she had come back saying, “He’s the most handsome boy I’ve ever seen! And he also has an air of elegance around him!”

At that time, Melissa had immediately warned her, “Even so, you mustn’t develop feelings for him. People like him can’t be tamed.”

Sheril had immediately understood then that some people were simply favored by God from the start.

Yet, their Nora had conquered that unattainable man?

An astonished Melissa asked, “Are two of you really going to get married?”

Although Mrs. Hunt looked down on the Andersons—in fact, she even had something against them because Yvette had broken her son’s heart in the past—after her chat with her earlier, Melissa was now sure of something: Once Mrs. Hunt realized that Nora was Pete’s biological mother and that she could even bring an additional Cherry to the Hunts, Mrs. Hunt would probably treat Nora as the Hunts’ most honored guest!

Nora yawned and replied, “No, we’re not.”

Then, she added seriously, “I’ve never entertained that thought before.”

Melissa nodded. The next moment, she saw Nora pick up her cell phone and make a call. The other party answered very quickly.

“Hello, Ms. Smith. Are you calling me this late because you miss me?”

Nora said, “... Keep your family members in check.”

Justin: “?”

Nora was cold and distant as she said, “Don’t harass the Andersons.”

Justin understood at once. “Was it Grandma?”

“Yeah.” Nora said unhurriedly, “She told my aunt to go over and discuss marriage plans.”

“...”

“Mr. Hunt,” Nora said, “Didn’t we already reach an agreement about not believing in getting married?”

Melissa: “!!!”

Was that how Nora usually talked to Mr. Hunt?

Why did her voice sound like it was brimming with disdain?!

Mr. Hunt would definitely become angry, right?

While her imagination was running wild, the voice on the other end of the call said, “It’s my fault.”

Melissa: “?????”

Was that the same Mr. Hunt who was always so aloof and overlooked others from high up in the air?!

Why did he sound a little like he was trying to please Nora?

Nora, who also didn’t expect him to admit his mistake, raised her eyebrows a little.

For the first time, she developed the illusion that she was being too much of a bully.

While she was thinking about it, Justin, who sounded even more aggrieved now, said, “I will keep my family members properly in check. Grandma was just hoping that I would have my own family soon. I know you’re a non-believer of marriage though, so I won’t force you into anything.”

“...”

Nora kept quiet for a long while. At last, she finally coughed and said, “Actually, you can be with other women...”

“Ms. Smith,” Justin interrupted her solemnly and said, “You were the one who fell in love with me first, so you mustn’t push me away now.”

Nora: “...”

“In order to get close to me, you used all sorts of ways and means to get close to my son. You’re the only one that he acknowledges as his Mommy now, so you can’t just wash all this off your hands and leave. If you do that, not only would you be letting me down, but you’ll also be letting Pete down.”

“...”

“Don’t worry. I won’t force you if you’re unwilling to marry me. After all, I can’t let you down when you’re so in love with me. Even if Grandma is really old now and wants to see me get married... it doesn’t matter. Everything is fine as long as you are happy.”

“...”

Nora wanted very much to say that he really didn’t need to do that, yet she felt that if she were to say that without explaining everything clearly, she would end up sounding like a scumbag.

The corners of her lips spasmed a little. In the end, she could only humbly and guiltily hang up, feeling as if she had bullied someone.

As soon as she hung up, she received another call. When she picked up, Iris’ voice rang out. “Ms. Smith, are you free now?”

“Yes, I am. What’s the matter?” asked Nora.

Iris said, “I have a pot of flowers here that’s dying. Can you come over and take a look at it?”

Nora thought for a moment and replied, “Okay.”

At the same time, Justin also received a call from Mrs. Landis. “Mr.. Justin, please come over with Pete if you’re free.”

Chapter 254 - The Family Of Four Meets!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora was about to hang up when Iris suggested, “Why don’t you bring your son along with you?”

Nora thought for a moment. Then, she nodded and said, “Okay.”

She went upstairs, brought Pete down, and got in the car with him. She said, “I’ll take you to meet a friend of mine.”

Pete was very excited. “Okay!”

Even though he had known Mommy for a very long time by now, he only knew a few of her friends. Pete wanted to know what his Mommy was usually up to, since she was such an enigma.

Even though Mommy was always sleeping, she was so rich!

There was no way anyone could make that much money just by being a genius doctor!

He got into the car excitedly and sat in the backseat.

When Nora was walking to the driver’s seat, she looked at Melissa, who was still in a daze, and slowly said, “Please keep this... a secret for now, Aunt Melissa.”

“... Okay,” said Melissa.

After Nora left, Melissa finally entered the living room. Mrs. Anderson, who had been waiting all afternoon, stepped forward nervously at once. She held her hand and asked, “How was it, Melissa? Did Mrs. Hunt say anything?”

Melissa was in a daze. “No, she didn’t.”

Mrs. Anderson breathed a sigh of relief. “That’s good. Sigh, I’m just afraid that she’ll bring up some kind of request or condition. If they want to treat Pete’s biological mother as family, then will Justin take Nora’s or the other woman’s side?”

Melissa: “...”

She looked at Mrs. Anderson hesitantly before she finally said, “Actually, it’s all the same.”

Mrs. Anderson glanced at her. “You don’t get it, do you? It’s not the same. If that happens, Pete’s biological mother will definitely cause Nora trouble. Also, what if Pete resents Nora even after she raises him into an adult? These things all have to be made clear in advance. Sigh, it’s just so troublesome when other people’s children are involved.”

“...”

—

In a villa on the outskirts of New York.

Mrs. Landis and Iris were happily preparing dinner.

Iris was in a very good mood. The woman, who looked as lithe as a teenager, hummed a little tune as she went back and forth the dining table and the kitchen joyfully.

Seeing her in such a good mood, Mrs. Landis laughed and said, “Ma’am, your mind must be at ease now, right? You’ve already asked around and found out that Mr. Hunt’s girlfriend is from the Andersons. The other Ms. Smith only has a daughter while your god-sister has a son instead! As it turns out, the two of them just share the same name! You don’t have to worry anymore!”

Iris nodded. “Yes, it’s fine as long as they aren’t one and the same. I was so scared that I had accidentally elevated Justin’s girlfriend’s position to one that was more senior than his, which would have made it awkward for the two of them!”

Mrs. Landis laughed again. “The fish and chips are fried especially nicely tonight, so they’ll definitely taste awesome. The children are gonna love it.”

“Yeah.”

Iris smiled and said, “I wonder how old Ms. Smith’s son is, and how far apart his age is from Pete’s. I don’t know if the two of them can get along or not.”

Mrs. Landis teased her and said, “You worry too much!”

Only then did Iris suddenly realize that she was indeed worrying too much.

For so many years, many people had tried to please her. There were even some that tried to pander to her interests and spoke knowledgeably to her about orchids.

All of them were trying to ingratiate themselves with Justin.

In order to reduce unnecessary troubles for Justin, she had rejected them all. Therefore, all the rumors outside claimed that she was difficult to deal with, and had a strange temperament.

Come to think of it, Nora was actually the only friend she had made all these years. Therefore, she hadn’t stopped Mrs. Landis when she also told Justin to come over after Nora was invited over for dinner.

This was just her selfish desire, but she wanted her son to help Nora out a little if he could.

After all, it wasn’t easy for a woman to bring up a child on her own. It reminded her of herself when she was taking care of Justin back then.

Perhaps because she had suppressed her feelings for too long, it led to her wanting to give the other party all the good things she could after she made a friend.

Moreover, what Nora said the day before had made Iris suddenly realize that she indeed didn't understand Justin.

She was Justin's mother. In situations that wouldn't cause him any trouble, helping her friend out was something he should do, right?

... Even though Iris didn't know what kind of help Nora could possibly need from her.

While driving to the villa in the suburbs, Nora received another call from Justin.

After she uttered a 'hello', Justin asked, "Are you free tonight? I'll take you somewhere for a meal?"

Nora, who was looking ahead of her, replied, "I'm not free."

Justin, who seemed to have heard some kind of sound, immediately asked, "You have an appointment? Who are you meeting that has actually made you abandon me? That's not something that someone in love with me should be doing."

He was afraid that she was going on a date with Caleb.

Nora's lip corners spasmed a little. She couldn't be bothered to explain that she was visiting her newly-gained god-sister, lest the guy says something like 'Which is more important—meeting me or your god-sister?'.

Thus, she simply said, "I'm sleepy. I'm going home to sleep."

"... Alright then," said Justin.

In a rare moment, Nora asked, "What about you?"

Justin let out a low chuckle and replied, "I'll sleep with you."

Nora: “?”

Her voice turned cold. “Talk properly!”

Justin said, “We’ll sleep together after you go back to your house and I go back to mine. Is there something wrong with this sentence? Or did you get the wrong idea?”

Nora: “!!!!”

The corners of her lips spasmed, and she said, “I’m hanging up!”

On the other end of the call, Justin couldn’t help laughing after Nora hung up so fiercely.

He was in the car at the moment. The chauffeur was driving to the suburbs.

Cherry, who was sitting beside him, asked, “Are you planning to take Mommy to Grandma’s for dinner, Daddy?”

Justin nodded. “Yes. Your Grandma has some misunderstandings about her. I think she would be able to understand what she’s like after we sit down and have a meal together, but unfortunately...”

“Mommy definitely won’t go!” Cherry said, “She wants to sleep!”

Justin: “...”

Half an hour later.

Nora arrived at the suburbs.

It was already dark, so Pete didn’t notice where they were when they entered the residential area. Besides, he rarely came over in the first place. In the day, he could still tell that this was where his grandmother lived, but because it was too dark now, he didn’t manage to make out the surroundings until the car reached the villa entrance.

It was only after Nora took him out of the car and they entered the villa that Pete finally realized something. Unfortunately, it was too late!

“Ms. Smith!” Iris welcomed her into the house excitedly. “Let’s have dinner together tonight!”

Nora nodded. Then, she pushed Pete—who was hiding behind her and trying to say something all this time but didn’t have any chance to—to Iris. She said, “This is my son, Pete.”

Then, she said to Pete, “Say hi to your god-aunt, Pete.”

Mrs. Landis, who had sent the two into the living room, hurried out the door when she heard another car at the door. When she saw Justin walking over with Cherry, she smiled and said, “You’re here, Mr. Hunt!”

Justin noticed a car in the corner. As the place was dim, he didn’t make out what kind of car it was. He asked casually, “You have guests over?”

“Yep!” Mrs. Landis explained, “It’s Ma’am’s new god-sister! It’s just nice that you’re here, so you can also meet her!”

Chapter 255 - Mr. Hunt, This Is Your God-Aunt

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

God-sister?

Justin's brows drew together.

Iris had been leading a reclusive life all these years. She treated outsiders harshly and was like a robot without emotions.

He could even clearly remember that one time he came over when he was a child and saw that her family, the Evanses, had come over. However, he also saw, with his own eyes, Iris driving them out of the villa.

Mrs. Landis had stood in front of the door to stop them from entering at that time. His aunt from the Evanses had knelt in front of the door with her child and cried out in tears that they mustn't delay medical treatment for his uncle anymore. He needed immediate treatment, otherwise he would die.

But Iris hadn't spared them even a glance.

He had bodyguards protecting him when he walked in, so his aunt couldn't get near him. She stayed where she was and sobbed as she cursed, "You're no different from a cold-blooded monster, Iris Hunt! You're a venomous snake! It's all because of you that the Evanses are in this state today! Yet, you're actually sitting on the sidelines and doing nothing! He's your elder brother! How can you be so cruel?"

His footsteps had paused at that time.

However, he hadn't taken the liberty to give her any money, say anything, or comfort her—because he had already understood by then that sometimes, what one saw was not necessarily the truth.

He didn't understand the relationship between his mother and her family at all, so how could he ask anything of his mother?

Regardless, the sight of his aunt berating Iris and calling her a venomous snake with a savage look on her face had remained in his memory.

All these years, every time he came over and saw how Iris was always so cold toward everyone, and heard from the bodyguards how all she did every day was take care of her flowers, and how she didn't seem to have any social interaction with anyone, he had even thought that she didn't have any friends at all.

Yet, she was actually introducing her god-sister to him now!

He understood the implicit meaning behind introducing her god-sister to him—it was nothing more than her wanting the Hunts to help her god-sister out and take care of her. Over the years, on account of various people, he had already helped out a lot of people with their businesses.

Adding one more person to the count didn't matter.

However, he felt rather unhappy.

His mother had never worried about him or comforted him before. She had abandoned him at the Hunts' icy-cold manor when he was only five and left him to his own devices ever since.

Yet, she was actually showing so much concern for an outsider now?

He was really curious. Just what kind of woman had managed to capture his mother's heart?

Justin's expression turned cold, and he entered the house.

—

In the living room.

Iris was staring at Pete at the moment, her beautiful eyes widened in disbelief.

Pete had also raised his little head and was looking at his grandmother.

Although the two rarely saw each other, Justin did occasionally bring him over for quick visits, so one could say that they were the most familiar strangers.

For a while, neither of them spoke.

Nora looked at Iris, and then back at Pete. Finding their silence rather strange, she frowned and prompted Pete. "Pete?"

Although Pete was mildly autistic, he had shown good manners ever since he started to live with her, and would always greet his relatives whenever he met them. This was especially so with the Andersons. He always greeted Melissa very sweetly whenever he saw her.

So, why was he suddenly not greeting his elders anymore the moment he came here?

While she was hesitating, Iris asked in a trembling voice, "M-Ms. Smith, is... is he your son?"

Nora nodded. "Yeah."

But when she looked at Iris again, she found that the woman suddenly had an extremely complex look on her face. She stared at Nora for a while.

In the midst of Nora's confusion, Pete's small and weak voice entered her ears.

"Hello, Grandma."

Nora: "??"

Her head whipped to the side abruptly to see Pete with a resigned look on his face as if he didn't have anything to live for anymore. He said,

“Mommy, she... she’s my grandmother.”

Seemingly because he saw that Nora didn’t seem like she understood what he was saying, he added, “You know, my father’s mommy.”

Nora: “...”

Iris: “...”

Pete held his forehead. He knew that the two of them were utterly shocked at the moment, so he said to Iris, “Grandma, can you keep this a secret from Daddy for now?”

Practically right after he spoke, someone suddenly opened the living room door. Mrs. Landis’ voice traveled over.

“Come on in, Mr. Hunt!”

When Mrs. Landis was bringing Nora and Pete into the house, as she had been preoccupied leading the way, she hadn’t managed to see Pete’s face clearly. Right after that, she had gone out in a hurry again. Thus, she looked at Cherry, pointed at Pete from the back, and said, “Your god-grandaunt has brought her little boy here. You guys can play with each other later!”

As soon as she said that, Iris stood up straight and looked at the door.

Nora and Pete also turned around instinctively. For a time, the family of four stood facing one another.

“...”

“...”

The whole room was suddenly filled with weird silence.

After a full twenty seconds of silence, Mrs. Landis finally rubbed her eyes. She looked at Nora, and then at Justin before finally looking at Pete and Cherry. Then, she looked at Iris in confusion. “Have I become that old, Ma'am? Are my eyes playing tricks on me? Why does Ms. Smith's son look exactly the same as the little mister?!"

Her words made Iris's lip corners spasm.

She suddenly realized that she had really done something wrong. She coughed and said, "M-Mrs. Landis, w-why don't you introduce them to each other? I... I suddenly have a headache, so I'll go upstairs and rest for a bit."

After speaking, she walked to the stairs with her left arm moving forward with her left leg, and vice versa. She seemingly went upstairs, but after turning the corner, she immediately stopped and secretly popped her head out from behind the wall to look at the others' reactions.

But when she did, she instead found that all five people downstairs were looking straight at her, frightening Iris so badly that she immediately retracted her head, coughed, and went upstairs.

When Mrs. Landis saw her fleeing, something suddenly clicked in her head, and she immediately cursed at Iris inwardly. How could she leave her all alone downstairs in a situation like this?!

She could already feel the awkward and frosty atmosphere in the living room without even looking at Justin. She swallowed hard and stammered, "Um, M-Mr. Justin, this... this is Ma'am's new god-sister."

As soon as she said that, she felt Justin looking at her.

In a brainless move, she added, "In other words, she's your g-g-god-aunt..."

"..."

The low air pressure in the air seemingly became even lower.

Only then did Mrs. Landis realize that she had really rubbed Justin's nose in it. How could she possibly not understand by now? Ms. Smith was none other than Justin's said girlfriend that Tina had mentioned!

But what had she and Ma'am done instead? They had elevated his girlfriend's position to one that was senior to his own!

Justin was probably secretly cursing his mother right now!

While she was thinking about it, she suddenly had a brainwave. She said, "Oh dear, Ma'am always eats some cake at this time every day. I'll bring some up for her..."

After saying that, she ran straight upstairs without even taking any cake with her.

For a time, only the family of four remained in the living room.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 256 - A Reasonable Explanation!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Ten seconds later, dead silence filled the room.

“...”

A minute later, the silence in the room became even scarier.

“...”

Even after two minutes went by, none of them had any intention of speaking.

“...”

Nora, who had always been short of sleep, found time especially hard to pass at the moment. How she wished she could just close her eyes and fall asleep, so that by the time she woke up, the day would be bright and sunny once more.

But that was obviously not the most appropriate thing to do at the moment.

She had never been afraid of anything, and she had always been a direct and straightforward person. Even so, she kinda understood in this instant what it meant to want to dig a hole and bury oneself in it.

Her gaze drifted about erratically. She looked at the ceiling with her arms hanging by her side and nudged Pete with her hand to get him to break the silence.

Pete: “...”

By then, Pete and Cherry had already communicated a great deal with each other with their eyes.

Pete looked at Cherry: ‘What do we do now?’

Cherry’s big eyes blinked: ‘I don’t know, either!’

Pete held his hands up helplessly: ‘The tyrant looks so calm, but the calmer he is on the outside, the angrier he is on the inside!’

Cherry also glanced at Nora: ‘Mommy also has a really grave look on her face. The more grave she looks, the scarier the decision she’ll make!’

Pete was terrified: ‘Surely Mommy isn’t thinking of knocking out the tyrant and taking the two of us away, right?’

Cherry: ‘... It’s not impossible.’

Pete: ‘...’

While the two children were communicating with their eyes, Nora nudged Pete. She curled her fingers a little, motioning for him to speak.

Thus, Pete said, “Mommy, Daddy always brings 12 bodyguards and even 24 hidden bodyguards whenever he goes out. You won’t be able to fight your way out.”

As soon as he said that, the room became even quieter.

“...”

It was as if everyone’s breathing was audible.

Justin: “...”

To be honest, he was also in a huge panic at the moment!

Before this, Nora hadn’t known that he was already aware of everything. In order to make the woman stay, he had deliberately kept one of the two children with him. This way, she would always stay by his side.

But now!

If they were to address the elephant in the room, he wouldn't be able to continue being 'narcissistic'!

The woman would explain everything, and then...

What must he do to make the woman and the children stay?

The man, who had always been full of ideas when it came to the world of commerce, was also in a panic. Thus, all he could do was stand there with a pensive look on his face.

Unfortunately, his expression instead gave Nora the impression that he was a very terrifying man.

Well, that made sense. Justin would definitely be furious once he knew that one of his children had been taken away from him. It was already very impressive that he could suppress his anger and keep himself from venting it. Moreover, he hadn't said anything really awful, either.

When Nora, who had just thought of that, heard what Pete said, the corners of her lips couldn't help but spasm.

Cough.

She would never ever admit that she had indeed been itching just a moment ago to knock the man out and then flee the country with the two children.

In fact, an escape route had already formed in her mind that very moment. After going out, she mustn't drive straight to the airport because Justin was definitely powerful enough to seal the airport and trains.

Therefore, she would drive to the suburbs instead, find an empty helipad, and get Lily to pilot a private jet and come over to pick them up as soon as possible!

However, it would take Lily seven to eight hours to fly over. After all, they were too far away from Switzerland, where Lily was... Should it really be beyond Lily's means, she would get Solo to pick them up instead. After all, he was closer to where they were.

If not, then her only option would be to approach her aunt overseas for help instead...

But when she heard about the 36 bodyguards, Nora fell silent and dismissed the idea.

She had fought Justin's bodyguards before; it was easy for her to beat one or two, but 36... Say, just how fearful of dying was that man? Did he have to bring so many people with him whenever he went out?

While Nora was daydreaming, Justin finally spoke. "Shouldn't you give me a reasonable explanation for this, Ms. Smith?"

Phew...

The weird atmosphere was finally broken. Nora breathed a sigh of relief at last. After thinking for a while about how to word the situation, she started to explain the issues with the children. She said, "... Since you've already seen everything, then I won't keep it from you anymore. The reason why I have been trying to get close to you and Pete is actually..."

But before she could finish, Justin cut her off and said, "That's not the explanation I'm asking for. Rather, back then, why did you get pregnant with my children behind my back?"

All the words that Nora had prepared became stuck in her throat, choking her. She was about to speak when Justin said sharply, "You'd best give me a reasonable explanation, why did you plot against me and then run away that night?! You even bore two of my children!"

Nora: "???"

Her mind was full of question marks!

Which night was he talking about?

No, wait...

Nora narrowed her eyes. “Didn’t you say that you don’t know how I became pregnant?”

Justin lowered his gaze. “I didn’t know it was you at that time, so of course I would say that. After all, surely I couldn’t tell outsiders that a woman had plotted against me and taken advantage of me, right?”

Nora: “?????”

She pointed at herself incredulously. “I... plotted against you?”

Justin, who was pulling a long face, replied, “Yes. Given how you were fat and ugly at that time, it can’t possibly be because I fell in love with you and plotted against you, right?”

Nora: “???????”

Was she suffering from memory loss? Or had she really been sleepwalking that time?! But she really didn’t remember him appearing in her dream! After all, given that face of his, it would have been deeply etched in her memory if she had indeed dreamed of him!

She was about to refute him when Justin spoke again. “Tell me, woman, what exactly are you plotting by scheming against me and even bearing me two children?”

Nora: “...”

She was speechless.

She didn’t know what to say!

Seemingly because she wasn’t saying anything, Justin’s voice turned even colder. “If you’re not going to explain yourself... These two children are part of the Hunts. There’s no way I will allow the Hunts’ children to wander about outside, let alone allow a woman with ulterior motives to go near my children! So, without a good reason, you can forget about ever seeing my children again!”

He placed his hands on top of Pete’s and Cherry’s heads and took a step back with the two.

Nora: “?”

Her eyes darkened.

How dare that man threaten her! Hah!

Just as she was about to attack...

Cherry and Pete, whom Justin was holding on to, panicked when they heard their father.

They wouldn’t be able to see Mommy ever again?

No, they couldn’t have that!

Cherry immediately shouted, “Daddy, Mommy doesn’t have any ill intentions! She doesn’t have any ulterior motives, either!”

Even though Justin, who was in the midst of a confrontation with Nora, had adopted an icy-cold demeanor on the surface, he was actually secretly terribly anxious.

Why hadn’t that silly girl taken the bait yet?

Well, it was true that she wasn’t afraid of a head-on confrontation, after all.

However, his precious little baby finally spoke up at this point. Justin breathed a sigh of relief inwardly, though the look on his face remained cold. “What is she planning, if not something malevolent?”

“It’s... it’s... it’s... ” Cherry looked at Nora, and then at Justin. At last, she turned to Pete for help and asked, “It’s... What was it again, Pete?”

Pete: “?”

Seeing the tyrant also looking over, Pete stammered, “It’s... It’s...”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 257 - How Did She Become Pregnant Back Then?

Pete was in a huge panic. It was simply too difficult to find a reasonable answer!

Just as all three other people in the room were staring at him, and while Cherry was frantically giving him looks, Pete suddenly thought of the bossy CEO-type romance novels that he'd chanced upon in the past. Thus, his next few words came easily to him:

“It’s because she ‘couldn’t help it’, and because she ‘couldn’t control her feelings’...”

His words were rather hesitant in the beginning, but the more he spoke, the brighter his eyes shone, and the more certain he sounded. He said, “It’s because Mommy likes you! Yes, it’s exactly because of that!”

Nora: “???????”

She was about to refute him when Cherry rushed over and grabbed her hand. She looked at Justin and said, “Daddy, it’s because Mommy likes you so much that she had to do something like that. You won’t stop us from seeing Mommy in the future, right?”

Nora: “...”

Although they had made her the scapegoat, she did indeed want to know Justin’s opinion on the matter.

If that scumbag took a step back as a result, it wasn’t like she couldn’t just roll with it, either...

While she was thinking about it, the cold aura around Justin gradually subsided. He looked at her amicably and asked, “Is what they say, true?”

Nora: "..."

She felt that since they had already addressed the matter, she might as well say it all.

But before she could say anything, Cherry nodded repeatedly and said, "It's true, it's true! Mommy really likes you, Daddy! Mommy kept singing your praises before we met you! She even said that you look so cool, handsome, and tender! You're the world's number one hunk!"

Nora: "!!"

When had she ever said anything like that?

"Cough." Cherry's words seemed to have given Justin quite the shock, too. He let out a low cough, looked at Nora, and said, "That's a little too explicit of you."

Nora: "..."

Never mind.

She would just bear with it.

She had only just quietly suppressed her annoyance when Justin asked, "But since you like me so much, why don't you believe in marriage?"

Nora: "?"

Was there no end to that man's questions?

Her brows drew together, and a sharp look flashed across her eyes. She sneered, "There's no correlation between liking someone and getting married, is there, Mr. Hunt? Who says non-believers of marriage can't date?"

Upon hearing her sarcasm and the sound of her gnashing her teeth, Justin knew at once that they had to end it here for today. Otherwise, once he angered her for real, the chances of them getting together would become even lower.

This was the very first time in all these years that he had fallen for a woman. He mustn't let her run away.

Justin feigned sudden realization and said, "I see."

Suddenly, Nora asked, "Since you claim that I had pestered you back then, where did I do said pestering, Mr. Hunt?"

Justin raised his eyebrows.

How would he know?!

He didn't even know how she became pregnant!

That night didn't even exist in his memory at all, alright?!

Regardless, even if he did know, he didn't know what the woman was thinking at that moment, so he had deliberately lied.

However, he absolutely mustn't give her the impression that there were loopholes in his words. Thus, he smiled and suddenly replied, "In California."

"Which hotel in California was it?"

Justin gave her a seemingly amused look. "Are you thinking of reliving the moment, Ms. Smith?"

Nora: "!!"

She took another deep breath and tried her best to tell herself, 'Remain calm, remain calm. Don't get angry.'

At last, she said, "Just asking."

Justin, however, stepped forward. “The past is in the past, we have to look to the future. You don’t have to keep reminiscing about that night five years ago, Ms. Smith. If you find it necessary, we can consummate right away.”

Consummate?

Pete and Cherry’s eyes lit up at the same time. But as soon as they wanted to speak, Nora said coldly, “No, it’s fine.”

She gritted her teeth and spat out word after word—“I don’t find that necessary, my! God! Nephew!”

Justin’s face instantly turned green.

Upstairs.

Iris and Mrs. Landis popped their heads out and tried their best to listen to the voices downstairs.

Unfortunately, their voices were too low, so they couldn’t hear what they were saying at all. Iris looked at Mrs. Landis. “Why does the situation downstairs feel kinda weird?”

“... It feels kinda weird to me, too. Surely there wasn’t some kind of dramatic love-hate relationship between Mr. Justin and Ms. Smith back then, right? Have they reconciled now? Ma’am, don’t you feel that what happened to Ms. Smith sounds like a tale of a pretty little wife running away with a babe in her belly?”

“Don’t spout nonsense! Their story is much more exciting than a novel!”

Mrs. Landis: “...”

The two listened to the voices downstairs again. Seeing that nothing seemed to be happening anymore, Mrs. Landis asked, “Should we go downstairs and get ready for dinner, Ma’am?”

Iris nodded. “Yeah. Let’s go down and take a look.”

However, as soon as they went downstairs, they saw Nora sitting on the sofa triumphantly with her arms folded. There was a small smile on her usually cool and distant countenance.

Justin, on the other hand, looked livid.

Clearly, Nora seemed to have won the confrontation just now.

Mrs. Landis coughed and called out, “Ms. Smith, Mr. Hunt, and the two little misters. Shall we have dinner?”

Nora got up. “Sure. I just so happen to have gotten hungry.”

After speaking, she looked at Iris and asked, “Let’s have dinner, Sis?”

Iris: “?”

Why did it suddenly feel like the temperature in the room dropped a few degrees when she said the word ‘Sis’?

She looked at Justin, who was pulling a long face, and the corners of her lips spasmed. She coughed and said, “Um, I didn’t know about your relationship with Justin previously. Considering the situation now, we...”

“These are two separate matters,” Nora replied casually but surely, “We’ll keep the terms of address separate in the future. Mr. Hunt won’t mind, right?”

Justin replied, “... No, I don’t.”

Iris: “...”

The group settled at the dining table.

Pete and Cherry sat next to each other. When they looked at the tyrant and Mommy sitting at the same dining table, they suddenly felt much more blissful than usual!

Unfortunately, the adults didn’t feel that sense of bliss at all.

After they finally finished dinner and the group left, Justin asked coldly, “So, Pete goes with you? And the daughter comes with me?”

Nora breathed a sigh of relief at his words.

At least that guy didn’t ask for both children.

Otherwise, she would really explode.

What kind of horrible evening was this? She felt so frustrated!

She had never felt this frustrated in her entire life!

She nodded. “That works.”

She took Pete’s hand after she spoke. When she was about to leave, she paused and looked back at Iris. “Don’t tell anyone else about this for now, Sis.”

Justin paused. He was also about to tell Iris that, but unexpectedly, Nora had done it a step ahead of him.

Thus, he decided not to say anything.

It wasn’t convenient for so many people to protect Pete while he was with Nora. Therefore, the children’s identities indeed had to be kept secret.

Iris nodded.

While on the way home with Pete, Nora suddenly received a text message on her cell phone.

She glanced at it when she reached a red light, but the moment she did, she suddenly froze.

The text message read: ‘Do you wanna know how exactly you became pregnant back then?’

Chapter 258 - The Secret!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora saw these words, her eyes narrowed.

It was an anonymous message.

She picked it up casually. Before the traffic light turned green, her fingers moved nimbly to trace the sender's number. However, she realized that the phone number had not been registered with an identity card.

She hacked into his phone again, trying to find his location.

In the blink of an eye, she had locked onto him!

Position: New York!

The exact location was near her car!

When she saw that the red dot was less than a few meters away from her green position, the other party seemed to have sensed her tracking. The red dot flickered a few times and disappeared.

Nora clenched her fists tightly and suddenly looked around.

Although it was already 9 PM, there were still many cars on the road in New York. Because of the traffic lights, most of the cars behind were already blocked.

In other words, that person's car was also blocked inside.

She unbuckled her seatbelt and instructed Pete, "Stay in the car."

Hearing her grave tone, Pete nodded in understanding. "Okay."

He was not afraid because, on the way home, he knew that Justin had assigned a few bodyguards to secretly protect him.

After Nora got out of the car, the car made a clicking sound and was locked up to prevent the bad guys from taking Pete away.

Nora then ran in the direction she remembered.

From the map, she could tell that the other party was less than 200 meters away from her.

The car was not more than 200 meters away from her...

She used her eyes to estimate and agilely weaved through the cars.

100 meters... 150 meters...

The traffic light was relatively long. It took about 90 seconds to go green, and it took her 80 seconds to locate the other party and get there. There were still 10 seconds!

If she could not find that person, she might miss this opportunity.

Although Justin had said that she had killed the other party back then, she had no memory of it at all.

Therefore, even if Justin remembered that night, the two of them had still been schemed against.

The person who had schemed against them and made her give birth to two children was a mystery. As for how she got pregnant, it was even more of a mystery.

And the mystery was only 50 meters away.

Nora took a few steps forward suddenly. The cars beside her were already honking impatiently. There were too many cars in New York, and the roads were filled with cars.

200 meters!

About seven to eight cars were parked 200 meters away from her!

She walked over quickly and knocked on the window of the first car.

The car window rolled down and the driver looked at her impatiently. “What are you doing? Do you want to die?”

That person’s expression was very real. It was obvious that he was a passerby.

It wasn’t him.

Nora walked around him and continued to walk back.

But at this point!

Beep!

A car suddenly honked. Nora was stunned. She turned around and saw a black Land Rover parked two cars away from this car.

The car window rolled down, revealing a familiar face. “Miss Smith, what are you doing?”

This person was... Morris, Captain Ford!

While she was in a daze, the traffic light in front changed. The cars started to move, but because Nora’s car was parked in front, this line of cars could not move.

Seeing the two cars driving away slowly, Nora was no longer anxious. Instead, she narrowed her eyes and looked at Morris. “Captain Ford, what a coincidence. Why are you here?”

Morris looked ahead, his cold face sharp and clear. “Miss Smith, I should be the one asking you this, right? If you stop the car, it will seriously affect the traffic rules. It will be a violation of the rules and you will be fined. Of course, if you still don't leave, I'm afraid it will be so serious that your driver's license will be revoked."

Nora was unmoved. "This is the traffic police's jurisdiction, right? Captain Ford even cares about this?"

Morris was expressionless, but he took out a document from the car and handed it to her. "Special Case Departments, I have the right to ask about all illegal matters."

Beep!

Beep!

"F*ck? What's going on in front? Why aren't you driving?"

"Is it an accident? Or did the car break down?"

"..."

The other drivers started honking wildly. Some got out of the car and looked forward.

Nora knew that she could not delay anymore, so she nodded at Morris. "I'll leave now."

She looked around again but did not see any familiar cars. Then, she walked forward and followed the cars to the front.

A driver in the back had already gotten out of the car and was pointing at her nose and shouting, "What are you doing? Do you have any courtesy? Don't you know you're delaying us by stopping here?"

However, when he raised her head, he could clearly see that it was a young lady's face. This lady was also as beautiful as a fairy. Furthermore, although Nora did not smile, her apology was still considered sincere. "I'm sorry. I'll leave now."

She was simply using her beauty to commit murder.

The driver's cursing voice became softer and warmer. "It's fine, it's fine. It was just a minute. Let's go!"

Nora got into the car and started it. The cars parked behind her then returned to normal traffic.

On the way home, she looked ahead with a serious expression.

Who was the person who had followed her and controlled her pregnancy back then?

Why was Morris around her again? Was he the one who had sent her the message?

Once or twice could be a coincidence, but so many times? What was his motive?

Also, special department... What was that? Why had she never heard of such a department?!

—

At the Hunts'.

Mrs. Hunt frowned. After thinking about it for an entire day, she finally decided to make a move. "Although they don't admit it now, once they do, it'll be too late for them to acknowledge it! I can't control them in this matter, but someone can."

Mdm. Lea was stunned. "Who?"

Mrs. Hunt took out her phone and made a call that she had not made in a long time. The moment the call was picked up, she lowered her eyes and slowly said, "Iris, this is Mom. I'm calling you for the sake of Justin and Pete..."

Iris's attitude was very cold, but she didn't hang up. Instead, she asked, "What? What do you want me to do this time?"

When Mrs. Hunt heard the words “this time,” she instantly felt guilty, but she still hardened her heart and said, “Justin likes a woman from a small family. She definitely can’t be Pete’s stepmother! You’re probably the only person in the world who can stop him! You...”

Before she could finish, Iris sneered and asked, “Stepmother?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 259 - Birthday Party

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Mrs. Hunt paused and immediately said, “Yes, she will marry Justin to be Pete’s stepmother. Iris, you know stepmothers can’t possibly be good. Back then...”

Iris interrupted her again. “Not every stepmother in this world is like that mistress!”

Mrs. Hunt: ??

She was stunned by Iris’ words. After thinking for a while, she tried to ask, “But what if she gives birth to a child for Justin again?”

“Mom, I think you’re mistaken.” Iris’ voice was cold.

Mrs. Hunt was stunned.

Iris said slowly, “Being a mother and being a wife is different. A mother wants her son to be better. Justin is getting married, and it’ll be good for him to have a woman to please him and take care of him in the future. Isn’t that what you told me back then?”

Mrs. Hunt clenched her jaw. “Iris, are you still blaming me?”

“No.” Iris’ answer was very simple. “I don’t blame anyone. If I have to say it, I only blame my bad luck.”

As soon as she said this, she hung up.

Mrs. Hunt looked at her phone in a daze. After a while, she sighed deeply and looked at Mdm. Lea. “She still hates me.”

Mdm. Lea looked at Mrs. Hunt and wanted to say something, but she hesitated. In the end, she said something fair. “It has been quite difficult for her all these years.”

She had stayed at the Hunts for her son.

However, she could not love her son affectionately. This was much more bitter than what Justin’s father had suffered.

Mrs. Hunt sighed as Cherry’s voice came from the door. “Great-Grandmother, I’m here~”

Mrs. Hunt immediately looked at the door in joy and saw Justin striding in with a smile. His appearance stunned her. She smiled and asked, “Why are you so happy today?”

Justin’s expression froze as he asked, “Am I?”

Mdm. Lea teased, “You can’t even suppress the corners of your mouth. Aren’t you happy? Mr. Hunt, did something good happen today? Tell us, so we can be happy too!”

When Justin heard this, he thought of how he had had dinner with Nora tonight and could not help but smile again.

Seeing that he was silent, Cherry raised her hand. “I’ll talk, I’ll talk! Daddy had dinner with Mommy tonight. That’s why Daddy is happy, right?”

Mrs. Hunt was stunned.

She turned to look at Justin again.

In her impression, this grandson had always been stern. Even after signing a huge contract and earning a few hundred million, he had never smiled like he did today.

It had been five years since he last smiled like this. At that time, he had just brought Pete back. After pulling him back from the brink of death, he had done a DNA test and realized that Pete was indeed his son.

He had hardly ever smiled like this before.

Mrs. Hunt lowered her eyes and touched Cherry's head. "Is that so? No wonder."

She suddenly looked at Justin and said, "Justin, it's my 80th birthday in a week. We can hold a party this year, right?"

Justin was stunned when he heard this.

Ever since his father left and his grandfather passed away, his grandmother had been eating vegetarian food and reading Buddhism. She had never liked the liveliness of birthday parties.

Every year on her birthday, the entire family would gather together for a meal. They had never organized a big banquet before.

Why did she suddenly...

However, he did not ask further and immediately agreed. "Okay. Let Mdm. Lea and Mr. Long handle the party. I'll prepare a guest list."

Mrs. Hunt smiled. "Alright, invite Miss Smith over as well."

Only then did Justin realize that Mrs. Hunt's birthday celebration was actually for Nora.

However, if Nora came over, they could at least publicize their relationship so that the outside world would not have to keep guessing.

He nodded. "Yes."

After chatting for a while more about the details of the birthday banquet, Justin left with Cherry. Mdm. Lea stood beside Mrs. Hunt. "Mrs. Hunt, are you... trying to use this method to persuade Miss Smith to leave?"

Mrs. Hunt's birthday banquet would definitely shock all the influential people in New York.

At that time, if the people from small families could not handle that scene, they would automatically retreat.

However, Mrs. Hunt did not seem to hear this. Her gaze was only fixed on Justin at the door. She suddenly said, “Mdm. Lea, how long has it been since we last saw Justin with such a relaxing smile?”

Mdm. Lea was stunned.

Mrs. Hunt sighed. “Actually, how good would it be if he could smile like this every day? Even I wavered a little just now. If that Miss Smith could make him happy by marrying her, shouldn’t I give in a little?”

Mdm. Lea understood her thoughts. She walked to her side and held her shoulder. “Mrs. Hunt, you’re not only Mr. Hunt’s grandmother, but you’re also the Matriarch of the Hunts.”

These words made Mrs. Hunt’s expression darken.

Yes.

She had devoted her entire life to the Hunts. Just like back then... when her grandson was only five years old, she would definitely have favored her son more.

However, for the sake of the Hunts, she still chased her son away and kept her grandson with her.

She was not only a mother, but she was also the Matriarch of the Hunts.

The trace of guilt that she had felt instantly disappeared.

She could not disregard the Hunts’ reputation just because Justin was happy for a moment.

The Matriarch of the Hunts could not be such a lowly woman like Nora!

She took a deep breath and suddenly looked at Mdm. Lea. “Remember to invite that lady from the Smiths over on my birthday.”

Mdm. Lea understood what she meant and nodded. “Yes.”

—

The next day at the Andersons’.

“What gift did you prepare?”

When Melissa woke up in the morning and received the invitation, she had a headache. She complained to Mrs. Anderson, “They’re holding a special banquet for Mrs. Hunt’s birthday this year. Moreover, our relationship is different now. We can’t afford not to bring out valuable gifts. But what kind of treasure have the Hunts not seen? What can we send that would bring out new meaning and show our magnanimity?”

Mrs. Anderson rubbed her temples as well. “I hate thinking about gifts the most, especially a gift for Mrs. Hunt. She has high standards. Sigh! But why don’t you ask Nora? She might have some good ideas.”

It was almost noon. When Nora went downstairs, she heard Melissa say worriedly, “Nora, you’re finally awake! Mrs. Hunt’s birthday is a week from now and she has invited our entire family. What do you think we should give her?”

Birthday?

Nora paused for a moment before smiling. “Don’t worry. I know what to give her.”

After all, she was Pete and Cherry’s grandmother. It was only right that she did her best.

Melissa was curious. “What are you planning to send?”

Chapter 260 - Alchemy!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora slowly said, “Isn’t the most common thing in our Harmonia Pharmacy, medicine?”

Melissa: “??”

Nora yawned. “Aunt, lend me a room in the pharmaceutical factory.”

Melissa immediately nodded. “No problem!”

After Nora had lunch, Melissa brought her to the Andersons’ pharmaceutical factory.

The Andersons’ pharmaceutical factory was in the suburbs of New York. It looked very big and neat inside. When they walked in, they could smell the fragrance of medicine.

Sheril was here all year round. When she heard that they were here, she immediately welcomed them. “Mom, Sister, the empty laboratory is ready.”

Melissa nodded. “Then I’ll go back first. You guys can prepare.”

She was a little worried.

The best medicine the Andersons had right now was the Carefree Pill. However, the pill had a price, and it was mass-produced. It was a big gift to give someone else 20 pills, but to Mrs. Hunt, it was only a few thousand dollars.

Was Nora’s medicine okay as a present?

She was a little worried.

There was only a week left. She had to find something good so that Nora's pill wouldn't be looked down on and she wouldn't have to take it out to save the situation.

Therefore, Melissa went out early and returned late every day. She went to various auction houses to look for various gifts.

In the laboratory.

Nora only did the preparation work and did it for half a day. It was only at night that she finished preparing all kinds of things.

Sheril, who had been helping from the side, asked curiously, "Sister, what medicine are you going to make?"

Nora thought for a moment and replied, "Calming Pill."

Mrs. Hunt's brain was filled with bruises and lumps. If she took the Calming Pill for a while, it would be very effective.

Sheril immediately let out a sigh of relief. "Calming Pill? Our Harmonia Pharmacy has many of them, and they're very cheap. Just take some... No, the Calming Pill formula doesn't have these ingredients?"

The Calming Pill didn't have so many herbs?

Just as she thought about this, she heard Nora say slowly, "Yes, it's Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill."

Sheril was stunned. "Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill?"

The legendary Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill?

There were many types of Calming Pills.

However, Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill was definitely the best!

It was said that this Calming Pill was offered to the emperor in ancient times. It was similar to a Tao priest refining pills. The prescription was extremely complicated, and the herbs used were also very expensive!

Even with the current high level of technology, this pill was still very difficult to refine. Up until now, Dr. Zabe was probably the only one in the world who could refine one or two pills.

However, Nora actually knew how to make Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill?

She swallowed. "Sister, I heard that only one or two pills can be produced in a furnace. How many do you plan to give?"

Nora glanced at her. "Who said that only one or two pills can be produced in a furnace?"

Sheril: "??"

Dr. Zabe said so!

He had personally refined a batch three years ago and only produced one finished product. It had ruined a lot of medicinal herbs, causing his heart to ache so much that he never refined it again!

Nora rolled her eyes. Master could not perform well because he was old and could not control his behavior well.

This kind of problem would not happen to her.

However, the process was a little long and needed three days and four nights. With all this time, she might as well sleep. Therefore, she had not refined it over the years.

She said nothing.

Sheril decided not to speak anymore. She just looked at the expensive herbs Nora took over, with an aching heart.

There was an old manager at the pharmaceutical factory in Harmonia Pharmacy. He was also an old pharmacist and could be considered Sheril's master. At this moment, he stood outside the door and happened to overhear their conversation.

He waved Sheril over.

Sheril walked out.

The old pharmacist frowned and reprimanded, “Sheril, you guys are too reckless!! Are these hundred thousand dollars of herbs going to be wasted just like that? How can she possibly refine Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill?”

Although Sheril’s heart also ached for the money, when she heard her master’s words, she hurriedly explained, “Master, Sister Nora was the one who gave us the Carefree Pill formula. So even if money is wasted, it’s nothing. My father and mother definitely won’t feel the pinch.”

The pharmacist sighed. “They only look at money, but do you only care for money too? Do you know how much the 500-year-old ginseng she took is worth now? We could only buy one or two from the entire country. This isn’t a matter of money at all, okay? Don’t you feel bad that she wasted it?”

Of course, her heart ached!

Now, everyone was growing ginseng artificially. Most of it was just decades old, and it was rare to find one that was centuries old.

These two 500-year-old ginsengs had been preserved by Harmonia Pharmacy. They could be considered the treasure of the store, and were priceless!

People had been asking for 500-year-old ginseng for a long time, but they still could not get one.

After all, most of the older ones had been sent to the auction. The value of ginseng had already far exceeded the medicinal value. Harmonia Pharmacy would not auction them. Most of the people who could auction them were like the Smiths and Hunts. But how could such families sell ginseng to Harmonia Pharmacy?

However, to make Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill, one needed ginseng that was this old!

Actually, if it could be made, this ginseng would definitely not be wasted. After all, the Calming Pill was much more valuable than the ginseng itself.

The problem was!

Dr. Zabe had only managed to refine one pill in a furnace. Could Sister Nora succeed?

The old pharmacist suggested, "Although other herbs are expensive, we can still buy them. Can you talk to your sister and exchange that ginseng for a 100-year one?! If she fails, we'll only lose money!"

When Sheril heard this, she fell into deep thought.

After a moment, she shook her head. "Master, Sister Nora's kindness to the Andersons is too great. I can't say anything about it."

The old pharmacist was instantly furious. He pointed at her forehead and scolded, "You, you're really a blockhead! The Andersons have fallen this far because none of you know how to make drugs! You're wasting herbs!! Even with a Carefree Pill, if you continue to be so willful in the future, you'll eventually go downhill!"

Sheril argued anxiously, "Master, you can't say that. What if Sister Nora really manages to master it?"

The old pharmacist had been working with the Andersons since he was young and had never attended school. He had learned the skills from an older generation and was loyal to the Andersons. At this moment, he was furious. The more he cursed, the more unpleasant he became. He took advantage of his seniority and said, "Dr. Zabe could only produce one pill. How can she master it at such a young age? Stop bragging! If she can master it, I, I won't need any salary in the future! But if she can't, you have to listen to me in the pharmaceutical factory in the future!"

When Sheril heard this, her eyes turned red.

She knew that her master was trying to put her in her place.

Ever since she came to the pharmaceutical factory, she had been using the introduction of new alchemy skills. Her master had been dissatisfied with her long ago, but she was the owner, and her master could only listen to her.

Now, he wanted to use this matter to have the right to speak in the refinery!

She took a deep breath. "Okay!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 261 - Mr. Hunts Girlfriend

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Sheril thought about it very clearly. Last time, Nora had helped her slap Rachel's face at the ball. She had to protect her no matter what.

When her master heard this, his expression changed. "You, how can you be so stubborn?!"

He was old, so what was the use even if he had the right to speak at the refining factory? All of his concern was only the Andersons.

Those words earlier were just to make Sheril hesitate, but this girl did not hesitate at all. She was too disappointing!

He reached out in anger, about to say something, but he coughed violently.

Sheril hurriedly took a step forward and held his arm. "Master, I know you despise me for being your superior. If you want the power to speak, I'll return it to you!"

Her master said with heartache, "Why do I need the right to speak? How many years can I stay in the pharmaceutical factory? I should have retired long ago!"

When Sheril heard this, she realized that she had misunderstood her master. Her heart ached even more. "Master, I'm sorry..."

The old pharmacist pounded his chest. "Sheril, you're too naive. Do you think my heart really aches for the 500-year-old ginseng? My heart aches for the Andersons' foundation!"

"Our pharmaceutical factory can work with confidence if this ginseng stays here! You, you guys are such a waste!"

The old pharmacist stomped his feet in anger.

Sheril's eyes turned red as well. "Master, Sister Nora's Carefree Pill can be considered as saving Carefree Pill's life. Even if we lose this ginseng, we'll look for more. In the future, if we have money, we can buy it at a high price at the auction."

When the old pharmacist saw that she was still stubbornly protecting Nora, he instantly waved his hand in anger. "Alright, alright. I'll sit here and see how she wastes the ginseng!"

Sheril looked at his pained expression and sighed.

She knew that some things were very important to the elders. Those concepts had already been ingrained in her bones and could not be changed.

She sighed and sat beside the old pharmacist. "I'll watch with you..."

In the laboratory, Nora did not know about the argument outside. At this moment, she was looking at the medicine. Actually, when she was overseas, it was a little difficult to refine pills. After all, there were fewer traditional medicines available overseas.

She held the 500-year-old ginseng and sighed silently.

This ginseng was too small.

If she had known earlier, she would have gone to her master, Dr. Zabe, to get some more ginseng. As an imperial physician, Dr. Zabe did not have many other things, but he still had some ginseng.

She shook her head slightly and cut the ginseng into pieces.

When they saw her cut it off so casually, Sheril and the old pharmacist outside felt their hearts ache.

The old pharmacist nagged. "Look, how is she cutting the ginseng? It's too wasteful, too wasteful! Sheril, go in and see if you can pick up some ginseng roots. They're still useful!"

Sheril: "..."

—

At the Smiths.

Ian was still staying in the VIP ward of the hospital. He had already been transferred out of the ICU and was not worried about his life for the time being.

At home, his adopted daughter, Yvonne, who was also the only girl in the Smiths' generation, was playing the violin. After the song ended, Rachel, who was standing beside her, instantly applauded. "Miss Smith's piano skills are really getting better and better!"

Ever since Miranda's maiden family had almost gone bankrupt, her status in the Woods had been even lower. This led to her constantly being reprimanded by her father at home. Furthermore, she was always forced to go to the Andersons and learn from her aunt, Melissa.

But how could she possibly go over there? Therefore, she could only run toward the Smiths now.

Yvonne was a famous daughter of a wealthy family in New York. She was talented, and when she was with Yvonne, her father would not scold her even if he found out.

When Yvonne heard her words, she lowered her eyes and smiled. "Did you fight with your father again?"

Rachel pursed her lips. "Yeah. He keeps criticizing me for everything. He wants me to change this and that. Isn't it because he thinks Sheril is too good? How can Auntie's daughter be better than me? No matter how strong she is, she's only working in the Andersons' pharmaceutical factory. She doesn't behave like a girl at all!"

Yvonne tidied her long hair and smiled. "Fathers love their daughters the most. Can't you just wheedle your way?"

However, Rachel pursed her lips. “That’s someone else. I seriously suspect that I’m not my father’s biological child. Otherwise, why would he be so strict with me? How can my biological father always pick on me!”

The words “biological” pierced Yvonne’s heart like a needle.

She lowered her eyes to hide her displeasure. She still had a friendly smile on her face as a light flashed across her eyes. Suddenly, she said, “Stop talking nonsense. By the way, I heard that the last dance was not very enjoyable?”

At the mention of the dance, Rachel instantly became furious. “Isn’t it because of that country bumpkin who came back from the countryside? I didn’t expect her to dance well, but unfortunately, no one has come to propose marriage to her yet. Did you know? Her mother fooled around outside and was pregnant before she was even married. She made such a big scene just to attract attention and find a good family. But how could they possibly like her?”

She was about to continue when the butler walked in. “Miss Smith, the Levins are here.”

The Levins?

While Rachel was in a daze, Yvonne had already stood up with a smile. “Please come in.”

Then, a middle-aged woman in her forties walked in.

She looked ordinary. Her face was fair and tender, and she was chubby. When she smiled, she looked very likable.

Rachel asked, “This is?”

Yvonne explained, “Her mother-in-law is Mrs. Hunt’s current housekeeper, Mdm. Lea.”

The most famous people in the Hunts, apart from Justin and a few members of the main family, were the Hunts’ internal and external butlers.

The butlers of such families were raised with them from a young age. They were very loyal and reliable.

Now, Mdm. Lea's family was also working in a company under Hunt Corporation and was treated very well.

But why was Mdm. Lea's daughter-in-law, whom everyone called Mrs. Lewis, at the Smiths?

While Rachel was in a daze, that person had already walked over. "Miss Smith, I just came over for a little chat today. Please excuse my intrusion."

With that, Mrs. Lewis sized Yvonne up.

Yvonne sat up straight and placed her hands casually on her lap. She looked like a daughter of a wealthy family and was very appropriate. Mrs. Lewis praised her in her heart and said jokingly, "By the way, my mother-in-law said that she heard a joke at home a few days ago. Our Mr. Hunt actually found a girlfriend outside..."

Yvonne's expression froze at those words, but her expression remained calm.

Rachel was stunned. "Who is it?"

Was there really a woman in New York that Justin liked? Did she know her?

Chapter 262 - Medicine Success

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Mrs. Lewis was not angry when she saw Rachel interrupting. She continued to smile, and answered, "It's the daughter of the Andersons, Nora."

Rachel: "??"

Her eyes narrowed as she shouted, "Impossible!"

Her intense reaction covered Yvonne's clenched fists. Mrs. Lewis looked at her in confusion. "What's wrong?"

What could they do?

Yvonne seemed to have thought of something and said with a calm expression, "This is the person you were talking about earlier, the one who stole the limelight at the ball, right?"

Rachel: "??"

She felt as if she had been slapped hard as her cheeks heated up.

They had just said that even if she was in the limelight, no one wanted her. Even now, no one had come to propose marriage. But how did she suddenly find such a powerful boyfriend?

Impossible!

Mrs. Lewis was stunned. "What do you mean?"

Obviously, she did not know.

Yvonne didn't want to leave an impression of her saying bad things behind her back, so she smiled helplessly. "It's nothing. I'm just saying that this lady danced well.”

After hearing the praise for Nora, Rachel was indeed angered. “What? Miss Smith, even if you don’t talk about her behind her back, you can’t leave such a wrong impression on the Hunts. Mrs. Lewis, let me tell you. Nora is someone who hates marriage! After she was picked up by the Andersons from a small place, she found an opportunity to sneak into this year’s ball. Did you know? In order to show off her dancing skills and surprise everyone, she even danced men’s steps! Everyone knows about this! She’s simply trying her best to be in the limelight. She’s doing this so that she can quickly find a man to marry! Did you misunderstand something? How can Mr. Hunt like someone like her?”

Mrs. Lewis did not expect to hear such words. She immediately said excitedly, “Is that so? Miss Wood, hurry up and tell me the details...”

Rachel began to add fuel to the fire. She told them what had happened that day, omitting her coercion and Sheril’s grievances, of course. She created an image of a woman who loved to show off.

Hearing those words, Yvonne slowly picked up her coffee cup and drank with a faint smile.

After Rachel finished speaking, she said, “Alright, Miss Wood. Don’t talk about others behind their backs.”

Rachel pouted.

Mrs. Lewis seemed to be in deep thought. She did not expect this to happen. Therefore, words like Mr. Hunt had yet to win over Nora, and that Miss Smith didn’t take a liking to Mr. Hunt, were all fake! Nora was indeed playing hard to get!

Why did the smart Sir fall for her!

Mrs. Lewis was a little anxious. She had to hurry back and tell this news to her mother-in-law before she told Mrs. Hunt.

However, no matter how anxious she was, she did not forget her mission today. After smiling at Rachel, she looked at Yvonne. “Miss Smith, my mother-in-law asked me to tell you to treasure the opportunity at the birthday banquet.”

Her words made Yvonne blush.

She lowered her head and said awkwardly, “But didn’t you say earlier that Mr. Hunt already has a girlfriend...”

The Hunts and the Smiths were both interested in a marriage alliance. After all, although the Smiths and the Hunts had competed in the past, the times were different now. A marriage alliance obviously had more benefits.

This was also one of the important reasons why Ian had adopted Yvonne.

The elders of the two families had tacitly agreed.

When Mrs. Lewis heard this, she patted Yvonne’s hand. “Sigh, their relationship isn’t confirmed yet. Who in New York knows about it? Besides, she’s just a girlfriend now... You should prepare yourself properly! This is a rare opportunity. Besides, even if it’s not Sir, you should find someone...”

Although there was a ball every year in New York, it was always a gathering of youngsters.

This time, Mrs. Hunt was suddenly holding a big birthday party. The elders of each family would definitely be attending as well. It was the largest party in recent years.

If she could shine at this banquet, she would definitely amaze everyone.

Yvonne lowered her head, her ears turning red. In the end, she nodded.

After Mrs. Lewis left, Rachel leaned over to Yvonne. “Miss Smith, is this the Hunts’ intention?”

Yvonne smiled without saying anything.

Rachel immediately shook her arm. “You must work hard. You must not let that Nora really become Mrs. Hunt! Her family background is so bad. How can she compare to you? You’re the eldest daughter of the Smiths!”

Yvonne sighed. “I’m not the real Eldest Miss.”

“So what?”

Rachel’s tone was very aggressive. “Look at New York, who dares to say that you’re not the real eldest daughter? Besides, who in the Smiths dares to slight you?”

Yvonne’s long eyelashes concealed the coldness in her eyes.

Slight her?

Wasn’t she doing exactly that right now?!

If she was the real eldest daughter of the Smiths, why would she interact with people like Rachel?!

However, Yvonne did not say that.

She smiled and asked, “But what can I do?”

Rachel immediately said, “Of course you can impress them with your gift! Other than performing on the talent show, you have to bring out a valuable gift and shock the entire audience!”

She gritted her teeth and said, “The most important thing is that you must beat Nora! Although she has the same surname as you, how is she worthy of the surname Smith? In the end, she’s just a niece of the Andersons! Even if she’s the eldest daughter of the Andersons, she’s just a drug seller! Miss Smith, you must think of a good gift...”

The drug seller...

Yvonne’s eyes flashed. “What’s good or bad? Whether it’s valuable or not isn’t important. I’m just worried about Mrs. Hunt’s health. I heard that she just underwent an operation on her head a while ago... I'll get my brother to help me find some suitable medicine.”

The only thing the Andersons could offer was medicine.

However, the medicine that the Smiths had found was definitely exceptionally good.

When the two compete, the difference in strength would be obvious.

—

Two days later.

In the laboratory of the Andersons' pharmaceutical factory.

Sheril and her master had been here for two days. For the past two days, the woman in the laboratory had not slept a minute.

During this time, other than Sheril sending in some food, Nora never left the laboratory.

Bam!

Suddenly, there was a loud sound in the laboratory.

Both of them immediately stood up and looked in through the glass window. They saw white smoke coming out of the alchemy furnace.

Master stomped his feet. “Oh no! She failed!”

Sheril was stunned. “What?”

Master said, “Back then, I saw Dr. Zabe make medicine. At the moment Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill was formed, it emitted black smoke! The white smoke must mean failure!”

He was heartbroken. “You two prodigals! My 500-year-old ginseng! It's really wasted!”

However, just as he finished speaking, he saw...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 263 - Drug Seller~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

In the laboratory, Nora opened the alchemy furnace. Even though there was a door between them, a strong fragrance of medicine rushed over. It made people feel energized the moment they smelled it.

This fragrance...

He cleared his mind, sweeping away the fatigue he had felt after waiting for a few days. The old pharmacist had once smelled this scent. It was... Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill!

Back then, when Dr. Zabe had refined it, he had been present and had even helped him...

How could it be, though?!

Miss Smith's refinement process was completely different from Silvester Zabe's. Although the ingredients used were the same...

Sheril did not understand this, but when she saw her master saying that she had failed, her heart instantly ached. However, the first thing she wanted to do was to comfort Nora so that she would not feel guilty or sad.

Just as she was about to say something, she saw her master suddenly push open the door and rush in.

Sheril was shocked. She hurriedly followed behind and grabbed the old pharmacist. "Master, what are you doing?"

It was already sad enough that Nora had failed in her refinement. If Master said anything unpleasant, how would Nora endure it!

She then looked at her master's expression and saw that he was indeed agitated and unable to control himself. She immediately said, "Master, um, calm down. Calm down a little..."

The old pharmacist's lips trembled. "Move away. I can't calm down!"

He wanted to witness the birth of Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill!

However, Sheril did not give in. What if Master made a move? She could not let Master hit Nora! She coughed. "Master, although Nora has failed, it's not very uncommon. She might succeed next time!"

The old master: "There won't be a next time!"

Sheril knew that her master was furious. "Yes, yes, there won't be a next time. Our factory doesn't have 500-year-old ginseng anymore. Don't be angry..."

The old master was anxious. "That's not what I meant. Hurry up and move aside. Let me take a look. She succeeded in making a few!"

Sheril: "Master, you can't hit Nora. Let's just say the ginseng was wasted as my... what?"

Stunned, she turned around suddenly. "How many... How many did she succeed in making?"

The old master then pushed her away and rushed in front of Nora. They looked inside the alchemy furnace together...

Previously, Dr. Zabe had succeeded in making one. This time, the fragrance of Nora's medicine was so strong. There should be more successes, right?

At this thought, he looked into the furnace and froze. His eyes widened as he muttered in disbelief, "How could this be? How could this be..."

Sheril also rushed over. "Master, what's wrong? How many did she succeed in making? One? Two?"

The old master's lips trembled. "No, no..."

"Then..."

The old master's eyes were already in a daze.

The pills in the alchemy furnace were so dense that his eyes were blurry. He could not count them at all.

As he continued counting, he heard Nora's clear voice. "256."

"..."

The entire alchemy lab was silent.

After a while, Sheril said with a trembling voice, "They were all successfully refined?"

The old pharmacist also looked at Nora in a daze.

Nora looked at the two of them and raised her eyebrows. She smiled in amusement.

She continued to take the refined medicine out of the furnace at a moderate pace and placed it in a paper box she was carrying with her.

At this moment, she heard the old pharmacist roar, "You, stop!"

Nora: "?"

She paused for a moment. The old pharmacist's fingers trembled as he pointed at the ordinary paper box in her hand. "You... you're using this box to store the medicine?"

Nora raised her eyebrows. "What else would I use?"

The old master was furious when he saw her nonchalant look. "Just you wait!"

He ran out and quickly returned with two precious boxes. However, when he looked into the furnace, there were only half the pills left.

Nora hugged two paper boxes and said, “Leave this half to Harmonia Pharmacy. I’ll take the rest.”

With that, she waved at Sheril and the old master before leaving.

The old master: “...”

Can’t she just find a nicer box?!

—

At the same time, Yvonne had personally arrived at the Zabe’s.

Silvester Zabe was already old in age and could not get out of bed. He sat in the wheelchair and received her. “Miss Smith, may I help you?”

Yvonne smiled. “I came here to buy a medicine from you.”

Silvester’s wrinkles covered his original appearance, making him look unapproachable. His voice was terrifyingly old. “What medicine?”

“Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill.”

Yvonne smiled. “I heard that you refined one, three years ago.”

Silvester lowered his eyes. “Oh, I already used it at that moment.”

Yvonne was stunned.

Silvester’s son hurriedly explained beside him, “My father had a sudden stroke two years ago. When he was in a coma, we gave it to him.”

Hearing his words, Yvonne sized up Silvester.

He was already very old and must be in his eighties, almost ninety. She’d seen people who’d had a sudden stroke at this age. Most of them had their heads tilted, their mouths drawn back in grins, and drool dripping from their mouths. They wouldn't live long.

However, Silvester was clear-headed. Besides being unable to move, he did not look like he had suffered a stroke at all.

Then Zabe Corporation's Calming Pills were indeed powerful!

She was even more determined to give Mrs. Hunt this medicine.

The Andersons must be thinking to give her precious medicine, but to Mrs. Hunt, no matter how good the medicine was, it could not compare to the Calming Pill.

Just think about it. If Nora gave her a box of Carefree Pill at the banquet, although everyone would be envious, if she could take out a Calming Pill, she would definitely be able to suppress Nora!

She smiled. "I'll pay a million dollars."

Silvester shook his head. "I don't have any pill."

His son smiled as well. "It's not about money. It's about the stock."

Yvonne was still smiling. "Two million dollars."

"..."

"Two million dollars."

"..."

Silvester's son gulped.

What kind of medicine could be sold for two million dollars? That was enough to buy one's life!

He looked at Silvester and said, "Dad!"

Silvester closed his eyes. “It’s useless to ask me. My legs are no longer working well. Even if I have money, I can’t make them anymore.”

Silvester’s son sighed, his family was in need of money lately. He begged, “Father!”

When Silvester saw his son like this, he felt that he had really owed him in his previous life. He could only say, “Ask my disciple.”

The son’s eyes immediately lit up and he said to Yvonne, “Wait a moment.”

He took out Silvester’s phone, found his disciple’s number, and dialed it.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 264 - Marriage Of The Smiths And Hunts

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The call was picked up quickly, and a clear female voice greeted him respectfully. “Teacher, is something the matter?”

Silvester’s son knew that his father had a direct descendant, who was a woman, but he had never seen her before. However, the two of them had already spoken on the phone many times.

He coughed. “Sister, it’s me.”

“Oh... Is something wrong?”

Silvester’s son said, “I have someone here who wants to buy Zabe’s Calming Pills at a high price. Do you have time to help me refine one?”

The other party’s voice was lazy. “Master wants to sell it?”

Silvester’s son nodded. “Yes, the other party has offered two million dollars.”

Nora was speechless.

Among the herbs needed to refine the Calming Pill, only the 500-year-old ginseng was more valuable. The rest added up to a few ten thousand dollars at most. That ginseng alone could be bought at an auction for one million.

Who was this retard, spending two million dollars to buy medicine?

She had completely forgotten that Silvester had only refined one pill in the past. If this matter were to spread, wouldn’t the one pill be worth millions?

She yawned. "I just finished a batch. I'll give you one."

Silvester's son immediately said, "I'll split the money with you."

"No need." Nora originally wanted to say nothing, but she suddenly remembered that she had used the 500-year-old ginseng from Harmonia Pharmacy. She simply said, "Give me a 500-year-old ginseng!"

It indeed took such old ginseng to refine the Calming Pill.

His father had only managed to refine one pill.

If he gave her only one, what if she failed?

Therefore, he immediately said, "Alright, I'll give you two!"

"Okay."

Nora said, "I'll get someone to send it to you later."

"No problem."

At this moment, Nora was on the way back to the Andersons. After receiving the call, she called Sheril and told her Dr. Zabe's address, and also the reward for the pills.

When Sheril's master heard this, he volunteered to deliver the medicine without hesitation.

Before leaving, he was still mumbling, "I wonder how much a pill can be sold for. Our 500-year-old ginseng was really precious..."

Sheril smiled. "You'll know when you get there."

An hour later.

A pill wrapped in foil and placed in an exquisite iron box was sent to Silvester's house.

The old master was aged and strictly devoted to the Andersons' pharmaceutical factory, so not many people knew him.

Yvonne took a glance and mistook him for Dr. Zabe's direct disciple.

Silvester's son took the pills and handed the old master a box. "This is the agreed-upon fee."

The old master took it and turned to leave.

After leaving Silvester's house, the old master opened the box. "Such good medicine. I wonder what the cost is..."

Just as he was thinking, he saw two 500-year-old ginseng lying quietly in the box. One of them looked even better than the one Nora had used!

The old master was speechless.

His hands trembled as he carefully hugged the box. At the same time, he muttered in his heart, "Oh my God, I really made a killing this time! I picked up a treasure!"

—

In the hospital.

After buying the medicine, Yvonne returned to the Smiths.

During dinner, Ian was still hospitalized and did not go home. However, the monthly family dinner continued as usual. 15 to 16 people gathered at a round table.

Quentin was a secret figure in the Smiths. Very few people in the family knew him, so he had never participated in such family gatherings.

Joel hugged Mia and fed her patiently.

When Yvonne saw this, she smiled. "Joel, Mia is too thin. She should eat more."

Mia's arms and legs were thin. She immediately said, "I know how to eat a lot!"

With that, she continued eating.

Joel caressed her head.

Brandon was very dishonest when he ate. He sat beside Mia and kicked her from under the table a few times, and then accidentally turned over a cup.

Brandon's father, Warren, could not help but scold him. The family at the table was harmonious.

Suddenly, Warren said, "Why is Mrs. Hunt suddenly hosting such a grand banquet?"

The moment he said this, everyone at the table looked at Joel.

Joel said calmly, "I haven't heard."

Everyone was relieved.

Warren smiled. "Then let's go. By the way, Yvonne, have you prepared a gift?"

Yvonne smiled. "Yes, I have."

Warren nodded. "Yes. I think this banquet might have been arranged to let you and Justin meet again. Wasn't it just to matchmake the two of you many years ago?"

Yvonne lowered her head with her face red. "Warren, we're eating. Stop talking."

Warren laughed. "Haha, are you still shy? Yvonne, what's wrong with that? Although you're not a biological daughter, we grew up together and everyone treats you as their real sister! You don't have to be afraid. Although the Hunts faintly surpass the Smiths by a little, this is also the reason why Joel didn't compete. Our families are already on equal footing!"

Besides, Justin has a son. As the only daughter of the Smiths, you're not unworthy of him at all! Don't feel inferior!"

Yvonne was speechless.

He was really rubbing salt into her wound.

Was it appropriate to say such things in public?!

However, she did not dare to lose her temper. She smiled and nodded. "Yes."

Warren asked again, "Have you prepared a gift?"

Yvonne smiled. "Yes."

Warren asked curiously, "What is it? This gift must be presentable! If our families are to be united through marriage, we must be on par."

Yvonne nodded. "I've prepared a Calming Pill."

Warren frowned instantly. "Can a simple pill be presented as a gift? Isn't it common on the streets?"

The others looked at Yvonne.

Being looked at by so many people, Yvonne took a sip of the soup and smiled. "It's the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill."

Warren was stunned by her words. "Oh my god, you actually bought the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill? This gift is really enough!"

The others also praised, "Yvonne is indeed worthy of being raised by Uncle Ian. Her taste is really different! This gift is superb! No amount of treasures can compare to this kind intentions!"

Yvonne smiled and did not speak. She looked carefully at Joel, only to see him frowning and looking at her.

For some reason, her heart skipped a beat. She carefully asked, “Joel, is my gift not appropriate?”

Joel retracted his gaze and said calmly, “It’s okay.”

Yvonne sighed in relief, but she heard him say, “But it seems like Justin already has a girlfriend.”

Warren was stunned to hear this. “He has a girlfriend? How can he have a girlfriend? Didn’t we agree on a political marriage?”

Joel smiled.. “It can be considered a political marriage.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 265 - Bringing Her Back To The Smiths!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Justin's girlfriend was Nora, and Nora was a Smith. What was that, if not a political marriage?

However, Joel's voice had been very low, so the others didn't hear him clearly. Warren asked, "What did you say, Joel?"

Joel coughed. "It's nothing."

Warren nodded. "Yes, our families have already agreed on the political marriage, so Justin has to take someone from the Smiths as his wife. How can he go back on his word like that? And make Yvonne wait for him for so many years in vain?"

Joel glanced at Warren when he said that, but didn't say anything.

As for Yvonne, she lowered her head and said, "Don't say any more, Warren. Let's have dinner first."

After dinner, everyone left indignantly. Yvonne was about to go upstairs when Joel stopped her. He said, "Yvonne."

Yvonne walked up to Joel obediently and called out respectfully, "Joel."

Joel said dispassionately, "Regarding the Hunts, I've already told you Justin's stance a few years ago. You said at the time that Justin didn't have a girlfriend and you weren't in any hurry to find a boyfriend, and so, it dragged on just like that. But now that he has a girlfriend, what are your thoughts on the matter?"

The Hunts and the Smiths were originally planning a political marriage between Justin and Yvonne.

In fact, they had brought it up before when the two were eighteen years old. Pete didn't exist at that time yet, but Justin had nonetheless rejected the idea.

However, because he was concerned that it would embarrass Yvonne, he had discussed it privately with Joel instead.

Joel had subsequently relayed the message to Yvonne, so that she wouldn't waste time on it anymore.

As Yvonne hadn't looked for a boyfriend all these years, and since Justin didn't have a girlfriend, Joel didn't announce the decision at home, thinking that there might still be possibilities between the two of them.

Therefore, Justin hadn't done anything to let Yvonne down at all. It was just that the rest of the family didn't know about it.

Yvonne's eyes flickered when she heard him. She lowered her head and said, "I will do as you say, Joel."

She knew that Joel had always been someone extremely protective of his own.

When she said back then that she wasn't going to look for a boyfriend for the time being, he had immediately understood what she meant. It was just that they couldn't force Justin into anything, so the situation had dragged on till now.

But someone had intercepted her in the end instead.

Although Joel looked as if he was always smiling, and was amicable and easy to get along with on the surface, Yvonne knew just how domineering a person he was deep down.

As long as his younger sister—even if just a titular one—was still part of the Smiths, no outsider was allowed to bully her!

Therefore, Yvonne was confident that Joel would think of a solution for her—or at least, he would break Justin and Nora up.

In the midst of her beautiful daydream, Joel instead said unhurriedly, “In that case, don’t pursue it anymore. As they say, you can lead a horse to water but you can’t make him drink. You might as well use this opportunity to take a look at other people.”

Yvonne: “?”

She lifted her head abruptly and looked at Joel in disbelief.

For a while, she couldn’t quite control the expression on her face.

How did this...

Her fists balled up. It was only a moment later that she finally said, “I... I’ll do as you say, Joel.”

Joel nodded.

He stared at Yvonne for a while, which made her ask hesitantly, “Is there anything else, Joel?”

Joel retracted his gaze, a touch of disappointment flashing across his eyes. “No, there isn’t.”

Only then did Yvonne turn and leave.

After turning the corner and entering her room, at last, Yvonne couldn’t maintain the expression on her face anymore, and a savage air came over her entire self.

Joel wasn’t going to help her... Wasn’t it just because she wasn’t related to the Smiths by blood?

They painted such a nice and pretty picture for the outsiders, but at the end of it all, they didn’t treat her as family!

A furious Yvonne hurled the things in her hands onto the floor.

Someone knocked on her door at this moment.

Yvonne hurriedly sorted her emotions and opened the door to find Warren standing outside. He looked at her and asked, “Did Joel say that he’ll think of something for you, Yvonne? We can’t do anything to Justin, but it’s not like we can’t do anything to his girlfriend, either, right?”

Yvonne bit her lip. She smiled and chose not to deny his statement. Instead, she replied, “Don’t bother yourself with this anymore, Warren. Joel knows what he’s doing.”

Warren, however, shook his head. “That won’t do. I can’t just laze about and do nothing at home every day, either. Leave it to me! Hmph, just wait and see at the party! I will make Justin’s little girlfriend regret it!”

Yvonne gave him a grateful look. She said, “You treat me too well, Warren!”

“Tsk, this is nothing. I already told you a long time ago, even though we aren’t blood-related, I really see you as my younger sister. Also, since you’re a Smith, there’s no way I’ll allow anyone to bully you!”

“...”

Warren returned to his room after talking to Yvonne. Brandon’s mother, aka Warren’s wife, asked, “How did it go?”

Warren sighed. “Her eyes were all red. I knew it, there’s no way a girl won’t be affected.”

His wife sighed. “Yeah. Help your little sister out, then.”

From the previous generation onward, there were only sons in the Smiths. She knew that her husband had always wanted a younger sister, but unfortunately, his five uncles simply hadn’t had any daughters at all!

Later, Ian adopted Yvonne.

Although Yvonne didn't interact much with the rest of the family, she was simply too popular in this sister-deprived family!

Warren sighed. "Why are Dad and my uncles such big failures? It's all their fault that I don't have a younger sister! The same also goes for your belly. Let's work hard and have a daughter, dear. You don't know how envious I am whenever I see Joel carrying Mia!"

His wife: "..."

—

In the hospital.

Joel informed Quentin about the affairs at home when he came to visit Ian.

Quentin fell silent for a while after hearing about it. At last, he heaved a huge sigh and said, "At the end of it all, it's still because she isn't Uncle Ian's daughter. To think she's actually giving the medicine to someone else as a gift instead of giving it to Uncle Ian... Rather than Mrs. Hunt, who's in the pink of health, it's Uncle Ian who's in greater need of that medicine!"

This was also the reason why Joel had been displeased with Yvonne.

Although she wasn't related to them by blood, her adoptive father was currently hospitalized. Yet, she had spent so much money to buy medicine just to show off. What was the point of doing something like that?

He cast his eyes down dispassionately. "Forget it. Let's just marry her off and send her away."

Quentin nodded. Then, he said, "The Smiths and the Hunts are about to work together on a collaboration project, but it'd be best if the two families can solidify their relationship through a political marriage first. Should we acknowledge our little sister at the party and bring her back?"

"What little sister are you talking about!" Joel reprimanded, "So long as Uncle Ian doesn't say the word, that little sister doesn't exist for us!"

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully. ‘Mr. Teen With Grandiose Delusions’ sneered, “I refuse to believe you don’t want a little sister!”

Joel: “...”

The two men’s voices were a little loud. When they turned, they saw that Ian had already woken up at some point. Just as the two of them were a little taken aback, Ian sat up and said, “Is it a birthday party? I’ll attend it, too.”

Joel and Quentin exchanged a look. Both of them had understood.

Uncle Ian had ultimately thought it through in the end—he was intending to take the opportunity to acknowledge her and bring her back to the Smiths!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 266 - The Birthday Party!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Time flew. In the blink of an eye, it was time for Mrs. Hunt's birthday party.

The Hunt manor's gates were wide open. All sorts of things were being delivered to the manor even before dawn. All the servants were terribly busy, and the entire manor was up to their ears in work.

It had been a very long time since the Hunts last held such a big party, so everyone was busy at work.

Even Chester, the game addict, had been dragged back home as an extra pair of hands. He stood there and directed everyone in the kitchen in their work. He happened to see Justin walking out with Cherry when he turned. He went after them at once and asked, "Where are you going, Justin?"

Justin glanced at him, the beauty mark at the corner of his eye gleaming with a chilly shine. "Do I have to report my itinerary to you?"

Chester shrank back. "Of course not."

He looked at Cherry curiously. "Where are you guys going, Pete?"

"To Mommy's!" Cherry replied.

Chester looked at the two boxes in Justin's hands. "What are you guys delivering?"

"A dress, of course!"

Chester: "?"

Had the Andersons become so poor that they couldn't even afford a dress for Nora?

—

Elsewhere, Yvonne looked at herself in the mirror.

Her blue gown set off her porcelain-like skin, making her look very beautiful.

When she came down the stairs, Warren complimented her. “You look great today, Yvonne!”

Yvonne smiled at him but said nothing.

Warren went over to her and said, “How is it? I’ve already asked around for you—Justin is wearing blue today, so you two can wear matching outfits now!”

At the mention of blue outfits, Yvonne hesitated for a while and then said, “I heard that Gucci has an haute couture handmade gown called the Blue Enchantress. It’s a finished product made by a famous designer. That gown...”

Warren waved and said, “Tsk, I’ve already been there to borrow the gown, but they didn’t give it to me. A gown like that is the brand’s signature item and a treasure; there’s no way they’ll lend it to anyone. The blue gown that you’re wearing is also very famous. It only loses out to that one by a little.”

Yvonne uttered an “oh”.

Wasn’t it all because Warren’s status wasn’t high enough that he hadn’t managed to borrow it? Had Joel been the one to ask, they would definitely have lent it to her. What a shame!

“Where’s Joel?” she asked.

Warren shook his head. “I don’t know, he only told us to set off from home. Seems like he’s visiting Uncle Ian before he goes over.”

It was only when he mentioned Ian, that Yvonne suddenly realized that because of the party, it had been quite a few days since she went to the hospital to visit him, so she didn't know how her father was doing.

Brandon took after Warren, and both of them were very simple-minded and innocent. Therefore, Warren didn't notice her displeasure. He and Yvonne stopped talking when they reached the cars, and they got into their respective cars.

As soon as he got in the car, Warren's wife remarked, "Why do I feel like Yvonne isn't very happy that you didn't manage to borrow the Blue Enchantress for her?"

Warren waved at once. "Surely not?"

His wife said with displeasure, "I don't think she would do that, either. You can't even bear to let me wear that dress she's wearing, so what does she have to be dissatisfied with when you've already given it to her? There isn't any girl in New York who has more prestige than her right now!"

Warren laughed at his wife's words. "Are you jealous?"

Was there any way she wouldn't be?

But her husband's entire family was so protective of their little sister that she couldn't say that, either.

Warren's wife smiled and said nothing. Her eyes, however, flickered a little. To be honest, she had actually asked the brand about the Blue Enchantress—they had already loaned it out to someone.

She didn't need to tell her husband that, though.

Since his younger sister didn't know her boundaries and was always trying to one-up her sisters-in-law... Well, she wasn't someone that easy to mess with, either.

—

At the Andersons'.

“How about this?” Sheril offered Nora an haute couture gown that she had never worn before.

The party was held too hastily. It took at least a month for a brand to make an haute couture gown, so Nora hadn’t ordered one but just casually bought a formal dress.

However, when Sheril came back, she insisted that it undermined her status, so she took out her own gown and offered it to her instead.

Nora waved. “No, it’s fine. I’m really don’t mind…”

Just as she was thinking about it, Melissa’s voice traveled over from downstairs.

“Mr. Hunt?”

Nora raised her brows.

She went down the stairs to see Justin placing two small boxes on the sofa. He said, “I’m here to deliver a gown.”

The man was wearing a black suit today. He also had a beautiful blue tie on, making him look even more dashing than usual.

Melissa nodded at once. “Is the gown for Nora? Quick, Nora, go upstairs and try it.”

Nora: “…”

She went down but didn’t pick up the gown. Instead, she said, “Does anyone give a gown as a gift? It’s not like you know my measurements.”

“Why wouldn’t I?” Justin smiled and said, “I know all of Ms. Smith’s measurements. After all, we’re lovers, aren’t we?”

Nora: “!!”

His words were too suggestive!

Sure enough, Melissa, who was next to them, covered her smile with her hand. She pretended not to hear them and instead urged, “Hurry up, go upstairs and try it!”

Nora was about to refuse when Cherry jumped out and said, “Mommy, I’m gonna wear a dress today! Ours are matching outfits~ Where’s Pete? Let him go back with Daddy. I wanna be with Mommy, yeah!”

Matching outfits?

The rejection became stuck in her throat when she heard what Cherry said. She nodded and said, “Okay, then.”

By the time Nora took Cherry’s hand and went up the stairs, Pete had also gone downstairs and left with Justin.

In the living room, Simon stared blankly at the two children leaving. He looked at Melissa and asked, “Justin is Cherry’s father? This... I still can’t believe it. This feels like a dream.”

In order to prevent the Andersons from being astonished when they saw the Hunts’ little mister at the party, Nora had told them the truth the day before.

Melissa smiled and said, “Are you still in shock? I was so stunned when I saw Cherry at the Hunts’ that day! I knew it, why would Cherry’s personality fluctuate every once in a while? I even thought at one point that she was schizophrenic!”

Simon didn’t speak.

After the few of them changed into formal attires, they went back downstairs. Melissa was startled when she saw the blue gown on Nora. She murmured, “That gown...”

“What’s wrong?” asked Simon.

Melissa shook her head. “It just... looks a little familiar to the eye.”

—

“Wow, the gown Ms. Smith is wearing today is so gorgeous! I didn’t think that someone could make blue look so pure and innocent!”

“You don’t get it, do you? Ms. Smith’s gown was designed by the famous designer Camp! It’s worth over $100,000!”

“I’m so envious of Ms. Smith. As the only daughter of the Smiths, her family treats her so much better than how the Hunts treat their daughters!”

“...”

Yvonne heard compliments from all around her the moment she got out of the car. An elegant smile formed on her face. She held her gown up a little and headed to the Hunts’ party hall in her high heels.

She must be the focus of the crowd on all occasions—this was what she had learned from her experience over the years.

However, when she was about to reach the entrance, a big black jeep slowly drove into the manor.

Chapter 267 - The Blue Enchantress

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The car park in the Hunts' manor was filled with luxury cars.

There were also many international limited edition cars. The jeep was simply too inconspicuous among them.

Thus, no one paid any attention to whose car it was at first.

Yvonne was walking toward the hall. She had only taken a couple of steps when she suddenly heard someone calling out to her, "Ms. Smith!"

She looked back and saw Rachel walking over with Miranda.

Rachel said something to Miranda. Then, she left her side and came toward her. As soon as she approached, she touched her gown and remarked with a smile, "So, you were the one who borrowed this gown! You look so good in it! You'll definitely outshine everyone at the party tonight!"

Her voice was rather loud, causing everyone around them to look over.

Yvonne was a little displeased.

The Smiths were particular about low-key luxury and disliked such ostentatious behavior in public the most. She preferred private discussions, so Rachel had gone a little too far by saying that to her in person.

She said, "I just chose it casually. Your gown is also very beautiful, Ms. Wood!"

Rachel, who knew what she was like, made nothing of the comment. She said, "You don't have to be so modest! No one is blind here. Besides, this dress is also very well-known in the circle. With the exception of the Blue Enchantress, there's probably no other dress that can compare to this one!"

Yvonne lowered her gaze. She smiled and said, "Let's go in."

"Nah!"

Rachel grabbed her arm with a smile and said, "I just saw the Andersons' car. If you wait here for a while, they'll definitely come. When the two of you stand together, anyone who isn't blind will be able to see who the prettier one is! You can also let Mr. Hunt see for himself that he has picked the wrong person!"

Yvonne was a little taken aback at her words. "Is Nora Smith not good-looking?"

Rachel hesitated.

Nora's fair and flawless countenance, large and beautiful almond-shaped eyes, as well as her small palm-sized face that seemed even more beautiful than a celebrity's, appeared in her mind.

She coughed and replied guiltily, "She's passable, I guess, but the way she carries herself is kinda subpar. She's usually in jeans and t-shirts, and looks really sloppy. That also goes for the way she walks because she doesn't lift her feet when she walks. My mom has always taught me that I mustn't drag my feet when I walk. The way she wears her shoes is as if she's wearing slippers. It's really ugly!"

The more Rachel said, the more convinced she was by herself. She said, "Have you ever seen people from the countryside that come to the cities to study? She carries herself exactly like those hillbillies! She doesn't have an elegant disposition or strong aura around her at all. So what even if she's a little good-looking? Is there anyone in families like ours who only cares about how pretty one's face is?"

A few people nearby came toward them while she was talking. Upon hearing what she said, they asked in surprise, "Who are you talking about?"

Rachel smiled and replied, “It’s Nora Smith! You know, the one from the Andersons... By the way, the live-stream about her caused quite the uproar the other time. Did you guys see it? To think they talked about their household affairs in public... Seems like they don’t care about embarrassing themselves at all!”

“Oh, are you talking about the same Nora Smith whose father turned out fake after kicking up all that fuss?”

“Yeah. Speaking of this, my family doesn’t really understand, either. For people like them, you can just get rid of them by giving them some money, and the matter will be resolved. Why make such a fuss in public together with them? Even though they clarified everything in public in the end, wasn’t it embarrassing for the Andersons all the same? Even though her adoptive father is indeed a problematic man and is too greedy, it’s true that her mother had also gotten herself pregnant before marriage...”

“Did you know? I heard that her mother was a famous socialite in New York back then... The wives of the wealthy hated her the most. She was especially beautiful and also very skilled at seducing men, so she was involved with almost every young man among the wealthy families at that time. She was the public enemy of all the wealthy ladies in New York back then!”

“...”

Rachel felt very smug at the sight of how everyone’s comments were becoming more and more ridiculous. She said, “Yes, that’s the one!”

“Is she also attending the party? Is she using the invitation to the Andersons to attend? The Andersons are already down-and-out! Yet she’s still coming... She sure thinks really highly of herself!”

“Hey, let’s ignore her later, okay?”

“I don’t want to talk to someone like that!”

“...”

The few young wealthy ladies who got along well simply spared no effort to badmouth and gossip about other people once they came together.

Yvonne's lips slowly curled into a smile as she listened to them.

The group of girls chatted noisily as they stood at the door. After talking about Nora, they shifted the topic back to Yvonne's gown and paid her a great deal of compliments.

“So what even if her mother had been a very glorious existence back then? In the end, she still married someone in a small town instead. How could she possibly compare to the Hunts or the Smiths...? Just look at how gorgeous and expensive Ms. Smith's gown is when she's just attending a party... No matter how impressive her mother was, can she find her a better gown?”

“Exactly. No matter how amazing her mother was, it's not like she passed it down to her, right? Otherwise, why didn't she find a boyfriend like Mr. Hunt?”

“Ms. Smith and Mr. Hunt are a match made in heaven! When are the two of you getting engaged, Ms. Smith?”

Everyone in the wealthy circle had already heard the rumors that the Smiths and the Hunts were planning a political marriage. They'd originally thought that the two of them would get engaged when they were eighteen, but unexpectedly, nothing had been set in stone yet even after so long.

Although Justin had an illegitimate child, he didn't get married during all these years, nor was there any news of the child's biological mother. Yvonne didn't get married, either, so everyone thought that both parties were still waiting for a suitable opportunity.

Yvonne, however, lowered her gaze at the question and said nothing.

Irritability welled up in her.

They were simply too gossipy, and were practically rubbing her nose in it!

Rachel, who noticed Yvonne's annoyance, interrupted them with a smile. She said, "The Hunts and the Smiths' affairs aren't something that you guys should be asking about. After all, that's a union between two big families... Let's not ask any more! I just saw the Andersons' car arrive. My cousin and Nora Smith will be coming over in a while. I'll point her out to you guys later!"

"Yeah, okay!"

"I also wanna see just how beautiful this daughter of the 'public enemy of all the wealthy wives of New York' can be!"

"Even now, my mother still gnashes her teeth in fury whenever she talks about Yvette Anderson. She says that my father had a crush on Yvette Anderson back then, and that Yvette Anderson was his unattainable dream..."

While they were chatting noisily, Rachel looked into the distance and said, "They're coming!"

Everyone followed her gaze and looked over.

The woman walking in the forefront was wearing a pink dress. Her shoulder-length bob made her look very youthful and peppy. She was walking over arm in arm with a middle-aged woman wearing a gown full of classical charm.

Sheril was obsessed with the laboratory, so she rarely attended parties.

Young women who didn't usually dance wouldn't attend the dance party the other time, so someone had mistaken her for Nora. She looked at Sheril and said, "Is she the one in the pink dress? Although she looks pretty cute, she doesn't look that astounding. Besides, her dress is so meh~"

But as soon as she said that, Sheril suddenly turned around, revealing the woman behind her...

Chapter 268 - Public Enemy

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The woman was sashaying over in a pair of crystal high heels.

The blue gown on her set off her thin and slender waist, which looked as if one could hold her with just one hand.

Her straight hair, casually draped behind her, fluttered in the air along with her movements.

Beside her, a little girl wearing a small mask was also dressed in a similar blue princess dress. She bounced around while holding her hand.

They were an exquisite sight in the Hunts' manor!

The people waiting at the door were stunned, and all of them looked at them in disbelief.

The few women who were clamoring just a moment ago said in surprise:

“That dress... It's the Blue Enchantress!”

“Oh my god, who is she? Doesn't she walk too beautifully? Her movements are obviously so big when she twists and turns her hips as she walks, but how does she still make it look so charming? She's too gorgeous!”

“Which family is she from? Why is the kid she's holding wearing a silver mask? She's so cute! Is she her younger sister?”

“...”

Rachel was totally stunned while everyone was singing praises of Nora.

She stared at Nora incredulously, feeling like her eyes must be playing tricks on her. Was she actually that hillbilly and bumpkin of a woman who was always wearing jeans and white T-shirts, and walked as though she was still half-asleep?

Wasn't her gait a little too graceful?!

Even she found it difficult to go against her conscience and say she didn't look good!

All around them, every man's eyes were on her. It was obvious that Nora had become the center of attention!

When did such a big beauty appear in New York?!

That was the thought on everyone's minds.

Even Yvonne was a little stunned. However, because she knew Sheril, she didn't mistake her for anyone else. Instead, she stared at Nora in shock.

She had only heard her name prior to this, but she was the purported hillbilly that Rachel mentioned?

There was practically no need for any comparison! Even with the distance between the two of them, it was obvious who had won—or at least, that was the case in terms of what they were wearing!

She bit her lip in anger and glared at Rachel. For once, she couldn't hold herself back and she said, "So, that's the Nora Smith you were talking about?"

That one line from her was enough to enlighten everyone there.

All of them looked at Nora in unison. The same thought simultaneously formed in everyone's minds in this instant—if she looked anything like her mother, then it was no wonder that her mother was the public enemy of all the wealthy wives of New York back then!

Given her looks, which man would be able to resist her?

Especially with the way her hips twisted when she walked... Although she was doing it on purpose, it simply looked too beautiful!

However, Nora, who was ‘twisting her hips on purpose’, was actually complaining while she was walking at the moment. “What kind of shoes are these? Aren’t they a little too slippery?”

Cherry supported her Mommy carefully to prevent her from tripping and falling down in public. Now, that would be a terrible sight. She piped up in her adorable voice, “Beauty comes at a price, Mommy!”

The crystal heels were a perfect match with the blue gown, but because crystal heels were a little more slippery than ordinary heels, Nora couldn’t really walk very well in them. As a result, she could only twist and turn her hips from side to side as she walked!

Nora tried to put up with it, but in the end, she still bent over, intending to take off the heels and hold them instead. What kinda lousy shoes were these?! She wasn’t gonna wear them anymore!

But as soon as she bent over, Sheril grabbed her hand. “There are so many eyes on you right now, Nora! You’d better not do anything unsightly! Otherwise, it’ll be really embarrassing!”

Nora: “...”

She silently endured the heels for a while longer. In the end, she gritted her teeth and said to Cherry, “Get your father to prepare a normal pair of heels for me! Otherwise, I’m going to go around barefooted later!”

Cherry took out her cell phone at once. “Okay, Mommy! I’ll contact Daddy right away!”

Just like that, they swaggered through the crowd and came to the entrance of the hall. They were about to enter the party hall after registering when they suddenly heard a shrill voice.

“Nora Smith!”

Nora and Sheril looked over to see Rachel staring at the former. She looked her gown up and down and demanded, “W-who borrowed that gown for you?”

Nora glanced at her coldly, disinterested in even speaking to her.

She scoffed and said nothing.

Sheril asked, “Oh, you’ve also come, Rachel? Shall we go in together?”

She didn’t want anyone to know that Justin had borrowed it for them. Should the Hunts hear of it, they would surely look down on Nora!

As Nora’s family, they must have pride!

Rachel completely ignored Sheril and stared only at Nora. “Say it, how did you manage to borrow that gown? With the Andersons’ reputation, there’s no way you can borrow it!”

In a brainless move, she then pointed to Yvonne and added, “Even Ms. Smith only managed to borrow that gown she’s wearing, so why should you be able to borrow the Blue Enchantress?”

Nora raised her brows. “I went to the store to borrow it, I suppose?”

Rachel: “...”

Of course she knew that she had borrowed it from the store, but was that what she was asking about?

Before she could say anything else, Melissa had already registered at the gift reception table at the door. She said, “Alright, let’s go in. Rachel, are you going in with us, or are you going to continue playing here? Or, shall I ask your father here to come over and bring you in?”

Regardless of what was going on at home, they were in public at the moment. Rachel kicking up a fuss like that was an utter embarrassment!

Rachel swallowed. “You guys can go in first, Aunt Melissa. I’m having fun here with Ms. Smith!”

Melissa nodded.

Nora, however, glanced at the ‘Ms. Smith’ Rachel had mentioned...

She was wearing a blue gown similar in color to the one she was wearing. Strictly speaking, their outfits had clashed with each other’s. However, the Blue Enchantress’ design was clearly a little more high-end.

She looked rather bright and charming, and she carried herself gracefully. She stood there quietly with a gentle smile.

Nora asked curiously, “Is she Ian Smith’s daughter?”

She had once heard that although Ian stayed single his entire life, he had adopted a daughter.

So, she was Ian’s adopted daughter?

As soon as the thought formed, Sheril leaned toward her and explained softly, “Yes, her name is Yvonne Smith.”

Yv... onne... Smith...

Nora suddenly felt rather awkward when she heard the name.

To be honest, despite everything that had happened, for her mother to have a man who loved her that much, it seemed like that was enough for her whole life.

Sheril couldn’t help but say, “Mr. Smith is a devoted man.”

The two of them had already entered the hall while they were talking.

However, Yvonne had overheard their conversation.

She bit her lip hard. Then, she took a step forward, went to the gift registration room, and looked around. Sure enough, she saw that the Andersons had given pills as a gift.

As for what kind of pill it was, it was not specified.

But it definitely wasn't as good as the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill she was giving.

Now that she had lost in terms of dressing, she mustn't lose in terms of gifts!

With that in mind, she looked at the person at the registration counter and asked, "What kind of medicine did the Andersons give?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 269 - The Official Announcement Is Coming!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

All the birthday gifts had to be registered, lest the host couldn't tell who gave what in the end.

All those who wanted to take the grand birthday party's opportunity to curry favor with the Hunts had already sent a lot of valuable gifts a long time ago.

The person in charge of registering the gifts had already long since become numb to the great number of valuable gifts. Thus, he replied, "A box of pills."

Box?

Yvonne let out a low laugh.

The more precious a medicine, the more they were counted by the actual number of pills—after all, even a single pill was hard to come by.

Yet they had given a whole box of pills...

Their gift was probably Carefree Pills, right?

The Carefree Pill's current market value was $3,000 per pill. Even if they gave an entire box of it, how much could they possibly add up to...?

Yvonne let out a sigh of relief and said, "My gift is a pill."

The person in charge of registering gifts looked up at her. "Okay, I've noted it. What kind of precious pill is it, though, Ms. Smith?"

The question was purely out of his own curiosity.

Yvonne smiled and answered, “It’s the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill.”

Thud.

The person in charge of gift registration dropped his pen on the table. His voice also suddenly rose in volume as he repeated, “The Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill?”

Rachel, who was standing behind Yvonne, also heard them. At once, she became even more surprised, and her voice became even louder. “The Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill?”

Her words made everyone look over.

Upon sensing their envious gazes, Yvonne raised her chin a little, and she felt like she had finally regained her confidence. She said simply, “Yeah.”

Then, she headed to the party hall.

The people at the door were already sighing in admiration. “The Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill... She sure is generous!”

“Yeah, that pill is really hard to find now! The Smiths are probably the only ones that can get Dr. Zabe to make one more these days!”

“The Smiths are worthy of their name as a top-notch giant, indeed! As expected, they only do great things! The box of pills that the Andersons gave are probably Carefree Pills. In comparison, that’s nothing to be envious of anymore...”

The Andersons’ Carefree Pills had already made a name for themselves. To be honest, a box of it was actually a presentable gift.

But compared with the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill, it was ultimately still inferior.

Yvonne was delighted by their comments.

But a short while after she cheered up, her friends behind her started talking to one another softly again.

“Why didn’t the Smiths manage to borrow the Blue Enchantress when they’re so powerful, though? After all, Yvonne loved showing off the most during all the parties in the past!”

“Yeah, the brand won’t loan us the Blue Enchantress if we try to borrow it, but they definitely won’t dare to offend people like the Hunts and the Smiths if they ask for it! How did the Andersons manage to borrow it instead...?”

“By right, that shouldn’t be the case. The Smiths are a top-notch family. Isn’t it a cinch for them to borrow a gown if they want to?”

“... Don’t say any more. She’s ultimately just an adopted daughter. If she were a real Smith, how would she possibly fail to borrow it...”

Their words made Yvonne clench her fists tightly.

Not a real Smith... Indeed, it was because she wasn’t a real Smith that they had rejected her when she went to borrow the gown.

But had Joel personally made the request himself, they definitely wouldn’t have dared to refuse!

At the end of it all, it was still because she wasn’t related to the Smiths by blood.

Yvonne lowered her head. Her friends were still talking to one another softly.

“Ah, I remember now. Nora Smith was at the dance party this year, but she had only tied up her hair and worn a pantsuit that time. She’s simply beautiful in her outfit today!”

“Why do I feel like she looks even better than Ms. Smith...”

“No, wait, shouldn’t Ms. Smith and Mr. Hunt be the highlight of the Hunts’ party this evening instead? What is she wearing the Blue Enchantress to steal the limelight for? Could it be that...”

“Cough!”

Someone who saw Yvonne coughed as a reminder.

The few of them immediately shut up. All of them were rather embarrassed when they turned and spotted Yvonne. They said, “We were just talking nonsense just now, Ms. Smith. Don’t mind us...”

Yvonne took a deep breath.

Of course she knew that they were just fair-weather friends.

The moment they complained about others in front of her, she had already known that she would definitely also be the focus of their complaints.

There wasn’t anyone who didn’t talk about others behind their backs, nor was there anyone who wasn’t talked about behind their backs.

She had long since become accustomed to it after so many years.

She smiled and said, “What were you all talking about just now? I didn’t hear anything.”

The few of them breathed sighs of relief at once. Then, they started to flatter her again. “We were talking about how inappropriate Nora Smith’s behavior is. You’re definitely the star of the occasion tonight, so what is she trying to steal the limelight for? Those who didn’t know better would have thought she had some kind of special relationship with the Hunts!”

“It’s only because Ms. Hunt is studying abroad, so she isn’t in the States right now. Otherwise, how would she, of all people, possibly get to wear the Blue Enchantress...”

“Exactly. Isn’t it exactly because she’s looking for a good man to marry that she’s dressed up so nicely and attracting so much attention? But I heard that she got herself pregnant before marriage, so she has a daughter! The little girl she was holding just now is her daughter!”

“What? Who would still want her when she already has a child?”

“That’s why, girls. She must be having a hard time finding a life partner after having a child, so she can only dress up a little more beautifully to cover up that shortcoming of hers. Just take a look at all the boys over there; aren’t they all blind and bewitched now?”

“... Hmph, it’s useless even if she’s bewitched them all! Their families would never agree to it! It’s basically next to impossible for her to marry into a good family.”

“...”

Nora, the topic of everyone’s discussion, was currently surrounded by a group of men.

Although she had been the highlight at the dance party the other time, she had ultimately dressed rather coolly in a pantsuit, so she didn’t look as stunning as she did today.

Everyone had gathered around her. Some were introducing themselves, while some were trying to sound her out.

Nora, who didn’t know them at all, found them very annoying.

She broke into a frown. By then, Sheril was already saying, “Sorry, everyone. Nora and I are going to the side to rest for a while. You—”

“Are you going to the sofa over there? Sure, we can accompany you two there. Is Ms. Smith feeling unwell? Shall I help you over?”

“Let me do it instead, Mr. Simmons. After all, your arms have held too many girls before!”

“What do you mean by that? Do you think you’re that innocent yourself?”

“Of course I’m not. It’s just that the number of girlfriends I’ve had is fewer than you...”

“Neither of you are innocent enough. Don’t let them fool you, Ms. Smith. How about letting me help you over instead?”

“...”

The men started to argue with one another, causing everyone around them to look over and frown.

All of them were relatively flirtatious young men from wealthy families. They usually fooled around a lot, and seldom did anything decent. The moment they spy on a beautiful woman, they can’t move away anymore.

With them surrounding her, Nora’s reputation wouldn’t fare any better!

Sure enough, Yvonne’s friends started to insult her again.

“Look at that vixen. Isn’t her blatant seduction act a little too low-class? She definitely won’t be able to find a good boyfriend!”

The corners of Yvonne’s lips curled into a smile as she waited for Nora to make a fool out of herself.

But right at this point, Justin, who should be making an appearance later instead, suddenly appeared in the party hall!

Chapter 270 - The Strongest Socialite?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Justin was a key figure. Although his appearance had come out of the blue, he nevertheless attracted everyone's attention.

Everyone looked at him.

Yvonne's eyes lit up the moment her gaze landed on him.

Justin was undoubtedly the most attractive man in New York. He was also the goal that she had set for herself ever since she was a child. The reason why she had never had a boyfriend all these years was that she had made strict demands of herself using what Justin's woman would do as a benchmark.

Even when news of him suddenly having a child reached the Smiths five years ago, she had only hidden herself in her room and secretly cried, but still forgave him in the end.

After all, men were all Casanovas that couldn't control their lower bodies.

She had also thought of treating the child well after she married Justin. An illegitimate child definitely wouldn't be able to inherit the Hunts, but she could still have hers and Justin's future son treat him a little better. Giving him a little more money and assets would also highlight how magnanimous she was.

But Justin's delay in going to the Smiths to propose marriage had made her a little anxious in recent years. After all, she was already 25 years old. The engagement, marriage, and other procedures would take at least two years. By then, she would be old!

Although Justin had already said that he wouldn't marry her when he was eighteen, he had still stayed single for so many years. In addition, the illegitimate child's mother had never once made an appearance, either. It was said that Justin disliked her so much that he never even once mentioned her.

Therefore, she believed that Justin must be waiting for his child to grow up first.

Was he worried that she would abuse his child?

Yvonne wasn't that kind of person, but she couldn't say that to Justin, so she could only continue to wait for him helplessly at the Smiths.

It was only at the annual parties that she could even take a few looks at him from a distance. Even when she went forward to say hi to him, his eyes never seemed to ever stay on her.

She was already the most outstanding woman in New York, though. If even she couldn't catch Justin's fancy, then it was impossible that anyone else could!

She stood where she was calmly. Her friends beside her were already exclaiming.

"It's Mr. Hunt, Ms. Smith! Oh my goodness, is his sudden appearance in the party hall because of you?"

"Isn't that obvious? Of course, it's because of Ms. Smith! Do you think he'll show up because of you? Look, Mr. Hunt is coming over!"

"... Mr. Hunt is so handsome. Quick, go to him, Ms. Smith!"

Yvonne didn't speak, but her eyes were shining brighter and brighter.

She took a step forward and gazed at Justin with rosy cheeks. Then, the crowd watched as Justin walked past Yvonne and headed straight toward where Nora was a short distance away.

Yvonne's expression froze instantly.

She clenched her fists tightly.

Her friends were even more shocked.

“Where is Mr. Hunt going?”

“But Ms. Smith is here! Could it be that he isn't...”

Someone gave the woman speaking a push. Only then did she realize that she had said the wrong thing, and she hastily shut up. The rest said, “Mr. Hunt must have something he needs to do! There are simply too many people at the party today, so maybe he has some instructions he needs to give, or maybe he saw a business partner and is going over to say hi!”

“That's right. Situations like this aren't appropriate for romance, either. After all, work takes top priority...”

Their words made Yvonne bite her lip. But when she saw Justin going nearer and nearer to where Nora was, her heart suddenly sank.

Rachel knew that Nora was Justin's girlfriend, but she wasn't optimistic about the two of them. She leaned toward Yvonne and whispered, “I'm sure Mr. Hunt is just fooling around with Nora... Don't mind them.”

Fooling around...

Yvonne clenched her fists, though she kept a calm and gentle look on her face. “Well, it has nothing to do with me.”

“How can you not have anything to do with it?” Rachel kept trying to incite her. She said, “Considering Nora Smith's background and the fact that she got herself pregnant before marriage, there's absolutely no way Mr. Hunt would publicly admit that they are dating. It would be too embarrassing otherwise! They definitely won't get married! In fact, you only need to turn a blind eye, and the title of Mrs. Hunt will still be yours sooner or later, Ms. Smith!”

Turn a blind eye...

Not only must she tolerate him having a child, but she also had to tolerate him keeping a lover out there?

On top of that, apart from being a little more beautiful than most, that lover of his was utterly worthless!

Yvonne's expression turned even more awful.

Warren suddenly came over at this point. At the sight of her, he said cryptically, "You're here, Yvonne..."

A surprised Yvonne followed him to the side.

Warren lowered his voice and asked, "Why do you look kinda unhappy?"

His words made Yvonne glance at where Nora was again. She suddenly lowered her head and asked, "How did Nora Smith manage to borrow the Blue Enchantress, Warren?"

Warren was chagrined at her question. He replied, "Justin must have done it. That's the only way she could have borrowed the gown... If I had known, I would have asked Joel to do it instead!"

Yvonne bit her lip, and her eyes reddened.

Warren immediately asked, "What's the matter?"

Yvonne lowered her head. "We ran into each other at the hall entrance just now... She said that I'm not a real Smith..."

Her words immediately misled Warren. He asked incredulously, "She mocked you just because of a dress? What makes her think she can mock you like that? Even an adopted daughter of the Smiths is better than her! The Andersons have already fallen into decline a long time ago. Besides, she isn't even an Anderson because her last name is Smith... It's so off-putting how we have the same last name."

Yvonne didn't speak.

Warren sneered, "It's okay. Don't worry, I've already taken revenge for you!"

Yvonne was startled. "What?"

A smiling Warren said, "Why do you think so many rich second-generation heirs dared to hit on her so blatantly at a party like this?"

Yvonne was dumbfounded. When she turned and looked over again, she saw a few more people gathering around Nora.

No matter what, it was too inappropriate for a woman to be surrounded by several men trying to woo her, especially when the things they said were so explicit—or at least, that was how everyone saw it.

She asked in surprise, "You're the one behind it?"

Warren raised his chin triumphantly. "Well, not really. A whole group of people was attracted to her looks as soon as she came in. They were originally planning to ask about it discreetly, but I said that... she's a socialite."

Yvonne, "!!"

No wonder those men had the audacity to rush over so rudely!

Warren sneered, "They don't know that she is Justin's girlfriend. Neither can Justin acknowledge their relationship at an occasion like this, so he can only stew in silence and vent his anger on her now! Any man would be mad when their woman becomes involved with so many men in public, right?"

He raised his eyebrows. "Just wait and see. Mr. Hunt is definitely going over to deal with her. Who knows, he may even throw her out!"

Yvonne didn't know whether to laugh or cry at his words.. Yet, when she thought about it, it didn't seem entirely impossible, either. Her eyes lit up a little and she looked over...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 271 - How Can You Get Violent?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“What is Mr. Hunt doing, Ms. Smith? It doesn’t look like there’s anyone he’ll talk to over there, right?”

“Yeah...”

While Yvonne was watching, someone asked curiously,

“The people there are all young rich good-for-nothings totally different from Mr. Hunt. Why would he go there...?”

“Is it because he thinks their behavior is too inappropriate?”

“That must be it. What kind of place do they think this is? That group of good-for-nothings and that woman should look at where they are first before they hook up with one another! Mr. Hunt values ??his grandmother the most. He must have become angry!”

—

Nora was completely unaware that she had become the focus of the women’s discussion.

She merely watched the men swarming toward her and raised her eyebrows, feeling like something wasn’t quite right.

No matter how frivolous they were, they weren’t people who didn’t take time and place into consideration, so why were they doing this to her? Moreover, her belief was that she did have a rather powerful aura around her. Lily always said she was an impressive person, and just a glare from her was enough to scare Lily. When she was abroad, all the men had also kept their distance from her despite her good looks, so why would such a thing happen the moment she returned to the States?

She narrowed her eyes.

Next to her were also people trying to talk to her.

“Do you know who I am, Ms. Smith? If you have time, I think we can have a chat...”

“I met you first, Ms. Smith. Even if we are to line up to chat with you, shouldn’t I be the first?”

“Do you like Hermès, Ms. Smith? Shall I take you to Hermès for some shopping?”

“Hermès is so tacky! I have a villa in the suburbs. Shall I take you to visit it?”

Their speech became more and more explicit. Even Sheril and Melissa frowned when they heard them. Why did they look like rich young men lavishing attention on and flattering a famous courtesan?!

They were looking down on Nora too much!

Melissa reprimanded them. “Which families are you children from?! Stop fooling about!”

However, they instead laughed and said jokingly, “We aren’t fooling about. I meant what I said... You’re the Andersons, right? How about letting Ms. Smith have dinner with me so that we can discuss a partnership between our hospital and Harmonia Pharmacy?”

“Ms. Smith seemed unwell, so I wanted to help. Which part of what I’m doing looks like I’m fooling about...”

Sheril was so mad that even her cheeks had turned red. “All of you are too much! Nora doesn’t need your help! She doesn’t even want to pay any attention to any of you at all, so please step aside! We are going to rest!”

“You’re not the one who decides whether your cousin Nora wants to pay any attention to us or not. It only counts if she says it...”

“That’s right. Ms. Smith, although you already have a child, I don’t mind at all. After all, young but mature women are more charming...”

“...”

The look in Nora’s eyes turned cold, and anger roiled in her cat-like eyes.

If it weren’t because this was Mrs. Hunt’s birthday party, she would have beat them up a long time ago, yet they were actually pushing their luck this far?

In that case, they couldn’t blame her for what came next.

She lowered her head and flexed her wrists. Then, she said to the masked Cherry, “Go to the side.”

Her four words alone made Cherry step back in silence. She hid behind Melissa with practiced movements and hugged her leg.

“Don’t be scared, Cherry...” said Melissa.

Cherry replied in her adorable voice, “I’m not scared, Grand-Aunt. I just think it’s so pitiful...”

Melissa’s eyes reddened. “It’s okay, your mother is not pitiful. She still has us, we won’t let anyone bully or humiliate her!”

Cherry: “?”

She blinked her big dark eyes and said, “What I meant was that those people are so pitiful. To think they are blind enough to offend Mommy. Mommy is really angry now, and the consequences are serious when that happens!”

Melissa: “?”

As soon as she said that, a shadow flashed across in front of her.

Nora had already suddenly thrown a punch at the face of the man closest to her, who was also the one who had said the most awful things out of the lot!

Melissa: “!!”

Sheril was also dumbfounded.

The man who had been punched was even more dumbstruck. He had never expected the other party to suddenly attack while they were still talking.

However, just as Nora’s fist was about to connect with the man’s face, a large and strong hand suddenly reached over and grabbed her fist, stopping her movements.

The very next moment, a low and deep voice reached them. “You’re not allowed to hit him.”

That voice...

Everyone turned their heads in unison to see Justin standing beside Nora. He was holding Nora’s hand, thereby stopping her actions.

Everyone: “??”

Everyone in the entire party hall looked over.

The man who had almost been hit immediately said, “It’s fortunate that you came here in time, Mr. Hunt. Otherwise, I would have been beaten up! How can a great beauty like you hit someone?”

The others also echoed him.

“Yeah, what kind of occasion do you think this is? How can you hit him?”

“All he did was say a few words. Aren’t you being too crass if you get violent?!”

“That woman is too savage, Mr. Hunt! Her behavior is outrageous!”

In the distance.

Yvonne breathed a sigh of relief at the sight.

As expected, Justin had become angry.

That woman sure was stupid, though. Even though they were in public, instead of trying to defuse the situation, she actually had the guts to get violent?

A woman like her wasn't fit to be seen in public!

Rachel couldn't even hide the gloating look on her face. She said, “Did you see that? I told you, women from small places are just too reckless. She's offended Mr. Hunt!”

Their friends also said very cooperatively, “Exactly. This is Mrs. Hunt's birthday party, how can she get violent?”

“Here I was, thinking that she was some kind of impressive person because she's wearing the Blue Enchantress. I didn't expect her to actually behave in such a low-class manner!”

“A gentleman resolves problems through words instead of violence. Doesn't she have even the most basic common sense?”

Justin's actions also shocked Sheril and Melissa. Melissa frowned and defended Nora. She said, “They were the ones who provoked Nora first, Justin.”

Sheril nodded.

Cherry also nodded repeatedly.

But unexpectedly, as soon as she said that, Justin said sternly, “Even so, she's still not allowed to hit anyone.”

Melissa: “??”

She was a little angry.

She didn't expect that in order to prevent an embarrassing situation, Justin actually didn't even care that Nora had suffered injustice.

The man who had almost been hit became even more triumphant. He said, “That's right! If you're unhappy, then we can just talk about it. What is the meaning of resorting to violence? You're too much!”

He looked at Justin again. “It's okay, though, Mr. Hunt. I'll let the matter pass as long as she apologizes to me. I won't hold it against her...”

It was only after he spoke that he realized that Justin wasn't looking at him at all. Instead, he was looking at Nora.

Nora's brows were raised. She asked with a hint of displeasure, “Why can't I hit him?”

That woman was actually countering with a question of her own?

The man immediately sneered, “Because you should see where you are...”

It was a shame that before he could finish, Justin had already said, “Because force goes both ways. What if it hurts your hand?”

Everyone: “????”

Chapter 272 - Let Me Make The Introductions, This Is My Girlfriend

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

For a while, it was as if someone had pressed the mute button for the entire party hall.

There was no other sound aside from the soft music that the Hunts were playing.

Yvonne's friends next to her, the rich young men taking the opportunity to fool about, the people with actual status and influence, as well as the guests that had just entered the hall... All of them were looking at him in disbelief.

Justin's voice just now had neither been too loud nor too soft, but because everyone was paying attention to him in order to determine his stance, his words had reached everyone's ears clearly.

Everyone looked at him incredulously, and then at Nora.

All of them were wondering the same thing—what was going on here?

Why did the atmosphere between Mr. Hunt and Nora Smith feel kinda off?! Also, why was Mr. Hunt still holding Ms. Smith's hand even though so much time had passed since he grabbed her hand to stop her?

Yvonne's friends next to her started whispering and speculating again.

“What's going on? Why does it look like Mr. Hunt knows that hillbilly?”

“Why do I feel like there's an unusual relationship between those two?”

Along with those words, the few of them looked at Yvonne and asked, “Surely Mr. Hunt doesn’t have anything to do with her, right, Ms. Smith?”

Yvonne bit her lip.

She lowered her head and slowly said, “I don’t know what kind of relationship the two of them share, but even if they aren’t related in any way, a host won’t stand by idly and watch as someone bullies their guest, right? After all, those men went too far.”

Rachel was so jealous that she was almost out of her mind. She said, “Yeah, what kind of relationship can Nora Smith and Mr. Hunt possibly share? They have nothing to do with each other at all! Mr. Hunt must have just found those people’s actions too much. It’s just a shame that he doesn’t know what that woman is like!”

The girls: “...”

Everyone exchanged looks with one another, all of them sensing something amiss.

Why did Yvonne look a little unhappy? It seemed like that woman’s presence was really bothering her...

Everyone was smart here. They hadn’t thought of that in the beginning, but now...

Could it be that Nora Smith’s good looks had also attracted Mr. Hunt?

Just as everyone was speculating, Nora, the subject of the drama, waved and shook Justin’s hand away in disdain. Her voice was low and impatient as she asked, “If I can’t hit him, then what should I do?”

Her shoes were too uncomfortable. She wanted to deal with the people in front of her as soon as possible so that she could change her shoes.

Justin’s icy voice rang out. “Where’s the butler?”

The butler in charge of the Hunts' external affairs had already noticed Justin the instant he appeared. Upon hearing his words, he hurriedly came over. "Sir."

Justin pointed casually at the men. "These frivolous and flippant people here... Send! Them! Out! Nicely!"

The meaning behind his deliberate emphasis on the words 'send them out nicely' was very obvious. There was no way the butler could see those people out the door politely anymore.

The butler nodded immediately. "Yes, sir."

With a wave from him, a few security guards rushed over. They held down the frivolous rich second-generation heirs, buckled their hands behind their backs, and dragged them out!

The men were dumbfounded. One even shouted, "Mr. Hunt, Mr. Hunt...! What are you doing? All we did was say a few words to her... Do you know who she is, Mr. Hunt? She's a socialite! It was mutually consensual when we chatted with each other! We didn't force her into anything!"

'Socialite'...

The word made Justin's pupils shrink.

He suddenly said, "Stop."

The security guard stopped and let go of the man. The man wasn't from an influential family. He had come to the party by tagging along with someone else's invitation so that he could get to know more people.

Thus, when Warren incited them to go over, he had done so accordingly.

He wasn't willing to be driven out just like that. On top of that, he also had the guts to speak up. He immediately said, "Are you doing this because you're not aware of her identity? Don't let her beautiful appearance fool you! I heard tha—"

But before he could finish, Justin interrupted him. “Who did you hear that from?”

The man subconsciously looked at Warren standing among the crowd, causing him to shrink back and hide behind Yvonne.

Yvonne: “...”

He didn’t see Warren, but he didn’t dare to drag the Smiths into this, either. Thus, the man could only say, “I... I just overheard some people...”

“Can things that you hear through the grapevine be brought to the public?” Justin looked at the butler and said, “Find Ms. Smith a lawyer, and sue him for slander.”

“... Yes, sir,” said the butler.

Everyone else: “...”

“There’s no need for that.” Nora suddenly interrupted him. Then, she lowered her voice and slowly said, “I don’t care about all this. I just want to change my shoes now.”

Justin: “...”

He fell silent for a moment. Then, he looked at the butler and said, “Never mind, then. Don’t sue him anymore.”

His voice was deep and tinged with displeasure.

The butler silently said a prayer inwardly for the man.

If they had sued him, all he would have had to do was just pay damages for harming the other party’s reputation.

But now that they weren’t suing him anymore, the man would probably have to pay an even higher price to appease Mr. Hunt.

The butler wasn't the only one who understood that; the man understood it even better.

He panicked at once. "I was wrong, Mr. Hunt. Please let me off!"

Unfortunately, Justin was no longer paying attention to him.

What more did he have to say to him when his girlfriend's feet were uncomfortable?

He waved casually. The security guards immediately dragged the men to the door...

Once they went out the door, he would really have to pay the price for his actions!

The man was so terrified that he yelled, "Isn't she just a woman who looks a little better than most, Mr. Hunt? Who is she to you? Why would you protect her like that?!"

The place fell silent.

Everyone looked at Justin curiously.

Yvonne clenched her fingers nervously.

Justin wouldn't admit it, right? After all, Nora's status was too low; she wasn't worthy of him at all. If he admitted it on an occasion like this, everyone would hear of it!

Having a girlfriend in private and showing her off to everyone were two completely different things!

Nora raised her eyebrows.

She said unhurriedly, "We don't have anyt—"

Before she could finish, a warm arm suddenly snaked around her waist, and her feet left the ground the next moment—Justin had picked up her and was carrying her in his arms!

Her head whipped toward him, and she saw Justin carry her to the sofa next to them with his gaze lowered.

He put her down gently when he reached the sofa.

It was only then that everyone finally noticed that he had been holding an exquisite bag all this time. He opened the bag, took out the shoes inside, and slowly squatted down. He took off the shoes that Nora was wearing, and then changed her shoes for her.

His series of actions came so suddenly that even Nora herself was dumbfounded.

Never would she have ever thought that the lofty man high up in the air would actually squat down and change her shoes for her.

Then, the man stood up straight as if he wasn't the person who had just bent over. As if overlooking everyone from the top, he slowly said, "Let me make the introductions. This is my girlfriend, Ms.. Nora Smith."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 273 - 3: Birthday Gift~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“...”

“...”

“...”

The entire hall was filled with silence. Everyone looked at them in disbelief.

Melissa and Sheril hadn't expected at all that Justin would disregard everything and reveal their relationship on an occasion like this.

To be honest, the Andersons were already no longer comparable to the Hunts thirty years ago. Yvette had been able to make everyone take notice of her because she was simply that outstanding, so much so that the Hunts and the Smiths found it an honor to have her marry into the family.

But the Andersons were just a down-and-out family these days. Besides, that situation just now... Melissa and Sheril exchanged a look.

Sheril leaned toward Melissa and whispered, “Mom, Mr. Hunt is serious about Nora.”

And wasn't that so?

She was the two children's mother, after all!

Melissa was never one to underestimate children from her own family. She asked, “Why does Nora look a little unhappy to me, though?”

Sheril followed her gaze and looked over to see Nora frowning.

She was indeed a little unhappy.

She had always stayed low-profile ever since she was a child, and had never wanted anyone to pay any attention to her. Once she became Justin's girlfriend—or even the future Mrs. Hunt—people would definitely pay attention to her.

Of course, this was also the reason why she had kept pushing Justin away, and forbade herself from developing feelings for him all this time.

Yet that guy had actually announced their relationship in public?

Had he asked her for permission? And had she agreed to it?

But there was no use crying over spilled milk. She frowned and started thinking of a way to get out of the situation unscathed.

Seemingly having sensed her displeasure, Justin lowered his head as if to explain, yet also as if to cover up his actions. He said, “They were too much just now, Nora. I didn't manage to hold myself back for a moment there and ended up revealing our relationship. You won't mind, right?”

Nora: “?”

He didn't manage to hold himself back for a moment there?

Did he really think that she would believe his nonsense?

Given the man's personality, she would believe it if he said that he held himself back and stopped himself from doing something, but she would never believe it if he said that he did something in a moment of impulse!

As the head of the Hunts and the leader of the top conglomerate in the States, would he do something ‘in a moment of impulse’?

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed. She looked at him and saw that his usually deep and bottomless eyes looked a little tentative and nervous, as though he really was sincerely apologizing. Even the beauty mark at the corner of his eye seemed to be exuding a vague feeling that he had suffered injustice, making her unable to pursue the matter at all. In the end, her words went a few rounds in her throat only to finally turn into two words filled with resignation. "... Never mind."

Justin nodded. "Mm, although we aren't going to get married, you're still the children's mother, so it's okay to let outsiders know about our relationship, right, Nora?"

'Nora'?

It was only then that Nora noticed that the man had started using a different term of address for her at some point.

However, it did sound pretty nice when the scumbag uttered her name with his deep and slightly raspy voice.

She lowered her gaze and glanced at the new pair of shoes. Although they were also high heels, their soles finally weren't that slippery anymore, so she could manage them now.

In the distance.

The man whom the security guards were holding down was stunned. He looked at Nora in disbelief, and then looked toward the crowd, trying to find Warren.

Didn't Warren say that she was a socialite?

But there was no way Mr. Hunt would acknowledge a socialite as his girlfriend in public!

He had been tricked!

By the time he reacted, the security guards were already dragging him out after a wave from the butler.

He was utterly despondent. What was he to do? He had finally realized just what kind of mistake he had made. Besides, even he himself felt that his behavior was no different from having a death wish!

Further away, Yvonne and Rachel were dumbfounded.

The two of them had been ready for a good show just now when Nora was surrounded by the group of men, and when faint rumors of her being a socialite had been spreading.

Once a reputation like that made the rounds, Nora would pretty much be finished!

Little did they expect that Mr. Hunt would openly admit the relationship between the two.

With that, Nora definitely wasn't a socialite anymore... Because Justin's words, as well as his taste, were the most direct evidence!

Their friends nearby were startled by the news. Then, gloating looks immediately appeared on their faces.

In fact, they couldn't even quite keep their voices low anymore.

“Nora Smith is actually Mr. Hunt's girlfriend?”

“Oh my god, what a revelation! She's beautiful enough, though!”

“I suddenly thought of something—please let Mr. Hunt subdue a vixen like Nora Smith, lest she brings harm to other people's husbands!”

“... Oh my god, I also breathed a small sigh of relief. My husband was practically dazzled by Nora Smith just now! But he can only secretly fantasize about her now. Who would dare to lay a hand on Mr. Hunt's girlfriend?”

“Hahaha!”

Someone glanced at Yvonne.

“I already had a vague feeling that something was amiss just now. Why does it feel like Yvonne has been competing with Nora Smith the whole time today? As it turns out, it's because of that!”

“In other words, Yvonne has been waiting painstakingly for Mr. Hunt for over twenty years, but in the end, he doesn’t want her at all?”

“I suddenly find her a little pitiful. Nora Smith has stolen all the limelight today... But this means that Mr. Hunt must have been the one who borrowed the gown for her. Nora has totally suppressed Yvonne!”

“... Shh, keep your voice down. She’s heard you...”

“So what even if she hears me? She’s just the Smiths’ adopted daughter. Does she really think she’s a real young lady of the Smiths?”

The few of them gradually walked away. Yvonne clenched her fists tightly and tried her best to suppress her anger.

She mustn’t make a faux pas under such circumstances!

She would also make up for the embarrassment she had just suffered in a while!

Rachel had also heard the few women’s conversations. She looked at Yvonne but saw that she looked calm and was still smiling gently.

She couldn’t help but sigh in admiration inwardly. Ms. Smith sure had outstanding mental resilience!

Why should Nora Smith get to show off so much, though?

Just as everyone was entertaining their own thoughts, Mrs. Hunt, the elderly birthday girl, finally made her appearance. She sat at a higher position and looked at everyone with a kindly look on her face.

One by one, everyone started to present her with gifts and pay her compliments.

The elders went first. Starting with Raymond, people went forward one by one to offer her their well wishes.

After the Hunts were done, it was the guests’ turn.

By right, the Smiths should have been the first.

But because of Justin's official announcement, the Andersons' status had risen accordingly. In fact, he even personally led Melissa, Nora, and the others forward.

Everyone's gazes instantly fell on them.

Rachel, who was next to Yvonne, sneered at the sight. She said, "It doesn't mean a thing no matter how much Mr.. Hunt favors them. Aren't they unable to present a decent birthday gift all the same?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 274 - Zabe Corporations Calming Pill!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The juniors' gifts were all in her hands. The larger ones were already placed beside, and the smaller ones were sent to the gift section after their congratulations.

During the gift-giving process, Mrs. Hunt would keep what she liked.

For example, she liked a longevity painting very much and could not bear to let it go.

Someone asked, "Mrs. Hunt, who gave this to you? Why do you like it so much?"

Mrs. Hunt smiled and glanced at Nora.

When she was upstairs earlier, she had witnessed everything downstairs and also saw Justin expose their identities to save her face.

She felt even more unhappy. At this moment, she lowered her eyes and said very seriously, "My great-grandson Peter Hunt drew it!"

Peter Hunt...

This was the first time this name had appeared in front of the public!

At first, no one realized who it was, but Mrs. Hunt continued to explain. "He's Justin's son!"

Son!

It turned out that many years ago, Justin's illegitimate child was a son!

Over the years, that child had been a secret and had been protected very well by Justin. The others did not even know if he was a man or a woman.

However, at this moment, Mrs. Hunt had given everyone the evidence!

She was giving Pete a lot of face.

Of course, this behavior was to reassure everyone.

She wanted everyone to know that Young Master Pete's status would not change just because Mr. Hunt had a girlfriend... Before this, Pete had never appeared in front of everyone!

Of course, he had not appeared yet, but at least his name had already spread among the high society.

When everyone heard this, they all looked at Justin and Nora.

Mrs. Hunt's intentions were too obvious. Everyone understood. They originally thought that Nora would look a little ugly, but the two of them actually had an indifferent attitude.

Justin was a man. As long as the future heir was his son, he could do whatever he wanted. However, Nora did not care at all?

After everyone had looked at her highly, they could not help but look down on her now.

Rachel smiled as well and said to Yvonne, "Did you see that? Mrs. Hunt is warning her publicly. She's telling Nora to be obedient!"

Yvonne lowered his eyes and did not speak.

However, Rachel became smug. "So what if she's with Mr. Hunt? She still doesn't have any status in the family!"

As she spoke, Justin led Melissa to Mrs. Hunt.

Rachel instantly became even more excited. “The Andersons are in dire straits now. Their family can’t even afford a decent gift, right?”

As she thought about this, she heard Melissa say, “Mrs. Hunt, today is your birthday. The Andersons wish you good fortune and longevity.”

After saying this briefly and elegantly, she said, “We have prepared a small gift here. I hope you’ll like it.”

After saying that, she looked at Nora.

Nora raised her eyebrows and handed her a box of pills.

Mrs. Lewis took a step forward first. She was very respectful in front of Justin and everyone else. After all, she could not lose the Hunt family’s face.

The others saw the iron box without a label. Nora originally wanted to use a paper box, but Melissa felt that it looked too ridiculous. Therefore, she had changed to the iron box. However, even so, it was still too shabby in the eyes of outsiders.

Rachel could not help but laugh mockingly.

Her laughter attracted the attention of the others. Everyone asked, “What are you laughing at?”

Rachel lowered her head. “The Andersons manufacture the Carefree Pill. So this must be a box of Carefree Pill, right? I heard that the price of Carefree Pill on the market is $3,000. This box should have 50 pills, right?”

50 pills meant $150,000.

In an ordinary family, this was definitely a huge gift.

However, in the Hunts... especially when Justin had just announced their identities, Nora’s gift should be more valuable.

But it was only worth $150,000?

The rest of the people's expressions became complicated as they whispered to each other and chuckled. However, they did not dare to say anything on the surface. Someone else complimented, "50 Carefree Pill? That's too impressive. If you want to buy this pill, you have to have your identity card. Everyone is only allowed to buy one every month. As expected of the Andersons, you can buy 50 pills at once."

This flattery was too dry.

Mrs. Hunt became even angrier.

She lowered her eyes and still had a gentle smile on her face. She said, "Mrs. Anderson, you're too polite. At my age, it's indeed better to give me pills than anything else..."

Although she said that, when Mrs. Lewis handed her the box of pills, she placed it casually beside her and did not bother to open it.

When Melissa saw this situation, she did not say anything.

Under such circumstances, she couldn't possibly praise herself for being good with her pills, right?

If Mrs. Hunt did not open the box and did not ask, she would not be able to answer anything. She simply smiled and brought Sheril and Nora to the side.

After they left, it was the Smiths' turn.

Hearing the butler call out, Warren represented the Smiths and led Yvonne forward.

After saying a few polite words, he delivered the gift the Smiths had prepared. It was a red coral tree. It was expensive, but it matched both parties' identities and was very standard.

After Warren walked away, Yvonne stepped forward and smiled. "Grandma, I'm here to wish you a happy birthday!"

Seeing her, Mrs. Hunt immediately smiled. “Miss Smith, you’re here too?”

Yvonne nodded and took out a carefully packaged box. “Yes, I also prepared a small gift for you.”

As she spoke, she handed her the medicine box.

Mrs. Lewis took it and handed it to Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Hunt smiled and opened the medicine box. “What medicine is this? It looks so good. Let me see if it’s some miracle medicine!”

After she opened the box, a faint fragrance that belonged to the Calming Pill floated in the hall.

Mrs. Hunt was indeed someone who had seen the world. She immediately understood what was going on when she smelled it. She asked in surprise, “This is... the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill?”

Her words immediately surprised the guests below. Everyone exclaimed, “The Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill? Wasn’t the production stopped?”

“I heard that up until now, only the heir of the Zabes, Silvester Zabe, could create something like this. But this skill ends with him! Did the Smiths invite Dr. Zabe to make the pills? That’s too awesome!”

“As expected of the Smiths. Only their family can have so much manpower, resources, and financial power!”

“...”

When the praises from the surrounding people reached Yvonne’s ears, she said “humbly”, “I’m considered to have made a big move in front of everyone.. The Andersons are the real pharmaceutical experts. Compared to their pills, what’s mine?”

Chapter 275 - Ian Is Here!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Although she said that, she instantly focused the conflict on the Andersons and Nora.

Melissa's brows knitted together.

The others laughed as well. Someone even said, "Although the Andersons are pharmaceutical experts, Dr. Zabe is a respected figure in the traditional medicine world. His skills have long stopped being passed on, and the Andersons can't make it! Besides, this pill is special because of the ingredients. I heard it costs millions! It even needs 500-year-old ginseng!"

"500-year-old ginseng? Isn't that too old? One ginseng can only produce one pill?"

"This is where the value of Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill lies. Logically speaking, a single ginseng should be enough to create an entire furnace worth of pills. However, this medicine is extremely difficult to form. Dr. Zabe created a furnace-full of pills a few years ago, and indeed, only one succeeded. Therefore, although this medicine is useful for calming the mind, even people like us really can't afford it!"

"The Smiths are indeed powerful! Yvonne, this gift is to touch Mrs. Hunt's heart, right? From the looks of it, Nora can't compare to Yvonne. Why is Mr. Hunt interested in Nora Smith?"

"...Nora is good-looking! Aren't men all about looks?"

"..."

As everyone was discussing in private, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Lewis looked at each other.

Yvonne's words had thrown the topic to the Andersons. Although Mrs. Hunt did not like Nora, she still knew her limits under such circumstances!

She did not follow Yvonne's words and smiled. "Miss Smith, thank you!"

However, she did not say this to the Andersons. It was obvious that she did not take a liking to the Andersons' pills.

Yvonne's eyes flickered as she smiled and did not speak again.

When she turned to leave, Rachel saw that Yvonne did not seize such a good opportunity. She could not help but call out for her, "Mrs. Hunt, show us the pills the Andersons gave you! Are they Carefree Pills?"

Everyone looked at Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Hunt's expression turned even uglier.

She glanced at Nora and saw that the girl's eyes were lowered and her eyelids were drooping. She seemed to not understand the atmosphere at all and had an indifferent attitude.

Her expression made Mrs. Hunt even angrier.

How stupid was she? She could not even hear such provocative words!

Mrs. Hunt looked at Melissa again. The moment their eyes met, Melissa understood what she meant.

After some thought, she shook her head gently.

Mrs. Hunt understood what she meant. She sneered in her heart and looked down on them. However, she smiled and said, "This is medicine for me to take, why should I show it to you young people? Mrs. Lewis, send the medicine to the room!"

Hearing this, Mrs. Lewis instantly nodded. She took Nora's medicine and Yvonne's medicine and turned to walk upstairs.

In the crowd.

Sheril looked at Melissa in confusion and asked, “Mom, why didn’t you let Mrs. Hunt open the pills we gave her? This way, we could ruthlessly slap those people who look down on us!”

Melissa stood there steadily. She smiled and said gently, “First of all, your Sister Nora might not want anyone to know that she can create this pill. Otherwise, there will be a lot of trouble in the future. Secondly, we don’t have any enmity with the Smiths. There’s no need to make things difficult for Yvonne.”

She educated Sheril. “Sometimes, unnecessary comparisons only make people more and more concerned about other people’s opinions. We don’t live for other people’s opinions. We live for ourselves.”

Sheril was stunned when she heard Melissa’s words.

Her mother had always had a proud and self-righteous aura. She never cared about others’ opinions and lived like herself.

She herself had never reached this level before.

Just as she was thinking about it, she heard Nora say, “Aunt is right.”

Sheril suddenly felt that her thoughts were too immature. Did even Sister Nora think that way?

As she was thinking, she heard Nora say slowly, “It’ll be too troublesome if someone finds out.”

For the sake of making medicine, she had not slept for two days!

What if people found out that she knew how to make drugs and came looking for her in the future?

Sheril: !!!

She knew that Sister Nora’s thoughts were different.

She winced.

The rest of the people continued to send gifts, but Nora already felt a little hungry. She simply took Cherry and walked to the dessert area beside them.

When she got there, she casually took a fork and was about to pick up a piece of cake when another fork reached over. Their forks met in the air.

Nora looked up and saw a woman in her 30s looking at her.

Nora raised her eyebrows and retracted her fork. She grabbed the cake beside her.

Just as she was about to leave, the woman suddenly said, “You’re Cherry’s mother, right?”

Nora: “?”

The woman smiled. “I’m Brandon’s mother! Brandon always talks about his boss at home. It’s a pleasure to meet you!”

Nora: “...Hello.”

Brandon’s mother, Maureen, who was also Warren’s wife, was a straightforward woman. Her husband doted on his little sister, but as his wife, she could not say a word.

At home, Yvonne would definitely want the best and eat the most exquisite food.

This made her feel a little uncomfortable.

Others might not be able to tell, but she could. Yvonne wanted the best because she felt that she was not Ian’s biological daughter. If she could not get the best, wouldn’t she be looked down on?

However, they were both women. She was also someone else’s daughter who had been pampered since she was young. Why should she let her have her way?

Therefore, over the years, she had developed a huge grudge against Yvonne.

Just like earlier, when she was eating a piece of cake, she had picked the one with the best design. She did not expect to bump into Nora.

She originally planned to move aside subconsciously. After all, Nora was Justin's girlfriend. There was no need to offend her.

However, she did not expect Nora to take the initiative to pick a piece of cake at the side.

It was this humble gesture that made her instantly have a good impression of her. She was about to say something more to Nora when her phone suddenly rang.

She lowered her head to take a look and said, "Cherry's mother, my eldest brother is here with Third Uncle. I'll pick him up. Let's have a good chat another day!"

With that, she left, leaving Nora confused.

At the door.

Ian's body was weak and he could no longer walk for long. He sat in a wheelchair and was pushed into the banquet hall by Joel.

After entering, he looked up, his eyes searching for that person eagerly.

He wanted to see what she looked like. Did she look more like her mother?

Chapter 276 - Rich Grandpa~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Although he had seen her appearance on camera during the live broadcast last time, there was still a difference between video and reality.

Ever since he found out about the DNA test results, he had been hiding in the hospital like a deserter because he could not face it.

However, when he arrived at the scene, he realized that he actually wanted to see her. He wanted to see Yvette from more than twenty years ago through her.

There were many people in the banquet hall... and as soon as the two of them entered, the Hunts noticed them.

Ian was definitely an elder worthy of respect, so the butler immediately informed Justin...

At this moment, Justin was walking to the dessert area. He found Nora and spoke to her in a low voice. "I've already investigated those people just now. Sure enough, someone is causing trouble."

Nora ate the desserts in one bite and filled her stomach.

She liked to eat big bites to save time. She was not picky about the cake's appearance earlier because what it looked like did not matter to her at all. She only cared about the taste.

After eating it, her lips were stained with cream.

When Justin saw this, his eyes darkened.

He pointed to her mouth and said, "There's cream here."

Nora raised her eyebrows and wiped her mouth in the direction he pointed. However, Justin was referring to her right side. When it came to her, it became the left side.

She did not know that the cream on the right side of her mouth was still there.

Justin pointed again, and Nora wiped it again hesitantly.

Was it still there?

How big could her mouth be?!

Just as Nora was hesitating, Justin reached out helplessly and placed his hand on her lips.

Perhaps because he practiced martial arts often, but his fingers were thin and calloused. When his warm hand touched her slightly cold lips, Nora's body froze slightly.

She felt the man's fingers knead her lips. The strength and warmth made her feel as if she had been aroused.

It was as if a feather had gently glided across her heart. It was as if she had been electrocuted...

This made her mouth feel a little dry. The man retracted his hand as if nothing had happened and raised it in front of her. "Nora, I didn't mean to take advantage of you."

His fingers were very clean. There were no traces of cream at all.

Nora: "..."

Just as she was about to say something, the man retracted his fingers and said with a dark gaze, "Those people were bewitched by Warren. Initially, I wanted to settle scores with him directly, but because of your special relationship with the Smiths... I wanted to ask you how to handle this matter."

Special relationship?

Nora was stunned. What special relationship?

As she was hesitating, she heard Justin say, “I saw that you seemed to be chatting with his wife. Did she apologize to you?”

His wife?

Nora’s thoughts had already shifted with Justin’s words. How could she still care about those fingers unstained with cream?

After a moment of silence, she finally understood. “You’re saying that Maureen is Brandon’s mother, and Warren is Brandon’s father?”

Justin nodded.

Nora hesitated.

Although she did not know why Warren had hired someone to slander her reputation, his wife was quite cute and a little familiar. Furthermore, his son seemed to be Cherry’s little follower.

She nodded slowly. “Forget it.”

Anyway, that matter did not affect her much. However, as a safety precaution, she said, “Leave evidence. If he still dares to attack, I’ll destroy him with one hit!”

Nora could not be bothered to fight with others.

Such a small conspiracy was nothing to her. If she had the time and energy, she might as well sleep!

If that person was really annoying, she would settle him at once.

Justin clearly agreed with her words. He nodded and said, “I think so. Since you say so, I’ll get that man to leave a statement and video. If Warren dares to play any tricks again, I’ll directly get Joel to deal with him!”

“Yeah.”

After Nora answered, she walked to the cake section beside her and picked up another small cake.

She felt that this design was very good. She ate one cake with one bite at a time, making her feel extremely comfortable.

Justin looked at a lady standing not far from her. She was holding a plate and fork and eating them bit by bit. Then, she looked at Nora... She was too cute!

He chuckled and pointed at the black forest cake beside him. “This cake is not bad.”

Cherry stood beside him. “Daddy, I want to eat the mousse cake!”

“Sure.”

Justin bent down, picked Cherry up, and walked to the side.

Cherry’s mask only covered half of her face, and the bottom half was exposed. It did not affect her eating.

After taking two bites, she sighed again.

Justin asked, “What’s wrong?”

Cherry looked at Nora grudgingly. “Mommy, have you not found my Sponsor Grandpa yet?”

Nora, who was eating cake, was speechless.

She froze for a moment before nodding confidently. “Yes, I forgot.”

Cherry: “!!”

The sparks on her and her Sponsor Grandpa had already been extinguished. There was still no news of her Sponsor Grandpa. She did not know how he was doing either.

On the other hand, Justin was a little jealous. “Why are you looking for your Sponsor Grandpa? What do you want? Daddy will buy it for you.”

Cherry: “...Daddy, you don’t understand!”

It was not easy to find someone who could maintain sparks. How could she give up so easily?

Justin was stunned. He suddenly felt sad. His daughter had grown up and had other thoughts!

He still wanted to say something when the butler came in front of him. “Sir, Mr. Ian Smith is here.”

Ian...

Justin glanced at Nora and said, “I’ll go over and take a look.”

Nora nodded. “Alright, you go.”

After taking two more steps, Justin suddenly turned back to look at her. Indeed, he saw the woman looking at the door curiously, seemingly quite interested.

He thought about it and turned back. “Want to come with me?” he asked.

Nora thought for a moment and nodded. “Okay.”

She put down the cake plate and held Cherry’s hand.

Justin instructed, “When you see him, you have to call him Grandpa politely. You can also call him Grandfather...”

Just as he was debating whether to call him “Grandpa” or “Grandfather,” Cherry pursed her lips. “I don’t want to call anyone else “Grandpa”. I just want to call my Sponsor Grandpa!”

“...”

Nora became a little curious.

She really wanted to know what kind of person could not forget her mother for 25 years! Moreover, she heard that he was not in good health?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 277 - Meeting Each Other

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Warren's appearance caused the banquet to have another small climax.

After all, this person had been living in seclusion for more than ten years. However, the fear of being dominated by him in the business world still remained in the hearts of the big shots.

Everyone greeted him respectfully. Only when they saw Justin bringing his official girlfriend over did everyone make way for him.

In the distance.

Yvonne was stunned when she heard that her father was there.

Rachel exclaimed, "Miss Smith, did your father come here for you?"

Yvonne was unsure.

However, Rachel became determined. "The Hunts have let you down. Mr. Hunt had just announced his girlfriend, but your father dragged himself over despite his illness. He must be here to help you get justice!"

When Yvonne heard this, her eyes lit up.

She quickly walked to the entrance and bumped into Warren on the way.

Warren said, "Little Sister, I couldn't help you vent your anger earlier. I'll help you vent it later! I'm famous for being protective! I'll definitely protect you in this matter!"

However, Yvonne bit her lips and did not have much hope.

Ian was famous for being protective, but Justin had already declared a few years ago that he would not marry her. Ian knew about this, so he had no reason to come and seek justice for her.

Then why did Dad suddenly come here?

She did not have time to think about it. She walked over and stood behind Ian. She took over the wheelchair from the servant very naturally and called out, "Dad."

Ian nodded at her.

He had done all he could for this adopted daughter of his, but perhaps it was Yvette's betrayal back then that made him very indifferent to favors.

Not to mention Yvonne, he didn't even want to bother with his nephews at home. Even Joel was used to his cold demeanor.

Yvonne's heart sank. She felt that Ian was not here to give her face in public.

At this moment, a voice came from the crowd. "Mr. Hunt is here!"

The people who were originally surrounding Ian instantly opened up a path. Justin walked over slowly with Nora and Nora's little masked daughter.

The current heads of the two aristocratic families in New York were all here. Although Ian was old and sitting in a wheelchair, his aura was still powerful.

Not to mention Justin and Joel, who were like the midday sun. One of the two men was cold, and the other was a wolf in sheep's clothing. However, both of them were important figures who could make one's expression change.

Therefore, the people around them gradually fell silent and listened to their small talk.

Nora did not notice the expressions around her. At that moment, all her attention was snatched away by Ian.

He was sitting in a wheelchair. His face was thin, and there were wrinkles at the corners of his eyes because he was too thin. One could tell his age, but his deep eyes and sharp facial features still exuded a mature charm and handsomeness.

Furthermore, in Nora's eyes, through his eyes and brows, he had even restored his appearance from when he was young. He had thick eyebrows and big eyes. Under his double eyelids, his deep eyes were not inferior to any male celebrity now!

He might not even be inferior to Justin and Joel in terms of looks!

He was a handsome man.

Tsk.

Mother was so lucky!

Nora raised her eyebrows and sighed in her heart. She saw that Ian's gaze only swept past Justin gently before stopping on her.

His eyes were sizing her up, and his gaze was deep. If it was an ordinary person, they would probably be frightened by his gaze. However, Nora just stood there quietly and did not say a word. It was as if Ian was not even looking at her.

She had a strong mental fortitude.

She was indeed a Smith

A hint of admiration flashed past Ian's eyes. When he saw her again, the hostility he had toward her earlier had unknowingly dissipated a little.

He was about to retract his gaze when Justin stepped forward and blocked Nora.

Ian: “?”

Only then did he raise his eyebrows and look at Justin.

When he saw Justin previously, he always felt that this junior was not bad. He and Joel were indeed the most outstanding people in their generation and were much stronger than his own generation back then.

He did not expect him to be so protective of a woman.

He appreciated that.

Justin said politely, “Uncle Ian, I didn’t expect you to come personally.”

Ian lowered his eyes and said calmly, “It’s Mrs. Hunt’s birthday, how could I not come?”

After saying that, he looked behind him. “Aren’t you going to introduce us?”

Only then did Justin move aside. He gestured towards Nora and said, “This is my girlfriend, Miss Nora Smith.”

After saying that, he introduced him to Nora. “This is Mr. Ian Smith. You can follow me and call him... Uncle Ian.”

With that, Justin’s eyes flashed and he looked at Ian again.

Back then, after Nora had pointed out that she was not Henry’s daughter, he had found someone to punish Henry and take revenge on him for abandoning his son and burying him alive.

After all, he had not made a move previously on the account that Henry was Pete’s biological grandfather. However, once he knew that the two of them were not relatives and that they were no longer tied together, he no longer had any qualms.

After that, he began to suspect that Nora’s biological father was Ian.

First of all, the love story between Yvette and Ian back then had spread throughout the entire New York. He did not believe that a person's heart would change just because they said so.

Secondly, Nora's surname was Smith. Wasn't this enough to prove something?

Next, the people he had sent to protect Nora said that someone had pulled her hair, but Ian had stopped them and taken them away.

Justin could not get them back.

At that time, he knew that Ian must have gotten someone to do a DNA test!

However, he could not understand what was going to happen next.

For families like them, it would only take a few hours to get a quick DNA test report. However, the Smiths had not taken any action after that. They only let Quentin follow Nora secretly. First, it was to monitor her, and second, it was to protect her.

Therefore, he was confused.

What was the result of the DNA report?

Was Ian Nora's father?

Therefore, he hesitated when introducing him. He did not know if letting Nora call him Uncle Ian was right or wrong.

Just as he was feeling conflicted, Ian looked at Nora confidently. "Justin, may I have a private chat with Miss Smith?"

Private chat?

Justin's eyes narrowed.

Ian's attitude was too unpredictable.

If she was his daughter, he would have come to acknowledge her a long time ago. But if she was not, would he make a move on her when love turns to hatred?

As he was thinking about Nora's safety, Nora said, "Okay."

She took a few steps to the side.

Yvonne pushed Ian and wanted to follow.. However, before she could push the wheelchair, she heard Ian instruct her, "Stay here and let Miss Smith push me over."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 278 - Illegitimate Daughter?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne was slightly stunned. She watched as Nora raised her eyebrows and walked over to push his wheelchair to the balcony. An inexplicable sense of danger enveloped Yvonne's entire body.

It was as if this woman would slowly snatch everything away from her in the future!

Ian had always ignored others. Even his attitude toward her had always been very cold. But now, he actually wanted to talk to Nora alone!

While she was hesitating, Warren walked over and said gloatingly, "See, Uncle Ian must want to chat with her to make her leave Justin! I really want to see the situation in an idol drama. Uncle Ian will probably throw a cheque at her and domineeringly order her to leave him!"

Yvonne was speechless.

Maureen: "..."

Maureen couldn't help but grab Warren's ear. "Do you think you're living in a novel? Let me tell you, Miss Smith is Cherry's mother. You're not allowed to target her!"

When Rachel heard Warren's words, she smiled and said, "Miss Smith, I really envy you. Even if you're not his biological daughter, Mr. Smith is still willing to stand up for you. But my father..."

At this point, her expression turned ferocious. "He only knows to scold me every day. Nothing I do is right. Aunt is always right! Am I even his biological daughter?"

Yvonne was speechless.

This Rachel was too annoying!

She took a deep breath and suppressed the anger in her heart. She smiled and said, “Every father has a different personality.”

Rachel nodded. “My father only knows how to scold me!”

Yvonne lowered her head when she heard this.

She had never been scolded since she was young, but actually, she also wanted to be scolded by her father.

Yvonne’s eyes flickered. “Actually, you should have learned from Nora. After all, she has already become Mr. Hunt’s girlfriend. Your father said that about you for your own good.”

Rachel was exasperated by her words. “Why do you say that, too? What’s so good about her?”

—

On the balcony.

After Nora pushed Ian over, she closed the sliding door on the balcony. After blocking out the noise in the hall, only the sound of cars honking could be heard from the balcony.

She looked at him and saw that he did not seem to have any intention of speaking. She coughed and said, “What are you planning to say, Mr. Smith?”

Ian was silent for a long time before he suddenly asked, “Did your mother say anything before she passed away?”

Nora: “...”

Ian had called her over so openly just to ask this question?

He wanted to know if her mother had left any words for him before she died.

What did he want her mother to say? That she regretted it? That she loved him? Or something else?

Sensing that she did not speak for a long time, Ian laughed dryly and said, “What was I thinking? You were only half a year old when she passed away. How could you know?”

Nora: “...”

He has already answered his own question. Why does he still want her to answer?

She did not say anything else and waited for him to ask her to bring him back.

However, after a moment of hesitation, Ian said, “You can go back first.”

Nora: “??”

She nodded and opened the sliding door, returning to the hall.

Looking at her back, Ian was silent for a long time.

He felt like he was looking at Yvette from more than twenty years ago.

Not only did the mother and daughter look alike, but their temperaments were also similar. They were the kind of people who did whatever they wanted and did not care about how others looked at them.

Back then, Yvette had offended many people because of this personality.

She had become the public enemy of many women.

However, she never cared about what others said about her behind her back. The words she often said were: “Will I lose a pound of flesh if they say a few words about me? Since I won’t, why should I care?”

“They’re talking about me behind my back because they’re jealous of me.”

“It’s all my fault for being so outstanding that I became the topic of conversation. Sigh, I, with my beauty and intelligence coexisting together am simply too perfect. I’m afraid it’s only because I’m too impressive!”

“...”

She was narcissistic and mockingly snobbish.

However, the mother and daughter were different.

Yvette was a talkative woman, and although she looked very graceful, that image was broken once she spoke. On the other hand, Nora was very quiet. It was as if she could not even bring herself to talk.

Ian was immersed in his own thoughts and could not extricate himself.

—

When Nora walked out of the balcony, Yvonne caught her immediately.

Seeing her calm expression, Ian did not seem to have said anything overboard.

That made sense. No matter how much money her father gave her, was it worth as much as the Hunt Corporation?

Any woman would choose Justin.

She lowered her gaze, her eyes glinting.

Nora yawned. Just as she was about to look for Cherry, she turned around and accidentally bumped into someone. She looked over and saw a familiar face. It was Rachel.

Nora was stunned. She subconsciously said, “I’m sorry.”

When she said this, her tone was cold and arrogant.

With that, she lowered her head slightly and planned to walk around Rachel. However, after taking two steps, she was stopped by the other party. “You bumped into me. Is it over just by apologizing?”

Nora: “?”

She was a little confused for a moment as her lips curled into a mocking smile. “Should I kneel and beg for mercy?”

It was just a bump. It did not hurt her... Nora really did not know how to apologize.

Rachel was furious. “What kind of attitude is that?”

Nora: “...”

What was wrong with her attitude?

She was about to say something when Yvonne grabbed Rachel and smiled apologetically at Nora. “Miss Smith, it’s nothing.”

After saying that, she whispered to Rachel, “Rachel, take it easy. She’s Mr. Hunt’s girlfriend. Under such circumstances, don’t be so rude to her!”

Rachel instantly exploded.

When she was at home, her father would often scold her, saying that she was wrong in this and was not good at that. He would say she could not compare to Nora and even asked her to contact Nora more often when she was free.

Yeah right!

Nora was a country bumpkin from the countryside. Why should she curry favors with her?

That was why she looked for Yvonne. In the entire New York, other than Miss Hunt, who had studied abroad, Yvonne was probably the most respected.

But why was even Yvonne afraid of Nora now?

Rachel panicked and pushed Yvonne away. “What are you afraid of? She’s just an illegitimate daughter. How can she compare to you?”

Yvonne panicked. “Don’t talk nonsense...”

At this moment, Rachel spoke without thinking. Her voice instantly rose. “How am I talking nonsense? Am I wrong? Didn’t you see it during the last live broadcast? Her father isn’t even her biological father! Her mother was pregnant before she even got married. She got her father to be a spare tire and take over!”

At this moment, Ian turned his head when he heard this.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 279 - Who Said She Didn't Have A Strong Family?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Rachel's voice was so loud that everyone in the banquet hall looked over.

Justin had been paying attention to Nora's situation, so he caught the argument immediately and hurriedly walked over.

Nora had already narrowed her almond-shaped eyes. Her cold eyes were filled with anger. "What did you say?"

Although she had never experienced motherly love, her mother had given her life, and she would not allow anyone to insult her mother.

Rachel's voice spread clearly throughout the entire venue. "Why? She has always been an unclean person. Why can't she be told off? Back then, everyone knew that she betrayed Mr. Smith and eloped with someone else! I guess the other party didn't want her anymore, right? That's why she found such a money-loving person to be her scapegoat."

"As the saying goes, if the upper beam is not straight, the lower beam will be crooked. Your mother was pregnant before marriage, and so were you. Didn't she also have a daughter with another hooligan? But you're better than your mother. At the very least, your designated driver to be the spare tire is Mr. Hunt!"

"At the end of the day, you're just an illegitimate daughter who doesn't even know who her biological father is. You're just like your daughter. Why? I'm afraid your daughter will also be a beauty when she grows up, right? When the time comes, will she also have to find someone to get pregnant before she gets married? I just don't know if there will be a good match like Mr. Hunt then!"

Nora clenched her hands into fists.

Her anger rose as she took a step forward, preparing to beat her up.

In the distance, Justin had already arrived in front of her. His expression became even uglier, and he looked like he wanted to kill someone.

However, before the two of them could make a move, Farrell had already rushed over and slapped Rachel's face. "Shut up!"

Rachel was stunned by this slap and fell to the ground.

When Miranda saw this, she went mad as well. She rushed forward and hugged Rachel. "Farrell, what are you doing?!"

Farrell was furious. He pointed at her with trembling hands. "Move aside. I'm going to break her mouth today!"

There were two reasons why he was so agitated.

First, he was really angry. He did not expect his daughter to have already reached this stage. In this kind of situation, she kept talking about Nora being an illegitimate daughter and Mr. Hunt being a spare tire. She was simply speaking dirty words and had lost all face for the Woods. Secondly, he could already see Mr. Hunt walking over with an angry expression. If he did not make a move, Mr. Hunt would probably make Rachel suffer even more!

Rachel had done something wrong. She should be educated and beaten when necessary. However, she was still his daughter. He still wanted to give her a way out.

That was why he had hit her personally.

Indeed, after he made his move, Nora and Justin both stopped in their tracks and did not come forward.

Unfortunately, the current Rachel did not understand his intentions at all. Instead, she covered her face and roared, "You hit me? You actually hit me because of her! Dad, tell me, what kind of bewitching potion did she give you to make you protect her so much? Is it because she's good-looking?"

Farrell was already stunned.

He did not expect his daughter to go so overboard with her words. How did he educate her all these years to make her say such shrewish words?!

His hands trembled. "Your... your aunt has never said such ugly words in her life!"

Rachel sensed his anger and was so frightened that she did not dare to speak.

However, Miranda was furious. "Her aunt, her aunt... Your heart is biased toward Melissa, right? In that case, why don't you live with your sister? Why do you want to live with us?! I've never seen such good siblings! Where's Melissa? Come out. I want to ask you what your relationship with your brother is. What kind of family is the Andersons?!"

Farrell: "!!!"

Melissa, who was rushing over, was speechless.

Melissa's eyes were red from anger. She pointed at her with trembling hands and screamed, "Sister-in-law!!"

How could she slander her in public!

It had to be known that no one wanted to believe the truth. Everyone was willing to believe in explosive topics.

Even if she had a clear conscience, Miranda's words would become a topic for everyone to talk about after meals!

She, Melissa, had always been noble and pure. Ever since her eldest sister-in-law had entered the family, she realized that Miranda hated her. Hence, she rarely returned to her mother's house. In the past twenty years, she had only met Farrell a little more than twenty times!

Not to mention being intimate, even the relationship between ordinary siblings was not as bad.

When she was young, her mother often said that when a girl got married, she would have no home. At that time, she did not believe it, but later on, she really did.

How did Sister-in-law come up with such a lie?!

Farrell's body swayed as he stared at Miranda and Rachel. This pair of mother and daughter usually curried favor and flattered him, but he had never seen their ugly faces before.

Just a moment ago, in order to save his daughter, he had risked offending Mr. Hunt. But now... he felt that everything that had just happened was ridiculous.

Children were indeed here to collect debts!

Farrell looked at Justin and cupped his hands in apology. "Mr. Hunt, I'm sorry to have disturbed your birthday banquet. I'll take the two of them back first and visit you another day to apologize! I'll definitely give you a satisfactory answer!"

Justin pursed his lips tightly.

Farrell was Melissa's elder brother, and Melissa was Nora's aunt. Nora had always been very respectful to this aunt.

Therefore, he could not go overboard.

He nodded lightly. "Please do as you wish, Uncle Farrell. However, Miss Wood's upbringing is indeed worrying. A kind father will often spoil his children. Uncle Farrell, you should understand this logic."

Farrell nodded. "I understand. When we get back, I'll send Rachel overseas and never let her return!"

He would never let her come back...

Rachel's pupils shrank as she screamed, "Dad, you can't do this to me. You can't..."

Unfortunately, Farrell had already grabbed her hand and called for the Wood family's bodyguards to drag her and Miranda out.

Rachel knew that it was hopeless.

She was done for.

When she was dragged past Nora, she suddenly laughed out loud. "Nora, aren't you very proud to see me like this? But don't forget! Even if I go overseas, I'm still the eldest daughter of the Woods. On the other hand, you don't even know who your biological father is. You're just an illegitimate child! With your status, you're not worthy of the Hunts at all! Without a strong family to support you, you'll be hated by the Hunts sooner or later and will be divorced!"

At this moment, the entire hall was silent as her voice resounded in everyone's ears.

Everyone looked at Nora.

Yes, she was from a small family. Could she really last long with Mr. Hunt?

At this moment, Ian, who had been sitting at the side, said, "Who said she doesn't have a strong family?"

Chapter 280 - Shes A Daughter Of The Smiths!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Ian's voice was very low, but his dispassionate words reached everyone's ears clearly.

The entire hall suddenly quietened again.

Everyone looked at Ian incredulously, only to see him pushing his wheelchair forward slowly until he reached the few of them.

Upstairs.

An anxious Mrs. Hunt was going down the stairs. As she did, she complained to Mrs. Lewis, "I knew Justin's girlfriend would be terrible. People from poor, humble families just aren't presentable enough. Look at that outrageous scene they made!

"Why can't she even get along with her cousin? It's to the extent that she would even embarrass her like that in public!

"Look at how cultivated and refined Ms. Smith is instead. None of the girls in the hall can say she's not good enough. Whether it's because they fear the Smiths or because of Ms. Smith's personal charm, this is undeniably what she's capable of! If only Justin were getting engaged with a young lady of the Smiths instead! I won't even ask for her to be related by blood anymore. Yvonne Smith would do just fine!"

Mrs. Hunt went on and on. "Look at how I have to mediate for her despite how much I dislike her. What else can I do when Justin has already acknowledged her status?! Her embarrassing herself is equivalent to embarrassing Justin, which is equivalent to embarrassing the Hunts!"

Mrs. Lewis held Mrs. Hunt's arm and said, "Slow down a little. I told you to take the elevator, but you simply refused to. Can you go down the stairs with your knees like that?"

Mrs. Hunt replied huffily, "Considering the situation in the hall, it'll take even longer for me to reach if I take the elevator!"

The out-of-breath woman reached the lower floor just in time to hear Rachel saying, "Without a strong family to support you, you'll be hated by the Hunts sooner or later and will be divorced!"

She panicked at once. She was about to speak when she heard Ian's comment.

Mrs. Hunt was stunned.

Justin looked at Nora—although her brows were raised slightly, and she was a little surprised, she didn't look greatly astonished. He knew right away that she must already have guessed something a long time ago.

Nora had already given it a lot of thought.

After realizing that Henry Smith was not her real father, she had started to wonder why her mother had picked him out of all the ordinary men out there.

After she came to New York, she had come to understand the way her mother did things. She was likely someone not to be trifled with, in which case, she would definitely know what kind of person Henry was.

Therefore, her mother must have had her reasons for picking him.

She had thought about it over and over and even gone through all the events from back then. The Henry of that time couldn't get any more ordinary than what he had been.

If there was anything unusual about him, it was the fact that his last name was Smith.

After all, there weren't that many people with the last name Smith.

His last name was Smith...

In that case, did that mean that her father was Ian?

She had already suspected that a long time ago, which was why she had paid special attention to Ian's condition. That was also why she had followed him when he asked her to go to the balcony with him just now. She had even planned to find an opportunity to take a DNA sample from him and get Lily to do a test.

Therefore, she wasn't very surprised when Ian said what he did.

Rachel, however, was dumbfounded. "W-what do you mean?"

Yvonne also looked at Ian in shock and astonishment. When she saw him staring at Nora, she suddenly panicked...

Ian slowly lowered his head and said dispassionately, "She is a child of the Smiths."

"..."

The whole hall was silent.

Everyone stared at Ian in disbelief. Yvonne was also astonished and bewildered. She looked at Nora, and then at Ian...

One must admit that Nora took after Yvette a great deal, but the parts that didn't did indeed resemble Ian!

Her legs went limp and she staggered.

Even Rachel was utterly stunned. "What? T-that's impossible!"

She was just a hillbilly! It was impossible for her to suddenly become Cinderella!

Ian must be lying!

Warren was also dumbfounded.

He had been arguing with his wife just a moment ago.

His wife had been unhappy at him for making things difficult for Nora and had given him a warning in private, so he had been very angry. He said, “I don’t care whether she did anything wrong or not. Yvonne is my sister. Am I supposed to abandon my sister and take her side instead? No way!”

Maureen was furious when she heard that. “Can you be reasonable? Besides, Yvonne is not related to you by blood anyway. How is she even your sister?!”

Warren reprimanded her. “How can you say that? She is Uncle Ian’s adopted daughter, and she grew up in the Smiths. That makes her my sister! I look only at family ties, not reason! Hmph, Nora can only blame herself for not being a daughter of the Smiths!”

Maureen was so mad that she was about to go berserk.

But unexpectedly, things had suddenly taken a huge turn!

Warren was also dumbfounded. When Rachel said what she did, he subconsciously also asked, “Is Uncle Ian’s illness making him muddleheaded?”

Joel’s gentle but stern voice reached him. “Uncle Ian would never take matters about the Smiths’ bloodline lightly. Nora does indeed have blood relations with the Smiths! She’s our cousin!”

Warren: “!!”

Everyone: “!!!”

This piece of news was simply too sensational!!

As it turned out, Yvette Anderson's daughter was actually Ian Smith's daughter?

Then why did she run away when she became pregnant?

Hadn't they been in love?

Didn't they say that Yvette had betrayed Ian?

However!

The hillbilly's sudden transformation into a young lady of the Smiths sure was dramatic! No wonder Yvonne had stopped competing with her.

And no wonder Nora could catch Justin's eye!

Just as everyone was speculating, Nora suddenly asked, "Why do you say that? Do you have any evidence?"

Everyone: "??"

Why did it look like Nora wasn't very happy about it?

Had they been in her shoes, they would have just acknowledged the Smiths as family first and left the talk for later! Who cared about evidence or whatnot?!

They were the Smiths!

Yet, Nora had asked about it. Joel answered seriously, "We did a DNA test."

It was just like what she had thought.

Nora thought back to the other time at the medical university when someone had tugged a few strands of hair off her head. Was he sent by the Smiths?

No... The Smiths would never send someone to kill her.

In the midst of her thoughts, Justin smiled and said, “Uncle Ian, Joel, let’s go upstairs, find a quiet place, and have a good talk. I think Nora also wants to know what exactly is going on.”

It wasn’t appropriate to talk about the details in public.

Joel looked at Ian. When he saw him nodding, he replied, “Okay.”

Justin led the way. Nora followed beside him. Joel pushed Ian’s wheelchair and followed behind them. The four of them went upstairs and entered a meeting room.

As soon as they entered, Joel took the initiative to take out the results of the DNA test they did the other time. He handed it to Nora and said, “This is the evidence.”

Nora took it from him casually. She glanced at Ian but didn’t see any traces of joy on him. When she looked down at the report in her hand, her eyes widened in astonishment...

This... How could this be?!

Chapter 281 - Dna Test Results!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora hadn't been surprised even when Ian said that she was a Smith, but she found herself greatly surprised in this instant.

Justin also broke into a frown when he noticed her expression. He took a step forward and looked at the DNA test result with her.

When he looked over, he also found himself stunned.

The two exchanged a look. Obviously, they hadn't expected such a result.

The DNA test was done for Nora and Ian to verify whether they were father and daughter. Neither of them was surprised to see that.

However, the results stated that the two shared a 99.8% DNA similarity. Therefore, they were scientifically recognized as uncle and niece.

DNA similarity between a father and daughter was as high as 99.99%. Nora and Ian's parent-child DNA test results were very close, yet fell outside the range. Therefore, they were classified as uncle and niece instead.

In other words, Nora's father wasn't Ian but one of his brothers instead?

Nora's eyes widened, and she looked at Ian in disbelief. He had a very awful look on his face at the moment, and he gave off an air of despondence.

When Yvette left back then, she had told him that she didn't love him anymore. She said that she had fallen in love with someone else, and asked him to forget her.

She had left after that.

He hadn't believed her at first, but when he saw the DNA test report, he had suddenly understood something.

As it turned out, the other man had been none other than one of his brothers!

Was it also for that reason that Yvette had chosen to leave? Because she felt that she couldn't face him anymore?

If it were someone else instead, she wouldn't have run away. Neither would there be a need for her to.

Ian clenched his fists.

The feeling of being betrayed by his brother and lover at the same time made his chest rise and fall rapidly. Suddenly, his eyes closed and he lost consciousness.

"Uncle Ian!"

A shocked Joel hastily went toward him. He was about to call for help when a figure faster than he was stopped in front of him.

Nora bent over and checked Ian's condition. "He fainted because he was too agitated from pent-up anger and sadness. He's very weak now, so it's not advisable to transport him elsewhere!"

Joel frowned. "What do we do?"

Nora looked straight at Justin and said, "Get him medicine. Give him the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill."

She had just given Mrs. Hunt a box of it. There were about 64 pills in there.

Justin immediately understood. He went out at once.

He went to Mrs. Hunt's study. As soon as he entered, Mrs. Hunt asked, "What's the matter?"

Justin didn't go into details. Instead, he simply replied, "Mr. Smith fainted because he was too agitated. Grandma, give me a Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill."

Mrs. Hunt: "!!"

Mrs. Lewis couldn't bear to part with the pill, either. She wanted to say something, but Mrs. Hunt stopped her and said, "Give it to him."

Mrs. Lewis glanced at Mrs. Hunt before she finally walked over, took out the pill that Yvonne had given them, and handed it to Justin.

Justin took Yvonne's pillbox, walked out, and quickly went to the meeting room next door.

As soon as he exited the room, he saw Yvonne standing outside. She was shocked when she saw the pillbox in his hand. "What happened to Dad? Did he faint again?"

Justin nodded but said nothing.

Yvonne followed Justin into the meeting room next door.

After they entered, Justin opened the exquisite box in his hand, took out the pill, and handed it to Nora.

Nora looked at Ian and said, "Put the pill into half a glass of water and dissolve it."

Yvonne, however, panicked. She said, "Ms. Smith! That pill is very rare. It's better to consume it as is. If you dissolve it in water, its effect will be halved!"

Nora: "?"

How was the patient supposed to consume it when he had already lost consciousness?

Besides, even if its effect was halved, it would still be effective on Ian. What was that woman interfering for?

Yvonne looked at Joel. “That pill doesn’t come by easy, Joel. Don’t let its effects go to waste!”

Joel looked at her abruptly.

His sharp eyes made Yvonne stammer as she said, “It’s not like I can’t bear to part with the pill. Saving Dad is what matters the most. I just wanted the pill’s effects to be used to the fullest.”

Joel took a deep breath and asked, “Did Dr. Zabe ever say how the pill should be consumed?”

Yvonne hastily nodded. “He did. It just needs to be put into the mouth.”

Nora immediately said, “His condition isn’t that serious. Drinking it after diluting it would do.”

To be honest, she could also save Ian without the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill. After all, Ian’s illness wasn’t a brain disease. He had only fainted from anger just now.

However, it was best if they could use it.

Yvonne’s eyes flickered when she heard what she said. She understood now—her father’s condition was not that serious, yet she had used the pill that she gave Mrs. Hunt. She was obviously doing it on purpose!

Joel frowned.

While hesitating over who to listen to, someone suddenly took away the pill. When he looked up again, he saw that Justin had already dissolved the pill in the half-full glass of water he had just poured.

The pill dissolved immediately upon contact with water and soon disappeared.

Justin handed the glass to Nora.

Nora held Ian's face, opened his mouth, and poured the medicine into his mouth roughly.

The two of them matched each other's actions seamlessly as if they had always been working together like that. By the time Joel and Yvonne reacted, Ian had already finished the medicine.

Joel: "!"

Yvonne balled up her fists. "Mr. Hunt, Ms. Smith! You... That's such a waste of the pill's effects!"

—

In Mrs. Hunt's study.

After Justin left, Mrs. Hunt held her chest and sighed deeply.

Although she knew Justin was correct in doing what he did just now, he had taken the pill to save his father-in-law but forgotten that she also needed the life-saving medicine the most. Mrs. Hunt ultimately still felt rather uncomfortable about that.

Next to her, Mrs. Lewis nagged, "Why did you give it to him, Ma'am? The pill was a gift for you! You really need that pill!"

Mrs. Hunt sighed. "Yvonne was the one who gave it to me in the first place anyway. I'll just think of it as returning it to them!"

Mrs. Lewis sneered, "You can't put it that way. Since they've already given you the pill, it belongs to you now. They can't just bask in the limelight out there and then use it on their own in the end, right? I asked about it just now, though. This was Nora's suggestion. She must be worried that you would favor Yvonne over her, so she deliberately did it."

Mrs. Hunt heaved a huge sigh. "She grew up in the countryside, after all, so she's too narrow-minded. To think she's used all her smarts on things like that! Discard the medicine she gave me!”

Mrs. Lewis picked up the box of pills that Nora had given Mrs. Hunt. She said, “Before I throw it away, let me take a look at what so many Carefree Pills put together look like...”

She opened the box after saying that, but the moment she did, she suddenly found herself stunned.

Mrs. Hunt scoffed at her reaction. “Look at how ignorant you look. Even if there are 50 Carefree Pills in there, they are only worth $150,000. Am I paying you so little that you react that way at a mere $150,000?”

As soon as she said that, a dazed Mrs.. Lewis lifted her head and replied, “M-Ma’am, these... these are not Carefree Pills. They are... they are...”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 282 - Redoing The Dna Test

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Mrs. Lewis had worked as a servant for Mrs. Hunt's family back then, so she was on very good terms with Mrs. Hunt. When Mrs. Hunt got married, she had also followed her to the Hunts. After so many years of working as a housekeeper, she had already reached an annual income of hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Therefore, $150,000 wasn't really an amount that would shock her this badly.

She looked at the pills in the metal box and swallowed again. "Ma'am, these don't look like Carefree Pills to me. Why do they look so much like Calming Pills?"

Mrs. Hunt was taken aback when she heard that they were Calming Pills. After falling silent for a moment, she said, "They've done the right thing by giving me Calming Pills since they are suitable for my condition. It's not like the Andersons can't afford to give me Carefree Pills, yet they still gave me Calming Pills instead. I suppose they are still rather considerate. What's there to kick up a fuss over Calming Pills, though? They are cheap. Besides, no matter how amazing their Calming Pills are, they can't be worth as much as Carefree Pills, right?"

A dumbfounded Mrs. Lewis looked at her. "They are... Zabe Corporation's Calming Pills."

Thud.

The water glass in Mrs. Hunt's hand fell on the table. She looked at Mrs. Lewis in astonishment. "What?"

Mrs. Lewis looked at the box in her hand. “These are Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pills. The smell and all that are very similar, and their name is also written on the pills. Also! There are 64 of them here!!”

Everyone had already sung so many praises of Yvonne just because she gave one, but Nora had actually given a full 64 of them?!

Mrs. Hunt got up at once. The elderly woman walked up to Mrs. Lewis in just a few steps. She grabbed the box in her hand and said, “Let me have a look!”

Mrs. Hunt was a very well-informed woman. She examined the pills closely. Then, she broke off a small piece from one of them and put it in her mouth to taste it. At last, she confirmed it. “These are indeed Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pills.”

She and Mrs. Lewis looked at each other after she spoke, and both of them were dazed for a while.

After waiting for a whole ten seconds, Mrs. Hunt finally asked, “How did the Andersons get their hands on such expensive pills?”

Mrs. Lewis was utterly stunned. “The Andersons have been dealing in traditional medicine for many generations. When you think about it carefully, it’s actually not that surprising that they would have these pills. After all, they are also a family with a solid foundation. But if that’s the case, then why didn’t Ms. Smith just say so in front of everyone just now? Because of that, they ended up secretly being mocked for nothing.”

Mrs. Hunt frowned at her words. “Either she really doesn’t care about things like reputation and so on—it has long been said that Melissa Anderson is indifferent to fame and fortune, and is very humble—or... these pills may not be the Andersons’, so they have to be low-key about it.”

Mrs. Lewis understood at once. “They aren’t the Andersons’? That means Mr. Hunt gave them to her so that she can give them to you without embarrassing herself?”

Mrs. Hunt had already thought of that when Mrs. Lewis was speaking. She realized something and said, “No wonder Justin didn’t show any sign of hesitation or apology when he came to me for the pill just now. He already knows!”

She felt a lot better now and felt that her grandson was still her grandson, after all. He hadn’t changed just because he had a girlfriend now.

She looked at Mrs. Lewis with some relief. Then, she sighed and said, “Justin sure is going through such pains for her! Say, am I being too harsh on her?”

Mrs. Lewis comforted her. “It’s mainly because you don’t understand her character.”

A lot of people resorted to unscrupulous means in order to marry into a wealthy family. They feigned purity, acted innocent, and put up all kinds of pretenses. Mrs. Hunt had also been through it all and had seen many like that.

When a stray girl from the countryside suddenly appeared with an illegitimate daughter she had with someone else, how would Mrs. Hunt possibly not have anything against her?

Mrs. Lewis said, “What you care about the most is actually still Mr. Hunt. It’s because you’re indignant on his behalf. After all, he’s so outstanding. There are so many outstanding women from good families who want to marry him, so why did he simply have to choose a woman like that...”

Mrs. Hunt sighed. “Let’s observe her for a while more! If her character is passable, for Justin’s sake, I’ll still show her some courtesy when we’re in front of outsiders, even though I don’t like her! But if she doesn’t have a good character, or if she mistreats Pete, I definitely won’t let her marry into the family! Pete is the Hunts’ future!”

Mrs. Lewis nodded. “You’re right.”

—

Ian gradually regained consciousness after taking the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill.

In order to prevent him from having another emotional breakdown, Joel left in advance and took Ian back to the hospital. After all, the doctors and nurses in the hospital would be able to keep his bodily functions alive for sure.

By the time Justin and Nora went back downstairs, the way everyone looked at Nora had already changed.

All of them were talking about the woman who became Cinderella. She was so lucky! To think she actually turned out to be Ian's daughter!

No one thought otherwise.

After all, Yvette had been in a relationship with Ian back then. On top of that, he even stayed single for life because of her, so everyone naturally brought Ian into the picture.

They completely didn't notice that Ian had said just now that she was a daughter of the Smiths.

Nora didn't know any of this, though. She was still frowning and thinking about what had happened back then.

She hadn't just been sleeping all this time she was at the Andersons'.

Occasionally, she would look through what her mother had left behind.

Some of the books even contained notes and interpretations that her mother had made.

Through those writings, she had gained a general understanding of Yvette's character.

The woman was aggressive and stubborn by nature. In the patriarchal environment back then, it was definitely no easy feat to rise to the challenge and become the head of the Andersons.

How would a woman like that possibly get together with Ian's brother while she was in a relationship with him?

If she had really fallen in love with Ian's brother... Given her personality, she would have simply gotten together with that man instead, and been as decisive as how she had rejected Justin's father. Why would she run away from home after she became pregnant and flee New York?

She couldn't help feeling that her mother didn't seem like someone who would do that.

When the party came to an end, Nora got Melissa to take Cherry home while she followed Justin to the hospital to visit Ian.

After all, they hadn't sorted out the issues they were talking about just now. They hadn't told her which of Ian's brothers her father was yet.

It was already late when they arrived at the hospital.

Joel sat quietly in the hallway late at night. He seemed to know that the two of them would come over, so he was waiting for them.

Ian was already asleep.

Joel said, "You can just ask me if you have any questions because I was the one who handled everything."

Nora lowered her head. "I want to know how you got my DNA samples."

Joel said unhurriedly, "Someone took a few strands of your hair when you were at the medical university the other time. The person I sent to protect you happened to be nearby, so he chased after the person and snatched the hair from him."

"... Then have you guys ever considered that the hair might have been switched?" asked Nora.

Joel was a little taken aback by her suggestion.

Nora looked at the ward and said slowly but firmly, “I want to redo the DNA test.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 283 - Her Real Father?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

This particular floor was where the VIP wards were. Joel had booked the whole floor so that Ian could rest and recover better, so there was no one else in the quiet hospital corridor at the moment.

Right after Nora spoke firmly, a sinister and displeased voice reached them. “There’s no way the hair could have been switched. My professionalism is not to be doubted!”

Nora looked up to see someone slowly walking toward them from the darkness in front

There was no way Nora would have noticed him while he stood there. It was as if he had blended into the darkness.

But the moment he appeared, Nora immediately sensed his presence.

The man was very skinny. He was fully dressed in black and was wearing a black baseball cap. His face was very small and thin. Perhaps because he was rarely exposed to the sun, he was very pale. He had a metal stud on his left earlobe, and there was a sort of androgynous beauty to him.

He kept his head lowered habitually and walked over to Joel while touching his baseball cap.

Joel introduced the man to Nora. “This is Quentin, your second cousin.”

Since he was her cousin, then that meant that they didn’t share the same father.

Nora nodded. She observed the two men’s faces carefully, feeling like Quentin and Joel looked nothing alike.

Joel looked gentler. His fox-like eyes had a sly and wily look in them, and he looked like he was smiling. Even when he didn't smile, he still gave off a very gentle feeling.

Not only did Quentin look different, but the aura around him also felt colder and more sinister.

While Nora was curiously observing them, Quentin glared at her and said, "What are you staring at? I'll dig out your eyeballs if you continue to stare."

Nora: "..."

Why did she feel like that second cousin of hers felt a little like a teen with delusions of grandeur?

The corners of her lips spasmed a little. Before she could speak, Quentin said, "Don't think I'll treat you differently just because you're my cousin. I'm different from the other Smiths. They may want a younger sister, but I don't! Also, Uncle Ian is like a father to me. If you make him unhappy, I won't betray him, let alone like you!"

Nora: "..."

After speaking as though he was swearing an oath, Quentin finally got to the point and said, "Also, it's impossible that your hair was switched. That man was constantly under my watch from the point he took your hair to the end of his escape that day!"

He stretched out two fingers and jabbed them forward. "It's impossible for any of his actions to escape my eyes!"

Nora: "..."

She silently looked at Joel and asked with her eyes: 'Is Quentin a loony?'

Joel: '... That's the way he is.'

Nora retracted her gaze and said, "Alright. Assuming the hair is correct and hasn't been switched, why not do another paternity test for me and my so-called father?”

No matter what, she didn't find the DNA report saying they were uncle and niece believable.

Quentin sneered, “What do you mean by ‘assuming’? I told you, it's impossible that the hair was switched! Are you still doubting my abilities?”

Nora: “...”

She straight-up ignored him and looked at Joel instead.

Joel kept quiet for a moment before he finally said, “It's because your father may be Ryan Smith, our second uncle.”

Nora caught a keyword. “May be?”

Joel coughed and replied, “Uncle Ryan also disappeared half a year after your mother. It was later confirmed that your mother had died, but Uncle Ryan remains missing even today. We have already checked my other uncles. You aren't their daughter, so the only remaining possibility is Uncle Ryan. Moreover, Uncle Ryan and your mother ran away from home one after the other. Before he left, he even said that he was going to search for your mother, so...”

Even if Ian didn't believe that Yvette was such a person, the DNA test report was right in front of him. Everything that had happened back then was also fresh in his memory. One said that she had fallen in love with someone else and wanted to leave, while the other said that he wanted to look for her. With all these put together, he had no choice but to believe it.

Nora: “...”

The previous generation's story sure was cheesy!

However, she still didn't believe it.

She mused for a moment and asked, “Did Uncle Ryan leave anything behind? Doesn't he have any children?”

Joel shook his head. “No, he doesn’t.”

Nora glanced at him.

Joel explained, “I’m the eldest brother’s son. Quentin and Warren are my fourth uncle’s sons. The rest of my siblings are my fifth uncle’s children.”

The previous generation of the Smiths had six sons and no daughters.

The current generation had seven sons and still no daughters, except for Yvonne, who was adopted.

Nora suggested, “... In that case, let’s do a retest for me and... Uncle Ian?”

Joel knew that she was no simple woman, and had already interacted with her before. She probably wouldn’t believe it unless she did the test herself.

Therefore, he nodded.

As soon as he did, a dissatisfied voice reached them. “Are you also doubting me, Joel?”

Joel: “...”

Quentin let out a cold snort. “When have I ever made a mistake all these years I worked for you?”

Joel: “...”

Quentin turned and walked away.

Joel ignored him and went into the ward instead. A short while later, he took some of Ian’s hair with the follicles attached and handed them to Nora.

Before Nora could say anything, Joel added, “I took the samples myself.”

Nora: “...”

Nora coughed and nodded. Then, with the DNA samples, she got ready to leave with Justin. She had only taken a couple of steps when she suddenly looked at Joel and said, “I can cure him.”

Joel kept quiet for a long while.

It had also been the Andersons’ Carefree Pills that were able to prolong his life back then. Although the Myerses had claimed that the medicine was theirs, he had already found out the truth a long time ago.

But he knew that Ian would definitely refuse to take them if he knew the medicine was from the Andersons, so he had kept it from him all this time.

Nora was saying that she could cure him...

Joel shook his head. “Uncle Ian won’t let you.”

Nora’s very existence was proof of Yvette’s betrayal and was a thorn in Ian’s heart. How would he possibly allow Nora to treat his illness?

Nora didn’t insist. She turned and started to walk out.

She had only taken a couple of steps when she suddenly sensed something. Her head whipped to the side to see that Quentin had started following beside her at some point.

Nora raised her eyebrows, but before she could say anything, Quentin had already spoken. He said, “Don’t be narcissistic. I’m not protecting you because I like you but because I have to complete the task I was given. Besides, I’m duty-bound to protect all the Smiths!”

Nora kept quiet for a moment before she said, “... I don’t need you to protect me.”

Quentin was surprised. “What’s wrong with me?”

Nora looked him up and down. He was so skinny, how strong could he possibly be?

Quentin understood the look in her eyes. He became even more arrogant.. He lifted his chin and said, “Do you know? There are fewer than five people in all of New York who can beat me! Apart from the two martial arts masters of the Quinn School of Martial Arts and the Irvin School of Martial Arts, the former’s Big Sister and the latter’s Big Brother are the only ones I can’t beat in a fight! I was the one who protected you when you were almost killed the other time. You’d better be nice to me, otherwise, I won’t protect you anymore!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 284 - Golden Words Of Advice

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora fell silent for a moment upon hearing his words.

Justin, who was watching from the side, couldn't hold himself back, and he chuckled softly.

His little Nora simply had too many secret identities. She didn't want to reveal even a single one. Once she told Quentin that she was the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister, would he become her... fan?

The three left the hospital. Nora got in the car and went back to the Andersons'.

Quentin didn't follow her, but Nora knew that he was definitely somewhere nearby. Should she meet with danger, he would definitely rush over immediately.

This inexplicable feeling of being protected by someone else sure was...

By the time she returned to the Andersons', Lily had already sent someone over to personally bring the samples abroad for a DNA test. After all, her little laboratory was located overseas.

After seeing the person off, she went upstairs. When she found that Cherry was already asleep, she got onto the bed gently, hugged Cherry, and fell asleep happily.

When she went downstairs after waking up the next day, she saw Melissa, Simon, Mrs. Anderson, and even Sheena. The few of them were sitting on the sofa with solemn looks on their faces.

A puzzled Nora went downstairs. When Mrs. Anderson saw her, she sighed and asked, “Nora, are you going to move to the Smiths’ residence?”

Nora: “?”

She raised her eyebrows and looked at Mrs. Anderson in confusion.

Mrs. Anderson sighed. “It’s okay even if you move there. That’s the way it should be. After all, your father is there... I’m just worried that you’ll have a hard time after you move there.”

Nora knew that Mrs. Anderson was reluctant to part with her. After all, she looked almost just like Yvette. Mrs. Anderson thought of the daughter she was the proudest of every time she saw her, right?

With that in mind, she replied, “I probably won’t move to the Smiths’ for the time being.”

Mrs. Anderson’s eyes lit up at once. “Really?”

Nora nodded.

Her words, however, took Melissa by surprise. “Why not? Didn’t Ian already acknowledge you right there and then?”

Nora had returned too late the night before, so she hadn’t told them what had happened yet. She touched her nose and said, “You may be mistaken, Aunt Melissa. My father is not Ian.”

Melissa: “???”

She was dumbfounded. “Your father isn’t Ian? Then why did he acknowledge you as a Smith yesterday? Is he planning to take you as his god-daughter? That... shouldn’t be, right? He has been treating Yvette like a taboo all these years. Not only has he never visited us, but he also never appears at any events the Andersons go to...”

Nora said, “... They said that my father is Ian’s elder brother, Ryan Smith.”

“Him?”

“That’s impossible!”

Melissa and Sheena’s voices rang out at the same time, and both of them looked at her in shock.

Melissa’s reaction was considered normal—she was just surprised. However, Sheena’s sudden sensitivity was such that Nora couldn’t help but cast a few more glances at her.

Sheena clenched her fists. “It can’t be him!”

“Why?” asked Nora.

“Because... because...”

Sheena stammered, unable to give a reason. In the end, she insisted, “In any case, it just can’t be him!”

Nora frowned.

Sheena’s eyes became evasive.

Melissa asked, “Why did they say that?”

Nora replied, “They produced a DNA test report done for Ian and me. It says that we are uncle and niece.”

Everyone: “...”

Mrs. Anderson smacked her thigh. “What a sin! Why would Yvette possibly two-time? If she liked Ryan, then why mess with Ian? And end up like that!”

Her eyes were red.

Sheena said, “Even if they are uncle and niece, her father may not necessarily be Ryan. Ian has so many brothers, who knows if she’s someone else's daughter instead..."

But after speaking, she sneered, "But no matter whose daughter you are, you are living proof that your mother betrayed Ian! Don't be fooled by how Joel is the head of the Smiths now. Ian has been in power for so many years, he's not someone to be messed with at all! Joel listens to him 100% of the time. After giving it some thought, I think there are two reasons why he publicly acknowledged you as a Smith."

After she changed the subject, the rest stopped fixating on the issue about Ryan but looked at her instead.

Sheena had always been a career woman. She had been active in the world of commerce for many years and was relatively perceptive about a lot of things. She said, "Firstly, all the Smiths are protective of their own. Since you're part of the Smiths, they will never allow outsiders to bully you. Of course, this doesn't stop Ian from detesting you. Secondly, I reckon the Smiths did it so that they can form a political marriage with the Hunts."

Realization suddenly dawned upon Melissa. "That makes sense. Originally, Yvonne Smith was supposed to marry Justin, but now that he has chosen Nora, bringing her back into the family won't affect the relationship between the two families."

Every decision that the rich and powerful made had its subsequent meaning and purpose. They were by no means simple.

Nora raised her eyebrows but did not speak.

Instead, she was pondering over why Sheena had said that it was impossible for Ryan to be her father.

Did she know something?

While she was wondering about it, Sheena looked at her again. She said, "No matter what, the Smiths will definitely do some surface-level work and give you some shares and money when you get married. In that respect, they won't mistreat you. Neither will the Andersons. But I have something to tell you."

Her posture was straight, and the black tight-fitting outfit she was wearing made her look capable and shrewd.

Melissa interrupted her. "Sheena, Nora understands..."

Sheena sneered, "I haven't even said anything, yet you already know that she understands? Is she so delicate that no one can say anything about her?"

Her words made Melissa choke.

Sheena looked at Nora. "What I want to tell you is—since you and Justin are in a relationship, there are a few things that you must never touch!"

Nora knew that Sheena was saying all these for her sake, so she could only say politely, "Do tell."

Based on the news about the Hunts that she had found out, Sheena said, "Justin's mother lives in the suburbs. She's said to be very difficult to get along with, so you'd best stay away from her and avoid making her angry. Otherwise, once Justin is caught between his mother and you, who knows who he would choose!"

Melissa nodded and echoed, "Nora, Sheena is right!"

... Could she say that she had already formed such a good relationship with the other party that they were now god-sisters?

Seeing that even Melissa had agreed with her, Sheena went on. "Also, you must treat Peter Hunt well after you marry him."

Nora raised her brows.

Sheena said, "I know you'll definitely want to have a son of your own with Justin so that he can fight for the position of the head of the family. However, we Andersons must rely on our own abilities. As long as he's more outstanding, he can definitely achieve it, so don't use those unsavory methods, that people use in the countryside, on Peter Hunt."

Nora: "?"

Sheena sneered, "Those methods are just our mere leftovers. Don't be fooled by the Hunts' matriarch's old age, and how she was glossing things over and defending you in front of outsiders at the party last night. She's actually very shrewd and isn't to be messed with. You have to maintain a good relationship with Justin's son, get it?"

Before Nora could say anything, Melissa smiled and said, "You don't have to worry about that! Because Peter Hunt is—"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 285 - To The Smiths!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Before she could finish, Sheena cut her off. “What do you mean by I don’t have to worry about that? She’s from the countryside, so she lacks foresight. Once she marries into the Hunts and becomes blinded by their wealth, in the event she loses her mind and does something, it’s the Andersons who will be implicated! Some things have to be said in advance so that her heart won’t stray!”

Everyone was speechless.

Mrs. Anderson kept quiet for a while and said nothing.

Nora looked as indifferent as ever.

Melissa, whom she had interrupted, only smiled and said nothing upon hearing what she said.

Seeing how all three of them had such odd looks on their faces, Sheena could only ask, “What are all of you laughing at?”

Only then did Melissa reply, “It’s nothing. I just wanted to say that the situation you mentioned won’t arise at all—because Peter Hunt is also Nora’s son.”

“...”

Sheena was taken aback for a moment. “Of course, he’s also her son once they are married. But you have to really treat him like your own. Everyone has feelings; if you treat him well, once he grows up, he’ll still have a close relationship with you even if his real mother finds him...”

Melissa sighed. “That’s not what I meant. What I mean is, Nora is Peter Hunt’s real mother.”

“...”

Sheena was stunned. She subconsciously said, “How can that be?”

Melissa explained, “Nora gave birth to a pair of boy-girl twins back then. One of them is Cherry, and the other is Peter Hunt. They have also acknowledged each other recently, just that they aren’t married yet. We have no way of ensuring Cherry’s safety here, that’s why it wasn’t publicly announced.”

Sheena: “!!!”

She got up abruptly and looked at Nora incredulously. “So, Justin Hunt is the stray man that you slept with?”

Nora: “...”

Melissa’s lip corners also spasmed.

Sheena was even more impressed by Nora now. “That must have been some sheer dumb luck! I knew there was no way you would catch Justin’s eye. As it turns out, it’s because of that!”

Everyone was speechless.

The few of them all fell silent. It was at this moment that a voice came from the door. “Sir, Ma’am. Mr. Smith is here.”

Mr. Smith? Which Mr. Smith?

While they were wondering about it, they saw Joel walking in with his eyes narrowed.

All of them got up in unison when they saw him, just like how they behaved whenever they saw Justin. Simon stepped forward. “Mr. Smith? Why are you here?”

Joel looked at Nora. “I’m here to take her home.”

Nora: “?”

She raised her eyebrows in confusion. “Home?”

Joel nodded. “Yes. The Smiths’ residence is your home.”

Then, he added, “These are Uncle Ian’s instructions. After all, you and Justin have already publicly announced your relationship, and the Smiths have also acknowledged you. If you don’t move to the Smiths’, outsiders will definitely speculate.”

Nora: “...”

Just as she was about to refuse, Joel said, “Besides, the Smiths’ security system is also better.”

Security system...

Nora fell silent for a brief moment.

To be honest, now that Justin had publicly revealed her identity, there was no doubt that she was already in the public eye. The words that her mother had left her echoed in her ears: ‘... Stay mediocre and avoid being in the limelight. Otherwise, your life will be in danger!’

Originally, she hadn’t believed it. However, when someone stole her hair and almost stabbed her to death at the medical university, she had immediately realized that there were indeed people watching her and itching to act.

She wasn’t afraid.

She could deal with them even if they sent a few more people.

But what about Cherry?

Cherry was already in great danger at the moment. Although Quentin was protecting them, it was still very dangerous at the Andersons’ at night.

But if she went to the Smiths, things would be different.

Besides, she could also look for an opportunity to treat Ian's illness...

After thinking about it, Nora said, "Okay, I'll go with you."

She didn't want to give Cherry to Justin. If both children were to stay with Justin, she wouldn't have any chance of escaping in the future.

In that case, her only option was to go to the Smiths'. She could also take a look at what kind of person Ryan was along the way, and determine whether he really was her father or not.

Mrs. Anderson didn't expect that Nora would agree to leave when she had only just said that she wouldn't a while ago. For a moment, she couldn't quite bear to part with her.

Surprisingly, it was Melissa who grabbed her arm and said, "Mom, you mustn't stop her."

Mrs. Anderson was taken aback. "But Ian's attitude toward her..."

Melissa sighed. "Mom, no matter what kind of attitude Ian takes toward Nora, she is still a daughter of the Smiths. For Nora's sake, let her go to the Smiths. This way, she'll marry as a Smith in the future. At least to outsiders, her status would be on par with Justin's. But if she doesn't go to the Smiths, the Andersons... have really become down-and-out after so many years!"

Melissa had never been one to believe in talk about families having to be good matches with each other when it came to marriage. Otherwise, she wouldn't have married into the down-and-out Andersons back when she was still a Wood. However, she was worried that Nora would suffer injustice.

Besides, this was Nora's choice. She must have her own reasons, too.

She mustn't stop the children from building a life of their own.

After saying that, she went upstairs with Nora to help her pack her things.

Nora's belongings were very simple. She only had a few pieces of clothing. It was instead Cherry's clothes that she had a lot to pack.

Seeing how Melissa was stuffing clothes into the suitcase, Nora said, "You don't have to pack them all in. We can still wear them when we come back and stay here once in a while."

The moment she said that, Melissa suddenly said, "Oh, that's right. We're all in New York, so you'll still be able to come back."

After speaking, Melissa wiped the corners of her eyes while Nora was not paying attention.

She got up, held Nora's hand, and said, "Nora, although we haven't spent much time together, I have always treated you as my daughter. Even though you're leaving with Joel and going to the Smiths, you don't have to feel restrained. Just do whatever you have to do. No matter what happens, just be yourself!"

"... Okay."

She was rather moved.

Apart from Aunt Irene who had treated her a little better than others, no one had ever treated her so intimately before.

She could see a mother in Melissa. It felt as if all mothers in the world should be as calm and elegant as her.

She suddenly reached over and gave Melissa a hug.

Melissa patted her on the back.

Nora separated from her right after hugging her because she wasn't used to such intimate actions. The two exited the room and saw Simon standing outside. In a voice that was neither too loud nor too soft but just enough for

Joel to hear, he said, “Nora, this will always be your home, no matter what happens! You can come back anytime if you suffer any injustice!”

Simon said firmly, “The Andersons may not be comparable to the Smiths or the Hunts... but as long as Uncle Simon is still alive, you’ll never go hungry!”

Joel raised his eyebrows when he heard him.

He knew that Simon was hinting to him that he mustn’t bully Nora.

He looked down and said nothing.

Nora smiled. She was about to speak when her cell phone suddenly rang. She picked it up and took a look—it was Lily calling from overseas.

Was the DNA test report out?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 286 - Results Of The Dna Test

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora raised her eyebrows slightly and made a gesture of picking up the call and walked to the balcony at the side.

As soon as the call connected, Lily's tired voice came through. "Anti, the report is out."

Nora lowered her eyes and said coldly, "What's the result?"

Lily replied in English, "Your relationship with Mr. Smith is indeed not that of a father and daughter. Your DNA is not close enough."

Nora raised her eyebrows. "Uncle and niece?"

Lily replied, "Your DNA is a little off from that of a father and daughter. That's why the previous report compared the DNA match to that of an uncle and a niece. But it's impossible to determine if that's true. Can you find your father's DNA?"

Nora: "...No."

If she could find it, wouldn't she have sent it to her long ago?

Nora was a little disappointed. Just as she was about to hang up, Lily said hesitantly, "Anti, actually, it's not impossible that you and Mr. Smith are father and daughter."

Not impossible?

What kind of relationship was that?

Nora said, "Please elaborate."

Lily then said, "Do you remember the last time I told you that your intelligence and genes are different from ordinary people?"

Nora narrowed her eyes. "Yes, and?"

Lily said slowly, "The difference between you and Ian mostly comes from this part of your IQ genes. However, it might also be because your genes have mutated. Therefore, I said that you and Ian are very likely father and daughter. If you can find the DNA of the so-called father you're talking about now, we can verify it. I even feel that the matching rate might not be as high as yours and Ian's. Of course, if this is the case, it can also prove your relationship with Ian."

Nora frowned.

In other words, could she be Ian's daughter?

However, the problem was that she could not provide evidence. She could not possibly say that her genes had mutated, right? This was too unbelievable.

She lowered her eyes. "If I could get that so-called father's DNA, I wouldn't have let you test me and Mr. Smith."

Lily: "...That's right. Am I being silly?"

"Not totally."

Nora lowered her eyes slowly. "At least you let me know that there is another possibility."

Lily nodded. "Yes, you'd better go to the Smiths now and try to find a way to get your father's DNA, something that's still there even more than twenty years later."

Nora: "...For example?"

He had been gone for more than twenty years. Where could she get live DNA?

However, Lily said, “For example, from the wisdom teeth or milk teeth? Don’t people keep those around after they’re plucked out?”

Nora: “...That’s a little disgusting.”

“...”

“I’m hanging up.”

After Nora hung up, she thought for a while and suddenly patted her head. She felt that she was so silly.

If she wanted to know who her father was, she could find out who had gone to California back then.

She raised an eyebrow and went downstairs.

Joel was waiting for her in the living room. At this moment, Cherry was talking to him adorably. “So Mia’s father is my uncle. No wonder Mia is so cute like Cherry!”

Joel nodded. “Yeah.”

Cherry said, “Uncle, you’re so good-looking. You’re the type my mommy and I like. You’re harmless and beautiful!”

“...”

“By the way, Uncle, can I live with Mia after we go to the Smiths? I like Mia the most. Also, Brandon is my underling. Do you know that?”

Joel: “...Okay.”

This child was so talkative!

As he was feeling conflicted, he saw Nora coming downstairs. He instantly heaved a sigh of relief and walked over to pick up her luggage. “Let’s go.”

Nora was not fearful at all because Joel was helping her carry her luggage. Instead, she followed behind him calmly. After the group of them went out, a secretary helped Joel take the luggage.

Joel coming to pick her up personally was giving Nora enough face.

—

An hour later, they finally arrived at the Smiths’ residence.

Joel got out of the car. With the help of the servants at home, he took the lead and walked in front. He turned back to look at Nora and saw that after she got out of the car, she completely ignored Cherry.

On the other hand, Cherry jumped out of the car and skipped beside her while looking around. Her small eyes were like black grapes. There was no hint of the surprise she should have upon seeing the Smiths’ manor. Instead, there was some admiration.

That’s right. Justin’s daughter must have lived in the Hunts for a period of time. She didn’t look like a child who had not seen the world.

Unknowingly, Joel slowed down his footsteps and asked her, “Do you like it? How does the Smiths’ house compare to the Hunts’?”

Cherry looked up and said, “More or less the same. But Dad prepared a princess room for me. Do you have one here?”

Joel: “!!”

A princess room... He didn’t have it here!

After all, it was a last-minute decision to bring the two of them to the Smiths’ residence.

However, when he met Cherry's big eyes, which were like black grapes, he coughed and said, "Yes, there will be."

Cherry: "Yeah! I'm not leaving then. Little Princess Lucy still wants me to play with her!"

Lucy?

Joel narrowed his eyes.

The royal family of the UK did have a little princess named Lucy. She was only five years old this year, but she was friends with Cherry?

One had to know that the UK was a country that valued blood relations the most. The aristocrats looked down on the commoners.

Therefore...

Joel glanced at Nora. This little cousin of his was not simple?

After Nora followed Joel into the Smiths, Joel brought her upstairs.

He found a relatively spacious guest room for her and instructed, "I was in a hurry to pick you up, so I'll have to trouble you to stay here for the time being. The room beside is being renovated. It'll be your boudoir."

Nora did not care about this. Moreover, the guest room was quite spacious. The important thing was that the bed was quite comfortable. She nodded. "Okay."

Seeing that she had no other thoughts, Joel left the living room and went to the office.

On the way, he received a call from Mia. "Dad, Cherry is here. Can I let her stay with me?"

Her daughter's room was a princess room, and the two children could stay there.

Joel agreed.

However, as soon as he arrived at the company, the company's Internet staff hurriedly found him. "Mr. Smith, our Internet has been hacked!"

Joel was taken aback. "Who hacked it?"

The manager of the Internet Department shook his head. "I don't know, but the other party has retrieved Mr. Ian's schedule from 25 years ago!"

25 years ago?

Where had Third Uncle been?

Joel followed the manager of the Internet Department into the secret room and saw Ian's schedule for the entire year 25 years ago.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 287 - Overeat!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Ever since Yvette left New York, Ian had been busy and almost never returned home. He would fly around outside every day and build up the business.

Actually, he was using work to numb himself.

However, the cities he had been to included foreign countries and major cities in the country. He had never been to California.

When Joel saw this clearly, he saw that the webpage had automatically changed to Ryan's itinerary. Only then did he realize that 25 years ago, Ryan had once reserved a ticket to California!

Joel: "??"

First, the hacker investigated Ian's whereabouts, and now, he was investigating Ryan's whereabouts... It went without saying who had hacked into the Smiths' system.

The corners of his mouth twitched. He felt that Mr. Hunt was really too free. He had really put in so much effort to confirm his girlfriend's identity.

After all, the Smiths' security system had been designed by the best. Other than the Hunts, no one else had the ability to hack in, right?

However, when he realized that the other party had only investigated this and had silently withdrawn, he simply did not pursue the matter. After all, the hacker had not peeked at their company's secrets.

—

At the Smiths.

After Nora investigated, she frowned even more.

Ryan had been to California, but Ian had not been to California in the year before she was born. Therefore, she couldn't possibly be Ian's child, right?

She sighed silently and exited the computer. Then, she looked around the guest room.

The guest room was a hundred square meters and was a private room. Apart from the master bedroom, there was the living room and study room. She packed her luggage and lay on the bed.

The soft bed was very comfortable, and she fell asleep unknowingly.

When she woke up, it was already dark.

She got up and stretched, then took out her phone and took a look. She realized that there were a few WeChat messages from Justin.

JH: "What are you doing? Have lunch together?"

JH: "Are you sleeping? Shall we eat together tonight?"

JH: "It's already 5 PM. Are you still sleeping?"

JH: "It's already 8 PM. Why aren't you awake yet?"

Nora: "..."

She yawned and replied: "I'm awake."

The other party replied instantly: "Shall we have supper together?"

Nora: "..."

She replied: "Just eat something. I'm busy."

JH: "What are you busy with?"

Nora: "I want to sleep after eating."

JH: "..."

After sending this message, Nora threw her phone aside and went out.

A few days ago, she had not slept for two days in order to refine medicine for Mrs. Hunt. Therefore, she must sleep more these few days.

The guest room was on the second floor. As they left and walked along the corridor, they heard voices in the dining room downstairs.

Yvonne was a little worried. "Warren, are you really not going to wake her up? She didn't even eat dinner... Perhaps she feels embarrassed?"

Warren sneered. "Hmph, who cares if she eats or not! Who is she putting on airs for?! I thought she was Uncle Ian's daughter and that we finally have a biological cousin. I didn't expect her to be Uncle Ryan's daughter! That's too much! How can Uncle Ryan snatch Uncle Ian's woman? Although this cousin is his biological daughter and is related by blood, I can't like her!"

With that, the servant beside him said, "Then, Sir Warren, is there any food left in the kitchen?"

Yvonne lowered her eyes and said, "Of course. Warren, she has also come to our house and is our eldest miss. We definitely have to save her some food."

Warren was indeed furious. "Who does she think she is? Yvonne, don't worry. I definitely won't distance myself from you just because she's related to me by blood. In my heart, you're the only sister I have!"

Yvonne sighed in relief.

Having grown up in this family, she knew better than anyone else how indulgent this family was to girls!

Not to mention how much her uncles from the previous generation doted on her, but even at this age, they were still desperately trying to have a baby girl.

The older brothers of this generation definitely had a sister complex!

Take the last time she attended the Hunts' birthday banquet. Warren had bought the most expensive gown for her, not for his own wife.

Although she was not a biological daughter, her status in the family had always been number one.

No matter what, the best was hers.

Therefore, she was really afraid that because of Nora, who was related to her brothers by blood, she would lose her favor.

Hearing Warren's words, she was relieved.

She sighed and comforted him again. "Warren, even so, since she has moved here, we can't let her starve. We can't throw the food away."

Warren immediately said angrily, "You're right. Even if a stray cat or dog comes to our house, it's still a member of the Smiths. We definitely can't let her starve."

With that, he instructed the nanny in the most ruthless manner, "Go, save that portion of Australian lobster for her. There's also top-grade steak. By the way, she might not like Western food. Prepare some bird's nest porridge and little buns for her. I remember that our pan-fried buns are the best. Wrap them up for her too. When she wakes up, cook them. The freshly cooked ones are the best! Then let her choose. I want her to die from overeating!"

The nanny: ...

Yvonne: ...

Nora, who was preparing to go downstairs: ???

Yvonne's expression changed. She had always known that her brother Warren did not know how to speak, and he would often say one thing but mean another. She clenched her fists tightly and lowered her eyes. "Warren that's too much food. It won't be good if it's wasted."

Warren hesitated for a moment. "She's not a fool. Would she really eat them all? Forget it. I'll leave some for her. I'll see what she likes to eat and prepare them tomorrow."

With that, he hurriedly clarified. "I'm not doing this for her good. I'm showing her how powerful Smiths are. I'm also showing her the delicacies of the Smiths so that she won't wolf down the delicious food outside and lose our face!"

Yvonne: "..."

Warren did not think that he had said anything wrong. In his mind, he saw Nora wolfing down the cake at the Hunts' banquet. At that time, Mr. Hunt had been watching from the side and his mouth had even twitched.

He must have been criticizing this girl in his heart for not being presentable!

How could he let anyone look down on the daughter of the Smiths?

As he was thinking about this, there was suddenly a knock on the door. Immediately, a few people walked in with hot dishes.

The butler followed in. "Sir Warren, this is the supper Mr. Hunt had reserved for Miss Smith. He said that Miss Smith has already woken up and asked us to send it in."

Warren: ???

Nora, who was upstairs: ???

Looking at the huge plate of food, her lips twitched.

Justin, do you think I'm a pig?!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 288 - Who Is More Respected?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The dining table was quickly filled.

Warren also saw Nora, who was preparing to come downstairs.

He instantly straightened his back and raised his neck. He pretended not to look at her, but he kept paying attention to her from the corner of his eye.

If this person came over to greet him, he would definitely ignore her and tell her not to think that he would recognize her as a sister just because she called him Brother!

Uncle Ian controlled the entire family. Uncle Ian's family was the direct line of descent. The other brothers, including him, were all from the side family!

As for Nora, she was even further away!

After all, the hatred of snatching someone's wife was too intense!

Anyway, he was sent by his Uncle Ian. He would definitely not be coaxed by his sister!

Just as he was saying this to himself, he saw Nora walking down slowly from upstairs. She walked past him and went to the dining room without saying anything.

Warren: ???

Hey, was she blind? He was a living person. Can't she see him?

Warren was so angry that he wanted to go forward and argue, but Yvonne grabbed his hand. “Warren, you, don’t lower yourself to her level...”

Warren snorted coldly. “I don’t care about her. I’m just not full yet! Go to the kitchen and see what else is there to eat!”

Yvonne: “...”

Nora ignored the two of them. She could feel Yvonne’s inexplicable hostility toward her. As for Warren... he had schemed against her in the Hunts. It was already good enough that she did not settle scores with him. How could she still greet him?

She sat at the dining table and was not picky about what she ate.

The food she ate was only for her to fill her stomach. Deliciousness was never within her considerations.

Seeing that she looked like the reincarnation of a hungry ghost as she wolfed down a plate of steamed crayfish, Warren couldn’t help but feel indignant.

He entered the kitchen casually and took out the prepared Australian lobster. He placed it on the table and sighed. “This Australian lobster is too delicious!”

What was so good about the food sent by the Hunts? Was it better than the Smiths?

Hurry up and throw away that small lobster that does not have much meat. Come and try the Smiths’ lobster! It’s filled with meat!

Unfortunately, Nora acted as if she did not hear him. She took another plate of noodles and finished it in a few bites.

The way she ate was fast and plentiful, but the sound of her eating was very soft. Whatever it was, she stuffed it into her mouth in big bites and chewed quickly before swallowing it.

Eating like this put pressure on her stomach.

At the thought of this, Warren said, “Hey, can’t you eat more elegantly? Can’t you be a little nobler like the eldest daughter of the Smiths? You look like you haven’t eaten in 800 years.”

Nora: “...”

A plate of crayfish and a plate of noodles were soon gulped down by her. She took out a tissue and wiped her mouth before throwing it into the trash can. Then, she stood up and looked around before asking with a hoarse voice, “Where’s Cherry?”

The housekeeper glanced at her and lowered her head to answer, “In Little Miss’s room. She’s going to sleep with Little Miss tonight.”

The housekeeper looked up at Nora and added, “She took a liking to Little Miss’s princess bed and insisted on staying there.”

With that, she pursed his lips.

Not only that, but she had also deceived Little Miss into taking out many princess gowns to share with her. This little child was so scheming!

Nora seemed not to have heard her answer. She asked again, “Where is Mia’s room?”

“Turn left on the second floor, the third room.”

Nora nodded and went upstairs.

After she left, the housekeeper instructed the nanny to take out a cloth and carefully wipe the spot where she had sat before saying, “Take this cutlery and disinfect it.”

Warren did not care about her actions. After all, he did not even know how the nannies washed the dishes. Moreover, it was normal for the items in the house to be disinfected.

Yvonne raised her brows.

Nora had just gone upstairs when she heard a voice behind her.

She took a look and realized that the housekeeper had followed her. When the housekeeper saw her, she walked beside her. “Little Miss’s room is over here. Don’t walk around recklessly. It won’t be good if you bump into the masters.”

Nora raised her brows.

When she walked into Mia’s room, she saw a study room with its door open. There were four main computers in it, and they were currently running.

She only took a glance at it before the housekeeper introduced, “This is our Miss... Miss Yvonne’s work studio. She likes coding programs as a hobby. Sometimes, she would make some software with it. The firewall Miss Yvonne created has even won awards. These four main computers are servers bought at high prices overseas. Don’t barge in recklessly. If you accidentally press some button and affect Miss Yvonne’s software programming, it won’t be good.”

These things were too familiar. Nora could not help but ask, “Is she a hacker?”

“What hacker? This is just Miss Yvonne’s hobby. She only writes some code occasionally. Miss Yvonne is omnipotent. She knows how to arrange flowers, draw, calligraphy, violin, and piano! She’s basically won every industry award!”

The housekeeper sounded a little proud when she said this.

Then, she said, “Although Miss Yvonne is an adopted daughter, she’s the adopted daughter of Master Ian. Her status is definitely different from the other gentlemen and ladies in the other houses. Other than Mr. Joel, all the other gentlemen dote on her very much. They treat her with respect!”

Although some of the Smiths lived at home, some of them had moved out.

Actually, strictly speaking, Ian was the owner of this manor. Joel had been chosen by him to become the current leader and take over his businesses.

In ancient times, this was considered adoption for Ian.

Warren and his wife could only be considered to be living in the manor. There were also people from the other houses who had already moved out.

Even if Nora was the daughter of the Smiths, she was from the second branch. She was not considered the matriarch of this manor.

The housekeeper knew very well who the owner of the house was.

Nora glanced sideways at her upon hearing her words.

After showing Mia's door to Nora, the housekeeper left.

When she went downstairs to the kitchen, she heard the nannies discussing softly. "Miss Smith is going to marry Mr. Hunt in the future. Then she will be Mrs. Hunt, and she will become the mistress of the entire Hunt Empire. But our Miss... Miss Yvonne, after she gets married, she won't be considered a member of the Smiths anymore. In the entire New York, other than the Hunts, no one can compare to the Smiths, right? Is Miss Smith more respected, or is Miss Yvonne?"

The housekeeper immediately entered and sneered. "Have the rules in the house been broken? Of course, the owner is the most respected!"

Chapter 289 - You Are Ians Daughter!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Florence Stone, the housekeeper in charge of internal affairs at the Smiths', was Ian's diehard fan. She was absolutely loyal to the Smiths and had great respect and admiration for Ian.

She had witnessed with her own eyes how Ian had gone from someone shrewd and capable, lively and active, and someone who loved talking and smiling—to the zombie he currently was, all because of Yvette.

She hated Yvette with every fiber of her being.

Therefore, she always looked at things from Ian's perspective. She reprimanded, "Even if Ms. Nora becomes Mrs. Hunt in the future, she's still just Ms. Smith now! Mr. Ian's daughter is the noblest of all! Although Ms. Yvonne is adopted, she's Mr. Ian's adopted daughter. Can't you tell which of the two matters more?"

The nannies hung their heads upon being reprimanded, none of them daring to speak anymore.

—

When Nora went to Mia's room, the two girls were already fast asleep.

This wasn't the first time Cherry was sleeping together with a friend. The little fellow was carefree and slept very soundly. Mia, on the other hand, was relatively restrained. Her arms were placed on both sides properly. Even though she was asleep, her little face nevertheless made one want to dote on her.

Nora pulled up the covers for the children and went out.

As soon as she did, she ran into Joel who had just returned home from work.

Nora raised her eyebrows when the two ran into each other.

Joel was also a little surprised, though he quickly reacted. He said, “I’m here to take a look at Mia.”

Nora nodded.

When she stepped aside and got ready to leave, Joel suddenly said, “By the way, please tell Mr. Hunt that he can just ask us directly if there’s something he wants to know. Isn’t it a little too impolite to hack into the Smiths’ computer system without permission?”

Nora: “???”

She was stunned for a moment before she realized that Joel had misunderstood. As she had been too anxious to know Ian’s itinerary back then, she hadn’t covered her tracks in the afternoon. This was equivalent to blatantly breaking into the Smiths’ computer system.

She coughed but didn’t explain. Instead, she replied calmly, “I will let him know.”

Joel stared at her. He couldn’t help feeling like something wasn’t quite right with the woman after he had said that, yet he couldn’t pinpoint the reason why. Thus, he nodded and entered Mia’s bedroom instead.

Nora walked back to her room with a guilty conscience. She had only just taken two steps when her phone rang.

She held it up and took a look in the silent corridor—it was actually from Justin.

Perhaps because she was feeling too guilty, she actually picked up the call right away. She asked, “What’s up?”

Justin said dispassionately, “Let’s switch the children back tomorrow.”

Nora's voice was low as she asked, "Is Pete missing me?"

"... Yeah, I guess you could say that." Justin said, "Let's have lunch at noon with the children and then switch them back?"

Nora answered very sincerely, "I can't wake up in time."

"How about at night, then?"

Nora nodded without much care. "Okay."

After the two agreed on the time, Nora was about to hang up when Justin asked, "Was the supper good?"

"It was alright." After Nora answered, she thought of the lineup when the fellow sent food over earlier in the day and said, "You don't have to go to so much trouble."

"It's your first day there," Justin explained, "I was afraid that you would be looked down upon. After all, there are too many people in this world too blind to tell good and bad people apart."

Looked down upon...

Nora subconsciously thought of Florence, and the corners of her lips curled into a smile. "What's the big deal?"

Since she relied on the Smiths for neither food nor living expenses, it meant that she had a lot of freedom here. At the worst, she could just move out. She didn't need anything from the Smiths.

Apart from speaking a little sarcastically, the housekeeper didn't really do anything, so she couldn't be bothered to hold it against her, either.

Nora yawned and went back to her room to sleep.

She was awakened by the alarm clock the next day. She had to send Cherry to the kindergarten. When she yawned and went downstairs, she found that Mia and Cherry were already awake and sitting at the dining table.

Florence instructed the servants to bring the food out. Cherry's eyes lit up when she saw that they were having pancakes for breakfast. She said, "I want pancakes!"

She stretched out her little hand after she spoke, intending to take the plate of pancakes from the nanny.

Florence, however, took the plate of pancakes and gave it to Mia instead. She said to Cherry, "Ms. Cherry, this is Ms. Mia's. If you want some, I'll get them to bring you another plate of it."

Cherry's expression turned cold at once. She was about to say something when Mia pushed the plate of pancakes to Cherry. "You can have them first. They can just give me another plate of pancakes when they are done. I can eat the scrambled eggs first, yeah!"

Cherry was distracted, plus she also had her pancakes now, so she ignored Florence and asked, "Do you eat the eggs first? I always eat the pancakes first, otherwise, I'll choke!"

Mia replied, "... I like eating the side dishes first and the main dish later."

The two children matched each other very well, and both started eating their breakfasts happily.

Florence's expression turned cold at the sight. She cast her eyes down and said, "Well, that's good, too. It's very polite of Ms. Mia to give in to a guest."

It was just a shame that both children were very innocent, so they didn't think about anything else at all, despite her sarcasm.

In fact, Cherry even nodded and said, "Yes, Mia is the most polite, unlike Brandon. He doesn't have any manners at all!"

Mia blushed. She lowered her head and said softly, "Thank you for the compliment, Cherry."

“You’re welcome! We have to praise each other a little more every day, okay? This way, we’ll be happy every day, yeah!”

“Okie-Dokie!”

The two girls started munching away on their respective plates of food again after they finished talking.

Florence: “...”

She could only return to the kitchen.

Seeing that Cherry didn’t get bullied, Nora’s lips curled into a smile in amusement. The girl took everything except the short end of the stick. On top of that, she was quirky and eccentric. Not many in the house were her match.

When she was about to go downstairs, she heard the door beside her open. Joel, who had likely stayed up late the night before, came out. He had some shadows under his eyes, and he was frowning, which toned down his usually smiling face and made him look a little more serious.

But when he saw Nora, his frown gradually softened, and the gentle look returned to his countenance, making him look perfect and flawless. He said, “You don’t have to get up so early, Ms. Smith. I can take Cherry with me when I send Mia to school.”

Nora didn’t stand on ceremony at all. She turned, started walking upstairs, and said, “I’m counting on you, then.”

Joel: “...”

—

By the time Nora woke up once more, she had finally made up for her lack of sleep.

The groggy feeling in her head finally disappeared, and her entire self seemed reborn.

She loosened her muscles and went out, intending to see if Cherry was back yet so that she could take her out for dinner with Justin.

However, the moment she came out of her bedroom, someone suddenly rushed right over to her.. He looked old and aged, but because he had burns on his face, his original looks couldn't be made out anymore. He stared at Nora for very long before he finally said, "You are Ian's daughter!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 290 - A Strange Madman~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora's pupils shrank upon hearing what he said, and she looked at him abruptly.

It was completely impossible to make out the man's facial features, and his entire self looked rather savage and terrifying. The skin around his eyes was all burned, so he had only two dark holes to see with.

Ordinary people would surely be shocked at his appearance.

However, Nora had seen much scarier things on the operating table, so she merely raised her eyebrows calmly and asked, "Why do you say that?"

The man tilted his head. As though he was crazy, he replied, "Because you don't look like Ryan! You look like Ian!"

Nora: "..."

Her looks mostly took after her mother, so she only slightly resembled Ian. Moreover, it was said that the slight resemblance also looked very much like Ryan.

Besides, even if Ian was her uncle, it was normal that they would resemble each other a little.

Just as she was about to say something, the man jumped and exclaimed, "Haha! You are Ian's daughter! Ian has a daughter now! The Smiths also have a daughter now! This is awesome..."

Nora was about to speak again when the butler in charge of the Smiths' external affairs rushed in with a few men. He let out a sigh of relief upon seeing him. "I finally found you!"

He rushed over, and a few security guards held the man down.

The external butler looked at Nora nervously. “He didn’t offend you, did he, Ms. Smith?”

Nora: “?”

The puzzled woman asked, “He is?”

The butler sighed. “He’s a madman, we all call him Old Maddy. A few years ago, he came to our door to beg, and we simply couldn’t drive him away, no matter what we did. He just kept staying outside stubbornly. If we called the police, he just came back again every time the police took him away. He even asked for delicious food. In the end, the old sir told us to let him stay and give him some food, and just take it that we’re doing a good deed. We arranged for him to stay in a small house in the yard, but for some reason, when he heard today that a new young lady of the Smiths has come, he started to shout excitedly that the old sir has a daughter now, and broke in. He has always been well-behaved and has never given anyone trouble all these years, so I didn’t think that he would suddenly go crazy and run up to your door. I’m really sorry.”

Nora waved. “It’s fine.”

She looked again at the madman that had been held down. As the skin on his face was all burned, one couldn’t tell what he looked like or how old he was. Judging from the wrinkles on his hands, however, the man was likely quite advanced in age and was at least fifty years old.

As she walked toward the lower floor with the butler, she asked, “What is his background?”

The butler replied, “He’s just a beggar. The ID card we found on him stated that he’s from a small town near the mountains. A huge fire burned down his home, so he came out to beg when he had no way out... The old sir said that he definitely wouldn’t have taken him in if he were mentally sound—after all, he’s physically able to make a living for himself—but since he is in this state, then it was alright.”

Nora looked at the madman again while listening to the butler.

The man's hair was dirty, and he looked like he hadn't had a bath in a very long while. Although his clothes were intact and didn't have any patches, they were also dirty and covered in dust and dirt.

One could tell that the Smiths hadn't abused him. It was just that he was mentally ill, so he was dirtier than ordinary people.

Perhaps because he sensed her disdain, the butler explained, "He has burns on his body, so his skin has always been in poor condition. It's very uncomfortable for him if he takes a hot bath, so he runs off and kicks up a fuss as soon as we give him a bath. As a result, we only give him a bath once a month. It's also mainly because he usually lives in an empty small house in the yard, and doesn't meet with anyone."

Nora nodded.

The butler asked the security guards to take him away. Even when they had walked a distance away, she could still hear the butler threatening him. "If you run in there again, I'll kick you out! And I won't give you burgers anymore! You hear me?"

"Burgers! Burgers! I wanna eat burgers!"

The madman jumped around and followed the few of them.

Nora narrowed her eyes.

Then, she shook her head and paid no further attention to the matter. She turned and walked into the living room.

Warren and Maureen were both on the sofa. Their necks were craned as they looked at the door anxiously. Obviously, they were also waiting for Brandon to return from school.

Although the boy was all brawn and no brains, he was born into a rather blissful family.

While Nora was thinking about it, Maureen saw her. She waved at once and called out, “Nora! Let’s go downstairs and have dinner together?”

Nora shook her head. “I’m waiting for Cherry, we’re going out for dinner.”

Maureen suddenly winked at her. “With Mr. Hunt?”

“Yeah.”

After Nora answered her, Warren gave the crayfish and pasta plates in front of him a small push and snorted. “Are the Smiths unable to feed you? Do you have to go out for meals every day? Or are the Smiths giving you too little pocket money that you have to get Justin to treat you to meals? Are the Hunts’ meals better than the food at home?!”

Nora: “??”

She raised her eyebrows, but before she could speak, someone had smacked Warren on his head. Maureen chastised him angrily, “Can’t you speak properly?”

Warren rubbed his head and glared at Maureen. “What are you doing?”

Maureen ignored him and looked at Nora instead. “Don’t mind him, Nora. He’s in a panic and in a bad mood because a game developed by the company has a major bug that can’t be fixed, that’s why he’s talking as if he has just eaten a whole load of gunpowder. Just ignore him. He actually does care about you. He bought the crayfish and pasta for you.”

Nora: “?”

Warren looked as if he wanted to explode, though. He said, “Who says I bought it for her? You’re obviously the one who likes it, so why are you saying so much?”

“... Okay, okay. I’m the one who likes it, okay?” said Maureen.

She sneered, “I wonder who it was that saw her eating crayfish so happily yesterday and traveled a long way to buy the best crayfish in New York!”

Nora: “!!”

She tilted her head to the side and thought about it. She had indeed eaten crayfish and pasta the day before, but this didn't mean that she liked eating them!

Why was Warren behaving so strangely?!

Warren snorted and continued to hold his laptop. He stared at the programming code on the screen and muttered to himself, “It doesn't look like there's a problem, so why is there a bug?”

Maureen said, “What would someone like you who only knows a little about programming know? You might as well leave it to a professional to solve it!”

Warren snorted. “Don't you think I've already done that? There are so many technicians in the company, but they still haven't found it even after searching for a whole day and night! Our game has only just launched. If this continues for one more day, all of our users are gonna disappear!”

Nora subconsciously glanced at his computer.

Warren, who caught her action, sneered, “What are you looking at? Can you even understand what this is?”

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed and she answered earnestly, “I... do understand what it is.”

Chapter 291 - A Debt~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Warren was taken aback the moment she said that.

Maureen asked in surprise, “You can understand it?”

Nora nodded. She was about to speak when Yvonne’s voice reached them. “Were you looking for me, Warren?”

At the sight of Yvonne, Warren instantly got up and walked over with the computer. He said, “Yvonne, come and take a look at this for me. What’s wrong with the game? None of the technicians in the IT department can find the problem. If this goes on... the game is already live. We’ll lose all the players!”

Nora: “?”

When she looked over hesitantly, Maureen explained, “Yvonne is a software consultant in the company. He always goes to her for help if there are problems that the technicians can’t solve.”

Maureen curled her lips in disdain. When she saw that Yvonne and Warren had moved to the side with the computer, she couldn’t help but sigh. “I feel so miserable, Nora.”

‘Nora’?

Nora raised her eyebrows. She didn’t feel that she was that familiar with Maureen yet. However, the sight of her melancholic look made her too embarrassed to say that, so she chose not to say anything, and took on the role of a listener instead.

Maureen heaved a sigh. “Although my family, the Lights, isn’t as rich and prosperous as the Smiths, we can still be said to be a wealthy family. My parents have always pampered me, and never did they think about reaping benefits through my marriage with the Smiths. Warren and I fell in love with each other. Joel, the current head of the family, can be considered a fair and just man, so he didn't force Warren into a political marriage or anything like that. When I tell you these things, I'm sure you'll think that I'm leading a very blissful life, right?"

"..."

Nora wanted to say that she didn't hear anything that the woman should find blissful. It seemed like the only thing that went smoothly was that she had freedom in her marriage?

While she was thinking about it, Maureen sighed and went on. "But who would know what kind of life I've actually been leading in the Smiths..."

She turned to look at Yvonne, lowered her voice, and whispered, "Do you know? When Warren asked Yvonne to be a consultant in his company, he had wanted to pay her a salary, but she refused it. After all, she does have money. She also refused when I suggested letting her become a shareholder. It sounds nice, and makes her look especially big-hearted, right?"

Nora nodded. She wanted to say that since they were a family, Yvonne had done the right thing.

Maureen sighed. "Yeah, after word of the incident spread, everyone talked about how kind and pure Ms. Smith was, how caring she was toward her brother, and how much she was at peace with the world... but just take a look at Warren there..."

Nora looked over accordingly and saw Warren standing, whereas Yvonne was seated. Warren stood beside Yvonne like her lackey and pointed at the computer screen eagerly.

Whenever Yvonne said something, Warren would immediately nod repeatedly, just like a... very obedient dog.

As soon as the thought formed in Nora's mind, Maureen spoke again. She said, "Did you see that? She has Warren completely wrapped around her little finger. Sigh! I have quite a lot of savings from when I married into the family, and Warren also receives a lot of dividends from the company every year. When we started the game company, we just wanted something to do so that life wouldn't be that boring. After all, there are a lot of restrictions and constraints if you work in the Smith Corporation. It isn't much of a problem if Warren just approaches the Smith Corporation's computer whizzes if he has a problem with his software, right? If that still doesn't solve the problem, I'm even willing to pay a lot to hire a super hacker. But Warren keeps saying that it doesn't make sense to get an outsider to do it when there's his younger sister at home.

"But once he asks for her help, our standard of living isn't allowed to surpass Yvonne's anymore. I like caviar, so my family sent me a bit of Almas caviar, which is very precious and almost impossible to buy. Warren said, 'This caviar is great. Let's give some to Yvonne'. If I refuse, it would make me look stingy; but if I give it to her, half the amount is too little, so I'll have to give her two-thirds of it, no matter what..."

Maureen continued to complain. "She is the young lady of the Smiths, so she eats the best food, drinks the best drinks, and wears the best clothes. I can understand all of that, but we have to give her all the things my husband buys, as well as the best things that the family gets..."

As she spoke, Maureen paused and looked at Nora. She said, "I know you'll definitely say that since she has helped us, we should give in to her a little in little things in life. But do you know? I'd rather spend the money and hire a computer expert because the two of us would at least be on equal standing since I paid for it. I don't want to owe her a favor that I can't ever repay..."

She heaved another melancholic sigh. Then, she looked at Nora and said, "Sigh, never mind. I'm sure you'll think that I'm just whining. After all, there are people who don't even have any food to eat, yet I'm complaining about having too little Almas caviar..."

Nora: "..."

To be honest, she understood.

She also hated owing people favors the most. It was just like when Solo had been seriously ill back then. Because she had discovered his condition in time and performed an operation on him, she had saved his life.

Solo had always wanted to pay her instead of working for her, but she knew that he would definitely disappear after she took the money, which would, in turn, lead to her having to personally take care of a lot of troublesome things subsequently.

It took up too much of her sleeping time.

Thus... cough.

When she thought about it that way, it seemed like she had become the same kind of person as Yvonne?

In that case, did Solo also find her very annoying?

For the first time—and in a rare move—Nora began to reflect upon herself.

On the other side, Yvonne kept a constant eye on Maureen out of the corner of her eye while she looked at the programming code for Warren.

She didn't know what Maureen was saying, but she was constantly talking affectionately with Nora.

A touch of dissatisfaction flashed across her eyes.

Just how kind was she to Warren and his wife? Yet they had already converted to Nora's side so quickly?

She cast her eyes down and suddenly edited some of the programming code. Then, she smiled and said, "The problem's resolved now."

Warren immediately gave her a thumbs up. "You're amazing, Yvonne. All those people in the company can't compare to you alone! Let me see... the bug is indeed gone! That's awesome!"

Warren thanked Yvonne and went to the side to make a phone call.

At this point, the few children finally reached home.

Joel hadn't picked them up from school because of an important meeting, so it was the butler who had picked up the three children.

Nora took Cherry out while Mia went upstairs to change. Brandon bounced around Maureen mischievously.

Yvonne looked at them and then at Warren. She thought of Maureen's earnest and enthusiastic attitude toward Nora just now. Suddenly, she cast her eyes down and walked toward them. Brandon was saying something and bouncing around. When he took a step back, he happened to 'accidentally' step on Yvonne's feet!!

“Ahh!”

Yvonne let out a cry of pain and held her foot.

Her cry made Warren, who was in the distance, look over.. He hurried over. “What's wrong, Yvonne? Brandon, quick, apologize to your aunt!”

Chapter 292 - Hitting The Child?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne, however, held Warren's arm. She frowned and acted as if her foot really hurt, but then said with a smile, "I'm fine, Warren. The boy didn't mean it..."

Practically at the same time she spoke, Brandon, who was also stunned, subconsciously asked, "How did you appear behind me, Aunt Yvonne?"

Yvonne smiled. "I was just passing by."

As the little overlord of the kindergarten, Brandon was currently at the age where kids were the most rebellious and detestable, so he hated having to apologize the most.

He scratched his head. "I didn't mean it. It's not like I have eyes at the back of my head..."

His annoying speech made Warren furious. "Didn't you hear me? I'm telling you to apologize! Stop making excuses!"

Brandon had always been very mischievous and had damaged a lot of things at home, thereby leaving that sort of impression on Warren a long time ago. He felt that he must have done it on purpose.

In addition, Brandon had indeed been having fun stepping on other people's feet at home recently. He had even been playing games to see who could step on more people's feet.

As a result, he had misunderstood.

There was no way the little overlord would ever apologize, though. He immediately retorted, "I didn't do anything wrong!"

Warren was livid.

Yvonne had just helped him. Not only had he not given her anything for it, but his son was even being so naughty?

He decided to take the opportunity to teach Brandon a lesson and make him behave. He picked up the boy at once and smacked his butt. “Will you apologize or not?!”

The pain made Brandon, who had never been one to behave, struggle and flail about at once. “Bad Daddy! Let me go! If you dare to beat me, I’ll also beat you when I grow up!”

Warren was taken aback.

Yvonne broke into a huge frown. “How can you say that, Brandon? That’s so outrageous of you! I don’t need you to apologize to me, you should be apologizing to your father instead!”

Brandon was furious. The boy, who had never been one to allow himself to suffer any injustice, retorted, “I didn’t do anything wrong. Besides, I didn’t mean it, either. You were the one who came up to me and let yourself be stepped on, so why should I apologize?!”

Warren instantly became even angrier.

He lifted his hand and mercilessly smacked his butt again. “You little brat! Will you apologize or not?!”

Loud smacks rang out as his palm landed on Brandon’s butt, making Maureen terribly distressed.

No matter how naughty the boy was, he was still her precious baby.

She had seen that it was Yvonne who ran into him just now, but when her husband told her son to apologize, she had subconsciously felt that she should give in to Yvonne.

Having her son apologize wasn't really much of a big deal, so she hadn't stopped them.

What her son said after that had indeed been very annoying, so she had also felt that they mustn't spoil their son when her husband decided to teach him a lesson. Which boy hadn't suffered a thrashing before?

But at this moment, she felt as if the blows landing on Brandon's butt were instead landing on her heart, making her heart ache terribly.

She rushed over anxiously. "Alright, that's enough! Stop hitting him! You're going to hurt the boy!"

Warren was afraid of his wife, so he immediately let go upon hearing her.

But as soon as he did, Yvonne said, "I know you love your son, Maureen, but spare the rod and spoil the child! He actually said that he was going to beat his father up when he grows up! You have to let him know what he has done wrong! Otherwise, he will go down a path of no return when he grows up!"

Maureen was furious. "He isn't your child, so of course you don't feel bad about it! It is our responsibility to educate our son, you don't need to bother yourself with it!"

The look on Yvonne's countenance became one of grievance upon being scolded. She heaved a huge sigh and said, "You're right. Warren, Maureen, I stepped beyond the boundaries with my words."

Warren, however, became angry. "Yvonne was doing it for Brandon's own good! Besides, she's his aunt, why would she do anything to harm him? She has the right to discipline the child! Yvonne is right, boys ought to be beaten up, otherwise, he really will beat me up once he grows up! What an impertinent boy!"

After speaking, he held his arm up and hit Brandon's butt a few more times!

Brandon stubbornly refused to cry, but his struggle gradually became weaker.

Maureen couldn't stand it anymore. She pushed Warren away and grabbed her son from him. Then, she pulled down his pants and took a look—his butt was already all red and swollen!

Maureen's eyes instantly reddened. She shouted straight at Warren and Yvonne, "Warren, if you dare to freaking touch my son again, I will fight you!"

Warren: "..."

Yvonne: "..."

Maureen was so mad that she picked up Brandon, went upstairs, and entered their bedroom. Before she went in, she looked back at Warren and said, "Warren! Do you want your son and me, or your precious little sister?! Are you intending to kill your son just for your precious little sister's sake?!"

"I can't live with this anymore! I'm taking my son back home! You can go and live with your sister instead!"

With that, she slammed the door shut with a loud bang.

Warren feared his wife the most, so he hurriedly went forward upon hearing what she said. "Dear, I..."

But after taking a step forward, he looked back at Yvonne.

Yvonne sighed. "Go and talk to Maureen, Warren. I'll be fine... She must have misunderstood... Have a good talk with Maureen. Don't make her angry, I know you're scared of her... If it really doesn't work, why don't I go up with you and apologize to her?"

There probably wasn't any man who could stand it if someone were to say that they were scared of their wife, right?

Had it been someone else, they would definitely have patted their chest and said, “Don’t worry! I’m a man, what’s there to be scared of? You don’t have to do that!”

However, Warren instead nodded and said, “You know me best. I’m the most afraid of her going back to her parents’ place. Let me quickly go upstairs and appease her... If I fail, I’ll have to ask you to give in and apologize to her.”

He then went upstairs without looking back, leaving only Yvonne standing downstairs.

She was so mad that she had to take a deep breath before she could suppress her anger.

She knew it! Warren didn’t have a conscience at all. Now that he had a wife, he didn’t protect his sister anymore!

Did the two of them really think that she didn’t have any means of keeping them within her control, though?

Yvonne lowered her head and smirked.

She would just wait for Warren to come and beg her.

—

Half an hour later, after Warren cried, begged, and coaxed her, Maureen finally gave in and stayed at the Smiths’ for the time being.

She and her husband were truly in love, after all. Besides, even though their son’s injury looked serious, the doctor said that they were just simple bruises when he came over to take a look.

Warren said, “That’s my son I’m hitting, so I will definitely hold back! He won’t break so easily, don’t worry!”

Maureen: “!!”

Not long after the two of them made up, Warren's cell phone rang. When he answered, the technician on the other side said, "Go and look at the game, Mr. Smith! There's another bug! It's a different one this time! We still haven't found the cause of it yet. Can you ask Ms. Yvonne for help again?"

Warren: "??"

Maureen: "????"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 293 - The Family Of Three~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Maureen was someone who refused to embarrass herself. If she asked someone for help, she would either pay them or do something for them. No matter what, she would always repay the debt she owed.

She had only just been angry at Yvonne a moment ago because of Brandon, yet she had to beg her for help now?

There was no way she could make herself do that.

Warren scratched his head. “It’s okay, she’s my younger sister. It’ll be fine if I go and approach her. It doesn’t count as begging her for help. We’re family!”

Maureen grabbed her husband who was about to go out. “I’ve had enough, Warren! Look at your son’s butt! If we were really family, would you have given him a beating if he stepped on your feet?”

Warren was taken aback.

Maureen pointed at him and ranted, “It’s exactly because you always feel like you owe her a favor that you unknowingly behave as if you’re beneath her. Yes, Yvonne is indeed from the Smiths’ direct lineage, but at the bottom of it all, she’s still just an adopted daughter. I’ve never seen you so wimpy even when you’re in front of Joel! Why is it that you can’t even say a single word in front of her?”

Maureen became more and more aggrieved as she spoke. Her eyes turned red, and she cried as she shouted, “Think about how much injustice you have made me suffer all these years? Let’s just talk about the Almas caviar the other time. You clearly know that I love caviar the most while it doesn’t matter to her whether she eats it or not, yet you still forced me to give her two-thirds of it... Do you know? My mom only managed to buy the Almas caviar after asking someone for a favor and spending a lot of money! Even she couldn't bear to eat it herself, and had given them all to me!"

Maureen wiped her tears and went on. "I was willing to overlook certain things before, but we have to make things clear now! She is your younger sister, and you have a sister complex. It's not a problem that you want to spoil her, but she isn't related to me by blood at all! Neither has she done anything for me! Why do I also have to repay her for the favors she's done for you?!"

Warren scratched his head. He panicked and said, "Don't cry, dear. I... I just thought that good things ought to be shared, that's all."

"Yeah, right! Never mind if she also likes Almas caviar, but the problem is that she doesn't like it at all! I saw with my own eyes that she couldn't bring herself to eat the Almas caviar after it was prepared, so she gave it to Florence, the housekeeper! I've kept all this to myself and have never brought it up before, but don't you dare go too far!"

"You have two choices today, Warren Smith. One—you go to her, and we divorce! I won't take this bullshit anymore! The second—remove her software consultant position in the company, or pay her a salary. You can even give her dividends if you want! Just don't owe her any more favors!"

Maureen hugged herself angrily and sobbed loudly after she spoke.

She was full of grievances after her son suffered a beating.

Yet now she still had to go and beg Yvonne for help! She was so goddamn full of grievances that she couldn't get any more aggrieved than that!

Brandon was already in pain because of the beating, but he had been holding it back all this time. However, when he saw that his mother was upset, he immediately walked over and pushed Warren. Then, he hugged Maureen and also burst into tears. He said, "Don't cry, Mommy! Don't cry!"

We won't talk to bad Daddy anymore! If he makes you angry, I will take off the respirator for his oxygen tank after I grow up!"

"..."

Warren's lip corners spasmed. "You little brat! Do you have a conscience or not?!"

Maureen also burst into laughter after holding it back for a brief moment.

Brandon's words immediately dispelled the sad atmosphere in the room.

Warren stepped forward and put his arm around Maureen's shoulders. "Alright, alright, dear. Although I don't really understand what you were saying, nor do I understand what's so delicious about the Almas caviar, I'll listen to you, okay? We won't go to Yvonne anymore. I'll hire an expert hacker from outside, okay?"

The sniffling Maureen nodded.

She took another deep breath before she looked at Warren and asked, "Really?"

"Yes, really." Warren then sighed and said, "Why didn't you tell me about the Almas caviar earlier? Had you told me, I would have bought you some. Given the Smiths' connections, isn't it a piece of cake to just buy some?"

Maureen pounded his shoulder. "Do you think Almas caviar is that easy to find?"

Warren, however, was full of confidence. "Don't worry, I'll definitely buy some for you!"

The family of three finally reconciled and hugged one another happily. Because Maureen had cried a lot, her eyes were all red and swollen, so she was too embarrassed to go downstairs for dinner. Warren decided to bring the food up instead.

When he went downstairs, he happened to see Yvonne and Joel eating. He smiled and said, “The little brat’s butt is all swollen because of me, so he doesn’t want to come down. We’ll eat upstairs instead.”

He then instructed the servants to deliver the food to their room.

Joel didn’t think much about it and concentrated on feeding Mia instead.

Yvonne raised her eyebrows.

She’d thought that Warren wouldn’t be able to stop himself from speaking to her. This way, Maureen would definitely be embarrassed and would force Brandon to come over and apologize to her.

She simply loved seeing Maureen having to practice forbearance even though she was clearly feeling terribly aggrieved.

She was the true mistress of the household here!

But why wasn’t Warren acting according to plan?

Upstairs, the family of three went to sleep after dinner.

However, reality always called after a heartwarming moment.

After sleeping for some time, Maureen was woken up by the heat. She opened her eyes and found that Brandon’s limbs were all over her. The little fellow was as hot as a furnace.

She pushed the little fellow off of her and got up, intending to drink some water. It was then that she found that there was no one on the other side of Brandon.

Surprised, she stood up. She could vaguely hear sounds coming from the balcony in the suite’s study. She drank a glass of water and walked over.

When she reached there, she saw that because Warren didn’t want to wake the two of them, not only was he in the study, but he had even gone to the balcony and was on the phone with someone. He lowered his voice and said, “You can’t find the cause? How can that be? Didn’t I say that you can get external help? If it really doesn’t work, you can borrow someone from the Smiths. Joel has a hacker!”

The person he was on the phone with replied, “I’ve already approached him, Boss, but he says that he couldn’t tell what the problem is. What do we do now?”

Things would get really tricky if even the Smiths’ hacker couldn’t detect the issue.

Warren frowned.

The other party, who was in charge of operations, said, “It’s been more than 24 hours since the game went live. The forums are full of negative feedback right now. If we still can’t fix the bug within 36 hours, the players will definitely doubt our capabilities. We could still vaguely find the cause for the previous bug, but we simply can’t find it at all this time!”

Warren ran his hand through his hair, so troubled that he was almost going bald. “What would happen if we fail to fix it?”

The person in charge of operations stayed quiet for a moment before he replied, “We’ll lose all the money we invested in the initial stages! Boss, you said that you wanted to create a perfect game, so from production planning to art and design, we hired only the best. In fact, we even hired a master artist to do the landscape designs, so every drawing is super expensive! The loss is a little too much...”

Warren had dividends from the company. He could also ask Joel for money if he didn’t have any more money.

But he also had his own ideals and that was to start a game company.

Thus, he had invested almost all of his savings into the game.

Chapter 294 - Happy Times For The Family Of Four~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Warren was so troubled that he tugged at his hair again and pulled out a few more strands.

In the room next door.

Yvonne listened to the voices coming from the monitoring device. She had hacked into Warren's phone and was eavesdropping on his conversation.

When she heard the other party say that they couldn't find the bug and so couldn't pinpoint the cause either, the corners of her lips curled into a smile.

Of course, they wouldn't be able to find the cause.

Because it was her newly created virus. She had planted the virus when she was repairing the game server earlier that day. She was the only one who could resolve the virus.

She went through her skincare routine leisurely, opening a bottle of expensive body lotion and spreading it carefully on herself.

Even a wealthy young lady's skin required meticulous care.

She tilted her head. Sure enough, a short while later, she heard Maureen's voice. "Why don't we go to Yvonne after all, Warren?"

Yvonne smirked.

So what even if Maureen was arrogant? Didn't she have to bow down to her all the same in the end?

Nora, who had taken Cherry out with her, was having dinner with Justin and Pete in a private room.

The family of four sat together. When Cherry and Pete sat facing each other, it was as if they were looking at a mirror. When Justin looked at the children, he couldn't help but marvel. "Why does this pair of boy-girl twins look exactly the same? They look too much like each other. Boy-girl twins are supposed to be fraternal twins. Are there any medical case studies where boy-girl twins look really alike?"

Nora shook her head. "I've never seen any. Boy-girl twins are just like normal brothers and sisters. Outsiders may not be able to tell them apart at a glance, but their parents will definitely be able to see some differences, yet Cherry and Pete look pretty much identical. But once they grow up, and Pete's characteristics as a boy and Cherry's characteristics as a girl become obvious, they won't look so similar anymore."

Justin breathed a sigh of relief. He was really afraid that the two children would still look exactly the same even after they grew up. Now, that would be really strange.

He touched Cherry's head, who was sitting next to him, and looked at Nora. Then, as if he was reminiscing about the past, he said, "You know, I almost thought Pete was a pervert prior to this."

Pete, who was eating: "?"

He silently lifted his head and looked at the tyrant with a frown.

He sure knew how to pick a conversation topic just to get Mommy to say a few more words. While he was despising him, wasn't he also despising his own IQ?

The corners of his lips spasmed a little. When he was about to speak, Nora asked, "Oh. Why's that?"

Justin coughed and said, “Pete suddenly became really girly, so I thought there was something psychologically wrong with him, and asked a family doctor to do a psychological test for him. The results indicated that he was a girl at heart.”

Nora: “...”

Nora looked down at Pete. The picture of a shocked Justin formed in her mind, and she couldn’t help but smile.

Pete: “??”

He looked at Cherry with a confused look on his face. When had the psychological test taken place?

Cherry was also bewildered. She looked at Justin puzzledly and asked, “When did you make me take the psychological test, Daddy?”

When Justin brought up the events in the hotel in California, Cherry was suddenly enlightened. She exclaimed, “Ah, so that was a psychological test! I’d thought it was an IQ test!”

Pete: “!!!”

So, when Cherry had said so confidently that their father made her take an IQ test and the results turned out super high—and Daddy was so satisfied that he couldn’t even say anything—she was actually talking about a psychological test?

The corners of his lips spasmed a little. Only then did he realize just what kind of terrible situation Cherry had put him in back then!

He looked at Cherry. “What about the history trivia and all that?”

Cherry replied proudly, “My history is really great. You can ask Daddy if you don’t believe me!”

Pete looked at Justin, who coughed and said, “It’s pretty good.”

He didn't believe him anymore, though, so he looked at Nora. Nora's lips curled into a smile and she said, "Yeah, it's pretty good. Who invented the first car?"

"Harrison Ford!" Cherry answered right away!

Pete: "!!!"

His pride and dignity of being a high IQ genius had all been destroyed by Cherry!!

With that as a conversation topic, Nora started to talk more than usual. Besides, she also wanted to know about her son.

Justin slowly started to talk about all the things Pete did when he was younger. He said, "... He drives his private tutors mad with anger. When he was two, the tutor told them the story about the three little pigs, and asked the children who they wanted to be—the eldest, the second, or the third pig? All the children said that they wanted to be the third pig because only hardworking people can build a sturdy house. When the tutor asked Pete the same question, what do you think he said?"

Nora shook her head.

Justin chuckled and said, "He said, 'Sir, I don't want to be a pig. I want to be a human being'."

"... Hahaha!"

This was the first time in Nora's life that she laughed out loud so happily. She hadn't expected her disciplined and rigid son to have such cute and funny moments when he was younger.

The look in Justin's eyes became a little infatuated when he saw her laugh.

The woman's eyelids were always drooping when she wasn't smiling, which made her look as if she was half-asleep. However, the angle of her lip corners was just right in this instant when she was laughing, and her eyes also looked brighter than usual.

He hurriedly retracted his gaze and took a sip of water to suppress the itch in his throat.

This was the first time they were having a meal so happily as a family of four.

Even Nora wasn't gobbling down her food like she usually did. In fact, after she was done eating, she even sat there and listened to him talk about all the embarrassing things Pete did as a child.

Time flew by. In the blink of an eye, it was nine o'clock.

The children had to go to bed, so Justin sent Nora and Pete back to the Smiths. After they reached, he tried to ask her out on a date. "Shall we go to Universal Studios on the weekend?"

Cherry immediately clapped. "Yes, yes! Daddy's the best!"

Justin looked at Nora.

Nora wanted to refuse so that she could sleep, but perhaps because the atmosphere that evening was simply so great, or perhaps because the night was getting dark, she hesitated when she saw the longing looks on the children's faces, as well as Justin's dark eyes. A moment later, she nodded.

After Justin left with Cherry, Nora took Pete into the Smiths' manor.

As soon as they entered, Mia rushed over and hugged Pete. "Cherry, why did you come back so late? Let's go and sleep together?"

Pete: "?!"

Pete had only slept on the same bed with Nora and Justin before. When he heard Mia's words, he froze and stammered, "N-no, it's okay..."

"Why?" Mia looked at him timidly. "Don't you like me?"

Pete didn't have the slightest bit of resistance to the look in her eyes. "Of course, I do!" he said.

“Then let’s go!”

With that, Mia dragged Pete away.

Nora: “...”

She didn’t refuse, either.

First of all, the children were only five. Besides, they actually counted as cousins, right? It was okay even if they slept together.

She went upstairs leisurely. Before she entered her bedroom, she spotted Maureen sitting on the sofa in the lounge on the second floor.. She was sighing.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 295 - Do You Know Any Really Good Hackers?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora was someone who minded her own business. She rarely took the initiative to show concern for others, unless they were people very close to her.

Maureen was just her sister-in-law, and the two had only just met, so she was very averse to prying into other people's private matters.

Thus, she merely paused for a moment before she started walking toward her room.

She had only taken a couple of steps when she suddenly heard voices coming from Mia's room. She frowned. She hadn't been planning on going over, but it suddenly occurred to her that she had brought Pete instead of Cherry back with her today.

Cherry would never allow anyone to bully her, so Nora didn't bother herself with her matters.

However, Pete was sensitive by nature. After learning about his childhood experiences, she had contacted several well-known psychologists abroad and consulted them, so she knew that Pete's condition was due to the psychological trauma he had suffered from being abandoned at birth.

Thus, she had to pay more attention to him.

This was also why she and Justin had switched children to take care of.

Cherry liked her father and was talkative, so she had let her go with Justin instead. Her son, though... He had almost died because she hadn't gone after him for Cherry's sake when they were born. Nora was constantly plagued with guilt because of that.

Thus, she paused and walked toward Mia's room in the end.

Maureen likely also heard the voices, so she also followed her there. As soon as the two of them walked in, they heard Mia saying softly, "Mdm. Florence, Daddy's the one who said Cherry could sleep with me."

Florence, who had a sullen look on her face, said, "You can't do that, Ms. Mia. How sad would your Granduncle Ian be if you did that?!"

A puzzled Mia asked, "What's the matter with Granduncle Ian?"

Florence replied, "Your Granduncle Ian hates Nora Smith the most, yet you're such close friends with her child. His condition is going to worsen because of this."

She looked at Pete after she spoke, and her expression turned cold. There was none of the politeness and respect she showed Mia as she said, "Ms. Cherry, you're not allowed to sleep with Ms. Mia. This place is meant for the Smiths' children. By doing that, you'll mess up the hierarchy of the family."

Pete: "?"

This wasn't a matter of hierarchy but the fact that he was a boy. Boys mustn't sleep with girls. What if the girl became pregnant?

Was he supposed to let Mia give birth to the child, and then have the three of them attend kindergarten together hand in hand?

With that, Pete finally found an excuse. He looked at Mia and said, "I won't sleep here, then."

He turned to leave after he spoke.

Mia, however, grabbed his hand. "No! I was the one who asked you to sleep here, Cherry. If you leave, everyone will look down on you!"

Mia had been educated by her mother ever since she was very little, so she was very sensitive despite her young age.

Pete was touched when he heard what she said.

Mia really did have his interests at heart.

While he was thinking, Florence said, “You have to listen to me, Ms. Mia. If you make Ms. Cherry stay, your father will get angry, too.”

“No, he won’t!” Mia said in her young and tender voice, “Daddy agreed to it!”

Almost right after she spoke, they heard a sound coming from downstairs—Joel was back.

He had worked overtime today, which caused him to return home a little later. Nevertheless, he immediately went up the stairs to see if Mia had gone to bed. If she hadn’t, he would still be in time to say goodnight to her.

As soon as he came up, he met Mia, Florence, and Pete’s eyes.

He frowned. “What’s wrong?”

Florence was about to speak when Mia rushed into Joel’s arms. She said a little angrily, “Daddy, Mdm. Florence won’t let Cherry sleep with me! Tell her whether you agreed to it or not!”

Joel nodded. “Yes, I’ve already agreed to it.”

Mia became excited. She got off him, grabbed Pete’s hand, and got ready to go into her room.

Joel’s gaze fell on Pete.

Ever since he realized that Justin had a pair of boy-girl twins, his observation skills had become very keen. There was ultimately still a very big difference between girls and boys.

He could tell at a glance that the person Mia was dragging into the room was Pete.

Seeing that Joel had actually agreed to it, Florence couldn't help but frown. She said, "Sir, that's Ms. Smith's daughter! You—"

Before she could finish, Joel suddenly took a couple of steps forward and stopped Mia and Pete. After casting a few glances at Pete, he finally looked at Mia and said, "Mia, let's not ask Cherry to keep you company tonight, okay? She probably also misses her mom."

Mia was taken aback. She looked at Pete puzzledly and asked, "Is that so, Cherry?"

Pete immediately nodded. "Yes... yeah!"

Mia hung her head disappointedly. "Then, when can you sleep with me?"

That would be when he switched places with Cherry again, of course.

After Pete silently answered her question inwardly, Joel said, "She will look for you when she wants to. Let's go to bed now, okay?"

Mia nodded. As Joel carried her into the bedroom, he also said, "Send Cherry back, Mdm. Florence."

"Yes, sir."

Mdm. Florence, however, had misunderstood and felt that she now understood what Joel was thinking.

As expected, with regard to Nora, the old sir did mind. Otherwise, Joel wouldn't have treated her daughter so poorly.

Sure enough, he had indeed driven her away.

Mdm. Florence sneered, "Please know your place in the future, Ms. Cherry. Even if your mother marries into the Hunts in the future, you still won't be a real Hunt, either. Don't compare yourself with the Hunts' little mister, get it?"

Pete: "..."

He resisted the urge to roll his eyes and walked forward without a word.

When Nora and Maureen came over, they were just in time to hear Florence say that. Maureen immediately looked at Nora, intending to comfort her, only to find that she didn't seem to care at all?

Maureen coughed and said, "Florence is a crazy fan of Uncle Ian. Her true master is Uncle Ian in this house, so she'll definitely have something against you. She is very loyal to her master and has worked for the Smiths for many years, so sometimes we can't really say anything about her behavior..."

The subtext: 'It's better not to offend the old servant.'

"...Oh," Nora said.

Pete quickened his footsteps when he spotted her. She took his hand and glanced at Florence, who was still in the distance. The woman raised her head and snorted arrogantly, but nevertheless nodded at Maureen and her as a sign of respect. Then, she left.

It was only after she left that Nora glanced at Maureen. When she noticed the concern in her eyes, and saw her eyes had turned red and swollen from crying, she thought of how she had kept sighing just now. She tried to hold herself back, but after a short hesitation, she still decided to ask, "What happened to you? Did you run into some kind of trouble?"

Upon hearing her question, Maureen heaved another huge sigh.

She suddenly asked, "Do you know any really good hackers?"

Chapter 296 - We Found A Hacker!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Maureen didn't know what was so wrong with herself that she would actually ask such a question.

Real computer experts were actually very hard to find.

Even with her family and the Smiths put together, they couldn't find a top-class hacker. Joel had paid a lot to hire the Smiths' current hacker.

It was said that when he attended the interview, Joel, who hadn't known his background at that time, had asked, "Why should I pay you such a high annual pay?"

The man had taken out his computer without a second word. Two minutes later, someone from the IT department reported, "Mr. Smith, the company's network is down!"

Joel had then looked at the hacker in front of him. After the hacker typed away for another two minutes, the network was back up. The hacker even said, "I've upgraded the company's firewall to the latest level of security. Unless Q and Y are on the scene, no one can breach my firewall."

With that, the man became a legend in one move and became worshiped by the Smiths.

Needless to say, there was no way he would help so easily.

He had completely ignored them even when problems occurred with Warren's game company's software. The Smiths' computer experts that they had previously approached for help were the people under him.

Unfortunately, none of them could pinpoint the problem.

Maureen regretted asking the question right after she did. How would Nora possibly know any when neither the Lights nor Warren could find any?

Why did she simply have to ask something that would put the other party in such a spot?

She smiled awkwardly and said, “It’s okay even if you don’t know any. None of us do anyway... There are so many programmers around, but why are there so few actual computer experts?”

Nora: “...”

That was because top-class talent wouldn’t work in a game company!

They either protected the national cyber security for the country—where they were known as white hats—or they had already been hired by certain corporations. Another possibility was that they freelanced and took on jobs in private, just like Solo. They also made a lot of money that way.

Could a game company like theirs even make a hacker stay with them?

Seeing how Maureen was hanging her head again and how her eyes were reddening, Nora kept quiet for a while before she finally said, “I do know one.”

Maureen: “?”

Her head whipped up and she looked at Nora in disbelief. “Really? Who is it? Are they famous? Would it be expensive if we hired them as a software engineer... no, a consultant, I mean, in our company?”

Nora coughed. “No, it isn’t. You can just give him a few hundred dollars.”

He was just doing them a small favor anyway. That little bug in their game was a cinch for him.

Maureen frowned. “So cheap? Are they reliable?”

She hurriedly explained, “I’m not questioning your abilities. What I mean is, most experts are really expensive to hire and are also very mysterious...”

Nora waved. “It’s fine. His name is Solo. I’ll give him a heads-up first.”

In a dark room abroad.

A few computer screens glowed faintly in the dark. A skinny man in front of a computer was writing a program excitedly when he suddenly sneezed.

As he rubbed his nose, he couldn’t help but wonder who was thinking of him.

Then, he immersed himself in his intense work.

A while later, his cell phone rang.

He was so engrossed in writing his program that he couldn’t be bothered to look at his phone. He continued to stare at the computer screen. A short while later, though, his phone automatically connected and Nora’s voice rang out. “What are you doing?”

Solo was so shocked that his hands shook. He accidentally entered a whole bunch of meaningless code into the computer, messing up the program instantly.

Solo: “...”

He looked to the side, stared at the phone, and said sinisterly, “Can you not be so bossy, Anti? All I did was just miss a call, yet you’re already hacking into my phone?”

Nora replied, “... It’s because your cell phone is too easy to hack. If it were a little more troublesome, I wouldn’t waste any time doing it, either.”

Solo: “...”

Just listen to what she was saying. Was that what a decent human being should be saying?

The resigned man picked up the phone and pressed the answer button stubbornly as if that was how being on the phone should be. He asked, “What’s up? Need me to do something again?”

“Yeah. Do me a small favor.”

“What is it?”

“Help my...” She fell silent for a while before she finally said, “...my cousin, I suppose. He’s run into a small problem with his company’s game. Take a look at it for him.”

Solo asked nosily, “What do you mean by your cousin? How many cousins do you have?”

“...”

“Anti, you are not someone who gives themselves trouble. Besides, what do I get if I help him out? I owe you a favor, but I don’t owe him any.”

Nora said unhurriedly, “If you become their company’s consultant, I’ll write off for good the debt you owe me.”

Solo: “??”

He was absolutely stunned. “Have you suddenly found your conscience? Is the overlord finally willing to release her captive? No problem! I can do that!”

If helping a small game company and being their consultant could repay what he owed the other party for saving his life, then that was totally too good a deal for him!

Solo completely didn’t realize that he had already been brainwashed by Nora’s oppressive ways.

—

At the Smiths.

Nora gave Solo a call in her bedroom. After he agreed, she hung up and went out.

After she left, Pete, who was lying on the bed, suddenly opened his eyes.

Light flickered in his dark eyes as he looked at the door. Judging from what Mommy had said, she was actually a top-class hacker?

Mommy was so amazing! He must become even more impressive in the future so that he could be worthy of being her child! As for Cherry... Forget it, he would just let her play.

It was enough that he followed in Mommy's footsteps.

Nora was completely unaware of how far the little fellow had already thought. She found Maureen sitting outside and waiting for her when she went out. She asked, "How did it go?"

Nora nodded and replied, "He's agreed to it. I will set up a group chat for you guys later. You can tell him in the chat which part is buggy. He will help you guys out."

Maureen nodded. "Okay! I'll go and let Warren know about it!"

She entered the bedroom excitedly.

Warren's game had just gone live that day, so things were relatively in a rush, and he was currently in a huge panic. Seeing her enter, he asked, "Have you talked to Yvonne?"

Maureen shook her head.

Warren said, "Didn't I already say that I'll go? Yet you just had to stop me. See, it's because you can't bring yourself to take a step back. We're a family, it's very normal that we'll have conflicts. What's the big deal about that?"

He was about to go out when Maureen said, "No, what I mean is, I've found you a hacker as a consultant for your company!"

Warren: “?”

He was stunned. Then, he stretched out his hand and waved in front of Maureen. “Have you become silly? Do you think it’s that easy to find a hacker? You didn’t let someone fool you, did you?”

Maureen immediately replied, “I don’t think so. Don’t think too deeply into it for now. Show him the bug in the game first. As for whether or not he’s really a hacker, and whether or not he’s good, won’t you know once you let him give it a shot?”

Warren, however, was extremely dubious. “How can I send our game software to other people so casually? Tell me the name of the hacker you found. I’ll look him up on the Internet.”

“His name is Solo,” replied Maureen.

Yvonne, who had hacked into Warren’s cell phone and was eavesdropping on them, curled her lips disdainfully.

Chapter 297 - Real Or Fake Solo

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After Warren entered Solo's name into Google, his information quickly appeared.

Solo was the champion of the international hacker competition last year. He was very good at capturing system loopholes, hacking into other people's systems, and stealing relevant documents.

When he was young, he had won a computer programming award and was considered one of the top hackers in the country.

When he saw this information, Warren was stunned.

He looked at Maureen in shock and asked in surprise, "Is it this Solo?"

Maureen was also very surprised. "I think... probably? Is there another Solo?"

Warren closed the tab and shook his head. "No."

Maureen: "Nora introduced him to me."

After the two of them finished speaking, they looked at each other. Warren coughed. "She's just a country bumpkin from California. How could she know such a powerful person?"

Maureen: "What's wrong with coming from California? She has been overseas for a few years! Maybe they met by chance."

Warren nodded. "Alright."

After saying that, he was still worried. "I better ask Yvonne."

Maureen was about to say something when Warren left.

In another room.

Yvonne hurriedly retracted her surveillance. After a while, there was indeed a knock on the door. She opened it, but Warren did not enter.

After all, they were not biological siblings and should have a line drawn between them.

He stood outside the door and asked, “Yvonne, have you heard of Solo?”

Yvonne raised an eyebrow. “Of course, I’ve heard of him. He was the champion of last year’s hacker competition. I’ve seen him before, we worked together once.”

Warren was instantly relieved. Just as he was about to say something, Yvonne smiled. “But he’s very introverted. Last year, I wanted to pull him into the Smiths’ business, but he refused. Do you know why?”

Warren shook his head.

Yvonne faintly replied, “Because he said that he doesn’t like to be controlled and restrained, so he has always been doing things by himself. By the way, do you know his personality? He likes to be alone the most. Even I can’t be considered his friend.”

Warren was stunned. “Alone? Even you’re not his friend?”

Yvonne nodded. “Capable people will always have pride.”

Warren nodded thoughtfully. “Yes, not everyone is like you. They’re capable and approachable. Alright, Yvonne, thank you!”

With that, Warren turned and left.

Yvonne: ??

She frowned and stared at Warren’s back as he left.

She thought that when Warren heard this, he would directly ask her about the software, but she did not expect him to just leave like that.

She bit her lip.

Alright, he was not begging, right?

Then just wait!

Her software could not be deciphered by any Tom, Dick, or Harry. Besides, Solo was such a reclusive person. How could he be a consultant for their gaming company?!

—

When Warren returned to his room, Yvonne was already monitoring them.

She felt that after the two of them realized that the relationship with Solo was fake, they would definitely complain to Nora. In the end, she heard the two of them chatting.

Warren: “I think this Solo is fake.”

Maureen: “Then what should we do? Now that you mention it, I also think it’s fake.”

After a long silence, Maureen slowly said, “Nora introduced him. Do you think...”

Yvonne smiled. She felt that the two of them would definitely blame Nora next. However, she did not expect the two of them to change the topic.

Warren asked, “Do you think Nora has been deceived too?”

Yvonne: “???”

Maureen continued, “Yes, but how are we going to tell Nora about this? If we say that Solo is fake, will she be sensitive and suspicious?”

Warren asked, “Would women also feel that way?”

Maureen: “Yes, they would. Even Nora’s self-esteem would be hurt. What do you think we should do?”

Warren: “...She’s not that unreasonable, is she?”

However, after a moment of silence, Warren said impatiently, “She came from a small place after all. She’s just mentally fragile!”

Maureen: “...Can you not say one thing and mean another? Besides, you’re related by blood. Haven’t you always wanted a biological sister?”

Warren scratched his head. “...She’s not my biological sister either. Sigh, I keep feeling like there’s a war between me and Yvonne. She was too outstanding since she was young, wasn’t she? She seemed close to us, but I could see that other siblings could play around with each other, but there was never anything between us. For example, when I went to look for her just now, if she was my biological sister, I could have just closed the door and talked to her, but I had to talk outside the door. You know Chester Hunt, right? He flaunts his sister in front of me every day. Whenever I mention Yvonne, he would reply to me, ‘Have you bathed with your sister? Have you ever put your arm around her shoulder? Have you ever drank with her? Are you related by blood?’”

He sighed heavily. “I’ve never done any of those things! But he has! I’m so angry! Now that I finally have a biological sister, do you think... Yvonne will be unhappy if I get closer to her or prepare some dowry for her?”

Maureen immediately said, “I liked Nora the moment I saw her. This might be fate between us. It’s not wrong to prepare some dowry for her. What’s there to be unhappy about? Uncle Ian will definitely help with her dowry too. Even if we prepare a few million, they won’t care! Besides, I’ll give Yvonne some when the time comes.”

Warren nodded. “You’re right.”

Yvonne was speechless.

She clenched her fists tightly and took a deep breath. She felt as if her heart was stuffed with cotton.

She was Ian's daughter, while Nora was the daughter of her deceased uncle. How could she be more precious than her?

Why were these people treating her so well?

What about her?

What had she been all these years?

She took a deep breath.

—

In another room.

After the two of them discussed the dowry, Warren picked up his phone. "Come on, invite Solo to the group chat. We'll expose his fake identity on the spot and let Nora know the dangers of society. I thought about it, we can't hide this from her!"

When Maureen heard her husband's words, she felt that it made sense. Therefore, she told Nora to add them into a group chat.

Nora did so soon.

She also made an introduction:

Nora: "This is Solo @Warren @Maureen"

With that, she fell silent.

Solo sent a welcoming emoji in the group chat and waved a small handkerchief around, looking especially despicable.

Warren sneered. How could the Almighty be so approachable?

Let's see how he would expose Solo's fake identity!

As he thought about this, he sent a previous game program into the group and said, "Guru, may I know where the bugs in this software are?"

Haha!

He'll see how Solo answers!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 298 - You Are Being Watched

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

While Warren was feeling smug, the other party replied:

Solo: “What nonsense is this? Can this code be used?”

Warren was taken aback.

Maureen said excitedly, “Maybe he’s really a master and can see the problem with this code?”

Warren touched his nose. “No, I have to try again. Maybe this was a wild guess?”

He sent a message to the group:

Warren: “Ah, I accidentally sent the wrong code. Master, are you really Solo?”

On the other end of the line, Solo was anxious. He did not have that much time to waste with him! Therefore, he quickly typed a message:

Solo: “Yes, cut the crap. Shall we sign the contract first?”

Anti had finally relented and said that as long as he became the consultant of this silly cousin, he would not have to work for free in the future!

Solo had to seize this opportunity.

The other party had first sent a bunch of wrong codes. It was obvious that they were testing him, and did not trust him so much. What if after he helped fix the bug, the other party kicked him away and said that they did not need a consultant?

To think that the dignified Solo would one day beg to be a company consultant for someone else!

Therefore, he had to sign the contract first. He did not want to be fooled again after doing the job!

However, in the eyes of Warren and Maureen, this hasty behavior made the two of them even more certain that this was a liar!

The two of them looked at each other. Warren asked, “Sure, but what about the salary?”

Solo: “Anything. Just give me $200,000.”

Anyway, he did not care about such a small amount of money. Any project he accepted would cost a million! Did he care about the consultancy fees?

No, what he cared about was freedom!

Now, freedom was waving a little handkerchief at him. He was anxious to get rid of Anti!

Therefore, Solo sent another message in the group chat: “Hurry up. I’ve already settled the contract for you. I’ll sign an electronic one. You can just sign an electronic one too.”

After saying this, he sent a contract to the group chat.

Warren: “!!”

Maureen: “...”

She gulped. “It has only been a few minutes? The contract is done.”

Warren: “...He probably prepared it in advance?”

Maureen opened the contract and took a look. The amount was $200,000.

She glanced at Warren again. “Isn’t this too cheap?”

Warren: “You can practically say that he’s helping us for free.”

The two of them looked at each other again. At this moment, they were certain that this Solo was definitely a liar!

Warren rolled up his sleeves and looked at Maureen. “How dare he deceive us, the Smiths. How hateful! Moreover, this liar is too unprofessional! Can a real high-level hacker be hired for $200,000?! It’s too fake! Nora, that stupid girl, has been deceived by this person for so long! He might have also swindled tens of thousands from her!”

Maureen also frowned. “Yes!”

Warren said, “Tens of thousands is nothing to us, but to Nora, it should be a lot in the environment she lives in, right? No, us Smiths cannot be bullied like this!”

Maureen nodded repeatedly. “Yes, we have to vent our anger! But how?”

Warren thought about it and said slowly, “How about this? First, we have to let Nora know that he’s a liar!”

Maureen took out her phone. “I’ll private chat with her.”

After Maureen sent a message to Nora, saying that Solo in the group was a liar, Nora’s reply was very fast because there were only two words: “He’s real.”

Maureen: “...”

Warren: “...”

The two of them looked at each other. Maureen sighed. “It looks like Nora has been deceived quite badly.”

Warren nodded as well.

Maureen asked, “What do we do now?”

After thinking for a while, Warren immediately patted his head. “Then let the truth be explained. We’ll sign the contract according to this counterfeit! After we sign it, he won’t be able to find any bugs. By then, Nora will definitely know the truth!”

Maureen nodded. “Then what about your game?”

Warren: “At this time, is that bit of money more important? Or is my sister more important?”

Maureen thought for a moment. “That’s true. Let’s settle the matter of Nora being deceived first!”

Anyway, even if they were bankrupt. With their elder brother to support them, their lives would not be bad!

The conversation between the two dimwits entered Yvonne’s ears, making her clench her fists in anger. This was too much.

It was too much!

These two people were too good to Nora!

She bit her lip and took a deep breath. She decided that if Warren came looking for her later, she would definitely not help.

How could he not care about that bit of money?

Then she would make him go bankrupt!

—

Warren signed the contract electronically and sent it to Solo again.

Solo immediately sent a message in the group: “Okay, the contract has been settled.”

Warren sent another message: “Then I’ll send you the bug?”

Solo: “Your software is on this computer you’re using, right?”

Warren: “?”

He glanced at his computer and replied: “Yes.”

Solo: “Okay, no need to send it. I hacked into your computer.”

Warren: “!!!”

He looked at his computer and saw nothing unusual on it. It was just like earlier. How did he hack in?

He sent a message in the group: “Are you sure?”

“Yes.”

Warren looked at Maureen. “Transfer the money!”

Maureen was stunned.

Warren snorted. “If we don’t transfer the money, then it won’t count as fraud. At most, it’ll be getting scammed on the Internet, and the police won’t take it seriously. Only when there’s a transaction with a large sum of money will we be taken seriously... Moreover, it’ll take more than $100,000 to make a case.”

Maureen transferred the money over.

After the money reached the other party’s account, Warren said in the group chat: “The money has been transferred. Please repair the game.”

However, after this message was sent, there was no more news from Solo.

After waiting for a full two minutes, Warren and Maureen looked at each other and then at the computer again.

Warren: “Where are you?”

Another two minutes passed.

Warren: “I’ve transferred the money to you. Are you not talking anymore? Have you blacklisted me?”

Another three minutes passed.

Warren: “Are you a cheat? @Solo.”

After sending these messages, Solo still did not say anything.

Warren and Maureen looked at each other, feeling that the other party had already taken the bait!

Maureen sent a message in the group chat: “Nora, did you see that? This person is really a liar. He’s not Solo!”

Warren’s message was aggrieved. “Hmph, I don’t know how much money I’ve been scammed for. I’ll call the police and get my money back, I’ll help you get it back!”

At this moment, there was a new message in the group.

Solo: “Stop talking. Your phones have been bugged”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 299 - The Real Solo!!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

With that, the group fell silent.

Warren subconsciously raised his head and looked around. When he realized that there were no cameras in the room, he frowned. “Really?”

Maureen also jumped.

She shrank back in fear. “Hubby, if we’re being watched, what are they trying to do? I even change my clothes often. Will they see us? Did we meet a pervert?”

Warren took a step forward. “I don’t think that’s possible. When the Smiths entered, they had a barrier. If we had a surveillance camera on us, it would have sounded an alarm. This was also to protect our family’s safety. So how could we be monitored? He... he might be creating a panic to scare us!”

“Really?”

Warren walked around Maureen. He looked at the slightly revealing pajamas she was wearing and coughed. Then, he took out a jacket from the side and draped it over her. “Seriously, even in your own room, you should dress more appropriately!”

Maureen: “...”

Warren was really cowardly. He always said what he did not mean.

She grimaced and wrapped her clothes tighter around herself.

Someone in the group sent another message:

Solo: [... No one is monitoring you. It's listening! Stop thinking you're in a drama!!]

Warren: “!!!”

He looked at Maureen with trembling eyes and saw that her gaze had changed as well.

The two of them leaned against each other and looked around again.

Finally, Maureen asked softly, “Hubby, shall we switch rooms?”

Another message appeared in the group:

Solo: “It's useless. The surveillance information is on the computer! I'm not sure if it's on your phone. I was planning to hack into your phone to take a look.”

As soon as he said this, Warren and Maureen looked at their phones at the same time. Then, they subconsciously threw their phones on the bed!

It was like a time bomb!

The two of them paused for a full two minutes before Warren stood up. “What's there to be afraid of? I think this Solo is just trying to scare us! He wants us to believe this. Otherwise, what's the point of saying all this? Can't he just repair the software?”

Maureen nodded as well. “Yes, it's definitely fake! I can guarantee it. Absolutely!”

She wrapped her coat tightly around her. “If the Smiths' house can be bugged so easily, is there still a safe place in this world?”

Warren nodded fiercely. “Exactly!”

As the two of them spoke, Warren simply stood up and looked at his computer. “This must be something he did. Instead of repairing the game, he used all this to scare us. Have I, Warren, been frightened since I was young?”

Almost as soon as he said this, a voice came from the computer. “Then how did you grow up?”

Warren was instantly alert. He jumped up and hid behind Maureen, screaming, “Honey!”

Maureen instinctively blocked his path and reached out to protect him. “Who is it? Hubby, don’t be afraid!”

“...”

The room was silent for a full 20 seconds before a laugh came from the computer.

Warren: “!”

Maureen: “...”

What had the two of them done?

Warren was furious. As a man, his dignity made him straighten his chest. He stood behind Maureen and grabbed her arm. Then, he said fiercely, “What are you laughing at?”

“I’m laughing at you.”

The sound was a robotic voice during the voice-changing stage, making it impossible to tell who the other party was.

Warren asked, “Are you the fake Solo?”

“No.”

Warren snorted coldly. “Now you dare to tell the truth...”

“I’m real. How could a fake person hack into your computer?”

“...” Warren was silent for a moment. “I know how to hack into other people’s computers too. This is like a remote office! Besides, anyone who knows a little technology knows how to do it, right?”

The other party was silent for a moment before saying, “Remote-connection work is to control your computer from a distance, but hacking into your computer will go unnoticed. Furthermore, I have to first break through your firewall and then... Forget it. You won’t understand even if I tell you this. I’ll only say this. Do you think ordinary people can hack into the Smiths’ firewall? It’s only me!”

Warren: “...”

Maureen caught the loophole in his words. “If that’s the case, then did you just say that someone was listening to us? How did that person hack in? You said that it’s difficult for anyone but you. Aren’t you full of loopholes?”

Solo was silent for a moment before coughing. “What if the other party is in your house? There’s no need to break through the external firewall between family members.”

Maureen was shocked. “In our house? Who is it?”

Solo: “The Smiths’ firewall is indeed very powerful. It has already taken too much time to hack in and discover that you guys are being watched. I haven’t found out who the person behind this is yet.”

“...” Warren sneered. “Then what have you been doing? If you can’t find out in time, then what can you do?”

“...I managed to fix your bug in time.”

Warren: ???

He was stunned and turned to look at Maureen in disbelief.

After the couple looked at each other for a long time, Warren’s phone suddenly rang. He picked up the call and heard the voice of the company’s staff on the other end. “Mr. Smith, the system bugs have been repaired!! All the players can play normally now! Although some players have been lost because of the bugs, there are still new ones. Hold on!”

Warren was stunned and asked in disbelief, “Really?”

“Yes, our system is very smooth now, and the technical problems that were not resolved previously have been resolved! The graphics are also enhanced. Where did you find this person? He directly modified our server!”

Warren: “!!”

After hanging up, he looked at the computer in a daze and stammered, “Was that your work?”

On the computer: “Yes, your game was too shoddy. I helped you fix it. I also fixed a cartoon bug! That way, it’ll save time in the future.”

“...”

Warren stammered again and asked, “Are... are you really Solo?”

“Isn’t that obvious? Who else can be stronger than me?”

Warren: “!!”

He met Maureen’s gaze in disbelief.

The girl from the countryside really knew Solo?

How did she meet him?

This was too strange!

Moreover, were all top international experts so mild-tempered? If others suspected that he was fake, shouldn’t he be very irritable?!

Just as their lips were trembling, Maureen asked, “Then, can you help us find out who was listening in on us?”

Solo: “...That’s simple. Wait a while!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 300 - 0: Its Yvonne

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

With this sentence, the two of them heard the sound of a keyboard tapping coming from Solo.

Solo typed as he said, “Give me five minutes. I’ll definitely find that person!”

Warren and Maureen had no choice but to believe that he was Solo. After all, all the bugs in the company had been repaired!

Warren was moved to tears. “Thank you!”

Solo: “Don’t thank me. I should be the one thanking you!”

He was thankful that they had given him a great opportunity to escape from Anti. When he thought of his future freedom, he was so touched that he almost cried!

Warren: “?”

Maureen: “?”

The two of them looked at each other. Warren raised his eyebrows. Why was the Almighty’s personality so strange? He took such a small amount of money and helped them so much, yet he still wants to thank them? Could it be that he was attracted to his charm and wanted to work with him?

Warren raised his chin and puffed out his chest.

Maureen, who understood his gaze, rolled her eyes and asked, “Solo, who is it that’s monitoring us? It’s too much! Is it an insider? Is it a servant at home?”

Warren immediately frowned. “Investigate. After finding out, I, I, I’ll tell Big Brother to fire him!”

Maureen: “!!”

Look at how cowardly he was!

She rolled her eyes again. Just then, there was a sudden knock at the door.

Warren saw that Maureen was wearing a jacket and walked over to open the door. He realized that Yvonne was standing outside the door with a guilty look on her face. “Warren, I’m sorry. I made a mistake when I was looking for a bug for you!”

Warren was taken aback.

Yvonne lowered her head. She thought about how the signal had suddenly stopped while she was listening in on the other party, and how she had panicked. She knew that something must have gone wrong and she had been discovered.

She made a prompt decision and ran over. At this moment, her face was filled with shame. “Warren, you know that I helped someone create a listening app some time ago. A problem suddenly happened just now and it went into my family’s computer. Is there a problem now?”

Warren: “?”

He immediately understood. “So it’s you! I knew it! How could my place be monitored?!”

Yvonne felt extremely guilty. “The code just now suddenly started to jump. Someone must have hacked into it and triggered it. Now, I’m confused. That software must have spread to many computers through the intranet. What should we do? Should I get everyone to come out one by one and inform them before helping them remove it?”

Her eyes turned red. “I... I didn’t do it on purpose. That software was at a critical moment when the external network was suddenly attacked. I was busy blocking it, but I didn't expect it to become chaotic..."

The external network was suddenly attacked...

Warren coughed guiltily. Wasn't it because of Solo?

However, Solo was helping him out. He was the one who had affected Yvonne!

Warren saw that when something had happened to Yvonne, her first reaction was not to look for her brother Warren out of everyone present in the house. Especially when she was running around in circles asking, "Warren, what should I do?"

"Warren, help me..."

Warren instantly felt a strong sense of accomplishment. He patted his chest generously. "Damn, leave this small matter to me! I'll call everyone out now. Whose computer has been hacked by the virus?"

Yvonne explained in a serious tone, "In these five minutes, people who had their computers on have probably been hacked. It's fine as long as they don't turn them on. But don't worry. I've already taken them back and told them not to turn their phones off. It'll be fine in a while..."

"Alright, no problem! Go back and do your work. I'll inform the butler and get him to go door to door."

Yvonne was moved to tears. "Warren, thank you. You're the only one who can help me..."

After closing the door, she sighed in relief.

In the room, Maureen frowned and stared at the door. "Why do I feel like she did it on purpose? Otherwise, how did she come right when Solo found out that we were being monitored?"

Warren was simple-minded. When he heard this, he even defended Yvonne. "You're thinking too much, aren't you? Why would she be monitoring us?"

If she wanted to monitor us, wouldn't she benefit more by listening to Joel? In the entire family, we're the two most useless people. We just lie here and count money. Does she want to listen to us flirt?!"

Maureen: "..."

She also found it strange. After all, there was indeed no need for her and her husband to be monitored.

But was this really just a misunderstanding?

Solo sneered. "I found her. She's indeed from the room next door. Tsk, I didn't expect her to move faster than me."

After saying that, Solo did not argue if it was intentional or not. He only said, "In the future, just let me know in the group if there's anything you need. The salary is up to you."

Then, he silenced himself.

After a minute of silence, Warren called out softly, "Solo?"

When no one responded, he looked at Maureen in relief. "I'm leaving, but why do I feel a little uncomfortable? I feel like we don't have any privacy anymore!"

Maureen nodded.

Finally, she said, "Hubby, from now on, leave the computer and phone in the living room while we sleep!"

They lived in a suite with three bedrooms. Apart from a large living room, there was a master bedroom, a children's room, and a study.

Warren nodded repeatedly. "You're right. It would be so awkward if someone heard us sleeping together at night!"

Maureen: "... Shut up!"

After saying this, Warren chuckled and said, “So, should I leave my phone outside the room tonight?”

The meaning of his words was too obvious.

Maureen hit his shoulder. “You’re so flirtatious!”

“...”

—

The night before, Warren had let the butler know that Nora was not to be disturbed no matter what. Nora hung a “Do Not Disturb” sign on the door and slept until the next afternoon.

When she woke up, Pete and Mia had already been sent to the kindergarten by Joel.

She yawned and went downstairs to look for something to eat.

Nora was not as reserved as a newcomer. Her actions were natural and unrestrained. The beautiful decorations around her did not make her feel hesitant.

Her phone beeped.

She lowered her head and saw a message: “Boss, the member application forms for the Hacker Alliance admissions this year have been sent to your phone.”

When Nora saw this, she subconsciously yawned.

She really... didn’t want to work!

As she thought about this, she went downstairs and happened to hear the housekeeper, Florence, say to Yvonne, “Miss, you will definitely be able to secure the membership. With your skills, there will definitely be no problems!”

Warren, who was sitting on the sofa with his legs crossed, asked, “What membership?”

“The Hacker Alliance.”

OceanofPDF.com

Volume 4

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 301 - Hacker Alliance

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora, about to go downstairs: ???

She paused for a moment and looked over in surprise.

Perhaps sensing her gaze, the housekeeper, Florence, was feeling smug. On the surface, she spoke to Warren, but her voice was so loud that everyone could hear her. “Do you know what the Hacker Alliance is? It’s an alliance formed by all the internationally renowned hackers. As long as she enters this alliance, they’ll take care of her in the future. Ms. Yvonne’s computer skills are already very good, but there are even more powerful people in the Hacker Alliance, such as Y and Q. The Hacker Alliance was established by Q. Now that Ms. Yvonne’s information has been handed over, they will handle it.”

Warren sighed. “Y and Q? Even I, who doesn’t know hacking, know about these two people. Yvonne, are you going to be in the same alliance as them? That’s too awesome!”

Yvonne lowered his head and smiled. “Warren, yesterday’s programming was the key to entering. Fortunately, you helped me stop it. Otherwise, I would have made a mistake! If Y and Q found out about this, they definitely wouldn’t let me pass.”

It was a humiliation for a hacker to ignore orders and hack into someone else’s computer!

Yvonne had lied yesterday, so she wanted to continue hiding it with lies.

Warren waved his hand. “Don’t worry about that. Who in our family knows Y and Q? They definitely won’t know. Besides, I asked everyone yesterday, no one lost anything.”

Yvonne nodded her head, looking relieved. It was all an act.

She was very confident about joining the Hacker Alliance.

Firstly, the monitoring software she had created this time was indeed not bad. If not for the real Solo yesterday, she probably would not have been discovered.

Nora actually knew Solo. This made her very surprised.

Thinking of this, she looked at Nora.

How did Solo know her?

As she was thinking, Warren saw Nora too. He immediately jumped up from the sofa and wanted to rush over to thank his good sister for introducing him to Solo. However, he suddenly remembered Nora's identity. She was Uncle Ryan's daughter...

He coughed and pretended to say coldly, "So the one you introduced yesterday was really Solo. I thought you were lying!"

After interacting with him for the past few days, Nora had long realized that this brother of hers was someone who did not mean what he said. Therefore, she said directly, "You're welcome."

Warren: "..."

He coughed. "Who wants to thank you? You're thinking too much! At that time, I agreed to add Solo just to see if he was a liar and felt that you might have been deceived. Although he did me a small favor later on, that was because he wanted to work with me, do you know? He actually said that it didn't matter if he got paid or not and that if there's a problem, I can look for him directly. Look, we just met, and he's already so good to me. This means that I have a charm..."

Maureen could not help but interrupt him. "Nora, thank you this time! I'll buy you whatever you want!"

Maureen was the most straightforward.

Nora: “No, it’s alright.”

She really didn’t need anything.

After saying that, she prepared to eat at the dining table. Warren asked curiously, “Nora, how do you know Solo?”

Yvonne pricked up her ears.

Nora said, “Oh, I met him overseas. He asked me to examine his illness.”

Nora was a surgeon. The entire family knew this. After all, this was her profession to the outside world.

Thinking about it, she owned a private clinic. If someone like Solo was sick, they probably wouldn’t go to big hospitals. It was normal for them to go to private clinics.

Therefore, it was only natural that she knew Solo.

Yvonne sighed in relief.

Warren and Maureen also came to a realization. “So being a doctor has such connections! Not bad. Have other celebrities come to see you?”

Nora: “...”

Did UK’s queen count?

They had also invited her to the surgery to get to know each other. Later, Cherry even got to know Princess Lucy.

Just as Nora thought about this, she heard the Florence say, “Miss Nora, Surgeon is indeed a sacred profession, but I saw that you haven’t worked at all during the past few days when you were home. Do you have no appointments?”

Nora: “No.”

She would only perform two surgeries a month. This had been arranged long ago. Lily would handle everything for her.

However, Florence and Yvonne misunderstood. Florence lowered her head. “Then do you need us to introduce a few patients to you? Or have you considered switching jobs?”

Introduce patients?

Did she think that no one was looking for her for treatment?

Nora felt that it was funny. She smiled and glanced at Florence with her almond-shaped eyes. “There’s no need. I’m not working full-time as a doctor.”

If she wasn’t full-time... then she was part-time.

Wasn’t it because there were no patients around to help her regain her dignity?!

Florence lowered her eyes and smiled. “I see. Then, Miss Nora, what are you considering? I wonder if you’re interested in programming? But ordinary girls shouldn’t be sensitive to such things, right?”

She then looked at Yvonne. “What a pity. If Miss Nora is interested, Miss Yvonne can teach you.”

Nora: “??”

She looked at Yvonne and saw her smile as she said, “Mdm. Florence, what are you saying? Even if Nora doesn’t work, the Smiths can still afford to raise her! You’re making her feel like you’re urging her to earn money!”

After saying that, she looked at Nora and smiled. “Nora, I never asked you if you have money to spend. If not, I have some here, I can lend it to you.”

She sounded superior.

Moreover, she had even mentioned this in front of so many people. It was probably more embarrassing than helping.

Florence hurriedly said, “Miss Yvonne, how can we let you spend money like this?! Looking at the time, today is the day we send pocket money. The finance department will probably transfer money into your bank cards later.”

Yvonne: “Then give my share this month to Nora. She might not have enough for her first month.”

Nora: “... No, it’s alright.”

She really didn’t need it.

With that, she walked to the dining room beside her, took some food from inside, and went upstairs casually.

When she reached the stairs, she heard Yvonne say, “Isn’t Nora a little cold to me? Does she not like me?”

Florence: “Miss Yvonne, why are you always so kind? She’s the one who’s staying at your home. You’re the lawful daughter of Mr. Smith! You should be thinking about the Hacker Alliance now... But it definitely won’t be a problem!”

Nora raised her eyebrows.

After entering the bedroom, she opened her email and saw Yvonne’s application form.

Hmm... Should she let her join the Hacker Alliance?

She held her chin and frowned as she mulled over it.

Chapter 302 - Love Words~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora casually scrolled down the name list.

Since the establishment of the Hacker Alliance, there had only been a dozen or so members. It could be considered the top hacker club in the world. It could even be protected here.

As Q, Nora only knew that Y was powerful enough to protect this group of people.

According to the rumors, the Hacker Alliance was created by her, but it was actually created by Y.

Although the two of them were in the Hacker Alliance, everything was handled by Y. She was slacking off every day and had no interactions with Y.

The two of them only had equal reputations, but they had never really competed.

Usually, such matters were handled casually by Y. Every year, they would choose the best candidate. This year, when she was looking at the name list, Y suddenly sent a message: “Choose this or the other one?”

He had sent two names.

One of them was Yvonne.

Nora had just taken a casual look. Yvonne’s monitoring system was indeed good and difficult to detect. It could be considered high-level programming.

Nora never involved personal feelings when handling matters.

However, she recalled what Warren had said earlier. Supposedly, there was something wrong with Yvonne's software that she couldn't control and it had hacked into the computers of the people nearby. Nora thought about it for a while and crossed out Yvonne's name.

If she could make such a low-level mistake, she would not be accepted no matter how good she was.

She sent the other person's name to Y. She was about to type and explain the reason when Y replied readily: "Okay."

This straightforward attitude made Nora speechless. She raised her eyebrows and asked, "Aren't you going to ask why?"

Y: "You can choose whoever you want. I'm busy."

Nora subconsciously asked, "What are you busy with?"

After all, Y had not taken any orders for a long time. She had always thought that Y was lazy like her, but he said he was busy?

Had he taken on some big order recently that she did not know about?

The order must be very challenging to keep Y busy. She was a little interested in it, which was rare.

As she was thinking, Y replied: "I'm busy chasing my future wife. Brother, do you have any objections?"

Nora: "??"

Others thought that Q was a man, but she had never explained it.

However, Y was busy chasing a girl. What good advice could she give him?!

The corners of her lips twitched. For some reason, when she thought of Justin, she coughed and replied:

[You have to be thick-skinned.]

[Be narcissistic.]

[You have to have a child with her first.]

Y: [???

After sending the message, Nora could not be bothered to reply. She logged out of the system and closed her email. Yes, this year, she had really made a rare contribution to the Hacker Alliance!

As she was thinking, she received a call from Justin. “What did you eat for lunch?”

Nora replied lazily, “I forgot.”

She had indeed forgotten what she had casually taken out from the kitchen when she went downstairs. It seemed to be buns, but it also seemed to be bread?

Anyway, she was no longer hungry after stuffing it into her mouth.

Justin was clearly not surprised by her answer. He smiled and said, “Eat slowly. It’s not good for your stomach to eat so quickly.”

Nora retorted bluntly, “Mr. Hunt, I’m a doctor.”

“...” Justin fell silent. “Yes, Doctor Nora. From a professional point of view, why do people who are in love feel happy all the time?”

Nora did not understand why he suddenly said this. She explained in professional terms, “Because falling in love will cause the brain to secrete dopamine. Dopamine is a neurotransmitter, it can control the emotions and feelings in the brain. It makes people feel excited and happy.”

Justin smiled. “Then why do we feel happy eating candies?”

Nora said, “Sugar also makes the human body produce dopamine.”

Justin smiled. “Oh, I get it. So you’re my candy.”

Nora: “?????”

The corners of her lips twitched and she was silent for a moment. “Mr. Hunt, your joke isn’t funny at all.”

“This isn’t a joke.” Justin nagged seriously. “These are words of love.”

Words of love?

Nora was slightly stunned. For some reason, his words rang in her ears again. “You’re my candy.”

The man’s deep voice seemed to still linger by her ear, making her cheeks heat up.

She coughed and was silent for a while before changing the topic to hide her embarrassment and heartbeat. “How’s Cherry?”

Justin chuckled but did not expose her. He echoed, “She’s doing quite well. She’s very satisfied with this place and misses you. So, do you have time to visit her?”

Nora was surprised. “Visit her at the Hunts?”

Justin said, “You can choose another place. It’s up to you.”

Nora thought about it carefully and replied, “Then let’s go to the Hunts to see her!”

It was too troublesome to go anywhere else!

Moreover, she could also go and see if Cherry was blending well at the Hunts.

Although she was not a qualified mother, she still had to show some concern.

Nora's rare motherly love overwhelmed her. She stood up and walked out the door.

As soon as she went out, she saw Florence and Yvonne standing outside her door. They seemed to be about to knock. When they saw that she had opened the door, Florence immediately said, "Miss Nora, I'm sorry. As you've just arrived here, your bank account is still being processed, so it seems I can't send you this month's money. Is that okay?"

Yvonne also had an apologetic look on her face. "Nora, I'm sorry. I'm the one handling this matter at home, but I was too focused on the Hacker Alliance yesterday, so I forgot about your bank card and missed this month. If you don't have money to spend, come look for me. I'll give it to you, okay?"

Nora: "???"

She raised an eyebrow. "No need."

She really did not care about the Smiths' money.

Furthermore, she did not take Florence and Yvonne's disdainful attitude to heart.

She did not come back to stay because of these two people. She had come back to investigate who her biological father was!

Yvonne: "Nora, are you blaming me? This is indeed my fault. I'm sorry..."

Before she could finish, Florence said, "Miss Yvonne, this isn't your fault alone. After all, a person's energy is limited. You're not like some people who have nothing to do all day. By the way, has your application for the Hacker Alliance been approved? If you can join the Hacker Alliance, our Smiths won't have to worry about this in the future!"

Yvonne: "I don't know yet, but it should be out soon..."

With this sentence, an email notification sounded.

Yvonne's eyes lit up. "The email is here!"

Florence: "Then quickly take a look! It's a small matter whether you get paid or not. The most important thing is that you can join the Hacker Alliance..."

Yvonne nodded, but when she opened the email, the smile on her face froze.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 303 - Genius?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Florence did not notice her expression and only stared at Nora. She wanted Nora to know who was the best in this family.

She wanted Mr. Smith's daughter to be stronger than the daughter who had betrayed him. Therefore, she kept criticizing and suppressing her. Now that she had a chance to show off, she said, "Miss Yvonne, it's an invitation, right? As I said, you definitely have no problem joining the Hacker Alliance..."

She did not notice that Yvonne's expression was turning uglier with her words.

She lowered her head and stared at the email on her phone.

The words on it were clearly reflected in her eyes. "Sorry, your application did not pass."

She did not pass...

That was impossible!

She widened her eyes in shock and stared at it in disbelief. Her expression was too ferocious. However, after taking a deep breath, she suppressed the astonishment and disappointment in her heart and smiled at Florence. "No, they haven't informed me yet! It's another email."

Another email?

Nora looked at Yvonne in amusement.

The logo of the Hacker Alliance was a black arrowhead and was unmistakable.

Although it was far away, she had just glanced at the logo. It must have been a rejection email from the Hacker Alliance. Tsk, this Yvonne really cared about her face.

Florence was not disappointed when she heard this, nor did she think too much about it. She simply nodded. “Yes, I was too anxious! However, Miss Yvonne, you don’t have to worry. Everyone can see your strength. Besides, you’ve been so outstanding since you were young. You learn everything quickly. Also, you’re not specialized in hacking, you’re just a little interested in it. Speaking of which, Miss Yvonne, aren’t you too impressive? You’re proficient in the four arts, and you’re also very good at horseback and archery. You were even almost recruited by the national team. If not for the Smiths being reluctant to let you exert yourself, you might have won the championship for the country! Miss Yvonne, your intelligence is really too high! You didn’t learn anything for too long and still managed to be top-notch in everything you do so casually. This is something only a genius can do!”

As soon as she praised her, a strange male voice was heard. “Tsk, Mdm. Florence, you’re praising her to the skies. Those who don’t know might really think she’s amazing!”

With that, everyone turned around in unison and saw a young man with dyed blond hair walking in with a bag slung over his shoulder.

He was quite handsome and looked a little similar to Warren and Quentin.

Nora knew at a glance that he was from the Smiths, but she wondered which family he belonged to.

Florence’s expression changed. “Sixth Young Master, why are you back?”

Sixth Young Master Smith sneered. “What a strange question. This is my house. Why can’t I come back?”

Florence’s face darkened. “This is Mr. Hunt’s house. Sixth Young Master, your family has already been separated.”

Sixth Young Master Smiths smiled cheekily, his blond hair glowing under the sunlight. “Tsk, my third uncle and eldest brother didn’t chase us away. In polite terms, you’re a housekeeper, but you can also be referred to as a servant. What gives you the rights to talk to me like that?”

Florence was even angrier. “Master Louis, Mr. Ian and Master Joel do not speak to me like that. You...”

“What’s wrong?” Louis touched his hair. “Uncle Ian and Joel are polite to you because they have a good upbringing. But I’m different. I’ve been this wild since I was young! No matter what, your surname is Florence while mine is Smith. Why don’t we reason with Uncle Ian and ask him if you have the right to chase me away? Or does Joel not want us to stay at home anymore?”

Florence choked.

Yvonne said, “Louis, you came back to collect this month’s money, right? But didn’t it go into your account? You didn’t have to come back.”

Louis snorted. “How can I not come back? You gave me $1,500 this month. What can I do with that amount?”

Yvonne seemed to be put on the spot. “Louis, this was specially instructed by Joel. He’s doing this for your own good. I’ve saved the rest of the money for you. I don’t want to see you being so unrestrained every day.”

Louis sneered. “Don’t use Joel to pressure me. I know what you’re like. You must have said something to make my pocket money so little!”

Yvonne lowered her head. “Louis, I admit that I was the one who said that you didn’t do your job and played games with Chester every day, but I did it for your own good...”

“You’re doing this for my own good? Tsk, Yvonne, others don’t know you and think that you’re the only daughter and so they should pamper you. Do you think I don’t know who you are? Everyone says that you can learn anything with just a little work and that you’re a genius. Ha, in front of outsiders, you act as if you don't care, but who doesn't know that you start practicing like crazy when you come back at night! When we were in school, we clearly skipped classes and played together, but you ranked at the top in your studies. If I hadn't seen through you not sleeping at night and studying hard, I would still believe that you're a genius!"

Louis placed his hands on his hips. "Don't think I don't know what you're planning. You just want me to give in to you, right? Dream on! Let me tell you, even if I die of poverty or starve to death, I will not bow down to you!"

"The other brothers were blinded by you, but I wasn't! Hmph, you're just an adopted daughter, yet you want to control me? Let me tell you, that's impossible!"

Louis' words did not change Yvonne's expression at all.

Her eyes were lowered, and no emotions could be seen.

However, she was already filled with resentment and viciousness.

She had known since she was young that although her adoptive father had never said or made any requests, he only wanted her to grow up happily.

However, outstanding people were welcomed everywhere, so she had deliberately created the image of a genius.

In school, she always played it down and did not listen to the class much. After school, she played with the other children. When she came back at night, she studied hard and always came first in every exam.

Gradually, she became known as a genius, a top student, a talented girl, and so on. Her vanity was satisfied.

This gave her a greater sense of security in the Smiths.

Until one night when she was exposed by Louis. From then on, Louis had been going against her every day and would no longer coax, pamper, or give in to her.

However, Yvonne had ways to deal with him.

She sighed. “Louis, this is Nora, your cousin. Can you get to know her?”

Louis followed her words and looked at Nora. He snorted. “There’s no need to get to know each other. Sisters are terrifying creatures! I won’t like her. Of course, unless... she’s very rich!”

Yvonne lowered her head.

How could she be very rich?

It was already good enough that Nora did not let Louis support her. It was impossible for her to support Louis!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 304 - I Have Money!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora raised her eyebrows and looked at the two of them.

She realized that the Smiths were actually very interesting.

Quentin was a second-generation teenager who liked to fight. He always looked like he was the only one in the world.

Warren was a fool. After interacting with him, she realized that although this fellow was fierce in front of her on the surface, he was actually quite good to her.

As for this Louis... he looked two years younger than her and should be a younger brother. On the surface, he was not well-educated, but in fact, he did seem to be competent.

Just as she was thinking, Louis looked at her. “You really want me to acknowledge you, right? Then, Sister, why don’t you lend me your monthly allowance this month?”

When he said this, Nora raised her eyebrows.

Borrowing money on their first meeting?

She was about to say something when Yvonne frowned. “Louis, although it’s only $1,500, you eat and stay at home. Isn’t it enough?”

“How could it be enough?” Louis said indignantly, “Don’t you need money to go to an Internet cafe? Don’t you need money to buy equipment? Don’t you need money to get a new avatar in the game? $1,500 isn’t even enough for me to survive two days!”

Yvonne sighed. “But Nora has even less money. She was living with... the Andersons. Furthermore, before she returned to the Andersons, she was in California.”

Louis looked Nora up and down in disdain. “But you’re quite good-looking. At least you’re more pleasing to the eye than Yvonne!”

Yvonne: “!!”

She bit her lip and lowered her eyes. Her tone was a little cold. “Nora’s bank card was not reported this month, so she doesn’t have any money. It looks like she can’t lend it to you!”

“... No money?”

Louis widened his eyes. “Yvonne, what’s wrong with you? It’s fine if you bully me, but why are you bullying a girl who just arrived? I’m a boy and I don’t need to buy a bag or milk tea. It’s fine if I don’t have any money. But how can you let her live empty-handed? Are you jealous of her because she looks better than you?”

Yvonne: “!!!”

She had really done this on purpose.

It was not that she did not want to give her money. It was just that she felt that the attitude the brothers in the family had toward Nora was not as she had imagined.

Moreover, if she did not have money on hand, it would be inconvenient for her to do anything outside in the future. She was doing this to suppress Nora.

However, Louis’s straightforward words made her look very ugly.

Her face turned cold. “I’ll send Nora the money tomorrow. Then, two days later, the money for this month will be in her account! However, Louis, you definitely won’t be able to get any money here! How much money is given to everyone every month is all decided by Joel. If you dare, look for Joel. Don't ask me!"

Louis tugged at his shoulder bag and pointed at Yvonne. "You win!"

With that, he turned and left.

However, after taking two steps, he suddenly turned back and came in front of Nora. His pair of fierce eyes sized her up.

Nora: "??"

She raised her eyebrows and looked down at herself. She was dressed appropriately today. This set of pajamas she was wearing was linen, which was more breathable. It was very comfortable to wear, and it was a custom design that Lily had bought for her.

She did not have many other clothes except for her pajamas.

As she was thinking, Louis suddenly opened his shoulder bag and took out his wallet. There was a stack of money inside.

When the money arrived today, he had hurriedly withdrawn it.

He did not want his brother to seal the card again under Yvonne's instigation, but he did not expect it to only be $1,500.

He counted the money, took out $700, and stuffed it into Nora's hands. "Take this money..."

With that, he looked at Yvonne and sneered, "The young lady of our Smiths is so poor that she doesn't even have clothes. She can only wear pajamas! It wouldn't be nice if word got out, right? She has been home for a few days, but you didn't get anyone to come and take her measurements?"

Yvonne: "!!"

Yvonne bit her lip.

Because of Louis's arrival, the servants cleaning in the living room looked over.

Yvonne felt extremely embarrassed to have her ugly thoughts exposed in public.

Yes, she deliberately did not get clothes made for Nora.

It was so that when she went out in the future, she would not have any good gowns. When the time came, she would either ask Justin for them or be embarrassed.

However, if she asked Justin for a gown, she would also be looked down upon...

At that time, she could only say that she had overlooked this matter.

However, now that Louis had pointed this out, she could not pretend to overlook it anymore. She immediately smiled. "You're right. I was careless! Mdm. Florence, contact a few big brands immediately and get them to send the clothes for the current season."

After saying that, she looked at Nora. "Nora, it takes a long time to customize clothes. I'll buy a few finished products for you to wear first. Actually, some finished clothes look very good too. I'll choose two pieces every quarter."

At this point, she smiled. "Mdm. Florence, it seems like we haven't chosen clothes at home this month! How about this? Tell Maureen and the others to come and take a look tonight if they want new clothes! Have them deliver the clothes to us tonight and let everyone choose as much as they want!"

Nora raised her eyebrows and asked in surprise, "You can even come here to buy clothes?"

When she was young, her clothes were all prepared by her stepmother. Most of them were from California, but she was not picky about clothes.

After she went overseas, all her daily necessities were prepared by her Aunt and Lily. She was wearing comfortable clothes and had never bought them before, so she did not know about this.

Florence's lips curled up as she raised her chin slightly. "The Smith family is an important client for all the major luxury brands. Every season, when they release new products, they deliver them to the Smiths, and to the Hunts' ladies to choose from. If the Smiths and Hunts don't like them, they would sell them."

Nora nodded in understanding. "...Oh."

Seeing that she did not look stunned, Florence pursed her lips.

Louis winked at Nora. "Pick a few more pieces when the time comes! Even if you don't wear them, you can exchange them for money! I promise I won't cheat you!"

Nora: "..."

She looked down at the $700 in her hand and returned it to Louis.

Louis was stunned. "You don't want it?"

Nora nodded.

Louis frowned. "What? You think it's too little?"

Nora shook her head. "I don't need it."

Louis frowned even more intensely and glanced at Yvonne. He leaned in front of her and whispered, "Although you don't need money to eat or drink, it's still useful. Keep it... Are you afraid that I'll ask you to pay back? Don't worry, what I said was just a joke..."

Just as he said this, Nora interrupted him.. "What I mean is, I have money."

Chapter 305 - Louiss Secret

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora said this, the entire place fell silent.

Yvonne raised her eyebrows.

Louis was even more surprised, but he quickly reacted and asked, “Did the Andersons give it to you?”

“No.”

When she came to stay with the Smiths, Melissa was prepared to give her money. However, Carefree Pill’s repayment had not been fully received yet, and they did not have much on hand.

Melissa had prepared one million dollars. After all, the entire Andersons only had that amount back then.

However, Nora did not want it and had secretly left the card in the room.

Louis was stunned. “Then what are you offering?”

Nora: “My own money.”

Her own... this was the money she earned?

She was just a girl from California. How much money could she have?

However, since she had said so, Louis took back the money and asked, “Can you lend me some money?”

“Alright, how much do you want?”

Nora answered straightforwardly this time.

After all, she was touched that Louis had given her money just now.

Louis: “??”

Yvonne: ??

Even Florence was stunned when she heard this.

She pursed her lips. “Master Louis, can’t you borrow money from someone else? How can you borrow money from Miss Nora?”

Louis immediately raised his chin and said, “Why can’t I borrow money from her? Speaking of which, she’s my sister!”

After saying that, he looked directly at Nora and scratched his blonde hair. “Lend me... 150?”

Nora: “?”

Sensing her gaze, Louis felt that he had called out too little, so he added, “1,500?”

Nora: “?”

“Then... 15,000?”

Louis’s daily expenses every month were around 50,000 dollars. 15,000 dollars was not much to him, but when he thought of Nora’s identity, he was afraid that she would not be able to afford it.

As he was worried, Nora took out a bank card from the pocket of her pajamas. “Take it.”

Louis: “??”

Florence and Yvonne looked at each other and understood.

The few of them felt that Nora actually did not have much money. She was just pretending to be rich.

There could be millions in her bank card, but there could also be hundreds. Giving Louis a bank card would save her face in front of the servants so that others would not mock her for not having money.

She was too smart.

Yvonne pursed her lips.

Louis reacted as well. He took the bank card hurriedly. “Okay, thank you!”

He took the bank card and left the Smiths without even looking at Yvonne.

Yvonne lowered her eyes.

Nora went to change her clothes and was about to leave. When she passed by the living room downstairs, Yvonne saw her and asked, “Nora, where are you going?”

Nora: “...The Hunts.”

Yvonne bit her lips with an injured expression.

Florence said coldly, “Miss Nora, now that you know that you’ve stolen Miss Yvonne’s fiancé, you don’t have to brag about it, right?”

Nora: “?”

Were these two people crazy?

She did not reply to her. Instead, she left with a cold gaze and walked to the door. Florence, who was behind her, still said in a low voice, “Miss Yvonne, don’t lower yourself to her level. I can tell at a glance that she’s the kind of person who flaunts her achievements everywhere. A woman who depends on a man will eventually be unlucky. She’s not like you. You can rely on yourself.”

Nora: “!!”

She stopped in her tracks and turned around suddenly.

Perhaps sensing her movements, Yvonne and Florence looked up.

Nora suddenly smiled. “Then I wish you all the best, and that you receive an email from the Hacker Alliance as soon as possible?”

She left after saying those sarcastic words.

In the living room.

When Yvonne heard this, her heart almost stopped.

For some reason, just now, she felt like Nora had read her mind!

She bit her lip.

Florence frowned. “What does she mean? Is she cursing you for not passing the audit? That’s too much! She looks like a woman who grew up in a small family. She doesn’t look like the Smiths’ daughter at all!”

Yvonne took a deep breath and suppressed the panic in her heart. “Mdm. Florence, don’t mention the Hacker Alliance in front of her. If I’m not accepted, wouldn’t it be a joke?”

However, Florence said matter-of-factly, “How could that be? Your skills are so good, you won’t be rejected. Besides, even if you aren’t accepted, it’s not her turn to mock you! Miss Yvonne, you have to remember that you’re Mr. Smith’s daughter! Even if you’re an adopted daughter, your status is still much higher than hers! Master Ian is the direct descendant!”

“...”

—

Nora did not listen to their conversation anymore. She drove the black car the Smiths had arranged for her to visit Cherry at the Hunts’.

On the way, she suddenly saw Louis squatting by the roadside not far away.

His car stopped at the side.

Nora slowed down and saw Louis holding some food in his hand. He was feeding the stray cats and dogs. At the same time, he was making a call. "... How can this little money I have this month be enough to buy food? Chester, lend me 100,000 dollars!"

"What? Your elder brother deducted your pocket money and blocked your credit card? Why are we still in the same state?!"

"Alright, alright. I understand. I'll think of something. Sigh!"

After hanging up, he lowered his head in dejection. He looked at his deflated wallet and sighed heavily to the stray cats. "Little friends, you'll have to suffer with me this month! I only have 1,500 dollars, so I can't give you anything to eat! Alright, I'll go buy food first. I have to calculate. 1,500 for thirty days. Does that mean 300 dollars a day? No, 50? Oh my god, 50 dollars can only buy two pieces of meat! That's not enough for either of you! Sigh, I'm leaving!"

Louis got into the car without even looking at Nora.

Nora: "..."

She drove silently and followed behind Louis. She watched as he entered the cat food store and squatted there, looking at the cans of meat inside like a pitiful puppy.

Nora: "..."

She stopped the car and entered the cat food store. She heard Louis talking to himself. "Little friends, I'm sorry. I can only let you eat your fill of kibbles this month. You won't be able to eat meat anymore! In the past, we had 3,000 dollars for our meals, but this month, we only have 1,500... Why am I so pitiful?"

Feeding stray cats were supposed to be done within one's means.

However, Louis had developed feelings for those stray cats and always wanted to give them the best.

In the past, he had fed them top-notch cat food. Now, he was lowering his living standards.

As he was thinking, Nora walked in. She pointed at the can of cat food and said to the service staff, "I want 60 cans of this."

Louis: "!!!"

He turned his head slowly and saw Nora standing beside him.

He jumped up suddenly. "Nora, why are you causing trouble? I don't have the money to buy 60 cans!"

Seeing that he was about to explode, Nora blocked his mouth with two words.. "I do."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 306 - Blow Up The Card!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Louis: “??”

He was stunned.

Actually, he had indeed spent too much on feeding the stray cats and dogs in the district.

After all, raising a cat and a dog was the same as raising a wealthy person.

In the past, when he first started raising them, he would give them cheaper cat food. After all, it was already very satisfying for stray cats to have food.

However, after a while, he realized that the stray cats had lost a lot of fur and were malnourished. Therefore, he carried them to the vet.

The doctor said that most stray cats had been abandoned by their owners. There were also a few good breeds of cats who had higher food requirements.

They had to consume a lot of vitamins and proteins. The dogs also had to eat meat and bones to grind their teeth every meal.

The doctor also said, “Of course, just feed them some food. It’s already goodwill to them that they won’t starve to death. There’s no need to empty your wallet for them.”

However, Louis had always been a person who pursued perfection. He had OCD in everything he did. Moreover, he did not want to let these cats and dogs suffer. Therefore, he braced himself and spent his monthly allowance on them.

Later on, his elder brother limited his expenses. When he went to ask his parents for money, his parents scolded him for having a screw loose. Who would spend $30,000 every month just to feed these stray cats and dogs?

Later on, when others asked him where the money went, he would never say it again. Occasionally, he would tease them, “I bought avatars and equipment for girls!”

Louis was a little stunned.

Anyone who saw him feeding stray cats and dogs would urge him to reduce their standard of living. No one had ever come up to him directly and bought canned food without saying anything.

He looked at Nora in a daze. He slowly stood up and asked in disbelief, “Aren’t you going to ask me how much these cans are?”

Nora raised her eyebrows. “Oh, how much?”

“There are dozens of sets of canned food, and it’s not enough for them to only eat canned food. Therefore, I have to prepare some fruits and vitamins. With so many cats and dogs added together, I’m afraid it will cost 1,500 dollars a month!”

“1,500?”

Nora was a little hesitant. Was this money a lot?

It should not be a problem for him to get 1,500 dollars from her card. Why was he so conflicted?

Louis coughed and said, “So, are you still buying them?”

“...Yes.”

After Nora answered this question again, she asked the service staff to pack up everything that Louis had said. When a large bag of cat and dog food was in Louis’s hands, the corners of his mouth twitched. “Do you have so much money in your bank card? Don’t pretend to be rich in front of me!”

Nora did not say anything and silently handed over the bank card.

She had never set a password for her bank card as she found it troublesome.

The service staff swiped it and paid directly. Nora took the bank card and stuffed it into Louis's hand. "It's enough to feed you."

Louis: "??"

He immediately stood up straight and retorted, his blond hair almost exploding. "I'm not the one eating it! It's for the stray cats and dogs!"

"...Oh." Nora glanced at the can in his hand. "You can eat it too."

Louis: "!!!"

After saying this, she turned around and walked out.

After she left, Louis was still standing there. He looked at the cans, fruits, and various staple food in his hands in shock.

He pursed his lips. "She probably only has about 1,500 dollars in her card, but she doesn't know that this is the amount for a day! What are we going to do tomorrow?"

He looked at the bank card in his hand again. He would try again tomorrow to see if he could successfully swipe it.

Wait, he could try it now!

—

Nora drove the jeep to the Hunts.

The door opened as soon as she arrived at the Hunts.

Justin stood at the door, looking at her. When the car stopped in the car park, he stepped forward and opened the door for her. "Baby, you're here."

Nora paused when she got out of the car. Then, she took out her car keys and closed the car door. She replied calmly, "...Mm-hm."

When did she allow this man to call her Baby?

Justin lowered his head and took a look. "It's been less than an hour. It looks like you really miss me..."

Nora: "!"

She grimaced and was about to say something when he said, "And Cherry."

"..."

Nora endured it and swallowed.

She walked straight ahead. "Where does Cherry stay?"

Justin followed beside her. "Second floor, in the suite."

Nora acknowledged indifferently and followed him upstairs.

The moment she opened the door to the suites, the overwhelming pinkness instantly engulfed her, causing her to pause in her footsteps. Only then did she look at her daughter, who was combing a Barbie doll's hair.

Cherry was wearing neutral clothing. When she heard the door open and turned to see her, her big black eyes lit up. "Mommy! I was wondering why my mood suddenly became so good. So it's you!"

Nora: "...Bootlicker."

Cherry did not care what she said. She stretched out her arms and pounced onto her lap, hugging it as she raised her head. "Mommy, I missed you so much! I know you missed me too! After all, I'm so cute and beautiful!"

"..."

Alright, she finally knew who Cherry had inherited her narcissistic nature from!

She was about to speak when her phone rang.

Beep!

She took out her phone and took a look. She realized that it was showing: $13.90 has been debited from your account xxxx0000.

Nora: “?”

Judging by Louis’s appearance, he should be someone who spent lavishly, right? What did he buy that cost only $13.90?

As she was thinking about this, she heard a beep again. It was again a message notification: $13.90 has been debited from your account xxxx0000.

Nora: “??”

Beep. Another message alert came. It was the same $13.90.

Nora: “????”

With a head full of question marks, she looked at the endless notifications on her phone and was puzzled. What was that Louis doing?

—

“Another bottle!”

Louis took out a can of meat and handed it to the salesperson.

The cashier held the bank card in confusion and swiped another can.

Louis asked, “Did it go through?”

“Yes.”

Louis was surprised. “There’s still money? It’s almost 3,000 dollars. Did the Andersons really give her 50,000 dollars?”

He took out another can. “Swipe another?”

“...”

He wanted to see how much money this silly sister from the countryside had in her card and how many cans of meat he could buy.

It couldn’t be that she had 139,000 dollars? He could buy 10,000 cans?

He did not believe it!

If he did not swipe the card dry today, he would not leave!!

With this in mind, he took out ten cans. “I’ll buy ten!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 307 - The Jealous Justin~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The cashier: "..."

Ten cans, another ten cans... One hundred cans, another one hundred cans...

Even when all the cans of pet food in the store were gone, the card still wasn't maxed out yet.

Louis was dumbfounded. "Just how much money is there in there?"

The cashier: "..."

Louis waved and said, "Alright, that's enough. Store the rest here for now, I'll come over and collect them tomorrow!"

The cashier finally heaved a sigh of relief.

She had really been very scared just now. The whale in front of her had pretty much bought the whole store!

Louis stared at the bank card in his hand after he left the pet food shop. He had bought the following month's supply of cat and dog food in the store just now and spent a total of almost 50,000 dollars.

Even so, the card still didn't seem to be maxed out yet.

He decided to go to the bank to check how much balance there was in it!

—

The cell phone finally stopped beeping.

When Nora saw from the notifications on the phone that Louis had spent about 50,000 dollars all in the pet food store with her card, she knew at once that he had ordered his supply of cat and dog food for the next month.

Couldn't he pay all at once, though? Why did he have to pay $13.90 and $139 again and again instead?

She shook her head. Unable to understand, she simply stuffed the phone into her pocket.

As soon as she looked up, she saw Cherry and Justin, who were sitting opposite her, staring at her curiously.

Justin didn't say anything.

Cherry asked, "Who was just sending you text messages just now, Mommy?"

Nora glanced at her and replied, "No one."

Almost as soon as she said that, a faint voice said, "So, no one sent you 157 messages?"

Nora: "???"

Cherry: "???"

Both of them looked at Justin in unison, only to see that his usually deep and bottomless eyes were looking at her innocently at the moment. Even the beauty mark at the corner of his eye seemed to exude a feeling that he had suffered some kind of injustice, as if she had done something behind his back.

Nora: "..."

She pursed her lips and suddenly asked, "I heard that you have a marriage agreement with Yvonne Smith?"

Her one-liner made Justin sit up straight. His expression turned serious and he replied, “I have to make this clear—my marriage agreement is with a daughter of the Smiths, not specifically Yvonne Smith. Come to think of it, this may be fate between you and me. No wonder you made lo—ving me your first priority the moment you saw me.”

Nora: “...”

Why did he have to pause in between the two syllables for the word ‘loving’, making her feel like she had failed her English classes and misunderstood something?

When she looked at Justin again, he continued to sit where he was with a serious look. He had worn a black suit today and looked extra serious. He probably didn’t mean what she thought he meant, right?

Nora raised her eyebrows. “Oh.”

She got up, glanced at Cherry’s room, and asked, “Where does Pete live?”

She did care about her son, after all, and wanted to see what her son’s room had turned into.

But as soon as she voiced the question, Justin and Cherry exchanged a look.

Seeing that their expressions didn’t look quite right, Nora frowned. “Pete couldn’t possibly not have any place to live in, right?”

“He does, but...” Justin found it hard to explain it in a few words. He said, “But because I had misunderstood his sexual orientation previously... cough, and also because Cherry likes pink, I renovated it into a pink-themed room to make the child happy.”

Nora: “!!!”

She looked at Justin with a complex look. “Are you sure you don’t need me to take a look at your brain?”

Just what kind of person would go along with his son's wishes and turn the room pink after suspecting that he wasn't straight?!

The corners of her lips spasmed. She was about to speak when Justin stood up and said, "I have photos of Pete when he was a baby. Do you want to look at them?"

Sure enough, it distracted Nora and she stopped paying attention to the topic about the pink room. She followed Justin to the next room.

When Justin took out an album of Pete's pictures, Nora started flipping through it from the very beginning.

The first photo was of a tiny little infant. His skin was dark all over, and he looked pitifully skinny.

"Is this from when Pete was a month old?" asked Nora.

As the twins were born prematurely, they were actually both a little skinny when they were born. Cherry had looked about the same as a fifteen-day-old normal baby when she turned one month old.

The photo of Pete looked similar to how Cherry had looked when she was a month old.

Justin kept quiet for a while before he replied, "Yeah, I guess."

Even though Pete was rescued, his health had suffered a lot. It was only because the Hunts were powerful enough and had their own high-end medical equipment that they managed to slowly restore his health at the cost of a lot of money.

When he was a month old, he had even been sent into the ICU a few times and had tubes inserted into him all over.

However, Justin didn't intend to tell the woman all that.

Nora kept quiet for a long while.

She had already spotted the date marked at the bottom of the photo.

This was a photo of Pete when he was six months old.

Even if Justin didn't mention anything, she could still imagine just how much Pete had suffered back then. Otherwise, why would he have mild autism?

Nora heaved a silent sigh and stopped speaking. Instead, she continued to flip through the album in silence.

Pete at one-month-old looked about the same as Cherry at three months old.

Subsequently, though, because Pete was ultimately still a boy, he had slowly caught up with Cherry. This was why the siblings were about the same height now.

Pete had lagged behind for a whole half a year.

In the photos, the little boy always stood there expressionlessly and stared quietly at the camera. His light-less eyes, which looked identical to Cherry's big round ones, slowly gained some light.

This was all thanks to Justin taking care of him.

Nora flipped through the album from beginning to end. Toward the end, she even occasionally saw photos of Pete with his lip corners quirked upward. He was probably smiling, right?

Nora felt terribly emotional.

She felt like all the emotions she would ever experience in her entire life had emerged in this instant.

She had never been this worked up before. Even when her child was taken away, she had merely felt fury.

She suppressed the acerbity in her heart, and slowly raised her head to look at Justin. "Thank you."

“If someone has to say thank you,” Justin also looked at her, “Then I should be the one saying it. Thank you for giving me two such lovely family members.”

Ever since his parents divorced and his mother moved out of the family when he was five, he had lost his parents’ love and care for him.

Having been alone for so many years, he had once considered staying alone for the rest of his life. He hadn’t understood familial kinship or feelings in the past, but Pete’s existence had gradually given him something to look forward to.

Rather than saying that he had saved Pete, it was more like Pete had given him salvation during the five years he took care of him.

Nora, who seemed to sense his emotional fluctuations, looked up at him.

She suddenly felt that she shouldn’t have developed thoughts of taking Pete away. He was the boy’s father after all.

—

In the bank.

Louis entered the lobby, took a number, and sat there in line.

When it was his turn, he took out the bank card and handed it to the clerk at the counter. “Please check the balance of this card for me.”

The bank clerk looked up. When she saw the bank card in his hand, she was taken aback!

Chapter 308 - The Bank Card!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The clerk stood up at once, giving Louis a shock.

He stared at the clerk stupefied. “W-what’s the matter?”

However, the clerk bowed and said, “Please wait a moment!”

Then, she took the card and rushed to the manager’s office at the side.

Louis was awfully shocked.

He looked around and found that the rest of the staff were all behaving normally. The clerk attending to him was the only one who had suddenly run off.

He swallowed hard. Could it be that his cousin had stolen that card from someone? After all, it wasn’t maxed out even after he spent nearly 50,000 dollars on pet food just now!

Was the clerk calling the police?

He was so alarmed that he jumped onto his feet abruptly, and he subconsciously walked toward the door hastily.

He had only just taken two steps when someone suddenly came after him from behind. “Sir, please wait a moment!”

Louis: “!!”

Without another word, he started to run out.

Unfortunately, the security guard at the bank’s doors saw the manager chasing him, so he subconsciously thought that Louis was a bad guy and rushed toward him at once.

Louis easily avoided the security guard. He said, “Don’t grab me, bro! That card isn’t mine! I... I found it somewhere!”

He ran out of the bank until he reached the streets. Then, he ran off along the sidewalk.

But he had only taken two steps when the security guard caught up with him. He said, “What are you afraid of if it’s something you found? Stop running and clarify everything with the manager! Otherwise, I’m calling the cops!”

“You can’t!” Louis yelled as he ran, “I didn’t break the law!”

“Then stop running!”

“No way!”

Louis continued running forward. At the same time, he took out his cell phone and sent a text message to Nora: ‘You stinky woman! You’ve gotten me into huge trouble!!’

Louis had taken the initiative to add Nora’s contact information into his phone when they were buying food for the cats. He had even said, “You can come to me if you run into any trouble in the future! I’ll protect you!”

Little did he think that things would actually turn out like this!

After sending the text message, he continued to exercise his skills to the fullest and ran with all his strength.

The security guard: “...”

Fleeing was what Louis did best. After all, he was already used to being disciplined by his family ever since he was a child, so he ran very fast and soon disappeared.

The security guard was all out of breath from chasing after him, but he still lost him in the end.

He bent over and panted heavily.

The manager behind him had also caught up with him by then. He asked, “What were you chasing him for? You’ve scared him away!”

“... Isn’t he a bad guy?” asked the security guard.

“What nonsense!” The manager exclaimed huffily, “He’s a distinguished customer!!”

The security guard: “!!”

He was puzzled. “If he’s a customer, what is he running away for?”

The manager smacked the security guard angrily. “Isn’t it because you were chasing him? Of course, he would run away if you chase after him!”

“... Really?” asked the security guard.

The manager sighed. He looked down at the bank card in his hand and couldn’t help but sigh emotionally. “Do you know that only five cards like this one here have been issued ever since our bank was established?”

The security guard: “?”

The manager stared at the card. “Although this is a supplementary card, there are no more than twenty supplementary cards of this card series in the bank! And this is on a global scale, no less! That’s why I have to personally attend to the customer. But great, you’ve actually scared him off! I have to report this to the higher-ups as soon as possible!”

He turned around and returned to the bank. Then, he got the security guard to show him the surveillance camera footage. “Hurry and find out who it is! We have to pay them a visit!”

Louis hadn't expected any of this at all when he first entered the bank, so his looks were totally exposed.

The manager got a friend to investigate who he was.

Louis could be considered someone with status in New York, so they quickly found out who he was.

The bank manager looked at his information. A short silence later, he said, "C'mon, let's go to the Smiths now. We have to retain that important customer and apologize to the VIP!"

—

Louis stopped and started to pant heavily after he ran a great distance away.

He looked behind him. When he found that no one had caught up to him, he was relieved.

But!

He took out his cell phone and dialed Chester's number with his trembling fingers. "I'm in trouble! I'm in trouble!"

Chester asked, "What's wrong?"

Louis thought for a moment and decided that he mustn't rat Nora out. Even if she had stolen someone's card, he had to cover up for her.

After all, he was the one who had caused this.

He took a deep breath. "Don't ask. Give me all the money you have. I'm going to go on the run!"

"... But I only have 300 dollars! I'll transfer it to you!" said Chester.

"Get lost! Why are you even more pitiful than I am?!"

Louis hung up on him straightaway.

If he fled, he would be a wanted criminal. This way, it wouldn't affect Nora. Besides, wasn't the pugilistic world what Quentin loved the most anyway?

Didn't this mean he was going to wander the world now?

Come to think of it, it sounded pretty exciting.

The main problem was, how was he going to escape if he didn't have any money?

While thinking about it, he drove quietly to the Smiths' manor.

In any case, he would just go to Warren and borrow some money first!

Warren was easy-going and easy to bluff. He definitely wouldn't stand by and watch him starve to death.

After driving back to the Smiths, in order not to make too much noise, he parked the car outside the door and sneaked in quietly by himself.

He was about to go up the stairs to look for Warren when he was discovered.

Yvonne looked at him. "What are you sneaking around for, Louis?"

Louis: "!!"

What bad luck!

How was it that he always ran into her every time he was down on his luck?

With an evasive look in his eyes, Louis replied, "It's nothing."

Yvonne knew at once from his behavior that he must have gotten himself in trouble. She immediately said, "You must have done something bad again, right? See if I don't tell Joel about it!"

Louis snapped at once. "All you know is snitching on others! What else do you know besides being a tattletale?!"

Yvonne looked at him up and down a few times. Then, she cast her eyes down and suddenly asked, “Did Nora’s bank card get you into trouble?”

Although Louis was mischievous, didn’t like studying, and had a weird personality, he had only become like that thanks to her ‘schemes’.

No one knew better than Yvonne how kind Louis actually was.

He would always play hero and speak up whenever he ran into trouble in the past, yet he simply refused to say even a word about it today. Therefore, she decided to simply sound him out.

Unexpectedly, the look in Louis’s eyes suddenly changed the moment she said that, and he said, “No, it didn’t!”

Yvonne frowned. “So, it really is because of that bank card!”

Louis: “!!”

Right at this moment, a butler came over hesitantly from outside. “Ms. Yvonne, the manager of the New York branch of ABC Bank is here. They say that they are here for Mr. Louis.”

Louis: “???”

Had they found him so soon?

He wanted to slip away, but Yvonne grabbed his collar and said, “What are you running for, Louis? What’s there that you can’t explain properly to everyone? Since they are looking for you, then let’s go over and have a look!”

Something must have gone wrong with Nora’s card!

And judging from how panicky Louis was, it seemed like a pretty big problem.

Let’s see how she would gain a foothold in the Smiths now!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 309 - The Card Is Mine!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne looked at the butler and instructed, “Since it’s the manager from the bank, then please invite him in!”

The butler answered, “Yes, miss.”

He turned to leave.

“Wait!” The frightened Louis shouted.

However, the butler ignored him completely.

Louis had always been naughty and mischievous since he was a child and especially compared to Yvonne, it made him seem even more atrocious. The servants in the manor also found him rather objectionable.

Moreover, this was Ian and Joel’s home. As the head of the family, one could consider Joel Ian’s adopted son. Yvonne was the true mistress of the household instead.

When the butler left, a furious and panicky Louis demanded, “What do you think you’re doing? What makes you think you can agree to meet them when they are here to look for me?”

Yvonne cast her eyes down and replied dispassionately, “What are you so worked up for just because the manager of the bank is looking for you? Is there something wrong with Nora’s card?”

Louis looked downstairs.

Sure enough, the servants in the house were looking at them. He pretty much subconsciously replied, “That card belongs to me!”

Yvonne: "..."

She kept her eyes down and said detachedly, "As your elder sister, I have to interfere in this, Louis. Since it's yours, then all the more so. Let's go and have a look."

Louis wanted to push her away, but the manager had already entered by then.

He was following behind the butler. This was his first time in the Smiths' manor. The manor's lavish decor filled him with great emotion. No wonder they had a card like that. As expected, their background was indeed impressive!

He would have to apologize to the distinguished customer later, though. He mustn't behave too frivolously.

With that in mind, he straightened his back and put on a rather serious expression.

Seeing how stern he looked, Louis became even more scared.

Sob...

Did Nora steal that card from someone or did she rob someone of it? To think it made the bank manager spend so much effort and go through so many twists and turns that he had actually managed to find him.

Since their investigations had led to him, they must have asked the police for help with that, right?

Despite knowing that this was the Smiths' manor, they had still come for him... This meant that they definitely wouldn't back down even if he used Joel against them. So! Just what kind of crime exactly had Nora committed?!

Surely it couldn't be robbery or murder, right?!

A grave look came over Louis's countenance when he thought of that.

Seeing that he had no way out anymore, Louis acted as if he was about to face the music and took a big step forward.

When the manager saw him, he took a step forward, took out the card, and asked respectfully, “Excuse me, is this card yours? Are you the only one using the card?”

Louis: “...”

He held his head high, puffed out his chest, and said righteously, “Yes, of course, I am the only one using it. What else could it be?”

The manager: “?”

Louis snorted and said, “Alright, that’s enough. A man must bear the consequences of his own actions. This card belongs to me and me alone!”

The manager: “!!”

The servants: “...”

Why did it seem like there was something kinda off about the scene in front of them?

It was at this point that Yvonne smiled and said, “I think that card belongs to Nora, doesn’t it? I saw her giving it to you earlier today. There’s a blue pattern at the side of the card...”

A blue pattern...

Louis looked at the card and retorted, “You’re mistaken! You have blue-green colorblindness!”

Yvonne: “!!!”

Yvonne took a deep breath and went on. “There’s no way I would have made a mistake. That’s Nora’s card, no doubt about it. Did something happen to Nora, Louis? You can just come straight out and say it if there’s something wrong, I can help you. Even if I can't, there's Joel. It's not good to keep some things a secret..."

Louis glared at her viciously. "I told you, the card belongs to me. How annoying can you get?"

Yvonne bit her lip and put on a pitiful act.

Florence frowned. "Mr. Louis, watch the way you speak to Ms. Yvonne. She's saying it for your own good! The Smiths would never give up their own for the sake of an indecent woman and outsider. Even if you hide certain things in order to protect her, people can still find out the truth later!"

Louis stared at her coldly. "Why is there a stray dog barking away here? How noisy! If I don't take my blood-related sister's side, then am I supposed to take your side, you detestable old woman?"

He curled his lips disdainfully and went on. "When a beautiful girl is meddlesome, you can say that she's acting bravely for a just cause. But for people like you, do you know what it's called?"

Florence was taken aback. "What is it called?"

"Ugly people being up to no good."

Florence: "!!!"

Movements came from the door at this point—Joel was back.

Florence's eyes reddened the moment she saw him enter. She cried out in tears, "Sir, you have to help me! I have been working respectfully in the Smiths for so many years, but now that I'm old, someone is actually saying that I'm an ugly person up to no good!"

Florence had watched Joel grow up.

Florence had been taking care of Joel, and treated him with great respect ever since Ian appointed him as his successor when he was ten.

Therefore, Joel also treated her with a lot of courtesy at home. Upon hearing that, he looked at Louis with a frown and said unhurriedly, “Apologize to Mdm. Florence, Louis.”

Although he spoke gently, his words brooked no refusal.

Not only did Louis not dare to go against Joel, but he also feared him from the bottom of his heart. Therefore, even though he was filled with reluctance, he nevertheless looked at Florence and said, “I won’t say you’re ugly anymore, old fogey.”

Florence: “...”

Everyone else: “...”

Although his words were unpleasant, Florence didn’t dare to act presumptuously in front of Joel anymore after making one of her masters apologize to her. She glared at Louis hatefully.

Yvonne changed the subject. “You’re back just in time, Joel. It seems like Nora has gotten into some kind of trouble, and Louis is insisting on taking the blame for her. Sigh, that’s also why Mdm. Florence is arguing with him. She’s doing it for your own good, Louis.”

Florence was touched to hear that.

Joel, however, looked at Louis with a frown and asked, “What’s going on?”

Louis shrank back at the look in Joel’s eyes. He wanted to chicken out, but he was afraid that Joel would give him a good thrashing. In the end, he bit the bullet and replied, “Don’t ask anymore, Joel. In any case, I did this all by myself, it has nothing to do with Nora! Stop trying to smear Nora’s name, Yvonne. Someone as vicious as you, and who wants only to see Nora make a fool out of herself is not worthy of speaking here!”

He looked at the manager and said, “Alright, that’s enough. The card is mine. If you want to arrest me, then let’s go! Let’s just cut the crap!”

The manager: “???”

Joel's eyes swept across Yvonne when he heard Louis. For some reason, Yvonne suddenly felt a little uneasy.

It was as if someone had seen through her thoughts.

Yvonne lowered her head.

So what even if her thoughts had been seen through? She was telling the truth!

The card was indeed Nora's. Now that there were credibility problems with it, it would definitely embarrass her to hell and back!

While she was thinking about it, the manager stepped forward and grabbed Louis' hand!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 310 - The Real Owner Of The Card!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne had never considered that the card was stolen from someone else.

After all, it was impossible that Nora would do something like that when she already had Justin. Her only thought was that a problem had occurred with her credit score.

Weren't there a lot of people who didn't pay their credit card bills after using the cards?

That was already embarrassing enough.

Unexpectedly, as soon as the thought formed in her mind, the manager said excitedly, "What are you talking about, Mr. Smith? Arrest? We just want to invite you to the bank as a guest! Why would we arrest you?"

"..."

His words caused the room to fall silent for a moment.

Yvonne, who was taken aback, looked at him incredulously.

The manager said, "You are our bank's VIP customer. Now that we've met in New York, of course, I would invite you to the bank. Also, do you need financial management services for your balance? We have capital protection and an interest rate of 5%! I know it's a little low, so you won't be interested for sure, but isn't it a little of a waste to just let the money rest in the account like that? Or perhaps you have investment plans for the near future?"

Louis: "??"

Louis felt like he could understand all the words that the manager was saying, but how come he couldn't understand them anymore once they were strung together?

Next to him, an even more surprised Florence asked, "What are you talking about? What VIP customer?"

Yvonne's eyes widened in astonishment, and she stared at the manager in disbelief.

A VIP... customer?

The manager glanced at Florence. "You don't need to know about your master's affairs. Mr. Smith? Mr. Smith?"

Only then did Louis come back to his senses. He pointed at the bank card incredulously. "Did you say that the owner of the card is a VIP customer? I- in that case, who is the owner of the card?"

His first reaction was that he was finished. Nora had actually stolen a VIP customer's card!

The manager smiled. "Don't joke around anymore, Mr. Smith. Didn't you say it yourself just now? It's you! This card doesn't require registration with one's real name, and there are only five in the world. Customer information is confidential, so I won't know, either. This is the first time I'm meeting the owner of the card..."

Louis: "..."

Louis swallowed hard. "What's the credit limit of this card?"

The manager replied, "This bank card is both a savings card and a credit card. This is a supplementary card. I wouldn't know where the primary card is. Only the owner would know that. Also, this card doesn't have a credit limit~"

The reason why such cards were rarely issued around the world was precisely that they weren't registered with the owners' names.

Additionally! They didn't have any credit limits!

Just how much trust must one have in their customers in order to issue unregistered cards without any credit limit?

That was why there were only five in the world!

How would he, a manager of a side branch of the bank in New York, possibly know who the owner was?!

However, the manager's words clearly shocked everyone present.

Louis stammered, "I-is there a chance for someone to steal the card?"

Just whose card had Nora stolen?!

The manager laughed again. "You must be joking. There's no way the owner of the card would lose the card, how can anyone steal it?"

Those who owned the card were either rich or noble.

They would definitely have bodyguards with them whenever they were out.

Therefore, there wasn't such a problem at all. Even if it just so happened that they misplaced it, they could just inform the account manager that had applied for the card for them, and they would reissue one to them right away.

Seeing how embarrassing Louis was behaving, Joel held his forehead. He glanced at the manager and said, "Since the card has been delivered, we're done here."

Although his attitude was detached and distant, the manager didn't feel slighted at all.

After all, he was here to deliver the card to them.

He handed the card to Louis respectfully and held his hand with great reluctance to part. He said, "Mr. Louis, do visit the bank when you're free!

If you aren't interested in financial management services, I can also recommend our other services to you..."

Louis, who was holding the bank card, nodded dazedly and watched the manager leave.

Louis looked at Joel after he left. "Just what kind of background does that cousin of mine have, Joel? You and Uncle Ian are the only ones in the family who can use a card like this, right?"

Even the way he spoke had become respectful.

His words made Yvonne's eyes flicker.

Among the Smiths, Ian and Joel were indeed the only ones who could use credit cards with no credit limit.

At the end of it all, wasn't it still because she wasn't related to them by blood but was just an adopted daughter that she didn't have the right to use such cards?! She clenched her fists.

Joel did not answer. Instead, he held his hand out toward him.

Louis: "!!"

He hid the card in his bosom and said, "Nora gave this to me, Joel!"

Joel raised his brows and glanced at him dispassionately. "Are you worthy of using it?"

Louis gritted his teeth and slowly handed the card to Joel. Joel reached out to take it—only to find that Louis was still holding on to the card tightly.

Joel: "..."

"Joel..." Louis sounded pitiful and miserable. Even his bleached blond hair looked a lot softer than usual.

Joel ignored him. He applied more force and took the card from him.

He slid it into his pocket after he took it. Then, he casually took out a credit card that belonged to the Smiths and handed it to Louis.

Louis: “!!!”

At the sight of his adorable credit card that had been sealed, he almost jumped straight into the air!

He immediately gave his credit card a huge kiss. Then, fearing that Joel would change his mind, he quickly ran out while calling out, “I love you, Joel!”

Joel: “...”

The people in the living room were still standing there.

Yvonne’s fists were balled up tightly. She simply couldn’t understand why Nora would have such a card? But when Louis left, she suddenly realized something.

Mr. Hunt must have given it to Nora, right?

Otherwise, how would she possibly have that much money?

She raised her head and glanced at Joel. “Is it really okay that Nora uses the Hunts’ money like that, Joel?”

Joel lowered his gaze.

Yvonne went on. “You should have her return the card. It won’t do her reputation any good if she spends the Hunts’ money like that... I’m saying this for her sake, Joel.”

Joel said dispassionately, “Come with me.”

Yvonne became nervous as she followed Joel into the study.

Joel leaned against the desk. Yvonne stood in front of him with her head down like a child who had done something wrong.

Joel suddenly asked, “You think this card belongs to Justin?”

Yvonne nodded. “Who else, apart from Mr. Hunt’s? Nora can’t possibly know anyone else, right?”

Joel took out the card, handed it to his personal assistant, and instructed, “Go and find out who the owner of this card is.”

“Yes, sir.”

Ten minutes later, the assistant walked back in feeling rather light-headed. As he stared at the results of the investigation, he felt as if he was stepping on cotton, his footsteps alternating between shallow and deep ones.

Yvonne had been standing there for ten minutes.. She asked anxiously, “Whose card is that? It’s Mr. Hunt’s, right?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 311 - Five Years Ago

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne had always been someone very good at keeping herself calm and collected, but in front of Joel, she always felt like he could see through everything she was thinking.

The last ten minutes when the assistant was away were the most unbearable ten minutes she had ever experienced.

She could pretend to be flawless in front of everyone, but her eldest brother's eyes seemed to always be able to see through all her thoughts.

He had deliberately kept quiet and sat there just like that. It was just a short ten minutes, yet she felt as if a whole year had gone by.

That was why she had so eagerly asked that question when the assistant entered the study, causing herself to expose all of her sneaky little thoughts.

As soon as she spoke, she secretly cursed.

She turned to Joel. Sure enough, he was looking straight at her. His usually amicable countenance was sharp and chilly.

Yvonne swallowed hard.

She lowered her head.

The assistant could clearly feel something wrong between the siblings. He hurriedly lowered his head and replied, "This card was used for the first time in a foreign country five years ago. Although the card registrant hadn't left any information, it was indeed Ms. Nora Smith who used it that time."

In other words, although it was an anonymous card, barring any accidents, it was indeed Nora's.

Yvonne had already been too afraid to speak when Joel was staring at her just now. Even though she was astounded, she nevertheless bit her lip and asked, “Did she already know Mr. Hunt five years ago?”

Her words took the assistant by surprise, and he glanced at Joel.

Joel glanced at the door. The assistant immediately understood. He lowered his head and quietly left the study. When he was exiting, he even thoughtfully closed the door for them.

As soon as the door closed, Joel’s gentle but cold and mellow voice reached Yvonne. “Are you hoping very much that this card belongs to Justin? Why?”

Yvonne: “!!”

She looked up in a panic. “N-no... Let me explain, Joel. That’s not...”

But when Yvonne’s eyes met Joel’s calm but mocking gaze, she shut up.

She knew that there was no use no matter what she said.

He knew.

Yvonne lowered her head. “Joel, in your eyes, who is more important? Me or her? I’m Dad’s lawful daughter...”

Joel lowered his head. He suddenly asked, “Then do you still remember what your legal name is?”

Yvonne was taken aback. “Yvonne Smith...”

She suddenly paused.

Yv... onne... Smith...

Her name had always been a topic of discussion ever since she was a child. In fact, even her adoptive father’s love history was a famous one. However, he never seemed to care about people talking about how much he loved Yvette.

Even if everyone said that Yvette had betrayed him, he had never once diminished his love for her in front of others.

He stayed single all his life.

He adopted a daughter who would marry into the Hunts in the future, and named her Yvonne.

Yvonne lowered her head, her fingers balling up even tighter into fists. “Joel, is it because Dad likes that woman that he would also like the daughter she had with another man?”

Joel was silent.

However, it seemed like Yvonne had regained her strength. She said, “Aren’t you afraid that Dad would be disappointed if you defend her? Everyone says that I’m Dad’s adopted daughter, but even I feel for him and dislike Nora, despite how I’m not related to Dad by blood. You’re not just his blood-related nephew, you’re pretty much Dad’s son. You’re even closer to him than I am, so how can you let him down?”

Had he let Uncle Ian down?

Joel pressed his lips together again.

He thought of how his uncle had reacted when the DNA report was first released. He thought of his internal struggle during that time. He thought of how he had gone to the Hunts’ party and defended her...

Joel slowly lowered his gaze. “You are not allowed to act rashly until Uncle Ian makes a decision.”

Seeing that he wasn’t pursuing the matter anymore, Yvonne breathed a sigh of relief at once.

She nodded. “I promise.”

When she left the office, someone suddenly opened the window. Quentin came in nimbly from the window. The thin and fair-skinned young man stared in the direction Yvonne had left, and curled his lips disdainfully. “Are you really not going to do anything about it?”

Joel had always handled family affairs fairly.

However, his actions had been a little partial toward Yvonne this time.

Joel looked at him and asked, “What can I do?”

Quentin was taken aback.

If he gave Yvonne a warning, he would be slapping Ian in the face.

Yet if he defended Nora, it would also shame Ian.

“But she’s our cousin! She has blood ties with us!”

As soon as Quentin said that, Joel sighed and said, “She’s also the daughter that woman had with Uncle Ryan.”

Quentin: “...”

He scratched his head and kept quiet for a long while. At last, he said, “Forget it, the previous generation’s relationships are too complicated. I’ll just pretend I don’t know anything.”

Joel nodded. However, he then looked at him again and asked, “Aren’t you supposed to be protecting her?”

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully. “Yeah, she’s home. There, she’s here!”

—

A big black jeep stopped outside the manor with a screech.

Afraid that Joel would confiscate his card again, Louis slipped away at high speed, causing him to almost bump into the car in front of him!

He stood in front of the car and patted his chest. “Is that how you should be driving? You almost scared me to death!”

He walked to the side of the car as he spoke, upon which he saw Nora’s cool and expressionless face through the open window.

Louis’s anger froze instantly. Then, a huge smile blossomed on his face at once. “Nora!”

Nora: “??”

Did someone run over the kid and damage his brain?

Why was there suddenly such a huge change in his attitude toward her?

While she was wondering about it, Louis said, “You’re my cousin, indeed! Don’t worry, I will protect you in the future! Joel has taken the card again, though. Can you transfer me some money?”

‘Again’...

Poor child.

“... Alright. How much do you need?” asked Nora.

She took out her cell phone. Only then did she realize that Louis had sent her a voice message.

She raised her eyebrows. “You sent me a voice message? What did you send?”

She was about to play it when Louis abruptly grabbed her phone—he had just thought of the ‘You stinky woman! You’ve gotten me into huge trouble!!’ message that he had sent earlier.

He hastily deleted the voice message.

Only then did Louis return the phone. “It’s nothing, nothing...”

Nora: "..."

Seeing how he was behaving, Nora didn't stoop to his level. Instead, she picked up her phone and asked, "How much do you want?"

Louis held up five fingers.

His monthly allowance was 50,000 dollars. Although that was considered rather low for a family like theirs, it was just enough to feed the cats and dogs. Even though he had already ordered cat food for the next one month and Joel had also returned him his credit card—limit of which also happened to be 50,000 dollars—who would ever say no to more money?

Nora glanced at his hand and uttered an 'oh'. Then, she tapped on her phone a few times. A beep rang out and Louis received an SMS.

Nora then tossed the phone onto the car seat and left coolly.

"Bye, Nora!"

Louis picked up his cell phone after he called out ingratiatingly, but when he saw the transfer amount, he was astounded.

Chapter 312 - Quentin Goes Idol-Chasing!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The SMS read: ‘Your bank account xxxx2222 has been credited with $500,000.’

Louis felt like he must be seeing things.

But when he carefully read it again, he confirmed that it was... indeed 500,000 dollars!

He jumped into the air excitedly at once and chased after Nora’s car. “You’re my actual sister, Nora!! Here, I’ll open the door for you!”

With a sister like her, why would he still need his eldest brother?

Would Joel ever give him 500,000 dollars?

When had he, someone whose pocket money had been under someone else’s control ever since he was a child, ever seen piping hot and fresh 500,000 dollars?!?!

Louis trotted all the way behind Nora to the garage. After she parked the car, he walked eagerly to the side and opened the door for Nora. “Watch your step, Sis!”

Nora: “...”

She sidestepped Louis and entered the house.

Louis had trotted all the way back from the gate just to open the door for her. After she entered, he happily got ready to leave.

It was at this point that someone blocked his path.

Quentin, who had turned to the side, was wearing a baseball cap, which seemed to hide all his facial features. He wore a face mask and said in a seemingly very cool manner, “Look at you, Louis! You’ve almost lost yourself to money! Who are you sucking up to—money, or your cousin?”

Louis had just received 500,000 dollars, so he was in a really good mood. Without any hesitation, he replied, “If she has money, then she’s my real sister!”

“... Hah, you good-for-nothing! Uncle Ian watched you grow up, you know. Don’t you think you’ve let him down?” said Quentin.

“Yes, Uncle Ian is someone dear to me, but so is Nora. How am I supposed to pick one? If only she was Uncle Ian’s daughter!”

Quentin: “...”

After thinking about it for a while, Louis finally said, “I don’t care anymore, I’ll follow my heart instead. It’s true that there hasn’t been a girl in our family for many years! I like Nora! Uncle Ian wants me to stay away from her? Sure, I can do that. Just give me a million bucks! Just double the amount is enough for me!”

Quentin: “...”

As though he had expected better from him, Quentin said, “Look at how much of a good-for-nothing you are! Hah, how can a man bend over just for money?”

Louis thought for a while and asked, “If she were the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts, would you still have something against her?”

Quentin did not hesitate. “Of course, not.”

Apart from Quinn and Irvin, the two great masters, the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts and the Big Brother of the Irvin School of Martial Arts were the idols of every martial artist in the martial arts world!

But!

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully and said, “But how can she possibly be the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts? Your metaphor is too unsuitable!”

Louis stuck his tongue out. “It’s just an example! The Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts to you is the same as money to me.”

Quentin got mad. “Big Sister is an idol. She’s someone high up in the air. How can you compare her to something as uncultured as money?”

Louis bounced toward the gates. “Money may be very uncultured to you, but it isn’t at all to me. I love the smell of money!”

Quentin: “...”

He snorted coldly and scoffed, “It’s because you’re still too young. I’m not as childish as you. I won’t lose control of myself like you even if I’m facing Big Sister!”

He had only just said that when his cell phone rang.

He calmly picked it up and answered. In a manner as cool and full of delusions of grandeur as ever, he said, “Speak.”

The caller was his subordinate. “Boss, I have found out some info about Big Sister!”

Quentin raised his eyebrows. Even his eyes had lit up. He suppressed the excitement in his voice and asked, “Where is she?”

“She’s at the martial arts tournament!”

Quentin: “??”

—

After Nora returned to her bedroom, she took a bath and habitually got ready to lie down and relax. However, as soon as she slumped onto the bed, she received a call from Quinn.

The old man's tone was rare and solemn: "The martial arts tournament held once every ten years in the pugilistic world has begun. I've signed you up for it."

Nora, who was towel-drying her hair, paused. She said, "I'm not going."

Quinn knew her very well, though. "Are you sure you're not going?"

"Yes."

If she had the spare time to fight, she might as well sleep instead.

Those people were simply too weak. She didn't want to waste time on them.

Quinn said, "The Irvin School of Martial Arts' Big Brother will be there."

The look in Nora's eyes instantly sharpened. She said, "Tell me where and when."

Quinn had pressured her with the Irvin School of Martial Arts' Big Brother ever since she started learning martial arts when she was a child. They had already been friends in spirit for very long! Since she now had the opportunity to spar with him... Heh.

Nora tossed the towel aside and flexed her wrists. She was going to beat him up so bad that even his mother wouldn't be able to recognize him!

As if he had grasped her weakness, Quinn was terribly smug. He said, "Don't worry, the tournament is an underground one this time. It's actually because several sects are fighting for the top spot. The Irvin School of Martial Arts' Big Brother took first place ten years ago, which allowed that old devious scumbag to show off in front of me for ten years. I told you to go that time, but you didn't..."

Nora had only been fifteen years old back then. That was exactly the period when she had become fat due to the hormonal injections, so she had been too lazy to get out of the house.

Moreover, she hadn't come of age at that time yet. Her mother had told her not to expose her existence until she had the power to protect herself.

Mm... Even though she still didn't have the ability to protect herself yet—after all, she was a weak and frail ordinary woman—she could pretend to be someone else and give Big Brother a good thrashing anyway.

Quinn had already figured out his disciple's personality. He said, "I know you want to stay low-key, so you don't have to participate as the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister. Think of a name, I'll get someone to make a contestant card for you. It's good for you to broaden your horizons there, too. Surely you have to at least make the Quinn School of Martial Arts a little proud, right?"

"... Alright, then."

Quinn said, "Let's use the name Smithra."

Nora had only just thought the name sounded pretty good when Quinn said, "I've already asked someone to sign you up. Oh, by the way, tonight's the first match."

Nora: "??"

So, he wasn't calling to discuss it with her but only to inform her about it, right?!

She was about to lose her temper when Quinn went on. "In the martial arts tournament, every sect is required to participate anonymously. Only the winner will reveal their name and which sect they are from. This is to prevent internal strife."

Nora frowned.

Why were they making this so mysterious?

She asked, “Will the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother be there tonight?”

“Yes.”

“Okay.”

Nora hung up and got up. She dried her hair with a hairdryer and changed into a tight-fitting outfit.

As soon as she went out, she saw Quentin standing outside her door. He said, “Don’t go out tonight. I have to go out for something.”

Nora: “???”

Quentin, who noticed that she was wearing a new outfit, tried to scare her. He said, “Don’t you know that there are at least five different groups of people watching you right now? Without me, you won’t live to see tomorrow the moment you leave!”

Nora’s gaze casually swept across a card that Quentin was holding. She asked, “... Where are you going?”

Quentin replied casually, “To chase after my idol!”

He turned and left in a hurry.

After he left, Nora walked downstairs leisurely and went out.

Tsk.

Were youngsters nowadays still chasing after idols? They should take a leaf out of her book; she had never chased after idols before. Those young and fresh boys weren’t even as good-looking as Justin...

Who was this star that someone with delusions of grandeur like Quentin liked, though?

Chapter 313 - The Big Sister Of The Quinn School Of Martial Arts?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora reached the garage, it just so happened that Joel was also going out. When the two bumped into each other, Joel suddenly called out, “Ms. Smith.”

Nora stopped and looked at him. “Is something the matter, Mr. Smith?”

Both of them were a little taken aback by the conversation.

Both of them clearly shared the same last name, yet why was there such a strong sense of estrangement?

Joel suppressed his emotions first. He handed the bank card in his pocket to her and said, “Louis appreciates your kindness, but you should take good care of a valuable card like this.”

Valuable?

Nora raised her eyebrows. To be honest, she didn’t think it was that valuable.

But since Joel was giving it back to her, she reached out unceremoniously and took it from him. Then, she casually asked, “Do you still have work this late?”

Joel: “...”

Upon sensing his silence, Nora looked at him. “What?”

Joel was speechless for a moment. “I’m picking up the kids.”

Nora didn't feel the slightest bit of guilt about forgetting to pick up her child from school even when she heard Joel's reply. On the contrary, she said, "Bring Cherry back with you too, thanks."

After saying that, she got into the jeep first and drove off.

Joel, who was still standing where he was and about to get into his car: "?"

Even the usually amiable man's lip corners couldn't help but spasm.

Just how heartless was she?!

He held his forehead and went to the kindergarten.

As soon as he arrived, he saw Tanya holding Pete and asking, "What's your mom up to lately? Tell her to come over to my place and have some fun. I'm the only one at home and it's boring me to death."

"... Oh, okay," replied Pete.

Tanya was about to say something when she spotted Joel in the distance. She got up at once, turned, and left, not giving him a chance to say anything at all.

Joel: "..."

—

Nora followed the map that Quinn had sent and arrived at an office building.

When she saw the office workers all dressed presentably in suits and leather shoes going in and out, Nora wondered if she had come to the wrong place.

She dialed Quinn's number and asked, "Old man, are you joking around with me?"

Quinn let out a 'hmp' and replied, "What's so fun about joking around with you? As if I would do that... Go into the building and head to the basement. You can go in after you let them know your name.”

“...Oh,” Nora said.

She was about to hang up when Quinn added, “By the way, remember to disguise yourself so that others won’t recognize you. Didn’t you want to keep a low profile?”

Nora scoffed, “Since you know that I want to stay low-profile, why did you still ask me to come here?”

Quinn: “...”

Nora hung up, rummaged about in the car, and took out a bag of cosmetics.

It wasn’t very convenient for her to do a lot of things these days, so she had learned some makeup skills. The makeup artists in the States had extensive and profound skills, so putting on makeup was no different from a disguise.

Nora put on a lot of makeup. She used a blue eyeliner and drew wingtips at the ends of her docile-looking almond-shaped eyes. A coquettish woman appeared in the mirror at once.

Then, she took out red lipstick and gave herself full red lips. By the time she was done, even she was close to not being able to recognize herself anymore. After that, she took out a dress from the backseat.

It was a black, tight-fitting dress.

After changing into the dress, Nora looked incredibly gorgeous, as well as extremely different from her original self.

She was confident that no one would recognize her. Only then did she walk into the building while chewing gum.

Sure enough, everyone around her looked over curiously. However, perhaps because there were too many strange people going in and out of the building, they didn’t think much about it.

When Nora entered the office building and walked toward the basement, someone suddenly stopped her.

Two big and muscular guards said, “Stop right there. Who are you?”

“Smithra.”

Nora blew a bubble.

The ends of her lazy-looking eyes lifted up, making her look coquettish and flirtatious.

One of the guards looked at her warily while the other keyed her name into the tablet in his hands. A short while later, he handed her a wristband and a number plate and said, “Your contestant number is 028. This is your mask.”

He handed Nora a mask.

Nora: “...”

She stared at the mask blankly. “What is this supposed to be?”

The guard replied solemnly, “Everyone who enters the basement has to hide their identity, so masks are given to all participants. The criterion for determining victory in the tournament is taking off the opponent’s mask.”

...

While going down the stairs, Nora called Quinn. She asked, “Why do we have to wear a mask for the tournament? Isn’t a rule like that really strange?”

“Ever since the country started to crack down on the underworld many years ago, they’ve become stricter on martial arts practitioners. A lot of them don’t want to be recognized, so they wear masks. It’s much more convenient than putting on makeup. Putting on a disguise wastes too much time!”

“...”

Nora felt a headache coming on. She said, “Why didn’t you make that clear from the start, old man?”

She had spent so much time doing her makeup in the car! Had she known, she would have just entered with a face mask and sunglasses!

She looked down at the mask in her hand. It was a half-mask made of silver that covered only the upper half of the face. The lower half of her face all the way to her lips was left exposed.

The mask clung to the skin, so it wouldn’t fall off if one didn’t pull hard at it.

Nora curled her lips disdainfully.

She hung up and tossed her phone into her pocket. As she followed the staff member leading her downstairs, the staff member asked, “Which sect are you from, young missy?”

“The Quinn School of Martial Arts.”

Nora answered casually.

“The Quinn School of Martial Arts?” The staff member was a very enthusiastic forty-year-old man. He said, “They are really amazing! It’s been so many years, yet they are still staying so strong! You have a promising future there!”

Then, he started to enthusiastically explain the things happening around them to her. He said, “The number of people participating in the martial arts tournament this year is less than half of what it was before. Most of them have changed jobs to make more money after they got married. Martial arts development is getting weaker and weaker these days. Sigh!”

Nora: “...”

Although she didn’t speak, the man went on by himself. He asked, “By the way, do you know who the champion was ten years ago?”

Without waiting for Nora's answer, he answered his own question, "The Big Brother of the Irvin School of Martial Arts!"

"He was just a teenager at that time and was even a thin and slender boy. Even now, I still remember how he looked when he stood on the platform, coldly overlooked the bottom, and asked if the rest conceded defeat. That was a really exciting sight."

Nora cast her eyes down and said frigidly, "That's because the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts hadn't participated in the tournament."

The man chuckled and said, "Yes, the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister is the most mysterious person ever. I've heard that even in the sect, there are very few disciples who have ever seen her. Have you ever seen her before?"

"...No," replied Nora.

Apart from looking at herself in the mirror, it was true that she couldn't 'see' herself after all.

The man shook his head and said, "How pitiful. I heard that all the Quinn School of Martial Arts disciples see Big Sister as their idol."

He suddenly leaned toward Nora, lowered his voice, and said, "If you give me 1,500 dollars, I'll take you to the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister. What say you?"

Nora: "?"

Chapter 314 - The Big Brother Of The Irvin School Of Martial Arts

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora raised her brows and looked at the man.

He was still smiling at her ingratiatingly.

An amused Nora asked, “You’re acquainted with Big Sister?”

The man nodded. “Not only am I acquainted with Big Sister, but I also know the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother! Do you want to meet him?”

Nora: “...”

If not for his previous statement, she might have been fooled by him.

Her lips curled into a smile and she asked, “How are you going to let me meet Big Sister?”

The man enthusiastically explained, “We’ve invited Big Sister over. The Quinn School of Martial Arts has announced that Big Sister will be participating in the tournament, and will take back what belongs to them—the champion title. Since Big Sister is here, we would definitely do our best as a host.”

He looked around, lowered his voice, and pointed to a room nearby. He said, “Big Sister is resting in there! Give me another 3,000 dollars and I’ll let you take a photo with her.”

Nora: “!!”

“It’s not entirely impossible if you also want an autograph...”

Seeing the man going on and on, Nora was about to refuse when she suddenly heard a voice laced with suppressed excitement come behind her. The voice said, “I’ll do it!”

Nora: “?”

She looked behind her to see a fair-skinned, black-clad teenager wearing a black mask walk over.

The young man was a little skinny. He was currently walking over in a hurry as if he was afraid he wouldn’t be able to meet Big Sister if he was too late. He grabbed the man’s arm and said, “If you take me to Big Sister, I’ll give you 15,000!”

The man who was talking to Nora ceaselessly fell quiet after hearing what he said.

After a momentary pause, he said with a smile, “No problem! We have to agree on something first, though—you’re not allowed to talk about the martial arts tournament when you meet Big Sister... Also, Big Sister doesn’t like people getting too close to her. She also doesn’t like talking very much.”

“Then what does she like?” The teen asked.

The man casually made up a lie. “She likes to sleep.”

The teen: “...”

Nora: “...”

The man paid no more attention to Nora. Instead, he led the boy forward and asked, “Have you transferred me the money?”

“Yeah, I have. Where’s Big Sister?”

“...”

So, where did that silly but rich guy actually come from?

Nora shook her head. She turned the corner and walked toward the other side.

She pushed a heavy door open. As soon as she opened it just a crack, the noise from inside reached her. It was so deafening that it made her temples throb.

After she pushed open the big metal door a little and slipped in, the door slowly closed on its own.

It was only then that Nora finally got a clear look at the situation.

It was no exaggeration to say that the place was jam-packed with people. In front of her were a sea of heads with their backs to her. It was hard to tell what kind of material the hall was made out of, but it had excellent sound insulation.

No one would ever think that the basement of an unremarkable office building in New York would holding a martial arts tournament.

The lights were so bright it seemed like daylight.

There were buffet tables with a lot of food around, but just like in tourist destinations, the prices were much more expensive than usual places outside.

Nora looked around and found that there were eight fighting rings in the arena. Matches were in progress in all eight rings at the moment.

While she was looking around, a staff member suddenly came over and asked, "Are you here to spectate, or to compete?"

Nora showed him her wristband and answered, "I'm here to compete."

The staff member nodded immediately. "Okay, follow me backstage, all the contestants prep there."

"...Oh," Nora said.

She followed the staff member and weaved through the crowd. Soon, they arrived backstage. The staff member entered her contestant number into the computer system and said, “You have two matches tonight. The first one is at seven o’clock. After the first match, you’ll have some time to rest before the second one starts. Will you be resting for an hour or?”

Even through the mask, the staff member could tell that she was a woman, and one with a graceful figure at that. Thus, he was exceptionally nice to her.

“... Two minutes, I suppose?” replied Nora.

She just needed to wash her hands after the match, right?

The staff member, “3”??”

After the momentary surprise, he said, “You shouldn’t be overconfident of yourself, young woman!”

Nora asked, “Who will I be fighting?”

Seeing how she was persisting, the staff member didn’t make things difficult for her. He looked at the match schedule and replied, “You’ll be fighting someone named Tired Reno for your first match. He’s in the renovation industry now, but he was also a martial artist in the past.”

“...Oh,” Nora said.

As it turned out, everyone was so casual in their aliases.

She asked, “What about the second match?”

“It’s also a newcomer. Their name is Milk Lover.”

Nora: “...”

She suddenly asked, “How do I get a match with the Big Brother of the Irvin School of Martial Arts?”

As soon as she said that, the staff member was dumbfounded. “How can a little newcomer like you possibly be able to challenge the biggest boss right away?”

Nora was a little confused. “What do you mean?”

The staff member frowned. “Didn’t you look at the tournament rules?”

Nora shook her head.

The staff member held his forehead. But on account of the fact that she was just a young girl, he patiently explained, “All the contestants are split into classes. There are six classes in total, and they go from A to F. People like you who have only just registered belong to Class A. You can only progress to Class B after you win ten matches. After winning another ten matches at Class B, you’ll then progress to Class C, and so on and so forth. By the time you reach Class F, there’ll probably be fewer than twenty people left. Big Brother was the champion ten years ago, so he starts from Class F right away. Those in the second to tenth places ten years ago start from Class E... Also, people are not allowed to challenge anyone beyond their class.”

Nora: “???”

What the f*ck? That meant that she had to fight sixty matches first if she wanted to fight the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother?

What a waste of her sleeping time!

Nora was very frustrated, terribly so.

Seeing that she had stopped talking, the staff member advised, “You can eat something to cushion your stomach first, so that you won’t be out of energy when your match starts. Food is free of charge for all contestants. All the best to you.”

“... Alright,” said Nora.

She left backstage and walked over to the dining section at the front.

She had taken a look at the match schedule just now. One was only allowed to fight a maximum of two matches a day. Additionally, victory was determined by taking off the opponent's mask. They didn't advocate seriously wounding opponents. One was expected to exercise a martial arts practitioner's integrity and virtue!

At a rate like that, this meant that it would take at least a month for her to meet the Big Brother of the Irvin School of Martial Arts?

That was too long!

Nora was very displeased. She wanted to eat a few pieces of cake, but when she walked over, she suddenly spotted a familiar-looking tall figure carrying an adorable little girl in the distance. Although they were both wearing masks, how would she possibly not recognize her own child?

They were... Justin and Cherry?

Her brows knitted together.. As soon as she walked over, she saw a staff member suddenly approaching Justin. He called out, "Big Brother..."

Chapter 315 - Meeting Big Brother?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora: “?”

She paused and looked at Justin in disbelief.

Justin, who seemed to sense something, glanced out of the corner of his eye. When he saw the graceful woman nearby, he straightened his back and said amicably, “You’re mistaken.”

The staff member: “??”

After saying that, without even looking behind him, Justin turned around with Cherry in his arms. When he saw Nora, he frowned and said, “Cherry, look at that person. Why does she look so much like your Mommy?”

Cherry’s big round eyes blinked. She replied, “She doesn’t ‘look like’ my Mommy. She? is ?Mommy!”

“Is your Mommy’s waist that slender?” asked Justin.

Cherry tilted her head and replied, “Yeah! I hug her around the waist every day, so I know that very well, yeah!”

Justin said, “Sigh, no wonder you could recognize her but I can’t. I’ve never touched your Mommy’s waist before.”

“…”

Cherry stared at Justin for a while. At last, she sighed and remarked, “Daddy, you are so pitiful~”

Nora: "..."

Justin wore a black casual outfit today, and the mask he was wearing was also black. Cherry was wearing a silver winged half-mask.

They were family, so there was no way they wouldn't be able to recognize each other just because they were wearing masks.

The three of them quickly came together.

Nora asked, "Why did you bring Cherry here?"

When they were abroad in the past, she would always make Cherry close her eyes every time she fought, lest it influenced the child negatively.

Everyone fought fiercely in the rings at the tournament. Was it really appropriate to let Cherry watch something like that?

As soon as she said that, Cherry said, "Mommy, I was the one who begged Daddy to bring me here! I heard Daddy on the phone. They said that there was a martial arts tournament, so I wanted to come and watch! Don't worry, I know gory scenes are not suitable for children, so I won't look!"

Nora: "..."

She looked at Justin. "Why are you here?"

Justin kept quiet for a moment before he replied, "I'm here to watch the matches. Men have a natural passion for martial arts."

Nora: "??"

Would the busy Mr. Hunt bring his daughter here to watch such boring Class A matches?

Why did she find it kinda dubious?

She narrowed her eyes and asked, "Why did that guy call you Big Brother just now?"

Justin was very open and honest this time. He replied, “Maybe the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother looks as tall and mighty as me? That’s why they mistook me for him.”

“...”

Nora’s lip corners spasmed a little. Would the man die if he stopped being narcissistic for even a moment?

She rolled her eyes and walked to the side. She picked up a piece of cake, put it in her mouth, and then asked, “Say, do you think the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother will come today?”

The Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother, Justin Hunt, who was standing right there in the arena, kept quiet for a moment before he replied, “Maybe.”

Nora raised her brows. “Does he have a match today? Which match is it? And what time?”

Justin coughed. “He’s the only one in Class F at present, so he won’t be having any matches in the near future. He will only be competing after the people in Class E win ten matches and progress to Class F.”

Nora did some mental calculations.

If the people who took second to tenth place in the last tournament were more or less equally matched, then everyone would have an equal chance of victory. To win ten matches, one would have to participate in twenty matches...

There were a lot of people in Class A, so everyone participated in two matches a day.

However, there were few people in Class E, so there was only one match per day.

Therefore, she would have to wait twenty days before she could see Big Brother in a match?

That was toooooo slow!

For Nora, there was nothing more precious than time!

She frowned. “How can I meet the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother?”

Justin coughed. He was about to speak when a voice came from the side. “Why didn’t you go when the guy asked you to just now?”

Nora and Justin looked over in unison to see the skinny man, wearing black tight-fitting clothes and a black mask, whom she had met when she first entered.

Nora couldn’t help but feel that the guy looked a little familiar to her, but she couldn’t pinpoint who he was right away.

The young man had already stretched out his hand toward her. He said, “I am Smithin.”

Nora: “...”

Based on her own alias Smithra, she finally knew who the young man was. Wasn’t he Quentin, the young man with delusions of grandeur?!

Seeing his outstretched hand, Nora coughed and stretched out her own hand. “Hello, I’m 028.”

Quentin immediately let go after a light squeeze of the hand. Then, he said arrogantly, “I met the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ Big Sister just now, and even took a photo with her. I even asked her for an autograph. Since you’re also a fan of Big Brother, why didn’t you take up the staff member’s offer just now?”

Nora: “??”

She was shocked. “You met Big Sister? The real deal?”

Quentin sneered, “Of course, she’s the real deal.”

He took out his cell phone and showed it to Nora. “See, this is Big Sister.”

In the photo was a big and thick woman. Her face was fleshy and the muscles on her arms were bulging. It was obvious at first glance that her physique was achievable only through regular bodybuilding.

Quentin was very moved. He said, “Do you know? I’ve always thought of myself as a very diligent person. But it was only when I met Big Sister that I realized why she is Big Sister. It has always been very difficult for women to build muscles, in fact, it’s much harder for women to do that than men. But take a look at Big Sister’s muscles! It’s impossible to achieve that without a few years of bodybuilding! So Big Sister is really just like what Mr. Quinn claimed. She is obsessed with martial arts, and has been practicing martial arts since she was still in the womb!”

Nora the lazy bum: “...”

The corners of her lips spasmed. She wanted to say something, but Quentin had already continued. He said, “I mustn’t slack anymore from today onward! I must be the third strongest in New York!”

Nora: “...”

Wow, what an impressive goal!

Quentin went on. “A lot of people call her Big Sister. A few people from the Quinn School of Martial Arts also say that they know her. Oh, by the way, I also met Big Brother.”

Big Brother...

Nora immediately asked, “Where is he? Is he the real deal?”

Quentin nodded. “I’d never seen Big Sister before, but I saw Big Brother ten years ago! How would I possibly not know him? He’s sitting right there in the room next door! He’s wearing the same clothes and the same mask he wore ten years ago. His physique also looks very similar!”

After he spoke, he suddenly pointed at Justin and said, “Hmm... Big Brother’s physique is also very similar to his!”

Justin: “...”

Nora: “...”

Nora suddenly turned and started to walk out.

Justin followed behind her closely. “Where are you going?”

Nora flexed her wrists and sneered, “I’m going to look for Big Brother for a sparring session.”

Although Big Sister was fake, Big Brother might not necessarily be.

After all, didn’t he like showing off very much?

Justin instantly felt his back muscles tighten.

As soon as the two of them walked out of the tournament venue, they saw a few people escorting a strong and muscular fat woman over. At the sight of the pair, they waved impatiently and said, “Step aside! Step aside! The Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts is here!!”

Nora: “??”

Chapter 316 - Give Up!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora stood still. Before she could move, the group had already come up to Cherry, Justin, and her.

After the group walked past them with great momentum, an astonished Cherry asked, “Mommy, did Grandpa Quinn take another disciple behind your back?”

Nora: “...”

Justin: “...”

Nora kept quiet for a moment before she said unhurriedly, “She’s a fake.”

“That scared me to death.” Cherry patted her chest and said, “I thought Grandpa Quinn had finally come around to it and accepted that you’re not suited for martial arts, so he didn’t want you anymore!”

“...”

Nora glanced at Cherry with a chilly look in her eyes. “What did you say?”

Cherry immediately smiled and said, “I was complimenting you, Mommy! You’re not suited to be a martial artist because you’re the queen of martial arts herself! You’re amazing even if you don’t practice at all! You don’t need to work hard at all!”

“...”

Her flattery skills simply left one speechless.

While they were talking, they had already gone out. The staff member who had led Nora inside just now was standing at the front and trying to convince his next target. He said, “Do you want to take a photo with the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ Big Sister? It costs 3,000 per picture!”

Nora walked over and said, “Take me to the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother.”

The staff member was about to nod when he turned around and spotted Justin, which gave him a huge shock.

To be honest, the martial arts tournament had become less and less profitable in recent years. Therefore, the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ Big Sister and the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother, who were admired by all, had become their new way of making money.

That particular staff member was one of the rare few old-timers who had stayed around, so he naturally knew who Justin was.

Although he hadn’t seen what the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother really looked like ten years ago, he remembered his contestant number very well—057.

He couldn’t help but rub his eyes and look at the contestant number on Justin’s wristband again—it was indeed 057!

He swallowed and coughed. “B-Big Brother?”

Justin narrowed his eyes behind the mask. His voice was low but cold and sounded vaguely threatening. He said, “Yes. Didn’t you say he’s in the office and that we can take a photo with him? We would like to meet him.”

The staff member: “...”

The one in there was a fake! What was the real deal making a scene here for?!

Besides, Justin had actually always known that someone was impersonating him. They had informed Big Brother about it before.

However, since Big Brother had said that, then he had to let him take a look.

Therefore, the staff member coughed and led the way. “This way, please,” he said.

He led the way earnestly for the few of them, which instead made Nora rather hesitant.

He had looked like he wouldn't give in unless they gave him money just now. Why had he suddenly stopped discussing prices with them? Was he planning to rip them off after letting them meet Big Brother?

In the midst of her thoughts, the staff member arrived at a room and knocked on the door.

The door opened.

Nora looked at the person in the room.

A man with a mask on was sitting calmly and steadily on the sofa. One couldn't see what he looked like, but they could feel that the man was very arrogant. He frowned and said to the staff member, “Why are you bothering me again?”

The staff member coughed and replied, “These two people would like to meet you.”

“I'm very busy.”

‘Big Brother’, who was seated on the sofa, said sullenly, “If there's nothing you need, then leave!”

“I have something I need.”

Nora suddenly spoke.

‘Big Brother’ looked at her at once. “What is it?”

The staff member also turned to look at Nora. He wanted to ask what she wanted, but before he could say anything, a shadow flashed past him. Nora rushed into the room and slammed her fist straight at Big Brother's face!

Bam!

Her punch was quick and powerful, which stunned 'Big Brother'. The next moment, his eyes closed and he passed out.

The staff member: “?”

He was furious. “What are you doing? How dare you attack Big Brother!”

Nora, who had knocked the man out with a single punch: “?”

She looked at her fist in surprise, and then at the man in front of her—blood was already trickling out of his mask.

“...”

A strange silence filled the place.

Just as Nora was about to apologize, Justin's low and deep voice rang out. “He has fainted. Take him to the hospital.”

Seeing that he had spoken, the staff member didn't dare to say any more. He gave the doctors a call at once.

There were specially hired doctors in the arena, in case people became seriously injured in the tournament. They quickly hurried over.

The group of people quickly carried the injured man away. Even the staff member who had brought them there didn't pursue the matter. In fact, he didn't even dare to cast even a glance at them but quickly slipped away with the crowd.

Nora: “...”

Taken aback, she asked, “He's going to me go just like that?”

However, she paused when she looked at Justin.

For some reason, Justin had a rather odd look in his eyes as he looked at her, as though he was the one who had been punched just now.

While thinking about it, Justin coughed and asked, “Do you want to beat Big Brother up that much?”

“Yeah.”

Nora looked down at her fist and heaved a sigh. “Unfortunately, that guy just now was a fake.”

Justin: “?”

Nora told him her analysis. “I already threw the punch very slowly just now, but he still didn’t manage to react in time. In addition, the staff didn’t dare to hold me accountable at all. Based on all that, that ‘Big Brother’ was a fake.”

She waved her fist in the air and said, “I wonder when I can really slam this fist into his face.”

Justin: “...”

He suddenly felt like his cheek really hurt.

The staff didn’t pursue the matter even after she hit the fake Big Brother, so Nora could only follow Justin back into the arena again.

Soon, it was Nora’s match.

She was in Ring 6.

When the host called out her contestant number 028, she took a step forward and got ready to enter the ring. It was at this moment that Smithin jumped out from nowhere and grabbed her. He asked, “Hey, are you actually going into the ring to compete?”

Nora: “?”

She looked at the black-clad teenager with the mask and asked, “What’s wrong?”

“You sure are unlucky. To think you have been assigned Tired Reno for your first match. Do you know? Even though he’s a rookie, he has already won nine consecutive matches. Once he wins the match with you, he’ll advance to Class B.”

Nora frowned. “And then?”

Smithin thought for a moment. Then, he tried to persuade her and said, “You’ve seen him, right? Tired Reno is a big guy. He can send you sprawling with just a punch. I’d advise you to give up. A delicate young missy like you shouldn’t go into the ring. It would look really bad if you have to beg for mercy on your knees later.”

Nora: “?????”

Smithin lifted his chin and said, “What are you looking at me for? He’s also my opponent in my next match. Just give up, I’ll beat him up for you in the next match! You can think of it as revenge!”

Chapter 317 - I Wont Use My Legs

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Quentin sounded as full of delusions of grandeur as ever.

Nora couldn't help but hold her forehead. She asked, "Are you this helpful and enthusiastic to everyone?"

Quentin: "??"

Her question stunned Quentin.

He stared at Nora blankly. For a moment, he also felt like he was behaving a little strangely.

When had he become such a busybody? What was he showing a stranger so much concern for?

To be honest, he couldn't quite describe what he was feeling, either. It was just that the woman's calm and collected attitude kept making him feel as if she was Nora.

After all, he had been tailing and protecting Nora for very long.

He snorted and said, "I guess I was being unnecessarily nosy."

He walked off after saying that.

Nora: "..."

Had her words offended Quentin just now? Otherwise, why would that guy with delusions of grandeur suddenly become so distant?

She didn't think too deeply into it, though, because she was about to go into the ring.

Before she did, she looked back and glanced at Cherry.

Cherry immediately took the hint and stretched out her hands and covered her eyes. She said, “Don’t worry, Mommy, I’m all ready. I will sing rhymes for Daddy later!”

Nora then looked at Justin. She was about to speak when Justin nodded and said, “I will report the rhymes she sang to you later.”

Nora nodded. While walking to the ring, she couldn’t help but feel that something was amiss. It was not until she got into the ring that she suddenly realized something—was their rapport a little too good just now?

It was as if they were a family of three.

She coughed.

When her imagination was running wild, Tired Reno opposite her said, “Not only are you a woman, but you’re even coming into the ring dressed like that? Are you here to fight, or are you here to look for a boyfriend?”

Nora, who was a little taken aback, lowered her head and looked at what she was wearing.

All the places that should be covered, were. There shouldn’t be any problem, right?

She broke into a frown.

The audience, however, burst into loud laughter. “Yeah, it’s actually a woman! What’s a woman here to join in the fun for!”

Although there were a lot of girls learning martial arts nowadays, they were naturally weaker than men in physical strength. While women had managed to occupy a certain position in other respects, truly powerful women were still a minority in the world of martial arts.

There were also women among the spectators, and their words filled them with indignation. They said, “What’s wrong with women? Have you forgotten the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister?"

"Exactly! Are women incapable of fighting just because they are women? If you're that great, why don't you challenge the Quinn School of Martial Arts' Big Sister to a one-on-one duel?!"

"Hmph!"

The women spoke up. They were all either someone's wives or sisters, or one of the few outstanding people in the martial arts circle. The men around them didn't dare to antagonize them anymore.

All of them changed the subject with a smile and said, "No, that's not what we meant. We're just talking about the fact that she's wearing a dress."

"Yeah, isn't it inconvenient for her to move her legs if she's wearing a dress? She's going to have wardrobe malfunctions later when she lifts her legs into the air! I'm saying it for her sake."

"Tsk, it's rare to see a woman in one-on-one duels. Of course, we would love to watch! It won't be interesting anymore if it's all men! I just think that she shouldn't have worn a dress!"

In the ring.

Tired Reno also frowned as he looked at Nora. He said, "Let's start?"

Nora stood where she was leisurely. "Yeah, let's start!"

Tired Reno frowned and said, "Do you want to go and change? I can wait for you."

Nora was a little taken aback. "Why?"

Tired Reno felt a headache coming on. "Didn't you hear what the audience said? If you continue to wear that, you... won't be able to move your legs freely."

Nora lowered her head again and looked at her dress. Only then did she realize what they were talking about. “Oh, that’s what you meant,” she said.

Tired Reno nodded.

Everyone else also breathed sighs of relief. Even Quentin, who was among the audience, curled his lips disdainfully.

What a stupid woman. There were so many wretched men down here, yet she had worn a dress to fight. Let’s see what she was gonna do!

While he was thinking about it, he heard Nora say, “Oh, it’s okay even if I don’t use my legs.”

Everyone: “??”

Everyone was stunned. They stared at her incredulously, wondering if the woman was out of her mind. She wasn’t going to use her legs? Did that mean she was only going to use her fists? But how powerful could a woman’s fists be?

Moreover, without using the legs, she wouldn’t be able to do movements such as swooping toward the opponent and so on.

Quentin scoffed.

She wasn’t going to use her legs? Was it because she thought flapping her lips would be enough?

Well, if she were to admit defeat before Tired Reno rushed over, she indeed wouldn’t have to use her legs. In fact, she wouldn’t even need her hands!

While he was thinking about it, Tired Reno frowned. “You—”

“Let’s cut the crap and start.”

Nora had become annoyed. She could have already ended the match while they were talking. What a huge waste of her energy.

She stretched out a finger and made a hooking gesture at Tired Reno. “Let’s start.”

Tired Reno: “!”

Although he was a man, the woman’s provocation nevertheless angered him. He snorted and said, “You asked for it!”

He balled up his hands and swung his fist straight at Nora!

His punch was quick and powerful. Tired Reno, who also didn’t want to waste any time, wanted to end the match quickly, so he didn’t show any mercy despite his opponent being a woman.

The audience closed their eyes.

One must know that Tired Reno’s punch had knocked all his previous nine opponents onto the ground!

Wasn’t he a little too insensible? He was actually using his sure-kill move against a young missy right from the start?

Quentin held his forehead. Tired Reno moved so quickly that 028 probably couldn’t even react in time to admit defeat.

He was still thinking about it when he heard the loud thwack of a fist making contact with flesh. Then, with a boom, someone landed fiercely on the ground.

A sympathetic Quentin looked at the ring to see how miserable the woman looked...

Chapter 318 - Ryans Whereabouts

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

However, the moment she looked up, she was stunned.

There were no obstructions around the ring. It could be considered a loss if she fell off the ring. At this moment, the woman in the black dress was standing there. The air in the basement was ventilated, and her black dress fluttered arrogantly with the wind.

In front of her, Tired Reno had collapsed to the ground, exhausted. He had already fainted.

Everyone: “!!!”

Quentin narrowed his eyes as well.

“Omg!”

The entire audience erupted. Everyone was asking, “Did you see what just happened?”

“Wait, Tired Reno went to hit someone, but why he did faint instead?”

Someone said weakly, “I... I think I saw 028 reach out her hand and gently hit Tired Reno.”

“...”

The crowd fell silent again.

Then, they saw 028 rubbing her wrist and looking around hesitantly. “Is it over?”

Only then did the referee react and announce, “028 wins!”

Nora walked to the side and jumped down from the ring.

The audience immediately gave way in fear.

They saw her walking along the crowd to the food section. There was a sofa over there. A man was sitting there hugging a girl.

After everyone simmered down, they could hear the little girl reciting a poem in her childish voice.

“...The stone path to the mountain is slanted.

He and she were deep in the clouds.

Dreaming of a princess meeting a prince.

But in reality, a dinosaur meets a frog...”

Nora stopped in her tracks. Veins popped out on her forehead.

When Cherry saw her walking over, she said excitedly, “Mommy, I’ve already memorized 300 poems! I didn’t peek at your competition earlier!”

Everyone was speechless.

What a strange family of three!!!

Initially, they thought that the woman was hungry when she went to the food section. However, after Nora walked over, she sat on the sofa beside the girl and told the man and the girl, “Wake me up at 8 o’clock.”

Then, she tilted her head slightly and fell asleep on the sofa.

Everyone was speechless.

Quentin: !!!

His lips twitched. He felt that this woman was simply unreasonable. She had just defeated Tired Reno. Who was she?

Under everyone's guesses, Nora really fell asleep.

Her dreams were strange and chaotic. In the end, she was not woken up by Justin, but by her own phone call.

She yawned and answered the call in a daze. She said angrily, "You better have something important to say."

With that, she opened her eyes lazily and saw Justin and Cherry opposite her. Behind their masks, the two pairs of eyes were staring at her.

Cherry said softly, "Mommy has a very bad morning temper. It's especially scary."

Justin had a regretful look on his face. "It's a pity I didn't get the chance to see it."

Cherry said, "Next time when we sleep together, I'll let you take a look in the morning. We're outside right now, so she's a little restrained!"

Justin smiled. "Yes, I look forward to that day."

Nora: "..."

Only then did she realize that she was in the sparring arena. The noisy crowd around her had prevented her from taking a good nap.

She subconsciously sat up straight and wiped the non-existent saliva from the corner of her mouth.

The two people opposite her were speechless.

Solo's voice came from the other end of the line. "Sigh, stop scaring me. I found some information about Ryan. Didn't you ask me to help you investigate?"

Nora raised her eyebrows. "What?"

“Ryan was the second son of the Smiths back then. Ian is the third son of the Smiths. You know that, right? Back then, the eldest son of the Smiths was useless. As he liked to mess around outside, the previous head of the Smiths decided to look for the next patriarch between Ryan and Ian. Unfortunately, Ryan’s private life was chaotic and he was with many women. It was said that he even got a small celebrity pregnant. In addition, although Ian was three years younger than Ryan, he had already displayed outstanding aptitude. Therefore, Ian was made the person in charge at that time. Ryan became more carefree from then on, but he was actually not as useless as he looked.”

All the news Nora heard about Ryan from the Smiths was about his bad aspects.

For example, he was slippery and unreliable.

She narrowed her eyes. Just as she was thinking about what Ryan was doing, Solo said, “You know Quentin, right? It wouldn’t be surprising even if you don’t know. From Quentin’s generation, the Smiths have hidden his existence. Outsiders won’t know about him. They let Quentin handle things that aren’t suitable to be seen by the public. The Smiths’ hidden forces are all in Quentin’s hands. You’ve just reunited with the Smiths, so it’s normal that you don’t know about him.”

Nora: “...”

The second Smiths member she met was Quentin.

However, she did not interrupt Solo. She knew that this person liked to keep people in suspense when he sent messages, so she decided not to say anything. As expected, Solo felt that it was meaningless to wait for a reply from her. He pursed his lips and said, “But do you know who founded this dark force?”

Nora frowned. “Ryan?”

Solo: “No.”

Nora: “!!”

If that wasn't the case, why did he say so much nonsense?

Just as she was about to lose her temper, Solo accurately grasped her temper and hurriedly explained, “It was Ian. However, Ian inherited the Smiths and became the patriarch on the surface, so he handed that force to Ryan.”

Nora narrowed her eyes.

“Also, Ryan is from Irvin School of Martial Arts. He can be considered a member of the pugilistic world. He has a certain status in New York's pugilistic world. I heard that he hosted two tournaments back then. Up until now, most of the ways to earn money in the tournaments were thought of by Ian and him.”

Nora: “...”

She was stunned. “The Smiths own shares in the martial arts tournament?”

“It's not shares. Ryan used to be the president of the pugilistic world. Even now, his name is still on the title.”

Nora narrowed her eyes.

Solo said, “I asked around again and realized that although the president of the pugilistic world had disappeared, the association would often receive some orders from him to prevent the pugilistic world from becoming a mess over the years.”

“Got it.”

Nora hung up.

She held her chin and began to think. She did not expect to hear news about Ryan when she was only participating in a martial arts tournament.

She wanted to look for Ryan only to get his DNA sample. She would compare the two DNA match results to determine whose daughter she was.

After all, Lily had said that her genes had mutated. The comparison between her and Ian's DNA samples was actually not accurate.

As she was thinking about this, she suddenly saw a person in ragged clothes flash past not far away, making her frown.

Wasn't this Old Maddy?

Why was he here?!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 319 - A Man Cant Say No

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora thought about this and hurriedly stood up to follow.

But before she could take two steps, Justin followed her. “What’s wrong?”

“I saw an acquaintance,” Nora replied simply and continued walking forward. However, she realized that Old Maddy had already disappeared.

She was very confident that she had not mistaken him.

After all, she did not like to fantasize.

But why was Old Maddy here? The Smith villa was an hour away from here.

As she frowned in thought, it was her turn to go on stage. “This competition is between 028 and Milk Lover. Please come on stage.”

Nora could only give up on looking for Old Maddy and went on stage.

A woman had subdued “Tired Reno” the moment she made a move. This had attracted everyone’s attention. Everyone wanted to know what had just happened.

Some people even felt that Nora might have been lucky just now. Tired Reno must have made a mistake to be hit by her.

Furthermore, it was her first time on stage. Perhaps Tired Reno had underestimated her.

Just like Tired Reno, Milk Lover had already won eight or nine rounds and was not bad. At least he was not a simple Class A.

Before Milk Lover went on stage, he was warned by a kind person to be wary of 028.

However, after he went on stage, he saw that Nora was still wearing that dress. She did not change her clothes at all.

With her eye-catchingly beautiful figure and slender waist, she did not look like a trained person.

Milk Lover raised his guard.

He said, "028, what's your name?"

Everyone would give themselves a name. For example, Tired Reno and Milk Lover were Internet aliases. Of course, if someone wanted to use their real name, it was not a problem.

Nora: "028."

Milk Lover: "I'm asking for your real name. I want to know which sect you're from."

Nora was silent for a moment. "You don't need to know."

On such an occasion, she would be in the limelight sooner or later. She must not leave her name.

When Milk Lover saw her distant look, he frowned. "Alright, since you don't want to say anything, don't blame me for being rude! You don't use your legs, right? Heh!"

With that, he leaped and kicked.

This kick was very strong. In addition, he ran a short distance to gain more strength in his kick. If Nora was kicked, she would definitely be injured. Everyone thought that Nora would dodge easily and find another opportunity to counterattack.

However, they did not expect Nora to suddenly take a small step back and stretch out her fist.

Bam!

Nora's fist landed on the soles of Milk Lover's feet. She directly sent him flying out of the ring.

Bam!

Milk Lover prostrated on the ground below the ring.

“Omg!”

The entire venue was in an uproar.

This time, everyone was certain that 028 was not just lucky. She was really a martial arts expert!

“028 wins this competition!”

With his previous experience, the referee did not stutter this time.

Nora walked down from the stage.

She ignored the surrounding voices trying to curry favor with her and walked toward Justin again.

Quentin, who was hiding in the crowd and watching her compete, narrowed his eyes. This woman was not bad.

He walked towards her.

Nora had completed her mission today and was prepared to go home.

After all, she had to fight two matches a day. She needed to fight 60 times and 30 days to reach Class F and fight against Irvin School of Martial Arts' Big Brother.

She sighed silently.

It was a waste of time.

How good would it be if she could finish all the competitions in one day?

As she was thinking about this, she suddenly heard praise from behind her. “Your performance just now was not bad. You impressed me.”

Nora:”???”

She pursed her lips and turned around. Sure enough, Quentin was standing behind her, staring at her seriously. “I now announce that I was wrong. You can be my opponent.”

“...”

Why did this stupid vibe make her want to attack?

The corners of Nora’s lips spasmed.

She was about to say something when Quentin suddenly said, “I seriously considered it. I think you can become my teammate. We can team up and level up together.”

Nora: “?”

Team up to level up?

She frowned. “I’m not interested in all that.”

She did not have time to team up with him!

As she thought about this, Quentin’s calm voice sounded. “Is that so? Forget it then. I originally didn’t think we should team up. After all, I’m so powerful. I can definitely advance all the way. If not for saving time, I wouldn’t have considered this. Sorry to disturb you.”

With that, he turned to leave, but his arm was suddenly grabbed. He turned back hesitantly and saw the woman in the silver mask staring at him. “Save time? What do you mean? Explain clearly before you leave.”

Quentin: “???”

He was surprised. “Didn’t you see the competition rules?”

Nora blinked and answered confidently, “No.”

Why would she bother seeing the rules? Wasn’t it just fighting!

Quentin: “...”

The corners of his lips twitched. “In a one-on-one competition, you have to win ten rounds before you can advance. But in a team competition, you can advance collectively after winning five rounds. I came to register for the competition today. It will take a month to enter Class F, but if we team up, it will take half a month. Of course, after entering Class F, the team will automatically disband, and we will still be opponents.”

Nora: “!!”

Why didn’t she know there was such a system!

“Let’s team up,” she agreed happily.

Quentin frowned. “Team up? You really want to enter Class F? Why do you want to enter Class F?”

Nora replied, “To fight with Irvin School of Martial Arts’s Big Brother.”

“Impressive.” Quentin gave her a thumbs up. “Just now, I thought that your IQ was a little low and that you were not worthy of being my match. But your ambition is not small, it has made up for your IQ.”

Nora, who had outstanding intelligence, was speechless.

Seeing her staring at him, Quentin raised his chin as well. “I just made an agreement with Big Sister. When I enter Class F, I’ll spar with her. Looks like we have the same goal. That way, we’ll save ourselves a lot of trouble.”

“Then let’s team up,” Nora replied.

“Not yet.” Quentin sighed. “There have to be three people in a team. We’re still short of one person.”

Nora: “??”

She looked around and finally looked at Justin. She grabbed his arm and pushed him forward. “Add him.”

Justin, the top disciple of Irvin School of Martial Arts, was just standing at the side and listening to them talk. At the moment, he was speechless.

“Can he do it?”

Quentin said in disdain.

When Justin, who had originally planned to reject them, heard this, he immediately sneered. Just as he was about to speak, Nora said, “He definitely can.”

Men could not say no.

Quentin: “?”

He hesitated. “Have you tried it before?”

“Yes.”

“Alright then, let’s team up.”

“...”

Justin, who was standing beside them, seriously suspected that these two people were in cahoots!

However, the two of them were clearly fine and did not say anything. He could only retract his suspicions.

Nora leaned in and whispered, “Help me out, I have to meet Big Brother in the tournament as quickly as I can.”

Justin, who would rather not meet Nora in a match, looked at her almond-shaped eyes. “... Okay.”

Therefore, the three of them walked to the registration area and prepared to switch to the team competition.

However, halfway through, Nora suddenly saw Old Maddy again!

He secretly sneaked into the room beside him, making Nora narrow her eyes. She gave Justin a look and sneaked over.

She wanted to see what Old Maddy was up to!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 320 - Exposed

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora glanced at Justin and quickly slipped to the side.

Quentin was stunned and planned to chase after her. “Hey, where are you going...”

However, Justin grabbed his arm and the man replied coldly, “She’s going to be busy.”

“What is she busy with? The registration deadline is coming up soon! Today is the last day!”

Justin did not let go of his hand at all. “The two of us can just register.”

Quentin frowned. “How is that possible? There have to be three people in the team competition. You...”

Before he could finish speaking, Justin pulled him toward the registration counter.

Quentin: “??”

He wanted to break free, but with his strength, he could not. This reminded him of how Nora had grabbed his arm when he was about to leave and refused to let him go.

This couple was really strange. They were both extremely strong.

With this doubt in mind, Quentin and Justin arrived at the registration counter.

The staff at the registration counter was lazily slouched with his legs crossed. When he saw the two of them enter and noticed Justin, he immediately stood up. “B-Bi-Br...”

Before he could call out “Big Brother,” Justin interrupted him. “We came to sign up for the team competition. One of us has something on, so can the two of us sign up?”

The staff member: “!!!”

Register for the team competition?

Big Brother, what kind of international joke was this?!

Who could match his speed!

However, the staff member did not dare to speak much, especially when he saw Justin’s bright eyes. He smiled. “Of course, of course! May I know your names?”

“Smithin, 028, and me.” Justin paused. “820.”

820?

Although there was already someone with this number, if Big Brother said he was 820, then he was 820. The staff member was very tactful and immediately nodded. “Alright, I’ll handle it for you right away!”

With that, he lowered his head and stamped his seal, settling the team competition registration. He did not even need to ask about ordinary matters. “That’s enough. You guys can participate in the team competition starting tomorrow.”

“Okay.”

After receiving the bracelet from the representative team, Justin and Quentin left the registration area.

As soon as the two of them left, someone secretly went to the registration counter. “Can we sign up for the team competition? The other two didn’t rush over because they had something on. I’ll sign them up for them.”

The staff member said, “No! The three people attending the team competition must be here at the same time. Otherwise, you can’t sign up!”

“...”

Quentin looked at this scene and revealed a thoughtful look.

After leaving the registration area with Justin, he suddenly said reservedly, “I understand.”

Justin: “?”

Quentin: “Sigh, I must have been exposed.”

Justin: “???”

Quentin looked at him. “Do you know why the staff was so respectful to us just now?”

Justin hesitated for a moment before replying, “Why?”

“Because I’m still careless enough to expose my identity. That’s right. Smithin is the same as Quentin.”

Quentin?

So he was Quentin, the Smiths’ dark power.

Everyone in New York knew that the current generation of Smiths had six sons. However, they did not know that the Smiths actually had seven sons.

It was said that Quentin was third.

As Justin thought this, he saw the young man in front of him pat his shoulder. “You definitely know who I am. My second uncle is Ryan Smith, the president of the pugilistic world. That’s why the staff was so respectful to me. However, you don’t have to feel pressured to team up with me. I’m very approachable.”

Justin: “????”

“Tell your wife there’s no need to feel any pressure. And once you know my true identity, don’t be arrogant. After all, in the entire New York, after Big Sister and Big Brother, I’m the most powerful.”

Justin: “...”

“Speaking of which, I’m a little worried about you.”

Quentin looked at Justin. This person might have been hiding in the dark all day, so he was very talkative at this moment. “Your wife is so obsessed with Big Brother. I keep feeling that it’s not simple. You must be jealous, right?”

Justin: “??”

“It’s just like how I admire Quinn School of Martial Arts’s Big Sister. When I admire her, unknowingly, that kind of relationship has already changed. If Big Sister does not dislike me, I’m willing to be with her, even if she’s...”

Before Quentin met Big Sister, he did not expect her to be such a muscular woman.

However, the admiration he felt for her was too strong. After the initial shock, he had already gotten used to her figure and even ignored it.

Yes, even if she was a fatty, he could do it!

Justin: “!!!”

The corners of his mouth twitched. “Quinn School of Martial Arts’s Big Sister is already married.”

“What?” Quentin was stunned. “Why haven’t I heard of it before?”

“Do you know who I am?”

Justin looked at him.

Quentin shook his head.

Justin smiled. “Yes, it’s good that you don’t know.”

Previously, he had been worried that this fool would recognize him. Now, it seemed like this worry was completely unnecessary. He did not even know the most basic scam at the martial arts seminar! This person had really wasted his years!

Quentin: “...”

On the other side, Nora did not lose track of Old Maddy.

Old Maddy had been acting suspiciously. He looked around and saw that no one was paying attention to him, so he entered a room.

Nora slowed down and came to the door.. She gently pushed the door open and looked over. She saw Old Maddy sitting there...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 321 - Yvette?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Old Maddy sat there. No, to be more specific, he was squatting there and eating the food beside him. He ate the cake until his face was full, and he stuffed juice and meat into his mouth. He looked like he had not eaten anything good for a long time.

Nora: “!”

So he had sneaked here to steal food?

While she was in a daze, a worker saw her and walked over with a frown. “What are you doing? This is Big Sister’s resting place. You...”

Before he could finish speaking, he saw Old Maddy in the room. He immediately rushed in anxiously. “Beggar? Why are you here? Get lost! This is not a place for you to stay. This is the place for Quinn School of Martial Arts’s Big Sister!”

He grabbed Old Maddy’s arm in disdain.

Old Maddy’s clothes were rolled up, and his arm was covered in scars, as if they had been burned. He smiled at the staff and stuffed food into his mouth crazily.

Nora: “!”

The staff member was anxious. “Quickly call security. How can we let the beggar in? This is not a place he can come as he pleases!”

When he was about to leave, Nora stopped him. “Wait a minute. I know this person. I’ll take him away.”

The staff frowned and reprimanded, “You brought him in? Watch the person you brought in. Take him away quickly. This is Big Sister’s waiting room! This is Big Sister’s first time on stage this year. Her status is very noble! These desserts were all prepared for her, how dare he eat them! He’s going overboard!”

When Old Maddy heard this, he looked at her and grinned. “Delicious.”

One could not tell his looks from his face, but he looked really ugly when he was eating.

Nora took a deep breath. “Follow me.”

Old Maddy still seemed to remember her. Perhaps it was because, even if he was crazy, he knew that he had made a mistake and followed Nora obediently.

The two of them walked through the crowd and out of the basement, then went to the parking lot.

Old Maddy had been eating all along the way. It was hard to tell if he was doing it on purpose.

When they arrived at the car park, there was no one around. Nora suddenly reached out and grabbed Old Maddy’s arm, pressing against his pulse.

His pulse was strong but chaotic.

He was indeed crazy.

Was Old Maddy really a lunatic?

But the Smith villa was so far away. How did he get here?

Nora simply asked, “Old Maddy, why are you here?”

Old Maddy raised his hand and ate half of the cake. He held it tightly in his hand and handed it to Nora. “It’s delicious. Eat...”

The cake was rotten from his grip. It was disgusting.

Nora stared at it for a while. “You came here for food?”

Old Maddy nodded. Seeing that she was not eating, he stuffed the cake in his hand into his mouth.

Nora clenched her jaw.

She stared at him for a long time before sighing deeply. “I’ll take you back.”

It was unknown if Old Maddy understood what she meant. He followed behind Nora and the two of them got into the car. Nora drove him back to the Smiths villa.

On the way, she sent Justin a message and told him that she had left.

Justin replied, reminding her to participate in the competition tomorrow. Moreover, the person who was teaming up with them was called Smithin.

Nora expressed that she understood.

On the way, she observed Old Maddy through the rearview mirror.

He sat in the backseat obediently and quietly. His legs were relaxed and he subconsciously revealed the posture of a big boss. However, when she looked at his face, he was reserved and curiously touching everything.

When he met Nora’s gaze, he jumped in shock and curled up obediently.

This person gave off a very contradictory feeling.

Nora thought of what Old Maddy had said when he found her last time. She asked tentatively, “Old Maddy, do you know Ryan?”

“Ryan...” Old Maddy muttered the name silently before shaking his head in confusion. “I don’t know him...”

He had clearly mentioned Ryan previously.

Nora frowned and said, "Then do you know Ian?"

Old Maddy nodded immediately. "Ian is a good person!"

With that, he seemed excited. "He has a daughter! He has a daughter!"

Nora: "..."

She suddenly asked, "Who's his daughter?"

Old Maddy pointed at her. "It's you, it's you, it's you!"

Nora followed his lead. "But everyone says I'm Ryan's daughter."

"You're not like him."

Old Maddy grinned. "You look like Ian. You're Ian's daughter! Ian has a daughter! Ian's daughter has returned home!"

Nora narrowed her eyes.

These words made her feel that Old Maddy knew something. This person's identity was definitely not simple.

Furthermore... could he be Ryan?

Ryan...

Nora seemed to have suddenly thought of something. She sped up and the car dashed directly into the Smiths' residence. When they reached home, she grabbed Old Maddy.

Then, she took a few strands of his hair and rushed into the room, heading upstairs.

After entering her bedroom, she put the hair in a special bag and called Lily. She sent Lily the samples overnight for her to test Old Maddy's DNA.

Although the possibility of Old Maddy being Ryan was not high, she still had to confirm it.

She did not notice that after she left, Old Maddy was still standing at the same spot. After staring at Nora's back for a long time, his eyes suddenly became clear.

He seemed to not understand what was going on as he muttered, "Yvette..."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 322 - Ill Bring You To Win~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After shouting this name, Old Maddy's eyes gradually became confused.

He seemed to have forgotten what he had just said. He only repeated, "Ian has a daughter. Ian's daughter is looking for him..."

Then, he lowered his head and continued eating the cake in his hand. He walked familiarly to the small house in the front yard.

—

The next day, when Nora woke up, the test results from Lily had not arrived yet. After all, this time, it was an international express delivery. It would take two days to reach.

Nora yawned. When she got up and saw that Pete had already been taken to school by Joel, she went downstairs.

As she went downstairs, she saw that the atmosphere in the living room was not right.

She yawned and looked over in confusion. She saw Maureen looking at Yvonne angrily and saying, "I told you, if it's not us, then it's not us! Why would we tell outsiders about you? What good is it to us if you don't enter the Hacker Alliance?"

Yvonne lowered her head, her eyes red.

She did not speak. Florence, who had always been standing beside her, said, "But Miss Yvonne did not enter the Hacker Alliance because someone said that there was a problem with her software and that she attacked her own family for no reason. This kind of software definitely doesn't qualify, so she was eliminated. Y and Q had agreed to let her join at first!"

Maureen sneered. "What does that have to do with us? We don't even know any hackers. If we knew any hackers, would we still need to beg you all these years?"

Warren frowned as well. "Yvonne, you even suspect me? When have I deceived you all these years?"

Yvonne sighed, "Warren, it's not that I don't believe you, but this matter has indeed been leaked. Do you really not know any hackers?"

"Of course..." Warren wanted to answer firmly, but his words suddenly stopped.

Of course, they knew a hacker.

He swallowed. "I... I know Solo, but I never told him about this. Even if he found out that someone had invaded us, he didn't know who you were!"

Maureen said in disdain, "Yes, some people are just delusional. We're the ones who leaked the news just because we know Solo? Nora introduced him to us! Are you going to malign Nora as well?"

She paused.

Maureen and Warren looked at each other.

Sure enough, Yvonne said in surprise, "You're saying that Nora also knows Solo?"

She bit her lip and sighed heavily.

Florence originally did not understand this logic, but when she saw Yvonne's expression and thought about what they had just said, she was instantly furious. "Alright, I got it! Nora must have been jealous because I kept looking down on her with the excuse that Miss Yvonne wanted to join the Hacker Alliance! She deliberately told Solo to send a message to Y and Q!”

“This woman is too despicable. How can she be so petty?”

Florence shouted angrily. “Even if she’s jealous of others, can’t she just improve herself? Why is she causing trouble for others?!”

Maureen hurriedly said, “Mdm. Florence, we haven’t confirmed who did this yet. Don’t push the blame on others here! Besides, Nora might not have done it on purpose!”

Warren nodded as well. “Yes, she doesn’t know what that software is for. Even if she really said it, she must have let it slip by mistake!”

Warren was sure that he and his wife had not told Solo about Yvonne. Therefore, it could only be Nora. He subconsciously found an excuse for her.

Florence sneered and was about to speak when a cold voice sounded. “Tsk.”

The few of them subconsciously froze. They turned their heads and saw Nora walking slowly into the kitchen. She took out a piece of bread and walked out while eating.

After swallowing the bread in her mouth, she looked at Yvonne. “Stop guessing. It was me.”

No matter what the reason was, Yvonne had attacked her family with the software she’d written. It was intentional, so she must have been up to no good.

If she did not do it on purpose, then it meant that her skills were not up to standard.

Wasn’t it normal for her not to pass?

Florence was instantly furious. “See, you’ve already admitted it! Indeed, you wrecked Miss Yvonne’s plans!”

Yvonne looked at her with red eyes. “Nora, w-why are you treating me like this? I’m not bad to you either!”

Nora swallowed another mouthful of bread and took a sip of milk. Then, she slowly said, “What did I do to you? Isn’t it because your skills aren’t good enough?”

Everyone: “!!!”

Maureen and Warren were originally shocked because Nora had admitted it. However, when they heard this, they actually had an idea.

Nora was right!

It was clearly Yvonne who was not skilled enough. Who cared what others said about her?

While they were feeling surprised, Nora had already walked out of the door.

She had a team competition today and needed to participate.

When she woke up, she received a notice to be at the competition venue at 4 PM.

She drove to the martial arts competition and had just entered wearing a mask when she was recognized by Quentin. “028, why are you so late?”

Nora yawned. Before she could say anything, Quentin said, “But it’s okay. We’re about to go on stage.”

He waved his hand. “I’m sure you already know who I am, right? Your husband should have told you. So, after the competition, you and your husband can just wait to win. I’ll bring you to Class F!”

Nora: “...”

She wanted to say something, but Quentin said, “You don’t have to say anything grateful. There’s no need to feel embarrassed. I just find you more pleasing to the eye. Besides, the moves you used yesterday were pretty good. Leading you to level up is my own idea. It has nothing to do with you. You don't have to feel like you owe me a favor.”

After saying that, Quentin raised his chin slightly. “By the way, is your husband here? Just protect yourselves.. I'll help you after I'm done fighting one.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 323 - Stealing The Limelight

Seeing how confident the delusional Quentin was, Nora couldn't be bothered to say anything to crush his confidence.

A short while later, Justin arrived.

He was wearing a black mask that covered half of his face.

Quentin looked at him for a while before he confirmed that he was indeed the person from the day before. He said, "You sure kinda resemble Big Brother. If no one told me otherwise, I might have mistaken you for him! Big Brother doesn't have kids, though."

He glanced at Cherry and asked, "Why did you bring your kid here when you're competing in the tournament?"

Cherry curled her lips disdainfully. "Why can't he bring his child here?"

"With you around, how is he supposed to fight? Where is he going to put you when he fights later?"

As soon as he said that, Justin said, "I'm bringing her into the ring."

Quentin: "???"

He was stunned at first, but a moment later, he burst into laughter. "You're bringing your kid into the ring? Have you gone silly?"

He shook his head and said, "It's dangerous in the ring. What if she gets hurt? But it's true that there are a lot of people here, so it's also unsafe to leave her here."

Justin said leisurely, "I'm just here to make up the numbers."

Even if he didn't do anything, Nora would still be able to handle Class A and Class B opponents by herself.

Quentin unexpectedly misunderstood, though.

He thought for a moment and then nodded. "You're right. You can just stand behind me later. I'll take on two opponents."

Justin: "???"

The more Quentin thought about it, the more he felt that it would be astounding.

Perhaps because he had kept himself hidden and suppressed himself for too long, he liked the idea of showing off and stealing the limelight very much. He stroked his chin and said, "With that, everyone will definitely notice our team. By the way, what is our team's name?"

Justin was about to speak when Quentin snapped his fingers and suggested, "How about Third In The World?"

Nora: "?"

Justin: "?"

Seeing how confused both of them looked, Quentin sneered, lifted his chin, and said, "Don't forget this—I'm the best fighter after Big Brother and Big Sister. Since the third most powerful fighter in the world is in our team, Third In The World is a very apt name!"

"..."

Nora couldn't be bothered to pay him any more attention. She said, "It's up to you."

As a result...

"Team Third In The World, please enter the ring. They shall be facing Team Contractor next. There are two Class C contestants in Team Contractor, so they will be a much trickier opponent than the Class A opponents yesterday. However, Smithin from Team Third In The World has given us an amazing performance yesterday. It is not known whose disciple he is. No. 028 also gave us a surprise and won every match of hers with just a punch each, so no one knows just how strong she is even now. Please welcome the two teams!”

Together with the host’s announcement, Quentin puffed out his chest, held his head high, and led the way in front.

Nora was in the middle. She walked with a lazy gait and was still wearing a dress.

She usually wore trousers most of the time, so it was relatively unlikely for people to recognize her if she wore a dress in the tournament. One could consider it a little trick that she had prepared for the tournament.

Justin caused an even bigger sensation when he went into the ring—because he was carrying a child in his arms!

The child was about five to six years old and was wearing a princess dress. Even with a mask on, one could still see a pair of astonishingly dark eyes behind it.

The crowd went into a furor all at once.

Quentin was awfully satisfied when he sensed their astonishment.

It simply felt wonderful to bask in the center of attention!

Quentin had always lived in the darkness ever since he was a child. In fact, outsiders didn’t even know that someone like him existed among the Smiths. This made Quentin sometimes long to stand where the light gathered.

As a result, he loved being in the limelight when he was doing things anonymously.

He gave a wave and the cheers around them became even louder. Quentin was very satisfied with the effect. It seemed that his performance the day before was passable.

He was still thinking about it when the crowd started to shout, “One Punch Beauty! One Punch Beauty! No. 028 ‘The Beauty’ wins with one punch!”

‘One punch’?

Quentin was taken aback for a moment. Only then did he realize that Nora had actually gained fans in the tournament the day before.

On top of that, most of her fans were female!

“One Punch Beauty! Ahhh! I’m your fan!”

Nora, who had been given a nickname for some strange reason: “???”

She raised her eyebrows and smiled at the female fan nearest to her. Her lazy and unorthodox appearance immediately made the fan scream. “Ahhhhh! She’s so suave!”

Quentin: “???”

He slowly looked behind at No. 028. He had approached her to form a team the day before because she was indeed skilled in martial arts. After all, it wasn’t easy for him to win Class A contestants with just a single punch, either.

Besides, there were ultimately only a few female contestants in the tournament. With her around, it would highlight his aura and strength in the team even further.

But why did it unexpectedly seem like she had attracted more fans than he did?

Fortunately, there was still her husband, who was pretty much invisible.

The thought had only just formed when the fans at the bottom of the ring started screaming madly again. “Ahhhh! The guy carrying the little girl is so handsome! Don’t you think that he has a sense of abstinence around him? The combination of his black clothes with the white princess dress makes them look like a little princess and her knight! He can actually bring his kid with him into the ring!”

Quentin: “!!!!”

Why hadn’t he ever thought of bringing a child with him when he fought?

His way of stealing the limelight was simply too unique!!!

He rubbed his wrists, looked back at Nora and Justin, and decided that he had to end the match as soon as possible. That was the only way he could win back the glory that belonged to him.

As the referee announced the start of the match, Quentin said coldly, “Hold the other two back. Once I finish off one of them, I’ll come over and take care of the other... Never mind, you have a child in your arms while you’re wearing a dress. The two of you can just stand behind me. I’ll take care of...”

He had only just spoken when...!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 324 - Big Sister Is On

The trio opposite them didn't give Quentin the time to speak at all. They rushed straight toward them.

Quentin frowned.

Although his love of showing off wasn't very reliable, his instinct as a martial artist was. He stepped in front of Nora and Justin at once.

Unfortunately, the other party had numbers on their side.

They actually weren't hard to beat; rather, it was because he had to defeat them one by one. Their opponents had sent their two Class C team members to go after Nora and Justin while a Class B member stuck to Quentin instead.

Justin was carrying a child, so he definitely wouldn't be able to attack.

Nora, a woman, had also only managed to make every punch a killing blow the day before by taking advantage of her opponents underestimating her. Once the two Class C contestants got rid of the two of them and joined forces with the Class B martial contestant, with three of them against Quentin alone, they might not necessarily lose!

Although Quentin had delusions of grandeur, he wasn't stupid. Otherwise, Ian wouldn't have picked him to take control of the Smiths' underground forces. After figuring it all out in an instant, with an awful look on his face, he said, "Hang in there, the two of you. I'll come over and help out as soon as I can!"

After speaking, he used all of his strength and executed his most vicious moves, taking advantage of an opening where the Class B martial artist wasn't paying attention to land a karate chop on his neck.

The Class B martial artist blacked out and fell onto the floor.

Quentin feinted and dealt another strike. After defeating his opponent in two moves, he turned around to provide reinforcements. He thought that it was finally time for him to show off his might, but he instead saw that...

The two Class C martial artists that had charged toward Nora and Justin had already collapsed outside of the ring.

Quentin: “??”

He stood there in a daze and asked in stupefaction, “What happened?”

What else could have happened? Nora and Justin had sent the two of them flying with a punch and a kick respectively, of course.

“...”

The whole place fell quiet for a moment. Then, the emcee announced, “Team Third In The World wins!”

The audience erupted into fervent cheers.

A dazed Quentin followed Nora and Justin out of the ring. As soon as they exited the ring, people swarmed toward them from every direction.

“Smithin!”

Someone called his name.

Quentin coughed, straightened his back, and looked behind him excitedly—a beautiful little girl was standing behind him and looking at him shyly.

Quentin thought that she must be a fan who wanted to confess her love to him, so he asked gently, “What’s the matter?”

The little girl raised her head and said, “Would it be convenient for you to move to the side a little? I’d like to take a picture of No. 028 and No. 820’s family of three, but you’re in the shot!”

Quentin: “???”

He turned back and looked at Nora and Justin, who were walking in front. The two of them had already been surrounded by fans and their popularity was in no way inferior to Big Brother and Big Sister's...

How unlucky!

He'd originally wanted to form a team with two weaklings to highlight how tall and mighty he was, but how come they had stolen all the limelight instead?

Quentin took a deep breath and looked at the little girl coldly. "No, it's not convenient," he said.

After saying that, he joined Nora and Justin.

Hmph.

He, Quentin Smith, was the one that Team Third In The World relied on. Otherwise, would they even be in third place?

Did those ignorant fans know who the strongest one in the team was or not?

He, Quentin Smith, was not going to move aside today.

Seeing that he simply refused to move aside no matter what, the fans continued to frantically snap away with their cell phones. Only then did Quentin finally feel a little better.

The trio reached the resting area at the side. While waiting for their next match, Quentin secretly picked up his phone and accessed the martial arts tournament discussion forum.

The tournament had set up a private website that only those attending the tournament would know of. The website was very hard for outsiders to find.

The circle was too small, so one could say that this was a culture unique to them.

A post about Team Third In The World had gained thousands of views in the forum by then.

He opened up the post, intending to see how everyone was singing praises of him... But in the end, he instead saw a photo as soon as the page loaded.

In the photo, he had originally been standing between Nora and Justin, but he had been Photoshopped away.

Nora wore a silver mask and a red tight-fitting dress.

Justin wore a black mask and a full-black outfit. In his arms was a little girl in a white princess dress, who was also wearing a silver mask.

They felt very much like a family of three.

In the comments:

‘Team Third In The World is really strong! Even when faced with a Class C opponent, One Punch Beauty still won with just one punch. Does she only know that one move?’

‘Ahhhh! If I weren’t already sure that Big Brother is resting right next door, I’d have thought that the man carrying the child was Big Brother! His physique looks so much like Big Brother’s! They are both so tall and handsome!’

Someone even asked:

‘Shouldn’t there be three people in a team? Is Team Third In The World a family of three?’

Someone kindly answered: ‘No, the last member is Smithin, but he’s not important. Your focus is off, bro.’

Quentin: “???”

How was he not important?!

Quentin turned off the phone viciously!

He looked at Justin, who was next to him, and suddenly said, “Why don’t I carry the kid for the next match?”

Only by carrying a child would one be able to steal the limelight. Why hadn’t he thought of it just now?

Justin: “?”

He raised his eyebrows, handed Cherry to him, and said, “Sure.”

With someone carrying Cherry for him, he could take the opportunity to loosen his muscles a little.

Thus, when it was time for the next match, Quentin walked in the forefront with Cherry in his arms and entered the ring, while Nora and Justin followed behind him leisurely.

Seeing how there were indeed more people looking at him, Quentin felt that he had made the right strategic decision.

The corners of his lips curled upward. Just as it was about to form a smile, voices from either side of him traveled over.

“Why is Smithin holding the child this time?”

“Maybe carrying the child prevents No. 820 from doing his thing! If he lets Smithin hold her, he would be able to use his arms!”

“You’re right! Also, doesn’t Smithin look like a bodyguard holding the child for them? That couple sure is laid-back! They don’t look like they’re here to compete at all. They’re clearly here for shopping!”

Quentin: “?”

Was it too late for him to return the child?

The corners of Quentin’s lips spasmed.

Then, several people could be heard discussing something.

“Why is their team named Third In The World?”

“It’s probably to pay tribute to Big Brother and Big Sister! Looks like their goal this time is the third place!”

“I wonder who will be able to take third place, No. 820 or No. 028?”

Quentin: “!!!”

He was the one who would!!

He was confident that apart from Big Brother and Big Sister, no one could beat him in a fight in New York! This was infuriating!

Quentin was seething. Once they reached Class F and the team automatically disbanded, he would definitely challenge No. 028 and No. 820 to a fight!

The huffy and frustrated Quentin fought ruthlessly and swiftly after that and defeated the opponents with Nora.

Their matches that day ended with them winning both. Together with Nora’s two victories from the day before, once they won another match the next day, they would advance to Class B.

Nora stretched. She was about to leave when she heard someone exclaim, “Big Sister is on! She’s going to compete!”

Chapter 325 - The Big Sister Of The Quinn School Of Martial Arts?

Big Sister?

Nora paused and exchanged a look with Justin. Then, the two of them went to the ring where Big Sister would be competing.

Quentin was already there. At the sight of the two of them, he whispered, “You guys have come, too? Are you also here to admire Big Sister’s graceful form?”

“...”

Seeing that neither of them was speaking, Quentin coughed and said, “Big Brother participated in the previous tournament and emerged as champion, so he’s automatically assigned to Class F. Big Sister didn’t, so based on the regulations, she has to start from Class A. She didn’t lose any of her matches the last few days, though, so she’ll advance to Class C once she finishes this match.”

Nora hesitated for a moment and asked, “How many days has the tournament been ongoing for?”

“Five days!”

Quentin understood what Nora meant after he answered, so he immediately said, “Big Sister is special, so they scheduled four matches a day for her. This way, she can advance as quickly as possible. Once she reaches Class F, she can just wait for the rest of the contestants to finish advancing before she competes again.”

Nora: “...”

Why wasn't she given the same treatment? On top of that, she even had to form a team with other people.

She was clearly the real Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts here!

A touch of resentment welled up in Nora. Why hadn't Quinn used any special privileges when he signed her up for the tournament?

She didn't believe that Quinn wouldn't be able to do that, given his status in the circle.

She was still thinking about it when Quentin asked, "Envious, aren't you?"

Nora nodded. "Yes, I am."

"It's pointless even if you are. Only Big Brother and Big Sister can enjoy that sort of privilege. Back then, Big Brother was also able to take part in four matches a day, so he reached Class F earlier than the others!"

"..."

Quentin patted her on the shoulder. "Don't let that discourage you, though. We, Team Third In The World, have already made a name for ourselves with just one battle. Once we enter Class F, Class E will be the lowest we can be downgraded to. When we participate in the next tournament ten years later, we'll start straight from Class E, so it'll be very convenient."

Nora: "..."

"Also," Quentin patted his chest and said, "When I come in third place at the end, everyone will envy the two of you—for having teamed up with me before."

Even with a mask in between, Nora nevertheless couldn't help but feel like light was about to overflow and spill out from the delusional young man's face that he had raised up high!

Who gave a damn about his Team Third In The World?!

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed. The match started at this point, and the big, fleshy woman entered the ring.

The whole place went into a furor right away.

“Big Sister! Big Sister!”

Everyone yelled excitedly.

“Big Sister is so burly and muscular! No wonder she's Big Sister! All those muscles on her aren't that easy to build!”

“Yeah! I'm really looking forward to Big Sister and Big Brother facing off now! Who's the stronger of the two?”

“I reckon Big Sister can bulldoze her way into Class F. I wonder what the organizers are thinking. How can they make Big Sister fight? Can't they just assign her to Class F straightaway? I wanna watch the ultimate showdown!”

“Tsk, isn't it better to watch Big Sister advance step by step to Class F instead?”

The group of people spoke enthusiastically.

Nora stroked her chin and observed the fake Big Sister. The muscles all over her body really were very solid, and really were the product of a lot of hard work and training. It was already harder for women to build muscles than men. Her body was comparable to a man's muscles, so it was indeed very amazing.

Even though she wasn't the real Big Sister, she was admirable.

While Nora was thinking about it, the Class B martial artist facing off with 'Big Sister' stepped into the ring.

He saluted her and said, “It is an honor to be able to fight with Big Sister.”

Big Sister nodded and said, “I look forward to your guidance.”

Although she was prideful, she still spoke rather politely.

Or at least, she wasn't that loathsome.

After exchanging some pleasantries, they began to fight.

The fake Big Sister did have a certain level of foundational skills. Based on her observation, she was actually using the Quinn School of Martial Arts' moves!

Nora narrowed her eyes.

After exchanging about twenty moves, the fake Big Sister won.

Fervent applause broke out from the audience at the bottom of the ring.

"Big Sister has won!"

"Isn't that very normal? It feels like there was no doubt about it from the start!"

"Is it just my illusion? Why does it feel like Big Sister is struggling a little?"

"It's because Big Sister is too fat, right? She looks clumsy, but she actually has a lot of physical strength..."

"Don't tell anyone, but I think No. 028's match was more interesting than Big Sister's..."

"I think so, too..."

"Shh, how can a newcomer like No. 028 compare with Big Sister?"

Amidst everyone's speculations, the fake Big Sister exited the ring panting, and went backstage to prepare for her next three matches.

After thinking for a while, Nora went over, too.

The door to the fake Big Sister's lounge was open, so she slipped in.

The fake Big Sister looked over. "Who's there?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 326 - Yvette?

Nora raised her brows.

The fake Big Sister's intuition was rather sharp.

She was about to speak when the fake Big Sister saw the contestant number on her wristband. She received a shock and immediately executed the highest form of salute in martial arts etiquette—she knelt on one knee and said, “Linda pays her respects to her senior!”

‘Senior’?

Nora was surprised. “Whose disciple are you?”

“My teacher is Sir Lucas.”

Lucas was the second senior disciple of the Quinn School of Martial Arts and had been taking charge of the sect's affairs all these years in her stead.

Nora pulled her up gently and said, “Get up and talk.”

The sturdy woman named Linda got up. Her big and tall form was half a head taller than even Nora, and she possessed a lot of physical strength. She was indeed practicing the Quinn School of Martial Arts' style.

The Quinn School of Martial Arts was fastidious about slow and steady training. They trained their physical strength, form, and dexterity.

On the other hand, the Irvin School of Martial Arts focused on flexibility and dynamism.

That was why Quinn had always called Irvin a devious old scumbag.

Linda didn't wait for Nora to ask but immediately explained, “The organizers of the tournament contacted Lucas and said that they wanted to get someone to impersonate you so that they can earn some money to fund the tournament. They have also talked to the Irvin School of Martial Arts about this. Big Brother has already agreed to it, so Lucas also agreed to it.”

Nora raised her brows.

Linda explained further, “The martial arts tournament is held once every ten years, but the organizers actually don’t have any more money, so they are having a lot of difficulties hosting the tournament. The person impersonating Big Brother has an easier time; he just needs to wear a mask and take photos with people and so on. On the other hand, you have to take part in the tournament, which is why Lucas sent me! This way, it can at least bluff everyone for a while, and also divert attention from you.”

Linda looked around cautiously after she spoke. Then, she looked at her and said, “I’ve already won twenty matches and advanced to Class C. Lucas praised me and said that I did pretty well, but he has also told me to slow down because I may give myself away once I advance further. Therefore, I intend to use a stomachache as an excuse to delay the matches for a few days. Alternatively, I may bow out of the tournament altogether, so as to avoid damaging your reputation.”

Nora: “...”

The corners of her lips twitched. She nodded and said, “Alright, you guys can do as you deem fit. Did your teacher tell you what I should do when I reach Class F?”

Linda smiled and replied, “Of course he did. He says that you can just outright declare your identity once you progress to the final match. After you have a good fight with the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother and win fame and merit for yourself, you can secretly leave immediately. Doing this will also avoid attracting too much attention to yourself in the early stages, and prevent people from finding out your true identity.”

“Okay, we’ll do just that, then,” said Nora.

She had kept her identity a secret only because of the words her mother had left her. She had told her not to show off before she became capable of protecting herself, lest people targeted her.

Ever since the assassin who tugged off a few strands of her hair and tried to kill her in the hospital had appeared, she had become even more convinced by her mother's words.

There was indeed a mysterious force that had been watching her all this time.

Once she shone too brightly, she might become their target.

This was also why she had immediately moved to the Smiths after they acknowledged her. After all, the Andersons were indeed too weak and powerless and didn't have any security personnel there.

The Andersons would be safer once she was gone.

As for the Smiths...

Well, she was just staying there temporarily.

While thinking about it, she left the room. As soon as she went out, she bumped into Quentin. When Quentin saw her coming out of Big Sister's room, he immediately gave her an "I understand" look. He smiled and said, "Did a certain someone secretly go to Big Sister to ask for a photo together and an autograph?"

Nora: "?"

"I get it all, I understand it all. You don't have to be embarrassed about it. Isn't it very normal for one to admire Big Sister?"

"..."

As Nora walked toward the exit, she asked, "Aren't you going home?"

Their matches today were already over, so what was he still staying here for?

Quentin replied, “Nah, I’m gonna stay here and watch Big Sister from afar.”

“...”

Nora didn’t respond to his moronic behavior. After giving Justin a heads-up, she drove straight home.

The moment she got home, she saw Old Maddy sitting at the door in a daze. He was taken aback when he saw her, and he said, “Yvette?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 327 - Are You Ryan?

Nora, who was still in the car, rolled the car window down after she saw Old Maddy. Thus, even though his whisper was very soft, she had still heard it.

‘Yvette’?

... Yvette Anderson?!

To think he knew her mother!

The thought made Nora slam on the brakes. She jumped off the car, went up to Old Maddy, and grabbed his hand. “Do you know my mother?” she asked.

The old man looked at her in bewilderment. There was a lost and confused look in his eyes.

Nora frowned and reminded him, “Yvette Anderson.”

When Old Maddy heard the name, he immediately shouted excitedly, “Yvette!”

Nora: “!!”

As expected, he did know who Yvette was.

Nora asked the security guard at the door to park the car for her. Then, she held Old Maddy’s arm and said, “Where do you live? I’ll take you back there.”

Old Maddy grinned and nodded. “Will you give me hamburgers?”

“Yes.”

“Okay!”

Old Maddy followed behind Nora, and the two went to his place of residence.

It was already dark by then, and the whole manor looked as if the sky had been covered with a black veil. For once, it wasn't foggy, and a few stars twinkled in the sky.

In a big city where lights shone so brightly, it was very hard for stars to be seen.

However, there weren't many living nearby the large manor. The lights in the few simple houses around it were also switched off at the moment, so one's field of vision stretched even further than usual.

Old Maddy led the way. He walked to a house at the furthest corner, opened the door, and switched on the lights. Only then did Nora's eyes feel a little better.

She looked around Old Maddy's house.

Unlike Old Maddy himself, the place was neat and clean. From the looks of it, it seemed that the butler's claim that the Smiths weren't abusing him was true.

Old Maddy had burns all over him, so he disliked taking baths, which made him seem very dirty. However, the sheets were changed frequently, so they were very clean. Neither was there any smell in the house.

After Nora looked around, Old Maddy sneakily took out a hamburger from the fridge and gave it to her. He said, “Eat this, Yvette...”

‘Yvette’ again...

Nora frowned and looked down at the hamburger in her hand.

While she was lost in thought, Old Maddy looked at the door warily and said, “Don't be scared! You won't die of hunger!”

Nora: "..."

She frowned, looked at the hamburger in her hand, and asked, "Where are we?"

"At home, of course!"

'At home'...

Why would they go hungry if they were at home?!

Just what kind of relationship did Old Maddy and Yvette share? Judging from his behavior, he seemed very protective of Yvette...

While she was wondering about it, Old Maddy grinned and asked, "Did you bear Ian a child, Yvette?"

Nora: "?"

Old Maddy behaved erratically, and he spoke incoherently. He said, "Ian has a daughter now!"

Nora frowned.

She suddenly stood up and asked, "Are you Ryan Smith?"

She'd had that feeling since the day before.

The lunatic in front of her was likely Ryan!

He was the president of the pugilistic world, so he had gone to the arena. Otherwise, simply based on the fact that he was mentally ill, why would he possibly go all the way to the martial arts tournament?

Old Maddy was a little taken aback when he heard the name Ryan Smith, but right after that, he curled his lips disdainfully and said, "Ryan is ugly. He's not as good-looking as Ian. Don't be with Ryan, Yvette. Besides, Ryan's IQ isn't high, either. If you have a baby with him, it'll affect your daughter's IQ!"

Nora: "..."

She was confused again.

If Old Maddy was Ryan, why would he say that he was ugly?

Moreover, he went on and on about genes, IQ, and the like, and even knew that a daughter inherited part of her IQ from her father. Was he really someone from a small town in the mountains?

Nora frowned and looked around again. However, she didn't see any substantial clues.

After all, according to the butler, when Old Maddy first came to the Smiths, he had nothing but the ragged clothes on his back.

Somewhat disappointed, she stood up and said, "I'm going now."

Old Maddy nodded.

After Nora left, Old Maddy kept feeling as though he had forgotten something, but his mind moved too slowly, and he simply couldn't recall what it was. Thus, he merely grinned and continued to eat the hamburger he was holding.

While he was eating, someone suddenly knocked on the door.

Nora pushed the door open and stood at the door. As though she had made up her mind, she slowly said "Old Maddy, why don't I treat your illness for you?"

Chapter 328 - Treating His Illness?

The next day.

When Nora went out of her bedroom with a yawn after she woke up, she saw Maureen seated in the small living room on the second floor. At the sight of her coming out of her bedroom, Maureen immediately walked over. “You’re awake, Nora?”

Nora nodded.

Maureen was obviously waiting for her. She asked, “I heard that... um... you’re thinking of treating Old Maddy’s illness?”

Nora nodded again.

Before this, she hadn’t thought that Old Maddy was very important, so she hadn’t paid him any attention. Later, she found out that he might be Ryan, but he had indeed become ill and lost his mind. He also didn’t remember much of his past anymore.

After thinking about it the previous evening, Nora decided to treat his illness.

If she cured his illness, he would be able to tell her what had happened to Ryan and her mother back then.

Of course, treating Old Maddy’s illness wasn’t going to be easy. First of all, he was a madman, so Nora would need the Smiths to constantly keep an eye on him and prevent him from running all over the place.

To be honest, if she were to keep visiting Old Maddy, she would definitely attract other people’s attention.

Therefore, she decided to simply inform the butler that she intended to treat Old Maddy’s illness. By being open with her actions, she would prevent a lot of unnecessary trouble and suspicions.

She didn't expect all the Smiths to know about it after just one night, though.

Maureen was in a fierce internal struggle. She said, "Actually, Uncle Ian had asked someone to take a look at Old Maddy's illness before. The person he had invited over was even a very professional doctor who is said to be the most well-known psychiatrist in the world, but even so, he didn't manage to cure Old Maddy. Nora, I know you're eager to prove your skills as a doctor, but I still feel that there's no need to use Old Maddy as a stepping stone..."

Maureen and Warren had immediately come together to secretly talk about it after they heard the news. Both of them were of the same opinion that Nora had possibly made the sudden decision because of her work.

She was a doctor, yet no one in New York dared to approach her for medical consultation.

That was why she had chosen someone with a disease that was hard to cure, so that she could make a name for herself, right?

Thus, Maureen had approached her straightaway. She wasn't someone who knew how to beat about the bush, so she had voiced her thoughts straightforwardly.

Nora liked her straightforward character quite a lot. This way, she didn't need to waste time guessing what exactly she was thinking. She also replied straightforwardly, "I'm not using him to make a name for myself. I really intend to cure him."

After saying that, she went down the stairs to the kitchen to look for food.

Maureen: "..."

After hearing Nora's reply, she returned to the bedroom.

Warren was lying comfortably on the recliner and basking in the sun. When he heard the door open, he asked, “How did it go? Has she given up?”

Maureen shook her head.

Warren frowned. Then, he sneered, “She sure is stubborn, isn’t she? Since she insists on doing it, then just let her do what she wants! Hmph! She doesn’t understand how impressive Uncle Ian’s medical team is, at all. There’s no way she can cure the mental illness that even they can’t do anything about!”

Maureen rolled her eyes at him.

Sure enough, Warren backpedaled and said, “But if she wants to treat his illness, then she can just go ahead. At the most, we’ll just keep a closer watch on Old Maddy in the future, and tell outsiders that he showed signs of improvement!”

What could he do if that was what his little sister insisted on doing?

Maureen laughed. “You’re really a man who says one thing but means another!”

Warren snorted. “How annoying. I already have enough things to do every day, yet I still have to clean up her mess for her! Sigh, if you meet anyone while you’re out, and if they ask about it, just tell them that it feels like his condition has greatly improved and that he, at least, doesn’t go berserk anymore. Make Old Maddy’s condition sound as serious as possible!”

“No problem!”

—

Elsewhere.

After filling up her stomach a little, Nora got ready to go to the backyard to look for Old Maddy.

Old Maddy's illness was in the brain, but it wasn't so much as something bad had formed in his brain; rather, it was a neurological problem and surgery was useless. His condition required alternative medicine instead.

She had studied his condition carefully the previous evening and had decided to use acupuncture on him.

When she was going out, she happened to run into Yvonne, who was going in. Nora retracted her gaze when they ran into each other. She was about to pass her by when Yvonne greeted her with a smile. "Are you going to the backyard, Nora?" she asked.

Nora paused and looked at her carefully.

The two of them had only just gotten into an argument the day before, yet the woman was already looking as if she wasn't bothered about it anymore. She really was a very scary person.

She curled her lips disdainfully and replied, "Yeah."

Then, without any further delay, she headed to the backyard.

Yvonne cast her eyes down and curled her lips into a mocking smile.

So, she wanted to cure Old Maddy and make a name for herself? She sure thought really highly of herself.

Yvonne would just wait and see how she makes a fool out of herself.

Chapter 329 - Acupuncture

When Nora was walking toward the secluded garden in the backyard, all the servants had already woken up.

Everyone looked at her, but before she even came near, they hastily went away.

Two of them were currently whispering to each other.

“Have you heard? Ms. Nora is planning to treat Old Maddy’s illness!”

“Does she think she can cure him when the old sir had already asked one of the most professional doctors to treat Old Maddy’s illness back then, and even he couldn’t do anything about it? I know she just came to the Smiths, and wants to accomplish something so that people wouldn’t look down on her, but isn’t this a little too... you know?”

“Let’s hurry up and leave, in case she sees something wrong with our health and ends up wanting to treat our illnesses, too. If that happens, we’ll end up offending her if we refuse. Yet if we don’t, are we really going to be her guinea pigs?”

“Sigh, Old Maddy is so pitiful. He has already gone mad, yet he has to suffer under her hands...”

Someone asked hesitantly, “But Ms. Nora looks very determined to me. What if she’s really trying to cure him?”

“Ms. Nora is just a surgeon, and she isn’t even well-known. How would she possibly know how to treat mental illnesses? Even professional psychiatrists couldn’t cure him...”

“...”

The group of people whispered among themselves, but Nora wasn't bothered at all. She entered Old Maddy's house.

Old Maddy was eating a hamburger.

The butler, who knew she was coming, was also standing next to him at the moment. He looked at Nora with a complicated look on his face.

When Nora had approached him the night before and told him that she wanted to treat Old Maddy's illness, the butler had already been disapproving of her decision.

Old Maddy was also human. Although he had gone mad, he was a living human being. How could people be allowed to toy with his life so casually?

He had immediately spoken to Joel about it, but unexpectedly, Joel had actually agreed to it after a short moment of hesitation.

As such, the butler could only come over and keep an eye on things.

Although Old Maddy was crazy, out of everyone living at the Smiths' residence, it was the butler who had interacted with him the most all these years. Old Maddy also got along with him the best, so he didn't want Old Maddy to suffer.

In any case, Old Maddy was still a living human being.

While he was thinking about it, he saw Nora open a box that she had brought with her. Inside the box were long thin needles.

The butler's pupils shrank from shock.

"Ms. Nora, those are...?" he asked.

While searching for a suitable needle in the box, Nora answered, "Acupuncture needles."

The butler: "..."

The corners of his lips spasmed as he asked, “Aren’t you a surgeon?”

“Yeah,” Nora answered casually.

She looked at Old Maddy and casually looked around for something. In the end, she pressed about on his head, found a suitable spot, and pierced his head with the long thin needle.

The sight made the butler’s hair stand on end!

The sight of such a long needle fully entering Old Maddy’s head was simply terrifying, especially when the needle was slowly going deeper and deeper. The butler felt as if even his breathing had stopped. He looked at Old Maddy in disbelief but saw that he had stopped eating his hamburger and was about to lift his head hesitantly.

Nora said, “Don’t move.”

Old Maddy was very obedient, and he immediately became still.

After the needle fully entered Old Maddy’s head, Nora gripped the top end of the needle and twisted it a little. Then, she pulled it out.

The whole process filled the butler with fear and apprehension. He couldn’t help but feel like the needle was going to pierce right through Old Maddy’s head.

Outside:

Busybodies were secretly observing what was going on in the room.

Florence had also come after she heard the rumor. When she saw what Nora was doing, she was so frightened that she patted her own chest and said, “Can you really do it or not, Ms. Nora?! Don’t you harm someone else’s life! Even though Old Maddy is mentally ill, the old sir has personally given him permission to live here! Don’t you dare think that there’s no one protecting him!”

Florence wasn't trying to make trouble this time. Rather, she was purely trying to protect Ian.

As long as it was about someone that Ian valued, Florence would uphold Ian's orders to the very end!

This was also one of the reasons why Joel hadn't taken away her position as the chief housekeeper after he took over the Smiths.

Sometimes, loyalty mattered more than ability.

Nora paid her no heed. Everyone else looked at Old Maddy, only to see him look at the needle in Nora's hand hesitantly.

The butler asked nervously, "How do you feel, Old Maddy?"

The confusion in Old Maddy's eyes had lessened a little. He touched his head and frowned, seemingly pondering about something.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 330 - Nora And No.028

The butler immediately became excited when he saw his reaction.

Although everyone had heard of acupuncture, they were still shocked and astonished when they actually saw it for themselves. After all, few people practiced it. Also, the needle was so long that it felt like it could penetrate right through someone's entire brain.

That was why they were so shocked by Nora's actions.

However, when the butler saw that Old Maddy's condition really did seem to have improved, he swallowed again and asked, "How do you feel?"

Old Maddy took a bite of the hamburger and slowly said, "I wanna sleep."

Pretty much right after he said that, his grip loosened and the hamburger dropped onto the floor. The man also lay down on the bed.

He had fallen asleep.

This was an aftereffect of acupuncture and was very normal.

With that in mind, Nora picked up the needle and pierced him with it another two times.

Alternative medicine took effect very slowly. Given the extent of Old Maddy's illness, if she wanted to stimulate his nerves, it would take at least half a month before significant effects showed.

This was just the first day of treatment, so it wasn't suitable to go too far.

Nora put the needles away after piercing him with them thrice.

Next to her, the butler, who saw Old Maddy fall asleep, couldn't help but ask, "Ms. Nora, what's the matter with him?"

Nora replied, “He’s alright. He’ll be fine after he wakes up.”

She stood up straight and stretched.

To other people, all she did was just jab Old Maddy with a needle thrice.

However, she was the only one who knew just how tiring the process was. Not only was a high degree of concentration required, but she also had to be accurate in locating the acupoints.

Old Maddy’s head was covered in burns, which made the acupoints really hard to find.

After piercing the needles into his head, she also had to control the needle’s force and depth. All of these were factors that she had to respond to and adjust on-site.

She yawned and left, planning to go to the tournament.

The two matches today were still as boring as ever.

All of Nora, Justin, and Quentin’s opponents were Class B and Class C martial artists, so they easily gave them a thrashing and bulldozed their way.

There was no doubt about their victory. After winning the two matches, Nora and Justin walked out of the venue with Cherry in the latter’s arms.

Quentin followed behind them. As they walked, he asked, “Who exactly are you guys? What are you taking part in the tournament for? There aren’t that many married couples in New York who are as strong as the two of you, and you even have a daughter...”

Quentin didn’t think that they might be Nora and Justin at all.

Nora needed his protection, so she was likely at home at the moment.

As for Justin, he was the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother. Even though not many knew about it, there were still quite a few people who were aware of it. He should be in the lounge waiting to take photos with people at the moment!

Quentin didn't think that it was beneath Justin for him to take photos with people, either. After all, even a genius like him craved success and basking in the limelight.

After the last few matches, he had also gained fans of his own. Having people look for him to take photos with him made him feel as if he was on cloud nine.

Besides, while Justin had a son, he didn't have a daughter!

Nora and Justin exchanged a look and ignored Quentin.

Nora asked Justin, "Where are you going?"

"Home, I guess. What about you?"

"Home, too."

Justin took the opportunity to ask, "Let's have dinner together before we go back?"

"Nah," Nora replied casually, "We can't abandon the other one."

Pete was still at home. Never mind that the three of them didn't bring him along when they came here every day to have fun, but if they also dined together without him, they would be going too far.

Although Justin wanted very much to spend more time with Nora, he could only abandon the idea when he heard her reply.

The two chatted and went to the car park while ignoring Quentin.

Quentin: "..."

—

Nora went home. When she reached the Smith manor's entrance in her car, she happened to bump into Quentin, who had been extremely bored at the arena.

At the sight of her returning home from outside, Quentin frowned and stopped behind Nora silently. He said, "Didn't I tell you not to go out if there's nothing important? I'm busy lately, so I don't have the time to follow you around."

Nora: "?"

Quentin sighed. "If you had half of No. 028's skill, I wouldn't have to do this for you anymore. You've taken up all my time, so I don't have any time to practice building rapport with No. 028 at all."

Nora: "???"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 331 - Are You Taking Apprentices?

Nora was terribly amused. It seemed like the right time to have a good chat with the young man, and let him know how strong she was.

She said calmly, “You don’t have to follow me around.”

Then, without waiting for Quentin’s response, she went up the stairs.

Quentin: “...”

He stared angrily after Nora. He was about to say something mean when, for some reason, he suddenly found her kinda familiar to the eye.

Although she was wearing trousers whereas No. 028 was always in either a long black or red dress, the two of them actually looked somewhat similar from the back.

He must be mistaken.

No. 028 was such a frank and straightforward person. How could she possibly be Nora?

Just like how No. 820’s physique was similar to Big Brother’s, there were a ton of people in the world with similar body builds!

Quentin shook his head and dispelled the thought. At this point, someone walked over from a short distance away, giving Quentin such a shock that he hurriedly hid into the dark.

He had become so accustomed to being in the limelight at the underground arena that he had actually forgotten to hide, causing himself to almost expose his existence to the Smiths’ servants.

After Nora entered the living room, she had pretty much rid herself of Quentin. He would never openly show up in front of others.

Pete was already home and was currently playing blocks with Mia.

Mia spoke softly, so even though Pete felt that what she was playing with was very boring, he nevertheless accompanied her with a frown.

The simple-minded Brandon circled around the two. He said, “Mia, why are you so stupid?! You can’t do that there... Ah! It collapsed!”

Mia pouted and stared at Brandon in silence.

Brandon panicked. “Hey, don’t cry. Little crybaby, please don’t cry. I won’t touch your things anymore, okay?”

Pete heaved a sigh. He slowly bent over and easily arranged Mia’s blocks back into the previous state for her.

Mia cheered up and said, “Thank you, Cherry.”

Pete replied stoically and habitually, “You’re welcome... yeah.”

Nora: “...”

Why was her son talking so weirdly? Cough.

While she was thinking about it, Pete, who seemingly sensed her looking at him, looked over. The little boy’s dark eyes lit up at once and he called out, “Mommy.”

He sounded a bit like he was wheedling.

Nora raised her eyebrows, immediately realizing that the little fellow must have something to ask of her. She nodded and went up the stairs.

When she entered the bedroom on the upper floor and looked behind her, sure enough, she saw Pete closing the door.

Nora sat on the sofa casually. “What’s the matter?”

Pete walked up to her at a snail’s pace. The hesitant boy observed her facial expression again and again before he finally asked, “Mommy, can you ask God-mom to teach Mia how to dance?”

Nora was surprised. “You want Tanya to teach Mia how to dance?”

“Yeah.”

Pete frowned and said, “Mia likes dancing very much. Whenever we have dance classes, she always hides outside the door and secretly learns how to dance together with us. God-mom has already spotted her several times, but she just doesn’t take her as a student.”

Nora licked her lips. “Okay, I’ll ask her about it.”

“Okay.” Pete smiled and said, “I’ll go out and play with Mia.”

“Go ahead.”

After Pete left, Nora decided to call Tanya. However, just as she was about to do so, she instead received a video call from Tanya herself.

As soon as she picked up, she saw Tanya’s face taking up the entire screen. Her loud voice also rang out. “Little Nora, do you miss me?”

Nora: “...”

“Your mother-in-law is asking you to come over and visit when you’re free. Hasn’t it been really long since you last came over to my place?” Tanya continued to holler, her voice so loud that it made Nora’s temples throb.

Nora kept quiet for a while. Then, she suddenly asked, “How have you been lately?”

At the mention of the topic, Tanya heaved a huge sigh and said, “I found someone with great potential for dancing recently. She’s even the first person I’ve developed an interest in, apart from Cherry. Do you think I should take her as an apprentice?”

Tanya propped her chin on her hand. She looked like she was in a dilemma as she said, “But I don’t really get along with her parents. On the one hand, I really want to take her as an apprentice, but on the other, I also want to stay away from her. I’m so troubled about this...”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 332 - Old Maddys Condition

This was exactly the reason why Nora had wanted to call her.

She would never give her close friend trouble just because of her son's request, of course. After all, Joel had Mia with someone else.

She could tell that Mia had great potential for dancing, and she also knew that Tanya had been searching for a successor all these years.

After she had reached a certain level in her dancing and started her own dance brand, it was simply too difficult for her to find a suitable successor.

Although Nora hadn't had much contact with Mia, she could tell that she was a kind little girl.

That was why she had decided to bring it up.

Tanya must be referring to Mia, right?

She hesitated for a moment before she asked, "How do you feel about it?"

Tanya bit her lip and sighed. She replied, "I don't know what to do, either. She likes dancing very much. Whenever I hold dance classes, she would secretly come over and learn, but I pretend not to know anything about it. Sometimes, when I see her dancing by herself without my guidance, I find myself somewhat in a daze as if I'm looking at myself when I was younger..."

She had once walked past an area where few people went after class. There, she had seen Mia wearing a white princess dress tiptoeing, her form lithe and graceful.

Mia was born with a small frame. Like Tanya, the girl also had a tall and thin body shape.

It was a pity for someone with a body build like hers not to dance.

She cherished talent, but whenever she thought of Mia's mother, she couldn't help but feel that she couldn't afford to mess with them.

The more Tanya thought about it, the more fed up she became. "Forget it, I'll just wait and see for a little longer!"

Nora stared at her. Suddenly, she said, "Sometimes, if you wait and see, the opportunity may pass you by."

Tanya was satisfied with Mia for sure. Otherwise, she wouldn't have been so troubled and said so much to her. She had always been a direct and straightforward person, able to go with the flow.

Till now, Nora had never seen Tanya unable to let go of anything.

The fact that she was in such an internal struggle about Mia went to show just how much Tanya liked Mia.

To be honest, Tanya had made up her mind a long time ago to teach Mia dancing. She was just missing that last push.

Therefore, when Nora said that, after keeping quiet for a while, Tanya suddenly said, "You're right. I'll start teaching her tomorrow! Or at least, I'll let her join the dance class!"

She won't take her as an apprentice first. She would just teach her like she was just a normal student for now!

Seeing that the troubled look on her had disappeared, Nora nodded. "That works."

After the two chatted a little more, Tanya finally hung up.

Nora didn't tell Pete and Mia about it. Taking Mia as a student and teaching her how to dance was Tanya's decision, and had nothing to do with her. She didn't need to go to the children and tell them about it to gain favors.

The day passed quickly.

Early next morning, Nora got out of bed and went to perform acupuncture on Old Maddy again.

Barring any accidents, she would be visiting Old Maddy and treating his illness for the next half a month.

Unexpectedly, though, as soon as she reached the small house in the backyard, she saw the butler standing outside the house in a dilemma. At the sight of her, he immediately panicked and said, "Ms. Nora, Old Maddy is still unconscious. Surely nothing has gone wrong, right?"

The fact that he was still unconscious... showed that his health had suffered a lot and that he had been in a highly tense mental state over the years. Thus, after she had performed acupuncture on him, thereby allowing him to relax, he had fallen into a deep sleep.

Nora entered the house and checked Old Maddy's pulse.

The butler watched them from the side.

The sight of Ms. Nora checking Old Maddy's pulse like an alternative medicine practitioner surprised him. After all, alternative medicine practitioners were generally more advanced in age. Could someone as young as her... really do it?

The butler once again questioned Nora's medical skills.

This was especially because, since the day before, Old Maddy had only woken up once halfway because of hunger. After eating a little something, he had fallen asleep again.

Surely Ms. Nora's medical treatment wouldn't really cause Old Maddy's death, right?

While he was thinking about it, he saw Nora brandish the extra-long needle and stick it into Old Maddy's head again. A few jabs later, Nora got onto her feet and said, "He's fine. He'll recover after he sleeps for a few more days."

Then, she turned and left.

The butler: "..."

Was there anyone who slept for 23.5 hours out of 24 a day?!

—

While walking back to the main house after leaving Old Maddy's residence, Nora received a call from Lily. Lily said, "I've received the DNA sample you sent. I'll start the test now. The results will be out in eight hours."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 333 - Provocation

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Eight hours?

Nora glanced behind her at Old Maddy's residence and nodded. "Okay," she said.

After hanging up, she went out and drove to the underground arena. Her only task during this period of time was to advance to Class F as quickly as possible so that she could spar with Big Brother.

As usual, she changed into the red tight-fitting dress in the car. Then, she entered the underground arena.

As soon as she went in, she heard people deep in discussion next to her.

"Who do you think will be stronger this year? Big Brother or Big Sister?"

"Both of them are very strong. It's just that Big Brother participated in the last martial arts tournament, so he has already displayed his strength for all to see, whereas Big Sister didn't."

"She's still amazing even if she's never participated in it before. Big Sister is of equal repute as Big Brother."

"That's right. Also, have you guys seen Big Sister's first few matches? I wonder just how exciting the final match will be!"

"I did, I did! Compared to Big Sister, Big Brother's build is a little too weak!"

"Hahaha! When the time comes for them to compete, will Big Sister hold Big Brother down just by sitting on him?"

“...”

Amidst comments like theirs, a voice traveled over. “All of you are such good-for-nothings. How could the champion possibly emerge only from those two sects?”

The person’s words took everyone who was talking by surprise.

Even Nora, who was about to pass by them, stopped and looked at the person speaking.

The person who had spoken was from a small four-man team. None of them had masks on, and they were wearing clothes specific to a certain sect.

Those clothes...

“You guys are from Benevolence Hall?”

Benevolence Hall was a martial arts sect.

It was also a sect that someone had established out of the blue in recent years. This was their first time participating in the martial arts tournament, so people weren’t very optimistic about them.

Someone laughed and said, “Who else could it be, if not Big Sister or Big Brother? Well, certainly not someone from the Benevolence Hall, right?”

The person who had spoken just now nodded. He puffed his chest out and sneered, “That’s right. Even though it hasn’t been long since the Benevolence Hall was established, our first senior disciple, Victor, can crush Big Brother and Big Sister for sure!”

The man laughed. “Victor? Who the hell is that? Why haven’t I heard of him before?”

The others echoed him. They asked, “The name Benevolence Hall sounds so weak. Whose disciples are you guys?”

The Benevolence Hall disciples laughed and replied, “Our trainer’s name will scare you to death! He’s the internationally renowned boxing champion, Abigail!”

Abigail was a strong and muscular African man.

He was the champion of the previous year’s international boxing competition. When he won, he had said on stage that he would love to have the opportunity to witness the level of martial arts in the States.

In particular, he held great interest in the Quinn School of Martial Arts, which was famous for its training in physical strength. He had even questioned why the Quinn School of Martial Arts hadn’t sent anyone to participate in the boxing competition and wondered if it was because they were afraid of being embarrassed if they lost the match. If so, then he would have to come over and personally challenge them to a duel.

Quinn had been outraged when the news reached him.

He had raved and ranted about him for three days straight in the training gym and said that his was an internal style of martial arts that was occupied with spiritual and mental aspects. How could it possibly be the same as that lout’s style of martial arts?!

Who knew just how that devious old Irvin might be laughing at him behind his back because of this?!

Little did they expect that the sect with a name as elegant as the Benevolence Hall was actually established by Abigail, though? On top of that, he had really come to the States!

While a frowning Nora was musing over this, a random member of the audience had already curled his lips disdainfully and scoffed, “What’s the big deal about a boxing champion? Is he even comparable to the martial artists in the States? The martial artists here are very powerful! We’ll beat you guys up no matter how many people you throw at us! We’ll knock all your teeth out, and beat you up so bad that even your mom won’t recognize you!”

Victor was a big and tall man. He had a sullen look on his face at the moment. When he heard what the man said, he sneered, “Then get Big Brother or Big Sister to come out here and fight with me.”

The members of the audience immediately retorted, “Oh my, do you think they’ll fight you just because you say so? Big Brother and Big Sister are very busy people. Who would have that much time to deal with you? Why should Big Brother and Big Sister show you that much courtesy when everyone wants to challenge the two of them to make a name for themselves?”

“Exactly! Why should they show you that much courtesy?!”

Victor frowned at what they said.. Before he could say anything, the people behind him shouted, “Tsk, as if they are that awesome. If they are that great, then why don’t they come and teach us a lesson? I bet they don’t even live up to their reputations!”

Chapter 334 - No Virtue

The others clenched their fists.

Irvin School of Martial Arts and Quinn School of Martial Arts had always been respected in the pugilistic world, especially in the past few years. In peaceful times, the pugilistic world had weakened and everyone had returned to normal.

Irvin School of Martial Arts and Quinn School of Martial Arts had instead become a form of spiritual sustenance for martial artists.

Although there had been people who had questioned Big Brother and Big Sister's strength, Irvin School of Martial Arts's Big Brother had won the championship at the age of 15 with an absolute advantage 10 years ago, silencing everyone.

Everyone was obsessed with Big Brother and Big Sister. This was also the reason why so many people asked to take a photo with them at the martial arts seminar.

Now, Victor had provoked the two of them right away, causing everyone to glare angrily at them.

“What are you doing?”

The person behind Victor said, “If you have the ability, get Big Brother or Big Sister to come out and fight openly. Otherwise, if you cause trouble and provoke us here, you'll be chased out of the martial arts competition!”

The martial arts competition was only held to give the martial artists a sense of belonging. It was not to select the real champion but to give all the martial artists a goal.

If there was no martial arts competition, the sects would probably not want to practice martial arts anymore. They would only want to accumulate wealth and strengthen their bodies.

Therefore, there was a rule in the martial arts competition that all members were restricted from provoking or attacking in private. Once they were discovered, the person who attacked would be eliminated.

When those people heard this, they did not dare to move.

Victor glanced at them and clearly felt that it was a little boring. He turned around and walked towards the entrance.

Nora stood there and happened to block the intersection.

Seeing that Victor was getting closer and closer, Nora retracted her gaze and stepped into the martial arts competition first.

Nora, Justin, and Quentin met up. The three people, who were playing Class C today, did so effortlessly. After the match, the three of them sat on the sofa and waited for the next match. Suddenly, a bloodied and deformed person was carried down from a certain ring.

Someone carried a stretcher and walked past Nora and the other two.

There would definitely be injuries in the arena, so Nora did not notice it at first.

After a while, someone got off the stage and walked toward the food section. As he walked, everyone in the martial arts competition venue looked at him with resentment in their eyes.

“Victor.”

Suddenly, someone shouted.

Victor stopped in his tracks and looked over. He saw someone from Quinn School of Martial Arts walking over. “Although this is a martial arts competition, it’s just a competition between the various sects. There’s no need to fight so hard, right?”

As soon as he said this, Victor sneered. “Oh? In boxing competitions, the opponent has to be knocked unconscious. I didn’t know that New York loved peace so much.”

His words were filled with mockery. “No wonder all the sects are like this now.”

The disciple from Quinn School of Martial Arts was stunned by his words, but he still said politely, “That’s not what I meant...”

Victor interrupted him again. “Then what do you mean? Are you blaming me for being too ruthless? Or should there be no casualties on the competition grounds?”

The disciple choked again. “No, casualties are inevitable. But you were too ruthless just now. The other party had already admitted defeat, so why were you still fighting? His life will be ruined if he continues like this!”

Victor sneered. “Oh, what does it have to do with me? Did I force him to participate in the martial arts competition?”

The disciple was speechless.

Every word that Victor said was aimed at the martial arts competition. His words held his disdain for the martial arts competition.

Everyone clenched their fists.

Victor swept the surroundings with his gaze and sneered. “In my opinion, the martial competition is the time to fight for the honor of the sect. If you can’t afford to play, then you should withdraw from the competition!”

Chapter 335 - Pervert

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Victor was very domineering.

With that, he walked straight to the food section with a vicious look on his face.

The disciple of Quinn School of Martial Arts was stunned by his aura.

He took a deep breath and finally calmed down. He pointed at him angrily and scolded, “What a petty person! In the next match, you will be facing Quinn School of Martial Arts’s Class D people! I’ll wait for you to say this again!”

Quinn School of Martial Arts?

Victor paused in his footsteps and smiled.

However, he did not say anything. Instead, he picked up the beverage beside him and drank it.

The group quickly dispersed.

The people around them disliked the four people from Benevolence Hall very much. The four of them did not mind and found a place to sit and rest very freely.

Nora lowered her eyes. When her fingers touched the sofa gently, Cherry’s voice was heard. “Mommy, Daddy, can the Class D people teach him a lesson?”

Before Nora and Justin could say anything, Quentin sneered. “Yes.”

Nora raised her eyebrows and looked at him.

Quentin pursed his lips in disdain. “I know this person.”

He rolled his eyes. “There are a few branches of the dark forces in New York. Two years ago, this person was one of Scarface’s subordinates. His name is Victor. Back then, he liked to gamble and was idling around all day. Later on, he separated from Scarface and the others and joined Benevolence Hall.”

Nora asked curiously, “Does Benevolence Hall accept such people?”

Logically speaking, the recruitment of people in a martial arts club depended on their age.

No matter how one looked at it, Victor was already 27 or 28 years old. He was already 25 or 26 years old two years ago. Such a person’s bones had already matured, so it was useless to practice anything else.

Why would Benevolence Hall take him in as a disciple?

While thinking, Quentin sneered. “What Benevolence Hall? Do you think anyone really joined it? Those four people are all hooligans. The kind who have nothing better to do.”

Nora was curious. “Then are they very skilled?”

Quentin was even more disdainful. “How is that possible? Their skills aren’t good, they’re just ruthless. I guess the Class C fighter was too careless.”

If he was weak, why would he say such harsh words?

Nora felt that Quentin’s words were too one-sided.

Seeing that Victor was on stage again and preparing for the next competition, Nora suddenly stood up. “Let’s go over and take a look.”

She did not understand why she was interested in such a scum.

After the three of them walked over, they saw a Class D player from Quinn School of Martial Arts already standing on the stage. Nora knew this person. He was a disciple of the same generation as her. His name was Randy.

He was very skilled.

Furthermore, because he was in Quinn School of Martial Arts all year round, he did not hide his identity.

Obviously, Quentin also knew him. “So Victor is going up against Randy this time? There will definitely be no problem.”

With that, he shouted, “Randy, beat him up!”

He turned around. The others who had just witnessed Victor beating someone up also began to shout, “Beat him up! Randy will definitely win!”

Randy raised his hand. After Victor went on stage, he cupped his hands and said, “I apologize in advance!”

With that, he raised his fist and punched Victor quickly and hatefully!

“Yes!”

The surrounding audience cried out. They all felt that this punch was steady and fast. Victor could not dodge it no matter what. However, just as the fist was about to reach his face, Victor suddenly turned to the side to dodge and kicked Randy in the stomach!

“Wow!”

The sudden turn of events shocked the entire scene.

Not to mention the others, even Quentin frowned. “How is this possible?!”

Nora looked at him.

Quentin was staring at the stage in shock. “This Victor was still a little hooligan two years ago. I could have beaten him with one hand, but he attacked too quickly just now! This doesn’t look like he has learned martial arts for just two years! No matter how talented he is, what can he learn in two years?”

Quentin asked himself, even if it was him, his speed could only be this fast! However, he had studied hard and practiced martial arts since he was young.

Quentin exclaimed, “He can’t be considered a genius, right? He’s simply a freak!”

Nora, who had learned all the techniques in the Quinn School of Martial Arts in two years: ?

Chapter 336 - The Big Sister Of The Quinn School Of Martial Arts!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora did not say anything and continued to watch the competition on the stage.

Quentin's nagging kept ringing in her ears.

"F*ck! He can dodge such a trick? Not only has his speed increased, but his strength has also increased a lot!"

"I think Randy is definitely going to lose!"

"I even bullied this kid before. Why didn't I feel that he was so strong? That's not right. Logically speaking, if he had talent in martial arts, he should have shown it two years ago!"

Quentin had been living in the dark all along and knew these forces very well.

He definitely knew where a powerful little hooligan came from in New York.

Looking at Victor's current state, it was obvious that his ability was on par with his. However, it had to be known that among the seven boys of the Smith generation, Ian had only chosen him because he was naturally suited to practicing martial arts!

But he had been practicing for so many years, and someone else had used just two years to catch up?

Quentin was indignant!

“Randy, defeat him!”

Quentin led the surrounding audience and shouted.

Unfortunately, Randy was not Victor’s match. He was defeated in less than five minutes!

Randy fell onto the stage. His entire body hurt so much that he could not stand up. He stretched out his hand and planned to say, “I admit...”

Before he could say the word “defeat,” Victor took a step forward and kicked him in the abdomen, causing him to roll a few times on the ground.

Randy spat out a mouthful of blood from the pain.

Someone beside him shouted, “Victor, what are you doing? Randy has already admitted defeat!”

Victor stood on stage and grinned. “Is that so? Why didn’t I hear that? Did he say anything?”

“...”

Randy did not finish his sentence!

Victor looked at Randy. “Did you admit defeat?”

Randy wanted to say something, but when he opened his mouth, he spat out another mouthful of blood. Victor spread out his hands. “Did you see that? He didn’t say anything at all. That means the competition will continue.”

With that, he rushed in front of Randy and kicked him again. This time, Randy slammed into the railing at the edge.

Being blocked by the railing, Randy did not fall off the stage.

If he fell off the stage, the competition would end.

However, he did not. It only made his entire body hurt even more. He opened his mouth and coughed up blood. He could not speak at all. He raised his hand, intending to surrender. However, just as he stretched his trembling hand out, Victor grabbed it and pulled him hard.

Randy was thrown into the middle of the ring again!

Victor flexed his wrist and slowly walked in front of Randy. “What a tough nut. Since you’re so tough, don’t blame me for being rude!”

With that, he extended his leg and stepped on Randy’s raised hand! Then, he crushed it!

Randy cried out in pain and fainted.

“Enough! He lost! Referee!”

As everyone shouted, the referee walked over. “Randy has already fainted. You won. Let him go...”

Victor raised his eyebrows. “Who said he fainted?”

As soon as he finished speaking, he exerted more force with his feet.

The fingers were connected to the heart. Randy had actually woken up from the pain. His entire body was trembling, and he could no longer speak or use any strength.

“Referee, look. He’s still awake. He must still want to fight me.”

Victor said ruthlessly.

The referee was speechless.

This Victor had captured all the loopholes in the competition.

Randy was a disciple of the Quinn School of Martial Arts. Nora narrowed her eyes and revealed a fierce look.

She was about to attack when a voice sounded. “Stop!”

With this voice, the crowd automatically moved aside. Linda, who had been pretending to be her, rushed out. When she saw the stage, she frowned. “Are you challenging Quinn School of Martial Arts?”

Victor lowered his eyes. “So it’s Big Sister. Why? Do you want to fight me on his behalf? Sure. But do you dare?”

Linda choked on her words.

Would she dare?

On stage, Randy was Linda’s martial uncle! He was more powerful than her!

Wouldn’t it be even more embarrassing for the Quinn School of Martial Arts if she went on stage?

However, Victor was still provoking her. “Tsk, I think Quinn School of Martial Arts’s Big Sister is just an embroidered pillow, right? You don’t even dare to do this?”

Chapter 337 - Going On Stage

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

His words angered everyone.

Someone shouted, “Big Sister, teach him a lesson!”

The others immediately echoed, “That’s right, Big Sister. Teach him a lesson! Let him know how powerful Quinn School of Martial Arts is!”

“I think he doesn’t know the immensity of heaven and earth! Big Sister, you must help Randy take revenge!”

“Big Sister, even if you beat him up until he’s looking for his teeth all over the ground, we won’t think that Quinn School of Martial Arts is bullying him! He’s too arrogant. He’s simply too much!”

“Who do the people of Benevolence Hall think they are? How dare they tease Quinn School of Martial Arts?”

“...”

Quentin was also furious and anxious by the side. He shouted anxiously, “Big Sister, attack! Let him know how powerful Quinn School of Martial Arts is!”

Linda, who was pretending to be Big Sister: “...”

She looked anxiously at the crowd, not knowing what to do.

At this time, she would lose face if she went on stage. But if she did not go on stage, it would make people feel that Quinn School of Martial Arts was afraid.

For a moment, she was in a dilemma.

However, Victor was still sneering. “What? Big Sister, you still don’t dare to come up?”

Quentin pranced about. “Why isn’t Big Sister on stage yet? If I was a member of the Quinn School of Martial Arts, I would have gone up and taught him a lesson!”

The people from the Quinn School of Martial Arts had been bullied. Only when their own people went on stage could they be considered to have slapped the faces of the bullies. Otherwise, what would happen if word got out?

However, Randy was ranked in the top five of Quinn School of Martial Arts. Even so, he had lost. The rest of the people from Quinn School of Martial Arts did not dare to go on stage and embarrass themselves.

Nora narrowed her eyes and stared at the ring.

She took a step forward, but her arm was suddenly grabbed.

She turned around and saw Justin staring at her. “He’s doing it on purpose.”

Nora’s eyes darkened when she heard those words.

Yes.

She had also felt it earlier.

From the moment Victor entered, he had been constantly challenging the dignity of the Big Sister of Quinn School of Martial Arts. He had found someone from the Quinn School of Martial Arts to fight, and he was so vicious as to make ruthless remarks on the stage.

All of this proved that he had done it on purpose. His goal was to anger Big Sister into coming out.

She was aware of it...

However...

Nora looked at the stage again.

Linda's face was already steely with anger. She clenched her fists tightly and could not say a word.

At first, the people from Quinn School of Martial Arts all shouted for revenge. However, when they saw that Linda was not moving and that no one else was going on stage, their auras began to weaken.

If she did not make a move, it would probably be difficult for the people of Quinn School of Martial Arts to raise their heads in the future.

Nora took a deep breath and suddenly said, "I'll fight you."

As soon as these calm words were spoken, the surroundings instantly fell silent.

Everyone looked at Nora, who was wearing a silver mask.

Victor frowned and looked at her in confusion.

Quentin, who was filled with righteous indignation and wanted Big Sister to make a move, heard this and suddenly turned back to look at Nora in disbelief.

Then, he lowered his voice and said, "What are you doing? You don't need to show off at this time, this person is very strong!"

Nora ignored him and went on stage step by step.

Someone had already made way for her.

When Linda saw Nora, she heaved a deep sigh of relief.

After Nora stood on stage, Victor said, "028, this is between me and Quinn School of Martial Arts. It has nothing to do with you."

Nora lowered her eyes and said calmly, "I'm also a member of Quinn School of Martial Arts. How could I have nothing to do with this?"

Everyone was shocked by her words.

“So she’s from Quinn School of Martial Arts!”

“No wonder she’s so powerful!”

However, after frowning, Victor sneered. “Among women, I only treat Big Sister as an opponent. I advise you to hurry down and not embarrass yourself.”

Nora stretched out her fist. “Is Big Sister someone you can compete with just because you want to? You have to get past me first.”

Victor stared at her with a dark gaze. After examining Nora from head to toe, he said coldly, “Alright. Since you want to die, I’ll fulfill your wish! Don’t think that I’ll be merciful just because you’re a woman!”

After saying that, he did not give Nora any time to react.. Without saying anything else, he rushed over and wanted to knock her down.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 338 - Admit Defeat?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Victor did not want to waste too much time and wanted to end this quickly.

Therefore, he gathered all his strength in this punch. He did not care that the other party was a woman at all, nor did he have any intention of being gentle toward her.

The woman in front of him could still dodge with her thin body.

However, 028 did not dodge. She even stretched out her hand to block his punch!

“You’re really courting death!”

As Victor thought this, he sneered.

Their faction walked the path of strength. As the disciple of the boxing champion, he was definitely the strongest in terms of strength. This was also the reason why he had provoked Quinn School of Martial Arts. After all, Irvin School of Martial Arts’s movement techniques were agile, so he might not necessarily be able to compare.

However, Quinn School of Martial Arts fought with real strength.

But a woman was competing in strength with him?

Ha.

As Victor thought this, he increased his speed. The impact of his body and the strength he had originally accumulated made this punch reach the imposing aura of a mountain.

Those who were standing a little closer could feel the murderous intent in his fists. They looked at Nora worriedly.

Although Nora had won with one punch in the first few matches, they were still worried for her now.

The next moment, however...

The two fists had already collided in the air!

Bam!

When the heavy force hit each other, just hearing it made one feel like their bones were about to break.

Quentin could not help but frown. His mind was even beginning to wonder which hospital in New York had the best surgical skills. He could now help 028 reconnect her bones.

However, when he looked over, he saw the two standing there with their fists still clenched...

However, Nora's eyes under the silver mask did not change much. Instead, Victor's face was filled with surprise and hesitation. He stared at the two touching fists in disbelief.

10 seconds later, Victor's leg went soft and he took two steps back. His clenched hand had already drooped down weakly. It was obvious that he had broken a bone.

He stared at his hand in shock and looked at Nora again.

However, the woman, who had not taken the initiative all this while, suddenly rushed over. Her lips curled into a cold smile as she stretched out her slender and fair legs...

Everyone only saw Nora stretch out her leg. Her red dress fluttered up. Then, with a bang, Victor was kicked to the ground and could not get up no matter what.

While everyone was worried about Nora, Justin's bright eyes looked at that leg...

This woman was really... Why was she wearing a dress when she was fighting? It was fine if it affected her performance, but once she lifted her leg, her insides... As he thought about this, he saw Nora wearing safety pants that covered the scenery inside.

He finally heaved a heavy sigh of relief.

However...

Her fair thighs and calves were still too exposed.

Next time, he would prepare some pants for her!

As he thought this, the surrounding crowd had already erupted in applause!

Then, someone from Quinn School of Martial Arts shouted, "Quinn School of Martial Arts is mighty! Quinn School of Martial Arts is invincible!"

The others followed.

"Invincible Quinn School of Martial Arts!"

"Invincible Quinn School of Martial Arts!"

Nora did not care about these voices. She only patted her fists lightly and immediately looked at Victor, who was lying on the ground and could not get up. She asked, "Do you admit defeat?"

Victor's abdomen had been kicked, and he felt as if his organs had shifted.

He was about to speak when Nora's fist hit his face again!

He had nowhere to hide from this punch!

Bam!

Nora knocked out four of his front teeth.

The woman flexed her shoulders and asked, “Do you admit defeat?”

Victor: “...”

For some reason, the red-dressed woman standing in front of him suddenly became terrifying.

In the end, Victor was carried off by the other three from Benevolence Hall. When they left in a hurry, the martial arts arena was filled with cheers.

Nora let Victor off.

After all, it was difficult to teach manners to a dead person.

However, this could also be considered revenge for Randy.

She gave Linda a comforting look. When she got off the stage, Quentin grabbed her arm.. He looked at her with a complicated expression. “Who are you?”

Chapter 339 - Youre Really Irritating

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Just who exactly she was?

Nora raised her eyebrows and replied, “A disciple of the Quinn School of Martial Arts.”

Quentin: “...”

Nora didn’t pay any more attention to Quentin. Instead, she walked toward the exit.

—

Elsewhere.

Victor, who was carried out of the arena and into a car by three people, was sent to a villa in the suburbs.

Upon seeing Victor being carried into the living room, the big and tall green-eyed boxing champion Abigail, sitting on the sofa in the living room, slowly sat upright.

Abigail was 6’5” tall and weighed 220 pounds. He was strong and sturdy and had huge muscles all over him. His build was a little similar to Jordan Hoffman’s, but the power in his bulging arm muscles was much, much greater than Jordan’s.

He stared at Victor and scoffed, “What a useless piece of trash! I’ve invested so many resources in you, yet you can’t even force Big Sister out of hiding? On top of that, you even let a nobody female disciple from the Quinn School of Martial Arts injure you this badly!”

If anyone other than Victor had suffered such injuries, he would already have passed out cold and been unable to speak.

However, Victor had already somewhat gotten over the initial pain and discomfort after resting on the way here. His physical resilience was astonishingly good.

His lips trembled as he slowly said, "I'm sorry, sir. Give me some more time, I'll definitely defeat Big Sister in the finals!"

Abigail sneered, "You'd best remember what you just said!"

He gave a wave after he spoke. Only then did the rest of the people there carry Victor upstairs.

There was no medical equipment upstairs.

In spite of that, they left immediately after throwing Victor onto the bed in the room. No one mentioned anything about going to the hospital.

It seemed like they had already become accustomed to it long ago.

Downstairs, Abigail had already picked up his cell phone and was making a call. He said, "Sir, we didn't manage to force Big Sister to take any action. Victor lost to a young female disciple from the Quinn School of Martial Arts."

The other party kept quiet for a moment before they asked, "A female disciple?"

"Yes, that's right."

"... Big Sister hasn't taken any action?"

"No."

"It seems that Victor isn't strong enough, then."

Abigail's voice deepened. "Do you need me to take action?"

“Let the juniors solve their problems themselves, but be sure to take off Big Sister’s mask in the finals!”

Abigail was taken aback. “Her mask? Big Sister hasn’t been wearing a mask at all, though...”

But as soon as he said that, Abigail himself was dumbfounded. “You mean the woman claiming to be Big Sister is a fake? Then who is the real Big Sister?”

Abigail figured it out again at this point. “It’s No. 028!” He exclaimed.

The other party scoffed, “So, you’re not that stupid, after all.”

Then, he said, “I heard that Caleb Gray is in New York? Keep an eye on him and see what he has been up to recently, as well as who he has contacted more often.”

“Yes, sir.”

After hanging up, Abigail looked upstairs with a cold look in his eyes.

—

Who on earth was investigating her? And who would pose such a threat to her that her mother would leave such last words behind?

Nora kept thinking about these two questions as she drove home.

Victor’s appearance kept giving her the feeling that a conspiracy was slowly surfacing into the open, yet all of it was beyond her reach. In fact, she didn’t even know who the other party was.

Nora returned to the Smiths with those doubts on her mind.

As soon as she entered the house, she saw Yvonne sitting on the sofa looking troubled and worried. When Yvonne saw her, she said, “Nora...”

Nora looked at her.

The servants in the living room also looked at her.

Yvonne bit her lip and said, “Old Maddy still hasn’t woken up yet.”

Nora nodded. “That’s normal.”

Yvonne, however, sighed and said, “Let’s take Old Maddy to the hospital, Nora. It won’t do for him to continue sleeping like he’s comatose. By the time something really happens, it’ll be terrible.”

Nora frowned and said distantly and indifferently, “I just told you it’s normal. Didn’t you hear me?”

Yvonne: “?”

She bit her lip and said, “Nora, you mustn’t treat Old Maddy’s illness like that. Although he doesn’t have any children and is all alone, after staying here in the Smiths’ manor for so long, he’s pretty much already family... You shouldn’t abuse his body like that...”

Nora walked straight upstairs.

Yvonne followed behind her.. She was about to continue when Nora suddenly stopped and looked back at her. “Has anyone ever told you that you’re very irritating?”

Chapter 340 - Is He Ryan Smith?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Although Nora's voice was low and hoarse, it was clear. With so many people present, her words reached everyone's ears.

All the nannies and servants looked at one another. In the end, all of them lowered their heads in silence.

Yvonne suddenly flushed. She hadn't expected Nora to speak so bluntly. Nevertheless, she had great mental resilience, so she immediately replied, "Nora, I know you're irritated because I'm so long-winded, but there are some things that the Smiths can do, and some things that they can't! You mustn't treat Old Maddy so inhumanely! Your medical treatment has already caused him to become comatose! Are you going to bear the responsibility if he really dies?"

Nora stared at her. "Yeah, I will."

"..."

Her words made Yvonne choke.

Even a doctor wouldn't dare to say that, yet Nora had actually said it.

She took a deep breath. "Nora, you—"

Nora, however, didn't pay her any more attention. She went straight into her bedroom and slammed the door shut, isolating herself from the commotion outside.

Her actions put Yvonne in a particularly awkward situation.

Florence, who was standing behind her, said angrily, "Ms. Yvonne, you shouldn't bother yourself with her! If something really happens, let's see how she's going to answer for it!"

Yvonne took a deep breath and said pretentiously, "Mdm. Florence, I'm not trying to interfere with her affairs. I'm just worried about Dad! Dad was the one who personally allowed Old Maddy to live here, after all. Besides—others may not know this, but I'm sure you do—Dad occasionally visits Old Maddy like he's visiting an old friend..."

Florence frowned. "Yes, we all treat Old Maddy like he's family. I just didn't expect a certain someone to be so cruel as to use him as a guinea pig for their experiments!"

Yvonne sighed. "Yes, that's why I've been worried about Old Maddy's safety all this time..."

The two of them entered the study while they spoke.

Yvonne closed the door and sighed. "Mdm. Florence, what if I give Dad a call now and tell him about this?"

Florence immediately waved and said, "No, you mustn't. The old sir is in the midst of recuperation right now. If you tell him about it, he'll definitely become anxious. I think it's better to tell Mr. Joel about it instead."

Yvonne said, "But Joel has already agreed to let Nora treat Old Maddy's illness. Dad is the only one who can stop her now, but I don't want to disturb him, either. How about this? If Old Maddy continues to be comatose... I have a pill here called the Carefree Pill that can treat brain problems. This pill is said to have saved Mrs. Hunt's life!"

The Carefree Pill?

Florence was taken aback. "Isn't that a creation by Harmonia Pharmacy?"

"Yes, that's right."

Yvonne cast her eyes down and said, "I heard that the pill can refresh and invigorate one's mind. I'm sure Old Maddy will wake up once he consumes a pill as expensive as this. That way, nothing will happen to him anymore."

Florence was still rather hesitant. “Can the pill be taken so casually?”

Yvonne shook her head. “I don’t know. I’ve heard that traditional medicine is meant to nourish one’s body, but I don’t dare to let him take it, either. Forget it, Mdm. Florence, if Old Maddy continues to be comatose after another two days, then we’ll talk to Dad about it!”

After saying that, Yvonne placed the Carefree Pill in her hand on the desk, got up, and left the study.

However, she didn’t leave after she went out. Instead, she stood at the door and looked into the study.

Florence was staring at the Carefree Pill on the desk.

If she gave the pill to Old Maddy, he would recover, right? This way, they wouldn’t have to disturb the old sir anymore.

The old sir was in poor health, so no one dared to disturb him with the affairs at home.

Not only would it cure Old Maddy, but they also wouldn’t need to disturb the old sir...

Florence picked up the pill and went straight to Old Maddy’s residence.

Seeing her leave, Yvonne lowered her head. A small smile appeared at the corners of her lips.

—

The next day, Nora went to Old Maddy’s residence and performed acupuncture on him as per usual.

After watching Old Maddy fall asleep again at the end of the acupuncture session, she got up and walked out of the house.

Lily called her at this point. “The DNA test results are out!” she said.

Nora asked nervously, “Is he Ryan Smith?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 341 - Exposed

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lily's answer was straightforward. "I compared his DNA with yours, as well as with Ian's. The results show that he is unrelated to either of you."

He was unrelated to either of them?

So, he wasn't Ryan Smith at all?

Nora frowned. It seemed like her guess had been off the mark.

But if Old Maddy wasn't Ryan, then who was he?

While she was thinking about it, Lily added, "His DNA is kinda strange, though. Is he mentally ill?"

Nora was taken aback. "What's the matter?"

"From his DNA, it seems that he has genetic psychosis."

Nora cast her eyes down. "Yeah, he's a madman."

"No wonder, then."

Lily hung up after voicing her objective observations.

Nora stared at the phone for a while.

In the end, she tossed it into her pocket.

The solution was actually very simple. She would know who Old Maddy was once she cured his illness, right?

Besides, curing him would only take her half a month.

Her martial arts tournament match that night was rather late, so Nora decided to go to the hospital to visit Ian first.

Ian was staying at a private hospital with excellent facilities. Nora had a lot of self-awareness; she knew that her existence was a disgrace to Ian, so she didn't go to his ward. Instead, she was planning to approach his attending doctor to ask about his condition.

As soon as she arrived at the door to Ian's attending doctor's office, she heard Joel's voice coming from inside. "Are you still unable to reach Anti?"

The attending doctor nodded. "Yes, Anti rarely checks her email."

Joel heaved a huge sigh. "In that case, Uncle Ian's condition..."

"The hemangiomas in his brain are very hard to remove. On top of that, he is in very poor health, so we don't recommend surgery. Anti is the only one whose hands are fast enough to control the bleeding and the anesthesia."

Joel's voice turned cold. "Then keep looking for him."

"Okay."

Nora slowly took a few steps backward as she listened to their conversation. She raised her eyebrows and her lips curled into a smile.

Ian had refused to take the Andersons' Carefree Pills all this time because he held a grudge against them for Yvette's betrayal.

He had probably never thought that he would ultimately still need her to save his life.

Nora picked up her phone, opened Anti's email inbox, and searched through it. Sure enough, she found the SOS email that the Smiths had sent.

When Nora was quietly leaving the hospital, Yvonne, who had come to visit Ian, happened to be getting out of the car.

Yvonne frowned as she gazed at Nora from the back.

It seemed like Nora wasn't as dumb as she looked, after all. She had actually thought of coming to the hospital to please Dad?

She would never give Nora the opportunity, though!

—

At the martial arts tournament arena.

Neither Nora nor Justin had arrived yet. Quentin had arrived early, so he was sitting on the sofa in the dining area in boredom and thinking about the moves that Nora had used the day before.

No. 028 undoubtedly had remarkable skills.

It didn't seem like much when she defeated the others with just a single move—after all, Quentin was also capable of doing the same—but when she was up against Victor the day before, she had still defeated him with one move all the same. Now, that was difficult.

Just who exactly was No. 028?

When had someone like her appeared in New York?

Had he become at risk of losing his position as third in the world?

Quentin thought about it with a great sense of crisis. At the same time, he also developed a sort of hostility toward No. 028.

An opponent like that would shake his position!

Quentin was still thinking about it when he suddenly spotted Big Sister and a few disciples from the Quinn School of Martial Arts. They had gathered and were talking in hushed voices.

Quentin immediately tossed No. 028 to the back of his mind, pretended to be nonchalant, and went toward Big Sister.

Linda was sitting with the rest of the Quinn School of Martial Arts disciples and talking to them. She was completely unaware that someone had suddenly come up behind her.

“Linda, it’s been some time since you started impersonating Big Sister. When do you intend to come clean about it?”

Linda scratched her head. “I should have confessed about it yesterday. After all, my opponents will only get stronger and stronger, and I won’t be able to cope anymore. If Big Sister hadn’t stepped forward and helped me out yesterday, I really don’t know how I would’ve dealt with Victor!”

Quentin: “?????”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 342 - Big Sister And Big Brother~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Quentin was dumbfounded.

He listened to them in disbelief.

“Big Sister sure is awesome, though. Even when she was up against Victor, she still won with just one move.”

The tall and thick Linda was still chatting softly with her companions. She said, “I’d originally thought that even Big Sister would have to use a few moves, no matter what. Also, when Lucas told me to impersonate Big Sister, I had thought that there wasn’t such a big gap between Big Sister’s and my abilities, but unexpectedly, it’s actually this huge! I admit to Big Sister’s superiority from the bottom of my heart now!”

“Me too! Big Sister is simply amazing! To her, Big Brother is probably the only one who is a match for her.”

“Say, if Big Sister encounters Big Brother, which of the two do you think will be stronger?”

“...”

Quentin felt like his ears were ringing.

He subconsciously thought No. 028’s martial prowess—she was indeed very impressive. He had been worried just a moment ago that she would pose a threat to his position as third in the world, but unexpectedly, she was actually his idol, the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts?

But if she was Big Sister, why would she team up with him?

He'd originally thought that what she had seen in him were his abilities! He had even wanted to take the two of them to the finals and let them piggyback off him!

That was what he thought, and that was what he said. He asked, "Since Big Sister is so strong, why did she join a team?"

The disciples were busy gossiping, so they didn't notice that it was someone else who had asked the question. They immediately replied, "Yeah, I really don't know what kind of sheer dumb luck Smithin has to actually be able to form a team with Big Sister. Their team name is too weak, though. Third In The World...? Even if Big Sister doesn't take first place, she's at least in second place, alright?"

"Yeah, life practically can't get any easier for Smithin now that he can actually ride on Big Sister's coattails!"

"What a shame that the others don't know about it."

"Speaking of which, there are actually people saying that No. 028 is lucky to be able to tag along with Smithin's team. Now that's the biggest joke I've heard this year!"

"Big Sister probably finds it too troublesome. But since teaming up can save her half of the time required, she will definitely do it."

Quentin: "!!!"

He swallowed again and stared at the few of them in disbelief.

One of the reasons why he had invited a woman to join his team was that he'd thought that that would make it easier for him to show off—after all, if he succeeded in bringing a 'weak and frail woman' into Class F, he would probably become a legend in the tournament, right?

But unexpectedly, the teammate whom he had casually approached was actually Big Sister?

'Third In The World'... That indeed lowered Big Sister's ranking, didn't it?

While he was in a daze, someone said, “Let’s not say any more. If we go on, Big Sister’s identity will be exposed. The surroundings are so dark, be careful not to let outsiders come near. If that happens, Linda’s true identity will be given away!”

Linda said casually, “We’re all from the Quinn School of Martial Arts here. What are you so scared of? There aren’t any outsiders here.”

After saying that, Linda and the rest looked around them. When their gazes swept across Quentin, they skipped him out of habit.

Ten seconds later.

Linda’s head abruptly whipped toward Quentin, who was still standing there in a daze.

Oh no!

Lately, Quentin had been following her around whenever he wasn’t in a match, which caused the Quinn School of Martial Arts disciples to become accustomed to seeing him around. In that instant just now, they had straight-up thought of him as one of their own!

But!

Linda jumped onto her feet at once. “Y-you... you...”

Quentin looked at the group of disciples in front of him. He felt deeply deceived.

—

Nora came late today.

When Justin saw her outside the entrance, he raised his eyebrows. “You just got here?”

“Yeah.” Nora locked the car door and tossed the car key into her pocket. “Has the match started?”

“It’s starting soon.” Justin followed behind her and said with a smile, “Quentin is definitely going to nag at you again for coming so late.”

Nora gave an indifferent shrug. She was about to speak when she spotted Quentin standing in front of them in a daze, his eyes practically stuck on her.

Nora: “?”

She took a step forward and said, “Sorry, I’m a little late.”

She’d thought that Quentin would definitely take that as an excuse to lecture her a little, but unexpectedly...

A starry-eyed Quentin actually said, “It’s okay! I’ll wait, no matter how late you are!”

Nora: “??”

Justin, who was carrying Cherry and about to step through the door: “??”

Justin looked over, his dark eyes fixing themselves sinisterly on Quentin. As though he didn’t notice Justin staring at him at all, Quentin leaned toward Nora and said, “I’ve found out your true identity, Big Sister.”

“...”

Nora fell silent for a moment. Her true identity? Which? Did he find out that Nora Smith was Big Sister? Or that No. 028 was Big Sister?

She coughed and asked tentatively, “Which identity are you talking about?”

Quentin lowered his head. His face was as red as a tomato, just like someone who had become embarrassed upon meeting their idol. He replied, “Y’know, your identity as Big Sister! I heard about it from Linda and the others just now. I’d never thought that my comrade in battle would actually turn out to be Big Sister...”

Nora coughed. “Yeah.”

It seemed that her Nora Smith identity hadn't been given away.

Her lips curled into a smile and she walked in front.

Quentin subconsciously followed behind her. He was about to say something to her again when Justin, who was carrying Cherry, inserted himself between the two of them.

Quentin: "..."

He looked at the big and tall man. When he thought of how the two of them were husband and wife, Quentin suddenly grabbed Justin's arm, lowered his voice, and said, "You're not worthy of Big Sister."

Justin: "?"

Quentin sneered, "You're a man, yet you're always taking care of the child at home. Don't you feel that you're not worthy of Big Sister at all? In the ring, you always let Big Sister take action while you hide at the back instead... How did Big Sister fall in love with a wimp like you? Do the two of you even have common topics to talk about? Can you even be Big Sister's sparring partner when she wants to spar?"

"..."

The corners of Justin's lips spasmed as he stared at how Quentin was behaving. Suddenly, his lips curled into a smile and he said, "It can't be helped."

Quentin stopped talking and looked at him, wondering what he would say next. Little did he expect Justin to simply reply calmly, "She likes pretty boys like me."

Nora walking in front: "..."

Quentin, who heard his reply: "!!!"

That guy wasn't ashamed at all! On the contrary, he was proud of it!

He was too much!

Justin paused again. Then, he asked, “Besides, who do you think can be worthy of someone like her?”

Quentin puffed his chest out.

Justin’s words, however, pierced his ego. “You? How many moves can you last in a fight with her?”

Quentin: “!!”

He was just a little stronger than Victor.

In spite of that, Quentin refused to admit defeat. He said, “Yes, I’m indeed not worthy of Big Sister, but there’s someone who is! Big Brother can definitely fight on par with Big Sister! The two of them are a perfect match!”

Upon hearing that, Justin glanced at Nora, who was a little away from them. He suddenly lowered his head, leaned into his ear, and asked, “Then do you know who I am?”

Chapter 343 - Thats Impossible!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Quentin asked scornfully, “Who are you?”

He couldn’t possibly be Big Brother, right?

He could understand why the Big Sister shown to the public was a fake— No. 028, aka Big Sister, wanted to keep her identity a secret. Judging from her personality, she seemed like a relatively low-key person.

But surely the Big Brother in the lounge couldn’t possibly be fake as well, right?

... even if the man in front of him did look a bit like Big Brother!

While Quentin was thinking about it, Justin withdrew his gaze. Instead, he smiled and said, “I’m Big Brother.”

Quentin: “!!”

He suddenly sneered, “Can you make up a more reliable identity for yourself if you really have to make one up? What a braggart! That’s so unrealistic!”

Was there anyone who didn’t know that the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ Big Sister and the Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother were mortal enemies? Quinn and Irvin always fought whenever they met, which caused the two schools to be at constant loggerheads.

Surely there was no way Big Sister would have a baby with Big Brother, right?

Besides, he had merely casually dragged someone to form a team with him, and then randomly got another person to make up the numbers. Surely there was no way both Big Sister and Big Brother were in his team, right?

Yet Justin neither argued nor explained any further. Instead, he followed after Nora and called out, “Wait for me, Mom.”

‘Mom’...

He must be showing off that Big Sister had borne him a child, right?

There was no doubt about it—he was definitely a man who had gotten to where he was by relying on his kid!

Quentin followed Justin huffily, finding his entire self an eyesore.

That night, Quentin fought extra hard.

In addition, he also finally stopped caring about being in the limelight—just so he could perform well in front of Big Sister!

After the two matches, Nora and Justin got ready to go home.

Quentin followed Nora eagerly. “Shall I take you home, Big Sister?”

“... No, it’s okay,” said Nora.

For the first time, Quentin followed her out the door. “No, it’s not. Let me take you home.”

Nora stopped and gave him a half-amused look. “No, it’s really okay.”

Wouldn’t he see her car if he went to the car park?

Although she disguised herself every time she came over, the car license plate number would still give her away if he were to see it.

Seeing how firmly she was refusing his offer, Quentin could only see her off obediently.

After separating from Justin at the entrance, Nora found an inconspicuous area, changed back into her usual outfit, and took off her mask. Only then did she walk to her car.

As soon as she reached the car park, she spotted Quentin looking at the front surreptitiously.

Justin had already gotten into the car with Cherry. However, he didn't see Big Sister even after he craned his neck...

Nora stood behind him and looked at Justin's car, too. She couldn't help but click her tongue.

She hadn't noticed before, but Justin had actually driven over in an ordinary Volkswagen. The car was very inconspicuous, and the two of them kept their masks on even after they got into the car.

Well, that made sense. He had to be cautious since he had brought the child here.

But...

Nora stroked her chin. It seemed like she should also disguise herself while she was out. There was always a risk of exposure here.

Of course, the main reason was that she had been too lazy to change to a different car, ahem.

While she was thinking about it, Quentin stood up straight. He even lowered his gaze and muttered to himself, "Just who exactly is Big Sister?"

He turned to reenter the arena, but the moment he did, he instead saw Nora standing behind him. He got a huge shock at once.

He panicked. "Why are you here?"

Nora raised her brows.

Quentin straightened his back at once and went back to his usual dimwit self. He raised his chin and said proudly, “Are you looking for me? Do you feel unsafe just because I’m not at home? But do you know? It’s even more dangerous here!”

Then, Quentin said, “Forget it, let’s go. I’ll take you home.”

Nora: “...”

When she followed Quentin to the car, she even heard him muttering, “What a load of trouble. She’s thrown a spanner in my works now. I wanted to tail that car in front to see who Big Sister is.”

Upon hearing that, Nora’s words of rejection did a U-turn and she swallowed them back down.

Mm, she’d better let Quentin escort her back home instead, lest he had the spare energy to tail Justin.

... even though she was sure that Quentin wouldn’t succeed in tracking Justin, given his abilities.

Nora drove her big black jeep, whereas Quentin hid amongst the crowd in an unknown car. The two returned to the Smiths’ one after the other.

One must admit that Quentin was indeed skilled at tailing. Even someone like Nora could only sense that she was being tailed, yet couldn’t pinpoint Quentin’s location.

After parking the car, Nora got out and went upstairs. Then, she took a shower and went to bed with Pete.

Unexpectedly, she heard a sharp cry early the next morning!

Nora sat up abruptly. Before she even realized what was going on, someone suddenly knocked on her bedroom door.

She frowned, got up unhappily, and went out. When she opened the door, she saw two police officers standing outside. One of them took out his badge and showed it to her. He said, “You are under suspicion of endangering a person’s life, Ms. Smith. Please follow us to the station and aid in our investigation.”

Nora: “?”

She frowned and asked, “Whose life did I endanger?”

Seeing how calm she was, the police officers exchanged a look. Then, they said, “The victim is Old Maddy, who lives in your home. He was found on his last breath in his room this morning. He’s very weak now, and has already been sent to the hospital! Someone called the police and said that it was caused by you practicing medicine without a license!”

Old Maddy?

Nora’s pupils shrank. “That’s impossible!”

Chapter 344 - Something Happened!

Yesterday morning, when she took Old Maddy's pulse, it was still normal. Everything was under her control. How could he suddenly be on his last breath?

She walked out and frowned. "I want to go to the hospital!"

"Miss Smith."

The police stopped her. "Please cooperate with our investigation. You need to come to the police station with us right now."

Nora still wanted to say something, but the other person had already placed his hand on the gun at his waist. "Miss Smith, please come with us immediately. Otherwise, you will be interfering with our operations! We have the right to arrest you!"

Nora clenched her fists and took a deep breath.

Nora lowered her eyes and slowly said, "OK, I'll come with you, but can I change my clothes first?"

She was still wearing pajamas.

The police officer nodded. "Yes, please."

After Nora closed the door, she took out her phone and sent Lily a message, asking her to come immediately. She contacted the doctor to look for the hospital where Old Maddy was and to ensure his safety.

After sending it, she called Tanya and told her to pick up Pete after school and take him to her place, in case Pete returned to the Smiths and found out that something had happened to her.

After settling the two matters, she changed into her usual clothes and went out.

When she went downstairs with the police, the hall was already filled with the servants. When they saw her, their eyes became furious.

Yvonne looked worried as she looked at her. “Nora, I told you long ago not to experiment on Old Maddy. Did something happen?”

Nora glanced at her and retracted her gaze. “I told you, I’m treating him.”

Yvonne bit her lip. “Don’t worry. The Smiths won’t just watch you get into trouble. Besides, you’re Mr. Hunt’s girlfriend. The Hunts won’t ignore you either.”

When she said this, Nora’s eyes instantly became sharp.

No matter how she looked at it, this meant that the two families would fish her out. Was this confirming her crimes?

She smiled mockingly. “No need. I believe the police will clear my name.”

Yvonne choked on her words.

When ordinary people were caught by the police, shouldn’t their first reaction be to cry for help?

Why was Nora so calm?

While Yvonne was stunned, Florence pointed at her and cursed, “Miss Nora, why are you saying this to Miss Yvonne? This matter happened because of your treatment. Miss Yvonne is also concerned about you! If you didn’t do anything, how could anything have happened to Old Maddy?!”

Her eyes were red from agitation. “Old Maddy is Mr. Smith’s friend! If anything happens to him, Mr. Smith will not let you off! You’re too much!!”

Florence’s words made the servants at home feel sad.

Everyone pointed at her. “That’s right. Old Maddy is also a member of the family! We’ve all worked for the Smiths for many years. The Smiths have always treated us like family. We’re not being used casually!”

“Miss Yvonne has always treated us as humans too. How could she treat Old Maddy like that?! Does she know that Old Maddy’s life is important too! We should let the police investigate her!”

“You say you’re a doctor, but aren’t you trying to make a name for yourself by using Old Maddy? But in the end, you’re just a quack!”

The butler stood outside the door and looked at everything in the house.

Logically speaking, after this matter happened, the butler should have immediately contacted Joel and the Smiths’ lawyer and gotten them to come over. They should have protected the daughter of the Smiths first.

How could the daughter of the Smiths be taken away before the situation was clear?

Then wouldn’t the Smiths lose face?!

However, the butler clenched his fists.

He recalled going to Old Maddy’s room today and seeing that he was still in a deep sleep. When he walked over, he saw that his mouth and nose were bleeding, and his breathing was almost gone!

The butler outside lowered his head for a moment. He did not look for anyone and just let the police take Nora away.

Chapter 345 - Saving People!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After the police took Nora away, Joel received the news and left the company to return home.

As soon as he entered, he took the lead to shout at the butler. “Is anyone allowed to enter the Smiths’ main gate?”

The butler hurriedly apologized. “Mr. Joel, Old Maddy almost died at that time. I was also worried about him, so I didn’t block them.”

Joel glanced at him.

Knowing that the butler usually had a good relationship with Old Maddy, he did not refute because he always felt that a home had to look like a home and not be cold as if everyone was a robot.

He approved of the butler on this point.

Joel asked, “How’s Old Maddy?”

Without waiting for the butler to speak, Florence said anxiously, “He has been sent to the hospital. He’s still in the midst of emergency treatment, but he might not wake up. No one knows! Mr. Joel, what should we do now? If the old sir finds out about this, he’ll definitely be sad! He values Old Maddy very much!”

Florence did not mention anything about Nora being taken away. Her mind was only filled with Ian’s safety.

Joel lowered his eyes.

Yvonne asked, “Joel, what about Nora?”

At the mention of her, Florence immediately said resentfully, “What can we do? We should let her suffer! That wild girl from California made such a mistake! That’s a life she was messing with! How dare she? If the old sir finds out about this, he definitely won’t let her off!”

These words made Joel’s eyes turn cold.

No matter how bad she was, she was still a member of the Smiths.

The butler looked at Joel and coughed. “I think we shouldn’t be too anxious about Miss Nora’s matter. If Old Maddy recovers, then Miss Nora will naturally be fine and will be acquitted. But if something happens to Old Maddy, we can think of a way to save Miss Nora. Besides, this would also let the old sir vent his anger.”

In other words, locking Nora in the police station was a form of punishment.

Even if she was a Smith, she should be held responsible for causing the death of a patient!

The Smiths could not break the law. This was a rule that had been set since Ian’s time. Therefore, no matter how rowdy the others were, like Warren and Louis, they did not dare to commit any crimes!

Because if they were confirmed to have done something wrong, Ian would not care!

When Joel heard this, he was silent for a while.

If Nora was Ian’s daughter, even if she really made a mistake, he would immediately bail her out and wait for the case to be confirmed.

But she was not.

As he was thinking about this, his phone suddenly rang. He lowered his head to take a look and was suddenly stunned when he saw the number.

It was a number he had memorized by heart all these years.

He frowned and picked up the call.

As soon as the call went through, Tanya's voice came from the other end. "Mr. Joel, I called you to ask what happened to Nora. I was in class just now. After seeing her message, I couldn't get through to her."

Joel's eyes darkened slightly as he briefly explained the situation.

Tanya was silent for a long time before saying, "Nora's medical skills are indeed very impressive. It's impossible for such a medical accident to happen. This is definitely an accident. No matter what happens to her, Mr. Smith, you have to ensure her safety!"

After saying that, she hesitated for a moment before saying, "If you can save Nora, I can teach Mia how to dance!"

The words Joel was about to say were stuck in his throat.

In Tanya's eyes, was he such a man who did not even care about his cousin's life?

A bitter smile appeared on his lips. "Don't worry. I won't let anything happen to her."

After hanging up, Joel looked at the butler. "Contact the lawyer and bail Nora out first!"

The butler lowered his eyes in disappointment and obediently said, "Yes."

Yvonne bit her lips.

She was already like this, yet he still wanted to bail her out... It seemed like blood relations were indeed different.

However, no one expected that the butler would return half an hour later with unexpected news.

With a complicated expression, he stared at Joel and said, "The lawyer went to the police station, but he didn't expect them to say that Miss Nora can't be bailed out.”

Joel’s pupils shrank at these words. “Why?”

The butler shook his head. “I don’t know. It seems like some power is involved. When the lawyer gets the medical test results, Miss Nora’s matter must go according to the normal procedures. Unless Old Maddy survives, it will be difficult for Miss Nora to be released this time.”

There were other forces?

In New York, other than the Hunts, was there anyone more powerful than the Smiths?

Joel was certain that there was not.

At least not openly.

Unless the other party was...

As he was thinking, the butler said, “Sir, do you think we should go through other channels or find someone?”

The Smiths had a lot of connections.

However, Joel seemed to have thought of something. His pupils constricted. “There’s no need. We’ll go to the hospital to see Old Maddy!”

If that person had made a move, they would have to follow the proper procedures.

When they arrived at the hospital, they realized that Old Maddy was still undergoing surgery. The lights were still on and he had not come out yet.

The attending doctor waiting outside was very anxious. “Old Maddy’s nerves have been damaged. We can’t find the reason for his nose and mouth bleeding, but all his physical signs are going downhill. There’s nothing we can do!”

Joel frowned. “Haven’t you seen such a situation before?”

The attending doctor shook his head. “No... but I’ve heard of it!”

Joel looked at the attending doctor. “Where have you heard of it?”

The attending doctor said, “Many years ago, there was a woman overseas who was also bleeding from her mouth and nose for no reason. She was on her last breath. In the hospital, they had also checked all parts of her body, but they could not find any problems. In the end, it was Anti who saved her. Later on, Anti could not explain the reason either. It seemed to be caused by some imbalance in medicine...”

Anti?

It was this Anti again!

Joel looked at the butler. “Contact Anti immediately and tell her to come and save Old Maddy!”

“... Yes!” said the butler.

Chapter 346 - Captain Ford

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When the butler went to contact Anti, Joel frowned and stared at the operation theater.

He made another call and invited all the specialists he could get from New York.

During the specialist's consultation, Joel stood at the side and did not interfere. This was not within his ability. His greatest strength was that he did not dabble in things he did not understand.

After handing Old Maddy's life to a trustworthy doctor, he picked up his phone and contacted the police. He wanted to find out what was going on with Nora and why she could not be bailed out.

“Alright, help me find out. Thanks.”

After hanging up another call, Joel took out his phone and prepared to call Justin.

Since the Hunts could invite Anti, even if Joel did not want to admit that he was inferior to Justin, he had no choice but to ask the Hunts for help at this moment.

But at this moment, Yvonne walked over. She looked at Joel and asked, “Joel, what can I help you with?”

Joel looked at her and frowned. He was about to say that he did not need her for the time being when his phone suddenly rang. It was a friend he had asked for help. He had found out the reason why Nora could not be bailed out.

Both sides were anxious, so he looked at Yvonne and said, “Contact Mr. Hunt immediately and tell him that Old Maddy is being treated and needs Anti’s help.”

He subconsciously felt that if Nora could inform Tanya before she was taken away by the police, then she must have also informed Justin.

Yvonne’s pupils shrank at the mention of Justin.

She nodded immediately. “Okay, answer the call first.”

When Joel walked to the side to answer the call, she took out her phone and dialed Justin’s private number.

Back then, the Hunts and the Smiths had both wanted to matchmake them, so it was very normal for her to have Justin’s number.

The call was quickly picked up and she rejoiced secretly. She felt that Justin still had his eyes on her. Otherwise, why would he pick up her call? Justin’s deep voice resounded, “Yvonne, is something the matter?”

When Justin saw the phone number, he did not want to pick it up.

After all, he did not want to have anything to do with her.

However, after thinking about it, he still picked up the call. He was afraid that Nora’s phone had run out of battery, and she was just borrowing Yvonne’s phone to call him.

Yvonne’s heart sank at his distant words.

She lowered her eyes and said slowly, “Yes, something happened. Nora treated the Smiths’ servant, Old Maddy, but he had an accident. Now, she has been taken away by the police.”

Justin sensitively caught the main point. “How’s Old Maddy?”

Yvonne replied ambiguously, “All the medical teams of the Smiths are here, they’re treating him as we speak.”

When Justin heard this, he said bluntly, “I’ll go to the police station.”

With that, he hung up.

Yvonne stared at her phone.

Actually, the most important thing now was not to bail Nora out. It was just like when he first heard that Nora had been taken away, Joel’s first reaction was not to bail her out.

As the police station was the safest place, nothing would happen to her if she stayed there.

Old Maddy was the most important thing.

After Joel found out about the entire matter, he quickly sent a doctor to the hospital. Otherwise, Old Maddy would have died long ago.

Only if Old Maddy was alive, would Nora be released.

Even if Justin went to the police station to deal with them, it might not be of much use! Instead, it would waste time!

Yvonne clenched her hands into fists and lowered her gaze, hiding the viciousness and hatred in her eyes.

Elsewhere.

Joel was picking up the call. “Who did you say won’t bail her out?”

His contact was on the other end of the line, and his voice was very low. “It’s Captain Ford.”

Captain Ford... Morris?

It was as he had expected.

Only Morris had the ability to do so!

But why would Morris target Nora?

Joel narrowed his eyes. “What’s going on?”

The other party sighed secretly. “This is confidential. Forget it, I’ll tell you.. Captain Ford has given an order to the police station. He will personally investigate all the cases involving Miss Nora! Especially when it involves...”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 347 - Things Are Not Simple

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The person on the other end paused before continuing, "... When a life is on the line, bail cannot be granted. He's worried that Miss Nora will escape after being bailed out."

Escape...

Joel frowned.

This order should not have been given for an ordinary girl. It was more suitable to be given to fugitives and murderers!

They were afraid that she would find an opportunity to escape. Once she was arrested, she would be detained for 24 hours and would not be let go of.

What was Nora's identity?

The interrogation room in the police station was cold. It was surrounded by metal walls and doors.

The two police officers stared at the woman sitting opposite them. One of them slowly said, "Miss Nora, even if you don't admit it, Old Maddy is indeed on the verge of death. If something happens to him, you won't have a good time!"

However, the woman was lying on the chair made for interrogation. She had her head tilted and her eyes closed as she pretended to sleep.

The two police officers looked at each other. One of them couldn't help but frown. "I know. Are you stalling for time? Waiting for the Smiths' lawyer to bail you out? But even so, you hurt his life. Don't you have anything to say?"

As a police officer, he hated these people from wealthy families who treated human lives as nothing.

The two police officers were very righteous.

They saw Old Maddy being taken away by the ambulance with their own eyes and heard the housekeeper and servants of the Smiths say that Nora insisted on treating Old Maddy.

They even found long silver needles in Old Maddy's residence.

Everyone had heard of acupuncture. They were used in alternative medicine.

But they had never seen any needles that long...

In particular, Captain Ford had specially instructed that if Nora was ever involved with someone's life, she must be detained and watched.

This meant that she was definitely a dangerous person.

Therefore, the two of them looked at Nora fiercely. "Miss Nora, please cooperate with our investigation!"

Nora still did not speak.

At this moment, she heard footsteps at the door.

It was the sound of leather boots stepping on the floor. The person's every step was powerful as he stopped at the entrance of the interrogation room.

The two police officers hurriedly stood up and opened the door.

Creak.

The door was opened and Morris stood there like an ice cube.

His pitch-black eyes were filled with coldness. Just by standing there, one could feel fear, as if the black-faced King of Hell had descended.

The two police officers greeted him respectfully, “Captain Ford.”

Morris nodded and walked in. As he entered, he checked the dossier in his hand. It was obvious that he was looking at this case. He asked, “What’s the situation now?”

“The suspect has not confessed. She insisted that she was indeed treating the victim.”

The police officer replied.

Morris nodded again. He walked to the front of the interrogation room and sat down. Only then did he look up at Nora.

His dark eyes made it difficult for others to read his mind, but the gaze he used to stare at Nora was cold. “Miss Nora, are you waiting for the Smiths’ lawyer or the Hunts’ lawyer? They can’t come in. Now, I need you to cooperate with our investigation.”

When Nora saw him, she slowly sat up straight.

She narrowed her eyes and finally sensed that something was different.

She had originally thought that it would at most be an issue of practicing medicine without any certification, but as long as she took out the proof of Anti’s identity, everything would be fine.

But she did not expect it to involve Morris.

This man was not an ordinary police officer! He belonged to a mysterious special department!

This special department seemed to have a very high status in New York. Looking at the two police officers’ attitudes toward Morris and the team leader waiting respectfully at the door for Morris's instructions, one could tell.

Nora raised her eyes. Under her long eyelashes, her eyes gradually became serious. "Captain Ford, what do you want to ask?"

Morris was very pleased with her cooperation. He asked directly, "May I ask, how did you treat him? Did you use any drugs? If you did, you need to give us the names of these drugs.. We need to do a detailed examination."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 348 - Yvonne Is About To Be Exposed

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Drugs?

Nora could sense that Morris seemed very serious about this case.

She lowered her eyes and said seriously, “Old Maddy’s nerves have been damaged a little, causing him to be weak and not suitable for medication. Therefore, I’ve been using acupuncture.”

Morris was stunned. “Acupuncture?”

“Yes, that’s right.”

Nora slowly sat up straight.

Morris pursed his lips. “Are you sure you didn’t use any other drugs to help with the treatment?”

“No.”

“Okay.” Morris stood up. “Miss Nora, I’ll have to trouble you to stay here for the time being. We’ll go look for Old Maddy to get evidence.”

“Captain Ford, I need to see Old Maddy and treat him,” Nora insisted.

Morris lowered his eyes. “It’s not convenient for you to go out now.”

Nora frowned. “Then you can go and take a look at Old Maddy’s condition. If he is really at the brink of death, please let me out.”

Brink of death...

Morris looked up at her. “Are you really a doctor?”

“Yes, that’s right.”

Nora let the other party size her up. “I’m Anti.”

At this time, she could no longer hide her identity.

Morris was clearly surprised. “You’re Anti?”

Nora nodded.

Morris was silent for a moment and did not leave. However, he sat down again. “As far as I know, Anti only became famous overseas in the past five years. May I ask how many years Miss Nora has been studying medicine?”

Nora leaned back in her chair. Her eyes drooped and she looked very sleepy. “24 years.”

She had been studying medicine since she was young.

However, her studies were more complicated. There was alternative medicine and modern medicine.

Morris was stunned. “From what I know, most surgeons are old and have experienced some cases. How many years has Miss Nora been a practicing doctor?”

Practicing doctor?

Nora smiled. “Five years.”

Could a doctor become a top surgeon in five years?

Moreover, it was not that Anti had gained a small amount of fame. This person had suddenly appeared and become famous overseas. In other words, Nora had just arrived overseas and had already become a famous surgeon.

Any surgery would require a lot of practice.

Morris pursed his lips and suddenly said, “Miss Nora, can you tell me what bizarre things have happened to you?”

Bizarre things?

Nora held her chin with both hands. “Does being pregnant with two children for no reason count?”

Morris was speechless.

He grimaced. “What about the rest?”

Nora spread her hands. “That’s all.”

Morris suddenly said, “Miss Nora, don’t you think your talent in medicine is a little shocking?”

How was this shocking?

She had been fast since elementary school, including other aspects, but she had learned everything steadily.

Nora looked at Morris. “Captain Ford, being smart isn’t anything strange, is it? Since ancient times, there have been many smart people. In ancient China, Gan Luo was crowned when he was just a 12-year-old child. Wouldn’t you agree?”

Morris was speechless.

After failing to give her a reasonable explanation, Morris stood up. “I’m going to the hospital to check on Old Maddy.”

—

In the hospital.

Yvonne looked at the doctors entering and exiting the operation theater. Everyone was trying their best to extend Old Maddy's life.

But these people were going in the wrong direction.

Old Maddy was not sick or had his nerves damaged.

He was actually... poisoned.

Yvonne took a deep breath.

The pill she had told Florence about back then was not a Carefree Pill at all. It was a kind of poison. After entering the human body, it would automatically enter the blood.

Unless a very accurate instrument was used, it could not be detected.

Meanwhile, when the doctors were working hard to save Old Maddy, they would always consider it from the perspective that Nora was the one who had harmed him. They would never think of poison.

After Old Maddy died, the toxic molecules in his blood would slowly disappear, making it even harder to find out.

As Yvonne was thinking about this, she saw Morris walking over with a group of forensic scientists. He immediately gave an order. "I want all the data on Old Maddy's body!"

"Yes, Captain Ford."

With this response, everyone dispersed and participated in the rescue work.

However, there were a few people who did not resuscitate him. Instead, they were recording all the data on Old Maddy.

Some people had even drawn a few tubes of Old Maddy's blood.

Yvonne clenched her fists tightly.

What was going on?

In another hour or so, the poison would be out of the blood. Now that the blood had been preserved, wouldn't it be troublesome if they were to investigate?

Everything had been going well. No one would have thought that Old Maddy had been poisoned.

But what was wrong with this Captain Ford who had appeared out of nowhere?!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 349 - Big Sister Didn't Come~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“Captain Ford, it’s done,” said the medical examiner respectfully as he walked over to Morris with Old Maddy’s blood samples.

Morris stood with his hands behind him in a standard militant’s stance. He nodded and said, “Send his blood samples for inspection immediately, and check if he has taken any medication recently! Notify me immediately if you find any abnormalities.”

“Yes, sir.”

The few medical examiners hurried off after receiving their orders. Morris stared at the operation theater.

Right now, he didn’t actually care whether or not Old Maddy would survive, let alone whether or not Nora was really practicing medicine without a license, or whether or not this was an incident of medical malpractice. What he cared about was...

“Captain Ford, aren’t you guys making a too big a fuss over this?” Joel walked over, his attitude neither lowly nor overbearing.

Morris’ tone became more polite when he saw him. “I have to prioritize the Smiths’ affairs, after all. We mustn’t wrong Ms. Smith.”

Joel was smiling, but his fox-like eyes were full of suspicion and perplexity. “I don’t think it’s because of the Smiths, is it?”

Morris continued to stand ramrod straight. He stared straight ahead of him, and he looked very serious and very strict. He nodded. “I don’t understand what you're trying to say, Mr. Smith. Don't you want us to investigate this thoroughly?"

Joel frowned.

Even now, he still firmly believed that there weren't any problems with Nora. She was just treating a mentally ill patient; even if she didn't manage to cure him, her treatment would never cause his death.

There must be some kind of misunderstanding.

He straightened his back and replied, "Of course, not. The Smiths will never condone criminals."

Morris nodded. "The Smiths have always had a strict upbringing."

Joel stared at Morris.

To be honest, the two had already interacted with each other before. Although Morris had also been awfully serious previously, he wasn't pedantic.

His relationships with the Smiths and the Hunts were also pretty good.

But unexpectedly, he hadn't given them even the slightest hint about the incident this time.

Joel knew that what his little cousin was involved in was definitely no simple incident. It was probably related to something even more serious.

In the distance, Yvonne stared at Morris far away from her.

If one were to talk about the best bachelors in New York, one would be Justin and the other—Morris.

Although he was just a police officer, in truth, he was actually part of a special department with extremely high authority. No one knew what kind of case exactly he was investigating, but his identity was definitely not a simple one.

Of course, it was also because of this same sense of mystery around Morris that no one dared to pursue him.

Moreover, Morris didn't have time for romance, either.

Yvonne had once thought about it—if things were impossible between her and Justin, then Morris was also an option.

She had dispelled all of those thoughts now, though.

She stared at the door nervously, only hoping for the outcome to be revealed soon.

—

Meanwhile, at the Smiths'.

The sky had gradually darkened.

A figure darted into the car park at the Smiths' back door.

Louis stood there sneakily and looked around. He cupped his hands around his mouth like a trumpet and shouted, "Quentin! Quentin!"

But even after shouting for a long time, he didn't see anyone.

Louis frowned and pouted. "Where has Quentin gone?"

He'd only just said that when he heard someone approaching in a hurry. He got such a huge shock that he quickly darted behind a car. Right after he did, he saw Maureen and Warren coming over in a hurry.

Louis breathed a sigh of relief when he saw them. He called out softly, "Warren, Maureen. Where are you guys going this late at night?"

Upon hearing his voice, Warren and Maureen immediately asked, "Why are you here?"

Louis went up nervously to the two of them and said with dissatisfaction, “Of course, it’s because I heard that Nora’s in trouble. Don’t things go wrong during medical treatments in hospitals all the time? How did it come to this? Also, Joel still hasn’t bailed Nora out... It must be because she isn’t Uncle Ian’s daughter!”

He sounded angrier and angrier as he spoke. “What’s wrong with Joel? Even if Nora’s mother betrayed Uncle Ian and went with Uncle Ryan instead, what does this have to do with Nora? We finally have a rich person... pooh, I mean, a girl in the family now, how can he do that?”

Warren was very much in agreement with him. He said, “You’re right! I don’t think Joel handled this well, either! He must be looking at things from Uncle Ian’s perspective instead. Besides, it’s not like you don’t know what Joel is like...”

Louis nodded. “Yeah, he always looks like he’s smiling, but is there anyone who doesn’t know that he’s the most underhanded person ever? He doesn’t even pay any attention to us, let alone to Nora. Joel may not want to care about her, but we can’t ignore her!”

“Yes, we must do something!” Warren said, “Maureen and I are planning to go to Maureen’s family and ask them to get a lawyer to bail Nora out first.”

Louis nodded. “I see. C’mon, let’s go! I’ll come with you guys! Now that Nora is in trouble, I mustn’t just stand by and watch. Warren, you can contribute in terms of strength while I... I...”

“Pay?” asked Warren.

Louis hugged his wallet at once. “I don’t have that kind of money! I’ll offer myself instead! Surely I can run errands, right?”

Warren: “...”

The few of them were about to set off when a figure suddenly appeared in front of the car. The person was in the shadows, so they couldn’t get a good look at them at all.

Despite that, when Louis saw the figure, he exclaimed in surprise, “Quentin!”

Warren also looked over.

Although Quentin was younger than Warren, his status in the family had faintly surpassed Warren’s after Ian put him in charge of the Smiths’ secret forces.

He was capable, so everyone went to Quentin whenever they were in trouble yet dared not approach Joel about it.

Quentin’s arms were folded. His chin was raised slightly and there was a little impatience on his countenance. He said, “Can you guys be a little smarter?”

Louis and Warren both felt that it was normal for him to reprimand them. “What’s wrong?” They asked.

Quentin let out a cold snort and replied, “There’s no way Joel would leave her on her own. Even if she isn’t Uncle Ian’s daughter, she’s still a Smith. Joel is someone very protective of his own, so he’s already sent someone to bail her out a long time ago!”

Louis was puzzled. “Then why isn’t Nora back yet?”

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully. “Of course, it’s because he didn’t succeed in bailing her out. The incident must be related to other things. We mustn’t act rashly!”

Louis flipped out. “Then are we supposed to just let Nora continue being detained?”

“... It’s not like they’ll starve her or deny her water in the police station. What’s the big deal about being detained for a few days? What are you so anxious for?”

Louis was furious. “How can you say that? If it were the Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts locked up in there, would you still be that calm?”

“... As if Big Sister would ever be locked up in there!”

Big Sister was probably in a match at the moment!

For that woman’s sake, he hadn’t even gone to the tournament today.

Quentin picked up his cell phone and dialed Linda’s number. He said, “If you see Big Sister, please tell her that I won’t be able to go to the tournament today.”

The two had exchanged numbers after Quentin unintentionally overheard the Quinn School of Martial Arts disciples’ chat the other day. This way, it would be convenient if they had to contact each other.

Linda said, “But...”

Quentin interrupted her. “I know we may be disqualified if I don’t go, but please ask for Big Sister’s understanding for me. I really have something on today.”

“That’s not what I’m talking about. What I mean is...”

Quentin interrupted her again. “What you want to say is that given Big Sister’s status, the tournament will definitely allow a team with fewer members to fight a team with more members, right? That’s fine, too. In any case, just relay the message to her for me.”

“...” Linda had panicked by then. She said, “Can you let me finish?”

“Go ahead,” said Quentin.

“It seems like Big Sister isn’t here tonight, either!”

Quentin: “???”

Chapter 350 - Im Here To Take My Fiancée With Me!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Big Sister wasn't there, either?

Where did she go?

After Quentin, whose mind was full of question marks, hung up, he saw Louis and Warren looking at him eagerly and waiting for him to make the decision.

Quentin frowned. "When Joel went to bail her out, they gave him a very strange reason for rejecting the bail request, which made me feel that Nora must have gotten herself in trouble."

Next to him, Louis exclaimed, "Surely she didn't really cheat someone of money, did she?!"

Quentin and Warren both looked at him. "What are you talking about?"

Louis said with certainty, "Think about it—she's just someone from a small town in California. How could she possibly own a card with no credit limit? I already found it very strange that time. Maybe she's involved in a fraud syndicate!"

Warren and Maureen looked at each other.

Maureen also stroked her chin and said hesitantly, "Now that you put it that way, Nora also knows a relatively impressive hacker called Solo!"

"Solo?"

Quentin frowned. “I know that guy. He’s an international hacker who’s on a wanted list overseas! Why is Nora involved with him?”

Maureen and Warren looked at each other.

Louis came to a conclusion. “It’s all over. It looks like Nora is gonna be involved in other kinds of trouble even without the medical malpractice incident this time! Besides, I heard that Old Maddy’s situation isn’t looking good!”

Warren nodded. “It’s precisely because we heard that Old Maddy is still unconscious that Maureen and I are so anxious. On top of that, his vitals are slowly declining... His organs are already beginning to fail! That’s why we were trying to think of a solution. Sigh!”

Louis said, “It’s over, it’s all over! From the start, Uncle Ian disliked Nora, yet she’s gotten herself in so much trouble now... Quentin, what should we do?”

“... There’s only one way out now,” said Quentin.

“What is it?”

“Breaking her out of prison.”

“...”

—

At the police station.

After patrolling the hospital for a while, Morris came back to continue interrogating Nora.

Nora was still sitting like a big boss. She leaned against the chair, stared at him, and said, “You’ve looked into everything, right? So, can I go to the hospital to save my patient now?”

Morris, who had a huge frown on his face, stared at the woman in front of him.

His men had indeed investigated what had happened, and also questioned the Smiths' servants. All of them testified that Nora hadn't used any drugs when she was treating Old Maddy. Instead, she had performed acupuncture on him.

He looked at Nora sternly. "You're not allowed to leave until we have an outcome with the investigations."

Nora's eyes darkened a little.

Her voice gradually became cold. "Captain Ford, I don't know what you're investigating, but someone is waiting for me to save his life right now! The more time you waste here, the higher the likelihood that Old Maddy isn't going to survive!"

Morris' expression remained unchanged. He said, "There are so many doctors in the hospital, Ms. Smith. Our medical examiners have also hurried over. I heard that the Hunts have also sent doctors over. It doesn't seem like there will be any problem even if you aren't there."

Nora frowned and gradually became impatient. "So, is Captain Ford going to take responsibility if he dies?"

She had already been detained for more than six hours.

In other words, she had been repeatedly interrogated by a stream of people, and hadn't slept for six hours!

Her physical discomfort was gradually making her irritable.

Morris, however, stared hard at her and said, "It seems to me that what Ms. Smith wants isn't to go over and treat the patient but to take the opportunity to escape, right?"

The frowning Nora was perplexed. "If you don't trust me, then ask your men to go with me!"

Morris sneered, "If I let you leave, Ms. Smith, I'm afraid even my men won't be able to hold you back."

After all, they had already been fooled once twenty years ago!

Nora was lost for words.

She'd clearly had a pretty good impression of Morris when she interacted with him previously, but for some reason, his attitude had changed drastically this time.

Morris had tried to sound her out previously, but he had also indirectly protected her. However, he was completely hostile and was also treating her like she was a murderer now.

What had happened?

She didn't understand. However, she wasn't interested in figuring it out at the moment, either. She stood up and said, "Captain Ford, I am Old Maddy's attending doctor. Now that something has happened to him, I am obligated to treat him! If you continue to detain me, then don't blame me if I don't hold back anymore!"

Nora flexed her wrists as she spoke.

Her personality had always been this way. Once she lost her temper, she didn't give two hoots about anything anymore. Even if this was the police station, it wasn't going to stop her from going out to treat Old Maddy!

Morris sneered at the stance she had taken. He asked unhurriedly, "And how exactly are you planning to not hold back, Ms. Smith?"

Together with his words, the two men beside him immediately took out their guns and pointed them at Nora.

Nora narrowed her eyes.

Right at this moment, a deep and aggressive voice suddenly came from the door. "Captain Ford, don't you think you owe me an explanation for treating my fiancée like that?”

As the voice rang out, someone suddenly opened the door.

Justin appeared at the door. The big and tall man stood right there, the aura around him increasing sharply and weighing down on Morris.

Morris got up when he saw him, though he was neither lowly nor overbearing. “Mr. Hunt.”

Justin had already strode into the room.

Behind Justin was a veteran lawyer from the Hunts. He had never lost any of the cases he took over the years.

Morris and Justin stood face to face. The two men were equally matched, neither of them losing out to the other in momentum.

Justin glanced at Nora, who was standing at the other side. There was nothing wrong with her, except that her docile-looking almond-shaped eyes that usually looked a little lazy were looking a little angry.

This made the look in Justin’s eyes turn even colder. He looked straight at Morris and said, “Captain Ford, shouldn’t you give me an explanation for detaining my fiancée without any reason?”

Morris cast his eyes down but remained very aggressive. He replied, “My apologies, Mr. Hunt, but your fiancée is involved in a confidential case. I am not at liberty to disclose any information.”

Justin narrowed his sharp eyes. “Captain Ford, perhaps there’s one thing you don’t understand—Ms.. Smith is my fiancée; she’s not someone whom you can just arrest so casually. If you can’t produce any actual evidence, then I’m taking my fiancée with me! ”

Chapter 351 - Secrets

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Both the Hunts and the Smiths were powerful families. If one wanted to arrest anyone from the two families, they needed evidence. They weren't allowed to just use a random excuse to detain them.

Their reason for detaining Nora today was medical malpractice.

However, given how they were still in the midst of trying to save Old Maddy, it was indeed too much to imprison his attending doctor.

Moreover, the doctor in question was even Justin's fiancée.

The captain of the police station was already pacing back and forth nervously at the door.

He had Morris on one hand and Justin on the other. Neither of them was a person he could mess with. How was he supposed to wrap up the incident?

While he was thinking about it, Morris said aggressively, "My apologies, Mr. Hunt, but you are not allowed to take her with you until Old Maddy's blood report is out."

A blood report...

A puzzled Justin cast a glance at Nora. Nevertheless, he remained as aggressive as ever as he said, "I don't care what you're investigating, Captain Ford, I'm here to bail my fiancée out. If you can't produce any evidence that she has committed a crime, then you have to let her go. I should think that my fiancée has the right to be released on bail! Or do you intend to deprive her of her rights as a citizen of the United States?"

His words shut Morris up.

Seeing that he couldn't say anything anymore, Justin walked toward Nora and grabbed her hand. He said, "Captain Ford, if you have nothing else to say, then we're leaving."

However, Morris stopped them as the two reached the door. He looked at Nora firmly and said, "I repeat, Ms. Smith is not allowed to leave the police station until Old Maddy's blood report is out!"

Justin frowned and took a step forward.

Morris immediately warned him coldly, "Mr. Hunt, you have always been a law-abiding model citizen! I am completely authorized to arrest Nora Smith. Are you planning to assault the police and break her out?"

Assaulting the police and breaking someone out... Both charges, no matter which, were extremely serious ones!

Justin sneered, "Just what exactly is happening—you detaining my fiancée for no reason, or me breaking her out?"

The two went head-to-head with each other! For a while, the interrogation room was filled with pin-drop silence.

Even though they didn't do anything, everyone could nevertheless feel just how tense the two of them were. It was as if they would draw their guns the very next moment!

The captain of the police station rushed in and stood in between the two men at this point. He said, "Captain Ford, Mr. Hunt, calm down. Let's calm down and talk it out..."

He looked at Morris and said, "Captain Ford, w-why don't you show him the arrest warrant...? It would be terrible if Mr. Hunt really misunderstands!"

His words took both Nora and Justin by surprise.

An arrest warrant?

If an arrest warrant really existed, then Morris would be justified in detaining Nora!

But if he had an arrest warrant, then why hadn't he presented it from the start?

Was he trying to keep the case he was investigating a secret? After all, the warrant would specify why exactly he was arresting Nora!!

While the two of them were musing, Morris let out a 'hmp'. He stared at them for very long before he finally asked, "Are you sure you want to see the warrant?"

Justin didn't speak. Instead, he looked at Nora.

Both of them had come to understand at this moment that Nora had indeed become involved in some kind of conspiracy. If they refrained from looking at the warrant, behaved, and waited for Old Maddy's blood test results to be out and prove her innocence, then perhaps she would be able to extricate herself from the case.

But once they looked at the arrest warrant, they would become caught up in the case.

A case that Morris had set as Class SSS in confidentiality would undoubtedly be an extraordinary one.

Nora kept quiet for a moment before she said, "I'll look at it."

Her mother had told her a long time ago that she mustn't reveal how talented she was because it would bring her trouble.

From the looks of it, this might be the origin of all the unknown danger and trouble she was in.

Morris frowned. After staring at her for a while, he finally put his hand in his pocket. Nora stared at him closely.

She knew that once he took out the arrest warrant, she would come to know all the secrets that her mother had hidden from her for so long.

She was very curious. Just what had made her mother run away from home and hide in California back then?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 352 - Go!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Morris took out a document from his pocket and was about to unfold it for her to see when someone suddenly ran in.

He was wearing casual clothes. After entering, he ran straight to Morris. The man was panting from running. He held a blood report in his hand and said, “Captain Ford, we found abnormalities in Old Maddy’s blood!”

As soon as he said this, Morris’s pupils shrank. He stuffed the arrest warrant back into his pocket and took Old Maddy’s blood report. His gaze instantly became sharp.

He turned to look at Justin and moved the report in his hand before saying, “Mr. Hunt, we’ve detected an unknown component in Old Maddy’s blood. I have enough evidence to suspect that Miss Nora is involved in a deliberate murder. Now, do you have nothing to say?”

Justin narrowed his eyes and said slowly in a magnetic voice, “What right do you have to use unknown components as evidence of murder? Captain Ford’s evidence is too far-fetched!”

Morris said domineeringly, “Indeed, but there are further findings in the case. We can detain Miss Nora for another 24 hours. I believe that in 24 hours, our medical examiner will definitely be able to find out what this unknown component is and whether it’s Miss Nora’s doing. However, Miss Nora cannot be bailed out now!”

After saying this domineeringly, he waved his hand and the surrounding police officers slowly approached.

Justin frowned.

Nora also hesitated. “I didn’t use any medicine on him. You can verify this because every time I treat him, the butler is always at the scene. Now, if there’s an unknown component in his blood, I suspect that Old Maddy was poisoned by someone!”

She realized the seriousness of Old Maddy’s current condition.

When she was arrested in the morning, she thought that Old Maddy was reacting differently to the treatment, so she immediately arranged for Lily to return and take over the treatment.

But if there was an unknown component in his blood... Old Maddy was in danger!

She looked directly at Justin. “What’s the situation with Old Maddy now?”

Ever since she was detained, she had lost contact with the outside world.

When Justin came over, he had already sent the Hunts’ medical team to the hospital to help with the treatment. When he heard this, he called his medical team.

The call was picked up quickly, and the medical team’s nervous voice could be heard on the other end. “Mr. Hunt, we’ve already arrived at the hospital and looked at the patient. But we can’t find out the cause of the patient’s illness at all. Every organ in his body is rapidly failing. If this continues, the patient won’t live for long!”

He did not have much time left!

Justin immediately asked, “How long can you guys keep him alive?”

“Two hours,” the other party said. “We’ve communicated with the Smiths’ medical team. Currently, only Anti can treat this illness. If Anti can’t reach the hospital in half an hour, the patient might not be able to recover.”

Anti?

Justin grabbed his phone, feeling anxious. Why didn't the Smiths tell him about Anti when they informed him about this?

If they did, Nora would already be in the hospital now!

When his medical team arrived and discovered the problem, two hours had already been wasted!

Justin was furious. He knew that the Smiths had neglected Nora, but his expression was still terrifyingly calm at this moment. He replied, "I understand."

After hanging up, Justin looked at Morris. "I'm sure you heard that only Anti can treat the patient now, so I have to take her to the hospital!"

Morris stood in front of him. "She has only been a doctor for five years, yet she already has the ability to solve problems that no one else can? I think this is all part of your plan. As soon as Miss Nora leaves the police station, she will be jointly arranged to leave the country by the Smiths and Hunts, right? Therefore, Miss Nora cannot leave!"

Justin was furious. "Are you going to be responsible if something happens to the patient?"

"I'll be responsible." Morris stubbornly widened his eyes.

Nora clenched her hands into fists.

It would probably take half an hour to get to the hospital from here.

Convincing this person in front of her now would probably take even more time.

Old Maddy could not die.

It was not that she could not wash herself clean after he died. After all, the unknown composition in his blood would be discovered sooner or later. Whoever had poisoned him could be found out.

However, Old Maddy knew her mother. She still wanted to treat his illness so that he could tell her what had happened to her mother back then!

Furthermore, if she had not wanted to treat Old Maddy, he would not have suffered such a disaster.

Nora took a deep breath and took a step forward slowly. Her aura changed at this moment. Her eyes were sharp and cold. “Captain Ford, are you letting me go or not?”

Morris frowned. The surrounding police officers also took out their pistols and aimed them at Nora.

Morris narrowed his eyes. “Miss Nora, this is a police station. I advise you not to act recklessly.”

Nora stared at him.

Just as she was about to explode, someone suddenly grabbed her wrist.

Nora was stunned. She turned around and saw Justin shaking his head at her. “This is a police station. You can’t fight your way out.”

“...”

Of course, Nora knew that she could not fight her way out, but it was not her style to just sit there and wait for Old Maddy to die!

She took a deep breath and was about to speak when Justin sighed. “Anyway, Captain Ford will be responsible for Old Maddy’s death, so it has nothing to do with you.”

Nora: “?”

She raised her eyebrows and was about to say something when Justin warned, “Don’t mess around.”

Nora: “!”

She was so angry that her head was about to explode.

However, the next moment, Justin suddenly attacked!

His movements were as fast as lightning. While the police had their guard down, he rushed in front of Morris.

Morris' reaction was fast. He had been trained for many years and was already a top figure.

However, he was not as fast as Irvin School of Martial Arts' Big Brother.

Irvin School of Martial Arts was famous for its speed! In all of the martial arts world, their disciples were the fastest!!

When he came back to his senses, the gun in his hand had already been snatched away by Justin and was pressed against his head.

“Don't shoot!”

“Don't move!”

The entire police station was instantly in chaos. All the police officers took out their guns and aimed them at Justin, while the bodyguards Justin had brought with him stood in front of him.

The bodyguards were unarmed and could only use their bodies to block him.

Morris was being threatened, but he was still calm. His voice was as steady as ever. “Mr. Hunt, what are you doing?”

Justin's face was still cold. He lowered his eyes slightly. “Captain Ford, a life is at stake. I'm sorry.”

After saying this, he looked at an extremely stunned Nora and said, “Go!”

Chapter 353 - Ridiculous Family

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The surrounding police officers immediately looked at Nora. Just as they were about to rush over and restrain her, Justin's calm voice sounded. "Captain Ford, if you dare to stop her, don't blame me for being rude."

Morris pursed his lips.

He did not move. His gaze was glued on Nora, still standing at the same spot. His eyes were filled with deep thoughts.

After a moment, he slowly said, "Let her go."

With that, everyone around moved aside.

Nora clenched her hands into fists.

She never expected Justin to do such a thing for her.

Kidnapping Captain Ford was a serious crime!

In her opinion, her relationship with Justin involved only the two children!

Nora did not think further. She turned her head and walked out decisively.

She took a step and sped up. In the end, she ran out.

Morris stared at her, his eyes filled with anger. He sneered, "Mr. Hunt, do you know what you're doing?"

Justin replied slowly, "I know."

"Then do you know that the only way to get to the hospital from here is by driving a sports car?"

Justin continued, "I know."

Morris smiled coldly. "Mr. JHunt, are you really so sure that she's not guilty? And she's going to the hospital? Aren't you afraid that she'll make you spend the rest of your life in prison if she escapes?"

Justin raised his eyebrows. "I believe her."

These words made Morris pause.

After a moment, Morris lowered his eyes. "Do you know? My mother once said the same thing."

Justin was a little taken aback. "What?"

Morris said calmly, "25 years ago, Yvette Anderson was suspected of murder. She deceived my mother in the name of treating a patient. Guess what happened after my mother let her out?"

Justin frowned.

Morris said slowly, "She ran away, and my mother was held accountable for her actions. Now, she has been disbanded and returned to the fields. What will happen to you, who has attacked a police captain because of Nora?"

Justin lowered his eyes, hiding his emotions. His voice was still calm and without any hesitation or doubt. "I told you, I trust her. Captain Ford, please cooperate for two hours."

Morris sneered. "Even if I cooperate, do you think there are no other police officers in New York? Do you think she can really reach the hospital safely?"

Nora was escaping on her own.

The moment she left the police station, she would be seen by the other police officers in the special department. Then, she would become a wanted criminal!

—

At the entrance of the police station.

Four heads popped out from the back of a black car. They were Quentin, Louis, Warren, and Maureen.

The four of them stared nervously at the door.

Warren stammered, “Re-really? We’re breaking her out?”

Louis didn’t care. “That’s all we can do now. What else can we do?”

Warren: “This... this isn’t good, right? I haven’t made such a huge mistake before. Will Uncle Ian let us off?”

Louis sneered. “The three sons of the Smiths are all here. Why won’t he care about us?”

Warren paused and told the truth. “Other than Joel, Uncle Ian only looks at Quentin twice. Do the two of us have any weight in his eyes?”

Louis: “... Warren, can you not speak the truth right now?”

“...”

Quentin, who was listening to the two of them, twitched his lips and said coldly, “What are you afraid of?”

He controlled the dark forces and had been in tricky situations many times.

But actually, he was also panicking.

After all, the Smiths were all law-abiding citizens. Back then, when Uncle Ian handed over the underground power to him, he had only instructed him not to break the law.

What they did, what they investigated in secret, and who they protected were all at the edge of the law.

Could they do something so illegal like this?

As he was thinking about this, the police station suddenly became chaotic.

Everyone saw the police officer at the door suddenly take out a gun and enter the police station.

Maureen asked in fear, “What’s wrong?”

Louis hesitated as well. “Did Nora escape?”

Warren instantly patted his head. “Can you use your brain? With your cousin’s frail body, how could she have caused such a huge ruckus escaping from prison?”

Louis touched his head. “You’re right...”

With this sentence, Nora ran out of the police station.

The girl’s figure was thin, and the hair tie had fallen somewhere. At this moment, her beautiful hair was scattered behind her, she looked valiant and beautiful.

As she walked out the door, the police officers behind her followed, all of them pointing their guns at her.

Warren: “...”

Louis: “...”

Maureen: “...”

Nora was very anxious. The people behind her did not dare to chase after her. After all, Justin was still inside. However, if she left the police station and did not have a car, how could she drive to the hospital?

Her gaze suddenly swept across the parking lot.

Before she could see who it was, she suddenly heard Quentin shout, “Why isn’t this car locked? The car keys are inside!”

Nora followed his gaze and saw the familiar car parked there.

She immediately rushed over and opened the car door without a word. She jumped into the driver’s seat and stepped on the accelerator!

“Screech!”

The car sped away.

The other police officers followed suit and chased after her in their police cars. The others followed after her as she left the police station.

Louis and Warren were stunned.

The two of them turned their heads again and saw that Quentin had disappeared. There was another car outside the door, blocking the pathway of the policemen and the cars following them.

Quentin was casually leaning against a car. He said, “Officers, why can’t I start my car?”

Louis: “...”

Warren: “...”

The two of them turned back and saw other police officers walking over. “What are you doing here? What’s your relationship with the fugitive?”

Louis and Warren looked at each other.

The two brothers suddenly said, “Officers, we’re here to call the police! That female fugitive was too fierce. She stole our car and ran away!”

The police officer: “...What were you here to report?”

“My brother hit me!”

“My brother hit me!”

The two of them looked at each other after saying that in unison.

“Yes, I hit him!”

“Yes, I hit him!”

After saying that in unison, the two of them were stunned. Then, they suddenly reached out and hit each other.

Maureen was speechless.

She touched her forehead. “Police officer, ignore them. We’re just here to visit someone. We didn’t expect our car to be snatched away the moment we got out of the car.”

The police officers were speechless.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 354 - Who Will Pass The Word?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

At the police station.

“Send someone to guard the hospital. If the fugitive is found, arrest her immediately!”

“Yes, sir.”

“The airport and high-speed rail stations are all under martial law. Send someone to guard the entrance and exit, and send her photo to the system!”

“Yes, sir.”

Even though he was being held hostage by Justin, Morris still gave out orders unhurriedly. Justin did not stop him either until he heard this sentence.

“Let my people look for her all over New York. If she resists...”

Morris paused. “Shoot!”

The word “shoot” made Justin’s pupils shrink. He exerted some force with the gun in his hand and pressed it against Morris’s temple. “Captain Ford, aren’t you going a little overboard?”

Morris lowered his eyes. “Mr. Hunt, do you really know her?”

Justin sneered.

Morris continued, “We found out that she only returned to the country two months ago. You two have two children together, but do you really know who she is?”

Justin narrowed his eyes.

He really did not know.

He only knew that she was Anti, the Big Sister of Quinn School of Martial Arts...

There seemed to be other mysterious identities, but he did not know them.

Morris said slowly, “I believe you’ve investigated her past too, right? Her records were blank during those five years overseas. Do you know what she did during that time?”

Justin held his gun and pulled a chair over to sit opposite Morris. He leaned forward slightly, his tall figure still very oppressive. “Captain Ford, I don’t know, but this doesn’t affect me from trusting her.”

Morris frowned. “Mr. Hunt, you’ve always been a law-abiding citizen. You’re not on the same path as her.”

Justin lowered his eyes. “Even if we’re not on the same path right now, we’ll eventually get there. Life has endless possibilities, right, Captain Ford?”

Seeing that he was unmoved, Morris did not get angry. Instead, he said, “You’ll never know how big the case she’s involved in is. Mr. Hunt, you better pray that she really went to the hospital. Otherwise, you’ve committed an unforgivable mistake this time!”

Justin lowered his eyes and did not speak.

Morris looked at the person beside him. “It has been half an hour. Ask the hospital. Has Miss Nora arrived?”

“Yes, Captain Ford!”

Morris's subordinate walked to the side and made the call. "Did the suspect go to the hospital?"

The hospital had already set up a defense line. As long as Nora appeared, they would immediately arrest her.

The person guarding the hospital replied, "Report, no suspicious people have entered at the moment!"

The person had turned on the speaker when he made the call, so everyone heard him.

Morris looked at Justin. "Mr. Hunt, did you hear that?"

Justin smiled. "If your people could find her that easily, she won't be Nora Smith."

How could the Big Sister of Quinn School of Martial Arts be easily caught?

Unexpectedly, the officer on the other end of the line suddenly said, "Mr. Joel, please cooperate with our investigation!"

Then, Joel's calm voice said, "I'll cooperate fully."

"Okay. May I ask if Miss Nora is at the hospital?"

Joel was puzzled. "Isn't she at the police station? Your Captain Ford doesn't allow bail!"

The police officer said, "Mr. Joel, we've already received news that she escaped from jail. Her whereabouts are unknown now. Once she appears in the hospital, please contact us immediately!"

Joel immediately said in a deep but firm voice, "I'll definitely cooperate with the investigation."

"Okay."

The team leader left and said to his phone, “We’ve confirmed that the suspect hasn’t arrived at the hospital.”

Morris stared at Justin. “Mr. Hunt, do you still not believe me? Why don’t you take your gun away?”

Justin lowered his eyes and looked at the time. “Captain Ford, this place is about an hour away from the hospital. It has only been half an hour. What’s the rush? Why don’t we have a good chat? What was Yvette’s case back then? And what kind of case was my fiancée involved in?”

Morris was speechless.

The feeling of being detained by Justin and not being able to do anything was really infuriating!

—

In the hospital.

After the team leader finished talking to Joel, he brought a group of people to patrol the surroundings to search for Nora.

After he turned a corner, Joel looked at the storage room behind him.

This was the janitor’s work room. Usually, the broom and other things were kept here.

He looked around and confirmed that no one was around before opening the door.

Nora stood inside, leaning against the wall.

She had just sneaked into the hospital and was secretly avoiding the police when she saw Joel.

When their eyes met, Joel frowned. He was about to ask something when the team leader walked over.

Nora hid in this workroom.

She had originally thought that based on Joel's personality, he might help the police arrest her. She did not expect him to help her.

From the looks of it, other than Yvonne, the rest of the Smiths didn't seem to be that bad.

Nora nodded at Joel in thanks and was about to leave.

However, Joel grabbed her arm. "What are you doing here? Are you looking for me to help you arrange an escape route?"

Nora: "..."

Joel looked at the operating theater and said slowly, "Old Maddy can't take it anymore. Your crime this time will probably be confirmed. Although Uncle Ian doesn't like the Smiths breaking the law, I believe that he doesn't want to see you go to jail like this either. Therefore, I will help if I can."

"..." Nora's lips twitched. "I'm not leaving."

Joel was stunned. "Then your escape was..."

Nora looked at the operating theater. "I'm here to treat Old Maddy!"

Joel immediately frowned. "Nonsense! I've already gotten someone to send a message to Justin. I told him about the current situation. Only Anti can cure Old Maddy. Why are you here?"

Nora sensed something. "You got someone to send a message to look for Anti?"

"Yes. The Hunts have interacted with Anti, so only Mr. Hunt knows who Anti is." Joel frowned tightly.

Nora curled her lips. "Who did you ask to send the message?"

Chapter 355 - Saving People!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Joel said, "I asked Yvonne to call Mr. Hunt..."

At this point, he suddenly understood something. "You mean Mr. Hunt didn't hear about this? Where is he?"

Although he knew that there was something wrong with Yvonne, she was still Uncle Ian's adopted daughter. Joel had been extra wary of her, so he did not expect something to happen at this critical juncture!

They were all members of the Smith family. Everyone was protecting the Smiths' dignity!

Therefore, Joel did not believe Yvonne would do anything to harm them.

Nora sneered. "You don't believe me. Why don't you ask Justin?"

Joel took out his phone. "I'll call Justin and ask him about it."

However, before she could call him, Nora reached out and stopped him. "He's at the police station now."

As expected of the head of the Smiths, Joel instantly understood what she meant. He frowned and asked directly, "Did he help you out?"

"Yes, he restrained Morris." Nora's light words made Joel's pupils shrink again.

Actually, he knew where Louis, Warren, and Quentin were.

Old Maddy could not take it anymore.

If they could not find Anti and could not save him, even if Nora did not involve herself in the major case in Morris's hands, just this matter alone would confirm the charges of medical malpractice!

Therefore, he did not stop them.

He knew Quentin's ability.

If he wanted to save someone, he could definitely do so.

Furthermore, the three of them still did not know that he had prepared a follow-up plan to help them. The Smiths' private plane at the airport had already been prepared and could take off at any time.

However, he never expected that Justin would actually put himself in danger.

"Ridiculous!" Joel reprimanded her. "If he lets you out like this, he won't be able to clear his name no matter what. There aren't many ways to save Old Maddy!"

Nora raised her eyebrows. "Let's not talk about this anymore. I want to enter the operation theater now. Can you do that?"

"It's useless even if you go," Joel emphasized. "I told you, only Anti..."

At this point, Joel instantly understood something. He looked at Nora in disbelief and asked in shock, "You're Anti?"

"Yes."

Nora's firm answer made Joel reveal a complicated expression for a moment.

Who was this cousin of his?

He was silent for a moment before saying slowly, "Wait a minute."

He left the workroom and returned a minute later with a doctor's white coat.

Nora wore it directly and then put on her hat and mask. She lowered her head and followed Joel out of the room.

The two of them went straight to the operation theater.

The police officers were standing there, looking around. When they saw the two of them, they asked, “Who is this? Take off your mask. We want to check!”

Nora narrowed her eyes and placed her hand on her mask.

At this moment, Joel took a step forward with an anxious expression. “What are you guys doing? This is Dr. Larson, the head of the Department of Neurology. She was caught in a traffic jam and came late. Quickly let her in to treat Old Maddy! If this continues, he won’t be able to survive!”

While the two police officers were in a daze from being scolded, Joel had already pushed the operation theater doors open and let Nora in.

The two police officers hurriedly chased after her, but before they could enter, they heard a nurse shouting, “Dr. Larson, you’re finally here! Come and take a look! The patient can’t take it anymore!”

It seemed like she was really Dr. Larson?

The two police officers did not go in to stop her.

When Nora heard the nurse’s words, she narrowed her eyes.

It had only been a minute since it happened. It was impossible for the people inside to collude with Joel. That could only mean one thing!

Joel had already prepared someone to receive them.

Initially, she thought that this elder brother would be like Ian and be wary of her. After all, after she returned, the two of them had been cold to her. However, from the looks of it, he could be quite considerate.

Nora retracted her thoughts and focused on saving Old Maddy’s illness.

—

Two hours later.

In the police station, Justin loosened his grip on the gun and returned it to Morris with both hands. “Captain Ford, I’m sorry for this.”

He held the gun with both hands as a gesture of apology.

After all, he was the one who was in the wrong today.

Morris stood up and reached out with one hand. He grabbed the gun and placed it in the holster at his waist before looking at him. “Mr. Hunt, since you trust her so much, come with me to the hospital!”

Justin followed behind him. “I’d love to.”

At this moment, the police officers on both sides rushed forward. Justin’s bodyguards were about to make a move when he instructed, “Stop.”

The bodyguards stopped and watched as the two police officers walked in front of Justin and took out handcuffs.

Justin extended his hand calmly, but the two policemen did not dare to do anything. They looked at Morris for instructions.

Justin’s dark eyes were filled with coldness as he said faintly, “Captain Ford, dire times call for dire measures. I had no choice but to save her. Please forgive me.”

Morris looked at him coldly. “If I have really wronged Miss Nora, I won’t hold you responsible for this. However, if I don’t see her at the hospital, you should know what you’re going to face next.”

With that, he waved at the two police officers. “There’s no need for the handcuffs. After all, Mr. hunt is admirable for saving his fiancée.”

“Mr. Hunt, please!”

“Captain Ford, please.”

The two of them walked out of the police station side by side and got into the police car at the same time.

Justin’s bodyguards followed behind the police car as a row of cars headed straight for the hospital.

On the way, Morris said slowly, “Old Maddy’s illness is serious, the forensic pathologists and experts have all said that it’s hopeless. Even if her medical skills are really good, once he dies, I will definitely pursue your earlier actions.”

If Old Maddy could not be saved, even if they found out later that Nora had been wronged, there was no reasonable explanation for her breaking out of prison.

Justin lowered his eyes. “I know.”

At this moment, Morris received a call. A voice came through the phone. “Captain Ford, the unknown composition in Old Maddy’s blood has been investigated...”

—

In the hospital.

Yvonne stared at the operation theater.

Old Maddy had been in there for 10 hours in a row. Beside her, Florence was walking back and forth cursing, “She’s not the old sir’s daughter, so she’s indeed ruthless. She doesn’t treat the lives of the servants as human. She bullied Old Maddy, who is crazy and doesn’t know anything, and... Fortunately, the old sir is still in the ICU and doesn’t know what’s going on outside... Otherwise, he would have been angered to death by her!”

Florence asked worriedly, “Do you think the old sir’s health will be affected if Old Maddy really dies?”

At this moment, the lights in the operation theater suddenly went off. The operation was over!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 356 - Light Of Justice?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The moment the lights in the operation theater went off, everyone outside stood up.

Everyone looked at the door.

It was not because they had a deep relationship with Old Maddy. It was because Old Maddy's life and death determined whether Nora was guilty or not!

Yvonne clenched her fists and prayed in her heart.

If he died, everything would be fine! If he died, nothing could be found out from him...

While she was praying, Joel held his chin up.

Only he knew that Nora was in the operation theater. However, she went in too late. Even if she was Anti, could she really save Old Maddy who was determined to be almost dead?

He took a deep breath.

If Old Maddy died, Nora would not be able to clear her name as a suspect. Now that the police were guarding outside, Nora definitely could not leave.

It was unknown if Morris had heard some news, but he had already found the police and surrounded the hospital.

Nora would not be able to escape even if she grew wings this time!

As everyone waited nervously, the sound of footsteps suddenly came from the end of the corridor.

The sound was very loud and orderly. It sounded like an army had arrived.

Joel turned around and saw Morris and Justin striding over. Behind them were Morris's plain-clothed subordinates.

Not far behind that group of people, another row of 12 bodyguards in black suits followed closely behind. They seemed to be protecting Justin.

The large group of people naturally attracted everyone's attention. Even Yvonne became nervous.

Why was Captain Ford here?

Did they find out something and come to arrest her?

Just as she thought of this, she heard Joel walk over slowly and ask, "Captain Ford, why did you mobilize so many people to come to the hospital?"

Morris's voice was very deep. "I'm sure you've already heard about Nora's prison break. Currently, the entire New York is on lockdown. I brought Mr. Justin here to see if she has escaped here."

Yvonne heard this and asked in surprise, "Nora broke out of prison?"

How dare she?

Moreover, wouldn't breaking out of prison confirm her crimes?!

Her eyes lit up.

When Nora said that she wanted to treat Old Maddy, she was full of confidence.

It was her attitude that made Yvonne panic and lure Florence to poison him.

She could be the only eldest daughter of the Smiths. As Nora was Justin's fiancée, she was already in the limelight. Lately, whenever she went out, there were always people coming to curry favor with her. However, the one who they asked for was Nora!

She could not let Nora snatch away the glory that belonged to her!

However, she did not expect Nora to be so uncertain about herself too.

However, it made sense. After all, Old Maddy was hopeless. Even if she had mouths all over her body, she probably could not explain it clearly!

Thinking about this, Yvonne frowned with worry. “How could she break out of prison? Even if there was medical malpractice, as long as she admits her mistake, there will be a chance to correct it!”

She then looked at Joel. “Joel, did Nora contact you? Where is she?”

Joel narrowed his fox-like eyes.

Sensing his gaze, Yvonne realized that she was too anxious and sighed. “She’s just a girl. I don’t know where she can live after breaking out of prison. She probably doesn’t have much money on her, right? I’m just worried that she’ll be deceived outside!”

With that, Yvonne frowned again. “Also, did she look for Cherry? If she wants to escape, she wouldn’t leave her daughter behind, right?”

Cherry...

Was she indirectly reminding Morris?

Joel’s gaze turned even colder. He glanced at Yvonne and scolded softly, “Shut up.”

Yvonne immediately covered her mouth as her eyes turned red. “Joel, I’m sorry. I... I’ve let it slip. I was just worried about Nora’s safety.”

Joel did not say anything else.

Instead, it was Morris who added, “We’ve already confirmed that she didn’t look for her daughter.”

With that, Morris looked at Joel. “Mr. Joel, do you know that covering up a crime is equivalent to a crime itself?”

Joel lowered his eyes. “Captain Ford, I don’t understand what you mean.”

Morris looked at Justin and then at Joel.

Either of these two people could shake New York with a stomp of their feet, but at this moment, these two people were actually acting confused in front of him.

Morris looked at the operation theater and was about to continue when someone barged in from the door. “Captain Ford, the matter has blown up. Some reporters have sneaked in.”

Morris’s gaze darkened.

The person braced himself and said slowly, “When we were investigating the fugitive, we realized that there were reporters blocking the way outside. Now, they’re clamoring for the Smiths to give an explanation. They say that the Smiths treat human lives like grass and are capitalist! They said that they can’t tolerate crimes just because the Smiths have money!”

Morris said coldly, “You still need me to teach you how to handle this?”

That person wiped the cold sweat from his forehead and looked at Justin and Joel. He did not know whether to laugh or cry as he said, “Now, it’s not just the reporters from one company. There are dozens of reporters. They have already blocked the entrance of the hospital. Our people stopped them, but they are shouting outside, saying that we are colluding with the Smiths and are preparing to hide this matter from the public. They said we must give them an explanation...”

Morris frowned.

It was much more complicated when dozens of reporters blew the matter up.

They could not ignore the voices of the public.

When the person saw that Morris did not pursue his negligence, he heaved a sigh of relief. Then, he took out his phone and handed it to Morris. “Also, look... there are reporters live-streaming. There are already hundreds of thousands of people in the live stream, and the number of people is still rising...”

Morris looked over and saw a female reporter standing in front of the camera, talking.

“Yes, I’m in the hospital. I heard that the servant is being treated in this hospital. I don’t understand why there are so many police officers around. Isn’t this just ordinary medical malpractice?”

“The charges are so strict. They even stopped us from going in for an interview and didn’t let us follow up on the investigation. Is it because there’s something going on behind the scenes?”

“This is the segment team that Andy helped out with. Everyone, don’t worry.. We will definitely pursue this case. If the servant is dead, the truth will definitely be revealed! We can’t let the murderer get away with it! Even more so, even if the suspect is from a wealthy family, we can’t curry favor with them and hide the truth from others! Of course, our principle is not to malign a good person and not to let a bad person off! Therefore, we will wait here for the police to give us an explanation! I believe the Light of Justice will spread to every corner of this world!”

Chapter 357 - Old Maddy Is Not Dead!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Accompanied by the female reporter's powerful voice, a group of comments floated across the screen.

— Andy, you be careful too!

— Don't tell me we won't see this female reporter tomorrow?

— I heard that rich people don't treat people as humans at all. They treat people like toys. What servants? What kind of society is this? Do they still call them servants? Furthermore, servants are not your family's private property. They are living people!

— I heard that the one who was used for practice has a mental problem. He can't defend himself at all and can't refuse anything. Besides, he's an orphan. He has no ties or relatives. Even if he dies, no one will pursue it, right?

— It was said that he was adopted a few years ago. It seems like the hearts of the rich are indeed dark. Adoption was just a gimmick! Not only did it give them a good reputation, but they also had people to experiment with.

— Human experiment? Heavens, what kind of society is this? There was still such a dark matter?

— That servant doesn't have any relatives, but we're in this world. We can't let the murderer get away with it!"

...

The comments were flying across the screen. Each and every one of them was so righteous that it was as if they were going to eliminate them.

The title “Human Experiment” was even more eye-catching. It was obvious that it had been confirmed.

Not only did Morris see it, but there were also assistants and secretaries beside Justin and Joel who had sent their phones over. The two of them had also seen it.

Justin sneered coldly, but he was not anxious.

Joel frowned. Some people on the live comments had dug out that Nora was from the Smiths, so they were all scolding the Smiths right now. Some even scolded Ian.

At this point, the Smiths were already well-known entrepreneurs.

But he still did not speak.

Yvonne narrowed her eyes when she saw this.

Of course, she was the one who had found the reporters.

She was worried that even if Nora’s crime was confirmed, the Smiths would still come forward to suppress this matter, even if Ian would never allow anyone to commit a crime.

However, these brothers of the Smiths looked at their sister like she was the apple of their eyes. How could they be willing to watch Nora go to jail?

She could only use the public’s opinion to pressure them!

Now that Nora was forced to this extent, they couldn’t protect her, right?

As she thought about this, Morris’s phone rang. Yvonne heard Morris pick up the call. His attitude became respectful. “Yes!”

The other party said something. His expression was very ugly as he said, “Yes, don’t worry. I will definitely arrest Nora and give the public an explanation. I will not let this matter rest! I’m at the hospital now. I promise to complete the mission!”

It seemed like his leader was putting pressure on him.

Yvonne felt even more relieved as she suggested, “Joel, how did things end up like this? Nora has escaped from prison, and Old Maddy’s life is still uncertain... I think we should invite the reporters in and wait for Old Maddy’s treatment. Otherwise, the public will definitely not believe us!”

Upon hearing this, Joel’s eyes shot out a fierce look.

She could actually make such a suggestion at such a time?

Seeing that Joel was silent, Yvonne looked directly at Morris. “Captain Ford, I’m sure you don’t want to be looked at as a partner-in-crime, right?”

Morris smiled coldly. “We have a clear conscience. Why should we be afraid of other people’s words? Besides, how can we live-stream the moment we solve a case? Miss Yvonne, your suggestion is too frivolous!”

How could a police officer be allowed to do a live broadcast?

Morris had never been afraid of any comments, just like Justin and Joel.

The two of them did not take what was happening on the Internet seriously at all!

Hearing Morris’s words, Yvonne panicked. “The doctor hasn’t pushed Old Maddy out yet, which means he’s probably dead. Captain Ford, my suggestion is just to prove yours and the Smiths’ innocence! Otherwise, if they say that we’re protecting Nora...”

As soon as she said this, the door to the operating theater was suddenly pushed open.

Nora's cold and hoarse voice slowly traveled over. "I'm afraid I'll have to disappoint you.. Old Maddy is not dead."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 358 - Were Husband And Wife~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The entire corridor fell silent.

Everyone looked at the entrance of the operation theater. Nora was standing there wearing a surgical gown. Her face could not be seen clearly, but everyone could still see how calm and composed she was.

As she spoke, she took off her gloves. After taking off her gloves, she casually took off her surgical cap and mask. Her long hair fell down, revealing her beautiful face.

As her mask and hat were relatively tight, there were two red marks on her cheeks. She looked rather comical, but no one could laugh at this moment.

That was because her eyes were cold and indifferent. Even her hair was filled with seriousness when she performed surgery!

Justin stared at her, an inexplicable sense of pride rising in him as he slowly smiled.

There was more admiration in Joel's fox-like eyes.

Morris's eyes were still pitch-black. He could not say what emotions he was feeling, but anyone with eyes could tell that he was no longer as nervous as before.

The three men each had their own thoughts, but Yvonne was the one who broke the silence. She cried out in surprise, "You, why are you here?"

Nora walked out slowly and threw the gloves at the person standing at the entrance of the operation theater. That person actually took them subconsciously. When he received them, he realized that he was like an assistant. He wanted to return the gloves to her, but he did not know what to say.

Nora loosened her wrists and moved her stiff neck.

She had been completely focused on the acupuncture treatment she had used to treat Old Maddy earlier and did not dare to let her guard down. It had been a full one and a half hours... Coupled with the eight to nine hours she had been detained, she had not slept for a total of 11 to 12 hours!

At this moment, her temper had already reached the limits. She frowned and her usually obedient, yet vicious eyes swept over Yvonne. Her voice was filled with impatience. "Do you not have a brain? Of course, I'm here to treat Old Maddy."

These words made Yvonne feel a lump in her chest. She bit her lip angrily and pretended to be weak. "Nora, don't misunderstand. It was Captain Ford who said that you had escaped from prison. Now that you're here, I asked you a few questions..."

Before she could finish speaking, Nora ignored her and looked at Morris. She endured the discomfort in her body and said, "I've saved him. I'm going back to the police station with you now. As for him..."

She pointed at Justin. "Can we release him first? After all, we were too anxious earlier and were left with no other choice."

Justin said, "Didn't we already find out the unknown composition in his blood earlier?"

Had the unknown components been investigated?

Nora looked at Morris.

Joel was stunned. "Unknown composition?"

Seeing that everyone was looking at him, Morris said slowly, "Yes, we found some unknown components in Old Maddy's blood, so we suspected that Miss Nora used Old Maddy to research a new drug. It's a huge crime to privately develop illegal drugs, so we detained her."

Everyone was enlightened.

Medical accidents were common, but there had never been a case where a doctor was taken away and could not be bailed out before they could confirm that something had happened to the patient.

If that was the reason, then it made sense.

Only Nora narrowed her eyes.

Research new drugs?

These words made her frown. She wanted to connect everything together, but her mind was too muddled right now. She could not even be bothered to think about the basics.

She decided to put this matter aside and think about it after she had rested enough.

She did not speak, so Justin asked, "Then what is the unknown component we're investigating now?"

Morris looked at Nora. "It's the residue of a pesticide. It means that someone had poisoned Old Maddy. Although there was indeed a butler who testified that Miss Nora had never used drugs on Old Maddy, this matter still almost cost him his life. Therefore, Miss Nora, please continue to cooperate with our investigation. Of course, you can be bailed out this time. When we find out who the culprit is, you can be released without charges!"

When Nora heard this, she let out a big yawn and nodded. "Alright."

With that, she walked to Morris and stretched out her hand. "Captain Ford, do you need to cuff me?"

Morris was speechless.

He felt that there was some mockery in the woman's words.

He knew that he had misunderstood her previously and was against her.

He turned his head. "Miss Nora, you must be joking. I'm just asking you to make a statement at the police station. There's no need for handcuffs."

"Okay." Nora raised her eyebrows. She had just taken two steps when she realized Justin was following her. She asked, "Where are you going?"

Justin replied honestly, "I just kidnapped Captain Ford. My crime is too big, so I have to go to the police station and be locked up for a few days, right, Captain Ford?"

Morris's face darkened. "...No need."

"No, I should be locked up." Justin held Nora's arm. "It's best if you lock us up together."

Morris: "...As far as I know, you're not married yet, right?"

Justin's dark eyes looked at Nora, and a faint smile appeared on his lips. The mole at the corner of his eye became even more obvious. "We're engaged, we're husband and wife."

"..."

The corners of Morris's lips twitched. He didn't want to bother with him anymore. He felt like this person was showing off his affection.

Joel said, "I'll take you to the police station. I can pick you up immediately after you finish your statement."

Morris was speechless.

The group continued to walk out.

Yvonne, who was ignored by the others, stayed at the back of the crowd. She looked at Nora, who was surrounded by the three most powerful young men in New York, and inexplicable jealousy surged into her heart.

She clenched her fists tightly.

After a moment, she suddenly lowered her head, picked up her phone, and sent a message.

—

Outside the hospital, reporters surrounded them.

After seeing Nora leave, a group of people rushed up like a swarm of bees and surrounded them.

Morris's expression darkened.

Justin also nodded at the bodyguards.

Joel glanced at Quentin, who had been mixed in the crowd.

Therefore, the plain-clothed police, the Hunts' security guards, and the Smiths' security guards came up together and surrounded the reporters outside, forming a walking wall of flesh.

Nora saw that the reporters could not go forward. She yawned again and walked towards the police car.

After taking two steps, a reporter who was stopped outside suddenly shouted, "Captain Ford, why was the suspect in the hospital? Is Old Maddy dead or alive? Shouldn't you give the public an explanation! Also, we heard that Nora has escaped from prison. Doesn't this indirectly show that she has a guilty conscience?!"

Chapter 359 - Im Anti!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Morris's expression darkened.

The matter of breaking out of prison was serious.

Nora had indeed escaped prison, and it brought a bad reputation on him.

However, he did not agree back then because he felt that this was just Nora's excuse. After all, there were so many doctors who could not save Old Maddy. How could she possibly save him?

On the way to the hospital, he had studied Old Maddy's medical records carefully.

There were some things that were unclear, but he also understood that Old Maddy was a hopeless case!

However, just now, Old Maddy's breathing was even. He was sent to the ICU ward for observation. This meant that he had underestimated and misunderstood Nora previously!

In addition, the unknown composition in his blood was showing that he had misunderstood Nora...

Out of apology and because she had made a prompt decision to break out of prison, Nora had saved a life. He lowered his eyes and decided to cover up this matter.

He stopped in his tracks and looked at the reporter, "Miss Nora didn't break out of prison. She's here to treat a patient!"

"Treat a patient?" The reporter sneered. "If she could treat a patient, how could she have caused such serious medical malpractice! Captain Ford, I think you're colluding with the Smiths and Hunts, right? That's why you found such a lousy excuse!"

The other reporters immediately asked, "What's going on? What on earth is going on? Logically speaking, shouldn't Miss Nora be isolated from the patient if there's a problem with her treatment? What if the patient is threatened by her?"

The reporter immediately said, "Why would he be threatened? The patient is a lunatic and has an abnormal mind. He's still lying on the bed in the operation theater and hasn't woken up. What right does he have to reject and be threatened? It's just that the police department is too unruly!"

"Other doctor-patient relationships will isolate doctors and patients. Why is Miss Nora allowed to go to the operation theater?"

Morris said slowly, "The other doctors have issued critical notices to the patient, and there was no way to save him. They could only let Miss Nora come back and try. This is out of respect for the patient's life!"

This made the reporter who asked the question laugh even more. "All the doctors said that it was hopeless, but only Miss Nora can treat him? Officer, who would believe your words? Can she bring people back from the dead?"

Morris frowned.

The reporter continued to lead the conversation. "I think you're asking her to come over and take credit for it, right? I have an insider in the hospital. I've long heard that Old Maddy's illness is indeed incurable! Currently, there's only one doctor in the world who can treat him. It's Anti!"

"The Hunts knows Anti, so they urgently found him to treat Old Maddy. Then, you cooperated with the Hunts and the Smiths and got Nora to come over and enter the operation theater. It was all to snatch credit, right?"

"Someone who was treated badly by Miss Nora can still be treated by her? Ha, in this way, there won't be any medical malpractice anymore? Your families are really scheming! However, what makes us feel bitterly disappointed is that you all actually colluded with them to resolve this conspiracy! It's simply laughable!"

"Everyone, come and judge. It's not illegal for a daughter of a wealthy family to treat someone badly. Is the patient's life only for the rich to play with?!"

The reporter's every word was powerful and righteous.

The other reporters and the people who were broadcasting were all influenced by this reporter.

Therefore, everyone started to criticize Nora.

"Can you do whatever you want just because you have money? This is a lawful society!"

"You have to give us an explanation. Give Old Maddy an explanation! We want an explanation!"

"Right, we can't let this matter rest like this!"

The comments on the live stream were also flying.

— This is too much. I'm so angry! Is the life of an ordinary person so insignificant?

— Yes, rich people are too despicable. They can use any means!

— Rich people like them are the scum of society. They should be severely punished!

— She's too arrogant. Isn't this too obvious? I don't believe in this world anymore!

...

In the hospital, Yvonne looked at Andy's live stream. She lowered her eyes and smiled.

Justin and Joel looked down on the power of public opinion, but they did not know that sometimes, the power of public opinion could suppress others!

She had prepared everything that the reporter had said.

Wasn't Nora's appearance in the hospital caused by the Hunts and Smiths?

Justin had found Anti and given all the credit to Nora. Yvonne would not allow such a thing to exist!

As she was thinking about this, she saw Morris say in the live stream, "You guys are talking nonsense! I let Miss Nora come over because only she can treat Old Maddy's illness!"

The reporter sneered. "As far as I know, only Anti can treat it!"

—

"Yes, only Anti can treat it."

Nora rubbed her temples. At this moment, she only wanted to sleep. She frowned and looked at the reporter impatiently. "Then do you know who I am?"

"Who are you?" The reporter sneered. "You can't be better than Anti in terms of medical skills, right? Is that why you dare to snatch Anti's credit? We want to see Old Maddy's medical records!"

The others echoed and shouted, "Yes, we want to see Old Maddy's medical records! We want to see who the attending doctor is!"

Nora said slowly, "The attending doctor is indeed Anti."

The reporter heaved a sigh of relief. "Then this has nothing to do with you! You're still the one who treated him badly! You're still going to be pursued by the law! You can't be acquitted just because your family invited Anti to save the patient! Anti is Anti, and you're you!"

Nora's eyes were cold. She looked at him and said slowly, "But what if I'm Anti?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 360 - Found Out!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

All the reporters outside and the audience in front of the screen fell silent at once, as if someone had suddenly pressed a mute button.

Everyone stared at Nora in disbelief.

She was Anti?

This young woman looked to be in her early twenties, right? She was actually Anti? It was unbelievable!

The reporter gulped. “You... you’re joking, right?”

Nora did not say anything else.

However, the person beside him poked him. “Can this be said as a joke? This kind of thing can be checked with a simple investigation! Many people overseas have undergone surgeries by Anti. If we broadcast it like this now, everyone will know about this. She won’t dare to fake it!”

“Anti only takes two operations a month. I used to think that this doctor was too arrogant. Did Anti not need to feed her family? Now, I suddenly understand. Anti really doesn’t need money!”

“...So, when she said she was treating Old Maddy, she was really treating him! She wasn’t fishing for fame?”

“Does Anti still need to rely on others to increase her reputation?”

“Then what’s going on?”

“Why did your helper, the one called Old Maddy, suddenly almost die? Besides, why did the police arrest you?”

Before Nora could answer, Morris had already spoken up for her. “Old Maddy was poisoned by someone. We have already found some unknown components in his blood, so we invited Miss Nora to the police station to cooperate with the investigation.”

Old Maddy was poisoned and she was only there to cooperate with the investigation...

As soon as these words were out, someone sensible said, “Captain Ford, then your police station is in the wrong. As a doctor, why would she poison her own patient?”

“Yeah, she’s not stupid... If she had a grudge against the servant, would she still need to treat him?”

“...”

The reporters were all smart people. With just a few words, they could guess what had happened. At this moment, they all began to criticize Morris.

“Aren’t they arresting a good person?”

“That’s right. How can they start arresting people without investigating clearly?”

The reporters who spoke up for Nora looked at Nora after saying that. They said ingratiatingly, “Miss Nora, I’m a reporter from the New Daily. May I look for you if I need to see a doctor in the future?”

“Miss Nora, I’m...”

Morris was speechless.

He thought that the reporters were really understanding and rational, but they suddenly changed their opinions faster than light. After all this, they were trying to curry favor with her because she was a famous doctor!

That made sense. Who could guarantee that they would not get sick forever?

When he figured it out, the bodyguards and police around him also thought of it. The way everyone looked at Nora instantly changed.

The police officers who were originally surrounding Nora to prevent her from escaping now had a much kinder attitude. “Miss Nora, come this way. Don’t get squeezed...”

Morris was speechless!

The lackeys’ current behavior was unbearable to look at!

He waved his hand. “Alright, we’re not imprisoning Miss Nora. We’re bringing her back to make a statement. If there’s nothing else, please leave!”

Initially, they thought it was a drama where the eldest daughter of a wealthy family treated human lives like grass. In the end, they did not expect the big news about Nora being Anti to be exposed!

The reporters who had come over had material to broadcast. They were all excited and agitated. At this moment, their attitudes had changed drastically. They were no longer aggressive and obediently made way.

Nora, Justin, and Joel seemed to be surrounded by everyone as they got into... a police car.

In the hospital.

When Yvonne saw this news in the live stream, she clenched her fists tightly. Her usually elegant face had become even more ferocious and terrifying.

She had planned so much, but she did not expect that Nora was actually Anti! That internationally renowned surgeon!

If she had known, she would not have made such a foolish arrangement.

At this moment, she was looking at every news platform on the Internet. Every single one of them had the words: Shocking! The eldest daughter of the Smiths is actually Anti!

Every news outlet sang immense praises of her.

The daughter of a wealthy family was actually a medical genius!

This persona allowed her to smoothly gain a foothold in wealthy families.

Yvonne took a deep breath and wished she could slap herself.

This fool had such a high status, but she was still hiding it. Now, she had been forced to reveal it. Yvonne had even helped her hire reporters and spent money to buy her popularity. She had actually become the center of attention!

She punched the wall beside her angrily, feeling as if she had shot herself in the foot.

Beside her, Florence nagged, “How could Old Maddy be poisoned?”

Hearing this, Yvonne froze.

Yes, Morris was famous for being quick at investigating cases. Was she going to be exposed too?

—

Joel had been following behind the police car.

On the way, he lowered his fox-like eyes and no longer had the smile on his face.

After Nora was arrested, he actually hesitated about whether to bail her out because of his uncle. Now, he felt a little guilty.

His slender fingers tapped the armrest of the leather seat as he turned to look out the window.

Although he had a gentle temperament, he had always been swift and decisive. He had never been so conflicted and hesitant.

Ian was closer to him than his father. Although he had always called him Uncle Ian, he was the most important family member in his heart.

Ever since he acknowledged Nora, Ian had been in a coma.

The doctor said that he was depressed.

He was depressed because he knew that the woman he loved the most had been with his brother?

Nora's existence was his greatest worry.

Therefore, he was hesitant and indecisive.

On one side was his cousin from the Smiths, and on the other was his third uncle who was like a biological father. This caused him to hold back his concern for Nora.

As he thought about this, they arrived at the police station. He got out and walked to the police car.

The car had stopped a long time ago but no one got off. Just as he was feeling puzzled, he saw the back door open. Justin made a silencing gesture.

Joel: “?”

While he was in a daze, he saw Justin walking out of the car with Nora in his arms.

Nora had already fallen asleep.

Justin protected her carefully and walked very softly.

Morris was about to speak. “Mr...”

Before he could finish, Justin glared at him coldly. His viciousness made Morris subconsciously swallow his words.

Then, Justin carried her into the police station.

On the way, when everyone looked over, they were all frightened by Justin's gaze and did not dare to speak.

After entering the interrogation room, Justin carefully placed Nora on the bench. The woman turned over and fell asleep again.

At the door, Morris was speechless.

At this moment, someone walked over. "Sir!"

Morris subconsciously asked in a soft voice, "What's wrong?"

"I found out who poisoned Old Maddy."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 361 - The Pill Was Taken From Miss Yvonne's Room

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Morris heard this, a fierce look flashed across his dark eyes.

He took a look at the situation in the interrogation room.

After placing Nora on the bench inside, Justing stood guard there. Although he did not speak, it was obvious that no one could disturb him.

He could only take two steps to the side and walk around the interrogation room before asking, "Who is it?"

After the person reported, Morris lowered his eyes.

Finally, he nodded. "Okay, I understand."

With that, he walked toward the interrogation room. As he walked over, he saw a bodyguard in a black suit walking in with a blanket.

Morris: "?"

While he was in a daze, he saw another bodyguard walk in with a single mattress. Then, someone walked in with a pillow.

Morris: !!

The corners of his lips twitched. He stood at the door and realized that the hard bench in the interrogation room had already been set up as a soft bed. Nora mumbled something and turned around to continue sleeping.

Justin wrapped her in a blanket.

Morris was speechless.

He took a deep breath and walked in after building up his thoughts. He lowered his voice and said, "I've already found out that this has nothing to do with Miss Nora. She can go home and sleep."

"Shh."

Justin gestured for him to keep quiet and said, "We'll leave after she wakes up."

Morris: "?"

That's enough! What kind of place did he think this was? They would leave after she wakes up?

It was too humiliating!

As Morris thought about this, he turned around and walked out with a dark expression. When he reached the door, he paused for a moment and closed it.

The soundproofing in the interrogation room was very good. After the door was closed, it isolated all sound from the outside world. It was quieter inside, and it was more suitable for sleeping.

Justin was very satisfied.

—

At the Smiths.

Old Maddy's life was no longer in danger for the time being. He had been transferred to the intensive care unit to be guarded, and the people who stayed in the hospital left one after another.

After all, Old Maddy was only a servant at home.

After returning home, Yvonne entered his room in a daze. Just as she was about to close the door, someone pushed the door open and Florence walked in.

She frowned and said with a slightly angry expression, “Miss Yvonne, that illegitimate daughter is actually a very famous divine doctor! It’s unbelievable! But so what? She’s just a doctor. Someone who serves others can’t be shown off! Which wealthy family cares about a doctor?”

As she spoke, she mumbled indignantly, “I really don’t know how Yvette gave birth to this child. She actually inherited her mother’s medical talent. She became the most famous surgeon at such a young age. I think she was also carved out from the same mold as her mother. She’s a b*tch deep down! Otherwise, why would she get pregnant before marriage? I don’t know what kind of drug she used on Mr. Hunt to make him fall in love with this kind of woman with a burden! How can a man raise someone else’s child? Just like the old sir, why did he soften his heart and acknowledge Nora back into the Smiths? Her existence is a humiliation to him!”

Hearing this, Yvonne lowered her eyes and said indifferently, “It’s because Mr. Hunt and Nora like each other! The Smiths and Hunts need a marriage alliance, so even if dad is forced to lower his head, he’ll still acknowledge her.”

These words made Florence’s eyes turn red again. “Old Sir has really sacrificed too much for the Smiths!”

As she spoke, she almost cried. “Back then, Yvette ran away and left the old sir alone. He was unmarried throughout his life, and his family forced him to adopt a child. The old sir disagreed and asked Joel to come over, but he had never changed his name on the genealogy. The old sir even said that after he died, his ashes would be scattered into the sea so that he could look for Yvette... But the old sir was so devoted. How could Yvette betray him?”

Florence wiped her tears. “I’m just angry at Yvette. Why did she betray the old sir? The old sir’s body that she messed with back then has now collapsed. Now that her daughter is back, she has caused chaos in the Smiths!”

“Old sir personally ordered Old Maddy to stay behind. Who in our family doesn’t take care of Old Maddy? But she actually attacked Old Maddy... This is too much!”

“So is that Captain Ford. He said that Old Maddy was poisoned by someone. Old Maddy eats and wears the same as us. How could he be the only one who was poisoned?”

As Florence spoke, she sneered. “I think she might have been the one who poisoned him. She planned to save Old Maddy at the critical moment and increase her reputation!”

As soon as she finished speaking, there was a sudden movement downstairs.

Yvonne and Florence looked at each other and left the room. When they went downstairs, they saw the police chief standing there with a few police officers.

The butler’s expression was dark. “Isn’t Miss Nora at the police station? Why are you guys here again?”

The captain took out a search warrant. “We have detected pesticides in Old Maddy’s blood. By monitoring his diet during this period, we determined that Old Maddy had taken this drug!”

With that, he took out a pill. “This pill looks like traditional medicine, but it’s actually a pesticide! So, we need to investigate who gave this pill to Old Maddy.”

The butler was stunned and looked at the pill.

Immediately, he turned around and looked at Florence!

One night, Florence secretly went to Old Maddy’s room and fed him this pill. The butler had seen it with his own eyes!

Florence widened her eyes in shock. She even subconsciously shouted, “Isn’t... isn’t this the Carefree Pill?”

The police instantly turned towards her. “Did you feed Old Maddy this medicine?”

Florence nodded in a daze.

She then explained in a shaking voice, “Police officers, you’re mistaken. This is a Carefree Pill. It’s for treating Old Maddy. This pill was invented by the Harmonia Pharmacy! It’s more than 3,000 dollars. It’s very expensive!”

As she spoke, she took a step forward. “How is this some pesticide? It’s really a Carefree Pill! It was invented by the Andersons. Nora knows about it! At that time, she was treating Old Maddy’s illness. I saw that Old Maddy was unconscious every day and was worried that something would happen to him, so I fed him this pill...”

The more she spoke, the paler her face became.

Florence was not stupid. As an internal butler, she had handled many things. At this moment, she seemed to have understood something and looked at Yvonne in disbelief!

The policeman frowned. “Where did you get this pill?”

Florence stretched out her trembling hand and pointed at Yvonne.. “I, I took it from Miss Yvonne’s room.”

Chapter 362 - It Was You!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

As soon as she said that, all the servants in the room looked at Yvonne.

Yvonne's eyes widened and she tensed up nervously. Then, she took a deep breath and said steadily, "Isn't that my mosquito repellent, Mdm. Florence? Why did you take it?"

Mosquito repellent?

Florence was stunned.

In a split second, she understood everything!

She looked at the pill in shock and then at Yvonne again. She felt as if her mind had become totally blank in this instant.

Was the woman standing in front of her really the Ms. Yvonne she had always thought of as gentle, generous, and understanding?

How could she lie... How could she lie?!

She had clearly told her that it was a Carefree Pill and told her to give it to Old Maddy, causing him to almost die!

Yvonne, however, took a step back. "Mdm. Florence, w-why are you looking at me like that?"

Why she was looking at her like that...?

Florence took a deep breath, and she suddenly made a decision.

—

By the time Nora woke up, it was already bright outside.

She opened her eyes slowly, feeling as if there were needles stabbing her in the head. Her brows drew together, and she reached out her fingers and pressed them against her head. She was about to say something when a pair of strong, warm hands pressed against her head and gently massaged her temples.

The pain slowly eased, and her tightly-knitted brows finally relaxed. She looked at the man giving her a massage.

Justin was still wearing the same clothes he wore the day before. From the looks of it, he hadn't left the whole night?

Despite not having slept a wink all night, the man didn't look dispirited at all. Only the corners of his eyes revealed some fatigue.

Under the dim light of the interrogation room, his beauty mark lost some of its usual fierceness and became a little more alluring.

She unwittingly thought of how the man had held Morris hostage and told her to leave the day before. She stretched, stood up, and asked casually, "Weren't you afraid that I would flee?"

A smiling Justin looked at her and replied, "You wouldn't."

Nora paused in her stretching and asked, "Why? Because of the children?"

"Of course not," Justin took out a handkerchief and handed it to her, "It's because you said that you're in love with me."

Nora: "..."

The corners of her lips spasmed. She took the handkerchief from him and wiped her face casually. Then, she heard him say, "Just kidding. It's because I know you're not someone like that."

She froze again.

To be honest, the two of them hadn't really spent that much time together ever since her return to the States. In fact, the man wasn't even aware of many of her mysterious identities.

In spite of that, he had trusted her even in a situation like this.

She put down the handkerchief that she was wiping her face with. For some reason, as she gazed at the man's handsome face, her heart suddenly skipped a beat.

She hastily turned away and asked, "Is there anything to eat?"

She had slept all the way till now after she came back the night before, and had been asleep for a full fourteen hours. Although she was still sleepy, she had to get up and replenish some energy. Otherwise, her body wouldn't be able to take it.

"Yes, there is."

The man replied calmly. After taking out his cell phone and sending a message, someone opened the door and came in with a cart of food.

Morris, who had hurried over upon hearing that Nora had awakened, seemed troubled as his lip corners spasmed at the sight.

Those two... They were totally treating the interrogation room like it was a hotel, weren't they?

Not only had the man prepared bedding, but he had brought a washbasin and toiletries over when Nora was still asleep. In fact, he had even brought carts of piping hot food into the room early in the morning.

Every half an hour as the food turned cold, he would distribute them to the people in the police station.

Justin was doing this so that Nora would have fresh food to eat whenever she woke up!

Morris had never seen anyone who spoiled their wife more than Justin did!

He entered the room. He was about to speak when Justin suddenly held his hand up and stopped him. He said, "Captain Ford, wait till she's done eating if you have something to say, lest she gets indigestion."

Morris: "..."

He pulled a chair over and sat on it.

The interrogation room was clearly his home ground, yet the two of them were so relaxed that it was as if they were in a hotel instead. After finishing her breakfast leisurely, Nora finally looked at Morris and asked, "Captain Ford, is there any progress in the case?"

"Yes, there is."

Morris said, "The person who poisoned Old Maddy is Florence Stone. We have brought her back with us. She's in the interrogation room next door."

As soon as he said that, Justin said, "That poison isn't something an ordinary servant can easily obtain, is it?"

Morris nodded. "You're right. She took the medicine from Yvonne Smith's room."

Nora frowned. "And then?"

Morris said, "It's relatively difficult to convict Yvonne Smith of the crime. As there is no real evidence to prove that it was Yvonne Smith who made Florence Stone poison Old Maddy, what she did was, at best, tricking someone into committing a crime. Also, Stone... has admitted to doing it on her own."

She had admitted to it?

Nora suddenly said, "I'll go and talk to Florence."

"Okay."

—

In the interrogation room.

Nora saw Florence, who had been detained.

She looked tired and haggard as if she hadn't slept a wink all night because of fright. However, when she saw Nora, the look in her eyes suddenly became fierce and savage.

Nora went straight to the point. She merely asked, "Why?"

Why was she taking the rap for Yvonne?

Florence definitely wasn't the one who had poisoned Old Maddy.

The woman displayed all her emotions in the open and was also a direct and straightforward person who had ridiculed and mocked Nora at home. She was very protective of Ian in everything she said, so there was absolutely no way she would do anything to bring shame to the Smiths.

Florence understood what she meant.

She sneered, "Because she's the old sir's daughter. Even if she's just an adopted daughter, she's still his daughter, whereas you bring shame to him!"

Florence lowered her head. "I am indebted to the old sir. There's nothing I can do to repay him except for this."

Nora frowned. "But she's not a good person."

"So what if she's a good person? And so what even if she's a bad person?!" Florence became agitated. Her eyes reddened as she stared at Nora. "Back then, your mother was also a good person! She saved so many people! I had also thought she was a good person, so why did she betray the old sir? Do you have any idea how he lived all these years?!"

—

The Smiths didn't know anything about the conversation between Florence and Nora in the police station.

Joel was sitting in the study with his gaze lowered.

The door opened, and Yvonne walked in uneasily. "Were you asking for me, Joel?"

Joel looked up. "There's no way Mdm. Florence would poison Old Maddy. Both you and I know that very well."

Yvonne bit her lip and simply refused to admit to it. She said, "What do you mean by that, Joel? I don't understand what you're saying. Even Mdm. Florence herself has already admitted to it. I—"

But before she could finish, Joel had already cut her off. He said, "Uncle Ian hates people who violate the law and break rules the most.. Even if you're his daughter, you're not allowed to do that! Mdm. Florence may not expose you, but the Smiths will never tolerate and condone such vileness!"

Chapter 363 - Stripped Of Duties!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne bit her lip when she heard him.

She looked at Joel.

The man sat leisurely behind the desk with his hands on it. However, his eyes, which were always smiling, were deep and bottomless.

He stared at Yvonne, making her feel as if all her clothes had been stripped off. Those eyes seemed to be able to see right through one, yet others couldn't tell what he was thinking.

Yvonne lowered her head. "I admit that I made a mistake, Joel. I shouldn't have bought a pill like that and left it in the room, thereby giving Mdm. Florence a chance to steal it. But I really didn't break the law. Surely you can't say that I broke the law just because someone stole the pill I bought and poisoned another person with it, right?"

Joel narrowed his fox-like eyes.

He sneered, "Yvonne, do you think I asked you here to force you to admit to your mistakes? You're wrong."

Yvonne was taken aback. Then, she heard the man's rich and mellow voice. He said slowly, "I'm not a police officer who needs evidence in order to convict someone of a crime. Neither do I need you to admit to anything. Both you and I know that very well."

His voice was gentle, yet it also seemed like a voice straight out of hell, causing Yvonne's heart to sink little by little.

Joel stood up. "Since there isn't any evidence, I won't hand you over to the police. Besides, you're Uncle Ian's daughter. How you should be dealt with will have to wait until Uncle Ian wakes up. However, you don't have to manage the family matters anymore during this time."

His words made Yvonne suddenly look up at him.

As Ian's one and only lawful daughter, Yvonne had always enjoyed a very high status in the family.

In fact, legally, she had a closer relationship with Ian than what Joel, Ian's nephew, had with him.

Therefore, while Joel managed the company's affairs, Yvonne was in charge of the family's affairs. Even Florence, the housekeeper in charge of the family's internal affairs, was just her helper.

Why did Louis keep suffering in her hands despite loathing her so much? It was thanks to the fact that she was the one in control of the finances!

Yet, Joel was going to deprive her of her authority?

Yvonne couldn't stop herself from retorting, "Who do you intend to put in charge of managing the family's affairs, if not me? Nora? You can't do that. I'm Dad's only daughter while she's nothing more than a shameful product of that woman's betrayal of Dad. Aren't you embarrassing Dad if you do that?"

Seeing that she was still arguing even now, Joel slowly cast his eyes down and said, "You can go now."

Yvonne wanted to argue some more, but she knew that Joel never changed his mind once he made a decision.

She clenched her fists, took a deep breath, and walked out of the study.

After she left, Quentin popped out of somewhere, went to Joel, and asked, "Are you really going to let her off just like that, Joel?"

Joel rubbed his temples, feeling a headache coming on.

He sighed and said, “Uncle Ian is still in a coma. As his only daughter, it’s best that nothing happens to her for now. If Uncle Ian pulls through, he will deal with her himself.”

Joel, who had been brought up by Ian himself, knew Ian’s character all too well.

He hated schemes and conspiracies like these the most.

Besides, he felt that Uncle Ian didn’t really seem to dislike Nora that much...

Quentin couldn’t help asking, “What if Uncle Ian doesn’t make it?”

The look in Joel’s eyes suddenly turned cold. “Then it’ll be the time that she gets married once she finishes two years of mourning for Uncle Ian.”

As for who she’ll marry and how much money to give her once she does, Joel had the final say!

Quentin nodded.

He and Joel were of the same opinion with regard to Nora—neither of them liked her very much. After all, he was someone constantly in the shadows. Nora’s thoughts were just like his—unfit to be brought into the light.

While he was thinking about it, Joel asked, “Has Nora woken up?”

The sensitive Quentin discovered that Joel’s term of address for Nora had changed. From the distant and alienated ‘Ms. Smith’, it had now become ‘Nora’... Ahem!

Quentin straightened his back and replied, “I don’t know. She was still asleep when I left. She had looked so lazy, didn’t even work, and only knew to sleep every day in the past. But unexpectedly, she’s actually the famous Anti... Thinking about it again, it’s no wonder she’s so rich!”

“... Rich?”

Quentin nodded. “Yeah. Don’t you know? Louis has already become her fan just because she’s rich!”

Joel couldn’t help remarking dryly, “What a promising future that fellow has.”

“I know, right?”

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully. “I, for one, won’t bend over just because she’s rich. If she wants my recognition... only if she’s the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ Big Sister!”

Joel: “...”

Quentin looked at him again. “What does our little cousin have to do in order to gain your recognition, Joel?”

Joel glanced at him, picked up company documents from the table, and said, “What a meaningless question.”

Quentin curled his lips disdainfully.

Joel’s phone vibrated at this point. He glanced at it and found that it was a text message from Tanya: ‘Please let me know when Nora returns.’

Joel sent her a question mark.

Tanya immediately replied. As if she was eager to distance herself from him, she wrote: ‘Nora isn’t picking up my calls, so I reckon she’s still being detained! Cherry misses her mom. Tell her to pick up her daughter once she returns.’

At the sight of the message, Joel immediately got up, picked up the car key, and walked out.

Quentin was taken aback. “Where are you going, Joel? Aren’t you going to wait for our little cousin to come home?”

Joel didn't stop. He replied, "I'm picking up the child and bringing her home."

Quentin: "?"

'Child'?

Wasn't it the weekend? It didn't seem like Mia had gone to school, though?!

—

Nora only came out of the room after she was done talking to Florence.

She didn't really blame Florence. In fact, her loyalty to Ian made her sigh in admiration. What kind of age were they already in? Yet there were still people who could go to that extent for their masters.

No wonder Joel hadn't driven her away after he took over the family.

Morris asked, "How was it, Ms. Smith?"

Nora gave him her serious feedback. "The interrogation room's soundproofing is indeed pretty good. You can try using it if you ever have insomnia in the future."

Morris: "..."

He was asking if Florence had said anything! He wasn't asking about the interrogation room!!

But as he watched the unaffected woman in front of him, he fell silent for a moment before he finally said, "I apologize for my actions previously, Ms. Smith. I'm sorry."

Nora raised her eyebrows when she heard him.

Her lips curled into a smile and she suddenly said, "Apology accepted, Captain Ford, but I'd still like to ask you to do me a favor."

“What is it?”

Nora cast her eyes down and asked, “Can you tell me just what kind of case am I involved in?”

Her head had cleared up after she woke up.

Morris kept quiet for a while. He looked up and stared at her for very long, seemingly considering whether he could tell her about it. At last, he stepped aside and said, “Let’s talk over there, Ms. Smith.”

There were indeed some things he didn’t need to hide from her anymore.

Nora nodded.. She gave Justin a comforting look and followed Morris into the confidential room next door.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 364 - Dna Sample From Back Then?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Justin stood there and watched helplessly as Morris took her into the secret room. He frowned.

The confidentiality room was a room used for important cases in the country. No conversations inside would be recorded.

Therefore, be it discussing the case or presenting the case, it would be inside.

Back when Morris took Nora away forcefully and did not allow her to be bailed out, he knew that Nora might have been involved in a case.

Now, the mystery was finally going to be solved, right?

He lowered his eyes. His eyes were dark, and the mole at the corner of his eye seemed to be flickering. From his appearance, it seemed like he already knew what that secret was.

—

Nora originally thought that the soundproofing in the interrogation room was good enough, but when she entered the room and Morris closed the door, her heart skipped a beat.

All the sounds outside were blocked by a door, making her feel as if she was isolated from the entire world.

When she looked at Morris again, he was still as cold as ever. He pointed at the chair and motioned for her to sit down before sitting opposite her.

The two chairs were the same. He did not look like he was interrogating a criminal and it was like they were talking fairly.

While Morris was still struggling with his choice of words, Nora asked, “Is it about illegal drugs and human trials?”

Morris paused. “I didn’t expect Miss Nora to be so perceptive.”

Nora rolled her eyes.

How could she still not understand at this point!

After Old Maddy’s incident, Morris had kept asking her if she had given Old Maddy any drugs. Then, he had detected some unknown components in Old Maddy’s blood. He immediately became nervous and his attitude became worse.

At that time, Morris was certain that she had fed Old Maddy something.

Later on, when he realized that Old Maddy’s blood contained drugs commonly used to poison rats and mosquitoes, Morris relaxed. He did not even participate in the arrest of Florence.

If she still could not detect anything, she was too slow.

Nora thought about this and asked, “Captain Ford, should we talk about this properly now?”

Morris nodded and crossed his arms on the table. His posture seemed more like he was testing and wary. “Miss Nora, do you know that there is a mysterious organization in this world that outsiders don’t know about?”

A mysterious organization?

Nora’s first reaction was Imperial League.

She lowered her eyes and looked calm, but her heart felt as if it had been scalded.

Imperial League was indeed a dangerous existence to be able to control the global economy. But according to what she knew, it didn't do human experiments or illegal drugs.

So it wasn't Imperial League.

She looked up at Morris and did not answer his question. "Please elaborate."

Morris observed the girl in front of him.

She had just woken up. Perhaps it was because she had slept for too long, but her almond-shaped eyes were a little swollen. Although she had eaten, her voice was still a little hoarse.

No one could guess what she was thinking.

Actually, Morris had been observing her for a long time, but he felt like this girl was covered in a veil. Every time he felt that she was just an ordinary person, she would do something that surprised him.

For example, her identity as Anti...

At the thought of this, Morris lowered his eyes. "We still don't know what that mysterious organization is called. We only know that they're doing human experiments and illegal pharmaceuticals. Moreover, the drugs they create are very dangerous and will cause a destructive blow to the entire human race!"

When Nora heard this, she slowly sat up straight. Her eyes became more serious. "A destructive blow?"

"Yes," Morris said slowly. "We've always guessed that they're creating a virus and they've already started human trials more than twenty years ago!"

20 years ago?

Nora frowned. "Is my mother related to this organization?"

Morris was silent for a long time before he said slowly, “We suspect that your mother was from this organization, so we secretly arrested her back then.”

At this point, he lowered his eyes. “At that time, my mother was the leader of the operation team. After her arrest, your mother said that she had a patient waiting for her to treat. Otherwise, that patient would die. She even said that only she could treat that illness.”

Nora suddenly understood. “Your mother let my mother go and my mother ran away. That’s why you refused to let me go this time. You didn’t believe what I said?”

Morris was speechless.

What did she mean by refusing to let her go...

He grimaced, ignoring her choice of words, and nodded. “Yes.”

Nora suddenly understood his neurotic way of doing things. If it involved such a high-level case, forcing her to stay was understandable.

After saying everything, Morris stood up and extended his hand to her. “So, please understand my actions again.”

“Sure.”

Nora did not shake his hand and just waved it casually.

As they walked out, Morris took the opportunity to say, “Florence’s poison was stolen from Yvonne’s room, but if Florence doesn’t say anything, we won’t be able to hold Yvonne responsible. If Miss Nora wants to bring the real criminal to justice, you’d better think of a way to convince Florence.”

Nora stretched lazily. When she thought of Florence’s complaints about her, she lowered her eyes and said, “Unless I’m Ian’s biological daughter, it’s impossible to convince her!”

Morris was speechless.

Nora dragged her feet and lazily walked out the door. After meeting up with Justin, the two of them left the police station.

As soon as she went out, Lily appeared in front of her. She wanted to say something, but she glanced at Justin and pulled Nora to the side. She asked nervously, “Anti, are you okay?”

Nora nodded. “I’m fine.”

Lily said indignantly, “What’s wrong with the Smiths? Is this how they treat you? It’s too much! Moreover, your DNA mutated a little in the later stages. No one can say for sure if you’re really Ryan’s daughter. I think your father is Ian!”

Nora patted her shoulder. “If you don’t have evidence, don’t talk nonsense.”

Whether she was Ryan’s daughter or Ian’s, there was no accurate news for now. Unless they got real evidence, Nora would not say anything to the Smiths.

Otherwise, wouldn’t it be awkward if she was really Ryan’s daughter?

Lily was so angry that she blew raspberries. “Evidence? How can we get evidence now? Unless we go back more than twenty years ago and save some DNA samples from your birth, where else can we find evidence?”

20 years ago... DNA samples?

Nora suddenly thought of the manager who was protecting Idealian Pharmaceuticals for her mother.. Her eyes lit up.

Chapter 365 - Who Is The Real Miss?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Although Nora had been in New York for two to three months, Idealian Pharmaceuticals would send the dividends to her account on time in the past few months.

She just had a lot of money and never cared about it.

However, now that she thought about it, Wayne was the manager her mother had personally chosen. He also managed Idealian Pharmaceuticals and did not let Henry interfere to snatch it away. He definitely had his own means!

She nodded at Lily, picked up her phone, and walked to the side to call Wayne.

As soon as the call connected, Wayne's excited voice was heard. "Miss Nora, you've finally thought it through. Are you coming back to inherit the company?"

Nora: "..."

Why did this fellow seem so enthusiastic?

How unwilling was he to manage the company!

She grimaced and asked, "No, I just want to ask you a question."

The other party's voice immediately lowered as he said listlessly, "Okay, ask away."

Nora asked, "Did my mother leave anything for me at your place?"

“Yes!”

Before the other party could speak, Nora interrupted him. “Other than companionship and love, is there anything else?”

“...About that!” Wayne dragged out his words and sighed. “What specifically do you want?”

Nora asked tentatively, “For example, fetal hair? Or a blood sample?”

Wayne: “Of course not. Miss Nora, why would your mom leave your fetal hair for me? I’m not a pervert. I don’t have a fetish for collecting hair!”

Nora: “...”

Wayne asked, “Miss Nora, are you busy?”

Nora: “No, what’s wrong? Is there something wrong with the company?”

“Not really. After all, our small company relied on the formula your mother left behind. It’s not a problem for us to prescribe some medicine. It can also ensure that you have no financial worries in your life.” Wayne began to nag. “I just want to say, when are you coming back to manage the company? I’m really too busy alone! You don’t even know that there are many miscellaneous matters in the company. As the chairman of Idealian Pharmaceuticals, you have to be responsible. You can’t leave everything to me alone. I’m already old... blah, blah...”

Nora listened for a full minute. When she saw that he was still not stopping, she said, “By the way, what did you ask me just now?”

Wayne: “... If you were busy?”

Nora immediately said, “I’m very busy. I’m hanging up... Beep, beep, beep...”

Wayne was speechless.

Hearing the busy tone on the phone, Nora pouted. She really couldn't listen to a naggy person.

She looked at Lily. "I might be busy for a while. Stay in the country for now."

"Okay."

As her first assistant, Lily was very competent. "Where do I stay?"

Nora thought for a moment. "Stay with me in the Smiths."

After her identity was exposed, there would definitely be many people looking for her. It was very troublesome. This would require Lily to handle it. If there were problems that other doctors could resolve, Lily would help recommend them. If Nora had to do it, Lily would arrange a schedule for her.

At the thought of this, Nora felt a headache coming on.

She rubbed her temples and walked with Lily to Justin's car.

Justin stood at the side. When he saw the two of them walk over, he opened the back door, and Nora got into the car. Lily wanted to follow them, but she realized that Justin was blocking the door.

Lily was stunned. She looked up and saw Justin glance at the front passenger seat.

Lily immediately understood and stuck out her tongue. "I'll be in the front passenger seat! I'm not an insensitive person, Anti's boyfriend."

Anti's boyfriend?

Justin was a little stunned when he heard this title.

Usually, when he was outside, people would call him Mr. Hunt or Justin. This was the first time he was called Nora's boyfriend.

He suddenly liked this nickname.

He lowered his head slightly and got into the car. He entered the backseat and sat with Nora.

The journey was silent. After Justin took the two of them to the Smiths, he did not stay any longer. After all, he had not slept the entire night. He wanted to go back and recuperate.

Besides, Cherry was still waiting for him at the Hunts.

Nora brought Lily into the house. Just as they entered, the butler welcomed them. “Miss Nora, you’re back!”

His attitude became much more respectful.

Nora was taken aback for a moment.

The butler bowed deeply to her. “Miss Nora, I was wrong to have misunderstood that you were trying to harm Old Maddy. I didn’t expect you to be the famous Anti. I was blind!”

“Miss Nora, we misunderstood you!”

When the other servants heard that she was back, they immediately walked out and bowed to her.

Those who could work in wealthy families were not fools.

Initially, they thought that Nora was going to use Old Maddy to make a name for herself. They did not expect that she was really going to treat him!

On the other hand, Florence had stolen poison from Miss Yvonne’s study and almost killed Old Maddy!

It was obvious at a glance which young lady did not care about their lives!

Initially, when Nora had come to live with the Smiths, everyone still felt some disdain for her. They felt that she was just a wild chicken who had become a phoenix thanks to her background. However, at this moment, everyone admired her from the bottom of their hearts.

On the way back to her room, all the servants who saw her stood at a distance and bowed to her to express their apologies.

The servants in the entire manor had a 180-degree change in attitude toward her!

Nora entered the living room. The housekeeper, Lucy, who had just been promoted by Joel, hurried over. “Miss Nora, you’re finally back! Do you have any orders for me?”

Nora glanced at him.

Lucy was in her thirties. She looked very young and energetic. Her attitude toward her was very respectful.

Nora pointed at Lily. “This is my assistant. She will be staying here for a period of time. Please arrange a guest room for her.”

“No problem!”

Lucy immediately said, “Miss Lily, you can wait in the living room and tell me the style of the room you like. I’ll choose a guest room that you like.”

Nora was going upstairs to take a shower, so she went up first.

Lily sat in the living room. After choosing a guest room, Lucy arranged for someone to tidy it up and accompany her.

At this moment, Yvonne suddenly walked down and casually instructed, “Lucy, come over. I have something to tell you.”

Lucy was stunned and looked at Lily. “Miss Yvonne, there’s... a guest here.”

Yvonne’s gaze instantly turned sharp as she stared at Lucy. “Lucy, since you’re in this family, you should understand who the real daughter of this family is! The entire Smiths belong to my father!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 366 - Umbilical Cord Blood!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lucy was Joel's caretaker.

It could be said that she was the nanny who had taken care of Joel since he was young. Because she was meticulous and smart, she had always worked for the Smiths.

As Joel grew up, Lucy had also slowly been promoted and given a raise from taking care of him. Before Florence was taken away by the police, her words at home already carried a lot of weight.

Even Florence and Yvonne were polite to her because of Joel.

After all, Florence was already old, and Joel was the new head of the Smiths. Her future status could be imagined.

Lucy had watched Yvonne grow up. She was loyal to Joel, so she naturally disliked Yvonne.

After all... Joel was the one Ian had chosen. Yvonne was Ian's adopted daughter, but she had a high status at home and always suppressed others.

In the past, when she saw Maureen giving in to Yvonne, she couldn't help but wonder if Joel would give in to her at home when he got married in the future.

However, Joel's wife would be the madam of the Smiths! She would also be the future matriarch of the Smiths!

Therefore, Lucy and Yvonne were born to be enemies.

Coupled with the fact that Old Maddy had been poisoned, everyone knew that Florence was either under Yvonne's orders or had been deceived. Therefore, they felt even more disdain for Yvonne.

Yvonne had lost control of the family, and Lucy was now in charge of the family's matters.

Lucy did not feel threatened by her words. She only smiled and said, "Miss Yvonne, from what you're saying, you're older than Miss Nora. Of course, you're the eldest daughter of the Smiths! It's just that I still have a guest here. Furthermore, Mr. Joel has just handed the house to me. I have all kinds of miscellaneous matters to deal with here. I'm a quiet person and I'm cautious in my actions. I don't dare to make any mistakes or embarrass myself in front of a guest. If news of this gets out, no one will scold me. They will only say that the Smiths' upbringing is bad. Don't you think so?"

Yvonne: "!!"

She had long known that Lucy was not a pushover, but she did not expect her to rebut her like this.

Yvonne's face turned red and white.

The surrounding servants were clearly working, but Yvonne knew that they must have strained their ears to eavesdrop on their conversation.

After Joel fired the housekeeper, Yvonne knew that Lucy would definitely hit her while she was down. When she made things difficult for Lucy earlier, she wanted everyone to see that even if she had done something wrong, she was still the owner of the Smiths!

However, she did not expect to meet a wall with Lucy.

She took a deep breath. She knew that at this moment, she had to turn the situation around. Otherwise, she would really be looked down upon.

She lowered her eyes. "Lucy, I only called you over to tell you how to entertain the guest. Why are you making it sound so grand? Or do you think that I, as the eldest daughter, have no right to give you instructions?”

With that, she sneered. “Dad is indeed in the hospital. Joel is in charge of the family now, but Dad is still around. Do you think he’ll be happy to know that you’re talking to me like this after he wakes up?”

Lucy choked.

Ian was equivalent to the emperor emeritus in the family. Everyone knew that he had the ability to take back control of the family. It was just that Joel was very filial and Ian was very satisfied with him!

Lucy did not dare to say such words. She immediately stood up. “Miss Yvonne, what do you want to say?”

Yvonne glanced at Lily and said, “Since there’s a guest at home, let’s add a few dishes tonight! This lady must have returned from overseas. She must be very interested in the delicacies in New York. We can prepare a sweet and sour fish.”

The list of dishes prepared in the kitchen had long been prepared. If Yvonne suddenly added more dishes, the chef would definitely have to rush out to buy ingredients. This would make things difficult for the kitchen.

However, Lucy still agreed with a smile. “Miss Yvonne is right. I’ll get someone to prepare it right away.”

Yvonne nodded.

When she turned around and walked upstairs, she sensitively saw Lucy purse her lips and make a disdainful expression.

Yvonne forcefully suppressed the anger in her heart.

She was just a servant, yet she dared to be rude to her!

Furthermore, the rest of the family’s attitude toward her had clearly changed. There was coldness in their distance, just like how they treated Nora in the past.

But so what?

Nora was the daughter of the second branch. She was basically from the side family! Now, the Smiths' direct line of descent was her!

As long as she was still Ian's legal daughter, then she would have a share of his family fortune! Even if she was an adopted daughter, she was still better than Nora, the legitimate cousin of the Smiths!

After all, how could a niece get an uncle's inheritance?

In the Smiths, her identity as Yvonne would forever suppress Nora!

—

At this moment, outside the door.

Lisa stood there and was answering a call. It was Nora's aunt, Irene. "...I wonder how Nora is now. Go and take a look. Why is she suspected of medical malpractice? This child didn't say anything either. If I hadn't seen the news, I wouldn't have known! Sigh!"

Lisa stood at the door, feeling a little conflicted. "Mom, Nora isn't Henry's biological daughter. Isn't it bad for me to go looking for her like this?"

Ever since she found out that Nora was not Henry's biological daughter, Lisa did not dare to visit her again.

Now that she knew Nora was her mentor, Anti, she became even more fearful!

However, after watching the live broadcast and the news, she was the same as her mother. She was very worried about Nora's comfort in the Smiths. Did the Smiths not treat her well enough?

Lisa looked at the imposing door in front of her and became even more hesitant.

She did not expect Nora to be this family's daughter...

As she was feeling ashamed of herself, Irene's voice was heard. "What's wrong with that? I believe Nora isn't that kind of person! She'll acknowledge us!"

Lisa nodded and took a deep breath. "Alright."

At this moment, Lisa's father, Bobby, said, "Honey, do you remember Lisa's umbilical cord blood?"

Irene was stunned. "What's wrong?"

Bobby said, "Back then, when you gave birth to Lisa, we spent about 3,000 dollars to keep her umbilical cord blood for more than twenty years. The hospital called me just now and asked if we wanted to keep it for a while longer."

Irene immediately said, "Is it expired? Then you can renew the fees."

With that, she sighed. "Speaking of which, I learned how to store umbilical cord blood from Nora's mother. When she gave birth to Nora, she had kept her umbilical cord blood for her. Now, it should still be in the hospital's freezer.. By the way, Lisa, when you see Nora, remember to tell her. She definitely doesn't know about this yet! If it's useful in the future..."

Chapter 367 - Two Actresses

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“What nonsense are you talking about?” Bobby interrupted Irene. “When would you need the umbilical cord blood? I hope she won’t need to use it for the rest of her life!”

Cord blood was mainly used to treat blood diseases, such as leukemia. Under normal circumstances, it would definitely not be needed.

Irene immediately snorted. “Yes, Nora definitely won’t need it. But we still have to tell her.”

The disappointing brother at home had already disappeared for a long time. The Blacks in California were living more comfortably than before.

Especially since Bobby had recently been in a few big business deals with the company.

Although Bobby did not know who had helped him, he had a feeling that it might be related to Nora.

He was a good kid who knew how to repay kindness. Back then, he had misunderstood that Nora did not care about his wife’s life. However, when he saw the live broadcast, he finally understood why Nora was so indifferent back then.

It turned out that the doctor she had found for the Blacks was herself!

Bobby was feeling guilty about chasing her out of the hospital back then, so he snatched the phone away and said to Lisa, “When you see Nora, remember to help me bring her home. Ask her to bring the child over to play when she’s free. I’ll make her favorite brown sugar rice cake!”

“...Okay.” Lisa hung up the phone and looked at the luxurious door in front of her again. She thought for a long time before knocking on the door.

The door opened quickly. The guard asked, “Who are you looking for?”

Lisa: “...I’m looking for Nora.”

The guard looked her up and down. “Wait a minute.”

“Okay.”

The guard called and entered the hall. The housekeeper, Lucy, had just tidied up the guest room for Lily. After receiving the call, she was about to call Nora to ask if she should come in when she was stopped by Lily. “Let Miss Lisa in first. An... Miss Nora should be sleeping right now. Don’t disturb her.”

Lily knew Nora’s body very well. She had spent the entire day at the police station yesterday and went to treat Old Maddy at night. Even though she had slept for a while, her energy had not recovered yet. She must be sleeping right now!

Lucy listened to Lily and let the guard bring Lisa in.

Upstairs, Yvonne listened to their conversation and bit her lip in anger. She was just a servant, and she would chatter away after saying a few words. However, when Nora’s assistant spoke, she was as obedient as anything. She simply did not take her seriously!

How infuriating!

—

When Lisa was led into the Smiths’ residence, she was first stunned by the lavish courtyard.

This was New York!

In places where every inch of land was worth money, they actually had such a large manor. Furthermore, she was perceptive to the fact that some places had flowers planted and some places had vegetables. This was the first time Lisa experienced the difference between her and a truly wealthy family!

She was already so terrified. No wonder Nora was being bullied here!

Yes, she was certain that Nora had suffered in the Smiths.

It was just medical malpractice. Even in California, if Henry did not appear, her parents could still bail her out. But in New York, the Smiths actually allowed Nora to be detained for 24 hours!

Wasn't it just because they were rich?

As Lisa thought about this, she became even more furious.

At this moment, a playful voice was heard. "Hey, who is this?"

Lisa turned around and saw a man around her age with blond hair... To be precise, it was a young man walking over. She frowned when she heard the housekeeper say, "Mr. Louis, this is Miss Nora's cousin from California."

Louis immediately sized up Lisa when he heard this.

Was this his cousin's trash family in California?

Ever since Nora became his idol, he had asked around about her. When he asked around, he was instantly furious. He did not expect his cousin to live like that in California!

Especially that shameless cheap father of hers. He had taken her mother's money and still treated her so badly!

Therefore, Louis did not have a good impression of the family in California. When he saw Lisa, he immediately sneered. "Tsk, are you here to take advantage of Nora now that she has become a phoenix?"

Taking advantage of Nora?

Lisa felt Louis's disdain and was instantly infuriated.

She was still a guest, yet he was already being so rude. Wouldn't the Smiths be even more rude to Nora?

The soft person had also lost her temper. She was so angry that her face was red and her voice was trembling. "What's so great about you? Do you have to look down on me?"

Louis raised his head and placed his hands on his hips. "The Smiths are very impressive. Country bumpkin, you must have never seen such a big courtyard, right?"

Country bumpkin?

Did they scold Nora like that too?

Lisa kicked the flower bed beside her in anger. "Who are you calling a country bumpkin?"

Louis made a face. "Whoever cares about it is the country bumpkin! What do you think your family is? Tsk, little girl, I advise you to be careful. Do you know how much this jar of flowers costs? Any one of them is worth thousands of dollars! If you broke it, can you afford to pay?"

Lisa: "!!"

Her eyes were red as she glared at the jar of flowers. She walked to the other side and planned to kick the grass, but Louis said proudly, "The grass over there is no ordinary grass. It's orchid! One stalk is worth tens of thousands! Are you sure you want to kick it?"

Lisa paused again and looked to the side.

Louis clicked his tongue and showed a disdainful expression. "Little girl, the piece of land you're standing on is worth hundreds of thousands per square meter. Our family is rich, what can you say?"

Lisa: "!!"

She was furious. “Even if you have a lot of money, you can’t buy kinship. Why are you looking down on us?”

Louis didn’t notice this “us” and thought that she was talking about the family in California. Therefore, he stuck out his tongue. “I’m just looking down on you. Hit me if you dare!”

As soon as he said this, Lisa had already raised her little fist and punched him in the face. “I’m so angry! I’ll let you know today that money is not everything. There are some people you can’t afford to offend!”

Louis took a nimble step back and Lisa chased after him.

The two of them immediately started fighting.

This was what Lily saw when she went out.

Both of them had their hands on their hips.

Louis said annoyingly, “Hmph, your family bullied my cousin. Now, it’s my turn to bully you!”

Lisa’s face was also red as she roared angrily, “The Smiths are bullying my cousin. Let me tell you, my cousin and the Blacks are not people who can be bullied easily!”

Chapter 368 - Arent You From The Smiths?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

At this moment, Lisa was pinching Louis's face while Louis was pushing Lisa's neck to prevent her from getting too close to him. Louis did not dare to make a move. After all, the other party was a girl and he was still merciful.

The two of them were stunned when they heard each other.

Lisa's grip loosened. "What did you say?"

Louis was stunned too. "What did you say? The Blacks? Aren't you the Smiths from California?"

Lisa: "?"

Louis thought for a moment and coughed. "I think we misunderstood. Let go and talk things out."

Lisa was furious. "No, let go of me first."

Louis: "...Why don't I call out 'one, two, three' and we'll let go together?"

"Okay."

"One, two, three..."

Even after he finished counting, they were still intertwined.

Louis said, "Let go!"

Lisa: "Let go of me first!"

Lily was speechless.

The two of them were already 20 years old. Together, they were already 40! Yet, they were still so childish!

The corners of her lips twitched. She took a step forward and said, “Louis, Lisa, you’ve misunderstood! You’re both Nora’s best relatives! Let go of each other quickly!”

Louis asked hesitantly, “What are you talking about? Didn’t you say that the Smiths in California treated her badly?”

“...It’s the Smiths’ fault. Lisa is the daughter of Nora’s aunt. If it weren’t for Nora’s aunt, she might have starved to death when she was young!”

Louis let go of her immediately when he heard that. “It’s a misunderstanding. Why aren’t you letting go? It hurts!”

Lisa looked at Lily. “Who are you? Are you treating Nora badly like the Smiths?”

Lily: “...I’m Lily! Anti’s assistant! Lisa, please let go. The Smiths have never treated Nora badly!”

As medical students, Anti was a God to them. And Anti’s assistant, Lily, was also a legend. After all, those who could be Anti’s assistants definitely had good medical skills!

Even Lily was an outstanding surgeon!

Lisa felt a sense of respect for her and hurriedly let go of Louis. Her face was red with embarrassment. “Miss Lily! I’m, I’m sorry... I didn’t know...”

She lowered her head and stammered sheepishly.

Louis pointed at her angrily. “Why are you acting weak here? I think you did it on purpose!”

Lisa immediately lost her earlier cautiousness and raised her chin like a fighting chicken. “You were the one who started talking bad about me the moment you entered!”

“You even beat me up! I’ll tell Nora later how savage this little cousin of hers is! What a yellow-haired brat!”

Lisa: “!!”

She was furious. “You, you’re the real yellow-haired brat!”

Louis: “??”

He touched his blond hair and was furious. He hated it when people pointed out his yellow hair. He looked at Lisa and roared, “Say that again if you dare!”

Lisa: “You’re already a yellow-haired brat. Why can’t you let others say it?”

Louis took a step forward and was about to scare her when he tripped and suddenly pounced at Lisa.

Lisa was not as agile and was immediately pinned under him.

Fortunately, there was a big lawn beneath them. It did not hurt much, but coincidentally, Louis’s lips were on Lisa’s.

Everyone: “!!”

After 10 seconds of silence, Louis stood up with his hands on the grass in a daze.

Lisa’s eyes widened as she wiped her mouth with all her might. “Ah, you pervert!”

Seeing her look of disdain, Louis pouted. “I don’t have an infectious disease. Aren’t you overreacting?”

He touched his lips, and for some reason, he suddenly recalled that soft feeling from earlier. His face turned a little red. At this moment, he saw Lisa turn to look at the ground. Her eyes immediately turned red, and large tears rolled down her face.

Louis was shocked. “Hey, what are you doing? Isn’t it just a kiss? Is it worth crying and making a scene?”

Lisa cried, “Of course you don’t feel anything! But... I can’t afford to pay for these lawns!”

Louis: “!!”

It turned out that this was the reason!

He scratched his head and coughed. “Don’t cry. These lawns are not expensive.”

Another tear fell from Lisa’s eye. “Didn’t you just say that a single orchid cost hundreds of thousands?”

Louis: “...I lied to you.”

“...”

Lisa wiped her tears and was so angry that her heart hurt. What kind of family did Nora live in?! The people here were all too perverted!

She followed Lily into the living room angrily.

Louis followed her in and sat on the sofa. He had his hands behind his head and glanced at Lisa from time to time.

At this moment, Yvonne walked down from upstairs and smiled. “There’s another guest at home?”

Her behavior was still magnanimous and appropriate. She looked like someone from a noble family, and Lisa immediately sat up straight and felt restrained.

Lucy replied, “Miss Yvonne, she’s Miss Nora’s cousin.”

Yvonne smiled. “Nora really has a lot of friends and relatives!”

Her words were filled with mockery.

Lisa bit her lip. She had always been a sensitive and suspicious girl. It was obvious that she could sense Yvonne’s hostility.

Especially when Yvonne looked at her from head to toe, her eyes filled with disdain.

Lisa didn’t even know where to put her hands and feet.

At this moment, Louis said, “Tsk, why are you acting as the mistress here? I heard that Joel has taken away all your rights! I should really buy some firecrackers to celebrate!”

Yvonne clenched her fists and smiled. “Louis, there’s a guest here. Speak properly.”

She looked like a good sister.

Louis pouted. “She’s not a guest. She’s Nora’s cousin, which means she’s also my cousin.”

Yvonne smiled. “But isn’t Nora unrelated to the Smiths in California? I heard that she broke off ties with them during the last live broadcast.”

These words made Lisa even more embarrassed. It was as if she was pestering them right now.

She stood up suddenly and was about to say goodbye when she heard Louis laugh.

Yvonne asked, “What are you laughing about?”

Louis touched his hair. “I’m laughing at you.. Anyone else can talk about blood relations, but can you? You’re not related to our family by blood.

According to your logic, you're not a member of the Smiths?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 369 - Petes Sense Of Security

“You—”

He dissed Yvonne to the point that she was rendered speechless.

She turned and went upstairs in a huff.

Louis curled his lips disdainfully behind her and said to Lisa, “Don’t bother with her. She’s just spoiled.”

Spoiled?

Lisa bit her lip. “She looks pretty graceful to me, though.”

Louis gnashed his teeth in fury and said, “It’s all an act. I know that woman the best, we grew up together. She does one thing in front of other people and another altogether behind their backs, and is the most hypocritical person ever. She has no blood relation to the Smiths. She’d be nothing at all if Uncle Ian hadn’t adopted her.”

“... Oh,” said Lisa.

After saying that, Louis realized that it wasn’t appropriate for him to badmouth his family to an outsider, so he said, “Just keep waiting here. I’ll go up for now.”

He had a bedroom in the Smiths’ manor. When Louis heard that Yvonne was no longer taking charge at home, he had come back excitedly, hoping to see her down and out.

He had made up his mind—he was going to move back to the Smiths’ from this day on!

—
In the suburbs of New York.

Tanya was playing games with Pete in the villa. She had specially bought a jigsaw puzzle meant for twelve-year-olds and above, which had a higher level of difficulty, so that she could keep Pete company.

But unexpectedly, a brief two minutes later, Tanya looked at the completed jigsaw puzzle on the floor, and then at Pete, who sighed and said, “It’s too easy.”

Tanya: “...”

She asked tentatively: “Shall I buy you a jigsaw puzzle meant for grown-ups next time?”

“... God-mom, do you like jigsaw puzzles a lot?”

Tanya: “?”

Pete sighed and said, “I’ve already played with you for so long. Can I go and do my Olympiad assignments now?”

Tanya: “!!”

So, to Pete, doing jigsaw puzzles with her was actually a waste of time and energy?!

The corners of Tanya’s lips spasmed. “Go ahead.”

Only then did a satisfied Pete walk over to the desk next to them and take out his Mathematical Olympiad workbook from his schoolbag. Before he started working on the problems, he suddenly looked at Tanya and asked, “Is Mommy really okay?”

Tanya was taken aback.

She had brought Pete back with her after school the day before. Pete had followed her home without saying anything at that time. She'd thought that he wouldn't ask about it, but unexpectedly, he was actually such a perceptive boy.

Tanya said, "She'll be fine."

Pete kept quiet for a while before he asked, "Mommy will come and pick me up, right?"

Tanya: "..."

The way he was asking those questions so seriously and with such a tense look on his face broke Tanya's heart.

It was only then that Tanya realized that even though Nora had found Pete, and that even though he was sleeping on the same bed as his mother every day these days, Pete was actually still very insecure at heart.

She walked over, hugged Pete, and kissed him on the cheek. "Don't worry, she'll definitely come. Your mom loves you very, very much. When we were looking for our children abroad back then, she was really crazy about it."

Her words piqued Pete's interest all of a sudden. He asked, "How so?"

Tanya: "????"

Pete put down the workbook in his hand and looked at her seriously, his eyes full of interest. He really wanted to know all the details!

The corners of Tanya's lips spasmed. She had gotten him so many toys, yet none of them had aroused Pete's interest at all. Instead, a simple one-liner from her had unexpectedly made the boy so fixated on something.

She could only say, "Your mom was in poor health when she first went overseas. Even so, she insisted on coming to our meetings every week and listened to us share our experiences in looking for our children. After that, she would try again and again to return to the States. At that time, she was falling comatose for a while almost every day, so your grand-aunt never allowed her to come back. Thus, she got people to look for you in the country instead.

“I remember that there was once a liar who called your mom and told her that he had found clues about your whereabouts. We all knew he was a liar, but your mom believed him. I tried to talk her out of it when she was giving him money, but she instead said, ‘I know he’s a liar, but what if he really has news about my son? I won’t allow myself to miss out on any possibility.’

“There was also another time someone told her that they might have news about you. She had a fever at that time, but she still made herself go over. In the end, it also turned out to be fake news, but she passed out in the wilderness and was almost eaten by wild dogs...”

Tanya’s eyes reddened as she spoke.

It hadn’t been easy for her and Nora during all those years back then.

Nora’s suffering had already come to an end, but what about her?

There was still no news about her child even now.

Tanya lowered her head. She didn’t notice Pete’s eyes flickering.

Even though Pete now had a mother, he had still felt insecure all this time. After all, his family was incomplete, and Mommy was always finding Daddy too troublesome.

He had actually had nightmares quite a few times.

He dreamed that Mommy had gone abroad with Cherry and didn’t want him anymore. He kept chasing after them, but he simply couldn’t catch up to them at all.

His feet were so heavy in the dream.

He was afraid that Mommy would suddenly separate from Daddy one day and leave him.

Listening to Tanya talk about how Mommy had looked for him so painstakingly back then made him distressed, but also relieved at the same time.

What Cherry said was true—Mommy had never given up on him before.

After Tanya talked about the past for a while, the doorbell suddenly rang.

Pete got up at once. “It must be Mommy!”

Tanya stared at him, caught between laughter and tears. It was only at times like this that Pete looked like what a boy his age should look like.

She smiled and went to open the door. “You’re finally here! Your little brat is already sick of me by now!”

She opened the door as she spoke intimately, only to see Joel standing outside instead.

Tanya was stunned. “Why are you here?”

Joel’s fox-like eyes, which easily made one feel as though he was deeply in love with them, were fixed on her.

But Tanya knew exactly how heartless the man was.

Seeing her expression go from joy to wariness, Joel lowered his gaze, acerbity filling his heart.

He said softly, “Nora is fine now. I came to take the child home.”

Tanya was a little taken aback when she heard his term of address for Nora. Then, she looked away and uttered, “Oh.”

She then glanced at Pete and asked, “Has she gone home yet?”

“No, but she’ll be home soon.”

Tanya was very wary. She said, “You can’t take the child if she isn’t home. Let’s wait until she’s home.”

“Okay.” Joel was unexpectedly agreeable. He asked, “Are you planning to have me wait outside, Ms. Turner?”

Tanya: “...”

Seeing that Joel was about to enter, Tanya stopped him at the door and said, “It’s not quite appropriate for a man and a woman to be alone together this late at night, is it, Mr. Smith?”

Joel kept quiet for a moment before he said, “Isn’t the child also at home?”

The way he spoke sounded as if the child was theirs.

Tanya sneered and said, “The child is still young, so it’s still inappropriate. You’d better go back to the car and wait there instead, Mr. Smith. I’ll let you take the child once Nora gets home and retrieves her cell phone, and I confirm things with her.”

Chapter 370 - Shes Finally Awake

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Bam!

Tanya closed the door right after saying that.

Joel: "..."

Joel could faintly hear Pete ask, "Was it not Mommy at the door, God-mom? Who was it, then?"

"Oh, just an annoying fly," replied Tanya.

Joel: "..."

Half an hour later.

The perturbed and distracted Tanya glanced at the window.

The moment she did, she found herself stunned.

Joel was standing at the door, his tall and straight figure casting a long, drawn-out shadow on the ground.

The dazed Tanya felt as if she had gone back a few years in time. Back then, she would always see a figure like that standing outside every time she walked out of the classroom after class.

At that time, the sight of the man had made her excited and happy.

But the figure instead seemed somewhat solitary and lonely now, making her sad.

Tanya withdrew her gaze, lowered her head, and looked at the floor. Complicated emotions churned in the depths of her heart.

Sometime later, when Tanya looked up once more, she found that the figure at the door was gone. An empty feeling welled up in her.

She couldn't tell what kind of feeling it was. She forced a smile, looked at Pete, and said, "Your mommy should be home soon."

Pete nodded. However, he then said, "Uncle Joel looks unwell to me, though."

Unwell?

Tanya followed his gaze and looked over to see that Joel had changed positions at some point. He was now standing in a corner visible from the living room window.

His head was down, and he had one hand pressed against his abdomen and the other against the wall for support.

She couldn't tell whether it was the lighting or because he really was unwell, but he looked as pale as a sheet. His lips were so pale that they were practically transparent, and there was cold sweat on his forehead.

"Uncle Joel must be in pain, right? Why not let him in, God-mom?"

Pete's words interrupted Tanya's thoughts.

She said coldly, "It has nothing to do with me even if he's dead."

Yet, despite saying that, she kept looking outside.

She couldn't help but sneer deep down.

It was the same old trick.

He always acted weak and frail back when they were still in school. Every time he made her angry, he would always stand outside their dormitory.

Even when it rained, he simply refused to leave.

He never apologized, but always stood there so stubbornly so that she would relent.

She had been so naive at that time.

When the sun was bright and glaring, she would worry that he would be sunburnt. When it rained, she would worry that he would get drenched...

He really had her wrapped around his little finger.

Her heart was as hard as iron now, though, so how would she possibly still be deceived by his little tricks?

Besides, it was impossible for him to leave the house without bodyguards or his personal assistant. After all, as the head of the Smiths, his status was awfully noble and prestigious!

The thought had only just formed when she saw Joel's legs give in and he fell onto one knee on the ground.

Tanya subconsciously took a few steps toward him. Then, she opened the door and rushed out.

She went over to Joel. The man, who likely heard her footsteps, turned to look at her. He was very pale, so he probably wasn't putting up an act. His voice was also very soft, and he sounded a little aggrieved as he said, "I knew you wouldn't ignore me, Tanya."

"..."

For a moment, tears almost fell from Tanya's eyes.

However, she held them back and looked around. "Where are your assistants? And your bodyguards?"

Joel seemed like he wanted to say something, but in the end, he merely said, "I don't want to go to the hospital." Then, his eyes closed and he fainted.

Tanya was dumbfounded.

There was a reason why Joel said that he didn't want to go to the hospital. He had always refused to go even when they were still in school.

He had always toughed it out whenever he was sick, so he never went for checkups even when he had stomach problems.

What was he up to now, though? Was he staging an accident?

Tanya was so mad that she stretched out her foot, intending to give him a hard kick.

The bodyguard hiding in the distance wanted to rush forward but was stopped by Joel's assistant.

The assistant said, "The gesture that Mr. Joel made before he fainted was telling us not to go over!"

The bodyguard retorted, "Even so, we can't just watch as someone hits him!"

"She won't."

"What?"

The bodyguards looked over to see that Tanya's foot had stopped less than an inch from him.

Tanya looked around hesitantly. She frowned and wondered out loud, "Did he really not bring his assistant with him?"

"What incompetent bodyguards! What if he was sick elsewhere instead? What are you gonna do if that happens?"

Even though she was complaining, she nevertheless bent over and held the man up.

Just like that, the bodyguards in the distance watched as their master was dragged into the house while the woman stumbled and bumped him about.

The rough girl also kept on swearing as she moved...

—

Nora slept right until the next day.

After making up for all her lost sleep, she got out of bed all refreshed and stretched. Then, she looked at her cell phone and noticed that Tanya had sent her several messages.

They seemed very urgent.

However, Tanya probably knew that she needed to make up for lost sleep, so she hadn't called and disturbed her rest, no matter how anxious she was.

She picked up the phone and took a look. Their chat was still at the point when she got home the day before. At that time, when she saw the messages that Tanya had sent, she had replied: 'I'm home now. You can send Pete back with Joel now.'

She had fallen into a deep sleep after that.

But why wasn't Pete by her side when she woke up?

She looked at the chat again. Tanya had been sending her the same thing:

'Are you awake?'

'Are you awake?'

'Are you awake?'

She had practically asked the same thing once every hour, which made that seven or eight times in total. It was enough to show how bad of a mental breakdown she was having.

Nora was rather hesitant. Pete was a very well-behaved boy. Surely he wasn't that hard to take care of, was he?

While wondering about it, she replied: 'I'm up.'

Tanya called the very next moment.

She picked it up. She'd only just said 'hello' when Tanya's loud voice reached her through the phone. "My goodness, you slept for twelve hours again! Didn't you wake up a little too late?!"

Nora rubbed her ears. "Yeah. What's up?"

"Hurry up and come over to pick up your son."

Nora uttered an 'okay'. Then, she asked, "Is that it?"

Tanya paused and then quietly added, "And! Your! Elder! Brother! Too!"

She seemed to be gnashing her teeth in fury with every word she said, which went to show just how angry and resentful she was.

Did she say 'elder brother', though?

Nora didn't realize what she was saying for a while there. She asked, "Which brother?"

"... How many elder brothers do you have?!"

Tanya practically roared the question.

Nora answered seriously, "If you try counting, there are six boys in the Smiths, so I have five older brothers and one younger brother. You're talking about... Joel?"

"... Yes!!"

Nora was puzzled. "Didn't he go over to pick up Pete for me? How did he end up staying there instead?"

“...”

The woman on the other end suppressed her anger and said, “You have half an hour. If you don’t come over in time, then this friendship is over!! Beep... beep... beep...”

Nora glanced at the phone in horror and raised her eyebrows.

Then, she slowly brushed her teeth and washed up. After she was done, she finally went out.

As soon as she went downstairs, Lucy saw her and said excitedly, “You’re finally awake, Ms. Nora!”

“What’s the matter?” asked Nora.

Lucy replied, “Your cousin is here!!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 371 - Ill Be Right There!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora was surprised to hear that. She looked around and asked, “Where is she?”

Lucy replied, “... Because you didn’t wake up, she has left again. She said that she’ll come over and visit you again either today or tomorrow.”

It was the next morning, so Lisa had already left a long time ago.

She nodded. “Okay.”

She then sent a text message to Lisa and asked her to come over in the evening.

Lisa, however, didn’t agree right away. Instead, she asked: ‘Um, will Louis be there tonight?’

Nora: “?”

She looked around and asked, “Is Louis home?”

Lucy replied, “He went out early in the morning. Do you need him for something, Ms. Nora?”

“No.” Nora thought for a while and asked, “Will he be home in the afternoon?”

Lucy replied, “Most likely not.”

“Okay.”

Nora sent Lisa a reply: ‘No, he won’t.’

Lisa seemed relieved. She wrote: ‘Okay. See you tonight, Nora.’

Nora: “...”

She was just asleep for a night, but it seemed like some incredible things had happened?

Why was one asking her to pick up Joel and the other avoiding Louis as if she was scared of something?

She looked at Lucy hesitantly but didn’t ask anything in the end. She went straight downstairs and drove to the villa in the suburbs.

As soon as she arrived, she saw Tanya, pulling a long face at the door. At the sight of her, she said with a livid look on her face, “You sure came really quick.”

Nora yawned. “Yeah, I didn’t even have breakfast.”

The corners of Tanya’s lips spasmed. “Should you have breakfast and take a nap before you come, then?”

Nora laughed. “That works, too.”

“...”

Tanya took a deep breath, turned, and led her into the house.

Inside, Joel was lying on the sofa and reading a magazine comfortably. Next to him, Pete was practicing his Mathematical Olympiad problems. Occasionally, when he encountered something he wasn’t sure about, he would ask Joel, who would then slowly explain it to him.

When Tanya first came in and saw how the two of them got along, there was a moment where she had the illusion that they were a family...

If... if her child were by her side, would they also live so blissfully like a family?

As soon as the thought formed, Tanya immediately discarded it. She said, “I’ve found you a chauffeur.”

Joel and Pete looked at Nora in unison.

Pete’s eyes lit up at once.

Joel also nodded gently.

Tanya continued. “You’ve already taken the medicine, ate something, and even slept here and rested enough. Now that I’ve even found a chauffeur for you, surely you can go?”

Joel got up, his face still a little pale.

He was still holding his abdomen, but his smile was a little more genuine than usual. His fox-like eyes were full of warmth and a doting look as he said, “Yeah.”

Tanya: “...”

She turned and went up the stairs. “Alright, hurry up and take your kid and your brother with you. I can finally have a good rest now. It’s Monday tomorrow, so I have to work! Teaching a group of naughty little kids to dance is so tiring! Why is my life so hard?!”

She went upstairs while muttering under her breath and then slammed her bedroom door shut.

Nora, whose hands were in her pocket, raised her eyebrows and glanced at Pete.

Pete had already taken the opportunity to pack his bag and was obediently carrying it at the moment. He walked up to her and held her hand tightly.

Sensing how tightly her son was holding her hand, Nora immediately understood after thinking about it for a moment. She looked down at him and explained, “Mommy was too sleepy when she got home yesterday...”

“I know, Mommy.” A well-behaved Pete replied, “Don’t worry, I won’t disturb your sleep.”

Nora: “...”

She raised her head again and looked at Joel, but saw that he was still staring at the upper floor. Nora said, “Let’s go?”

Only then did Joel retract his gaze and nod.

The two went out, but when they got into the car, Joel said, “I’ll drive.”

“... Are you feeling well enough?” asked Nora.

Joel nodded without any change in expression. “Well enough.”

“... Oh, okay,” Nora said.

Without standing on ceremony at all, she took Pete with her and sat in the backseat while Joel went to the driver’s seat. On the way home, while Nora was thinking about something, Joel suddenly said, “She’s ultimately still Uncle Ian’s adopted daughter.”

Nora was surprised.

Joel lowered his gaze and said indifferently, “To be honest, Uncle Ian has been comatose ever since he went to the Hunts’ party and brought you back. He has a brain tumor and needs to undergo surgery if he wants to recover. It’s said that Anti is the only one who can achieve the best results for his operation at the moment.”

Nora said, “I can take a look at him.”

Joel spoke again. This time, he sounded a little more intimate and also spoke more, as though he was giving her an explanation. He said, “Don’t worry. Based on my understanding of Uncle Ian, since he has already acknowledged you as a Smith, he won’t mind your identity that much. But because he’s still in a coma and can’t give the word, other people in the family will have some misunderstandings about you.”

Was he giving her an explanation for why he was so lukewarm to her previously?

It didn't really matter to Nora, though. After all, this was understandable.

A man—especially a successful one like Ian—could have all the women in the world if he really wanted, yet the woman whom he had been deeply in love with for his entire life had, from how he saw it, gotten into a relationship with his brother instead.

He would be too magnanimous if he really didn't mind.

Joel's choice of words had also been that he "wouldn't mind that much". Nora would never flatter herself that much and think that he would really treat her as his niece.

Joel, however, added, "But he's someone who makes a clear distinction between his public and private interests. Yvonne is his daughter, so he's the only one who can deal with her."

Nora raised her brows.

Was it okay for her to interpret what he just said to mean that Ian would eventually deal with Yvonne?

She hadn't expected Joel to stand up for her.

At the thought of how Yvonne had tempted Florence into poisoning Old Maddy in order to go against her, Nora narrowed her eyes and said, "Okay."

Joel drove seriously and didn't speak anymore.

Joel didn't get out of the car when they arrived at the Smiths'. He explained, "I have something to take care of at the company."

After lazing for a day in the villa, he had to pay back what he owed, after all.

Nora nodded.

She took Pete into the house and they had lunch together.

In the afternoon, she sent a text message to Lisa: ‘Are you here yet?’

Lisa replied: “I’m on the way. Be there soon.”

Nora put her phone aside and waited for Lisa.

Her aunt must have seen the live-stream and become worried when she learned of the case, so she had sent Lisa here. Her aunt would probably continue to worry until Lisa saw with her own eyes that she was alright.

Also, for some reason, she had a vague feeling that Lisa would bring her some kind of news when she arrived.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 372 - Choosing Clothes

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Pete went upstairs to read. Nora sat on the sofa in the living room.

Lisa wasn't here yet, but she instead saw Lucy, the housekeeper, coming in with someone who looked like some kind of manager. Lucy said, "Great timing, Ms. Nora. They've brought the new season's clothes over, so you can pick some for yourself."

As a top-class wealthy family, the Smiths ordered custom-made clothes every season. Of course, as a daughter of the Smiths, if she wanted to buy more clothes herself, then that would be a separate matter.

Representatives from high-end custom brands came to the Smiths every season to let them pick what they wanted from the designer styles. Behind the manager were a few service staff members. Each of them was holding fabric samples for the clothes, as well as a thick magazine featuring various styles of clothing for the ladies of the Smiths to choose from.

When the manager saw Nora, he immediately respectfully handed over the magazine he was holding and said, "Please have a look first, Ms. Smith."

Lucy said, "I'll go and notify Ms. Yvonne and Mdm. Maureen."

They were the only other young women living in the manor. From Quentin, the third son, all the way to Louis, the sixth son, none of them were married yet. Previously, when Hillary, Mia's mother, was still living with the Smiths, she would also come over to pick clothes from the catalog.

However, now that Joel had driven her out, there was one fewer person in the family that was part of the process.

When Yvonne was going downstairs after being notified, she paused slightly and stood on the spiral staircase when she saw Nora and Maureen, who were seated in the living room.

She narrowed her eyes and looked at Lucy.

When they were choosing clothes in the past, Florence would never ask her to go downstairs. She would always take the manager straight to her room and let her have her pick first. It was only after she'd had her pick that she would then let Maureen and Hillary choose from the remaining styles.

Yet, not only was Lucy asking her to go downstairs now, but she was actually even allowing Nora and Maureen to choose ahead of her?!

Yvonne became even more furious.

She felt especially angry when she saw how Maureen and Nora were huddled together and looking at the magazine like close girlfriends. The intimacy between the two of them was completely different from how they treated her.

Yvonne lowered her gaze and suddenly sneered.

She went downstairs and sat on the one-seater sofa at the side.

The manager immediately presented another magazine to her.

Yvonne listened to the other two women's conversations while she looked at her own magazine. Maureen said, "This red dress is gorgeous! And it even makes one look tall and slim!"

"...Oh," Nora said.

Yvonne flipped to the section featuring this season's red dresses when she heard her.

Red was too orthodox a color, so there were generally relatively fewer designs every season.

Additionally, after so many years, Yvonne had already come to know since a long time ago that Maureen favored red clothes.

In the past, she would always deliberately pick the attractive red designs first, and leave two unattractive designs for Maureen, despite the fact that red didn't actually suit her.

She had done that just to let Maureen know who the noblest woman in the family was.

But now...

Yvonne suddenly pointed to the magazine and remarked, "Nora, this red dress suits you really well!"

The design she was pointing to was the most unique and prettiest one of the year. Maureen had already had her eye on it a long time ago.

Nora, who was taken aback, looked over. The dress was indeed pretty nice.

"Doesn't it look great?" Yvonne's lips curled in a smile and she said, "I'll let you pick first since this is your first year with us. I think this dress is pretty nice, and it's also the best design this year. Why don't you take it?"

Now that the dress she loved had been snatched away, let's see if Maureen would still get along with her!

Yvonne thought to herself viciously.

She looked at Maureen after she spoke. Sure enough, the light in her eyes had dimmed. She sat upright, coughed, and turned over the page where the red dress was on the magazine she was holding.

This meant that she had given up.

However, she definitely wasn't going to be happy about it.

See? No matter how good a relationship they shared, it was nevertheless still fake. A mere dress could easily estrange the two of them.

While Yvonne was sneering at them, Nora said in a low voice, "Yeah, that dress is certainly pretty nice."

Yvonne was thrilled. Sure enough, she saw Maureen stiffen.

Nevertheless, she still suppressed her fondness for the dress. Her smile became a little forced, but she still said to Nora, “The dress suits you very well.”

Then, as if she had convinced herself about it, she resumed her usual bighearted demeanor and said, “Besides, true red gives one a lot of presence, so it suits formal occasions a lot. This is the first year since your return, Nora, so it’s a good idea for you to pick this dress.”

She actually became a little more generous?

Yvonne clenched her fists.

Maureen was simply too much. Every time she snatched the dresses from her, she had always looked at her as if she had just robbed her of her baby.

Yet, when it was Nora who snatched the dress she wanted from her, she actually got over it?

Was this the difference between someone who had blood relations to the family and someone who didn’t?!

She was still thinking about it furiously when Nora said, “No, it’s okay. The dress suits you a lot.”

Yvonne: ??

She abruptly looked at Nora, only to see that she was looking at Maureen. She said, “Red suits you a lot.”

Maureen’s eyes lit up. “Do you think so, too?”

Nora nodded. “Yeah.”

She wasn’t stupid. Maureen had flipped straight to that page when she picked up the magazine, and also stared at it for really long. She had even wondered why she hadn’t just taken it immediately if she liked it.

It wasn't until Yvonne came down that she suddenly figured out why.

The dress didn't really matter to her anyway, why deprive someone of what they liked?

Sure enough, Maureen got up happily. She was so excited that even her eyes had turned a little red.

For the first time... For the very first time, she felt respected in the Smiths.

In the past, all the good things in the family were always given to Yvonne first, and she had also taken them all very unceremoniously. Maureen could never get anything she really liked.

It wasn't that bad if it was just once or twice, but once it built up, even someone with a big heart like Maureen found it hard not to feel resentful about it.

Courtesy was a virtue, but it wasn't always true that courtesy without any limit would always win one respect.

Moreover, they were all women in their twenties. She was only three or four years older than Yvonne, so why did she have to give in to her all the time?

However, she had gained recognition from Nora in this instant.

She held Nora's hand excitedly and said, "Nora, you're so... so... How can anyone not like you?"

Maureen was so excited that she gave Nora a peck on the cheek. Then, she said happily to the manager, "Make this dress in my measurements!"

The manager had the body measurements of all the ladies in the Smiths.

The manager was about to nod when Yvonne, who was standing beside him, clenched her fists in fury.

After her expression changed a few times, she suddenly took a step forward and interrupted the manager before he could speak. She said, "Wait a minute. Sorry, Maureen, but I actually really like this dress, too.. I'm taking the dress, sir."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 373 - Nora, Your Cord Blood Still Exists

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne sounded just like she was giving someone orders.

This stunned the manager for a moment, but it seemed like he was already accustomed to the atmosphere among the Smiths, so he subconsciously replied, “Okay, Ms. Yvonne.”

But after he did, even he himself was dumbfounded.

Maureen and Nora were also taken aback.

Both of them looked at Yvonne.

Maureen said shrilly, “D-didn’t you not want that dress? Isn’t that why you recommended it to Nora?”

Yvonne lowered her gaze and said with a smile, “You may have misunderstood, Maureen. I’ve always liked red dresses. It’s not like you don’t know that. I just thought the dress suited Nora very much today, so I wanted to let her have it. But since she doesn’t want it, shouldn’t we pick the clothes in accordance with the order?”

Maureen immediately flushed.

She really liked the dress very much because it had the nicest design out of all the styles she had seen in recent years!

She had indeed wanted to let Nora have it just now, too. After all, she had only just returned to the Smiths, so she didn’t look like she had any appropriate clothes.

But Nora had unexpectedly given it to her instead. That was why she had accepted it.

How did something that was supposed to already be in the bag disappear just like that?

An upset Maureen looked at Yvonne again.

She was aggressive, and there was none of the pretenses and hypocrisy she used to have on her face right now. It seemed like something had triggered her, and even her facial expression looked a little savage. She had the words 'I just want to make you unhappy' blatantly written all over her face!

Maureen's temper got the better of her and she started to argue. She said, "What's the meaning of this, Yvonne? Are you targeting me on purpose?"

Yvonne kept her expression under control and said, "How am I targeting you, Maureen? You're obviously the one fighting with me over the clothes, aren't you?"

Maureen: "?"

She yelled furiously, "Just who exactly is fighting with whom? Let's make things clear today! I have been married to Warren for seven years. There are four seasons a year, so this is the 28th time I'm picking clothes now. When have I ever not given in to you?! But what about you? All the red dresses you chose have all become moldy in your closet, haven't they? How many times have you ever worn red clothes? You clearly know that red is my favorite color! The way I see it, you're doing it on purpose, aren't you?"

With a smile on her face, Yvonne said smugly, "I told you, Maureen. I like red, too."

As soon as she said that, Nora interrupted her indifferently and said, "But red doesn't suit you. Your looks are too tame to pull off the color."

Yvonne's looks were ladylike and delicate.

However, long red dresses usually needed to be matched with bright and vivid looks.

This was something that everyone knew, but no one had ever said it to her face!

For a moment there, Yvonne flushed bright red!

She looked at Nora furiously, and then at Maureen. She became so angry that she didn't bother putting on a pretense anymore. She yelled, "I can just like collecting red clothes, can't I?"

"So what even if I don't wear them and put them all in the closet?"

"As the eldest daughter of the Smiths, surely I have the right to be a little willful, right?"

Nora: "!!"

Maureen: "!!!"

The two looked at each other. Neither of them had expected Yvonne to actually fall out with them openly. Also, she looked just like a shrew at the moment.

Maureen frowned and warned, "Don't go too far, Yvonne!"

Yvonne scoffed, "Am I the one who shouldn't go too far, or is it someone else who should practice some self-awareness as an outsider living under someone else's roof? Maureen, do you really think you're one of the masters of the household just because you and Warren are living here? The Smiths have already parted ways and formed their own families long ago! My dad is the real master of the Smiths! You're all just people who have left the main family! All of you are just! Taking! Up! Temporary! Residence! Here!"

She deliberately emphasized 'temporary', making Maureen flush.

Lucy couldn't bear to listen anymore. She said, "Ms. Yvonne, we're all family. Why go so far? Besides, Mr. Warren and Mr. Joel are very close!"

Warren lived in the manor because he got along well with Joel, and felt that this was his home.

Yvonne looked at her viciously. "Do I have to do what you say or get Joel's permission when I'm ordering clothes in my own home? Am I the one disregarding familial ties, or is she the one who's being ungrateful?!"

"Dad isn't dead yet, yet all of you already dare to act like you're the masters of the house, and step beyond your boundaries as a servant and slight me? Seems like I should get someone to have a good talk with the people at our ancestral home!"

The arrogant woman's words became more and more awful. She said, "Joel isn't Dad's adopted son, either. I'm Dad's one and only lawful daughter! All of you are bullying me because Dad is sick, so no one can defend me, right?"

Lucy was rendered speechless by her.

Yvonne, however, dragged her to the door and said, "Since that's the case, you can come with me to our ancestral home! Let's go to my granduncles there and see what they say about this!"

Lucy immediately pleaded for mercy. "Spare me, Ms. Yvonne! I was wrong!"

Should they really go to the ancestral home, wouldn't everyone say that Joel was being disrespectful to his elders?!

He was the successor that Ian had chosen, yet as soon as Ian fell into a coma, he started to bully and oppress his daughter?

Lucy didn't care whether it was embarrassing for her or not. She tried to appease Yvonne and said, "Ms. Yvonne, this matter isn't that serious. It's just a piece of clothing, isn't it...?"

She looked at Maureen for help after she spoke.

Lucy had watched both Joel and Warren grow up, and was especially close with both brothers. Thus, she also got along well with Maureen.

Maureen didn't have the heart to implicate an old-time servant who had been serving the family for so long just because of this.

She suppressed her grievances and said, "Fine, I'll let you have the dress!"

After saying that, she turned and went straight upstairs while saying, "I won't order anything this year."

She could buy ready-made clothes even if she didn't custom-make anything anyway, so why should she let others bully her here?

Satisfied, Yvonne sat on the main sofa. Then, without looking at Nora, she said to the manager, "I want this, this, this... and also this. Make them all in my size."

"... Yes, ma'am," said the manager.

After ordering the clothes, Yvonne turned and went upstairs. When she passed by Nora, she said, "This is my father's home, after all."

Nora: "..."

She had also lost interest in choosing clothes, so she waved and sent the manager out.

There was no one left in the living room. In this instant, she finally understood all those things that Maureen had said previously, and also finally understood how much injustice she had suffered over the years.

While she was thinking about it, Lucy led Lisa in and said, "Ms. Nora, your cousin is here."

Nora put her thoughts away and stood up.

Lisa had already rushed straight up to her. She took her hand and said, “At last, Nora!”

Nora smiled at her.

Lisa looked at her carefully. It was only when she found that she hadn't suffered any injustice that she finally breathed a sigh of relief. Then, she smiled and said, “By the way, my mom wants me to pass you a message.. She says that your cord blood is still in the cord blood bank in the hospital.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 374 - The Villain Slings An Accusation First?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Cord blood?

Nora was slightly taken aback to hear that. She said, “My cord blood is still around?”

Lisa nodded. “Yes. Mom says that back then, when Aunt Yvette... when your mom gave birth to you, she had insisted on banking your cord blood. To be honest, this wasn’t a popular practice in the country at that time and wasn’t widely promoted in hospitals, either, so it was very expensive. However, she was very stubborn about it and said that you would need it in the future. Mom had said that you definitely won’t, so she mustn’t say that...”

Lisa had also been a little surprised when she heard about it from Irene.

Banking cord blood was just a sort of insurance. Nobody would wish for it to come into use.

After all, once one needed it, it would mean that they had blood disorders.

So, how could Nora’s mother say such a thing back then?

While she was thinking about it, she saw Nora’s eyes brighten. The woman’s lips slowly curled into a smile and she said, “What a coincidence. I just so happen to need it.”

Lisa: “?”

She was stunned. Suddenly, her eyes reddened and she said, “Nora, could it be that you... you...”

No wonder Nora had lost so much weight and was always so lethargic. On top of that, she wasn't in good spirits and was so pale that it looked as if all the blood had drained from her face. Did she have a blood disorder?

While her imagination was running wild, Nora said, "I'm not sick. I just need it for something, that's all."

Lisa: "??"

Before she could figure it out, Nora had already picked up her cell phone and called Lily. She asked, "Where are you?"

Lily replied, "I'm arranging your operation schedule. There are a few that I can do, so I've fended them off for you. What's up?"

Nora said, "... Find some time to go to California. Go to the hospital and take my cord blood from the cord blood bank, and then do another DNA test."

"?? You actually still have your cord blood? My god, your mother is so amazing. Did she expect that you'll need it?"

Nora narrowed her eyes. "Perhaps."

Otherwise, why would Yvette insist on banking her cord blood back then?

These days, she kept feeling like there was a purpose behind all her mother's arrangements.

She couldn't help but think of what Morris had said in the police station. Was her mother really involved with the so-called 'mysterious organization'? And even participated in their human experiments?

The look in Nora's eyes turned a little cold at the thought, and even her tone became a little impatient. She said, "Go as soon as you can."

Lily, who heard the change in her emotions, was so scared that she didn't dare to say any more. She immediately replied respectfully, "Okay, I will leave for California right away. I'll be able to produce the newest DNA test results by tomorrow at the latest."

"Okay."

Nora hung up. She rubbed her temples and suppressed her irritability. Then, she looked at Lisa. She was about to speak when a voice suddenly reached them.

"Nora! You're awake? Oh, Nora's little cousin! You're here again!"

She and Lisa turned in unison to see Louis walking in from outside.

His blond hair was exceptionally glaring. His eyes on his handsome face lit up a little at the sight of Lisa.

As for Lisa, she reacted like a mouse that had just seen a cat and didn't even dare to look straight at him. She looked at Nora as if she was complaining and said, "Nora, d-didn't you say that he won't be here?"

Nora: "?"

Before she could speak, Louis had come up to them. He said, "Yeah, I originally wasn't planning to come back tonight, either. But Lucy called me and said that Nora was asking whether I would be home tonight, so I turned down Chester when he asked me out and specially came back!"

Lisa: "!!"

Nora: "!!!!"

Nora wanted to say something, but Lisa had already jumped up and said, "Nora, I... I suddenly remembered that I have a paper that I need to write. It's very urgent, so I'm leaving first! Mom was very worried about you, but now that I see that you're doing well, both Mom and I will be relieved!"

Then, she turned and fled toward the door. "Tell us if someone bullies you. I'll leave first!"

Nora: "..."

She was planning to have a chat with Lisa that night, but unexpectedly, she had left just like that?

She stepped forward, intending to see her off. But as soon as she did, Louis said enthusiastically, "You don't have to lower yourself to do something like that. Let me do it! I'll see her off!"

After saying that, he chased after Lisa and said, "Nora's little cousin, shall I drive you back to school?"

Lisa's voice traveled over after that. "N-no, you don't have to."

"You don't have to stand on ceremony! C'mon, get in the car."

"We're not that familiar with each other. I'll just hail a cab. Thanks."

Louis's annoying voice traveled over. "Why wouldn't we be familiar with each other? You took my first kiss, you know!"

Panic entered Lisa's voice. "W-what nonsense are you saying? Stop that!"

Louis laughed and said, "No, I can't. I have something to ask you. Will you get in the car and we can talk while we drive there, or shall I ask you right here while you hail a cab?"

"You, you, you..." Lisa stuttered forever but still got in the car silently in the end. Shortly after, the sound of the engine being started up rang out, and they left.

Nora, who had listened to their affairs in the living room for a while: "..."

Just what exactly did Louis do to Lisa the night before?!

She shook her head and went upstairs.

After thinking about it, she still decided to knock on Maureen's door in the end.

Maureen's eyes were still red when she opened the door. Obviously, she had been crying. Nora was about to say a few words to comfort her when Maureen gave her a wry smile and said, "Say, Nora, do you think everything will be fine if Warren and I move out?"

Although Warren loved and respected Ian like a father, and although Warren and Joel got along very well, Maureen really couldn't stand it here anymore, after being bullied by Yvonne again and again.

It wasn't like her family was poor, either, so why should she let someone else bully her here?

Nora wanted to say something, but Maureen said, "Never mind, ignore what I said. Warren and Joel are so close. Neither would Brandon want to leave Mia... I can't do something like that just for myself..."

Nora fell silent.

Warren came back at this point.

He was carrying a matcha cake. As soon as he went up the stairs, he said, "Oh, Nora is here too? I just so happened to buy a matcha cake. It's Maureen's favorite. You guys can eat it together... Dear, what's wrong? Why are your eyes red?"

Maureen turned away. Then, she forced a smile and said, "It's nothing. Something got in my eyes..."

Warren went up to her and circled around her. "What got into your eyes? What's the matter? Did someone bully you?"

As soon as he said that, Maureen's eyes immediately reddened.

She was about to say something when Yvonne opened the door and came out. She sighed and said, "It's just a dress, Maureen. If you like it that much, then I'll just let you have it, okay?"

She lowered her head and her eyes reddened. "Joel has already confiscated my rights to manage the house anyway.. I don't have a place in this family anymore.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 375 - Slapping Yvonne In The Face!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

She looked just as if she had suffered some kind of injustice.

Warren was aware that Yvonne had been stripped of her authority to manage the household. When he heard what she said, he subconsciously assumed that it was Maureen who was fighting with her over a dress.

Taken aback, he turned to Maureen and asked, “What dress is she talking about, dear?”

He grabbed Maureen and led her to the side. “I get it now. It’s time to custom-make clothes today again, right? Did you get angry again?”

During the past few years, the aggressive Maureen would always get angry once a year.

After Warren found out about it, he would always go out of his way to make her happy during those few days. He either took her out shopping or took her overseas for a vacation.

He subconsciously tried to persuade her and said, “Didn’t we already agree on this? It’ll be fine once she marries into another family. You’ll have the biggest say in the family after that! And you can choose all the clothes you want after that! Her marriage with the Hunts has already gone up in smoke now, so her future husband’s family definitely won’t be as good as the Smiths. What’s the point in fighting with her over a dress...”

“What’s the point in fighting with her over a dress”...

That one line of his instantly made Maureen feel even more aggrieved.

Even though someone had bullied her at home, she still thought of being considerate toward her husband and son, but what about her husband? All he did was take his sister's side in everything!

Maureen stared at Warren. She was really hurt this time. She said, "Do you think I would get angry just because of a dress?"

Warren scratched his head.

As a man with low EQ, he really was rather dense when it came to how girls thought.

Next to them, Yvonne said, "Don't lose your temper at Warren, Maureen. I already said that I would let you have that dress... It was my fault. I should have noticed that you liked that dress and not taken it for myself..."

Her hypocritical words put Maureen at such a loss for words that she couldn't say anything at all.

Yet, Warren actually believed her. He walked over to Yvonne and said, "Since you are so generous, then I won't stand on ceremony, Yvonne. Haha, how about this? I'll take you out tomorrow for some clothes shopping, okay?"

Yvonne smiled and replied, "You're standing too much on ceremony if you say that, Warren. We're family; I should give in to Maureen once in a while."

"... You're the most sensible one, after all. Don't hold it against Maureen!"

Nora stared at Yvonne. Her two-faced behavior in front of the men of the Smiths wasn't anything surprising to her anymore.

She merely thought that Yvonne looked very laughable at the moment.

Maureen, however, was furious. It was clearly Yvonne who had snatched her dress, yet she looked like the insensible one now!

With her eyes red, she shouted furiously, "Warren! Smith!"

Warren immediately looked back at her timidly. “Dear... What’s the matter? The dress is already yours now. Why... are you still unhappy?”

Maureen was so angry that her chest heaved up and down.

She stared at Yvonne and sneered, “You really have a way with schemes, don’t you?”

Yvonne lowered her head. “Are you still upset, Maureen? In that case, will it do if I give you all the clothes I picked?”

The EQ-less Warren immediately nodded. “Yeah, it will! Dear, look at how Yvonne has already given in. As they say, harmony in the family brings prosperity. Let’s let this matter go...”

Maureen: “!!”

She was so angry that she simply couldn’t say anything. Her finger trembled as she stared and pointed at Yvonne. Then, she pointed at Warren. “You’d rather believe her over me?”

Warren scratched his head. “No, it’s not about who I believe or whatnot. Weren’t we talking about clothes, dear? How did it turn into about who I believe? You’ve totally confused me!”

Yvonne also sighed. “We’re family, Maureen. If you’re still dissatisfied, then will it do if I apologize to you?”

Maureen retorted, “I’m not worthy of your apology! After all, this is your home, and you’re the eldest daughter of the Smiths. Didn’t you say just now that Warren and I are just outsiders?”

Warren looked at Yvonne in disbelief at once.

Yvonne panicked. “What are you saying, Maureen? Isn’t it just a piece of clothing? How did it escalate to this?!”

She looked at Warren and hastily explained, “I think Maureen is being too sensitive and is thinking too much. Warren, I’ve always seen and treated you like my brother all these years! Dad has also said that I'm the only daughter at home, so all of you are my family!"

Warren frowned. He looked at Yvonne, and then at Maureen.

Maureen wasn't someone who made groundless accusations. Since she had said so, then there was no doubt that Yvonne had said that. However, Yvonne was also someone reliable who looked at the big picture usually, so how would she possibly say something like that?

While he was hesitating, Yvonne said, "Out of all my brothers in the family, I'm the closest with Warren. I know you're suddenly making a scene because Joel doesn't like me anymore, but even so, you can't just sow discord between Warren and I like that!"

Sow discord?

Maureen became even angrier. "In that case, do you dare to repeat what you said just now when you were fighting with me over the clothes downstairs, Yvonne?"

Yvonne frowned. "What did I say? Maureen, I really don't know what you're talking about!"

Maureen felt like she was about to explode.

She had always been a straightforward person. She hated hypocritical b*tches like her the most!

It was at this moment that a soft voice reached them. "Tsk."

The three people who were arguing immediately turned to Nora.

She curled her lips disdainfully and said to Yvonne, "I didn't expect you to have such a bad memory. Have you already forgotten what you said just now?"

Warren immediately looked at Yvonne.

Yvonne narrowed her eyes but remained calm. She heaved a huge sigh and said, “Nora, I know you got into trouble because Mdm. Florence took the pill from my room, but you can’t just make up lies about me like that!”

Practically right after she said that, a voice suddenly played from Nora’s cell phone.

“I can just like collecting red clothes, can’t I?”

“So what even if I don’t wear them and put them all in the closet?”

“As the eldest daughter of the Smiths, surely I have the right to be a little willful, right?”

“Am I the one who shouldn’t go too far, or is it someone else who should practice some self-awareness as an outsider living under someone else’s roof? Maureen, do you really think you’re one of the masters of the household just because you and Warren are living here? The Smiths have already parted ways and formed their own families long ago! My dad is the real master of the Smiths! You’re all just people who have left the main family! All of you are just! Taking! Up! Temporary! Residence! Here!”

“Joel isn’t Dad’s adopted son, either. I’m Dad’s one and only lawful daughter! All of you are bullying me because Dad is sick, so no one can defend me, right?”

“...”

Yvonne’s voice played clearly from the audio recording.

Nora curled her lips disdainfully and looked at a stunned Yvonne. Her lips curled into a smile.

Did they really think that she would allow Yvonne to behave so arrogantly in the Smiths’ manor? She hadn’t done anything just now only because these recordings were more than enough to expose her true colors to the Smith brothers!!

Chapter 376 - Chase Her Out Of The House!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After the recording was played, the entire second floor was silent.

Warren looked at Yvonne in disbelief.

He did not expect his gentle and elegant sister to speak like this to his wife in private.

He looked at Maureen again.

In the past, he always felt that his wife had a bad temper. She was not sensible and did not know how to be humble. After all, she was pampered like a little princess in her family.

However, her eyes were red at this moment. It was obvious that she had suffered a lot of grievances.

Yes.

Although his wife did have a bad temper, she had always been open and straightforward. If he had not forced her to this extent, how could they have quarreled like this?

Maureen had thought that the matter would be like any other dispute in the past, making Warren feel that she was not sensible enough. She did not expect the situation to take a turn in her favor!

She looked at Nora in shock.

Her eyes turned red again.

She looked at Warren with a trembling voice. “Did you hear that? Is this about a piece of clothing?”

Warren’s heart ached so much that his expression changed. He walked quickly to stand in front of Maureen and looked at Yvonne. “Yvonne, so that’s what you think!”

Yvonne bit her lip, wanting to explain. “Warren, I...”

However, Warren had already interrupted her. “In the past, no matter what Maureen said about you, I would always be on your side. I didn’t expect you to be such a two-faced person! You said one thing in front of me and another behind my back! My wife isn’t someone you can humiliate!”

He pointed at Yvonne in rage. “I never expected you to be such a selfish person!”

Yvonne took a deep breath and anxiously said, “Warren, that’s not what I meant. I...”

However, Warren was already ignoring her. He directly wrapped his arm around Maureen’s shoulder and said, “Honey, I’m sorry. I never knew that you were being treated like this at home. It’s too unpleasant. We don’t need to live under someone else’s roof. It’s not like we don’t have a house outside. Let’s go!”

Yvonne did not dare to flare up at Warren.

No matter what, Warren was still a member of the Smiths. Moreover, she was indeed in the wrong for blowing up this matter.

Ian did not have a son, so although Ian’s generation had separated, his nephews from the next generation all lived in the Smiths’ manor.

Yvonne was an adopted daughter. Sooner or later, she would be married off. This family would belong to Joel sooner or later!

Yvonne could bully Maureen and even look down on Nora, but she could not look down on Warren!

She rushed forward again and grabbed Warren's arm. She called him with an intimate tone, "Brother, I..."

Before she could finish, Warren pushed her back a few steps.

Warren's face was cold. "Don't. Don't call me that. You're the eldest daughter, I'm just from the side family. I don't dare to let you call me brother!"

Yvonne did not dare to flare up at Warren. She could only look at Nora and scold her directly. "Why are you so despicable?! You actually recorded it!"

Nora lowered her eyes. "If I hadn't recorded it, how could I have broken your disguise?"

Yvonne was about to go crazy after being torn apart.

She was on the verge of breaking down. She no longer pretended to be a pure and innocent girl. She pointed at her angrily. "It's all because of you that my relationship with them became so bad. Nora, you're actually more pretentious than me! More manipulative!"

Nora: "..."

She raised an eyebrow and stared at her. "So?"

Yvonne was furious. Ignoring the fact that Warren was still beside her, she pointed at them and scolded, "Okay, okay. I'm an outsider, right? I'm not related by blood, so you guys are bullying me together!"

"But Nora, do you think you're so smug just because you're a member of the Smiths and have the Smith blood flowing in your veins? In the end, you're just an illegitimate daughter of the side family! Your mother was immoral and seduced two brothers at the same time. Do you really think you're so glorious?"

Smack!

Nora suddenly slapped her!

Yvonne was stunned. When she returned to her senses, she saw Nora's cold expression and anger in her eyes.

Yvonne was stunned as she touched her face before she reacted and took a step back. "You dare to hit me? You dare to hit me?!"

Nora clapped her hands and felt that her palms were a little dirty. Her voice was cold and distant as she replied, "You're not worthy of mentioning my mother."

No matter what, her mother had passed away.

As a junior, she was wrong to point fingers at her elder.

Yvonne bit her lips, fearing that she would make a move again. She pointed at her and roared, "Why don't you let anyone mention it? Do you feel embarrassed too? Then move out like Warren!"

These words angered Warren. "It's my own freedom and decision to leave. Who are you to chase me away?"

Yvonne sneered. "I'm the mistress of the Smiths! This family belongs to my father, and you guys are just outsiders! And that Louis is also an outsider! Get lost, all of you! Get out of my house!"

Hearing this, Nora smiled. She was about to say something when a cold voice suddenly came from behind. "In my opinion, the person who should leave is you!"

They turned around again and saw that Joel, who had rushed back after handling some company matters, was slowly heading upstairs with an icy expression.

He was wearing a black suit. His face, which had always been gentle and smiling, was now extremely stern.

The moment he appeared, Yvonne was instantly silenced, as if someone had pressed a mute button.

She had been most afraid of him since she was young.

Joel's handsome face was covered in frost as he stared at Yvonne. His tone was very serious. "You disappoint me too much. How did Uncle Ian raise a daughter like you?"

Yvonne was rendered speechless by his stern words.

Joel spoke again. "I originally wanted to wait for Uncle Ian to wake up before dealing with you. It looks like I was wrong. Lucy, come over."

Lucy hurriedly stood up. "Mr. Joel, I'm here."

Joel said coldly, "Pack Yvonne's luggage and take her to the villa in the suburbs. She'll be staying there for a while."

Lucy immediately nodded. "Yes."

With that, she asked tentatively, "Should I only prepare summer clothes?"

It was summer.

Joel lowered his eyes. "She will need some more clothes. After all, there are four seasons in a year!"

What he meant was that he wanted Yvonne to live in the suburbs forever!

Lucy was delighted, but she did not show it on her face. She lowered her head. "Yes, I'll send Miss Yvonne over first. I'll send the clothes over later."

With that, Lucy called two bodyguards over. Seeing them walk over, Yvonne finally returned to her senses and hurriedly shouted, "Joel, big brother, you can't treat me like this. I'm Daddy's daughter! I'm Daddy's daughter!"

—

A day later, Nora received a message from Lily.. “The DNA results are out.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 377 - To The Hospital!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The Smith villa was in the suburbs. It was a three-story building, and each floor was about 100 square meters.

Yvonne sat in the living room and clenched her fists tightly as she watched the nanny unpacking her luggage.

She looked at the low floor and then at the living room, which was at the end of the hall. She felt a violent rage roaring in her heart.

She stood up suddenly and said to Lucy, who had come over to help her unpack her luggage, “This place is too small! Get Joel to move me somewhere else!”

Lucy did not even look at her and continued ordering the others to send her clothes upstairs. “Miss Yvonne, I think you should stop acting. Do you really think you’re here for a vacation?”

Yvonne sneered, “Even if it’s not a vacation, I’m still the eldest daughter of the Smiths! Joel won’t let you suppress me, right?”

Lucy pursed her lips. “Yes, you’re the eldest daughter. But Mr. Joel has instructed me not to allow you to go home for the time being. You should reflect on yourself here.”

Yvonne’s face turned red.

She clenched her fists and lowered her voice. “Tell Joel that I know I was wrong. Dad is still in the hospital. It’s not appropriate for me to stay in the suburbs like this. Let me go back.”

Lucy lowered her head. “Alright, I’ll help you deliver the message.”

Although she said that, she turned her head and pursed her lips.

Hearing Lucy's words, Yvonne felt relieved and went upstairs. She entered the master bedroom and looked around. Although it couldn't be compared to the one in the manor, it was still passable and could be considered clean.

She changed her clothes and went out. When she was about to go downstairs, she heard someone ask, "Lucy, are you really helping her pass a message to Mr. Smith?"

Lucy sneered. "Did she say something just now? Why didn't I hear her?"

The other servants nodded as well. "Yes, we didn't hear anything."

Yvonne: "!!"

These unruly servants were bullying their master!

She was about to go over and scold them, but Lucy seemed to have seen her. She waved her hand. "Alright, since Miss Yvonne is here, let's get going."

With that, she turned to look upstairs. "Miss Yvonne, we'll head back first. Oh, right, your bank card has been frozen temporarily as well. But don't worry. There are ingredients in the fridge. I'll get someone to regularly send you daily necessities."

With that, she left without waiting for Yvonne to say anything.

Yvonne did not think much of it at first, but when she saw the people who'd brought her here walking out one by one, she panicked and chased after them. "You two are leaving too?"

The two of them nodded. "Yes, Lucy just said that we're leaving."

Yvonne looked around.

This was a villa district in the suburbs. However, because it was too far away, most people came here to stay on vacation. At this moment, there were not many families around.

From afar, the surroundings were filled with greenery.

She was anxious. “What should I do if you guys leave? Who’s going to cook for me tonight?”

The two of them coughed. “About that, we don’t know. Oh, the car is about to leave. Let’s hurry and get out!”

They pushed Yvonne away and left the room.

She was the only one left in the villa!

Yvonne looked around. The sound of a tree branch breaking startled her, and she clutched her chest.

Then, she opened the door to the villa.

The Smiths had bought all the places on both sides, but Joel did not arrange for anyone to stay here. She left the house in a panic and walked to both sides. After walking for 10 minutes, she did not see a single family!

The sky gradually darkened.

Yvonne became more and more afraid. She wanted to take a taxi and leave to stay in a hotel!

However, when she picked up her phone, she suddenly remembered that her bank card had been frozen.

She frowned. She’d asked her good friend in the circle to lend her money on WeChat, but she did not expect the other party to reply so quickly. [I’m sorry, I’m a little tight on money right now.]

Yvonne: “!!”

She bit her lip, her fingers trembling in anger.

Usually, when she went out, she would be the one paying among her best friends. Now, she was borrowing some money from them, but all of them were actually so wishy-washy!

However, no matter how much she looked down on her, she could only send her a humble message: “Just lend me $800. $200 is fine too.”

The other party: “I saw a bag and planned to buy it, so I really don’t have any money. Sorry!”

Yvonne: “!!”

She could only switch to another person and continue trying. However, the other party rejected her as well. She continued to ask a few people until someone reminded her: “You should stop trying to borrow money. No one in the circle will lend you money.”

Yvonne’s pupils shrank. [Why?]

The other party: “This is an information age. We all heard that you were chased out of the Smiths by your brother. The Smiths have a high status in New York. Other than the Hunts, who would dare to lend you money? We’re all afraid of your brother!”

Yvonne: “!!!”

She stared at the message on her phone and realized a terrifying fact.

No matter how powerful her father was... no matter how much Joel respected her father, he was already old!

The Smiths had long belonged to Joel!

This fact made her feel as if she had been severely injured. Her feet went soft and she fell to the ground.

She was done for.

She was really finished for offending her brother this time!

She returned to the villa dejectedly and sat on the sofa.

That night, she turned on all the lights in the room, but still kept trembling in fear in the silent night.

It was not until the next morning, when the sun rose, that she suddenly realized that she could not be locked up in this villa without a neighbor to die alone!

Absolutely not!

She took out her phone and made a call...

—

At the Smiths, Nora asked Lily, “What was the outcome?”

Lily’s voice did not fluctuate, and one could not tell if she was happy or angry. “It’s an electronic version. I sent it to your email. The paper version is in my hands. I’ll send it to you right now.”

Yesterday, when she returned to California, she took the umbilical cord blood and rushed the test overnight. She had found a testing facility in New York. Personally handling the test to ensure no one could tamper with it, Lily had not slept the entire night.

Although she did not say it, Nora roughly understood the meaning of the outcome.

If she and Ian were not biological father and daughter, there was no need for Lily to send another test report back...

Nora narrowed her eyes and looked out the window.

Although she had already guessed her identity, she still felt an inexplicable and complicated feeling when this moment came.

Her father...

Just as she was deep in thought, her phone suddenly rang. She glanced at it and realized that it was Joel. She hung up on Lily and picked up his call.

Just as she was about to speak, Joel's serious voice sounded.. "Nora, come to the hospital immediately. Uncle Ian is vomiting blood!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 378 - The Hospital

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

He had vomited blood?

Nora's eyes narrowed. She hurriedly said, "Okay, I'll be right there."

No matter what, saving Ian was more important!

In the hospital.

Joel was panicking outside the operating theater. Ian suddenly vomiting blood caught him off guard. At this moment, his vital signs had already calmed down and he was once again pulled back from death.

However, the attending doctor said, "Mr. Ian was saved this time, but next time, we can't guarantee anything. He's still in a coma. We have to think of a way to deal with the brain tumor."

Joel said directly, "I've already called Anti over."

When the attending doctor heard this, he hesitated. When Joel saw him like this, he could not help but ask, "What's wrong?"

The attending doctor sighed. "A few days ago, Anti could still perform the surgery and barely save him. But now, Mr. Ian's body is too weak. Just now, there was blood in his lungs, and we also performed the surgery on him. His body is no longer suitable for surgery. Sigh!"

No longer suitable for surgery...

What did this mean?

Joel grabbed his hand. "What did you say?"

The attending doctor slowly retracted his hand and said, “Mr. Joel, you... should prepare for a funeral!” before slowly retreating and leaving.

Joel stood there and frowned.

He looked at the ICU ward again.

At this moment, footsteps suddenly came from the end of the corridor.

Joel turned back and saw that the elders from the old residence had arrived.

He narrowed his eyes and welcomed them. “Granduncle, why are you here?”

This Granduncle was Ian’s third uncle. He used to be a glorious direct descendant, but ever since he moved to the old residence, he only took the Smiths’ dividend and did not ask about anything else.

Under normal circumstances, they would only appear if something unfair happened to the Smiths.

However, this Granduncle did not get along with Ian.

Back then, Ian refused to marry for the sake of Yvette. In granduncle’s eyes, he had already become an anomaly. Joel knew that granduncle had repeatedly scolded Ian for being selfish and completely disregarding his future generations. He did not even have a direct successor!

Granduncle even said that even if he did not get married, he could just have a child, but Ian had rejected all of them.

Back then, Ian’s methods were iron-blooded. The entire Smith family was exceptionally obedient under his thunderous methods. How could Granduncle be Ian’s match?

He had forcefully sent him back to the old residence and even sent him a message: “Take care of yourself. Don’t be a busybody.”

Granduncle had been furious, but he could not do anything to Ian.

According to what Joel knew, this Granduncle was guarding the ancestral old residence. The fun he had every day was cursing Ian. Every day, he would scold him. It had almost become his daily routine!

Ever since Ian fell ill, Granduncle had felt even more satisfied. Joel heard that he waited at home every day for news of his death.

Nothing good would come of him running here now!

Sure enough, the walking stick in the hands of this 80-year-old man hit him directly. “Unfilial son! Don’t you know why I’m here?”

Joel was not stupid. He dodged his attack, his eyes slightly cold. “Granduncle, what do you mean?”

“What do I mean?” The wrinkles on Granduncle’s face furrowed as he scolded, “Your Uncle Ian isn’t dead yet, but you can’t wait to chase his daughter out?”

When Joel heard this, his eyes narrowed.

With that, Granduncle moved aside to reveal Yvonne behind the crowd.

Yvonne’s eyes were red. She lowered her head and was crying silently. She looked up at Joel and said in a choked voice, “Joel, big brother, I was wrong. Let me go home!”

When he saw her, Joel narrowed his eyes.

His lips curled into a mocking smile.

Granduncle had always been at odds with Ian. Why would he be so righteous as to “help his adopted daughter?”

In fact, when Ian was seriously ill a few years ago, Granduncle had sent someone to contact him, hinting that he would take Ian down and control the Smiths.

This Granduncle had a stomach full of bad ideas for Uncle Ian, but he had stepped forward at this moment. Yvonne must have promised him something!

Joel retracted his thoughts. There was still a smile in his fox eyes. “What did you do wrong?”

What wrongdoings was she admitting to?

Yvonne lowered her head and said, “I shouldn’t have targeted Nora. But Joel, I really did treat her like this because I felt bad for Dad. Think about it. Who is the reason why Dad is lying in there hanging between life and death? Whose daughter is Nora?”

Joel sneered.

Yvonne was really good at finding excuses for herself.

Yvonne continued, “Big Brother, I’m doing this all for Dad! If you ask me, he should have just disowned her and prevented her from returning to the Smiths! Now that she’s back, Dad’s illness has worsened. Wasn’t it all because of her? Although I’m not Dad’s biological daughter, I’m Dad’s legal daughter. Dad raised me, so how can I not repay his kindness? I know that you and Nora are cousins and are related by blood. You’re biased toward Nora, but I’m not! My heart only favors Dad!”

Her words were self-righteous, but she had found an excuse for what she had done wrong.

When Granduncle heard this, he nodded slightly. “After all, he’s not Ian’s biological son. He’s just Ian’s nephew. If you don’t feel sorry for your Uncle Ian, his daughter will naturally feel sorry for him! Joel, no matter what, you shouldn’t have chased Yvonne out because of someone from the side family! I’m here today to tell you that you have to bring her back!”

Yvonne had gone to look for him and made a request to split the family.

As Ian's only daughter, even if Joel inherited the Smiths, she could still get half of Ian's assets!

At that time, she would give the two-thirds to Granduncle.

Granduncle knew very well how big Ian's private fortune was!

He was immediately tempted.

Only then did he lick his lips and follow Yvonne here. Furthermore, he had called a few loyal members of the Smiths over.

Those people had created the Smiths' legend with Ian back then and were very loyal to him.

They stood behind Yvonne and Granduncle and began to criticize Joel.

"Joel, how could you forget Mr. Smith's kindness to you?"

"That's right. Even an adopted daughter knows how to repay the kindness. What about you? Mr. Smith treats you very well!"

"I don't care what mistake Miss Yvonne has made. Nora shouldn't have acknowledged the Smiths! She should be chased out!! Bring Miss Yvonne home!"

"That's right.. We need to get that illegitimate daughter out of the Smiths to live up to Mr. Smith's nurturing!"

Chapter 379 - Immediate Family!!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Facing everyone's criticisms, Joel's attitude remained indifferent.

These people were originally the backbone of Smith Corporation and were Ian's most capable subordinates. They had all seen Ian's depressed state because of Yvette.

Everyone hated Yvette to the core.

Therefore, when he first found out that Nora was his cousin, Joel had to ask Ian for permission before he could go and fetch her.

Joel said slowly, "Uncles, it was Uncle Ian who made the decision to bring Nora home. He even went to the Hunts' banquet personally. I'm sure you all know about this, right? Are you planning to disregard Uncle Ian's orders?"

His words silenced those people.

Joel knew that they were only there to stand up for Yvonne. These people were actually very reasonable people. He said sincerely, "Think about it. If Uncle Ian was still awake, would he have allowed Yvonne to do such a thing?"

Would he?

Of course not!

Ian was a very charming person. Otherwise, he would not have let so many of them follow him his entire life.

When those people stopped talking, Granduncle said, "Hmph, you're full of righteousness and morals. In the end, isn't it all because you're not Ian's biological son? I think you're the one who instigated him to acknowledge her so that he would be angered to death. You completely control the Smiths, right? But don't go overboard! Joel, your uncle isn't dead yet!"

Joel couldn't be bothered with him, but he looked at the core members of the company and said, "I'm indeed not Uncle Ian's biological son. But don't forget that I'm still his nephew at the very least. But this woman... is not related to Uncle Ian by blood at all. I'm sure you all know who is closer to Uncle Ian!"

With a few words, Joel shifted the conflict.

They looked at each other and fell silent.

Yes, when they heard that Miss Yvonne had been bullied, they thought about how good Ian used to be and stood up for her. However, Joel's words were true!

The corridor suddenly fell silent.

At this moment, another set of footsteps could be heard. Everyone turned their heads and saw Nora, who was being discussed by everyone, walking over with hurried footsteps. She did not care about the people sizing her up at all and walked straight to Joel. She looked at the operating theater and her gaze was a little complicated. "...How is he now?"

Treating Ian was the most important matter. How could Joel have the time to bicker with these people?

He directly pulled Nora aside and frowned. "This... I need you to take a look and see if Uncle Ian can still be saved!"

Nora nodded. "Give me the medical records and all of his CT scans!"

She was very confident when she spoke. "My assistant, Lily, is already on the way. Everything regarding him... send them to me!"

Joel had originally called Nora over to let her treat his illness.

However, he did not expect Nora's attitude to be so strong. She immediately wanted to take charge of Uncle Ian's treatment?

He frowned and was about to speak when Yvonne's sharp voice sounded. "Joel, you plan to let Nora treat Dad? That's not possible!"

Her words made Joel frown tightly. "Why not?"

Of course, it was because if Ian woke up, he would definitely pursue the matter!

Yvonne knew Ian's character like the back of her hand. She knew very well what would happen to her if he was treated!

When they came to the hospital, they had already found out that Ian might not wake up this time. At this moment, of course, they could not let the miracle doctor, Anti, be involved!

Thinking about this, Yvonne took a step forth and accused, "Because she's from the Andersons. Joel, are you going against Dad's wishes?"

Joel: "??"

He frowned. "What nonsense are you talking about here?!"

Yvonne immediately said, "Joel, don't think I don't know! The medicine I've been taking lately is not any good medicine from Myers Peace Pharmacy! It's just a replacement Carefree Pill! But you don't dare to tell the truth because you know that Daddy has never taken Harmonia Pharmacy's medicine!"

She said firmly, "All these years, Dad has hated the Andersons to the core. Joel, you know that, right? Even if he died, he would not take the Andersons' medicine. Now, you actually let Nora treat him? Even if he was saved, he would be angered to death by you!"

Joel narrowed his eyes.

The Smiths knew that Ian did not take Harmonia Pharmacy's medicine.

Everyone said that he didn't eat them because he hated Yvette.

However, Joel felt that Uncle Ian was afraid that experiencing the familiar taste would cause sadness.

As for the final stage, Uncle Ian had always been unwilling to take Harmonia Pharmacy's Carefree Pill. It was not because he had a problem with it, but because he really did not want to live anymore.

If Uncle Ian had not met a small-time broadcaster on the Internet, he would not have taken the Myerses medicine again.

He did not expect Yvonne to interpret his actions this way...

He narrowed his eyes. "Nora is not from the Andersons. Her surname is Smith."

Yvonne said forcefully, "Her surname isn't important. What's important is that her mother is Yvette Anderson!"

Yvonne sighed, "Joel, Daddy is already very weak. Do you really have to humiliate him like this?!"

Humiliate?

Joel clenched his jaw. "I'm just saving Uncle Ian's life! I believe Nora has the same thoughts."

After saying this, he said to Nora forcefully, "Go and see the medical records first."

Nora raised her eyebrows. She was in a hurry to save him and did not care about the rest. However, just as she was about to enter the ward, Yvonne rushed over and blocked the door. "You can't go in!"

She looked at Joel angrily. "The person Daddy hates the most is Yvette. How can Nora appear in Dad's ward? Are you trying to make Dad leave faster? I don't agree!"

With that, she turned to look at Granduncle.

Granduncle immediately coughed. “It seems that in the last stage of the patient’s life, if we agree not to resuscitate him, the signature on the agreement must be signed by his immediate family. Joel, the decision to let her save your uncle is in the hands of Yvonne! After all, she is Ian’s legal daughter!”

Yvonne nodded. “Joel, if you insist on humiliating Daddy, don’t blame me for being rude. I’m going to call the police!”

Joel frowned and was about to force this group of people out of the hospital when he heard Nora’s light words. “Who said you’re his immediate family?”

As soon as she said this, everyone looked at her, not understanding what she meant for a moment.

Chapter 380 - Nora Is Ians Daughter!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne frowned and shouted in anger, “What? You chased me out of the house. Are you not even going to let me acknowledge my family? I was adopted by Daddy, and our relationship is protected by the law. Don’t go overboard!”

Joel frowned and looked at Nora, not understanding what she meant.

Nora raised her eyebrows and said directly, “What I mean is that a biological child is more qualified than an adopted child to give permission to continue treatment, right?”

Biological child?

Yvonne was speechless. “Everyone knows that my father has never gotten married or had a woman in his life because of your mother. How could he have a biological child? Oh, I get it. You mean Joel? But there’s no adoption between Joel and Dad. Legally, they’re just uncle and nephew!”

“I’m not talking about him.” Nora’s voice was cold. She looked at the time. When she first came, she did not immediately reveal her identity because she wanted to get the test report from Lily.

Judging from the time, it should be here soon, right?

As he thought about this, he heard Yvonne sneer. “Then who are you talking about? You can’t be talking about yourself, right?”

Nora raised her eyebrows and looked at Yvonne.

The girl's almond-shaped eyes were filled with interest and mockery. For some reason, Yvonne suddenly had a bad feeling. Indeed, in the next moment, she heard her say calmly, "Yes, it's me."

"..."

The entire corridor fell silent for a moment.

After a long time, Yvonne was the first to return to her senses. "You? Are you dreaming? You're clearly Uncle Ryan's daughter! You're the illegitimate daughter your mother gave birth to when she eloped with Ryan! Last time, Joel even took your DNA to prove it! Nora, it's daytime now. Please don't have any beautiful dreams!"

Joel looked at Nora's confident look and frowned. He asked directly, "What evidence do you have?"

As soon as he said this, he heard hurried footsteps in high heels walking over.

Hearing this familiar sound, Nora's lips curled up. "The evidence is here."

With that, everyone turned around and saw Lily walking over. She was wearing a black windbreaker and walked very flashily.

Although Lily was American, she was of mixed blood. She had large eyes and a high nose bridge, making her look valiant.

She came in front of them and directly handed the DNA report to Nora.

Nora did not take it and raised her chin at Joel.

Lily turned around and handed the DNA report to Joel. "Mr. Joel, this is An... Miss Nora and Mr. Ian's DNA test report."

Test report?

Joel narrowed his eyes and picked up the report to take a look. When he saw that there was a 99% chance that they were father and daughter, he looked up at Nora in disbelief.

Ian's capable subordinates were all stunned. Someone could not help but ask, "Mr. Joel, what is written in the DNA report? Say something!"

Joel put away the report and said word by word, "Nora is indeed Uncle Ian's biological daughter."

As soon as he said this, the others stepped forward.

"Let me see!"

"Don't fake this report. Look carefully before you speak."

"Didn't you see the report logo? This is the most authoritative testing organization in the country. It can't be fake!"

"Is she really Mr. Smith's daughter? So Yvette didn't betray him? Then why did she escape back then?"

"That's not important. What's important is that Mr. Smith has a future. He has a real daughter now!"

The group was very excited. Their eyes were red as they spoke.

Yvonne was also stunned. She took a step forward and snatched the DNA report. She shouted angrily, "How is this possible? How is this possible?! This is impossible! Isn't she Ryan's daughter? Joel, tell me, what's going on?"

What was going on?

Joel also wanted to know what was going on!

However, now was not the time to argue about this. He said directly, "The previous test report might have been wrong, but this report is the answer given by the most authoritative and legal testing organization in the country! Nora is Uncle Ian's daughter!"

As his words fell, he looked at Nora.

The girl was still standing there confidently. At this moment, she had her hands in her pockets as she looked at the people in the corridor. “I’m going to save my father now. Everyone, I wonder if that’s okay?”

Ian’s subordinates did not stop her anymore.

Yvonne and Granduncle had always been the ones stopping them.

At this moment, the two of them had no right to stop her!

But Yvonne was indignant.

If Anti really went to save her father, the first thing her father would do when he woke up would probably be to deal with her!

Yvonne roared, “No, I suspect that this report is fake! I want to get a DNA sample and do the test myself!”

When she said this, Joel’s eyes turned cold.

His eyes, which were usually smiling, were now filled with killing intent. He took a step forward and said coldly, “Yvonne, everyone knows that Nora is Anti, but you’ve been stopping her from saving Uncle Ian. What are your intentions?”

Yvonne choked and stuttered, “I, I... I’m just fulfilling Dad’s wish!”

“Wish?” Joel sneered and looked at the others. “Let’s not talk about whether Nora’s DNA report is true or not. Your words are really laughable! Uncle Ian’s wish is to die, so you want him to die too? Is this your filial piety? You’re too foolish!”

Yvonne was stunned.

Joel looked at Granduncle and Ian’s capable subordinates and said directly, “Uncles, she has been stopping Anti from treating Uncle Ian since the beginning. Why? Only Anti can give Uncle Ian a glimmer of hope! You all said that I'm fighting for power, but if I'm really so selfish, why don't I let Uncle Ian leave like this? Wouldn't it be better to just be in charge of the company? Why is this unnecessary?! I'm sure you all know who doesn't want Uncle Ian to live!"

Ian's subordinates had not spoken since Yvonne suggested not letting Nora treat him.

In their opinion, Ian's persistence was courting death. Being alive was better than anything.

They were all senior executives of Smith Corporation, so how could they not understand anything?

At this moment, everyone said, "Treat him first!"

Hearing this, Yvonne was anxious.

However, she calmed down when she thought of the doctor's words.

So what if she went to see him? The doctor had said that it was too late even if she made a move!

The main reason was that once her father had passed away, so what if she was an adopted daughter? She still had the right to fight for the inheritance!

Chapter 381 - Cured!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After everyone stopped blocking her, Nora entered the ICU ward.

As soon as she entered, she sensed a group of people protecting the place.

It seemed that regardless of whether the people outside had any objections or not, from the moment Joel called her to the hospital, the surgery was set in stone.

He had probably sent Quentin over long ago and secretly arranged everything.

Even without the DNA report, Joel could still resolve the problem violently if Yvonne objected.

This big brother looked soft, but his methods were powerful.

She did not have time to think about this anymore. She had already arrived at the bed and first sized up Ian's expression.

He was thinner than the last time they met. His cheekbones were protruding, and he lay there as thin as a piece of paper.

Nora retracted her gaze and picked up his medical record and the CT scan she had taken.

Every organ in his body was indeed failing. The most serious thing was that there was a tumor in his brain that needed to be removed immediately. It was similar to the situation with Mrs. Hunt.

However, Mrs. Hunt was in her eighties, so her body naturally deteriorated.

Ian was only 50 years old. It was really not right for his body to be so exhausted.

While she was thinking, Lily had already changed her clothes and walked in. The medical team that belonged to Anti had completely taken over Ian's treatment team.

Joel had no objections to this.

—

Outside.

Ian's attending doctor watched as Lily pushed Ian into the operating theater. He walked back and forth angrily and stomped his feet. He said to Ian, "Mr. Joel, Mr. Smith's body is really not suitable for surgery! You'll kill him!"

Joel did not speak and only stared at the operating theater.

The attending doctor said, "No matter how good Anti is, the most important thing to do now is to let the old sir recuperate first. All physical indicators have to be met before he can be carried to surgery!"

Joel lowered his eyes and only said after a moment, "I believe her."

This girl could always create miracles.

When the attending doctor knew that Joel had made up his mind and he would not change it again, he could only pace around anxiously as he stared at the operating theater.

In the corridor, Granduncle and Yvonne sat on the bench.

Granduncle held his walking stick and craned his neck to look as if he was waiting for the "good news" of his death.

The others were also paying attention to this surgery.

Quentin had walked behind Joel at some point in time. He held his chin and was deep in thought, looking very worried.

When Joel saw this, he comforted him for once. “Don’t worry. With Anti’s medical skills, if she can’t save Uncle Ian, then no one in this world can.”

Quentin: “?”

He slowly raised his head and looked at Joel. “I’m not worried about Uncle Ian! Nora can definitely treat him, right? Since she’s the best in medicine, why should I be worried?”

Joel: “?”

He hesitated. “Then you are...”

Quentin sighed heavily. “Big Sister hasn’t been to the underground arena for two days. I wonder what happened. Sigh!”

The night before yesterday, because he was going to save Nora, he did not go to the martial arts arena. In the end, he had found out that Big Sister had not gone over either.

But last night, after he saw Nora return home, he had gone over. But in the end, Big Sister still did not come!

Where did she go? What was she busy with?

Joel: “...”

He touched his forehead and asked, “Can’t you focus on the hospital first?”

Quentin: “...Is Big Sister in the hospital?”

“...”

This child did not know how serious Uncle Ian’s illness was. Forget it, he would not say any more. Instead of making him worry with him, it was better to worry about that Big Sister!

—
“It’s done.”

With Nora’s words, the surgery in the operating theater came to an end.

She looked at Ian’s vital signs and took out the silver needles to stop the bleeding. After she was done, she said, “Lily.”

Lily stepped forward and wiped the sweat from her forehead.

Then, she checked Ian’s entire body and said, “The operation was very successful.”

Nora then heaved a sigh of relief. She nodded and went out.

The door to the operating theater was opened. The people waiting anxiously outside immediately rushed over.

“How’s Dad?”

Yvonne was the first to ask this question. “Did the operation succeed? Will Dad wake up?”

Nora raised her eyebrows and glanced at her. “Of course. The surgery was very successful.”

The words “very successful” made Yvonne’s face turn pale.

She took a step back in shock and looked at Nora in disbelief.

Nora looked directly at Joel. “He will wake up in a day. I think there are some things that need to be settled after that.”

Her last sentence was directed at Yvonne.

Yvonne’s feet trembled as she looked at the operating theater. “I-I want to see Dad!”

“Yes, let’s go see Mr. Smith!”

The others agreed.

Nora stopped them. “The patient has just finished his surgery. It’s easy to get infected if so many people go in to see him. Let’s wait for the patient’s condition to improve before we talk.”

Everyone nodded.

Joel then said, “Alright, Uncle Ian is no longer in danger. You can leave now.”

After that, he looked at Yvonne and sneered, “Also, when Uncle Ian wakes up, I will tell him everything that happened during this period.”

Yvonne trembled again.

She bit her lip, but she was helpless in front of such a domineering Joel. In the end, she could only leave with the group of people.

Seeing that the group of people had left, Quentin appeared again and stood beside Nora. He casually took the DNA report from Joel’s hand.

Quentin looked at Nora curiously and asked, “Where did you fabricate this report from? It’s actually so real! But you’re really smart. You actually thought of this method!”

Nora: “?”

Quentin opened the DNA report and looked at the stamp of the testing organization. “This stamp really looks like it. No wonder they didn’t see through it. Did Justin help you? Help me find out who they used for this. I’ll see if I can poach him from the Hunts...”

Joel: “...”

If he blurted his motive out so openly, would Nora still tell him?!

That's right. He and Quentin both thought that Nora's report was fake. It was a reasonable plan to treat Uncle Ian.

However, he did not expect to hear the girl's clear voice say, "This report is real."

Quentin and Joel were stunned.

The two of them looked at her simultaneously. "What did you say?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 382 - Punishment!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Was the DNA report real?

Didn't that mean that... Nora was really Uncle Ian's daughter?

It was not that she was not their cousin or related to them by blood if she was indeed Uncle Ryan's daughter. It was just that Uncle Ian was different to them.

To Joel and Quentin, Ian was more like a teacher and a father than an uncle.

Especially Joel, who protected him from the bottom of his heart.

Yvette and Uncle Ryan had eloped and hurt Uncle Ian's heart. To the two of them, this matter was unforgivable. Therefore, in the beginning, their feelings for Nora were a little complicated.

Even someone as strong as Ian would push a woman away when she clearly wanted to get close, let alone Joel and Quentin.

But if Nora was Ian's daughter... then it would be completely different!

Joel could still maintain his composure. Although he was surprised, he could still maintain his calm.

Quentin was stunned. "That's impossible. I pulled your hair last time and tested your DNA. Is that hair not yours? We have a cousin?"

Nora: "..."

This was a novel way of thinking.

She grimaced and answered, "It's mine."

She was silent for a moment, then decided not to bring up the question Lily had discovered, because she had sensitively caught that it might have involved something.

She said confidently, “The result was wrong.”

Quentin: “!!!”

There was a small chance that the DNA test report would go wrong, and the probability was about 0.01%. How could they encounter such a thing?

Quentin did not think much about it and asked, “Then, your mom didn’t betray Uncle Ian?”

“...I don’t think so,” Nora said slowly. “Now that I think about it, she might have only given me the surname Smith after marrying Henry Smith. Also...”

There was also the pharmaceutical company her mother had left behind, Idealian Pharmaceuticals. The name Idealian had the name ‘Ian’ in it!

Quentin believed her again. He nodded and approached Nora directly. He patted her shoulder. “Alright, Nora. Since you’re Uncle Ian’s biological daughter, you’re my biological sister. I’ll protect you in the future! Don’t be afraid. As long as I’m here, I won’t let anyone bully you! Also, I won’t nag anymore when I’m protecting you! You don’t have to feel burdened, I’ll protect you personally. I’m also responsible for Uncle Ian.”

Nora: “...”

Joel: “...”

Joel glanced at Quentin and then at Nora. His dark eyes were filled with thoughts.

Nora only pretended not to notice his probing gaze.

—

Yvonne was sent back to the villa in the suburbs, and Granduncle followed suit.

He paced back and forth in the living room and looked at Yvonne angrily. “Didn’t you say that she was Ryan’s daughter? How did she become Ian’s legitimate daughter again?!”

Yvonne was like an ant on a hot pan, not knowing what to do. She anxiously said, “Granduncle, what’s the point of talking about this now? You should think of a way to get me out of this!”

Granduncle glanced at her and sneered. “I’ll think of a way for you? Anyway, when your father wakes up, you’re the one he wants to settle the score with, not me! This has nothing to do with me!”

With that, he walked out quickly.

Yvonne wanted to chase after him, but the old man had already slipped away as if he wanted to get rid of her.

She clenched her fists in anger.

This sinister and cunning old man!

Previously, he hated Ian so much that he gritted his teeth. After all, no elder in charge of guarding the old residence would be looked down upon like this. However, Ian was too domineering and did not take him seriously at all.

This old man would never miss any opportunity to bully Ian.

Yet, he could not bear the responsibility!

Yvonne’s chest rose and fell as she sat on the sofa.

She clenched her fists and stared ahead.

Nora had become her father’s biological daughter. Then, her father would look down on her even more!

After all, all these years, she only had a nominal relationship with Ian. Ian had never taken her out for a day.

Furthermore, Ian was someone who abhorred evil. After knowing what she had done, even if they had no evidence, they might still chase her out of the Smiths!

She could not leave the Smiths.

She was used to living in luxury since she was young. She could not live without money!

Yvonne lowered her head, her eyes turning red.

Why did everyone look down on her? Wasn't it because she was an adopted daughter? It was because she was an adopted daughter that she was afraid of being chased away and cared about her status...

She covered her face and cried gloomily.

But as she cried, she suddenly looked up again!

She could not cry. She had not reached the end!

She could still be saved!

She stood up and walked around the room.

Yes, the only person who wanted to chase her out of the Smiths was her father. If her father died now, even if the Smiths acknowledged Nora, she would still have a share of her father's assets!

What a pity. Why did Nora save her father?!

Saved...

Yvonne's eyes flashed with ruthlessness.

After understanding something, she looked out the door and saw that there was no one outside.

Joel was really silly.

After sending her here yesterday, he had not left anyone behind to keep an eye on her, letting her go out and find Granduncle.

It was the same today.

But it was good too.

She walked back and forth in her room, anxious to wait until it was dark. Then, she went out, took out her diamond ring, and found a black car.

The driver took her to the hospital.

The sky had already turned completely dark.

After Yvonne got out of the black car, she entered the hospital with an uneasy expression.

The more she walked, the calmer she became.

When she arrived at the floor of Ian's ward, she had already calmed down.

She slipped into the changing room at the side and changed into a nurse's uniform before leaving with a mask on.

She pushed the cart toward Ian's ward. When she reached the door, she was stopped. "Who is it?"

Yvonne was very calm as she said impatiently, "I'm here to change the dressing! Open the door!"

The bodyguard was stunned before opening the door.

Yvonne rushed to the bed and looked at Ian.

Nora had said that he would wake up tomorrow.

Therefore, she only had tonight.

She took out a syringe and looked out. Then, her fingers trembled as she held Ian's IV bottle and pushed the medicine in the syringe.

With a fierce look in her eyes, she said, "Daddy, don't blame me. If you want to blame someone, blame your biological daughter and my big brother for forcing me too hard!"

However, just as she said this, a hand suddenly reached out from the side and held her hand tightly!

Yvonne was stunned. She turned around stiffly and met Joel's face!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 383 - Was She Wrong?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Yvonne was shocked senseless.

She cried out in disbelief. “Ah!”

Then her hand trembled and the needle landed on the bed.

Her lips trembled. “Jo... Joel, what... what are you doing?”

Joel looked at her with deep eyes. “I should be the one asking you this. What are you doing?”

Yvonne bit her lips and refused to speak. “I-I was worried about Dad, so I came to see him.”

“Is that so?”

Joel lowered his head and looked at the needle on the bed. “What is this?”

Yvonne gulped and stuttered, “Vitamin.”

“Tsk, why didn’t I know this was vitamin?”

Suddenly, another deep voice sounded, causing Yvonne to turn her head again and see Nora walking over.

She picked up the syringe from the bed and sniffed it. After studying it carefully, she came to a conclusion. “This is potassium cyanide. As little as 0.1 grams injected into a person’s body would kill within thirty seconds!”

Yvonne stared at the needle and said in shock, “This, this isn’t, don’t talk nonsense...”

“Really?”

Nora handed the syringe to her. “There’s still some residue in here. If it’s vitamins, eat it and I’ll believe you.”

Yvonne: “!!”

She took the syringe with trembling fingers and stared at the liquid inside.

Of course, she knew best what was inside!

Potassium cyanide was medicine for euthanasia!

Her hands trembled, but she did not dare to really drink it. She threw the syringe on the ground. “Why should I drink it? I won’t! I refuse!”

Yvonne immediately shouted, “You’re slandering me! I didn’t want to poison Daddy!”

She suddenly came to a realization and said, “I know. Is it because you didn’t treat Daddy at all, so you deliberately said that he would wake up tomorrow and forced me to do it?! This way, it won’t show that your medical skills are bad. Nora, you’re really sinister and cunning!”

Nora heard her and lifted the blanket on Ian’s arm.

The bottle of drip was not even connected to his hand!

Yvonne was stunned.

Nora smiled. “Indeed, he won’t wake up tomorrow. Do you think he will wake up immediately after the surgery when his brain illness is so serious? He will need to rest for at least a week. However, I couldn’t wait another week.”

What could she not wait for?

Just as Yvonne was hesitating, Joel added, “The matter of you manipulating Florence to poison Old Maddy can’t be solved even if Florence sues you and makes a confession. As long as you refuse to admit it, there will be no evidence. We can't convict you of instigating someone to murder, so we thought of this method."

The moment Nora left the operating theater, Yvonne had nervously asked when Ian would wake up. Joel had given Nora a look.

Nora immediately said Ian would wake up tomorrow.

This only gave Yvonne a day to make a move.

When Yvonne heard that, she took a step back and looked at the two of them in disbelief. "Despicable! You're too despicable!! You actually schemed against me!"

Joel lowered his eyes. "This is a setup, but we didn't force you to come in. Before tonight, I thought that if you didn't come, you would still have some conscience. Then, I would have given you a decent dowry and married you off since you're the eldest daughter of the Smiths. From the looks of it, I was still soft-hearted."

Yvonne cried out in surprise, "You're too soft-hearted? You've always been the most careful and firm. I don't need to spend much effort to please other brothers, but what about you? I've tried so hard, but I can't make you treat me better! I know that you've never treated me like family!"

Joel looked up at her.

Yvonne was actually right.

He was a cold person by nature. There were not many people he cared about.

Ian was one of them.

Mia was one of them.

Tanya from many years ago was one of them.

He could barely count the cousins of the Smiths, but Yvonne had never been in his heart.

Joel ignored her and said to the people outside, "Come in."

The bodyguards walked in.

Joel pointed at Yvonne. "Take her away and send her to the police station tomorrow."

The word "police station" made Yvonne's body shudder.

She suddenly raised her head and looked at Joel in disbelief. "You... you're sending me to the police station? If that's the case, the Smiths' matter will spread! This is all a scandal!"

When Joel heard this, he nodded. "You're right. The police will at most charge you with attempted murder. You'll be sentenced to life imprisonment. If you're more sensible inside, your life won't be too bad."

The words "life imprisonment" made Yvonne shudder.

Joel suddenly turned to look at Nora. "Nora, tell me. What should we do?"

Was he handing her execution rights to Nora?

Nora probably hated her to death!

Yvonne panicked. "Joel, big brother! You can't do this. We're siblings after all. Please give me a way out!"

Joel lowered his eyes. "A way out? It's not impossible. I'll help you suppress this matter, but you have to listen to me and get married obediently..."

Yes, she would get married to anyone he wanted!

Yvonne nodded immediately. "I'll listen to you!"

However, Nora could hear another meaning from her words.

Whoever she married, she had to listen to Joel's arrangements. From Joel's words, she could hear some killing intent.

The man Joel wanted her to marry was definitely not a good person.

She lowered her eyes and suddenly said, "Send her to the police station!"

These words stunned Joel. "You're willing to let her off?"

Yvonne was also anxious. "Nora, you're so evil!"

She slowly turned back to Joel, stunned.

Yvonne asked in confusion, "Joel, what do you mean by letting me off?"

Joel lowered his eyes. "I originally planned to marry you to Jason."

Jason...

Hearing this name, Yvonne shivered.

This person had violent tendencies. He had married two wives and both of them had been beaten to death. Because he was from a wealthy family, he had spent money to suppress the matter.

However, domestic violence would not change. If she married him, there would only be one outcome—being beaten to death!

Yvonne's legs went soft and she fell to the ground.

How could she have forgotten?

Joel was a smiling tiger. Although he always had a smile on his face and his eyes were smiling, his heart was actually the most ruthless.

She suddenly shouted, "Hypocrite! The Smiths are all hypocrites! Ian! He adopted me but did not take good care of me! He never gave me fatherly love. You're no better, you never treated me as your real sister! Was I wrong? I was not wrong! Because if I did not scheme, no one would think about me!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 384 - Karma

Yvonne shouted crazily. She pointed at Joel and scolded, “You adopted me only because you wanted to matchmake me. Now, you see that I’m useless. This woman is back and you already have a sister, so you’re planning to abandon me! Are you despising me for being a hindrance? You Smiths are all bad people! Bad people! From the moment you adopted me, you’ve been up to no good!”

“...”

She screamed hysterically. If someone did not know better, they would have thought that the Smiths were torturing her.

She did not know how long she had been shouting for before Nora stretched out her fingers and dug her ears. “Tsk, I really can’t listen to it anymore.”

Yvonne’s voice stopped as she looked at her angrily.

Nora squatted down and looked at her face to face. “Before you came, I investigated you.”

She wanted to see if this person could still be saved. Was her heart bad or was it really because she lacked love?

After all, she was an adopted daughter.

The result was shocking.

She took out her phone and opened the information she had saved in the photo album. “You said that he adopted you and treated you badly... Then do you know what the children who were with you at the orphanage are doing now?”

“This is the girl who slept on your top bunk. You should know her, right? She was adopted by an ordinary family, but she didn’t have the money to go to university after she went to high school. So she went out to work and met her boyfriend. The two of them are married now, but they have been fighting for their lives. She never knew in her life that someone's clothes could be customized for hundreds of thousands or millions of dollars because she had never seen that much money."

"This is normal. Look at this girl. She's also a girl from your dormitory. She was adopted by a beastly father and was placed under house arrest for 20 years. He got someone to come to her door and let her pick up guests to earn money. Her life was worse than death. Now that she has that kind of illness, she can't see well and is waiting to die."

"And this..."

The pictures were of all kinds of adopted children and their recent situations. Most of the children lived normally, but they were only middle-class.

A small portion of people lived miserably.

Nora looked at Yvonne. "So, why can't you thank him for never mistreating you, for sending you to the best school, and even sending you overseas to study? The piano, violin, dance, computer, which of these don't you need resources for? Some people have never come into contact with them. As for company and feelings, some people are just not good at talking, but he has never mocked you or ignored you, right?"

"We shouldn't ask for too much. The thought of destroying what we can't get is too terrifying."

Yvonne still retorted, "I don't ask for much. I just want a family! But the people in this family are too cold to me! I'm just a child!"

Nora saw that she was being stubborn and sneered. Before she could say anything, Joel's voice suddenly came from the side. "I originally didn't want to talk to you, but I don't want to tarnish my reputation like you! Have you ever wondered why Uncle Ian is so distant and cold to you?"

Yvonne was startled. “What?”

Joel lowered his eyes. “When you were four years old, you had a fever once. Uncle Ian even guarded you for a night. At that time, he even played with you often... He was a perfect father!”

Four years old?

This was something that had happened too long ago, and Yvonne had long forgotten about it.

As she was thinking, she heard Joel say, “Uncle Ian doesn’t treat you well because when you were four years old, he saw you kill the little rabbit that you kept as a pet.”

Yvonne’s entire body froze.

Joel lowered his eyes. “Uncle Ian bought you all kinds of pets, but because you felt that he treated them too well, you indirectly caused their deaths. During that period of time, other than humans, there were no living things in the house! Uncle Ian tried to correct your thoughts, but you were born with bad roots. You were bad to the bone. If you felt the slightest dissatisfaction, you would poison them. At that time, I felt that you were mentally unstable, but at most, you would hurt the pets. But I didn’t expect you to dare to poison people now! A vicious woman like you probably has a black heart. How could Uncle Ian possibly treat you with love?!”

Yvonne narrowed her eyes.

She bit her lip. “Those pets stole my love. So what if I killed them? They’re just some animals! And that Old Maddy was just a lunatic adopted by our family. He didn’t even have any dignity when he was alive. So what if he died? He didn’t even have a family. What’s the point of such a person living in this world!”

Hearing her words, Nora narrowed her eyes.

Over the years, she had been used to seeing patients and lunatics. However, the person in front of her was the first person who made her feel terrified because she was a naturally bad person.

She did not want to be involved with her anymore. She only said one last sentence. “Actually, when he adopted you, he had never thought of giving up on you again. If you don’t believe me, you can look at your name.”

Name?

Yvonne was stunned before she reacted. Her name was Yvonne, and Ian loved Yvette.

She clenched her fists and sneered. “I already know what this name means. My existence is just him showing off his longing for his ex-girlfriend!”

Nora said softly, “But he has been longing for her all his life.”

So how could he chase the adopted daughter who represented Yvette out of the house?

Yvonne was stunned.

Nora did not give her a chance to speak again. Actually, she did not want to say anything to her here. She just did not want Yvonne to hate the person on the bed for no reason and let her tarnish his reputation.

Now that everything was clear, she looked at Joel. “Send her to the police station.”

Joel was silent.

Nora said, “Didn’t you say that he’s the most law-abiding? Then he’ll definitely send her to the police station and not torture her privately.”

When Joel heard this, he looked at the person on the hospital bed. In the end, he suppressed the anger in his heart and said to the bodyguard, “Send her to the police station. Also, send all the surveillance cameras footage. We’ll definitely convict her of attempted murder!”

“Yes, sir.”

When Yvonne was dragged out by the security guards, she no longer spoke. Her body was also soft.

Nora did not have time to sigh about her fate. She only told Joel that she was leaving first.

It had been a long time since she went to the underground arena. She was going to take a look tonight.

Otherwise, if she could not enter Class F, she would not be able to compete with Big Brother!

She parked the car at the martial arts arena and entered.

Quentin, who had been protecting her all along, followed closely behind. He was stunned when he entered the parking lot of the underground arena.

What was his little cousin doing here?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 385 - Big Sister, Show Me Your True Colors!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora entered the underground arena and saw Justin in the food section.

After all, a man holding a little girl was too eye-catching.

She walked over and Cherry, who was wearing a silver mask, said softly, “Mommy, I haven’t seen you in a few days. I missed you so much~ When I see you, I feel full of energy!”

Nora: “...”

The corners of her lips twitched. Seeing that Cherry still had the intention to continue talking, she quickly said, “Shhh.”

Cherry immediately shut her mouth obediently.

Nora walked over and fell onto the sofa. She immediately leaned against the sofa and closed her eyes to rest. In order to wait for Yvonne to go to the hospital tonight, she had not slept since the day before.

However, after closing her eyes, she could still hear Cherry mumbling at Justin’s ear. “Daddy, do you see that? Mommy is very scary if she hasn’t slept enough. You can’t provoke her now!”

Justin smiled. “...How scary is she?”

Cherry said softly, “When I was young, I was insensible once and woke her up. She spanked me a few times! It hurt so much!”

“...”

The man remained silent for a long time before saying, "I envy you."

Nora: "??"

What did he envy Cherry for? Being spanked?

Was this dog man still a masochist?

She grimaced, rolled over, and went back to sleep.

At this moment, enthusiastic applause and sighs were suddenly heard on the nearest ring. Then, someone passed by them while still discussing fervently.

"Heavens, isn't Victor too powerful? The last time he was injured, he was clearly more severely injured than Randy from Quinn School of Martial Arts, but Randy is still lying in the hospital and can't get up. But look at Victor, he has already recovered, and he seems to be even more powerful than last time!"

"That's right. He only used a few moves to defeat the fighter from Class E. He's too powerful. I think his skills aren't much different from those two!"

"No way? Big Brother and Big Sister are the representatives of martial arts. Victor is only the disciple of a foreign boxing champion and has only studied for two years. It can't be..."

The two of them left while talking. Nora suddenly opened her eyes. At that moment, her dark eyes met Justin's.

The mole under the man's eye seemed to be flashing with the same question.

The moment the two of them looked at each other, neither of them spoke. They stood up and walked toward the arena.

Indeed, Victor was getting off the stage. On the other side, a man was being carried off the stage.

“That’s a Class E martial artist. He entered Class F last year, and his skills are not bad. He couldn’t even take a few moves from Victor?”

Justin was a little hesitant as he stared at Victor. He slowly analyzed in a deep voice, “Furthermore, from the way he walked, his injuries seem to have healed completely. But he only took four days to heal his muscles and bones! This is too fast!”

“There must be a reason why things are so abnormal.” Nora suddenly approached Justin. Her voice was very low. “Follow him and take a look?”

Justin nodded.

The two of them followed Victor out. When they saw him take two steps, he reached out and pressed his chest, his face filled with pain.

The last time, Nora taught him a good lesson. Even if his external injuries were healed, his internal injuries were still there.

The wound on his chest was the hardest to heal.

As the two of them were thinking, Victor suddenly took out a bag of strange-looking medicine, opened it, and drank it.

After he finished drinking, the pain in his chest seemed to have been relieved. Even his footsteps had become more vigorous. It looked like his martial arts skills had improved again?

“There’s something wrong with that medicine.”

Just as this sentence appeared in Nora’s mind, Justin had already spoken. Nora nodded. “Don’t disturb him. Let’s go over and take a look first.”

Victor finished the bag of medicine and did not throw the packaging into the trash can. Instead, he carefully folded the bag and placed it in his pocket.

Nora frowned.

Justin seemed to have sensed something and asked, “You want it?”

“Yeah.”

Justin handed her Cherry. “Wait a minute.”

Nora had just taken Cherry when she saw Justin walking towards Victor in the distance. When the two of them brushed past each other, Justin’s shoulder suddenly bumped into Victor.

Victor was furious. “What are you doing? Are you crazy?”

Justin was wearing a black mask, and his thin lips curled up slightly. “I’m sorry.”

Victor still wanted to scold him. After all, his temper had always been bad. However, for some reason, when he met this man’s pitch-black eyes, he could not say anything else.

This was the pressure of an expert.

Victor could only snort and mutter something before lowering his head and leaving quickly.

After he left, Justin turned around and returned. He took out the bag of medicine, that Victor had drunk earlier, like a magic trick and handed it to Nora.

Nora took it and glanced at it. Indeed, she saw some residue inside.

She smirked. “I’ll let Lily see what’s in this medicine tonight. It shouldn’t be ordinary stimulants.”

Justin nodded.

Cherry, who had long been placed on the ground by Nora, reached out her small hand to Justin. “Daddy, hug.”

“Why do you need him to hug you? Don’t you have legs?”

Nora muttered in disdain, but Justin still bent down without any hesitation and picked Cherry up. When he saw Nora frowning, he subconsciously explained, "It's too messy here. It's better to keep her close, just to be safe."

Nora: "..."

After a moment of silence, she asked, "Do you hug Pete this much too?"

Justin said without hesitation, "He doesn't need it. As a man, this little danger is nothing."

"..."

Why such double standards?

Nora ignored him and rolled her eyes at Cherry instead.

Cherry wrapped her arms around her father's neck and praised, "Daddy, you looked so handsome when you were stealing!"

Justin: "..."

Cherry blinked. "Should we continue to steal things?"

Justin smiled. "We have everything you want at home. In this world..."

He suddenly looked at Nora and said meaningfully, "Other than the one thing that I want to steal, I can buy everything else for you."

Cherry was curious. "Then what are you trying to steal, Daddy?"

Justin just smiled.

For some reason, Nora's heart skipped a beat when he stared at her.

Her face was even slightly hot, so much so that she did not notice a figure quietly approaching her.

Just as Justin's lips moved slightly and he was about to say something, a figure suddenly darted out from the side.

Quentin attacked Nora's face very quickly and took off her mask. "Big Sister, let me see your true colors today!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 386 - Teaming Up For The Tournament?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Quentin moved very quickly. Just as it seemed like he was about to take off her mask, and even Nora was caught somewhat off-guard, a large hand suddenly held her around her waist and pulled her back a couple of steps. She fell right into the man's arms.

The man's familiar testosterone-y aura took Nora by surprise.

She turned to see Justin staring at her. After quickly letting go of her waist, the man said in a low and deep voice, "You're welcome."

Nora: "..."

She actually wasn't planning on thanking him.

She stood up straight and looked at Quentin. "What are you doing?"

Quentin felt rather regretful that he hadn't managed to take off her mask. He said, "Sorry, Big Sister. I just wanted to see what you really look like."

When he was walking over just now, he had seen Big Sister spacing out for once. On top of that, she had even seemed distracted and somewhat dazed, so he had reckoned that this was probably the best opportunity he would ever have.

Unexpectedly, it had actually failed.

He couldn't help but glare at Justin, who was wearing a black mask.

What was he showing off how in love they were at a critical moment like that for?

Couldn't he just hug her at home? To think he actually did that in public. Was it because he thought that he was single and didn't have a girlfriend?

He curled his lips disdainfully and ignored Justin. Instead, he showed Nora a lot of admiration and asked, "Why didn't you come the last two days, Big Sister?"

Nora: "?"

Didn't he know exactly what she was doing?

She curled her lips into a smile and replied, "I had something on."

Quentin nodded. "I just so happened to have something on too. My cousin was framed, so I went to save her. By the way, are we still taking part in the match today, Big Sister?"

"Yeah."

Nora agreed to it without any hesitation.

Quentin looked around.

"Are you looking for someone?" asked Nora.

Quentin nodded. "I saw my cousin's car outside. She must have heard about the tournament somewhere and come here to have some fun. I'm afraid she'll offend someone because she doesn't know the rules, so I'm looking around to see if I can find her. I don't know where she's hiding, though."

Nora: "..."

Next to her, Cherry, who was holding her cell phone, swept her gaze across Quentin and shook her head a little. It would probably take that silly uncle of hers forever to realize that Mommy was Big Sister!

Nora and Justin were the two mainstays of the martial arts circle. With Quentin, the self-proclaimed third, with them, their team practically forged ahead unopposed.

Before they went into the ring, Quentin even said to Justin, “Remember to protect yourself later. You’re the weakest among us three. Don’t give the opponents any chance for a breakthrough.”

Justin: “...”

His words made Nora give Justin a close, scrutinizing look.

The two of them had fought each other a few times before, but she hadn’t been able to completely suppress Justin before. This showed that the man was very strong. Who exactly was he? Who had he learned his martial arts from?

Perhaps because he noticed her gaze, Justin came up to her and let out a low chuckle. With his beauty mark covered by his mask, the man’s eyes were dark and bottomless and looked a little less bewitching than usual. He said, “I’ll take off the mask and let you look at me for free after the fight is over and we go home. Don’t look anymore for now.”

Nora: “!!”

Quentin: “...”

For some reason, he felt like they were showing off how in love they were again. The two of them were too much!

Were they here to compete or to show off how deeply they were in love with each other?!

The triggered Quentin straight-up displayed his martial prowess to its fullest and utterly defeated his opponent.

With all the points they had accumulated recently, they had reached Class D.

The team of three fought two more matches. However, when they were about to leave at night, the organizer of the tournament came up to them with a troubled look on his face. He said, “Please wait a minute, the three of you.”

The trio stopped and looked at the organizer in confusion.

The organizer sighed and asked, “Can the three of you wait for a while and watch a certain match?”

Watch a certain match?

All three of them nodded.

Quentin had agreed because the tournament used to be organized by Ryan. At the bottom of it all, the Smiths had to take responsibility for the tournament.

As for Justin, as a leading figure in the martial arts circle, he had his responsibilities, of course.

Although Nora didn’t actively participate in the Quinn School of Martial Arts’ affairs, as Big Sister, she would play her part in maintaining order in the tournament, so she also agreed to it.

The organizer took the trio to Arena No. 5.

Once one-on-one matches were over, team matches were slotted in at intervals.

However, Nora was stunned when she saw the three people in the ring because...

The people in the ring were none other than Victor and his two fellow disciples!

The few of them were disciples of the Benevolence Hall, which had only been established for two years. Additionally, the owner of the Benevolence Hall was none other than the foreign boxing champion, Abigail!

Why had those three suddenly formed a team, though?

While she was wondering about it, the organizer standing beside them sighed and said, “That man called Victor, as well as his two fellow disciples, suddenly became very strong. Originally, we didn't think much about it—after all, once they reach Class F, there are Big Brother and Big Sister who will teach them a lesson or two.”

While saying that, he secretly cast a glance at Justin.

Seeing that Justin was ignoring him, he continued and said, “But unexpectedly, those three have actually formed a team. Now that they've become a three-man team, it may really be true that no one can beat them anymore!”

Quentin snorted coldly at his words. “Why wouldn't anyone be able to beat them? How can you put yourself down when you haven't even fought them?! There's still me and Big... my elder sister, isn't it?”

He'd originally wanted to say 'Big Sister', but he suddenly remembered that Big Sister wanted to hide her identity, so he ended up saying 'elder sister' instead.

Nora: “??”

Her lips slowly curled into a smile. She couldn't help but wonder if that fellow would still be able to bring himself to call her his 'elder sister' once he knew who she really was.

The organizer, however, misunderstood and thought that Quentin wanted to say 'Big Brother', so he didn't think too much about it. He merely sighed and said, “There's only the two of you. Besides, it's one-on-one. To be honest, I'm not worried about Big Sister or Big Brother being up against Victor one-on-one. But there are three of them, so... it's hard to say!”

The organizer glanced at Justin.

Victor and his two fellow disciples were comparable in strength to Big Sister and Big Brother now. Unfortunately, Team Third In The World only had Big Brother and Quentin, who was ranked third. How would they be able to beat them?

Quentin also heaved a sigh. “Yeah. I’m not trying to diss you, but you’re holding us back, bro.”

Nevertheless, he still said impartially, “Just try your best. It doesn’t matter even if you lose. We’re all Americans here, so it doesn’t matter.”

As soon as he said that, the organizer fell silent for a moment. At last, he heaved a huge sigh and asked, “Do you know what their team name is?”

“What is it?”

“Americans Are Incompetent.”

His words stunned the three of them.

Quentin shouted angrily, “What kind of ridiculous name is that? You guys actually allowed it?”

The organizer was also very angry. “We don’t have any rules in the tournament. It’s just like how no one would say anything even if you named your team First In The World.. They exploited that loophole. So, do you still think it’s okay to lose?”

Chapter 387 - Change Him To Big Brother!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Was it okay to lose?

Of course not!

Quentin said, “Let us face them in a match! We’ll kick their a*s*s!”

The organizer looked at him and shook his head again. “Sigh. Let’s talk about it again after you watch their match.”

Quentin didn’t understand what he meant, but shortly after, he did.

He’d originally thought that Victor must be the strongest among the three, but unexpectedly, the bald black man next to him was actually the strongest.

His body was as if it was made out of steel, and he seemed immune to all attacks. All the teams they were up against were from Class D, but the three of them played them all like they were babies.

Victor wasn’t that lacking in martial arts ethics anymore this time.

The victory was theirs once the three of them threw their opponents out of the ring.

There was no applause around them. Victor was quiet and didn’t say anything. The bald man next to him rubbed his bald head and said something in a foreign language.

Someone who didn’t understand asked, “What did he say?”

Cherry translated it for him. “He said, ‘Isn’t there anyone in America who can fight?’”

“...”

That one line from her made everyone fall silent.

Even Quentin, who was usually the chattiest person ever, had a serious look on his face. He stared at them for quite a while before he finally leaned toward Nora and asked, “Big Sister, did you notice...”

“They’ve become stronger.”

Nora answered him straightaway.

Quentin immediately nodded. “Yes, and it isn’t just by a little. Why do I feel like Victor can last a few dozen moves against you now?”

Nora replied, “Twenty moves.”

Quentin: “...”

Big Sister was simply so confident!

But!

He felt an acute sense of crisis. “I was originally ranked third in New York, but I feel threatened by that guy now. Aside from Big Brother and Big Sister, there’s probably no one else who would be their match now, right? I can only tie with them at the most.”

The organizer sighed and said, “Now you understand why I asked you guys to watch the match, right? It’ll probably only be possible to defeat them if Big Brother and Big Sister team up!”

Quentin nodded at once. “I think so, too.”

Even if he could stop Victor, Big Sister would have a hard time dealing with the other two by herself.

The organizer said, “Out of all the teams, Team Third In The World has the highest chance of beating them. Therefore, from tomorrow onward, I intend to arrange five matches for you guys every day, so that you can enter Class F as soon as possible. This way, you’ll be able to go up against them! Otherwise, if they hog the Class F seats and clamor there every day, won’t we die of anger? I wonder if the three of you would agree to it?”

Justin looked straight at Nora and said, “She has the final say.”

The organizer: “...”

He looked at Nora.

Nora kept quiet for a moment before she nodded. “Okay.”

She was duty-bound to uphold the American pride in their martial arts.

The organizer looked at Quentin again.

Quentin, who had a stern look on his face, hesitated for very long before he finally said, “Okay! After all, as the person ranked third in the world, who else can do it, if not me?”

The organizer finally breathed a sigh of relief and left.

After he left, Quentin walked over to Justin and Nora. “Big Sister, I think the three of us may not be able to win against the three of them because we have someone in the team holding us back.”

Both Justin and Nora nodded.

And wasn’t that so?

He had quite a lot of self-awareness after all.

Unexpectedly, the next moment, Quentin said to Justin, “How about you withdraw from the team? If we replace you with Big Brother, we likely won’t have any problems anymore!”

Justin: “??”

He let out a low scoff of laughter. He was about to speak when a woman’s cold and urgent voice reached them. “No, I don’t want that.”

Quentin: “?”

Justin also looked at her, only to see dissatisfaction in Nora’s almond-shaped eyes. “I don’t want to be in the same team as him.”

Justin: “...”

Quentin was also dumbfounded. “Huh? Why?”

“We don’t get along.” After giving a brief explanation, Nora looked at Justin and added, “Besides, he isn’t weak. The three of us can do it.”

Only Nora, who had fought with him before, knew how strong Justin truly was. Quentin usually fought very valiantly against their opponents, so he had basically dealt with the opponents for Justin. Moreover, he was carrying Cherry, which made Nora worried that she would get hurt, so she also helped him out all the time.

As a result, despite being on the same team, Quentin still didn’t know how strong Justin ‘The Pretty Boy’ was.

Quentin liked Big Sister, but he also liked Big Brother very much.

He couldn’t help but speak up for Big Brother. “Big Sister, what did Big Brother do to you? Did he steal your baby? Or did he steal your husband? Why are you so at odds with him?”

Nora: “...”

Quentin scratched his head. “Besides, I know you definitely think highly of your husband, but shouldn’t we be realistic? You can’t just think that your husband isn’t weak just because beauty is in the eye of the beholder.”

Then, he held his arm up, raised his chin, and said, “Or how about I compete with him in a duel? If he can beat me, he can stay in the team.”

Nora glanced at him and left.

Justin also glanced at him and left.

Quentin: “??”

What did those two mean by that? Why did he feel as if the more he looked at them, the more he felt like something was wrong?

Were they looking down on him?

The corners of his lips spasmed and he chased after them. However, he could no longer see the two of them.

Never mind.

He would just look for his cousin first.

He went one round in the arena but didn’t find her. In the end, he decided to go to the car park and wait for her!!

No matter where she was, she would eventually have to go to the car park, right?

Nora and Justin had already turned the corner and gone onto the path at the side. After confirming that there was no one on either side, Justin said, “I know those two people that teamed up with Victor. They have been here since the start of the tournament, but at that time, they weren’t as strong as they are now.”

“So, that means they’ve also become stronger?”

Nora asked hesitantly.

Justin nodded.

Nora took out the drink pouch that Justin stole from Victor and asked, “Do you know what Morris told me?”

Justin practically replied without any hesitation, “Human experiments?”

Nora was surprised. “You know about it?”

“I was guessing.”

Nora wasn't doubtful anymore. Given how smart Justin was, he must have already figured out something from the point where Morris started to frequently check whether there were any unknown chemicals in Old Maddy's body.

A puzzled Justin asked, “Are you suspecting that their increase in strength is related to illegal drugs?”

Nora raised the pouch she was holding. “I will know whether there's any relation once I check the chemical composition of the stuff in here overnight.”

Justin nodded. The two walked to the car park.

Nora had only just come up to her black jeep when Quentin came after her.

Chapter 388 - A Younger Sister Should Give In To Her Elder Brother

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora, who was about to stop in front of the jeep, saw him coming over out of the corner of her eye, she paused slightly and instead followed Justin to the ordinary car two parking spaces away from the jeep.

Justin glanced behind him. When he saw Quentin, he immediately understood why she had done that. However, he pretended not to understand and raised an eyebrow. He asked, “Are you thinking of going home with me? It’ll be my greatest pleasure.”

Nora: “...”

She rolled her eyes and said, “Can you be a little more serious?”

Justin let out a low chuckle. “This is the very first time someone has ever told me to be more serious.”

In front of outsiders, he had always been unfathomable and unsmiling, but the man was really letting go of himself more and more in front of her.

For some reason, Nora suddenly thought of the first time they had met.

The man had been cold and unfathomable at that time.

He had walked out of Hotel Finest’s elevator in California like he was the bright moon surrounded by a myriad of stars. At that time, Pete’s head was buried into his shoulders with only the back of his head exposed.

The man had glanced at her and then coldly said, “You’re not my type, Ms. Smith.”

...

How times had changed. How had that cold and distant man of that time suddenly fallen into the mortal world?

While she was thinking about it, the man walked over to the backseat, opened the door, and put Cherry in. Then, he looked at her. “You don’t want to be in the backseat? Oh, that’s true. You’d definitely want to be in the passenger seat instead.”

Nora: “...”

Fine. No matter how much time flew by, it seemed like the man would only become more and more narcissistic.

Nora sat in the backseat in the end. Justin didn’t mind, either. He drove off with her and Cherry.

In the car park.

Quentin stood in front of the jeep after watching Big Sister get into the car with her husband and daughter. However, even after waiting for a long while, he didn’t see his cousin coming out. He frowned and looked into the jeep through the window.

The car’s chassis was very high. When he looked at the backseat, he noticed two pieces of clothing that had been placed there.

Quentin was taken aback.

Weren’t those the clothes that Nora was wearing when she was treating Uncle Ian in the hospital?

Why were they in the backseat?

No, wait...

Quentin suddenly understood something, and he immediately smiled.

—

Nora left with Justin. She waited until Quentin left before she finally went back to her car.

She got into the car and changed in the backseat. After casually tossing the red dress onto the backseat, she finally opened the door to go to the driver's seat.

Before she went over, Justin chuckled and said, "If you really want to hide your identity, you should change your car too."

He tossed his car key to Nora and suggested, "Why don't you drive this car instead for now?"

Nora glanced at his car.

From the outside, it was just an ordinary Volkswagen.

But once one entered, they would realize that it wasn't as simple as it looked on the inside.

Be it the engine or the leather seats, all of them were the best. Remodeling a car cost a lot. In addition, even if she had the money, time was needed to remodel a car at the last minute.

Thus, after thinking about it for a while, she didn't turn him down. She took the car keys from him and said, "I won't stand on ceremony, then."

Nora drove the jeep while Justin drove the 'ordinary' Volkswagen. The two left the building one after the other, and subsequently entered a high-end residential complex.

After getting Justin to park the Volkswagen in the residential complex, Nora said, "I've bought an apartment here. This is the parking lot for the apartment."

Justin looked upstairs. “What’s your apartment number?”

Nora was a little surprised, but nevertheless answered, “302.”

Then, she asked, “What are you planning?”

“To buy 301.” Justin smiled and said, “If you ever move in, we can be neighbors.”

“... You must be sick in the head,” said Nora.

“Yeah, why don’t you treat my illness?” Justin immediately quipped.

Nora: “...”

The corners of her lips spasmed. She got into the jeep and said, “Get in the car. I’ll take you guys home.”

Justin picked up Cherry and got in the backseat. When Nora, who had gotten into the driver’s seat, saw them, she couldn’t help but say, “She has already grown up, yet you’re still holding her?”

“There’s no child seat. It’s not safe.”

Justin briefly explained.

Nora curled her lips disdainfully. “She’s already used to riding in the car by herself.”

“Mommy, that was because no one doted on me back then! I’m not used to it anymore!”

Cherry protested weakly. However, as soon as she said that, she saw Nora’s stern eyes in the rearview mirror. She was so scared that she shrank back and hastily said, “Yes, I’m very used to it. Why don’t you put me down, Daddy? Don’t hold me so tightly~”

Despite saying that, she didn’t get off Justin’s legs but instead hugged his neck tighter.

Nora: "..."

Justin chuckled and stroked Cherry's hair. He didn't expose her, but instead supported her and said, "Be good. Don't listen to your Mommy, she's just jealous."

Cherry was puzzled. "What's she jealous of?"

"That I'm hugging you, of course."

This was an ambiguous statement.

First, it meant that she was jealous of Cherry.

Second, it meant that she was jealous of Justin.

That scumbag was really taking advantage of her every moment of the day.

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed. She couldn't be bothered with the two of them, so she instead asked detachedly, "When are you and Pete switching back, Cherry?"

Cherry panicked at once. She said, "Mommy, I really miss you very much. I miss you super much! I miss the way you sleep, the way you get ready to go to bed, the way you doze off while you eat..."

She couldn't come up with any more. After being stuck for a while, she finally said, "But Pete needs you more! After all, you haven't seen each other for five years, so I won't disturb your bonding session, okay?"

"..."

That clever little fellow obviously didn't want to come back anymore after Justin spoiled her so much, so she made up so many excuses.

She sneered, "Shall I thank you on behalf of Pete?"

"It's fine~" Cherry said shyly, "What can I do? I'm his little sister, after all, so I have to give in to my elder brother~"

“...”

It seemed like Cherry had become more thick-skinned than before.

She glared at Justin. It really was like what they said—one was marked by the company they kept!

After Nora took Cherry and Justin to the Hunts, while Cherry was getting out of the car, she asked, “Mommy, when are you and Daddy taking Pete and me to the amusement park?”

“Another day.”

Nora answered.

Cherry, however, persisted. She asked, “When is that?”

“... The day after tomorrow!”

Nora had no choice but to give her an answer.

“Yay!” Cherry raised her eyebrows at Justin triumphantly. Then, she bounced off while holding his hand and entered the manor.

Nora returned to the Smiths after that.

Unexpectedly, right after she got out of the car, Quentin came out of nowhere and blocked her way. He said, “You don’t have to pretend anymore, Nora! I know your secret now!”

Nora’s pupils shrank!

Surely her identity as Big Sister hadn’t been exposed, had it?

Chapter 389 - Kiss~

She asked calmly, “What secret?”

“Did you go to the martial arts tournament because you heard something?”

A resigned Nora nodded. “That’s right.”

“I knew it. You even changed and put on a mask, so I didn’t recognize you.” Quentin looked around after he spoke. Then he said, “Since you were at the tournament, then you must have heard of me, right? ”

Nora: “?”

Quentin said, “Didn’t I already tell you? I’m the best fighter in the family and am ranked third in New York. I will definitely shine in the tournament! Do you know who I am?”

“... No, I don’t.”

Quentin the dimwit immediately looked around. Then, he said, “I’ll tell you and you alone since you’re my cousin, Nora. You’re the only one I’m telling, get it? Even Joel doesn’t know the alias I’m using in the tournament!”

He straightened his back, raised his chin, and declared, “I am Smithin!”

“...”

However, when he didn’t see any reaction from Nora, Quentin glanced at her and frowned. “Haven’t you heard of that name? Then do you know the famous Team Third In The World?”

Be it Smithin or Team Third In The World, both had actually become very famous in the underground arena recently. Anyone who had been there would have heard of him.

But...

Nora decided to tease him and deliberately said, "I'm new there, so I only heard them talking about Victor."

Quentin: "..."

No one in the family knew that he was participating in the martial arts tournament, so he couldn't show off. Now that he had finally found a cousin who was interested in the tournament, how could she be kept unaware of his greatness?

Quentin was very puzzled, very much so. "Victor is nothing. He's just a piece of trash who lost to me two years ago. Even if you have never heard of Smithin, surely you've heard of Team Third In The World, right?!"

He hadn't competed in his own name, so it was normal that she hadn't heard of him. But how come she hadn't heard of the famous Team Third In The World, either?

Nora walked toward the house. "And then?"

"What do you mean by 'and then'?!" Quentin became anxious. He gritted his teeth, steeled his resolve, and said, "Forget it, I'll let you in on another big secret!"

Nora looked back at him.

Quentin said, "But you have to swear that you won't tell anyone! I promised that I wouldn't reveal her identity casually to outsiders. I'm only telling you because you're my cousin."

Nora had a vague idea what he was going to say next when she heard that. Sure enough, the next moment, he asked, "Do you know who that woman in the red dress in Team Third In The World is?"

Nora: "..."

"She's Big Sister! The Big Sister of the Quinn School of Martial Arts!!!"

Quentin said triumphantly, “Do you see now? Even Big Sister has teamed up with me. She approached me because she thought that I was talented and fought pretty well... Surely you’ve at least heard of Big Sister, right?”

“... Yeah, I have.”

Quentin was satisfied at last. He said, “So, don’t you feel very honored that Big Sister has seen something in your elder brother? But don’t you get ahead of yourself. You absolutely mustn’t say anything about this to outsiders. Big Sister’s identity is confidential.”

“...”

“Is that look in your eyes envy? Actually, you don’t have to be envious that Big Sister has seen something in me. Uncle Ian picked me out of everyone in the family to practice martial arts when I was a child, so I’ve been practicing ever since. I heard that you used to be obese, and were even in poor health in the past, so you must not have practiced martial arts much before, right? By the way, which class are you in now?”

Nora: “...”

She knew how eager Quentin was to show off and bask in the limelight, so she knew that she didn’t need to say anything. Sure enough, Quentin said, “My team is already in Class D now. Once we win another five matches tomorrow, we’ll advance to Class E. We’ll be able to advance to Class F the day after tomorrow!”

“... Wow, how amazing.”

“Isn’t it? I think so, too.” Quentin folded his arms and said triumphantly, “But don’t you dare think it’s because I’m piggybacking off Big Sister. I can still compete by myself without any problems even without Big Sister. Why are you walking so fast? Forget it, I won’t say any more, lest you become jealous. But don’t worry, if someone bullies you in the arena, you can just use the name Smithin to scare them off!”

“...”

Nora suddenly felt like she'd better not let the young man with eighth-grader syndrome know her true identity after all. If she did, she reckoned that she'll never have any peace anymore.

The corners of her lips spasmed and she went upstairs.

When she entered the bedroom, she realized that Pete had already returned from school and was obediently working on his Mathematical Olympiad problems.

Nora glanced at his workbook. The Mathematical Olympiad problems he was doing were almost at high school standard now. The five-year-old's IQ was simply terrifying.

“Mommy.”

Pete greeted her obediently.

Nora made a sound of acknowledgment and stepped forward. She stroked his hair, and then bent over and gave him a kiss on the forehead. She said, “Let's go downstairs for dinner after you're done with that.”

Pete nodded and continued to bury his head into the workbook.

Nora picked up her cell phone and saw a voice message from Tanya: ‘Have you given your son a kiss?’

Nora replied: ‘... Yes, I have.’

Tanya: “Yeah, Pete's sense of security still leaves a little to be desired. It can't be compared with Cherry's at all. After all, the role a mother plays is simply too crucial when one is growing up. You have to have more physical contact with Pete, get it?”

Nora: ‘Yeah, yeah. I know.’

Tanya sighed emotionally again and said: “Don't think of me as being too long-winded. After all... I also wish I could give mine a kiss.”

When Nora heard the message, she immediately knew that Tanya had thought of her missing child again.

She didn't know how she should comfort her. After all, she had also experienced the pain of losing her own child.

Nora kept quiet for a while before she replied: "You'll definitely find him or her one day."

Tanya: 'Yeah.'

Since she had fallen silent, Nora didn't send her any more messages. She turned to her son. Suddenly, she felt like something was amiss. "Where's Mia?" She asked.

By right, Pete and Mia should be playing with each other at this time!

Without even lifting his head, Pete replied, "She's having dance classes at God-mom's!"

"..."

In the villa in the suburbs.

Mia's forehead was covered in perspiration as she did leg stretches.

The small and thin five-year-old looked as if she was only four years old. Tanya went over and gave her a few pointers.

Mia glanced at Tanya.

Her teacher was very strict, but for some reason, she wasn't scared of her at all. When Tanya lowered her head toward her, Mia even suddenly kissed her on the cheek.

Tanya was stunned. She looked at Mia in disbelief, upon which Mia said, "Didn't you want a kiss, Ms. Turner? I'll give you a kiss."

An acerbic feeling suddenly welled up in Tanya, and she felt a mix of emotions come over her.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 390 - Her Birthday

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

It seemed like she could still feel the warmth from the soft lips on her cheek.

Tanya touched her cheek and looked at the small, timid Mia in front of her. Suddenly, a feeling welled up in her—would it also feel like this if her child kissed her?

She spaced out and kept quiet for a while.

Seeing her freeze, Mia became frightened. Her eyes reddened and she hastily asked, “Are you mad, Ms. Turner?”

Tanya didn’t know whether she should be angry or not.

In fact, she even felt like her decision to teach Mia dancing was a mistake in itself!

The child she had with Joel was missing.

Yet, here she was, teaching Joel’s daughter how to dance. In fact, when she kissed her, she hadn’t even pushed her away. It was as if she had already accepted her.

How could she do that?!

Tanya was originally helping Mia with her leg stretches, but she suddenly stood up. She wanted to say coldly, ‘Don’t kiss me again in the future.’

But when she looked at Mia’s round eyes and small pointed face, she simply couldn’t bring herself to say it. In fact, the words at the tip of her tongue even changed. She said, “No, I’m not.”

Mia nodded. “Then, are you happy?”

Tanya wanted to say that she wasn’t, but when she saw the hopeful look in Mia’s eyes, she instead replied impulsively, “Yes.”

Her answer made Mia’s eyes instantly light up.

She said timidly, “My mother said that I can’t kiss her so casually, Ms. Turner. She would also become unhappy if I made physical contact with her, so I thought you were unhappy, too. I only kissed you because I heard you say that you wanted a kiss. Are you really not mad at me?”

Her mother didn’t allow her to touch her?

Tanya was dumbfounded.

She didn’t know how other mothers behaved, but if it were her daughter, she would never tire of giving her kisses. Besides, whenever she was out, she always saw a lot of children who behaved very intimately with their mothers.

Little did she expect a tiny little girl like Mia to be so pitiful?

With that thought in mind, she said, “It’s true, I really am happy. Ms. Turner likes to keep close contact with children.”

“That’s great!”

Mia stood up straight and grabbed Tanya’s hand. She made her lower her head and then kissed her on the cheek again. She said, “I will make you happy every day from now on, Ms. Turner!”

She pursed her lips and gave her a bashful smile.

Tanya simply couldn’t bring herself to say any words of rejection when faced with such a well-behaved and adorable little girl!

She ruffled Mia’s hair and asked, “Doesn’t it hurt when you stretch?”

Mia immediately nodded. “It does!”

“Then why didn’t you say anything?” Tanya asked curiously.

After she decided to take Mia as her student, she had added an hour of class for her after school every day. As there wasn’t a suitable location in the kindergarten, she had brought her to her home.

Fine beads of perspiration had formed on Mia’s forehead when she was dancing, yet she hadn’t complained about being tired.

After dancing, Tanya had even told her to do leg stretches.

One must always do their stretches properly after exercise. Besides, Mia was already five. To be honest, it was already a bit of a late start for a dancer because the body would no longer be flexible enough anymore. Thus, Tanya had also taught her a few difficult moves such as bending over backward.

Despite that, Mia hadn’t made even a single sound from beginning to end.

Just as she was wondering whether it was because the girl’s pain receptors were less sensitive than others, Mia replied, “I can’t complain that it hurts.”

Tanya was taken aback. “Why?”

When she was a child, she would always cry out even at the slightest bit of pain when she was practicing. This way, the teacher would show her some mercy.

Mia replied, “Because Daddy will be unhappy if I’m in pain. If Daddy is unhappy, Mommy will also be unhappy.”

Unhappy?

Tanya frowned. Suddenly, she started to feel sorry for the girl.

Although she lived in a wealthy family and had both her parents with her, she led too frustrating a life. While other five-year-olds from ordinary families were blissfully unaware, she didn't even have the right to complain when she was in pain!

Tanya suddenly became a little angry with Joel.

How could he treat a child like that?

No matter what, children were angels of the world. They were the most innocent!!

Tanya said to Mia, "Mia, you can speak freely without holding back in Ms. Turner's home in the future. If you're tired from practice, you can say so. If you're in pain because of stretching, you can also cry out. If you're thirsty or hungry, you can tell me that too. I will prepare everything for you."

Mia's eyes lit up. "Really?"

"Yeah."

Mia hesitated for a while. Then, she hung her head and asked somewhat embarrassedly, "Then... can you bake me a cake?"

Bake her a cake?

Tanya found the request rather odd but nevertheless agreed. "You must be hungry after practicing for so long. Alright, let's go downstairs."

Tanya used to be really bad at housework, but when she went abroad and lived by herself, she had to cook for herself, so her culinary skills had improved over the years.

Baking a cake was no problem for her.

Sometime later, she walked out of the kitchen with a simple cupcake in her hands. She was a little embarrassed as she said, "I can only bake simple stuff like this, Mia. You don't mind, right?"

Mia immediately shook her head. "Of course not, Ms. Turner!"

Tanya smiled and said, “You can dig in now.”

Mia picked up the fork. She was about to eat when she suddenly said, “I’ll give you half, Ms. Turner.”

“No, it’s fine.”

A smiling Tanya went back to the kitchen and then came out with another cupcake. “I made a few. Come on, let’s eat!”

Mia stared at the cupcake. Suddenly, she clasped her hands together, closed her eyes, and seemingly thought about something. Only then did she start to eat the cupcake.

Tanya looked at her, feeling rather amused. The girl actually had the sense to say a prayer before eating.

The two of them dug into their respective cupcakes with gusto.

When Tanya saw the little girl’s cheeks all puffed up from eating, she felt a sense of accomplishment come over her, especially when Mia finished more than one cupcake from the batch she had baked.

She ate so much that even her belly had swelled up.

After they were done eating, she went to the kitchen to do the dishes. Then, she told Mia, “You can come here for dance practice every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the future. You can go and play the rest of the time. You’re still young, so you shouldn’t restrain yourself.”

Mia pursed her lips and smiled at her as she nodded. “Okay, Ms. Turner.”

All of a sudden, the doorbell rang.

Tanya knew that it must be Joel here to pick Mia up.

She looked at the clock in surprise—sure enough, it was already seven. She hadn’t expected time to pass so fast. Somewhat reluctantly, she helped Mia carry her schoolbag and then walked over to the door.

Sure enough, Joel was standing outside when she opened the door.

Tanya didn't look at him. Instead, she waved at Mia and said, "See you in school tomorrow, Mia~"

"Okie-Dokie. See you tomorrow, Ms. Turner~"

Mia took Joel's hand after she spoke. Just as she was about to leave, she suddenly looked back at Tanya and said, "Thank you for the birthday cake today, Ms. Turner. It was really yummy!"

Birthday cake?

Tanya was taken aback. Then, she heard Joel say, "It's Mia's birthday today."

Birthday...

Tanya felt like a bomb had suddenly gone off in her head.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 391 - Courage

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

It was Mia's birthday. No wonder she had asked Tanya to bake her a cake, and even said a prayer before eating it.

Oh, right.

He had slept with Hillary right after he slept with her back then, hadn't he?

It was all too normal that their children's birthdays would be so close to each other's.

She bit her lip.

It had also been her child's birthday five days ago!

She didn't even know where her child might be wandering lost in the world, yet here she was, celebrating Mia's birthday?

Indescribable pain and misery made Tanya's expression instantly change.

She stared at Mia blankly.

Mia was terribly nervous. The puzzled girl looked at Tanya and asked, "What's wrong, Ms. Turner? Are you upset?"

She pushed Joel and said, "Daddy, hurry up and kiss Ms. Turner! She'll cheer up if you do that!"

Joel: "..."

Tanya: "..."

Joel didn't know the reason for Tanya's sudden change in behavior, but he knew that she likely held a grudge against Mia's existence all this time.

He lowered his head and slowly said, "I'm sorry."

He was sorry.

Five years ago, he had felt even more apologetic toward her.

If he hadn't gotten himself drunk, become muddleheaded, and ended up sleeping with Hillary, how would he have gotten her pregnant and ended up letting her give birth to Mia?

No, to be honest, he hadn't even known that she was pregnant.

Hillary understood him very well. She knew that he would definitely make her abort the child if he were to know, so she had secretly gone into hiding.

It wasn't until ten months later that she had finally returned with Mia.

He had done a DNA test when he saw the child—she was indeed his daughter. As such, he could only acknowledge her. That was probably the one and only time he had acted so spinelessly.

His heart had softened when he saw the child.

It was as if the child had a lot of affinity with him.

When Tanya heard his apology, her shame and anger made her eyes redden. She was about to yell at him when Mia suddenly held her hand and said, "I'll kiss you if Daddy won't, Ms. Turner. Don't be mad anymore, okay?"

Tanya lowered her head. When her eyes met Mia's timid eyes that looked as if she was trying to please her, her fury instantly extinguished.

Indeed.

She had only lost her child because she hadn't kept an eye on it. What did it have to do with Joel or Mia?

In fact, Joel didn't even know that she had given birth to his child!

Tanya lowered her head and stared at Mia.

She was just a pitiful little girl.

Tanya suddenly said, "Wait a minute."

She turned and went upstairs.

In addition to her own bedroom, she had also prepared another two children's rooms on the upper floor. One was a boy's room and the other a girl's.

This was because she didn't know whether her missing child was a boy or a girl.

Regardless, she would always prepare clothes for her son or daughter every year. The clothes currently in the closets were for five-year-olds, and on the bed in the girl's room was also a gift box.

It was the birthday gift she had bought five days ago for her child.

There was also one in the boy's room.

She picked up the gift box. Inside was an exquisite Barbie doll wearing a pink dress. Next to it were all kinds of doll clothing that one could dress up the doll with.

She touched the bedsheets and murmured silently, "I don't know where you are, my child, but I believe you'll be willing to make another child like yourself happy, right?"

She took the gift box and went downstairs.

Before she reached the door, she saw Mia nervously asking Joel, "Daddy, why did Ms. Turner suddenly get mad? Is it because it's Mia's birthday? Daddy, I won't celebrate my birthday anymore, okay? I like Ms. Turner, I don't want to make her mad..."

Joel stroked her hair. His voice was soft and gentle as he said, "It's not your fault. Daddy's the one who made Ms. Turner angry."

Mia then said seriously, "Daddy, you should apologize to Ms. Turner if you made her mad. Are you too embarrassed to say sorry, Daddy?"

Joel: "..."

He sighed. "I've already told her I'm sorry, but she won't accept my apology."

"Then say it a few more times!"

A child's world was very simple. For Mia, if her father had done something wrong, then he should apologize until Ms. Turner forgave him.

Joel sighed. "Okay."

When Mia wanted to say something again, she suddenly spotted Tanya, who had just returned. Her eyes lit up and she immediately called out, "Ms. Turner!"

Tanya handed her the gift box with the Barbie and said, "Happy birthday."

Mia's eyes instantly became even brighter. "Thank you, Ms. Turner!"

The little girl stretched out her hands and took the Barbie doll from her.

The Barbie was half her height, so it was very heavy for the small and thin girl.

Joel reached out to carry it for her.

However, Mia ducked and said, "I can do it, Daddy!"

This was a gift from Ms. Turner. She liked it very much.

Joel nodded. Then, he looked at Tanya. He was about to speak when Tanya sneered, "You must be very busy with work, right, Mr. Smith?"

Joel was overjoyed when he heard what she said. He thought that Tanya was showing him concern, so he nodded and replied, "It's alright."

"Hah." Tanya gave him a mocking smile and said, "Since it's alright, then shouldn't you learn how to be a qualified father, Mr. Smith?"

Joel was taken aback.

Tanya knew that there were some things she shouldn't say in front of Mia, so she merely gave him a subtle reminder. Then, she said, "Bye, Mia."

Mia replied softly, "Bye, Ms. Turner."

When Joel took Mia into the car, he received a call from Hillary. When he answered, the woman said, "Joel, it's Mia's birthday today. Can you let me see her? I miss her. I think Mia would also want her family to be together."

Joel's expression turned cold. He was about to say something when Hillary spoke again. She said, "I'm Mia's mother, after all, Joel. I really miss her. I should think that she misses me, too! You can't stop us from meeting when we're mother and daughter. Mia will resent you for it in the future if you do that.

"I know you hate me, but my love for Mia is true. I am the one who has been taking care of Mia ever since she was born. You should know how dependent she is on me. Joel, all I want is really just to see my daughter. I don't have any other intentions... Please?"

Joel looked at Mia.

He suddenly asked, "Do you want to meet your mother, Mia?"

Mia's eyes immediately flickered when she heard him.

Her mom had told her before that she had to reply that she wanted to meet her if Daddy ever asked. Otherwise, her mom would hate her very much.

But she thought of how Ms. Turner had told her not to keep things to herself, and to voice her thoughts if she had any. She had said that she could cry out if she was in pain, or cry if she wanted to...

When she thought of what Ms. Turner had told her, the little Mia seemed to have suddenly found her courage.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 392 - Exposed!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Just as Mia was about to say something, Hillary's voice rang out through the phone. "Do you miss Mommy, Mia?"

The little Mia trembled a little when she heard Hillary's voice. In the end, she nodded and replied weakly, "Yes."

"Did you hear that, Joel?"

Hillary tried her best to convince him, "Mia wants to see me!"

Joel heaved a huge sigh.

He didn't want to let Mia and Hillary come into contact anymore, but if Mia wanted to see her mother, he couldn't stop her.

Therefore, Hillary immediately knew that Joel must have relented when she heard him sigh. She asked tentatively, "Can I go back to the Smiths' tonight? I heard that you've just found your younger sister, so I can also take the chance to pay her a visit."

Joel had a very cold look in his eyes. "You're never returning to the Smiths. If you want to meet Mia, then I will bring her to you."

Hillary was a little taken aback. "Alright, then."

After hanging up, Joel took Mia to the residential complex where Hillary lived. However, he stayed at the door and refrained from entering.

After informing Hillary that he had arrived, she came out and invited Joel and Mia into the villa. She said, "Grandma misses you, Mia. Let's go in?"

Mia didn't like that grandmother of hers, either.

She always pointed at her and scolded her for being a girl, and kept saying that if she were a boy, her parents would already have gotten together long ago.

She grabbed Joel's sleeve.

Joel said, "Let's just stay here."

Seeing that he wasn't giving in, Hillary could only sigh and say, "Okay. Mia, this is Mommy's birthday gift for you. Do you like it?"

Hillary had prepared a toy car for Mia.

Mia looked at the toy car and took it.

Joel wanted to take her away, but Hillary suddenly said, "Let's take a family picture, Joel! It's been really long since we were last together."

Joel sneered, "We're not a family. You're just Mia's mother."

Hillary bit her lip. "Alright, I won't make things difficult for you, even if you won't acknowledge me. But I'm ultimately still Mia's mother, so can I take a picture with her?"

Joel was about to refuse when Hillary said, "I've already put up with how you refuse to let me see my daughter. Are you going to deny me this, too? All I can do now is spend my days looking at photos of my daughter."

Joel fell silent but didn't reject her request anymore.

Hillary squatted down and hugged Mia. She picked up her phone and said, "Mia, look at the camera~"

Then, she snapped a photo.

After the photo was taken, Mia returned to Joel. Joel took his daughter and left straightaway.

After leaving Hillary, the little Mia subconsciously breathed a sigh of relief and relaxed.

The two went to a restaurant and had dinner.

Neither of them noticed that Hillary had been following them since they left the residential complex. When they entered the restaurant, she finally took a photo.

—

Tanya sat in the living room after seeing the two of them off.

She felt terribly troubled.

Mia really was very lovable. She liked her very much. Not only had she inherited her talent in dancing, but the two had even hit it off the moment they met. She had liked Mia from the bottom of her heart from the moment she met her.

Where had they gone to celebrate Mia's birthday after they left?

She was wondering about that when her cell phone suddenly beeped, indicating that she had received a message.

It was a photo of two hands, one big and one small, clasped together.

It was from Joel.

Tanya was taken aback. After thinking for a while, she replied with a question mark: '?'

Joel then sent a text message: "I'm celebrating Mia's birthday with her. The cake is too big for the two of us, so we can't finish it. Would you like to come and have some?"

The two of them were celebrating Mia's birthday?

Tanya knew that Mia's mother, Hillary, had been driven out of the Smiths. But had they not gone to Hillary even on a day like this?

For some reason, Tanya actually found herself overjoyed.

But right after that, she couldn't help but be disgusted with herself.

What was the matter with her?

Was she really thinking of going back to him?

There was no longer anything between her and Joel!!

With that in mind, she replied: 'No.'

The man then sent her an audio message, which surprised Tanya. She was actually very afraid of hearing Joel's voice right now.

But when she played the message after long hesitation, it was instead Mia's voice. She said, "The cake is really delicious, Ms. Turner. I'll save a piece for you and put it in the fridge later. Shall I bring it to school tomorrow so that you can eat it?"

Mia's voice was very soft and pleasant to the ear.

Tanya couldn't bear to refuse, so she replied: "Okay."

Even her mood couldn't help but become better, as though her heart had been coated in honey before she even ate the cake.

Then, she couldn't help but open her Facebook account.

But when she did, she saw that Hillary had posted something.

They were a couple of photos.

One was of her and Mia in a residential complex with a man standing behind them. Although only his trousers could be seen in the photo, it was obvious at a glance that he was Joel.

The other was taken in a restaurant. Joel and Mia were seated nearby while she took a selfie.

Tanya's heart sank abruptly, and an acerbic feeling welled up inside her at once!

She clenched her fists and suddenly let out a cold laugh.

Indeed.

Here she was, treating Mia like her own daughter, but in truth, she had a mother!

Also, what exactly was Joel trying to do?

He was sending her vague and ambiguous messages while also showing off how happy and blissful a family of three he, Hillary, and Mia were? Was there any point in doing that?!

Tanya was so mad that she stopped looking at it altogether and threw the phone aside!

—

The next day.

As a dance teacher, Tanya would also pick up students at the entrance.

Mia and Pete got out of the car together and greeted the teachers. Joel was holding a food container with the cake from the night before. He handed it to Tanya and said, "Ms. Turner, this is from Mia."

Tanya cast her eyes down and said coldly and distantly, "No, thanks, Mr. Smith. I'm not fond of sweets."

Then, she led Mia and Pete straight into the school.

Joel: "?"

Things had clearly not been this awkward between them the previous evening. What was the matter with her today?

Tanya went back to the entrance after taking Mia and Pete to the classroom, planning to pick up the rest of the children. However, when she arrived at the door, she saw that Joel was still there.

She walked over with a cold look on her face.

Joel asked, “What’s the matter? Are you in a bad mood today? Is it the time of the month?”

The time of the month?

Tanya flushed with embarrassment. She immediately replied coldly, “I don’t think it’s suitable for us to talk about such an intimate topic, Mr. Smith!”

Joel was taken aback. “Okay, I take back my words. But can you tell me why you’re upset?”

Tanya had always been a straightforward person. She didn’t like keeping things to herself. Thus, she lifted her head and looked straight at Joel. She took out her cell phone, opened up Hillary’s Facebook post, and pushed the phone right into his face. She sneered, “Why I’m upset? What exactly are you trying to do, Mr. Smith? You were clearly enjoying your precious family time last night, yet you still sent me such ambiguous messages while you’re having fun with your family? Can you be a little more responsible toward Mia? Also, what are you trying to do by treating me like this? Are you planning to practice polygamy? Have your cake and eat it too? Even if that’s what you want, have you asked me if I agree to it?”

As Tanya’s words became more and more unpleasant, Joel’s expression also turned more and more awful.

He looked at Tanya’s phone.. When he saw the photos that Hillary had posted, he was stunned.

Chapter 393 - Nora Is Big Sister

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Joel's expression suddenly turned extremely awful. He said anxiously, "Tanya, I can explain."

"Keep that for your daughter instead, Mr. Smith. Our relationship is not at the point where you need to explain anything to me! Goodbye!"

Tanya turned and went back into the school angrily.

Fury and panic arose in Joel as he looked at her from behind.

He turned and got into his car.

"To the company, Mr. Smith?" The chauffeur asked.

Joel was practically gnashing his teeth in fury as he said, "To Hillary's!"

He took out his cell phone and looked at his own Facebook timeline. However, he didn't see Hillary's post. This meant that the post had been hidden from him!

He stretched out his hand to the chauffeur and said, "Give me your cell phone."

His chauffeur also had Hillary as a friend on Facebook.

He took a look after the chauffeur handed him his phone. Sure enough, he found the post.

Hillary practically couldn't get any sneakier!

The two arrived at Hillary's residence. When Hillary heard that Joel was there to look for her, she happily went downstairs. However, the moment she went down, she instead saw a furious Joel.

Hillary asked timidly, “Joel, what’s the matter?”

“Can you explain this Facebook post of yours to me?!”

Joel pushed the chauffeur’s phone right into her face!

Hillary froze when she saw the post.

She bit her lip, forced a smile, and replied, “Isn’t that just an ordinary Facebook post, Joel? What’s wrong?”

Joel demanded furiously, “You followed us to the restaurant?”

Hillary lowered her gaze. “I... I just missed Mia so much, so I followed the two of you. Let me explain, Joel... I didn’t mean anything else with the post. I just didn’t want other people to know that I couldn’t even celebrate my daughter’s birthday with her... They will look down on me if they ever find out...”

Those words of hers couldn’t get any more pretentious.

Even the chauffeur felt that it was understandable why she would do that.

Unfortunately, it was Joel whom she was up against.

Joel didn’t accept her nonsense at all. He stepped forward and grabbed her chin. “So, you want to have cake with your daughter on her birthday?”

Hillary nodded. “Yes.”

“Okay.”

He picked up the container with the cake that Tanya had rejected. He opened it, took the cake out, and smashed it onto Hillary’s face. He said coldly, “Have a good taste of it, then!”

Hillary: “!!”

She took a step back and wiped the cake off her face with her hands. She lifted her head and looked at Joel incredulously. “Joel, you—”

She couldn’t bring herself to say the rest of what she wanted to say, though, because the look in Joel’s eyes was simply too terrifying.

The way he looked as if he wanted to kill her made her unable to utter a single word.

Joel’s icy-cold voice rang out. “Don’t you dare play any tricks from now on, or else!”

Hillary wanted to speak, but he added, “You should thank your lucky stars that you’re Mia’s mother. Otherwise, you’d have been dead a long time ago.”

His words stunned Hillary.

—

As they had made plans to go to the amusement park the next day, Nora woke up a little late. She stretched and went downstairs.

In the afternoon, Nora gave Lily the leftover drink that she had taken from Victor at the arena the day before and told her to go to a laboratory and check if there were any unidentified chemicals in it. Nora also instructed her to personally do the test herself.

Ever since Lily returned to the States to help her, she had been terribly busy. She left immediately after picking up the leftover drink and receiving Nora’s instructions.

Nora, however, went back to sleep after that.

What was she to do? The amusement park date would take up the whole day, which was to say that she would have to get up early in the morning the next day. Thus, she had to make up for the next day’s worth of sleep in advance.

By the time she woke up again, it was already dark outside.

She got up, got dressed, and went downstairs to the car park. She was about to go to the car when Quentin appeared behind her and said, “Why don’t you come with me in my car today, Nora?”

Nora: “?”

She glanced at him.

Quentin said, “If you go in with me, I can show you how intimidating I am in the arena. You’ll get special privileges that way.”

Nora had always enjoyed special privileges from the very moment she was No. 028. She didn’t have any idea what it was like for ordinary people.

However, since Quentin was inviting her to go along with him so enthusiastically, Nora thought for a while and simply replied, “Alright, then.”

This way, she wouldn’t need to drive, either.

She could even nap a little while on the way there.

She carried a bag in her hand. Inside was the red dress and silver mask she usually wore.

However, it was only after she got in the car that she realized that catching up on sleep in the car was too indulgent an idea—because Quentin couldn’t stop talking while they were on the road.

“Why don’t I introduce you to Big Sister later? Do you also admire Big Sister a lot? I can even ask her to give you an autograph.”

Nora: “?”

She said lazily, “Can you even get one for yourself?”

“Of course. I’ve participated in several matches with her by now, so she’ll definitely show me that bit of courtesy. Besides, Big Sister thinks exceptionally highly of me. Oh, she has even acknowledged me as her younger brother!”

Nora: “?”

When had she ever acknowledged him as a younger brother?

While she was hesitating, Quentin spoke again. “Are you jealous? To be honest, what she values in me is my capability. You know I’m ranked third in New York’s martial arts circle, right? Apart from Big Sister and Big Brother, I’m the strongest here!”

“…”

“Do you want to take a photo with Big Sister later? If so, you can leave that to me, too!”

Nora’s lip corners spasmed. “It’s fine.”

“Are you embarrassed? There’s nothing embarrassing about chasing after idols. Also, Big Sister is actually not that perfect.”

Nora: “?”

Was he starting to speak ill of her?

While she was thinking about it, Quentin said, “She doesn’t really have a good eye for people. Her husband is not that great. He looks just like a useless pretty boy.”

Nora: “…”

“But no one is perfect, after all. Given Big Sister’s status, it’s understandable even if looks are the only thing she considers when choosing a husband. It’s not that bad having a gigolo, either.”

“…”

“I intend to persuade Big Sister to give him up, though.”

The corners of Nora’s lips spasmed as she said, “That’s impossible.”

“Why not? My words hold a lot of weight with Big Sister. If I tell her to break up with him, she’ll definitely consider it. After all, we’re big shots in the martial arts circle...”

Quentin kept chatting all the way till they arrived at the arena.

Quentin was about to get out of the car when he noticed that Nora hadn’t moved. The confused man asked, “Aren’t you getting out of the car?”

“Oh, I have to change.”

Quentin was about to tease her for being vain and changing when there wasn’t a need for her to, when Nora took out a red dress and a familiar-looking silver mask from her bag.

Quentin: “...”

Chapter 394 - Exposing Her Own Identity

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

A dumbfounded Quentin stared at her incredulously. He swallowed and said, “N-Nora, don’t... don’t joke around anymore.”

Nora glanced at him. “Get out.”

Quentin got out of the car obediently. He didn’t dare look into the car, even though the car windows were tinted—so one would only be able to look out from the inside, but not the other way.

A minute later, the car door opened and Nora got out wearing the red dress. Then, she put on the mask.

The person in front of him seemed to have suddenly changed.

From his little hillbilly cousin, she turned into the mysterious martial arts expert, Big Sister.

Quentin: “...”

He felt that he must have opened his eyes the wrong way when he woke up in the morning!

How could this be?!

He had been following the woman ever since Joel started having doubts about Nora’s identity. Despite how so much time had already gone by, how come he hadn’t realized that she was actually Big Sister?!

While he was in a daze, Nora asked, “So, you’re my younger brother?”

Quentin: “!!!”

He suddenly thought of how he had bragged and claimed just now that Big Sister had acknowledged him as her younger brother. After all, Big Sister had a mask on all the time, and her daughter was already five. Thus, he had subconsciously assumed that Big Sister must be older than him. Never would he have expected Big Sister to suddenly turn into his little cousin!

How he wished he could dig a hole and bury himself in it!

He tried his best to sift through his memories—he hadn’t said anything else, right?

He suddenly thought of what he had said when he first met her. That time, he had said very proudly, “Heh, even though you’re proof of the shame that Uncle Ian had suffered, you can rest assured that I will still protect you. I won’t let any of the Smiths die an untimely death.”

It was then followed by:

“Can you stop running about all over the place? Without me, the world’s third-best fighter, protecting you, you’ll die before you even know it!”

“Are you also taking part in the martial arts tournament? Do you want to meet Big Sister? I’m on really good terms with her!”

“Do you want to take a photo with Big Sister?”

“...”

Quentin felt like his cheeks had flushed even redder.

He suddenly asked, “There are three different types of death. Do you know what they are?”

Nora raised her eyebrows. “What are they?”

“The first is clinical death, that is to say, the body dies.

“The second is psychological death, where someone loses all hope and doesn’t wish to live anymore.

“The third is social death.”

Quentin looked at her and said, “Nora, you’ve just made me experience the third type of death.”

“...”

Nora laughed and passed by him. “Let’s go in.”

“I don’t want to go in.” Quentin said expressionlessly, “I wanna die.”

Nora didn’t pay any more attention to him. Instead, she started walking toward the arena. Two steps later, she heard footsteps behind her. Quentin’s voice then reached her. “Why are you hiding your identity, Nora? Isn’t the identity of Big Sister really cool?!”

Nora replied, “It’s bothersome.”

Bothersome?

Quentin thought for a moment. “Are you worried that others will bother you once they know who you are? Well, that’s true. After all, Big Sister is a well-known figure... Don’t worry, Nora, I can keep secrets really well. I will never tell anyone about it!”

“Oh.”

Nora had always adhered to her mother’s last words telling her not to expose her identity and to live in mediocrity. This was why she hadn’t exposed her identity all this time.

However, Quentin was simply too annoying.

Moreover, now that he was aware that she had come to the arena, given his tracking abilities, it was simply too much trouble to throw him off her trail. Thus, she had decided to reveal her identity.

Besides, even though Quentin had eighth-grader syndrome, he was the leader of the Smiths' secret forces. He wasn't stupid.

Nora followed Quentin into the arena.

As soon as they entered, Quentin suddenly said, "Big Sister, I've suddenly discovered a problem!"

Nora: "?"

Quentin said, "I didn't expect you to actually have a pretty boy outside behind Justin's back! No. 820 must be Cherry's biological father, right?"

Nora: "??"

She hadn't thought of that.

She wasn't sure whether she could reveal Justin's identity, so she simply uttered a sound of acknowledgment and admitted to it.

In the end, Quentin looked at her with bright and shiny eyes and said, "You're so awesome!"

"You actually dare to cuckold even Justin!"

Nora: "..."

Forget it, he could just think of it however he wanted to.

They had five matches that night, so time was rather tight for them. Nora looked around and asked, "He isn't here yet?"

Quentin also looked around.

While the two of them were looking around, a man's low and deep voice suddenly rang out. "Are you guys Team Third In The World?"

The two of them looked over in unison to see a man wearing a mask with an eagle's design walking toward them. He was big and tall and was dressed in a black suit. When he walked, it was as though he had an aura of justice around him.

Additionally, he had deliberately lowered his voice, so no one could tell what his actual voice really sounded like.

Nora didn't say anything. Instead, she glanced at Quentin.

Only then did something click in Quentin's head. He answered, "Yes, that's right. You are?"

"No. 007."

As soon as he gave them his alias, Quentin instantly realized something. He asked, "You're the first runner-up of the previous tournament?"

The other party kept quiet for a moment before he replied, "Yeah, you can say that."

Quentin took the opportunity to give Nora an explanation. He said, "B... Sis, No. 007 is an amazing martial arts master who came out of nowhere in the last tournament. He advanced all the way to Class F that time. Both he and Big Brother were very impressive, and he even became one of the favorites for the title of champion. It was just a shame that he didn't turn up for the finals, so the title of champion went to Big Brother while No.007 became the first runner-up."

After explaining, Quentin looked at No.007 and asked, "Why didn't you turn up for the finals?"

No. 007's gaze swept across the two of them. "I had to take a mission at the last minute."

Quentin and Nora sensitively caught a hint of something from his use of the word 'mission'.

Quentin then said, "Oh, what a shame. Is this your first time here this year, though?"

With the exception of Big Brother in Class F, all the other martial arts experts from the previous tournament had been downgraded to Class E this year. Thus, if they wanted to advance in rank, they would also have to defeat fellow Class E contestants.

The fact that an expert like No. 007 hadn't caused any noise this year was indicative of something—this was his first time here.

Sure enough, No. 007 nodded and replied, “Yeah, I also had something on previously. It seems like there's a surge in martial arts experts this year, though.”

He glanced at the Benevolence Hall disciples seated in the VIP dining area. They were in a class of their own and seemed out of place among the people around them.

Quentin didn't say anything. No. 007, however, looked at Nora and asked, “What do you think?”

Nora: “??”

Quentin was undoubtedly very strong in Team Third In The World, and she had been very low-profile all this while. Why was he suddenly directing his attention to her?

She raised her eyebrows and nodded. “It seems that way, yes.”

After she spoke, her cell phone in her pocket suddenly vibrated. Nora nodded to Quentin and No. 007, walked to the side, and took it out.. She opened it and saw a text message from Lily: ‘The test results are out.’

Chapter 395 - The Strange Guy

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lily was referring to the chemical composition test for the solution that Victor and the others were drinking.

Nora sent a reply: ‘The results?’

Lily responded very quickly: “It’s just an ordinary sports drink. The only thing different about it from normal sports drinks is the fact that it’s more concentrated. Even martial arts practitioners wouldn’t need that many nutrients, no matter how much energy they use up, let alone the average person.”

The results didn’t disappoint Nora.

If Victor and the others had indeed only become this strong because they had taken some kind of drug, then said drug was undoubtedly a prohibited substance. On top of that, they were also acting very mysteriously about it. It was impossible for them to consume it at the arena itself.

But a highly-concentrated sports drink...

When she was thinking about it, elsewhere, No. 007 was looking around. Quentin asked, “Are you looking for Big Brother?”

There hadn’t been a winner between the two during the last tournament.

He would definitely be out for revenge this year, right?

Unexpectedly, No. 007 instead said, “I came late this year. Which of the contestants here is Big Sister?”

Nora abruptly raised her head and looked at him when she heard the words ‘Big Sister’.

Quentin subconsciously glanced at Nora before he replied, “Oh, Big Sister is resting in her lounge. You can look for her there if you need anything. She’s the very big and muscular woman in there.”

Nora: “...”

No. 007 was a little taken aback. “She’s very big and muscular? That’s impossible.”

Quentin: “?”

No. 007 went on. “Big Sister does regular martial arts training, so it’s impossible that she would be really big. All strong martial artists need physiques that move smoothly. I heard that there are people here who impersonate Big Sister to make money and stuff like that.”

No. 007 then looked at Nora. “Big Sister’s figure should be like No. 028’s instead.”

Nora: “...”

She took a long look at No. 007, thinking that it was likely that he might have already noticed something. However, he didn’t press the issue, so Nora didn’t say anything.

She still needed to keep her identity a secret.

Quentin lifted his chin and became very proud. “You have good foresight!”

No. 007 chuckled. Then, he pointed to the dining area next to them and suggested, “Let’s sit down and have a bite? I think it’s your match soon.”

Before Nora could say anything, another low and deep voice reached them. “No, it’s fine.”

The few of them looked over and saw Justin walking over with Cherry in his arms.

Cherry was still wearing her half-mask and was holding a lollipop. Her big eyes blinked as she looked at them.

Justin walked over, stopped in front of Nora, and faced No. 007. “Thanks.”

Then, he took out a chocolate bar and handed it to Nora. “This will replenish your energy quickly if you’re hungry.”

Nora: “...”

Next to them, Quentin’s lip corners spasmed.

Before this, he had felt that the pretty boy wasn’t worthy of Big Sister, but now that he knew that his cousin was Big Sister, his requirements for his cousin-in-law had immediately become even higher.

He tapped Justin’s shoulder.

Justin looked at him.

Quentin sneered, “Aren’t you being a little too jealous? I can sense it even from a long distance.”

“...”

Justin didn’t say anything. Quentin lowered his voice and said, “Kid, you’re pretty bold, huh!”

Justin raised his eyebrows. “Oh?”

Quentin glanced at Nora. “Do you know her true identity?”

“Yes.”

Quentin clicked his tongue a couple of times and said, “You’re pretty bold to have the guts to cuckold Justin Hunt. You gotta protect your personal information, though, get it? Otherwise, even my cousin won’t be able to protect you! There are only two people in New York whom no one must ever mess with—one of them is Joel Smith, my cousin, and the other is Justin Hunt!”

Justin: “...”

Him cuckolding himself... Yep, if it wasn't because he was his cousin-in-law, he really felt like punching Quentin. But now... well, this was quite alright, too.

The next five matches they played sent them straight into Class E.

The five matches were no sweat for the three of them. After all, with Big Sister and Big Brother, as well as the third-best fighter in the world, they completely crushed everyone else.

While they were crushing their opponents here, Victor's team also won two matches and gave their opponents crushing defeats.

After finishing the five matches in succession, Nora yawned and stepped out of the ring.

As soon as they got out, Quentin said, “B... Sis, No. 007 has been staring at you.”

Nora: “??”

She followed his gaze and looked over. Sure enough, Nora found No. 007 sitting at the bottom of the ring. However, he was staring straight at her and making no secret about it. There was admiration—as well as scrutiny—in his eyes.

Nora raised her brows.

Quentin then went to Justin. “It's a love rival, bro!”

Justin was speechless when he saw how eager Quentin was to throw the world into chaos.

No. 007 got up and walked straight toward them after the match.

However, before he could even come close, Nora and Justin had turned around very naturally and walked to the door. They didn't give him any chance to get close to them.

This took No. 007 by surprise. He smiled wryly, stopped in his tracks, and took the hint. He didn't chase after them anymore.

But just as the two of them were about to leave the arena, Victor and the other two men in his team suddenly rushed over. They moved very quickly. When they were passing by, Victor suddenly whispered, "You're the real Big Sister, aren't you?"

Nora was taken aback. Then, she narrowed her eyes and looked at him. Her lips curled into a smile, but she didn't admit to it. "I don't know what you're trying to say."

However, Victor was sure of her identity. He sneered, "I can accept losing to you, then. But it won't be the same next time!"

The few of them then left.

Nora ignored him. While she and Justin continued walking toward the exit, another man wearing a white feathered mask entered.

He looked rather unique, and coughed a few times with every two steps he took. He looked ill.

In addition, he coughed very hard. It sounded as though he was about to cough up his lungs.

A man was supporting him at the side.

Someone whispered, "He came to the arena even when he's so sick and so weak? He must be here just to join in the fun and watch the show, right?"

Unexpectedly, the man walked up to the registration counter. As he coughed, a rich and mellow voice rang out. "Sorry, I have already signed up, but I only just came to participate in the tournament today. I wonder if my eligibility still stands?"

The staff member replied, “This is a little difficult. It’s already been so long...”

During the exchange, the black-clad bodyguard supporting the man handed the guy a check.

The guy accepted the check in a very practiced manner, and immediately changed his tone without any principles whatsoever. “Of course, it still stands... What’s your registration number?”

“...”

The corners of Nora’s lips spasmed.

The martial arts association must be as poor as church mice now, right? They really took all the money they could get.

After bidding farewell to Justin in the car park, Nora took Quentin’s car back home.

On the way, Quentin suddenly said, “Nora, someone’s following us.”

Chapter 396 - Father And Daughter Acknowledge Each Other! Separated By Death?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Someone was following them?

Nora looked at the back through the rearview mirror—it was filled with cars.

Quentin lived up to his identity as a man in secret forces. His senses were sharper and keener than even hers. She also sensed it after Quentin brought it up.

“Can you throw them off?” Nora asked.

“Of course.” Quentin said triumphantly, “Don’t you know whose car you’re in right now? How dare they tail me. They sure think really highly of themselves!”

He sneered, “I’m the only one who can tail other people in New York. No one can tail me!”

He suddenly turned the steering wheel all the way to the side at the traffic light and drifted straight into a small side road.

Nora looked at the rearview mirror—two black cars clearly looked a little confused because they hadn’t expected him to suddenly break the traffic rules and go somewhere else.

However, another two cars soon followed after them from the side.

Quentin discovered their presence earlier than she did. He sneered, “Tsk, it seems like there are a lot of people interested in Big Sister, Nora! Don’t worry, I will definitely keep you safe!”

He changed the direction he was going in again.

The car went back and forth in the familiar New York streets. Quentin was very professional. Half an hour later, when he turned to another side road, there were no longer any cars following them at the back.

Obviously, Quentin had successfully thrown them all off.

Quentin looked at her. He looked as if he was asking for praise as he asked, “How was that?”

He lifted his chin.

Nora gave him a thumbs up. “Fantastic.”

Quentin couldn’t suppress the smile at the corners of his lips.

His idol was none other than Big Sister. It simply felt too blissful to be praised by his idol. He must do even better than this!

While Quentin was getting fired up, his cell phone suddenly rang.

When he answered, Joel’s voice came from the other side. “Where is Nora?”

Quentin looked at the woman in the backseat. “She’s in the car with me. What’s up?”

Joel said, “Come to the hospital right away!”

Quentin: “?”

He subconsciously asked, “Is there something wrong with Uncle Ian?”

Joel sighed. “You’ll know once you’re here.”

“Okay.”

Quentin immediately took a U-turn and raced to the hospital.

When Nora heard the call from Joel, she knew at once that something must have happened in the hospital.

When the two arrived at the hospital, sure enough, they saw Joel pacing back and forth nervously in the corridor. When he heard their footsteps, he immediately looked at Nora and said, “Quick, Nora, go into the operating room and save him!”

Nora entered the operating room right away.

It was only after she went in that Quentin asked, “What happened?”

Joel replied, “Uncle Ian’s heart suddenly stopped beating. They are trying to save him now.”

Quentin was stunned. His heart sank.

In all honesty, he had never taken Ian’s illness seriously because Ian had always been ill for as long as he could remember.

Therefore, he hadn’t panicked even when Nora operated on Ian previously.

But when he heard that Ian had a cardiac arrest, he couldn’t help but blank out. He immediately said, “That’s impossible! It’s impossible that anything would go wrong when B... Nora’s the one operating on him!”

Had Nora just been Anti, Quentin might still have had doubts.

But she was Big Sister.

She was the famous Big Sister in the martial arts circle. There was no way she would do anything she wasn’t confident about!

Joel glanced at him when he heard him.

Based on his understanding of Quentin, Quentin should have already formed doubts about Nora a long time ago. Yet he was so sure about it at the moment...

It wasn't the time for him to be thinking about that, though. He said, "It's Uncle Ian himself who... suddenly pulled out the IV needle when he woke up."

Quentin: "..."

Joel sighed. "Uncle Ian still doesn't have any will to live. He doesn't want to live anymore."

Quentin was in such a panic that he was going around in circles. "What should we do? Didn't you tell Uncle Ian that Nora is his daughter?"

Joel said, "That's exactly why I asked you guys to come. I'm hoping that Nora can find a way to keep him alive."

Quentin nodded.

It was unknown just how much time went by before the operating room's lights finally went out.

The attending doctor then came out and looked at the two of them.

Both Joel and Quentin looked at him hopefully but instead saw the doctor shake his head instead.

Joel and Quentin were dumbfounded.

The doctor said, "Anti lives up to her name as a master surgeon. She once again pulled the old gentleman back from the brink of death. He's awake now, but..."

The doctor sighed. "He still does not have the will to live."

No will to live... even though he was awake...

Joel panicked. “Didn’t Nora tell him that she is his daughter?”

“She did, but it wasn’t of any use.”

The attending doctor then stepped aside. “You... Why don’t you go in and see him for the last time?”

—

Joel and Ian put on sterile gowns and entered the operating room.

Ian lay on the bed. The thin man looked just like a sheet of paper, which easily showed that he hadn’t been eating well. He was ridiculously thin.

Nora was standing next to him blankly. Her eyes were full of perplexity and doubts as if she couldn’t understand anything. She asked, “Why don’t you want to live? Even if it’s for my sake?”

Ian’s voice was very thin. He said weakly, “I’m sorry.”

He coughed and slowly said, “I’m very happy that Yvette didn’t betray me... but when I think of how she has been all by herself in that lonely world for so long, I feel so awful. I should have figured it out earlier. I should have gone to keep her company earlier. Nora...”

He reached out a trembling hand to Nora.

Nora pursed her lips and held his hand. He said, “Please forgive Dad for being so selfish. I was waiting all this time for the truth to surface, waiting to find out why she had left me back then. But now that I finally know it, I suddenly feel guilty and blame myself for it. It’s no longer important why she had done what she did. Back then, no matter what the reason for her departure was, I shouldn’t have doubted her. She must have had reasons that she couldn’t tell me. All I could do for her back then was to let go of her, and now, the only thing I can do for her is to go and keep her company...”

He looked at Joel and Quentin who had entered.

Joel and Quentin's eyes were all red. They took a step forward. Ian said to the two of them, "Joel, Quentin, Nora is my daughter. I put her in your care now."

Joel choked up and shouted, "Uncle Ian, you should take care of your daughter yourself!"

Ian smiled wryly and said, "I'm tired. I really am. I've spent all these years like a walking dead. Leaving is the greatest relief I can ever have."

All three youngsters looked at him blankly.

All of them were dumbfounded.

No one, no matter who, had ever imagined that letting Ian know that Nora was his daughter would be the last straw to break the camel's back and send him to his death.

Nora clenched her fists.

Were they going to be separated by death when they had only just reunited as father and daughter?

No!

Chapter 397 - Petes Speculation

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora would never allow such a thing to happen!

Quentin's eyes were red and swollen as he shouted, "Uncle Ian, take care of your daughter yourself! Live and get up. Otherwise, I'll beat her up every day..."

Joel, who had always been a steady person, could not help but say, "Uncle Ian, aren't you afraid that I will be selfish in the future and take over the Smiths without giving Nora anything? Also, Nora is going to marry Justin. Aren't you afraid that she will be bullied if she marries over? She's without her father and even comes from the countryside. Now, the Hunts look down on her! She needs your support!"

Ian muttered in a weak voice with his eyes closed, "Joel, Quentin, you won't..."

"I will! I really will! Uncle Ian, wake up. You can't die!"

"Uncle Ian! Get up..."

Joel and Quentin shouted as their tears fell like rain.

The person lying on the bed had been exceptionally powerful since they were young. But now, he was weak and had been sick most of the year, he was very dispirited and would not wake up. It was as if nothing gave him hope for life.

However, the two of them would never forget that when their parents had abandoned them, it was Uncle Ian who came forward to raise them, calling them good children!

Especially Joel...

If not for Uncle Ian, he would have been chased out of the Smiths when he was three years old. He would have become like a stray dog and starved to death on the streets!

It was Uncle Ian... Not only had he given him the honor of being a man of the Smiths, but he had also let him take over the Smiths.

Everything Joel had now was given to him by Uncle Ian.

Joel held Uncle Ian's hand tightly. "Uncle Ian..."

Just as the two of them were thinking of ways to make him stay, a cold voice suddenly sounded. "Can I speak to him alone?"

Joel and Quentin looked at the person in a daze. It was Nora.

She stood at the side. Perhaps it was because they had not known each other since they were young, but her current expression was a little cold and distant.

The stunned expression in her eyes had disappeared as she stared at the man on the bed.

Even though her voice was emotionless and she appeared too calm, Joel and Quentin looked at each other. The two of them stood up and walked out together.

Before leaving, Joel took one last look inside.

He watched as the girl suddenly walked to the bed and said, "You're very good to them."

Ian smiled bitterly. "I didn't do my part as a father."

Nora suddenly said, "Now, you have a chance to fulfill your responsibilities."

After saying this, she suddenly lowered her head and whispered into Ian's ear. Ian's eyes widened suddenly.

When Joel closed the door, he heard Ian's last sentence. His voice trembled as he asked, "Are... are you serious?"

Two minutes later.

The door to the operating room was opened. Nora pushed Ian's bed out of the operating room.

Ian was lying there with his eyes closed.

Joel's heart sank. He exchanged glances with Quentin and the two of them looked at Nora. Quentin even swallowed his saliva and asked, "Uncle Ian, he..."

"He's not dead."

Nora's words sounded very calm, making Joel and Quentin heave a sigh of relief.

Quentin asked tentatively, "Then he's..."

"I gave him two injections and he fell asleep. He needs to rest. In the next few days, don't disturb him in any case. No matter how powerful this lion is, his body has been hollowed out. His body needs to be raised from the roots."

With that, she looked at Joel. "I have a few medicinal recipes here. I'll write them down for you later."

Joel hurriedly nodded. "I'll arrange for someone to cook for Uncle Ian every day."

The three of them walked into the VIP ward together.

After entering the ward, Nora checked Ian's vital signs. After everything was normal, she said, "He won't die for the time being."

Joel probed, "Then... after the time being..."

Nora: “If you follow the schedule I’m giving you and are obedient, he can live out his natural life.”

Joel heaved a sigh of relief.

Nora took out her phone and opened the memo. Her slender fingers quickly typed something on it for a while. She sent Joel the things to take note of and future treatment plans.

Joel took a look and realized that it was all basic care. The staff in the hospital could do it.

Quentin asked curiously, “Aren’t you going to take care of Uncle Ian personally in the future?”

Nora glanced at him. “I don’t know how to take care of people.”

Quentin: “...”

After doing all this, Nora walked out. “I’m going to see Old Maddy.”

Ever since Old Maddy was rescued, he had been in the hospital for treatment. After all, he had been too severely poisoned. Furthermore, Old Maddy had never recovered from his crazy illness.

Nora went to Old Maddy’s ward again. When she was about to go home, she saw Quentin.

She raised her eyebrows and asked, “What are you doing here?”

Quentin coughed. “I’m waiting for you to take you home.”

“...”

Nora said helplessly, “Alright.”

After the two of them returned home, Nora went upstairs and saw Pete. She kissed her son’s forehead and was about to take a shower when Pete suddenly said mysteriously, “Mommy, did you know? Uncle Joel came to pick Mia and me up just now. But he then later got the chauffeur to bring us back and went to chase after God-mom Tanya.”

Nora: “??”

When she went to see Old Maddy, Joel had arranged for the medical staff to pick up Mia and Pete from school. She did not expect him to go after Tanya?

Why was he looking for Tanya?

Nora raised her eyebrows.

She smiled and touched Pete’s head. “I understand.”

Pete blinked and suddenly said, “Mommy, is God-mom Tanya going to be my aunt soon?”

Nora: “?”

This little fellow knew quite a lot. She asked, “Do you want her to be your aunt?”

“Yes!”

Pete nodded seriously. “God-mom treats Mia well.”

Nora sensed something. “You mean, Mia’s mommy isn’t good to her?”

Pete thought for a moment. “No, she isn’t.”

Nora frowned and pulled a chair over casually. She sat in front of Pete with interest. “Come, talk properly.”

Pete’s expression was stern as he said seriously, “These are all my speculations.”

Nora had always thought that Mia’s mother treated her well. After all, who would be cruel to their own daughter? It was because Hillary and Joel were on bad terms that the two of them did not get together.

However, she did not expect Pete's next words to completely subvert her understanding.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 398 - I Wont Let Go This Time

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Pete said, “Mommy, if I liked mathematics very much, would you stop me from learning it?”

Nora: “Of course not.”

Everyone knew that Cherry liked to play games. In order to make Cherry happy, she had agreed to let her play. She only limited the time spent on playing games.

Pete nodded. “Mia’s mother knows she likes to dance, but she doesn’t let her learn. Moreover, Mia is very afraid of her mother.”

Afraid?

No child should be afraid of their mother, right?

Nora felt that Pete might have used the wrong word. “Is it because her mommy is very strict?”

Pete shook his head. “No.”

He thought for a moment and said, “The tyrant is very strict too, but I know that he does it for my own good. Sometimes, I go on a hunger strike to fight against him because I know he will eventually give in.”

“But Mia’s fear of her mommy comes from the fact that she’s not sure her mommy would ever give in.

Nora was stunned.

Although Pete's words were messy, she understood them.

Because Justin was his father, even if he was stern every day or even hit Pete, Pete still respected Justin and was not afraid of him.

But Mia's mother was like a stranger and a bad person to Mia. Mia didn't even feel safe with her.

She frowned. "Did Mia tell you all this?"

Pete shook his head. "I observed it myself."

Nora frowned.

If what Pete said was true, Nora would really have to reconsider this matter. However, Pete was only five years old. His conclusion could not be trusted so easily.

Nora said seriously, "Okay, Pete. I understand. I'll take note of this and observe Mia. If it's true, I'll tell your uncle."

At the same time, she frowned.

Was there really a mother in this world who abused her own child?

—

In the suburbs.

Tanya drove in and looked at the shameless man.

After work, he took the opportunity while she had yet to lock the car to suddenly open the back door and sneak into her car.

She wanted to scold him back then, but his words made her shut her mouth. "Keep arguing If you want everyone to know about our relationship. If you don't, then drive."

Tanya: "..."

She was speechless and anxious.

However, as a kindergarten teacher, she did not want to make a scene in school. She gritted her teeth in anger, but she still drove home. On the way, she switched on her mocking mode. “Mr. Smith, may I ask what my relationship with you is?”

Joel: “I’m your ex-boyfriend.”

“...”

“Or rather, it’s because I can’t forget my ex-girlfriend.”

When Tanya heard this, for some reason, her face turned red. She shook her head and sneered. “Mr. Smith, you have a fiancée and daughter now. You’re harassing me like this, understand?”

Joel lowered his eyes. “Tanya, you were so angry yesterday. Were you jealous?”

Jealous?

Tanya choked on his words.

However, she immediately realized that from the moment she saw Hillary’s Facebook post, she had indeed started to feel angry and humiliated.

Previously, she had been deceived by Mia and Joel.

Even after the two of them had left, she still felt happy for a while.

It was Hillary’s post that had brought her back to reality. She suddenly realized that Mia was Joel and Hillary’s daughter, not hers!

Why was she so excited about Mia’s birthday?

She did not sleep much that night.

Before she returned, as she thought about her plans after returning to the country, she had told herself not to contact Joel ever again. But why were they involved again?

She was angry with herself and even more furious with Joel for teasing her.

He was making her sink deeper into it step by step.

She did not say anything else along the way until they arrived at the villa. However, after stopping the car, she did not get out. Instead, she said calmly, "Yes, I was jealous."

Joel was taken aback.

Tanya lowered her head. He could not see the girl's expression, but he could see that her shoulders were trembling slightly. She had never cried much since she was young.

Why was she crying now?

As he was thinking, she chuckled. "I admit it. Are you satisfied?"

She looked up and asked with a smile, "Mr. Smith, are you satisfied with me admitting that I'm a b*tch who covets someone else's fiancé?"

"You just had to make me admit that I'll always be lowly in front of you. Are you satisfied?"

The three "are you satisfied?" encompassed everything she had suffered all these years!

In Switzerland, she had no lack of suitors, but she did not like anyone. What she was unwilling to admit was that she had never let go of this man.

Even if this man was with the sister she hated the most.

As she smiled, tears suddenly fell down.

The teardrop was crystal clear as it slid down the corner of her eye and landed on her leg.

At this moment, a warm hand pressed down on her shoulder. With a huge reaction, she suddenly reached out and pushed the hand away!

She got out of the car angrily.

Joel chased after her. “Tanya!”

Tanya pushed him away and opened the door.

Joel hugged her tightly. “Tanya.”

Tanya was furious and shouted angrily, “Joel, what are you trying to do? Let me tell you, even if I haven’t completely forgotten about you, I won’t be your mistress! I may be spineless, but I still have this bottom line! Let go. If you don’t, I’ll call the police!”

However, the man behind her did not let go. Just as Tanya angrily picked up her phone and was about to call the police, Joel’s voice suddenly sounded. “Uncle Ian is critically ill.”

Tanya paused.

Tanya knew who his uncle was. She also knew how important this uncle was to Joel.

She said nothing.

Joel continued, “After Uncle Ian and Yvette separated more than twenty years ago, they never saw each other again. His greatest regret in this life is that he couldn’t be with her. Even though he knows that Nora is his daughter, he still wants to follow Yvette to the afterlife.”

“Tanya, we’re so lucky to meet again. This time, I won’t let go.”

—

At the Smiths.

After taking a shower, Nora prepared to go downstairs to eat something.

But as soon as she opened the door, she saw Quentin in front of it.

Although the man was already 26 years old, he still looked very young. His thin body leaned against the wall, and he instantly stood up when he saw her.

Nora raised her eyebrows. “What’s the matter?”

Quentin nodded and asked curiously, “Nora, what did you tell Uncle Ian that suddenly gave him the will to survive?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 399 - Peace

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora heard this, she was silent for a moment.

She suddenly said, “Do you really want to know?”

Quentin nodded.

Nora looked away.

She was not planning to say these words. After all, her mother’s last words were filled with danger. Now, she did not even know who or where the enemy was.

She said, “Do you know why I hid my identity as Big Sister?”

Quentin shook his head.

Nora said, “Because my mother said that if I stand out, people might come after me.”

Quentin narrowed his eyes at these words.

Nora looked at him. “I told him this.”

She was referring to Ian.

They had just reunited, but she was not used to calling that person “father.” She could not bring herself to call him “father.”

Quentin understood.

Ian felt that Joel and Quentin could protect her well and that she would live well. Therefore, he had lost the will to live and wanted to reunite with Yvette.

But when he found out that his daughter was in danger, as a father, how could he leave?

He had to live and help her get rid of all obstacles!

Especially that danger... Ian subconsciously felt that it had something to do with Yvette leaving him back then!

This was Nora's guess.

Yvette had suddenly run away from home and told the public that she had eloped with someone, but she had given birth to her. In addition to the organization Morris had mentioned...

She felt that Yvette's departure back then might have been to protect Ian.

Ian clearly thought of this as well, and Nora told him, "The first DNA test showed that my genes have mutated. Logically speaking, we could never acknowledge each other. But Mother left my umbilical cord blood behind."

Yvette had preserved Nora's umbilical cord blood because she wanted to have a contingency plan when she was at her wit's end.

If Nora was to ever get involved in this, Ian could protect her appropriately and fulfill his responsibility as a father.

Even if Nora did not need his protection, if this responsibility could make Ian want to live, she did not mind being protected.

However, Quentin suddenly understood something. He looked at Nora seriously. "Nora, don't worry. I will help you guard your identity!"

If there was any danger, he would protect his cousin!

Nora: "?"

—

In the suburbs.

Joel was hugging Tanya. “I don’t know what Nora said to make Uncle Ian want to live, but I know that I can’t lose you again, Tanya.”

When Uncle Ian lay on the hospital bed and recalled what had happened back then, he said the thing he regretted the most was not insisting on being with Yvette. At that time, Joel had thought of Tanya.

He did not want the tragedy to repeat itself.

When Tanya heard this, she stopped struggling. She closed her eyes tightly as tears started pouring. “Even if I don’t mind Mia’s existence, what about Hillary?”

“Hillary doesn’t matter.”

Joel said, “Tanya, back then, I was tricked into being with her. But all these years, apart from Mia, there’s nothing between us. I gave her the title of fiancée because I didn’t want Mia to not have a mother. But I told her long ago that when Mia turned five and became sensible, we would end the engagement. The last time I chased her away from the Smiths, it was to end the engagement.

Tanya was stunned.

Hillary was clearly saying that they were very loving.

However, compared to Hillary, she trusted Joel more.

She was not a romantic. The reason she chose to believe Joel was because she understood Hillary’s character!

But even so, she did not expect such a misunderstanding to have happened back then.

She asked again, “But her Facebook post...”

Joel explained again, “It was Mia’s birthday yesterday. I took a gift from her at the entrance of her house and left. As for the restaurant, it was only me and Mia. She followed us there by herself.”

Tanya was stunned.

Joel hugged her. “Tanya, I don’t know what else I need to do to make you forgive me, but do you know how happy I was when I heard you say that you were jealous?”

The man no longer had the aura he had in front of outsiders. At this moment, he was as happy as a child who had eaten candy. “At that time, I was thinking that even if you hate me or resent me, I won’t let you go this time.”

“...”

The wind around them seemed to have stopped.

The birds and insects were all silent.

Tanya only felt that at this moment, her broken heart seemed to have been filled with healing medicine as he comforted her.

She did not know what to say.

She did not know if she should forgive this man for that night.

Even if it was not his fault that he had been schemed against...

She did not know if she could be a good stepmother, either...

She did not even know if it was right for her to pursue happiness like this before her child was found...

Before she could think, the man suddenly held her shoulder and made her slowly turn her head.

The man stopped talking and lowered his head to cover her lips.

That familiar cool breath suddenly invaded her mouth, making her brain explode.

The memories in her body seemed to have returned before her rationality, making her almost give in without any resistance...

She was in a sorry state and quickly retreated.

However, he continued to press her hard and domineeringly. It was as if he wanted to claim sovereignty over every part of her mouth.

“Agh!”

Suddenly, a voice was heard.

The two of them froze and hurriedly looked at the door. They saw Mdm. Florence covering her eyes. “Goodness, Miss Tanya, Mrs. Hunt asked me to see if you were around. You... you two lovebirds can continue. Pretend I didn’t see you!”

With that, she ran off in a hurry.

Tanya: “...”

Joel: “...”

The two of them were feeling a little awkward. It did not seem appropriate to continue what had just happened. However, if they did not continue, they would be at a loss if they just stood there.

Tanya said, “Let’s talk inside.”

She turned and opened the door.

Joel followed behind her obediently. He did not look like the tycoon who ran the business world at all.

After the two of them entered the room, Joel took the initiative to say, “You haven’t eaten yet, right? I’ll cook something for you.”

Tanya nodded in a daze. At that moment, she seemed to have completely forgotten that this was her house.

When Joel entered the kitchen, Tanya had yet to return to her senses.

At this moment, her phone suddenly rang.

She picked up the call without even looking at it and accidentally put it on speaker. Hillary's voice came from the other end. "Tanya, do you think Joel will return to your side just because you're back? Let me tell you, the person he loves is me. He's right beside me now.. Our family of three is going to eat together. Stop daydreaming!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 400 - Their Child

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Daydreaming...

Tanya looked into the kitchen and felt like she was really dreaming.

When she had left sadly five years ago, she thought that she would never have the chance to be with this man in her life. This man was going to disappear from her life.

Who would have thought that five years later, he would be cooking food for her?

As Tanya was thinking, Hillary's voice was heard again. "Why aren't you saying anything? Are you really going to degrade yourself to be a third wheel and come between us? Let me tell you, you better return to Switzerland. Joel chose me five years ago, he'll definitely choose me again. When that time comes, how embarrassed would you be?"

As she spoke, Joel had already walked out of the kitchen.

The villa was very quiet, and there were no car horns around.

Joel had heard the voice on the phone from the beginning.

He looked at Tanya.

Tanya was also looking at him. The slender girl just stood there, her body a little thin from dancing for a long time.

She looked at Joel with her deep eyes and suddenly raised her eyebrows. "She said I'm the third wheel. May I ask Mr. Smith, what's your relationship with Madam Hillary now?"

As soon as she said this, Hillary's voice stopped. However, she then sneered. "What are you doing? Do you think you can scare me like this? Let me tell you, I'm with Joel. If you want to talk to him, I can help you send a message..."

Amidst her chattering, Joel's originally angry eyes froze for a moment when they met the Tanya's. All his anger seemed to dissipate with an evil smile on her lips.

He took a step forward and said, "I have nothing to do with Madam Hillary. The engagement has been broken off. Madam Tanya, what kind of braised noodles do you want to eat? Tomato eggs or green pepper pork?"

The voice on the phone instantly fell silent!

Hillary: "!!"

The entire villa fell silent. Tanya smiled and said, "Green pepper pork. But no ginger, you remember my preferences, right?"

Joel nodded. "Of course. Just wait 10 minutes."

With that, he glanced at the phone. Just as he was about to return to the kitchen, Hillary smiled mockingly. "Tanya, are you lying to me? How can Joel cook? I've been with him for five years, but I've never seen him cook! He doesn't know how to cook at all! Did you find someone with a similar voice to anger me? I'm telling you, I won't fall for it!"

Tanya recalled how Hillary had deliberately chased him to the restaurant and taken a photo to post on her Facebook. She was not surprised by her way of thinking.

She only smiled and suddenly turned on the camera. She raised her phone and aimed it at Joel. "Here, let me show you. The man I'm looking at not only has a similar voice to Joel, but his appearance is also very similar!"

Her voice was filled with mockery.

When Hillary saw Joel wearing an apron, she was stunned.

She had stayed with the Smiths for five years. Joel had never allowed her to enter his room, and every time she saw him, he was always the high and mighty leader who could stir up New York's economic scene with just a move of his finger.

Since when was that man willing to fall from grace and start doing housework?

Furthermore, he was holding a tomato in one hand and green pepper in the other. He was clearly cooking!

As Tanya had turned on the camera, he looked up.

His light eyes, which were always smiling, suddenly became sharp as he stared at the camera.

He said calmly, "Miss Hillary, is there anything else?"

Tanya looked at the camera and saw that the camera on Hillary's side suddenly shook and fell to the ground. Her hands must have gone soft from shock.

This woman had been like this since she was young. She was a fox exploiting the tiger's might and was extremely hypocritical.

Tanya could not be bothered to talk to her anymore and hung up.

She chuckled softly. She looked up and realized that Joel had not entered the kitchen but was staring at her.

The man was wearing a white shirt and an apron, looking just like he did five years ago.

Tanya suddenly realized that the five years overseas seemed to have lost their distance.

As she was thinking, she saw Joel's eyes gradually turn deep and hot, making her heart beat wildly.

She hurriedly looked away and said, “There are still eight minutes!”

Only then did Joel retract his gaze and nod.

After he left, Tanya hurriedly patted her chest and cheeks.

She must stay alert!

She could not be attracted by his stunning beauty!

Eight minutes later, the noodles were done.

Tanya went upstairs and had already changed into her casual home clothes. Looking at the two bowls of steaming noodles on the dining table, she picked up her fork. Just as she was about to eat, she heard Joel say, “Wait a minute.”

She paused and realized that Joel had brought a bottle of hot sauce over.

Tanya stared at the bottle and suddenly thought of a time five years ago.

At that time, she was still in university. As the living expenses from her mother were not enough, she often had to cook for herself.

Noodles were her favorite.

However, she only had one pot back then, so it was inconvenient to stir-fry vegetables. Therefore, every time, she would add a sufficient amount of noodles and vegetables before adding hot sauce.

Joel had always known this habit of hers.

In the past five years, after she went overseas, the thing she was most unused to was eating. Occasionally, she would want to eat noodles, but without hot sauce, it was as if something was missing.

While she was in a daze, Joel opened the bottle and handed it to her.

She dug a big spoonful and put it in the bowl of noodles. The thick sauce immediately floated on it and the fragrance wafted over.

She picked some noodles up with her fork and took a bite excitedly—but she was stunned.

She looked up slowly at the bottle of hot sauce.

The packaging had already changed.

As for the taste of the sauce, although it was still her favorite flavor, it was no longer the same as before.

For some reason, her heart suddenly sank.

A broken mood instantly attacked her, making her lower her head.

Indeed.

In five years, everything familiar had changed.

Nothing would stand there and wait for her.

It was like losing her child.

Even if she had returned to the country and she and Joel were still the same as they were five years ago, this fact could not be hidden.

She became depressed.

Joel looked at her and panic surged in his heart. He asked carefully, “What’s wrong? The noodles don’t taste good?”

A hot tear fell into the bowl.

Tanya suddenly looked up.. “There’s something I need to tell you.”

Volume 5

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 401 - Do You Like Children?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Joel saw her grave expression and put down his fork. He stared at her. “What?”

His heart suddenly pounded violently.

He didn’t know what Tanya was going to say, much less what she was thinking... but he suddenly felt that what she was going to say next was very important.

Tanya looked at the man and said impulsively, “We had a...”

The word “child” hovered around her mouth for a moment, but she could not say it.

Joel was stunned. “What?”

He searched his memory hard. They had an agreement? An oath? Or what?

He was afraid that he would anger the girl in front of him if he did not remember.

Tanya opened her mouth.

She suddenly thought of the parents who had been searching for their children overseas.

Some mothers broke down, and some fathers were very calm. However, she had seen them turn around and cry secretly in a corner after comforting their wives.

She suddenly asked, “You love Mia very much, right?”

Joel did not know why she had suddenly changed the topic, but he still followed along and said, “Yes, I love her very much.”

He suddenly reached out and held her hand. “I know that I will never let you down in this matter. Her existence is something I cannot control, but her existence makes me feel warm. Tanya, that is a kind of satisfaction from family ties. You understand me, right?”

How could Tanya not understand?

After all, she and Joel were both children who lacked love!

Even though Joel was born in the Smiths, his parents did not like him. There was even a time when they thought of abandoning him, making him feel very insecure.

As for Tanya...

After her mother remarried, she lost her home.

When the two of them walked together back then, didn't it feel like they were hugging each other for warmth?

That was why she was so happy when she gave birth to that little angel and thought that she finally had a family in this world and someone with her blood.

That was why she had searched the entire world for her child like a madman without even having seen the child once.

When Joel saw that she was in a strange mood, he mistakenly thought that Tanya would mind if he mentioned Mia. He thought about it and said, “I know it's very selfish of me to make you accept Mia, but Tanya, Mia is really a very obedient child. You'll fall in love with her. Really...”

He was afraid that Tanya would suggest sending the child away.

No matter how much he loved Tanya, he could not do that.

After all, he was a father!

Seeing that he had misunderstood, Tanya waved her hand and said, “That’s not what I meant.”

As soon as she said this, Joel heaved a sigh of relief. It was obvious how much he liked Mia.

Tanya asked again, “Do you like children?”

Joel nodded. “Of course. If it was our child, I would like it even more.”

These words made Tanya’s heart ache again.

She lowered her head and took a bite of noodles.

The hot noodles slid into her mouth, but she took another bite as if she did not know it was hot.

She ate mouthful after mouthful. When she was done, she looked up.

Joel probed, “What did you say we have?”

Tanya took out a tissue and wiped her mouth before replying, “It’s nothing.”

Joel immediately tried to recall any vow the two had made. However, after thinking for a while, he still could not remember it.

After he ate the noodles, Tanya took his bowl and washed it in the kitchen. Then, she said, “It’s getting late, you should go back.”

Joel: “...”

He actually did not want to leave tonight, but since Tanya had said so, if he insisted on staying, it would only make Tanya feel annoyed.

At the thought of this, Joel decided that he had to take things slow and not get things done in one go.

He took out his car keys and walked slowly to the door. “Good night.”

“Good night.”

Tanya replied softly in the kitchen.

She heard Joel walk to the door and stand there for a long time. Finally, he pushed the door open. When she heard the door close with a bang, she turned off the tap.

She stood in the kitchen for a long time before walking out.

Looking at the neat apron hanging in the living room, she thought of Joel’s OCD personality and couldn’t help but lower her eyes.

She sighed heavily and went upstairs.

She lay on the sofa and quietly stared at the night sky.

She did not know where her child was in the world right now, if he was hungry, or if he had any clothes to wear. She did not know how long she was thinking when her phone suddenly rang.

She picked it up and took a look. It was a call from Hillary.

She picked up the call and Hillary’s calm voice was heard. “Are you two still together?”

Tanya sneered and said softly, “Yes, he’s taking a shower. Why?”

“You’re lying!”

Hillary suddenly smiled and said, “I just called Mia and she said Dad has come home! Tanya, I’m warning you. Stay away from Joel! Even if you seduced him now and he still likes you, Mia is the person he loves the most!”

Tanya clenched her fists.

She lowered her eyes. Before she could say anything, Hillary said, “Mia is everything to him! So what if you two still have feelings for each other? At the end of the night, won’t he still go home obediently and coax the child to sleep? Tanya, if you know what’s good for you, you better leave him!”

Tanya’s voice was very low. “What if I don’t?”

“You don’t? Do you know that everyone outside knows that he and I are engaged and that Mia is our daughter?! Mia’s sake, he won’t even announce our separation to the public. In front of outsiders, I will always be Madam Smith! And you, Tanya, are just one of his lovers! What makes you think your status is enough to make him give up his reputation?”

The Jones.

After Hillary shouted this in anger, she finally felt at ease. She sneered and said, “No matter what, I will always be the wife, and you are just a mistress! Just like it was back then, I’m the daughter of a wealthy family, and you’re just a fake daughter!”

With that, she hung up.

She had been chased out of the Smiths for so long. There were many guesses outside, but because of Mia, the Smiths had never spread the news that they had broken off the engagement.

She wanted to use this matter to agitate Tanya and let her know that she was nothing to Joel!

Any woman would mind this, right?

As she was thinking about this, the doorbell rang.

The servant went to open the door and exclaimed in surprise, “Mr. Smith?”

Hillary was stunned. She turned around and saw Joel walking in from the door!

It was already so late. Why was he at the Jones' residence?!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 402 - Is Mia Really Hillarys Daughter?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Hillary recalled that when she called Tanya today, Joel was also there. Later on, he did not pursue the matter, but now, he was here...

Her heart sank, but her face was still filled with smiles as she walked over. "Joel, you're here..."

When the Joneses heard the servant's words, they hurriedly walked down from the study upstairs to welcome him. "Mr. Smith, what brings you here? If there's anything you need, you can call us to the Smiths."

Joel was still smiling. His eyes were curved, and when he did not speak, he looked very gentle, like a smiling tiger.

However, Hillary could see the coldness in his eyes.

She swallowed and jolted.

Joel looked at her and slowly said, "I came personally today because I thought that after my engagement with Miss Hillary was broken off, she seemed to have been dishonest."

As soon as he said this, Hillary's father was stunned. He looked directly at Hillary. "What? When did you guys break off the engagement?"

Joel lowered his eyes and said indifferently, "Why? Didn't Miss Hillary tell you?"

Hillary had been chased back this time and stayed for a few days now, but she had not mentioned the engagement at all.

Mr. Jones looked at Hillary. “Hillary, what’s going on?”

Madam Jones said, “Mr. Smith, did Hillary do something wrong to make you angry? Tell us, we’ll get her to change. How can you suddenly call off the engagement?”

Joel looked at Madam Jones.

To be precise, she was also Tanya’s mother.

Back then, Tanya’s mother had remarried and given birth to Hillary.

Hillary was a year younger than Tanya, but their identities were completely different.

One was a burden who had been brought along into her marriage with a wealthy family, and the other was a daughter of a wealthy family. Hillary had looked down on Tanya since she was young.

As for Tanya, she had a stubborn personality. After being slandered by Hillary a few times, Madam Jones had determined that Tanya’s personality was naughty and mischievous, like that of her father, who had disappeared. Therefore, she would hit and scold her!

Joel’s attitude toward Madam Jones was distant and cold. He did not bother being polite with her. “Madam Jones, you can discipline her further for her mistakes. Now, we’re talking about breaking off the engagement.”

He took out the agreement he had signed with Hillary back then. “In the agreement back then, we said that when Mia turns five, the engagement would be automatically broken off. Now, it’s time.”

The Jones parents were stunned. They looked at Hillary in disbelief. “Hillary, you...”

Hillary bit her lip and cried. “Joel, I was wrong. I really know I was wrong. I didn’t go looking for Tanya on purpose. I was just indignant. You chased me out of the Smiths because she suddenly returned, right?”

Tanya?

Madam Jones instantly became even more furious. “What do you mean? Did Tanya cross into your family again? Joel, you can’t treat Hillary like this. Tanya was born to be a bad hooligan!”

As soon as she said this, Joel suddenly reached out and smashed the teacup on the table to the ground!

Smash!

The sound of the teacup shattering resounded throughout the living room, causing the crying Hillary and Madam Jones, who was scolding Tanya, to stop abruptly.

Everyone looked at Joel in disbelief.

Joel lowered his eyes. “I’ve already contacted the reporters. They will announce that I have broken off my engagement with Miss Hillary tomorrow...”

As soon as he said this, Mr. Jones said, “Mr. Smith, is there no room for change in this matter?”

Joel looked at him and said firmly, “No.”

Mr. Jones sighed heavily.

Hillary and Madam Jones still wanted to say something, but Mr. Jones shook his head at them.

The two of them could only shut their mouths.

Mr. Jones began to complain. “Mr. Smith, we understand that you don’t like Hillary. We won’t force you. We can break off the engagement, but Mia is her biological daughter. You can’t stop them from meeting.”

Hillary and Madam Jones looked at each other.

Yes.

As long as Mia was still around, Hillary could interfere in Joel and Tanya's lives. As long as she could, Joel and Tanya could forget about living a quiet life!

Hillary clenched her fists tightly. She was already thinking that if Mia fell ill in the future, she would definitely have to stay with the Smiths and take care of her.

If Mia was hurt, she would definitely ask Tanya why she abused her child!

As she was thinking about her future plans, Joel seemed to have seen through her thoughts and said directly, "Yes, I won't stop them from meeting. Every six months, I'll send Mia overseas to meet with Miss Hillary."

Mr. Jones was stunned.

Hillary was stunned. "Go overseas? You don't have to go overseas. I'm just in the country... You don't have to send Mia anywhere. I can just meet her at the Smiths..."

However, the moment she said this, she heard Joel say, "After our engagement is broken off, you'll be in a bad mood, and will go overseas for a vacation. You won't accept our financial support and will travel for five years. After five years, you can return to the country."

Mr. Jones was stunned. "She won't accept financial support? Then how is she going to live?"

Joel glanced at Mr. Jones and said casually, "Aren't so many international students still alive?"

Madam Jones shouted angrily, "No! Hillary has never suffered like this in her entire life! She can't go overseas!"

She had never suffered before, but Tanya could suffer?

Joel had investigated before. Tanya did not have any living expenses overseas. Everything was earned by working part-time!

His attitude was still very calm, and there was even a smile on his face. He looked directly at Mr. Jones. “President Jones, is the collaboration between the Joneses and Smiths going well?”

Mr. Jones: !!!

He immediately understood that Joel was threatening him!

If they did not send Hillary away, the Smiths would terminate all cooperation with the Joneses!

The Joneses had been prospering these years because they had relied on the Smiths. After leaving the Smiths... Joel would definitely let everyone in New York know that the Joneses had offended him.

At that time, even without Joel personally making a move, someone might help him deal with the Joneses!

He gulped and hurriedly stood up. “I understand what you mean, Mr. Smith. I’ll handle Hillary’s matters here. She’ll go overseas.”

Joel stood up. “It’s good that Mr. Jones understands. I’ll leave, then.”

He did not even look at Hillary as he left the house.

Hillary was stunned on the spot.

Five years...

Another five years!

Tanya had been overseas for more than five years!

Hillary understood. Joel had arranged everything for her!

He was going to send her overseas for five years to help Tanya vent her anger!

She roared, “Joel! I gave birth to Mia for you! How can you treat me like this?!”

Joel stopped in his tracks and turned to look at her. “If you hadn’t given birth to Mia, do you think you would have had the chance to go overseas?”

Upon hearing this, Hillary jolted.

She swallowed.

Mia was her protective charm!

—

At the Smiths.

After Nora finished showering, she walked out and saw Pete standing there, looking at her seriously. “Mommy, we’re going to the amusement park to play tomorrow. Can we bring Mia along?”

Nora asked, “Why?”

Pete said, “I didn’t even know it was Mia’s birthday yesterday. I didn’t give her a gift either. I want to take her out to play tomorrow.”

Birthday?

Nora was stunned.

She remembered clearly that Tanya’s child’s birthday was five days ago.

Mia was only five days away from that child’s birthday...

Was this... a coincidence?

She narrowed her eyes.

Was Mia really Hillary's daughter?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 403 - Noras Suspicion

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The reason why Nora knew about the birthday of the children was that on that day every year, Tanya would be in low spirits.

When she was overseas, no matter where Nora was, she would always be by Tanya's side on this day.

The two of them did nothing. Nora would sleep while Tanya would be in the room, dancing to the birthday gift she had bought long ago.

Usually, when she woke up, Tanya would be covered in sweat, but she would not feel tired. If she continued like this, she would eventually collapse.

Every year, she would fall seriously ill.

It was as if she wanted to use this method to vent her longing for her child for the next year.

Therefore, Nora remembered her child's birthday very clearly.

She couldn't help but doubt Mia's identity.

Tanya's child and Mia were both Joel's children. Furthermore, they were only five days apart...

She narrowed her eyes and began to think about the relationship between Mia and Tanya...

“Mommy, can I?”

Pete's words interrupted Nora's thoughts.

She looked at him and nodded. “Alright, I’ll ask your uncle when he comes back.”

If she took Mia out to play, she would definitely ask Joel.

With that, she yawned loudly and turned to walk to the bed. “It’s already so late. Why isn’t he back yet? I’ll lie down and wait for him!”

Pete: “...”

As expected, half an hour later, there were uniform breathing sounds on the bed.

Pete sighed helplessly and put down the pen in his hand.

He walked to the bed and gently covered Nora with the blanket. Then, he went out and downstairs to sit on the sofa in the living room.

When Joel returned home, this was the scene he saw.

Pete was clearly sleepy and anxious. His little head was nodding off, but he had still forced himself not to sleep.

Joel looked at the time. It was already 11 PM. He walked over and asked, “What’s wrong?”

Pete woke up suddenly and said excitedly, “Uncle, you’re finally back!”

He jumped off the sofa and looked at Joel. “Tomorrow, Dad and Mom will take me and Cherry... to the amusement park. I want to bring Mia along, okay?”

Joel looked at him and touched his head. After some thought, he said, “Okay.”

Pete heaved a sigh of relief.

Joel bent down and picked him up before carrying him upstairs.

After taking him to the bedroom, he asked, “Where’s your mother?”

Pete said helplessly, “Mommy said that she would lie down and wait for you to come back to ask you. In the end, she fell asleep...”

Joel: “...”

Joel brought Pete to his room and watched him shower and change into his pajamas. Then, he sent Pete to Nora’s bedroom.

He watched as he tiptoed in and returned to the bedroom in relief.

At the same time, he could not help but think that Nora was such a worry-free mother. Be it with Cherry or Pete, they were both so sensible and independent.

After returning to his room, he washed up and lay on the bed. He took out his phone and opened Tanya’s Facebook.

Her profile picture was of a mature grape.

Joel stared at his phone screen for a long time, not knowing what to send her. Just as he was in a daze, he suddenly saw the words “Typing...” on the dialog box.

Joel was instantly delighted.

What was Tanya going to say to him?

However, after waiting for more than ten minutes, she did not say anything.

Joel couldn’t help but send a message: “?”

Tanya replied: “?”

Joel: “Where’s the small composition?”

Tanya: “What small composition?”

Joel smiled and typed: “You’ve been typing for almost twenty minutes. You should have written a small composition with 800 words by now? Where is it?”

Tanya: “!!!”

Tanya: “I wasn’t sending you a message!”

Tanya: “You’re mistaken!”

Tanya: “Oh, I was watching television and accidentally opened your chat window.”

Seeing that she was not being honest, Joel continued to type with a smile. “What are you watching?”

Tanya: “A show on FOX TV.”

Joel: “Is it Friends? I haven’t seen it in a long time.”

Tanya: “Yes.”

Joel laughed again. “But FOX TV is currently playing a melodramatic drama.”

Tanya: “...”

Tanya: “Can’t I watch a replay?”

Joel: “Alright, you can watch whatever you want. Whatever you say is right.”

After these words were sent, the two of them paused for a moment.

Joel suddenly recalled when he and Tanya were still in high school.

At that time, they once had a disagreement over a small matter. As for the specific reason, he could not remember it clearly. However, Tanya’s eyes were red from crying as she roared at him, “Do you even know how to be a boyfriend? Don't you know that a girlfriend is always right no matter what she does? You're such a serious person. Other than me, no one else will want you!"

At that time, they were young and did not know how to cherish each other, much less how to love each other. They had stumbled forward in confusion.

However, he had continued to press forward. It was unlike now where he was restrained and careful in everything he did.

A warm feeling suddenly flowed through Joel's chest. He sent a message: "I missed you."

Tanya did not reply for a long time.

Joel lowered his eyes and sent another message: "Nora will take Cherry and Pete to the amusement park to play tomorrow. Mia wants to go too. Do you want to go?"

This time, Tanya replied: "I'll consider it."

Joel chuckled softly. "Yes. How long do you want to consider?"

Tanya replied proudly, "Two minutes."

Joel said dotingly, "Alright."

Two minutes later, Joel punctually asked, "Go ahead."

Tanya: "Since you're begging me, I'll go."

Joel laughed.

—

The next day, when Nora woke up, the sun was high in the sky.

She picked up her phone in a daze and was about to look at the time when she opened her eyes and saw four heads staring at her from her bedside.

Mia and Tanya were on the left, both of them holding their chin.

Cherry and Pete were speechless.

Nora was shocked. “What are you doing?”

Her voice was hoarse.

Tanya: “Waiting for you to wake up so that we can go to the amusement park.”

Nora: “?”

Stunned, she looked at her phone and realized that it was already 11 AM.

Nora rubbed her head and sat up. “...Why didn’t you wake me up?”

Tanya looked at Cherry. “You have to ask your little darling about this.”

Cherry said, “Mommy, you can’t be disturbed when you’re sleeping!”

Pete said, “Mommy, it’s okay. It’s okay if we play less, but you have to sleep enough.”

Nora: “...”

She lifted the blanket and went to the bathroom. As she washed her face, she looked at Tanya and Mia in the mirror.. She suddenly recalled her suspicions from last night.

Chapter 404 - Mias Blood Type?

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Perhaps it was because she was suspicious, Nora kept looking at Tanya and Mia while she changed. The more she looked at them, the more they looked alike.

It seemed like the verification of DNA was imminent.

However, how was she going to take DNA samples without alerting them?

Thinking that she had a whole day to spend with them today, Nora was not anxious. She slowly washed her face and brushed her teeth. She changed into casual clothes and prepared to go downstairs.

Tanya immediately grabbed her. “Justin is downstairs!”

Outsiders called Justin Mr. Hunt or President Hunt, but to Tanya, he was her best friend’s boyfriend and only Justin.

Nora raised her eyebrows and asked, “What’s wrong?”

Tanya pointed at her hair. “Aren’t you going to wash your hair?”

Nora: “?”

She casually glanced at the time. “It’s already so late. I’m not washing anymore.”

Tanya said in disdain, “You’re on a date, right? Can’t you be more exquisite? I woke up an hour early this morning to dress up!”

Nora thought for a moment. “That’s true.”

Then, she turned around and picked up her cap. “That’s good.”

Tanya: "..."

Watching Nora go downstairs casually, Tanya seriously suspected that she was not a woman.

She grimaced and waved at the three children. "Let's go."

Pete and Cherry nodded.

Following behind Nora, Mia was still staring at the identical twins.

When she saw them today, she was shocked!

Pete woke up early in the morning. When he was playing with her, someone at the door said that Justin had brought the Hunts' youngest son over.

Mia was still a little nervous at that time. She asked Pete, "They all say that the Hunts' youngest son is very mysterious. He never goes to school and doesn't play with others. What if he doesn't like me?"

Pete was stunned.

He didn't expect Mia to be so sensitive. She hadn't even met him yet, but she already felt that he wouldn't like her. Pete said directly, "No, you two will be very good friends."

Mia looked at herself nervously and asked, "Cherry, will he really like me?"

Pete replied, "... Yes, he will."

Mia heaved a sigh of relief.

Then, she saw Justin walking in with Cherry in his arms.

When Cherry entered, she was still wearing a mask and sunglasses to prevent anyone from peeking. The young master of the Hunts had always been well protected.

Mia immediately grabbed Pete's hand nervously. Then, she saw that the Hunts' youngest son had been placed down by his father.

Then, he skipped over to her and said, "Mia, Sister, I missed you so much~"

With that, Cherry hugged Mia.

Mia: "..."

She was stunned and looked at Cherry in shock. When Cherry saw that she was silent, she took off her sunglasses and mask. "Mia, don't you know Cherry anymore?"

Mia: "???"

She turned to look at Pete in surprise and then at Cherry. Only then did she react. "You, you're twins!"

Both of them smiled and nodded.

Mia seemed to have realized something as she looked at Pete. "So, Cherry, who turns into a boy, is actually not Cherry. It's Cherry's brother!"

Pete extended his hand to her. With a serious expression, he introduced himself. "My name is Peter Hunt."

Mia scratched her head and smiled with her eyes. "Your name sounds nice!"

As soon as she finished speaking, Cherry said, "Brother's nickname is..."

Before she could finish, Pete interrupted her. "Cherry's name is Cheryl Smith."

Mia continued to smile. "It sounds good too!"

"I think so too!"

Cherry held Mia's hand. "Brother and I named ourselves very casually, but Daddy and Mommy really have telepathy. They named us Cherry Pit!

Daddy said that Brother and I are the fruits of Mommy and Daddy!”

Mia was enlightened. She smiled at Pete. “So, you’re not Cherry. Your nickname is Pit!”

Pete: “...”

His nickname was not nice. He rarely told others about it. He did not expect his sister to say it so directly.

Sigh! His head hurt.

—

When Nora went downstairs, she stood in the corridor and looked down.

She saw Joel and Justin sitting on the living room sofa. These two men, who could change New York’s economy with just a stomp of their feet, were sitting opposite each other and drinking tea.

When she went out, there was no sound from downstairs.

When she was almost downstairs, Justin suddenly said, “Nora’s temper becomes a little bad if she doesn’t sleep enough. Please forgive her.”

These words sounded as if Nora was Justin’s possession. Joel suddenly raised his head, his eyes curved into crescents, and he smiled. “She’s my sister. There’s no need to apologize. I have just made Mr. Hunt wait here for such a long time. Nora’s health is not good. Mr. Hunt, you don’t mind, right?”

Justin: “...”

There was a hint of coldness in his deep eyes, and the mole at the corner of his eye looked a little enchanting. He suddenly said, “I definitely don’t mind. After all, Nora’s health deteriorated because she gave birth to my children. I wonder if Nora is used to sleeping on the Smiths’ bed?”

Joel: “!!!”

These words implied that Nora had not grown up in the Smiths.

He lowered his eyes and gently placed the teacup down. Still smiling, he said, “She probably slept well. After all, she’s at home. Mr. Hunt, you probably don’t know yet, right? Nora is Uncle Ian’s biological daughter, and she’s also the only daughter of the Smiths’ direct line of descent.”

He deliberately emphasized the word “at home” and emphasized the eldest daughter of the direct line. Then, he said jokingly, “If she didn’t have an engagement with Mr. Hunt, I’m afraid the other men in New York would have been chased out by Uncle Ian when they came to propose marriage!”

Justin: “...”

He had almost forgotten that the person in front of him was his brother-in-law!

Offending him would make his marriage difficult.

At the thought of this, Justin took the initiative to pick up the teapot and pour a cup of tea for Joel.

Looking at his lowered head, Joel was extremely satisfied.

The two men were both heads of the two top families in New York. Neither of them was convinced by the other. Even though the two companies had worked together before, they had never lowered their heads.

Now, this man was willing to lower his head for Nora. It seemed like he was being sincere.

A cup of tea made the two men lose their hostility. At this moment, they finally heard footsteps. The two of them turned their heads and saw Nora walking down.

She coughed. “Did I make you two wait for long?”

“No.”

“No.”

The two men said dotingly.

Nora: “...”

She suddenly looked at Joel and asked, “By the way, Joel, what’s Mia’s blood type?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 405 - Your Daughter Looks So Much Like You!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Joel did not understand why she would suddenly ask this, but he still said, “Type A.”

Tanya was also an A.

Nora narrowed her eyes and asked again, “What about Hillary?”

Hearing her mention Hillary, Joel subconsciously looked at Tanya, who was following behind her. Seeing that Tanya was indeed frowning and seemed a little unhappy, Joel carefully replied, “Type AB.”

“Okay.”

Nora replied, but she was guessing in her heart. Joel had Type O blood while Hillary had Type AB blood. Therefore, there was a chance that Mia had Type A blood.

From this, she could not confirm her guess.

Indeed, she still had to do a DNA test.

With this in mind, she glanced at Tanya.

She did not tell Tanya about this immediately.

After all, over the years, they had been looking for her child together. She knew that it was devastating for any hope to be destroyed.

When she did the DNA report, if Mia was not Tanya’s child, she would not mention it at all. However, if she was Tanya’s daughter, everything would be fine.

With this thought in mind, she asked, “Shall we set off?”

“There’s no rush.”

Before Joel could speak, Justin said slowly, “Eat something before you leave. You’ve slept for so long. You should avoid getting low blood sugar.”

Everyone was speechless.

Nora casually picked up a piece of chocolate. “No need. Let’s go.”

Nora was a little embarrassed to have the three children and three adults wait for her here.

Actually, she had set an alarm before she went to bed last night. After all, she was going out with them today. Thinking of this, she took out her phone and was about to see why the alarm didn’t ring when she heard Pete say, “Mommy, the tyrant... Daddy asked me to turn off your alarm. He said that you’ll only have the energy to play after you sleep enough.”

“...Okay.”

Nora’s lips twitched. She really could not be blamed.

There were too many people in the group, so everyone got into the huge van that the Hunts had driven over.

The van had three rows of seats. The most comfortable seats were definitely the two single chairs in the second row. The third and fourth rows fit the adults and their children well.

Joel glanced at Tanya and pointed at the single seat in the second row. “Sit here.”

Mia was Joel’s daughter. He was already very happy that Tanya could go out with them. He definitely wouldn’t trouble Tanya to help take care of Mia.

Tanya nodded.

Then, Justin pointed at the single seat in the second row and said to Nora, “Sit here too.”

He brought Pete and Cherry to sit at the back.

Therefore... a strange arrangement was made.

The two all-powerful men in New York had given up their seats for the two women, but they were sitting at the back as full-time nannies.

When the driver saw this, he was frightened.

He had never seen Mr. Hunt sitting in the back row! That was reserved for assistants and bodyguards!

Then, he looked at the two women sitting in the second row... After Nora got into the car, she ate a mouthful of chocolate sleepily and leaned against the window, looking very relaxed.

Tanya did not feel that there was anything wrong with sitting there like this. She also did not feel that there was anything wrong with letting the two men look after the children. She was still whispering to Nora.

The driver was speechless.

The corners of his mouth twitched. He did not expect Mr. Hunt and Mr. Smith to spoil their girlfriends so much!

The car started and drove to the amusement park.

Tanya and Nora were whispering about what they were going to play later. The two men in the backseat were also chatting harmoniously.

Joel asked, “Pete’s identity and appearance have always been kept a secret. Don’t tell me you’re going to the amusement park today with a mask on?”

“There’s no need,” Justin said. “The amusement park was cleared today.”

Only then did Joel suddenly realize that the Hunts owned the largest amusement park in New York!

He nodded. “Yes, we won’t be disturbed like this.”

He asked mischievously, “But Mr. Hunt, you didn’t bring your 18 bodyguards with you today? That’s not your style.”

Justin smiled brightly, and the mole at the corner of his eye shone. His words had a hint of submission. “They’re hiding in the dark. After all, we have two children with us. No one can take the risk lest there be an accident. Mr. Smith, you understand, right?”

With that, he looked behind the car. “After all, there are already seven or eight people in the two cars behind us, right?”

Joel said slowly, “I’m not afraid of anything. It’s improbable for there to be any big scene outside. These seven or eight people are all here to protect Nora.”

His meaning was clear. Nora had a high status in the Smiths!

The group went straight to the amusement park. Justin seemed to have long known that Nora would not be able to get up on time, so the van stopped at the restaurant inside the amusement park.

Justin explained, “Let’s have lunch first before we go to play.”

Joel replied, “That’s what I was thinking.”

Nora had not eaten breakfast. Moreover, it was already noon. How could she not eat?

The group entered the restaurant.

The amusement park was cleared of people, and there were no tourists in the restaurant either. They watched the amusement park facilities outside as they ate in the lobby.

When the food arrived, Nora subconsciously picked up her chopsticks and planned to eat in big bites, but Justin stopped her.

He said, “Eat slowly.”

Nora was about to retort when Justin spoke again. “Be a good role model for the children.”

Nora felt that it was really troublesome. However, when she met the gazes of the three children, she could only say, “...Alright.”

After lunch, they went to the amusement park.

There was no need to queue up. They could do whatever they wanted.

Nora liked exciting things. She went on roller coasters, trapezes, and other thrilling rides. Cherry, Pete, and Justin accompanied her throughout.

However, Mia was timid and did not dare to play.

Tanya saw that she was too timid to reject and said, “I’m afraid of heights, so I won’t play. Mia, will you accompany me?”

Mia heaved a sigh of relief and immediately held Tanya’s hand tightly. “Okay.”

So, the people split into two groups to play.

Watching Tanya and Mia leave, Nora suddenly said to Pete, “Pete, I’ll give you a mission.”

Pete asked in confusion, “What?”

Nora said, “Find an opportunity to help me collect some of Mia’s DNA samples.”

Pete did not ask why and directly replied, “No problem.”

On the other hand, Tanya had brought Mia to the carousel. Joel also accompanied them. After the three of them got on the carousel, the staff beside them raised their cameras and took photos of them.

“Mr. Smith, Mrs. Smith, look over here!”

“Mrs. Smith, please hug your daughter!”

Daughter?

Tanya was stunned. She looked down at Mia in her arms and was about to explain when the staff looked at the camera and sighed.. “Mrs. Smith, your daughter really looks like you!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 406 - Dna Sample

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

After the staff finished speaking, Mia reached out and grabbed her clothes. She asked timidly, “Ms. Turner, is this okay?”

Tanya looked at her. For some reason, she did not explain. She just smiled. “...Okay.”

Mia was excited to see that she didn’t reject her.

Joel stared at them from the side. His eyes were calm, but the smile in his eyes was more warm and sincere than before.

Snap!

A photo of the family of three was taken. The staff took the photo and stood up, handing it over.

On the carousel, Tanya sat in front with Mia in her arms while Joel sat in the back. The three of them looked very beautiful.

The staff said politely, “Mr. Smith, Mrs. Smith, the two of you are so loving. Little Miss Smith is also so cute. Your family of three is really fortunate.”

Tanya looked at the staff awkwardly and was about to explain when Joel suddenly took out his wallet and handed some notes to the service staff. “You’re a smooth-talker, feel free to say more.”

The service staff took the tip. It was a thick stack and there were at least a few hundred dollars. He was instantly delighted and immediately said, “It’s not that I’m a smooth-talker, I’m actually very bad at talking. It’s just that I’m good at telling the truth! Mr. Smith, there’s a bumper car over there. Do you want to bring Mrs. Smith and Little Miss there to play?”

“Yeah.”

Joel picked Mia up and held Tanya with his other hand as they walked toward the bumper car.

Tanya followed. She did not even have a chance to explain the entire time and could only accept the title of Mrs. Smith!

They had fun the entire day. Even though they only started in the afternoon, they still played all the games they wanted until sunset.

At night, the group ate dinner at the amusement park and watched the fireworks performance.

There was no vast crowd. The moment the fireworks bloomed, the three children gathered together and ran across the lawn of the viewing area, screaming with amazement.

“Wow!”

“So beautiful!”

“It’s so bright!”

Nora and Justin sat on the ground. When they looked up at the fireworks, Nora was a little stunned.

Actually, coming to the amusement park to play was a very boring thing for her.

No matter how exciting those games were, would they be as thrilling as riding a race car?

She was just accompanying the two children to play something boring. Seeing that they were happy, she endured it.

Time was actually the most precious thing to her.

As she spent most of her time sleeping, she preferred to finish all her tasks while she was awake.

However, as she sat there and watched the fireworks rise into the sky, and felt the breathing and company of the man beside her, she felt for the first time that it did not seem so bad to waste so much time.

On the other side, Joel and Tanya were following behind the three children. As they walked, Joel suddenly reached out and held Tanya's hand.

Tanya wanted to struggle, but the man's hand was too warm and she could not break free at all. She gave up and let Joel hold her hand.

The three children ran in front and occasionally turned back to see this scene. Cherry widened her eyes and said in disbelief, "God-mom, are you dating Uncle Joel?"

Tanya: "!!"

Her expression instantly turned cold. "Silly Cherry, what are you talking about?!"

Mia was shocked. "Cherry, don't talk to Ms. Turner like that. She'll be angry!"

Tanya didn't expect to have scared Mia. Just as she was about to comfort her and tell her that she wasn't angry, she saw Mia look at Joel. "Daddy, hurry up and kiss Ms. Turner. Kiss her and she'll be happy!"

Tanya: "!!!"

Her face turned red.

The man beside her chuckled softly, his voice rich and gentle. "Tanya, I only wish for time to stop. How good would it be if we could stay here forever?"

Tanya did not say anything, but Joel suddenly held her hand.

...

Happy days were always short. Soon, it was 8 PM. The sky had completely darkened, and they were going home.

Tanya's home was not in the same direction as the Smiths and Hunts, so they discussed and decided to let Joel take her home.

Mia was brought back by Justin with Pete.

When they separated at the door, Nora suddenly shouted, "Tanya."

Tanya, who was about to get into the car with Joel, stopped and turned to look at her. "What's wrong?"

Nora stretched out her arm. "Give me a hug?"

Tanya: "???"

The corners of her lips twitched. "It's not like I won't see you anymore. Why are you hugging me? Are you crazy? I'm not so affectionate with you!"

Nora did not care. She walked over and hugged her. "Don't you know that you might have to call me sister-in-law the next time we hug?"

Tanya: "!!!"

She turned around angrily and walked back to the car. However, she had only taken a few steps when she held her head with a cry.

Nora shrugged. "I'm sorry... Two strands of your hair were caught on my ring."

The corners of Tanya's mouth twitched. "I knew I shouldn't have given you such a pretentious hug. You made me lose two strands of hair!"

Nora retorted, "Don't worry. I'll be responsible if you become bald."

Tanya: “Pui, pui, pui! Don’t you know how to talk? I have a lot of hair. How can I be bald?!”

With that, she got into Joel’s car.

After the car left, Nora looked at the hair on her fingers. She raised her eyebrows and took out a bag, carefully putting the hair in it.

As soon as she was done, she met Justin’s teasing eyes. He seemed to have seen through everything as his gaze swept past the hair in her hand before he said, “Nora, I didn’t expect you to be so naughty.”

Nora ignored him and placed the bag in her pocket. She lowered her head and gave Pete a look.

Pete nodded and gave her an “okay.”

They got into the van and went home.

In the car, Pete suddenly said, “Let’s play a game!”

After playing for the entire day, Mia and Cherry, who were already a little sleepy, looked at him excitedly. “What are we playing?”

Pete took out a cotton bud. “I’m playing house. I’m a doctor.”

Cherry secretly said to Mia, “...Pete is so childish~ I stopped playing house when I was three!”

Mia said softly, “But this is the first time Pete has made such a request. Let’s play along, okay? Otherwise, he’ll be unhappy.”

Cherry reluctantly said, “Alright!”

Therefore, the three children, who were slightly smarter than ordinary people, began playing house.

Pete said to Mia, “Mia, open your mouth. I want to take your saliva sample~”

Mia opened her mouth cooperatively.

Pete stirred the cotton bud and handed it to Nora. "It's done!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 407 - Working Overtime To Do The Dna Test!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora took it from him naturally. Then, she took out a small plastic bag, placed it inside, and put the bag into her pocket.

When taking DNA samples, one must rub the cotton tip in the subject's mouth with a bit of force in order to get the oral mucosa.

Therefore, it would feel a little uncomfortable.

However, the kind Mia endured the discomfort without saying anything and played along with the game.

After the DNA sample was successfully retrieved, Cherry, in an attempt to play along with Pete's game, said, "It's my turn now, Pete!"

Pete: "..."

He glanced at Cherry disdainfully and said, "Don't you find this very childish? Let's not play this game anymore. Of course, if you really have to, I don't mind playing along."

Cherry: "???"

She shut up and took out her phone. "I still find mobile games more fun, after all."

"..."

While the children were talking, Justin, seemed to have realized what Nora was doing. He went to Nora and asked softly, "Are you suspecting that Mia may be Tanya's daughter?"

Nora nodded. “Tanya gave birth to a baby five years ago, but she lost the child.”

Something clicked in Justin’s head and he asked, “Do you need me to look into it for you?”

Nora thought for a moment. “Alright.”

She didn’t have enough manpower. Besides, it was not her forte, either. She and Tanya didn’t know each other before five years ago. The two had met while looking for their children.

With Justin’s help, the investigation might progress faster.

Justin suddenly asked, “Do I get any reward if I help out?”

“...”

Nora stared at the man’s visage right in front of her. Even after being out for a day, the man still looked clean and refreshed, and didn’t look greasy at all. In particular, in the dim lighting in the car, the man’s face even seemed like it had a veil of light over it.

Nora suddenly withdrew her gaze, and her throat moved a little.

If she continued looking at him any further, she felt like she might not be able to stop herself from kissing him.

She coughed and replied, “Forget it, then. You don’t have to help me.”

Justin: “...”

—

Joel took Tanya back to the villa in the suburbs.

The villa was a little far, so it was already half-past nine by the time they reached the suburbs.

As soon as the car stopped, Tanya got out of the car. She waved at Joel and said, “Bye!”

“... Aren’t you going to invite me in for a glass of water?” asked Joel.

Tanya blinked.

She simply knew Joel too well. Asking for a drink was just an excuse. She picked up a bottle of mineral water and handed it to him instead.

The thick-skinned Joel said, “Oh, my bad. Can I use the bathroom?”

Tanya: “...”

She couldn’t refuse anymore!

Surely she couldn’t make him hold it in for over an hour, right?

Joel got out of the car casually and followed her into the house. Tanya couldn’t help but complain, “You obviously went to the toilet before we left the amusement park!”

Without batting an eyelid, Joel replied, “Yeah. My kidneys aren’t so good.”

“...”

However, Joel didn’t go to the bathroom after he entered the villa. Instead, he pulled Tanya to the sofa and sat there. Before Tanya could say anything, he leaned in and pushed her down.

Tanya had already realized what he was intending to do the moment he grabbed her. They could feel each other’s breath on their faces at this moment. Tanya was so nervous that her throat went dry. She asked coquettishly, “What are you doing?”

“I’ve already held myself back for a whole day,” replied Joel.

Tanya: “?”

Joel said, “I’ve been wanting to kiss you since I saw you at nine o’clock this morning.”

Tanya’s cheeks turned even redder.

However, the next moment, he asked quietly, “Tanya, will you marry me?”

Tanya was about to reply when he went on. “Are you willing to be Mia’s mom?”

The bashful look on Tanya’s face froze, and her heart suddenly went cold.

‘Mom’...

Her child was still missing, yet she was enjoying bliss and happiness... She wasn’t worthy of having such happiness!

The thought made her suddenly push Joel away. All her shyness from just now disappeared. She looked at him in a panic and said, “I... I need to give it some thought. Why don’t you go for now?”

The suggestive atmosphere disappeared instantly.

Joel knew that it was because he had been too impatient. Even if he wanted Tanya to accept Mia, he had to persuade her bit by bit. He shouldn’t have mentioned that just now.

After all, asking someone to be their child’s stepmother was very impolite behavior.

He lowered his gaze. After spending the day together, he’d thought that Tanya was indeed fond of Mia. That was why he had brought it up.

He nodded, neatened his clothes, and walked out of the house.

As she looked at how lonely he looked from the back, Tanya wanted to explain and tell him that it wasn’t because she disliked Mia. She just... felt that she was not worthy of being happy. However, she couldn’t bring herself to say it.

—

Elsewhere, Justin took the rest of them back to the Smiths' manor. Cherry was a little reluctant to part with Nora.

Although Nora was always disciplining her—unlike her father who spoiled her and let her do whatever she wanted—Cherry still missed her Mommy.

However!

Cherry was very sensible. She knew that her brother needed Mommy more because he hadn't recovered from his illness yet! Thus, no matter how much she missed her mother, she had to go with her father.

Cherry hugged Nora's leg and said, "Mommy, I will miss you!"

Sensing how clingy her daughter was being, Nora squatted down and gave her a kiss on her forehead. "You can come whenever you want to see me."

Cherry nodded at once. Only then did she walk over reluctantly to Justin.

Justin reached his arms out toward Nora and suggested, "How about a goodnight hug for the two of us, too?"

Nora rolled her eyes at him. She wanted to refuse, but when she met the man's bottomless and aggrieved eyes, the words at the tip of her tongue did a U-turn. In the end, the resigned woman stepped forward and gave him a hug.

The man put his arms around her shoulders and hugged her a little tighter as if he wanted to embed her into himself.

His low voice rang out beside her ear. "Goodnight."

Nora pushed him away without saying anything.

Justin then took Cherry into the car and left the Smiths'.

After the car left, Nora finally whispered, "Tsk. Goodnight."

She then held Pete's hand in one hand and Mia's in the other and led them into the living room.

Mia's nanny was waiting for her in the living room. When she saw her, she took her hand, took her back to her bedroom, and got ready to clean her up and tuck her in bed.

Nora took Pete upstairs.

As soon as she arrived upstairs, the door to the guest room Lily was staying in opened. Lily was wearing pajamas and looked like she had just finished taking a shower, and was drying her hair with a towel. She said, "You're back, Anti."

Nora paused and looked at her. "Are you done with work?"

"Yeah."

Lily had been busy ever since she returned to the States. She hadn't even returned to the manor for quite a few days. She had finally finished her work that day and had just reached home and taken a shower. She was planning to have a good night's sleep later.

Unexpectedly, Nora took out two familiar-looking bags from her pocket the next moment.

Lily: "!!!"

The corners of her lips spasmed as she said, "Boss, this is exploitation. You know that, right?"

Nora coughed. Even she herself knew that she was being a little too much, so she offered, "How does a 20% pay increment sound?"

She paid Lily a very high salary. Her annual salary reached as high as several hundred thousands of dollars. A 20% increment would mean at least 150,000 dollars!

Lily immediately beamed at her and took the two bags from her. “No problem! Boss, what are you checking for?”

Nora yawned. “Mother-daughter relationship.”

Lily looked at Nora in surprise. “You found yourself another mom, Boss?”

Nora: “...”

Lily also felt that she must be mistaken. She glanced at Pete and asked, “You have another daughter? You gave birth to triplets back then?”

Nora: “...”

She coughed and said gently, “Get lost.”

“Okie-Dokie! I’ll get changed and work overtime right away! I’ll let you know the results tomorrow morning.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 408 - The Passionate Young Man

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lily went back to her room, changed, and went out in a hurry.

She had only just reached the car park and was about to open the car door when she suddenly caught a glimpse of a shadow in the distance. Startled, she exclaimed, “Ahh! It’s a ghost!”

Quentin: “...”

The corners of his lips spasmed. He walked into the open leisurely and said like the person afflicted with eighth-grader syndrome he was, “You’re calling me a ghost when I was obviously standing there like the live human I am? Are your eyes bad?”

Lily, who was bolder than a lot of girls, took a close look at Quentin, upon which her eyes immediately lit up. She asked, “... Who are you? Why did you become a thief when you’re so good-looking? Why aren’t you being a good person instead? This is the Smiths’ manor, you know!”

“... Who do you think you’re calling a thief?” Quentin retorted.

Lily’s eyes widened. The tall girl was not afraid of the man at all. “You, of course! If you are not a thief, then why are you hiding in the shadows so sneakily? I’ll tell you this—I can take out weaklings like you three at a time by myself!”

Quentin: “??”

Who was she calling a goddamn weakling?

There must really be a problem with the woman’s eyes!

He was about to speak when Lily took a good look at Quentin with the help of the car lights. Her eyes immediately brightened and she asked, “Say, why are you straying from the right path when you’re such a good-looking man? Shall I help you out? ”

Quentin: “?”

Lily coughed and asked, “Do you have a girlfriend?”

Quentin: “??”

Wasn’t the topic of their conversation changing a little too quickly?

How did they suddenly start talking about whether he had a girlfriend or not?

His brows drew together and he answered, “No, I don’t.”

Lily said excitedly, “I don’t have a boyfriend, either!”

Quentin: “...”

The corners of his lips spasmed as Lily asked, “Do you earn a lot from stealing?”

Quentin: “??”

“It definitely isn’t a lot, right? How about this, why don’t you date me? I can give you money and a place to live in. I can even buy you a house in New York. I have an annual salary of hundreds of thousands of dollars! That’s nearly a million dollars, you know!”

Quentin: “!!!!”

The corners of his lips spasmed again. He felt a little like the conversation was getting more and more far-fetched.

Was she hitting on him???

He stared at Lily. If she weren't Big Sister's assistant, Quentin would have punched her and given her a taste of his martial arts prowess a long time ago!

He sneered, "Do you think I would be tempted by that bit of money you have?"

Lily thought for a moment. "Well, that's true. Someone like you who specializes in stealing from wealthy families must be a master thief, right? I guess that bit of money I have won't attract you, after all. By the way, I'm a doctor. If you get beaten up during a heist, you can come to me. Of course, if you ever decide to pull back and repent, and don't feel like working hard anymore, you can come to me then too~~"

Lily took out a business card from her pocket. When she looked back up to pass it to Quentin, the man was already gone!

Lily: "?"

He ran away so quickly?

What a shame! He was so handsome!

Lily sighed and got into her car.

—

Quentin was someone who belonged in the shadows.

Apart from a few of the Smiths, very few outsiders knew of him, even fewer had ever met him. Therefore, Lily had never seen Quentin before, despite having lived in the Smiths' manor for so long.

Quentin entered the living room. As he watched Lily drive off, he couldn't help but hold his forehead.

Never mind that his cousin was a weirdo... uh, a genius, but why was everyone around her also so weird?

The corners of his lips spasmed a little. It was at this moment that his cell phone vibrated. He took it out and saw that Nora had sent him a screenshot of a chat.

On the screenshot was a message that Lily had sent to Nora: “Boss, a thief just went into the Smiths’ manor. By the way, if he gets caught, can you avoid hitting his face? He’s pretty handsome, and he’s my type. It’d be a real shame if anything happens to his face!”

After sending him the screenshot, Nora also sent him a question mark.

Quentin: “!!!”

Quentin was livid!

How could he possibly be a thief?! How could an inferior creature like a thief possibly be worthy of his position as the ruler of the secret forces?!

His cousin’s assistant was simply too much!

—

Nora had received the message from Lily shortly after she brought Pete into the bedroom. When she saw her describe the thief as a very handsome man, and thought of how infatuated Lily had looked while looking at photos of young male celebrities in the past; she immediately knew that the ‘thief’ she was talking about was Quentin.

Lily had gone out too suddenly. Quentin had probably been in the car park, so the two of them must have bumped into each other.

After forwarding the screenshot to Quentin, she went to take a shower.

A short while later, she heard a light knock on the door. The person knocking on the door seemed very cautious.

Nora yawned and opened the door. It was Quentin. He asked sneakily, “Nora, are you going to the arena?”

Nora: “?”

She asked in surprise, “Didn’t we already ask for a day off yesterday?”

She was taking her kids to the amusement park, so she had informed the arena’s staff the day before that they wouldn’t be competing in any matches that day.

Quentin replied, “But Victor and the others have matches today. As they say, know the enemy, know thyself, and you will fight a hundred battles with no danger of defeat!”

Nora yawned again and said sleepily, “You’re right.”

Quentin was overjoyed. When he was about to say “Let’s go”, Nora clapped down hard on his shoulder and said, “Therefore, I’m leaving this arduous task to you! Only after you know the enemy inside out can you lead the two of us weaklings to beat them!”

Quentin: “!!!”

His lip corners couldn’t help but spasm. “Nora, if I recall correctly, you fell asleep at ten last night and only woke up at eleven this morning. You slept for a whole thirteen hours...”

Nora was surprised. “Really? In that case, I did indeed sleep an hour longer than usual.”

She yawned again.

For some reason, she had been feeling unusually sleepy lately.

Quentin: “...”

His lip corners spasmed again. “Alright, I’ll go!”

There was no other way. Among the three-man team, one was there just to make up the numbers while the other was Big Sister, who didn’t like to bother about such things. As such, the arduous task could only be entrusted to him now!

Quentin went to the underground tournament arena. The masked man walked around inside. After saying hi to Linda, he sat in the VIP dining area to watch the match.

There were three people on Victor's team.

They were already challenging Class E teams tonight.

However, they defeated their opponents in just ten minutes.

The emcee kept silent for a moment before he finally announced with displeasure, "Team Americans Are Incompetent wins!"

None of the spectators applauded or cheered.

Victor and his teammates stood in the ring and shouted arrogantly, "Is there no team that can fight in the USA?"

The people at the bottom of the ring shouted one after another:

"What are you being so arrogant about? You'll be up against Team Third In The World tomorrow! Victor, have you already forgotten how No. 028 sent you flying with a kick?"

"Hahaha, exactly!"

"Team Third In The World! Team Third In The World!"

These two powerful teams had shone the brightest in the tournament this year. Even though the two teams looked equally matched, everyone had placed their hopes in Team Third In The World.

Upon the audience calling out his team's name, Quentin suddenly stood up in the crowd.. With a sharp look in his eyes, he stared at the stage. Then, he pointed his middle finger at Victor and the other two in the ring!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 409 - The Dna Test Results Are Out!

The action was full of contempt.

Quentin's actions made everyone excited.

Everyone jumped onto their feet and pointed their middle fingers at the ring.

The audience came from all walks of life, but all of them were already part of the working society. Some of them were fathers, while some were mothers. All of their youthful passion had long been erased by society.

It was so difficult to even hold the tournament itself. Additionally, from the way how Nora had defeated all her opponents with just a single move in the beginning, one could easily see that the contestants in the martial arts tournament didn't actually have any real substance or skill.

In the current age of material desires, martial arts might already have become a thing of the past a long time ago.

No one wanted to practice and train hard from a young age just for the sake of such a martial arts tournament. That was why the Quinn School of Martial Arts and the Irvin School of Martial Arts had such a high status in the pugilistic world—because they were the only two sects who had financial support. Not only did they not charge any tuition fees for practicing martial arts, but they even provided financial subsidies and wages to support the disciples and give them confidence in training.

Big Brother and Big Sister had, therefore, become these martial arts practitioners' faith.

Now, everyone's thirst for blood was aroused in this instant.

It was as if those days when they were still young and cocky were right before their eyes.

Everyone's eyes were fixed on the ring. All their indignation and humiliation from being insulted just now was gone, and only confidence and passion remained in this instant.

They firmly believed that the USA's martial arts would definitely beat the Benevolence Hall!

When Victor and the other two saw this, all of them frowned.

They, who were originally the victors, seemed to lose their momentum, and they got out of the ring pathetically.

“Get off the ring! You traitor!!”

“A treasonous traitor like you cannot live well for long!”

“A mere boxing champion actually dares to come here and provoke us? Team Third In The World will teach you how to behave!”

Amidst everyone's shouts, Quentin looked at Victor and the other two from the back, his expression turning serious.

From observing the match just now, he realized that Victor and his teammates had become stronger again.

Given how strong they were, unless Big Brother joined his team, with just him and Big Sister, they might not actually be able to win.

With that in mind, Quentin lowered his head, picked up his cell phone, and sent a text message to Nora: ‘Nora, Victor and his teammates have become stronger again. Why don't we cooperate with Big Brother?’

After sending the message, he continued typing: ‘They were simply too arrogant just now. We must kick their a*s*s tomorrow night!’

After sending the message, he looked around. Seeing that there wasn't anything else happening anymore, he got ready to go home.

Suddenly, he received a text message: 'Boss, someone is investigating Ms. Nora again.'

The message was from someone in the Smiths' secret forces.

Quentin's participation in the tournament was his private affairs, so he hadn't brought them with him.

Quentin had instructed the Smiths' secret forces to keep an eye on Nora and protect her during this recent period of time. They were to report to him immediately if they found any unidentified people looking into her.

He replied: "I'm coming over right away."

He had to ensure his cousin's safety.

It might be Big Sister he was protecting, but it only meant that all the more nobodies like them shouldn't be bothering her!

After sending the message, he headed to the car park.

—

After Victor and his teammates got off the ring and got into the car, they received a call from Abigail.

"How did it go tonight?" He asked.

Antoine, the bald man, replied, "Piece of cake. It seems like they are very satisfied with Team Third In The World, though, and threatened to have them teach us a lesson tomorrow."

Abigail sneered, "Team Third In The World? The name alone already sounds weak. If they can only take third place, then isn't the champion title still ours in the end?"

Antoine burst out laughing at once. He looked very confident.

Victor, who was listening to their conversation, couldn't help but be a wet blanket. "That woman in the red dress from Team Third In The World is Big Sister."

His one-liner threw everyone in the car into silence.

Seemingly sensing the others' silence, Abigail sneered, "Has a mere woman frightened you guys witless? Victor, you have to believe in yourself. You're definitely a match for her now! Even if Big Brother joins them, the three of you can still beat them!"

Victor lowered his head. "I find that difficult."

Antoine sneered, "What's the matter with you, Vic? Are you actually putting yourself down at a time like this? No wonder people say that you Americans are incompetent. All of you are so thin and weak. It's obvious at a glance that none of you can put up a fight!"

The last person among the team of three was also a foreigner. When he heard what Antoine said, he looked at Victor brazenly and burst out laughing. "Hahahaha!"

Victor's face darkened. "How about a match between you and I, Antoine? I will show you who the strongest in this team is!"

Antoine sneered and said nothing.

Antoine was very strong. His strength was on par with Victor's. However, Victor fought in a way that threw caution to the wind and disregarded his own safety. How would he possibly dare to fight him?

Besides...

Antoine found himself a fantastic excuse. "We will be up against Team Third In The World tomorrow. We should not be having an internal conflict at a time like this."

Victor wanted to speak, but Abigail interrupted him. “Vic, in your opinion, what are our chances of beating them?”

Victor slowly replied, “70 – 30.”

Antoine broke into a grin at once. “That’s more than enough! Victory is pretty much in the bag with a 70% chance of winning.”

Victor raised his head. The look in his eyes was cold as he said, “What I meant was, our chances of winning are 30% and 70% theirs.”

Antoine narrowed his eyes.

Victor said, “I’m the only one who has fought Big Sister before in the tournament. She isn’t to be underestimated. Moreover, she hadn’t used her full strength when she was beating me up that time. No one knows how strong she really is. Besides, there’s also the crazy Smithin helping her out. The man wearing the black mask may look useless, but what if he is also a martial arts expert? We may not necessarily be their match!”

His analysis made a lot of sense. At last, Antoine and Abigail didn’t dare to mock him anymore.

Abigail suddenly asked, “Vic, do you want the third dose of the drug?”

Victor’s head whipped up. “Yes!”

Dim light flickered in the man’s eagle-like eyes. He had to have it!

Abigail said, “Then think of a way to win the match. Or else, you can forget about ever getting the third dose!”

Victor clenched his fists.

He suddenly thought of something and said, “I have a plan...”

When he finished, Abigail and Antoine kept quiet for a while. The next moment, Abigail laughed and said, “Not bad, you have potential, kid! Do as Vic says!”

—
At the Smiths.

As Nora's mind was on Lily's test results, she practically opened her eyes and woke up the very instant Lily's message came.

Next to her, Pete even glanced at her in surprise because she had woken up.

Nora stretched and turned on the phone. Sure enough, she saw the message from Lily: "The test results are out. I've emailed them to you."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 410 - Blood For Blood!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Lily was very fast and efficient.

Nora was about to open her email inbox when violent knocking suddenly came from the door.

Nora was surprised.

Pete slipped out of the bed and ran over to open the door. It was Joel.

A puzzled Pete asked, “What’s the matter, Uncle Joel?”

Joel was aware that Nora was always sleepy, and needed twelve hours of sleep a day. Why would he come over and disturb her rest when it was only seven o’clock in the morning?

Joel asked, “Is your Mommy awake? Can you wake her up? I have something very important to talk to her about.”

Nora, who had also realized the urgency of the matter, quickly changed and walked over. “What’s wrong, Joel?”

Joel frowned when he saw her. He asked, “Quentin is missing. Did you ask him to do anything for you?”

Nora’s heart sank.

At last, she understood why Joel had come over so early in the morning.

A grave look came over her countenance. “I didn’t, but he went to the tournament arena last night.”

She picked up her cell phone at this point, upon which she saw the two messages that Quentin had sent her some time past eleven o'clock the previous night. However, the two messages didn't give her any clues.

She frowned. "Might he be resting somewhere?"

"No."

Joel spoke with certainty. "Quentin's identity is special. There aren't many people who know of his existence. Because he only comes into contact with the people from Smiths' secret forces, and everything he does is dangerous, he has to report his itinerary to me on time every day. When I didn't receive his report this morning, I knew at once that something has gone wrong. It was only when I contacted the people from the secret forces that I found out Quentin had already lost contact with them last night!"

The previous night...

Nora wanted to ask more questions, but Joel had turned and gone downstairs. "I'm going to the arena."

Nora did not dare to waste any time. She grabbed the baseball cap hanging at the side and put it on. Then, she took a face mask and followed him downstairs.

A man was standing downstairs respectfully. He looked relatively young, but he had an anxious look on his face at the moment. When he saw Joel coming downstairs, he asked anxiously, "Mr. Smith, is there any news about Boss?"

Joel shook his head.

Nora, however, paused slightly. By calling him 'boss'...

He must be Quentin's subordinate.

She immediately asked, "When did Quentin last contact you?"

The subordinate replied, “At 11 o’clock last night. After I told him that I had something to report to him, Boss said that he would come over immediately. I waited and waited, he didn’t show up. Where did he go?”

Nora frowned. “Has this ever happened before?”

Joel and the subordinate both replied, “Never!”

Although Quentin looked like he had eighth-grader syndrome, he was actually a very responsible man deep down. Otherwise, he wouldn’t have served the Smiths as a shadow hiding in the dark for so many years.

He handled things carefully and cautiously and had never made any mistake all these years.

But the more that was so, the deeper Nora’s heart sank.

To be honest, she was hoping that Quentin had just irresponsibly gone to an Internet cafe somewhere to have fun, or hidden somewhere to sleep in.

She took a deep breath and exchanged a look with Joel. She said, “Let’s split up and look for him.”

Joel nodded.

Nora left the manor and drove straight to the arena. At the same time, she also made a call to the Quinn School of Martial Arts. It was Lucas, the person in charge of the Quinn School of Martial Arts’s general affairs, who picked up. He said, “You’re looking for me this early in the morning, Big Sister? What a rare occasion this is...”

But before he could finish, Nora had already interrupted him. She instructed, “Assemble everyone in the Quinn School of Martial Arts and launch a city-wide search for Quentin! Aka Smithin from the tournament!”

Lucas was taken aback. “What happened?”

Nora replied, “I suspect something has happened to him.”

Lucas's voice immediately turned grave. He said promptly and decisively, "Understood."

Lucas then said, "I will also contact the martial arts association and ask their staff to search for him. We also have a lot of people taking part in the tournament. Someone may have seen something..."

"Okay. Let me know if you find out anything. Keep your phone reachable at all times!"

"Understood."

After hanging up, Nora thought for a moment and called Justin.

New York was the Smiths' and the Hunts' turf.

Everyone in the Smiths was already out looking for Quentin. If the Hunts also dispatched their men, they would have an even higher chance of finding Quentin.

She wasn't going to care about whether it would embarrass the Smiths or the Hunts at a time like this!

Justin picked up the call very quickly. He was likely very awake. He didn't sound as teasing as usual, either. Instead, his voice was low and deep as he asked seriously, "What's wrong?"

The fact that Nora had woken up so early was indicative that something must have gone wrong.

For some reason, Nora calmed down when she heard his voice. She stared ahead of her and slowly replied, "Quentin is missing."

Justin was undoubtedly one of the few who knew of Quentin's existence.

Moreover, Justin and Quentin had fought side by side so many times, so he was even more familiar with him than other people.

Justin didn't say anything unnecessary. He immediately said, "Don't worry, I will send everyone out to search for him right away."

"Yeah."

After Nora responded, she hesitated for a moment and kept quiet.

Justin asked, "Are you suspecting something?"

Nora nodded, her eyes staring straight ahead of her in a daze. "He went missing at the tournament, but there are far and few there who can beat him in a fight. It's very likely that he has been abducted by people from the Benevolence Hall."

Upon hearing that, Justin immediately said, "I'll head to the Benevolence Hall and ask for him!"

"Okay."

At this point, Nora hesitated for a moment before she finally asked hoarsely, "Will... he be alright?"

If the Benevolence Hall wanted the champion title in the tournament, they could just attack any of the members of Team Third In The World when they were alone!

This was what Nora had concluded after analyzing the situation!

She suddenly became a little scared!

She was scared that something would really happen to Quentin...

After all, a whole night had already passed!

When she thought of that, she said, "He asked me to go with him to observe the match last night, but I didn't..."

For the first time, she hated the way she needed so much sleep, leading to her not being by his side.

Perhaps because he could sense what she was thinking, Justin said, “The three of us aren’t joined at the hip. There will always be times when we are alone.”

Nora knew that, but she simply couldn’t convince herself otherwise.

She stared straight ahead of her, bloodthirsty murderous intent forming in her eyes. “If anything happens to Quentin, I will make the Benevolence Hall pay for it in blood!”

Justin did not comfort her. He merely said, “I will do it with you.”

Half an hour after all their forces were dispatched.

Nora finally received a call from Justin. “We’ve found him.”

His voice was so low that Nora’s heart sank. For some reason, anxiety arose in her.

Her voice was practically trembling as she asked, “Where is he? Is he... still alive?”

Chapter 411 - Saving Him!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Screeeeech!

Nora drove the jeep like it was a sports car, and rushed to the Hunt Corporation's Hospital Finest. She went straight to the VIP operating room.

Quentin had been placed on a stretcher and was being carried into the operating room.

Although the man was already 25 years old, perhaps because he had been living in the shadows all year round, he was pale and looked very much like a young teen.

However, the eyes of the man, who was somewhat of an eighth-grader and whose chin was always lifted high, were closed. His long eyelashes were covered in crusted blood.

His arms and legs on either side of his body were bent weirdly. It was obvious at first glance that someone had broken his bones.

The man's chest didn't move as he lay there, as though he wasn't even breathing anymore.

Nora couldn't catch her breath at that moment. She slowly came forward.

"He's still alive."

Justin repeated what he had said on the phone. However, those three words were only a reflection of his current state.

Nora knew without even looking that all the bones in Quentin's limbs were probably broken. The bloodstains on his chest also indicated that several of his ribs were broken.

The young man merely lay there, but his appearance made the hearts of everyone present break.

Nora's jaw tensed up. As she took step after step and walked over, she practically shouted, "Who did it?"

Justin said, "We don't have any evidence."

They all knew very well who had done it, but since Abigail had the guts to do it, it meant that he had already done all the prep work and left no traces.

Nora clenched her fists.

At this point, Joel, who had been informed, also hurried over. When he saw Quentin, murderous intent instantly filled the man's eyes.

Was the reason why Joel didn't always bring eighteen bodyguards with him whenever he was out like Justin that he was not in as much danger as Justin?

Of course not!

As the heads of the two biggest families of New York, Joel and Justin were of equally high status and power! He had affected so many people's sources of income over the years that one couldn't even keep count anymore.

People who wanted him dead were everywhere!

The only reason why he could be so relaxed despite that was that he had Quentin secretly protecting him!

Quentin was a member of the Smiths' secret forces, but he was also one of the brothers he trusted the most!

Joel stared hard at him. Then, he suddenly looked at Nora and said, "Save him first. We'll talk later."

"Yeah."

Given how serious his injuries were, they were fortunate that Nora was here, because ordinary doctors wouldn't have been able to treat his injuries at all! Nora took a deep breath and closed her eyes.

She tried her best to tell herself to keep calm.

Her hands, which were shaking from fury, slowly regained their steadiness. Her breathing also gradually became even.

Two minutes later, she finally opened her eyes suddenly and said straight to Joel, "Tell my medical team to come here right away!"

Only the most professional personnel could treat injuries as serious as Quentin's!

Quentin took top priority now!

Joel nodded.

Nora had already taken the lead and entered the operating room.

Quentin's bones all over his body were broken, and he was severely comatose. If they didn't fix his joints and clear the congested blood in his chest in time, Quentin's life would be at risk!

In the operating room.

When Lily entered, she saw her stony-faced boss operating on the patient seriously.

On the ECG monitor at the side, the patient's heart rate had already dropped to 40... 38... The ECG was sending out warning beeps.

"The patient's heart rate is decreasing!"

The insensible young nurse at the side exclaimed.

However, they couldn't perform CPR on Quentin because his ribs were broken! If they applied any more pressure there, the broken bones might pierce straight through his heart!

“It’s hopeless...”

The doctor at the side murmured.

Lily was also astonished. He was the most seriously injured patient she had ever seen. He looked as if he had been run over by a truck. There probably wasn’t any part of him that wasn’t wounded!

This was definitely the hardest challenge in Anti’s career so far!

Nora ignored them all. Instead, she ordered, “Lily, the cardiotoxic drug!”

Lily finally came back to her senses. She took out the cardiotoxic drug that her boss had developed, and injected it into the drip bottle. The cardiotoxic drug she was using was different from the one commonly used in hospitals.

As soon as she injected the drug into the bottle, Quentin’s heartbeat stabilized at 40...

As Nora made incision after incision and dealt with his injuries, Quentin’s blood slowly flowed out of the wounds. Lily opened up another two blood transfusion channels in time.

Blood bags were constantly being sent in to the Hospital Finest’s blood bank.

After the operation, when Lily calculated how much blood was involved, she found that they had actually changed the entire blood in Quentin’s body twice!

Quentin also went into critical condition five times during the operation, but Nora calmly pulled him back from the otherworld each time! She made countless incisions and joined countless bones for him.

Innumerable metal nails were inserted into Quentin’s bones to keep them in place.

The operation lasted from nine in the morning to half-past ten at night...

Thanks to Nora's solid skills, Quentin managed to survive.

However, he was not out of danger yet. After exiting the operating room, he was pushed into the ICU, where the hospital personnel monitored his condition 24 hours a day.

When Nora finally walked out of the operating room, she was close to collapsing.

Perspiration flowed out of the unbreathable surgical gown at the bottom. Her trousers were soaked through, and her shoes were wet. All of this showed that she hadn't actually been as calm and relaxed as how she had seemed.

The moment she came out, Justin held her arm and supported her.

He made her sit on a bench in the corridor and handed her a chocolate bar and bread that could quickly replenish her energy.

Nora took off her gloves, picked up the bread with her fingers that had turned pale from being soaked in sweat, and chomped into it fiercely.

Joel was currently directing his men to surround the Benevolence Hall. However, Abigail had called the police, so the police were protecting them at the moment. Unless the Smiths could produce evidence, they were not allowed to do anything rash.

Joel slammed his fist into the wall. "How dare he? How dare he?!"

No one dared to offend the Smiths or the Hunts in New York, especially in ways like this that tortured one to death!

The frowning Justin was also puzzled.

To be honest, when Nora had asked him in the day if Quentin would die, he had replied, "No, he won't. If they just want to win the tournament, breaking Quentin's leg would do. There isn't any need for them to create any extra trouble. If they kill him, this would thoroughly turn into a life and death feud!”

But based on Quentin’s appearance, the Benevolence Hall had clearly shown no mercy!

Justin was also terribly perplexed—because Quentin’s injuries didn’t look like they wanted to kill him. Rather, it looked more like... they were interrogating him!

That’s right! Such tricks were used only when one was interrogating criminals!

Breaking one’s bones inch by inch to make them talk...

Just as he and Joel were both perplexed, Nora looked at them and said, “I know what’s going on.”

Both men looked at Nora.

Nora swallowed the last bite of the bread. The bread tore her throat, but it was as if she didn’t feel it at all.

“When I was trying to save Quentin, he woke up for a moment and said a few words to me.”

Chapter 412 - Revenge!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora then said word by word, “During the surgery, Quentin woke up for a moment and said a few words.”

Her gaze was a little straight.

The fingers were connected to the heart.

When she was bandaging Quentin’s hand, he had woken up from the pain. When he opened his eyes, he did not even seem to know where he was.

However, after seeing Nora, his lips curled up. He opened his mouth and wanted to say something, but because of the injuries on his chest, he could not say anything.

However, Nora could read his lips.

He said, “Nora, they interrogated me about who Big Sister is, but I didn’t say anything.”

At that moment, Nora’s heart clenched tightly!!

During the operation, she was actually thinking about it.

Benevolence Hall knew the Smiths’ power. Actually, there was no need to fight the Smiths head-on in New York. If they wanted to win the martial arts competition, they only needed to break one of Quentin’s legs or cripple him.

After the incident, if no one died and they still had dealings with each other, they could not go overboard.

But Quentin was too miserable.

She could almost imagine the person stepping on Quentin's finger and asking him, "Who is Big Sister? Are you going to tell me now?"

Quentin was still as arrogant as ever. He smirked and scolded the other party, "It's your grandmother!"

Crack...

His fingers shattered.

One inch at a time, one step at a time... Quentin had been abused for seven hours at night while she slept!!

His skin could never be repaired!

Nora closed her eyes.

She suddenly stood up and walked out.

When she passed by Joel, she felt like she had forgotten something. She seemed to have not read an important report this morning.

However, she could not care less now.

There was only one thought in her mind.

Revenge.

Blood for blood!!

—

In the underground arena.

The staff member waited anxiously at the door and craned his neck to look out.

For some reason, no one from team Third in The World came tonight.

They had arranged for the competition to be pushed back hour by hour, but the other party had still not arrived yet.

He took out his phone and called the three of them one by one, but none of their calls went through.

Another staff member glanced at the three people sitting in the VIP dining area and could not help but ask, “Could it be that they don’t dare to come?”

“No way.”

The staff member answered firmly.

Big Brother was among the three of them. How could he not come?!

However, as soon as he said that, the person beside him called Antoine couldn’t help but mock: “Tsk, it’s almost 11 PM. Don’t tell me team Third in The World has given up and doesn’t dare to come?”

He spoke in a foreign language, but this person had brought along an English translator tonight. Every time he spoke, the translator would shout, causing the surrounding people to look at him angrily.

Victor lowered his eyes and smiled. “We were too fierce yesterday.”

In between the lines, he was saying that team Third in The World had deserted the match at the last minute!

Everyone was furious as they looked at them and said, “What are you guys being so arrogant for? You’ll be beaten like a dog in the water later!”

“That’s right. Didn’t you just win a few rounds? Do you have to be so arrogant?!”

Antoine replied, “Why isn’t team Third in The World here then?”

These words made the people below begin to discuss.

“What’s going on with team Third in The World?”

“Did something delay them?”

“Yesterday, Smithin even gave them the middle finger. It’s impossible for him to not come with that arrogant attitude! Smithin has never been afraid of anyone since the competition began! Furthermore, he might not necessarily lose against them!”

“Is 028 afraid? Or is 820 afraid? What’s going on?”

“...”

Amidst the discussions, Victor stood up. “It’s already 11 PM. Today’s competition is about to end. If they still haven’t arrived, this should be considered a forfeit, right?”

Antoine smiled. “Of course! But that’s meaningless. Isn’t there anyone here who can fight?”

Victor narrowed his eyes and smiled. “Of course. Although we don’t have team Third in The World, we still have Big Brother, right? The venue is hot tonight, and there are still so many people waiting here. Why don’t we let Big Brother come out and compete?”

He did not say one-on-one.

This was because they definitely could not win in a one-on-one battle. But they were a team, and they were fighting in a team competition. Other than team Third in The World, they were not afraid of anyone!

The others immediately said, “Yes, get Big Brother out! Let Big Brother teach those three guys a lesson for not knowing the immensity of heaven and earth!”

“Big Brother! Big Brother!”

Everyone shouted.

When the staff member heard this, he became even more anxious. Where was Big Brother? Big Brother was in team Third in The World!

He smiled awkwardly and said, “Big Brother isn’t here tonight.”

“Not here?”

Victor interrupted him. “Are you serious? He was just taking a photo with someone in the lounge. Big Brother didn’t even participate in a competition this year. Could it be that he has become a mascot after not participating in a competition for a few years?”

The staff member: “!!”

Wasn’t that fake the mascot? He was even a Fortune Cat!

But what should he say now?

As he was frowning, Victor suddenly changed the topic and looked at Linda in the crowd. “Big Brother is hiding and doesn’t dare to come out. Why don’t you come up and spar with us, Big Sister?”

Linda, who was pretending to be Big Sister: “...”

Last time, she had been pushed off the stage.

If she did not go on stage this time, Big Sister’s name would probably be ruined by her.

Linda immediately shouted, “I’m sorry, everyone. I’m only a third-generation disciple of the Quinn School of Martial Arts, not Big Sister!”

The staff member: “...”

He was originally hoping for Big Sister to save the situation! But in the end, Big Sister was also a fake?!

What should he do now?

As he thought about this, Antoine sneered. “Tsk, Big Sister is fake. Big Brother is hiding in the lounge and not coming out. Is there anyone else in New York who can fight?”

Victor also stared at the time and slowly said, “Team Third in The World hasn’t arrived yet. Can we just assume that they have admitted defeat?”

The staff member looked at the time and said stubbornly, “There are still two minutes.”

Victor sneered. “Alright, you really won’t cry until you see the coffin!”

The rest all stared at the door.

Everyone’s chests were filled with anticipation and enthusiasm.

Team Third in The World...

Smithin, come quickly!

As time passed, the light in everyone’s eyes gradually dimmed.

Were martial arts really useless?

“There’s still half a minute!” Victor mocked. “Do you need me to count down for you?”

A hoarse female voice suddenly sounded from the door. “Countdown for your death?”

Upon hearing this, everyone turned their heads and saw a slender red-dressed girl slowly walk into the competition venue!

Chapter 413 - Big Brother And Big Sister Joining Forces!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

The girl was wearing a red dress, a silver mask, and a pair of white flats. As she walked like she was dragging something, her waist moved lazily, making her look especially solemn.

Everyone heaved a sigh of relief. “028, you’re finally here!”

The staff member looked behind her anxiously, but no one was following.

He was stunned. “Where’s Smithin and Big... 820?”

Only then did the others notice that she was the only one who had come. The other two members of Third In The World did not come over.

Nora lowered her eyes.

When she thought of Quentin’s appearance, her almond eyes flashed with coldness and bloodthirsty killing intent.

At this moment, there was another sound of footsteps.

Justin, who was wearing a black mask, walked in with big steps in a suit. When he entered and saw Nora, he heaved a sigh of relief.

“820 has arrived too!”

Everyone sighed. “Where’s the other person?”

In a team competition, one definitely had to rely on the advantage in numbers. With one less person, the chances of winning would be very small. Furthermore, Victor and the other two were all very powerful. Unless it was Big Sister and Big Brother who went on stage, it was absolutely impossible to win.

The staff hesitated as well. “Why is there one less person?”

Victor knew the truth and sneered. “Big Sister, I’m afraid Smithin won’t be able to come, right?”

Big Sister?

These three people caused a long uproar!

Everyone looked at Nora and whispered in disbelief.

“Is this Big Sister?”

“Oh my god, so she’s Big Sister!”

“No wonder, no wonder 028 could defeat the enemy with one punch! She’s actually Big Sister!”

“Big Sister! Big Sister!”

Everyone around shouted excitedly.

Nora clenched her fists and narrowed her eyes slightly. Although she had exposed her identity as Big Sister, she was still wearing a mask. It was nothing.

However, Victor’s words made her gaze turn even colder.

Initially, Quentin’s matter was only speculation and there was no evidence to confirm that it was done by Benevolence Hall. However, Victor’s words convinced her.

She lowered her eyes and walked towards the ring step by step.

Each step seemed to carry the weight of two people.

When Quentin woke up, he had said two words.

The first sentence was, “Nora, they asked me who Big Sister is, but I didn’t say.”

The second sentence was, “You have to win.”

Quentin took this competition very seriously because it not only concerned his personal honor, but also the entire martial arts world!

Nora’s gaze gradually became firm as she stood on the familiar ring.

Since he wanted to win, she had to win it for him!

She would bring Quentin’s anticipation and win a beautiful fight tonight!

When Victor saw this scene, he couldn’t help but laugh. He’d intentionally exposed the other party’s identity as Big Sister!

Because only by defeating Big Sister would they be able to defeat martial arts!

However, Big Sister was not enough!

Victor suddenly raised his voice and shouted, “Since Big Sister is already on the stage, where’s Big Brother? Aren’t you being rude if you don’t come out? Or is Big Brother worse than a woman and doesn’t dare to go on stage? Are you a man?”

Victor could not take it anymore. The pretty boy on the stage was not even worth mentioning.

If he didn’t call Big Brother out to join in the fun at this moment, wouldn’t he have schemed against Quentin for nothing?

If the three of them could defeat Big Brother and Big Sister, they would be famous!

The surrounding people looked at the lounge as someone shouted, “Big Brother, Smithin isn’t here. Make up the numbers for Third In The World!”

“Big Brother, it’s time to protect the honor of martial arts. Are you still not coming out?”

Big Brother... Big Brother... Big Brother...

Countless people were shouting the words “Big Brother”, making the entire martial arts arena hot.

However, the door to the lounge did not open for a long time.

Antoine couldn’t help but laugh. “The previous champion is terrified too. It looks like the three of us have really given martial arts some pressure. He’s really inferior to Big Sister! The men in New York are all so cowardly!”

“Is that so?”

Accompanied by Antoine’s mocking voice, Justin, who was following Nora, also went up the stage. His voice was very low and cold, but it was a little relaxed. “Later, I will make you unable to even call yourself a man.”

With this sentence, Justin stood beside Nora. The two of them stood side by side.

The moment he spoke, everyone fell silent and looked at him in confusion.

The staff explained, “Everyone, the person in the lounge is indeed a mascot. The real Big Brother is 820!”

“...”

“Whoosh!” Suddenly, the entire venue fell silent!

Everyone looked at the stage in disbelief.

028 was Big Sister.

820 was Big Brother.

This world was too unreal?!

But for some reason, everyone felt their blood boil!

It was as if as long as Big Sister and Big Brother were around, tonight's competition would be a small matter!!

Nora was also slightly shocked.

Under such grief and indignation, she turned to look at Justin.

There was shock and hesitation in her eyes.

Justin thought of her various opinions about Big Brother and couldn't help but explain softly, "Nora, I..."

Before he could finish, Nora interrupted him. "If you don't win the competition, I'll break your legs!"

"..." Justin choked. "Okay."

"Long live Big Brother!"

"Big Sister is mighty and domineering!"

"Destroy them! Kill them! Show them the essence of martial arts!"

No one in the crowd below called their names, but they began to shout.

In the beginning, only one or two people were shouting. But gradually, all the spectators joined in.

The sound was loud and deafening!

Everyone looked at the two people on stage.

It was unusual that Big Brother did not carry the child to participate in the competition today. The two of them stood there alone, and the handsome man and beautiful woman were especially eye-catching.

The two of them looked thin on the outside but were actually very muscular. In particular, Justin took off his clothes to reveal his muscular body.

The three people standing opposite them, including Victor, had all trained their muscles well. Especially Antoine, who was 1.95 meters tall and weighed 150 kilograms. Every step he took seemed to be able to make the arena tremble.

Justin and Nora stood in front of the three of them, looking very thin.

However, just the two of them gave the opponents enough pressure.

Victor never expected that the pretty boy holding a child in team Third In The World and skiving in every competition would be Big Brother!

Was he shooting himself in the foot?!

He looked at the other two.. Suddenly, Antoine smiled. “Tsk, do you not even have enough people to compete? How are you going to fight us?”

Chapter 414 - Revenge!!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora looked at him coldly. “The two of us can beat you until you kneel down and beg for mercy. You’ll be looking for your teeth all over the ground!”

These two words were the original words in Quentin’s text message.

Antoine sneered and said, “But this is against the rules.”

He looked directly at the staff member. “The other team doesn’t have enough people. We can’t compete! We have to disqualify them! This competition can only be considered our victory! Unless they can immediately find someone!”

The three of them had been confident that they would win.

But when they found out that the two people opposite were the current Big Brother and Big Sister, who were at the top of the martial arts world, they became afraid!

Therefore, these were just excuses!

His sharp gaze swept across everyone present. “But does anyone dare to come forward and die?”

Victor and the other two fought very intensely. Those who had fought with them had suffered heavy injuries. It would take a month for them to go back on stage.

After Antoine said that, he warned everyone: Whoever dares to go on stage will be killed first!

Antoine's words were actually very intimidating, and he was not talking nonsense.

The strengths of Victor and the others were formidable. Even if they were unable to defeat Big Sister and Big Brother, they were still able to easily stop them for a while.

Therefore, whoever dared to pool numbers with Nora and Justin had to be prepared to be beaten up violently!

Moreover, Antoine took a step forward and said, "If anyone dares to come on stage to make up the numbers—Victor, stop that Big Brother. Shaun, stop that Big Sister. Leave the one on stage to me! I'll let him see what it means to live a life worse than death!"

With that, he reached out and clenched his fists, making terrifying cracking sounds.

His savage gaze swept down.

He had thought that not many people would dare to go on stage.

However, he did not expect Linda to be the first to speak after he threatened them. "I... I'll make up the numbers!"

Nora looked at her in surprise.

Linda scratched her honest head. "I'm fat and resistant to beatings. Big Sister, take care of the others first before helping me! I'll definitely hold on until you save me!"

Following that, someone else said:

"Me too!"

"Me too!"

"Let me do it! Disciples of Irvin School of Martial Arts are agile and can run! I'll hide in the ring until Big Sister and Big Brother can save me!"

“I’m from the Quinn School of Martial Arts. I’ll take the beating!”

“Big Sister, choose me!”

“Big Brother, look at me!”

Everyone recommended themselves and extended their hands one by one, letting Nora and Justin choose.

At this moment, in the face of a powerful foreign enemy, Quinn School of Martial Arts and Irvin School of Martial Arts had set aside their years of grudges and united against the enemy!

But how could Nora let them come up and die?

She lowered her eyes.

They had originally planned to kill these three people in the ring to avenge Quentin.

After all, the ring had no eyes, and accidents can happen anywhere, especially in a fighting match!

They had all signed an agreement before the competition.

However, if she ended up harming her own people instead... then she would rather lose this competition and break the law to kill these three people!

She had just said that today would be their death date!

She glanced at Justin and had yet to speak when Justin nodded. “We can admit defeat, they won’t be able to get off this stage.”

Obviously, he understood her choice.

At this moment, Nora seemed to have returned to the moment when she was in the police station.

This man clearly knew how big his offense was, but he still helped her escape without hesitation to save Old Maddy.

She clenched her fists and wanted to say something, but Justin said indifferently, “Don’t worry and do it. I’ll make it even.”

In New York, in the underworld, Justin was not someone to be trifled with!

Nora nodded and suddenly said, “We admit...”

Before she could say the word “defeat,” she heard another voice say, “I’ll do it!”

The two of them turned their heads in unison and saw a stern-looking man walking into the ring. He was wearing an eagle face mask, and he seemed to have an aura of justice as he walked.

“007!”

Someone recognized him and exclaimed, “He was the runner-up in the previous competition! In the finals, he didn’t come because he had something on! He’s damn good!”

Everyone stopped fighting to go on stage. One by one, they took a step back and left the stage for the team. Then, they shouted, “Team Third In The World! Destroy them!”

“...”

The mood of the onlookers instantly reached its peak.

This made Victor and the others feel oppressed. The three of them looked at each other in panic.

The situation tonight had exceeded their expectations.

Before this panic could subside, the referee took the opportunity to shout, “The competition between team Third In The World and team Americans Are Incompetent begins now!”

With his whistle, Nora took the initiative to attack for the first time!!

Previously, during the competition, Nora was more passive. She would only attack when the other party came to attack her. However, at this moment, she charged at Antoine aggressively!

Antoine was the fiercest and most powerful of the three.

Therefore, he never expected that this little girl would choose him. He quickly came back to his senses and calmed down. Even if she was some Big Sister, her skills were probably exaggerated. How powerful could she be?

He sneered and welcomed her. The two of them punched and kicked at the same time, grabbing hold of each other.

Antoine couldn't help but laugh when he saw her slender left hand grip his fist. "I broke Smithin's arm with three hits. What about yours? Do you want to try?"

Nora's eyes narrowed suddenly. Her voice was calm. "Then let's try."

"Try what?"

Antoine froze.

Nora suddenly retracted her hand. "See how many hits I need to break your bones!"

With that, she suddenly sped up and hammered his arm!

The punch was powerful and fast, stunning Antoine. However, when the punch hit his arm, it only caused him a sharp pain, and his bones did not feel like they were being broken.

After being stunned for a moment, he shook his arm and sneered. "Tsk, Big Sister, did you not eat? Is that all you have?"

Nora ignored him. She turned around and kicked him again!

Antoine dodged, but unfortunately, this kick landed on the spot where he had been hit.

The double pain made his arm feel a little numb, but he still did not care. He thought it was just a coincidence.

But when the third hit came, hitting the same spot, Antoine finally seemed to realize something.

Nora became faster and faster. Antoine's body was huge, and he had already lost his ability to attack. He could only dodge in all directions. However, the fourth, fifth, sixth time... they still hit the same spot!

Antoine's arm hurt more and more. Every time he was hit, the pain would double...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 415 - Big Sister Is Angry!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Cold sweat broke out on Antoine's forehead.

It was only when the pain in his arm reached its peak that he suddenly understood something.

He had hit Quentin's arm three times, which meant that his arm had been broken after being attacked three times. However, this woman clearly wanted to attack him many times to double the pain!!

He was furious and roared, "Shaun! Come and help! Switch!"

His body was huge and happened to be restrained by the petite but agile Nora!

Victor and Shaun could barely take care of themselves at this moment because they had already been entangled by Justin and 007.

Justin's attack was very light. It was obvious that he had only held back Shaun and did not attack ruthlessly.

007 was a little puzzled as he fought back and forth with Victor. Victor was indeed an expert, but 007 was not someone to be trifled with, either. The winner could not be determined among the two of them in a short period of time.

Bam!

Crack!

Upon 25th hit on the same spot on his arm, the bones in Antoine's arm finally shattered! The pain suddenly hit him and made him sway.

Then, Nora seemed to have finally had enough. She flew up and kicked his head!

He only felt a buzzing sound and his entire head shook. Then, Nora punched his other arm ruthlessly!

Crack!

The bones in his arm cracked again!

Antoine was finally certain!

It was not that Nora could not knock him down with one punch. She was torturing him!

Antoine roared and flung his arm angrily as he rushed over to Nora. With his 150kg weight, he could still crush Nora half to death!

Before he could reach Nora, Nora had already attacked again. She kicked his calf heavily!

Crack!

Bam!

Antoine fell to the ground!

Immediately, Nora grabbed one of his arms and twisted it back forcefully!

Crack!

His two arms limped by his sides as he fell onto the ring!

Antoine struggled to stand up, but he could not move at all. He lay there like a lump of meat.

Blood had already spurted out of his mouth as he muttered, "I admit defeat..."

However, Nora acted as if she did not hear him at all. She kicked him ruthlessly again and kept kicking him at the side!

Crack!

Antoine's ribs were broken, and a bone had punctured his lungs. He could not breathe properly and fell to the ground twitching.

No one came forward to help him or save him in time.

After all, everyone knew that he could not be saved.

Nora no longer had the aftereffect of killing someone. She only glanced at Antoine coldly before turning around and walking toward Justin.

“Move.”

The woman's cold voice made Justin suddenly stop his fists and move away.

It was only at this moment that 007 and the audience realized that Justin had not been serious earlier because he wanted to leave this person to Nora!

Shaun clearly felt it too. He glanced at Antoine, who had collapsed on the ring, and looked at the woman in front of him again.

Her red dress made her look like a demon from hell!

All of his aura and courage seemed to have been sucked away in an instant. He turned around and ran. “I admit...”

Before he could finish speaking, Nora's fist had already arrived!

Bam!

Shaun's nose broke from the punch.

Nora grabbed his shoulder and asked softly, “Tell me, where did you hit Quentin?”

Quentin?

Was it that guy from last night?

Shaun choked and finally understood something. He shouted in fear, “I didn’t do anything. I only helped hold him down. I didn’t do anything! The ones who really did it were Victor and Antoine! I really didn’t do anything!”

However, the coldness in Nora’s eyes did not disappear.

She lowered her eyes and acknowledged him calmly. Then, she straightened her body and suddenly grabbed his arm.

Shaun widened his eyes in panic. He heard Nora slowly say, “Then I won’t let you move either.”

With that, the girl exerted force!

Crack!

Shaun’s arm was broken.

The tearing pain made him open his mouth and scream!

The people watching below seemed to understand something from their conversation. Linda couldn’t help but ask Justin, who was standing at the side, “Big Brother, what happened to Smithin?”

Justin lowered his eyes and said in a deep voice, “All the bones in his body have shattered. Although he managed to survive, he can’t feel anything below his neck.”

It was because of this that he understood Nora’s anger.

Quentin had been tortured for an entire night before his bones broke inch by inch!

“...”

Everyone fell silent.

Five seconds later, Linda's choked voice was heard. "Kill them!"

"Kill them!"

Everyone began to roar. "Kill them! Kill these animals!!"

Only 007 understood something and immediately looked at Nora. He warned, "Murder is illegal!"

"I know."

Nora replied calmly, but under 007's gaze, she did not say anything else or make any unnecessary movements. She gave Shaun a quick death by breaking his neck!

Shaun fell.

Nora looked at Victor in the end.

007 was stunned.

At this moment, he and Victor were both injured. He'd always thought that this was only a showdown of honor, but he never expected that two lives would be lost so easily.

Victor was already in a panic and had lost all will to fight. At this moment, the girl was expressionless. In his eyes, she was like an alluring goddess from hell!

He trembled and retreated. "I... I admit defeat. Don't kill me! Don't kill me!"

However, before he could reach the edge of the ring, he was blocked by Nora.

When 007 saw this situation, he wanted to stop them, but Justin stopped him. "Captain Ford, you have to follow the rules here."

007's pupils shrank. He knew that Justin had recognized him.

It was just like how he had already recognized Justin and Nora.

However, as a member of the special department, he could not watch Nora kill people!

He was about to say something when Justin stopped him again. "Accidents happen inside fighting rings all the time!"

Morris: !!

His brows drew together tightly.

Before he could say anything, Nora had already grabbed Victor. Before Victor could react, she had broken one of his legs and two of his arms!

It was only at this moment that Victor finally understood the difference between him and Big Sister.

No one could stop the furious Big Sister.

But he did not want to die.

He suddenly looked at 007.. He had just heard Justin call out 007's identity and immediately shouted, "Don't kill me. I... I can tell you a secret!"

Chapter 416 - Email!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Morris had come to the underground arena because he had heard that Victor's strength had increased drastically in a short time. Therefore, he had specially come to investigate thinking about the human experiments.

After Victor shouted, Morris understood what he meant. He immediately looked at Nora. "No... Big Sister, give me some face and spare his life!"

Spare his life?

Impossible!

Victor was the mastermind behind this matter!

Nora was thinking about it when Victor seemed to realize what she was thinking. He shouted, "Big Sister, it wasn't me. I did catch Quentin, but I just wanted to break one of his legs so that he can't participate in the competition! I have no grudges against him. Why would I be so ruthless and make the Smiths chase me down all over the world? It really wasn't me!"

Hearing this, Nora looked at him.

When Victor saw that Nora finally gave him a chance to speak, he continued, "Last night, the three of us stopped him. Later on, we received orders from our teacher to bring him back. That's why we brought him back!"

Victor collapsed on the ground. "Don't listen to Antoine's nonsense. I'm not the mastermind. I'm American, I know how powerful the Smiths are in New York. I still have my family here. At that time, I refused to let our teacher interrogate him no matter what. They chased me out..."

Victor cried bitterly. “I don’t even know what they did in there... When dawn broke and I went in again, Smithin was already lying there unconscious. He seemed to have stopped breathing. I was so afraid back then and even secretly sent him out... Otherwise, you wouldn’t have had the chance to find him!”

After saying that, he looked up at Nora and saw that the killing intent in the woman’s eyes did not decrease.

Victor looked at Morris in shock. “Captain Ford, save me. I know my teacher’s big secret, the big secret behind why I’ve improved so quickly! I can tell you everything!”

He crawled over to Morris.

However, halfway through, Nora stepped on his leg hard.

Victor looked at Morris with tears in his eyes.

Morris was silent for a moment before saying, “Big Sister, count it as me owing you a favor this time. In the future, I can help you do anything you want!”

Nora looked at him fixedly.

Morris looked at Antoine and Shaun again and said slowly, “I’ll get someone to bury this matter here.”

Nora knew that since she had killed two people here, it was a very troublesome matter.

Justin said that he could handle it, but he couldn’t handle it as well as Morris.

She pondered for a moment and looked at Victor again.

Victor trembled in fear from her gaze.

Nora lowered her eyes. “Where is your teacher?”

When Victor heard this, he heaved a sigh of relief. “In Benevolence Hall, its location is...”

He clearly told Nora the location of Benevolence Hall in New York.

Nora narrowed her eyes and kicked him, sending him flying under Morris’s feet. Then, she looked at Morris and said, “Remember to return him to me.”

In other words, she meant: Once you’ve interrogated him, he still has to be dealt with!

She could not forgive Victor.

If Victor had not mentioned teaching Quentin a lesson first, Quentin would not have ended up like this.

Those who bullied Quentin had to pay the price!!!

After saying this, Nora jumped off the stage and walked out.

Justin followed closely behind her and asked, “Where are you going?”

“Benevolence Hall.”

In the thick air of the arena, only these two light words were left.

—

At Benevolence Hall.

The girl stood there at the door, exhausted. Her body had already reached its limit, but her gaze was still firm. “Don’t you want to know who I am?”

Abigail stood in the courtyard and stared at the girl in front of her. “You’re not my match. Let your teacher do it.”

Nora lowered her eyes. “Then let’s give this a try.”

Half an hour later.

Abigail looked at his softened fist and knew that the girl did not kill him because this was in New York. Had they been overseas... He was uncertain what could've happened.

After seeing that the girl had defeated him, he walked to the side and picked up a ladder. Then, he climbed up and took down the plaque of Benevolence Hall.

He used his knee to hit the plaque hard, splitting it in two.

This was the consequence of losing a fight.

From then on, Benevolence Hall would never be able to raise its head in front of Nora.

Nora threw the plaque on the ground casually.

Abigail looked at the girl and mumbled, "Impossible, this is impossible... A little girl like you can't possibly have such strength and power!"

At this moment, the alarm outside rang.

Morris had interrogated Victor and found out about the human experiments from him. How could he not come and arrest Abigail?

As he watched the people from the special department wearing casual clothes enter the courtyard, Nora casually walked out.

Abigail suddenly shouted from behind, "I get it. You're the same kind of person as me! Hahaha, we're the same kind of people!"

Nora suddenly stopped in her tracks and slowly turned back.

Abigail stared at her, a vicious look in his eyes. Because his fists had been crippled, and his fingers were broken inch by inch, he was captured without any resistance. His head was pressed to the ground, and his hands were behind his back.

Abigail continued to stare at Nora. “They will find you. They will find you sooner or later. Hahahahahaha...”

His laughter suddenly stopped.

Nora frowned. The others immediately went forward and saw that Abigail was already bleeding from his mouth, nose, and eyes. He had stopped breathing.

Nora walked forward quickly. After checking his body, she shook her head at the people from the special department. “This is a lethal poison. It will act up in thirty seconds. We can’t save him.”

With that, Morris walked in.

He said with a serious expression, “Victor is crazy.”

Nora was taken aback. “What’s the matter?”

Morris shook his head. “I don’t know why. After they were arrested, the disciples recruited by Abigail all took some drugs to improve their genes. That’s why they became so strong. Then they suddenly went crazy. Our leads were cut off again.”

Nora lowered her eyes slightly and only said coldly to Morris, “That is your business.”

With that, she strode out.

Outside the door.

Justin and Joel stood silently in the night as if waiting for her return.

Nora walked towards them step by step.

Her footsteps were as heavy as lead. When she finally reached them, she looked at them. “I’ve taken revenge for Quentin.”

Joel nodded.

Justin held her arm.

However, Nora suddenly thought of something and looked at Joel. “By the way, my email...”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 417 - Arriving Late!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

“... is a very important email.”

It was at this point that Nora finally realized that she had immediately gone with them to search for Quentin after she woke up that morning, so she still hadn't seen the DNA test results.

She wanted to take out her cell phone to take a look, but as soon as she lowered her head, she blacked out.

Fortunately, Justin had already sensed her condition a long time ago, so he immediately held her waist and caught her. Otherwise, Nora might have fallen straight onto the ground the moment she lowered her head!

“Nora!”

“Nora!”

The two men exclaimed. Justin immediately picked up Nora in his arms while Joel took over the car from the chauffeur and sat in the driver's seat.

Justin got into the car. Joel stepped on the gas pedal and the car sped off. It usually took twenty minutes to get to the hospital, but Joel arrived in just five minutes.

Despite that, Justin was still urging him to go faster while they were on the way there.

When they arrived at the hospital, before the car even stopped, the doctors that Justin had assembled with a phone call were already waiting for them at the door.

Justin brought Nora out of the car in his arms and put her on the stretcher. It was only when they were taking her to the operating room that everyone discovered that her red dress was already covered in blood a long time ago!

She... Was she injured?!

Justin and Joel were awfully worried. They shouted at the doctor furiously, "Hurry up and check her injuries!"

At this point, Lily, who was watching over Quentin, came over. The woman wearing a white lab coat squeezed into the crowd and said, "Please step aside! Let me have a look at my boss!"

Justin gave a wave. The others stepped aside at once.

Lily stood in front of Nora. When she saw the bloodstains on her, she became even more anxious. "Why is she bleeding so much? Quick, take her to the operating room!"

The group of people entered the operating room with great momentum.

Five minutes later.

Lily walked out of the operating room. The moment she came out, Justin and Joel stood up and rushed up to her. "How is she?"

The corners of Lily's lips spasmed, seemingly not quite sure how she should answer him.

Justin became even more anxious. "What kind of injuries did she suffer? What are you in a daze for? Go and save her!"

"... She isn't hurt," said Lily.

Justin was taken aback.

Joel asked, "Then the blood on her is...?"

Lily's lip corners spasmed again as she answered, "She has bruises on her hands, likely from hitting people. But the blood on her dress is indeed someone else's."

"?? Then why did she faint?" asked Justin.

Lily was rendered speechless again. Then, she replied, "Boss fell asleep."

"..."

She thought back to the awkward scene in the operating room.

When she took out a pair of scissors and cut open her boss' clothes, she saw that the woman's skin was clean, fair, and delicate. There weren't any wounds on her at all.

In the end... she gave her boss a bath instead.

Yep.

Her boss was a very clean person. How would she be able to sleep peacefully without taking a bath?

Justin: "..."

Joel: "..."

The way she fell asleep was simply too abrupt. Who would suddenly fall asleep while talking?

Seemingly because she saw that the two men were perplexed, Lily coughed and explained, "She's out of energy. This has happened to her before, too, when we were abroad. This one time she performed a 15-hour-long operation, which ended way beyond her usual sleeping hours. After she came out of the operating room, it seemed like something had gone wrong with Cherry's grandaunt, so she stayed up for another long period of time. In the end, she fainted and fell asleep."

Upon hearing that it had happened before, Joel breathed a sigh of relief.

Justin, however, was still worried. “How long will she be asleep for?”

Lily thought about it and said, “My conservative estimate is two days.”

Justin frowned. “What about sustenance? She can’t stay hungry, right?”

Lily sighed. “You won’t be able to wake her up, especially when her exhaustion is even more serious this time. Her muscles didn’t relax even once. She’ll be out for at least two days. As for food, you don’t have to worry. I will transfuse nutritional supplements to her drip regularly.”

Justin: “...”

Joel: “...”

“Oh, there’s a piece of good news, by the way.” Lily said, “The person in the ICU that Boss asked me to observe is out of danger now. However, it will be difficult for him to ever stand up again in the future.”

How was one going to stand when all their bones were broken?

He was still alive only because Anti had personally operated on him, merged modern and traditional medicine during the treatment process, and given him medical treatment in time!

When Joel heard this, he lowered his gaze and heaved a heavy sigh.

—

This huge incident in the martial arts circle in New York was earth-shattering.

However, it didn’t impact the lives of ordinary people—or at least, only a handful of ordinary people were aware that Big Sister and Big Brother had defended the dignity of the martial arts scene in the States that night.

Even Tanya, Nora’s friend, didn’t know what had happened. As usual, she gave children classes in school, and also gave Mia an extra dance lesson in private.

When the Smiths came to pick up the three children from school in the evening after classes were over, there was no sign of Joel in the car. It was then that she finally realized that Joel hadn't contacted her at all the whole day.

Was it because she... had refused to be Mia's mother the night before?

Tanya lowered her gaze, her imagination running wild. Pete and Brandon got into the car and returned to the Smiths' manor.

Tanya took Mia to her place and gave her dance lessons.

At 9 pm, despite it already having reached Mia's bedtime, Joel still hadn't come over to pick her up.

Tanya left Joel a message.

Joel seemed busy at the moment. At last, he sent her the first message of the day: 'I have something to do today. Can Mia stay with you for a night?'

'Something to do'...

The man had never been one to force her to do anything against her will. Since he had said so, then something big must have happened.

Tanya hurriedly replied: 'No problem.'

She coaxed Mia to rest with her, and they fell asleep.

In the middle of the night, she suddenly felt like the area beside her was very hot.

She slowly opened her eyes and woke up. When she touched Mia's forehead, the burning heat made her realize that Mia was having a fever.

Tanya woke up in shock. Without saying anything, she picked up Mia, got into the car, and went straight to the hospital.

The doctor said it was a minor problem, and prescribed Mia medicine to bring the fever down. After Mia sweated it out, the fever gradually subsided. Tanya then sent a text message to Joel and told him the name of the hospital they were at.

Tanya watched over Mia the whole night in the VIP ward.

She waited until her fever subsided before she finally fell asleep on the edge of the bed.

Hillary and her mother were at the hospital for a checkup. While passing by a ward after the checkup, she noticed Tanya and the child on the bed.

Her eyes instantly widened. She charged into the ward and grabbed Tanya at once. “Tanya, what did you do to my daughter?! Why is she in the hospital? Are you trying to steal my daughter?!”

While speaking, she pushed Tanya, who had just woken up, and tried to drive her out of the ward. “I am the girl’s mother! Get lost!”

At this point, Joel, who had finally finished all the matters he had to deal with, arrived at last!

As soon as he went upstairs, he was greeted by the sight of Hillary pushing Tanya out the door.

Chapter 418 - Mia Is My Daughter!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Tanya was still dazed when Hillary's shout woke her up.

She hadn't slept all night because she was watching over Mia. She had only just started having some shuteye in the morning when she was woken up. After that, she was pushed out of the ward.

It wasn't until she was outside the ward—and when the doctors and nurses, both inside and outside, as well as the patients' family members all cast strange looks at her—that she finally reacted.

Hillary did not go to Mia right away. Instead, she continued to verbally abuse Tanya.

“Are you also going to steal my daughter when you've already stolen my man? Tanya, why are you so shameless?!”

“Don't you even think about taking my daughter from me!”

“She's my daughter! Mine!”

Her words made people who didn't know the full story look at them. Everyone looked at Tanya reproachfully.

Some people even pointed at her as they spoke.

“She must be someone's mistress, right?”

“Ugh, people who destroy someone else's family are so shameless!!”

Of course, there were also some reasonable people who spoke up for Tanya.

“... It's not easy to be someone's stepmother these days!”

“Yeah, she watched over that little girl the whole night. I thought they were mother and daughter, but as it turns out, she’s actually her stepmother?”

“... It’s pretty nice that a stepmother can do as much as she did!”

“...”

Be it positive or negative, all the comments made Tanya feel as if her cheeks were burning, and she subconsciously wanted to flee.

But she couldn’t.

Mia was still here. Joel had entrusted her with Mia. She didn’t know what exactly had happened between Joel and Hillary, but she knew that Mia didn’t like Hillary, and was wanted to stay with Joel instead.

She looked into the ward.

Hillary’s loud yells had woken Mia up. The little girl rubbed her eyes and sat up. When she saw Hillary, she tensed up.

She was so scared that she turned as pale as a sheet. She called out weakly, “Mommy, don’t be angry... My teacher is not a bad person...”

Her eyes were all red. She wanted to explain on behalf of Tanya, but she looked terrified.

However, Hillary ignored her and continued yelling at Tanya. “Do you feel a great sense of accomplishment because you stole someone else’s man? Why are you so shameless? You’ll die a terrible death! Your whole family will die terrible deaths!”

Her whole family?

The look in Tanya’s eyes sharpened. “Don’t forget that the person next to you is also part of my ‘whole family’.”

That’s right, the person next to Hillary was none other than Tanya and Hillary’s mother, Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Jones, who was holding Hillary, was also glaring at Tanya. Upon hearing what she said, she snapped, “I don’t have a daughter like you!”

Hillary sneered, “Look at how abominable the things you did are, Tanya! Even your mother won’t acknowledge you anymore! If you have even the slightest bit of morals and ethics, then leave this place and leave Joel alone! Give him back to me!”

Tanya looked at the terribly anxious Mia on the bed. She didn’t want to argue with Hillary here, so she said, “If there’s anything you want to say, then say it at home. Let’s stop for now.”

However, this only made Hillary think that she was scared. She shouted furiously, “Why should we talk about it at home? I didn’t do anything shameful that I need to hide. Is it because you also find your own actions shameful? Why didn’t you think of how shameful your actions were when you did it? Why didn’t you think of how your actions are not fit to be brought up in public when you stole my husband?”

Tanya clenched her fists. “Hillary, who exactly took him away from whom?!”

Her words made Hillary choke.

However, Mrs. Jones spoke up at this point. “Tanya, how can you make up such lies? Hillary was obviously also in a relationship with Joel back then! Our families were already planning to let them bond with each other! Who do you think you are? Hillary is the Joneses’ eldest daughter while your father is a piece of trash! He’s a bastard! You and Mr. Smith are from two different worlds right from the start!”

“…”

Tanya stared at the woman in front of her.

It had been five to six years since she last saw her. She looked as charming as ever and didn’t seem to have changed much. Even the way she defended and protected Hillary so indiscriminately was still the same as before.

She smiled wryly and lowered her head.

She had never understood why a mother like her existed.

It was almost as if she found pleasure in belittling her own daughter.

In fact, she was even dubious about whether she really was her daughter or not?!

Tanya clenched her fists. She suddenly raised her head and looked at her again. Just as she was about to say something, Joel's sharp, icy-cold voice traveled over. "Is that so? How come I didn't know that there's a marriage agreement between the Smiths and the Joneses?"

As his voice rang out, he finally strode over quickly and stood beside Tanya.

He had waited anxiously outside the operating room during Quentin's operation in the day, and also accompanied Nora when she went to take revenge the night before. As a result, he hadn't had any shuteye for a whole thirty hours. The whites of his eyes were all bloodshot at the moment.

The violent aura around him because of Quentin's accident had yet to dissipate. Thus, despite just simply standing there, there was a bloodthirsty and murderous aura all around him, which made everyone around him fall silent and not dare to speak.

The way he looked frightened Mrs. Jones, who blanked out for a moment. Then, she stammered, "M-Mr. Smith, why are you here?"

Joel looked down at Hillary and stared at her. "You should have been abroad by now, shouldn't you?"

Mrs. Jones hurriedly explained, "Hillary was unwell, so I brought her here to the hospital for consultation. We're thinking of sending her abroad once she recovers."

Joel sneered, "There are hospitals abroad, too. Of course, if the Joneses don't have such connections abroad, the Smiths are very willing to help."

After speaking, he glanced at Tanya, who was next to him. Her eyes were all red. Then, he glanced at Mia, who was looking at him from the bed a distance away with Hillary standing in between them.

The little girl's eyes had turned all red from fear. The way she looked so helpless and at a loss as she sat on the bed made his heart ache.

Even Tanya knew that they shouldn't be disturbing Mia's rest at the moment.

That was why she had been saying that they should talk at home instead.

Yet Hillary, Mia's mother, hadn't noticed Mia's emotions and reactions—because her attention was fully on Tanya!

A mother like her... The look in Joel's eyes turned even colder.

He turned to his secretary and assistant beside him and said, "Since the Joneses are so tardy in this matter, you guys can provide Ms. Jones some assistance. She should be out of the country within an hour. I don't want to see her in New York ever again."

His assistant nodded at once. "Yes, sir."

Joel then walked straight into the ward.

Hillary and Mrs. Jones had the guts to get physical with Tanya, but they didn't dare to stop Joel. Both of them gave way to him in silence.

Hillary watched as Joel picked Mia up and carried her in his arms. She stared at how resolute the man was, and how handsome he still was, just like how he had been back then. She watched how he didn't cast even a single glance at her...

Despair suddenly welled up from the depths of her heart.

Yes.

Despair.

From beginning to end, the man had never once loved her.

The realization made fury overwhelm her rationale. Hillary suddenly screamed, “Tanya, haven’t you always disliked me since we were kids? You hate me, don’t you? Are you willing to raise my child for me now?! Hahahaha! What a joke you are!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 419 - Our Family Of Three~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Her words couldn't get any more hurtful.

Joel paused and looked at her in astonishment.

Hillary looked like she had lost her mind. The savage look on her face made her look just like a beast in captivity putting up one last fight. She said, "How about this? Give me Mia, the two of you can have your own children instead. Isn't that a good idea? This way, I won't pester you ever again in the future!"

Joel looked at Tanya hastily.

By asking her to be Mia's stepmother, he was actually letting Tanya down.

Tanya had also been resistant to the idea.

Just two days ago, she had even driven him away because of it.

Joel thought that this was something that Tanya couldn't get over.

Tanya's gaze, however, landed on Mia when she heard what Hillary said.

The words 'have your own children' was a blow that made her heart ache.

Nevertheless, she had noticed Mia reaching out with her little hand and grasping Joel's sleeve tightly upon hearing what Hillary said. In addition, her timid eyes also looked at her as though she was asking her for help—or begging her for mercy.

Mia didn't want to go with Hillary.

She was very resistant to the idea.

Seeing that neither she nor Joel was speaking, Hillary stretched out her hand to Mia and said, “Come here, Mia. Come with Mommy. They are all bad people. Do you know? They are all bad people! Once your teacher and your father have their own children in the future, they will abuse and bully you. Come with Mommy. Mommy will never bully you, right?”

Mia shrank back further into Joel’s arms.

Joel’s gaze, however, was on Tanya the whole time.

He would never give Mia to Hillary, no matter what.

But he wanted Tanya to say something right now...

However, Tanya merely stared at Mia. The emotions in her eyes were so complicated that even Joel couldn’t read them at all.

Joel’s heart slowly sank.

Tanya probably couldn’t bring herself to accept Mia yet.

Well, that made sense.

What made him think that he could ask her to treat the child born to the man she loved the most and the sister she hated the most as her own?!

Besides, Tanya was someone with a straightforward and decisive character. She had never been one to do such saintly things...

However, Joel had no choice but to be selfish this once.

He would never let go of Mia, nor would he let go of Tanya.

They were the two most important women in his life.

With that in mind, the look in Joel’s eyes became cold and unfathomable. He looked at Hillary and held Mia further away from her.

Just as he was about to speak, Tanya, who was behind him, said, “If I say that I don’t mind, will you believe me?”

Her words stunned everyone.

Hillary looked at her incredulously.

Even Joel was shocked.

Tanya looked at Mia and slowly stretched out her arms to her. “I like Mia. Although she is your daughter, she is not like you at all. The two of you are completely different!”

Tanya lowered her head.

She couldn’t even make herself dislike Mia, because the sight of her made her think of her own child.

Any woman who had had children before would be somewhat accommodating toward and forgiving of children. She wanted to make Mia happy.

When Mia saw Tanya stretching her arms out to her, for some reason, she suddenly felt warmth in the icy-cold world.

She reached out her own short little arms and went into Tanya’s arms.

When Tanya said what she did, she had let go of her negative feelings.

She believed that her child would be like her, and also hoped that all the children in the world could live happy and worry-free.

Tanya, who had let go of her negative feelings toward Mia, suddenly lifted her head. Her lips curled into a smile as she turned to Hillary. She said shamelessly, “Also, Mia is Joel’s daughter. Considering how much I love him, I would also love his daughter, so why wouldn’t I like Mia? You’re worrying too much about it.

“Oh, by the way, you don’t have to worry too much about Mia after you go abroad, because I will take good care of her. After all, we are a family of three. We are going to live happily together!”

Sure enough, Hillary became so furious that she started shaking all over.

For some reason, though, Tanya felt that Hillary’s emotions were a little odd. It was as if she was furious, yet also afraid of something. “You...! That’s utter nonsense! I am Mia’s mother!”

Tanya didn’t understand why she was emphasizing that over and over, but she nevertheless asked, “Mia, do you want me to be your mom?”

Mia’s eyes lit up and she nodded. “Yes!”

Tanya then looked at Hillary. “Mia is only five now. Say, five—or even ten—years later, will she still remember you, her biological mother?”

She let out an icy laugh after she spoke.

Immediately after, as if she were one of those bad-natured women who flaunted their power after doing bad things, amidst everyone gesturing at her and talking about her, and without any regard for anything, Tanya walked toward the exit with Mia in her arms. “Alright, Mia, your fever is gone. Shall we go home?”

“...”

Hillary was still shaking even after Tanya had left. Mrs. Jones, who was frowning, looked as if she didn’t know what she should do.

A short while later, Joel’s assistant walked up to Hillary. “Ms. Jones, your air ticket has been booked. Your flight is in an hour. You may come with me now.”

Hillary clenched her fists.

Yet she was at a loss for words as she stared at the assistant in front of her.

—

With a mighty momentum around her, Tanya went to the car park with Mia in her arms.

Joel followed behind her. As he watched the woman in front of him take firm and determined steps, a dazzling smile formed at the corners of his lips.

When they reached the car, he took two quick steps forward to Tanya's side.

Tanya turned to him and smiled triumphantly. "Did you see how Hillary looked just now? Hahaha! That felt so good! I haven't been this happy in so many years!"

Joel: "..."

A very self-aware Tanya sat in the backseat with Mia and left the driver's seat to Joel. She had a smile on her lips the whole time. "Mia, I made your Mommy really angry just now. Do you mind?"

Mia blinked at once. "No, I don't, Mommy!"

Tanya: "?!"

She suddenly choked on her saliva. After a few violent coughs, the astounded woman looked at Mia. "Y-you... What did you just call me?"

Even though Mia was looking at her timidly, she spoke very firmly. "You were the one who asked me to call you Mommy..."

Tanya: "..."

The corners of her lips spasmed in embarrassment. "No, I said that just now just to make Hillary angry. You... you... Don't take it seriously."

"Okay, Mommy," said Mia.

Tanya: "..."

She immediately looked at Joel, who was in the driver's seat. "What are you laughing at?! Aren't you going to do something about the little fellow?!"

The extremely thick-skinned Joel said, "We already agreed back then that when we have a daughter in the future, I'd be in charge of spoiling her while you're in charge of disciplining her."

Tanya: "!!"

It was only when the car started that she finally asked, "Where are we going?"

"The Smith manor." Tanya flushed crimson after he spoke.. Joel, who saw that she was about to refuse, immediately added, "Nora is injured. Before she fainted, she was talking about some email..."

Chapter 420 - Sponsor Grandpa Is Here!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

As expected, it diverted Tanya's attention. "Nora is injured? How did she become injured? Were you busy the whole day yesterday because of this? What exactly happened? What email are you talking about?"

Seeing that she wasn't refusing to go to the Smiths' anymore, Joel breathed a silent sigh of relief. Then, he slowly recounted what had happened the day before.

He didn't hide the truth from Tanya just because she wasn't part of their world.

Now that Tanya was going to be with him, she would have to face these issues sooner or later.

Upon hearing about the martial arts tournament, upon hearing how all of Quentin's bones had shattered, and upon hearing about how Nora had challenged the Benevolence Hall all by herself; Tanya frowned and ranted angrily. "They are too much! Nora did great by beating them all up! If I had practiced martial arts, I would definitely have gone with her to give them trouble, too!"

Then, she asked Joel accusingly, "Did you help her?"

Joel's lip corners spasmed. "I wanted to, but Justin stopped me."

Tanya was taken aback.

Joel thought back to the events from the day before. When Nora challenged the Benevolence Hall all by herself the day before, he had wanted to go in and help, but Justin had stopped him.

Justin had said, “She has a lot of pent-up anger right now, and needs to vent it out. Otherwise, she would feel very awful.”

Therefore, Justin had only kept Shaun occupied in the arena so that Nora could kill him herself, and thereby vent her anger.

Joel had been rendered speechless at that time.

The one who had been beaten up was his younger brother, too!! He also had a whole load of pent-up anger that he had nowhere to vent!!

However, he had still given the chance to vent to Nora.

He’d thought that Tanya would praise him after he explained what had happened, but unexpectedly, Tanya instead said, “Mr. Hunt did the right thing! Nora is not in good health. If she doesn’t vent her anger, it will definitely affect her health. Why are you fighting with her for it when you’re so strong and muscular?”

Joel: “??”

Suddenly, he felt like his status in the family in the future was now clear at a glance.

Tanya then asked, “Is Quentin really unable to stand anymore?”

Joel’s expression darkened at the question. “That’s what Lily said. I have contacted all the orthopedic specialists in the country, as well as the Hunts’ medical experts last night, but all of them said they couldn’t do anything about it after they came and saw Quentin’s condition.”

Tanya didn’t quite agree, though. “In my opinion, that may not necessarily be the case.”

Joel was surprised.

Tanya then said, “Ask Nora about it after she wakes up! Only she can give you the most accurate answer.”

Joel was puzzled. “Why do you say that?”

Tanya kept quiet for a while before she finally replied, “There was once someone broke my leg when I was abroad. All the doctors said that the bones were shattered, so I won’t be able to ever dance again. It was Nora who cured me.”

Joel was taken aback by her calm voice.

Joel had always known that Tanya’s life abroad during the past five years wasn’t a peaceful one. However, he never knew that someone had even broken her leg.

He suddenly thought of how deeply in despair Tanya, who loved dancing so much, must have been when she was told that she could not dance anymore.

But what had he been doing at that time?

He had probably been busy changing his daughter’s diapers at home!

It was Nora who had stayed by Tanya’s side, cured her, and gave her hope at that time!

When Joel thought of that, he suddenly felt that he still wasn’t treating Nora well enough. He should be treating her even better!

In the midst of his thoughts, Tanya asked, “By the way, what email were you talking about just now?”

Joel smiled and replied, “I don’t know. Before she fell asleep, she looked at me and said something about her email inbox. She didn’t say what was in it, though.”

Tanya instantly curled her lips disdainfully. “Tsk, to think she can’t even relay information properly! Besides, how would we know what her email account password is?! Sigh!”

The two of them arrived at the Smiths’ while they were talking.

The car had only just passed through the gates when they noticed a small van parking at the front. A few nurses and medical personnel got out of the van, and carefully helped Ian down.

Ian was too weak. He had only just returned from the jaws of death, so he couldn't even walk. After getting out of the van, the medical personnel helped him onto a wheelchair.

Joel got a huge shock and exchanged a look with Tanya. He hurriedly stopped the car, walked over, and called out, "Uncle Ian! Why are you back?"

Ian then noticed him. He sounded a little weak, but he pressed on and said, "How can you keep it from me when something so serious has happened?! I can't rest peacefully in the hospital when Nora is still unconscious, so I decided to come back and have a look at her!"

Joel glared at the people next to Ian.

Ian immediately said, "Don't look at them. I sensed something amiss because Quentin didn't visit me for so long, so I forced them to talk."

Ever since he knew that Nora was his daughter, he had specially instructed Quentin to follow Nora every day, and also give him a report of everyone else who was following her.

When Quentin simply didn't show up the day before, he had immediately sensed something. The people around him weren't the wily old fox's match at all, so he had easily sounded them out!

Upon knowing that Quentin had been hospitalized, he hastily went to visit Quentin.

Quentin hadn't woken up yet. Given the severity of his injuries, he wouldn't be waking up for quite a while, either.

After visiting Quentin, he became worried that the news about how Nora was sleeping was just their way of trying to comfort him. Thus, he had forcefully requested to come home. He would only be able to rest assured once he saw Nora with his own eyes.

Ian had always been a stubborn man. Joel knew that no one around him could talk him out of something he wanted to do.

It was just like how no one could do anything about him when he was determined to die.

Once he made up his mind, the decisions and beliefs often lasted a lifetime.

For example, Yvette.

Joel didn't say anything else. At this point, Tanya came over with Mia in her arms. When Ian glanced over and saw that it was Tanya, he made a sound of surprise and asked, "That girl has returned to the States?"

Tanya had often visited the Smiths when she was dating Joel back then, so it was very normal that Ian would know her.

Tanya greeted him respectfully. "Hi, Uncle Ian."

Ian nodded at her. Then, he looked at Joel and said, "Although you and I are not father and son, we have very similar personalities. This kid here has stayed single all these years because he was waiting for you." Ian then looked at Tanya and added, "Cherish him, girl!"

After he said that, seemingly because he had thought of himself, a contemplative look formed in his eyes.

Tanya looked at Joel, who had blushed a little.

To outsiders, he was the head of the Smiths whom everyone feared. But in the eyes of Ian, he would always be a junior. He even called him a 'kid'...

Joel touched his nose.

Tanya, who had sensed how embarrassed he was, smiled and nodded. "Okay."

With Joel pushing the wheelchair and Tanya carrying Mia in her arms, the four of them walked toward the living room.

Ian, however, suddenly became nervous. “Nora’s little girl is also at home, right? This is the first time we’re meeting. Should I give her a gift or something?”

The thought had only just formed when a familiar young and tender voice traveled over from the living room.

“Jumbo, does your name actually start with a ‘D’ instead? Do you really know how to play?”

“What? Stop calling you names? It’s because I keep dissing people that Sponsor Grandpa has stopped coming to my live-streams?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 421 - Mr. Hunt Has Messed Up Again~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When Nora fell unconscious, Cherry lost her sense of security.

She didn't want to stay with her father at the Hunts' anymore and insisted on staying by Nora's side no matter what. She wheedled and acted cute, and even kicked up a fuss and rolled about on the floor in the Smiths' manor in the end. She simply refused to go with Justin.

Pete didn't say anything, either. He merely looked at him in silence, his intentions obvious:

'I am not leaving until Mommy wakes up!'

In the end, Justin had no choice but to ask Joel for permission to stay in a guest room at the Smiths' temporarily, so that he could work there and watch over the two children.

Joel's lip corners had spasmed when he received the call from the butler.

Justin was simply too devious.

Joel simply didn't believe it. Why wouldn't Justin be able to make a child do as he says? Besides, even if he really couldn't, why couldn't he just tell the Hunts that the little mister had come to the Smiths' to play?

Moreover!

As the head of the Hunts, Justin didn't need to report his whereabouts to anyone at all!

He remembered that Pete and Justin had once lived in a villa elsewhere before.

Why would the butler dare to refuse Justin, though? Thus, by the time Joel heard about it, Justin had already moved in.

He was pretty much just using the children for his own gains! How utterly shameless!

They weren't even married yet! It wasn't appropriate for them to be living together!

He had also come back with the intention to drive Justin out.

However, Cherry was currently seated on the sofa with her legs crossed, her mockery mode at full force.

Behind her were the two butlers in charge of external and internal affairs. They were standing there and looking at her.

“Ms. Cherry, you're so good at the game!”

“The way you diss people is such a work of art!”

“Huh? To think you can insult someone like that! Jumbo with a 'D'... that's Dumbo! Hahaha!”

The two of them had clearly become fans of Cherry.

Justin was seated on the sofa at the side, seemingly dealing with some documents. That leisurely appearance of his was practically as if he was in his own home!

The corners of Joel's lips spasmed.

He then looked at Pete. He was working seriously on his Mathematical Olympiad problems at the side, seeming completely unaffected by Cherry.

Cherry was reading the comments in her live-stream. Her brows knitted together and she said, “Daddy, all of them are saying that Sponsor Grandpa hasn’t come to my live-stream for so long because I was dissing people, so he doesn’t like me anymore. Sob, is that true?”

Justin was actually feeling very nervous.

Because he had just received news that Ian had come home.

His attitude toward the old man was merely respectful in the past. However, things were completely different now. Ian was Nora’s father!

As a son-in-law, he mustn’t embarrass himself in front of him.

He was racking his brains for a way to make Ian happy when he heard Cherry. As a slave to his daughter, he replied without any hesitation, “How can that be? You are so cute when you diss people!”

Cherry breathed a sigh of relief. However, she still said aggrievedly, “Then why isn’t Sponsor Grandpa talking to me anymore? We haven’t contacted each other on Messenger for so long. I asked Mommy to look for him, but she couldn’t find him... Daddy, are you really not a hacker?”

Justin coughed.

He was Y. Of course he was a hacker.

But he didn’t want to look for him.

Sponsor Grandpa? What the heck? How dare he fight with him for his daughter’s love? Additionally, during the period Sponsor Grandpa was away, he had finally reached number one on the virtual gifts ranking!

Justin said, “I’m really not one. Daddy is a good, law-abiding citizen. Daddy’s company also acts in accordance with the law.”

Cherry sighed and lowered her head.

Next to them, Pete looked up and heaved a silent sigh. His father was simply too shameless!

He was lying to even his five-year-old younger sister!

Justin then said, “Why are you so insistent on looking for Sponsor Grandpa? The way I see it, his affection for you was only temporary. Otherwise, why would he suddenly disappear without a word? That’s very rude behavior.”

He secretly badmouthed Sponsor Grandpa and said, “Let’s ignore him in the future, Cherry!”

Cherry asked, “... But what if Sponsor Grandpa was sick?”

“That’s impossible. Considering how rich he is, it’s impossible that he would suddenly disappear, no matter what kind of illness it is.”

“Yeah, you’re right, Daddy. I won’t talk to Sponsor Grandpa ever again!”

At the door, Ian, who had immediately recognized that Cherry was sweetcherry, was bewildered.

When he’d first recognized Cherry, he had felt joy and anxiety from meeting an online friend for the first time. However, there was only anger left in him now.

What was Justin teaching the kids?

Ian entered the living room with mighty momentum.

Justin hurriedly stood up when he heard the sounds coming from the door. At the sight of him, he took a step forward earnestly and greeted him. “Hello, Uncle Ian,” he said.

Ian stared at him with disdain all over his good-looking face. “I think you should call me Mr. Smith instead.”

Justin: “?”

He was calling him Uncle Ian because he was Nora's fiancé!

He was stunned for a moment. Then, he said, "You must be joking, Uncle Ian. Nora will beat me up if she hears me addressing you as Mr. Smith."

Ian snorted. "Mr. Hunt, I, Ian Smith, have never been one to joke around. What kind of relationship do you share with Nora for you to be calling me Uncle Ian?"

"... We are engaged," said Justin.

"Engaged?"

Ian was very surprised. "How come I'm not aware that my daughter is engaged? When did the two of you hold the engagement ceremony?"

Justin: "???"

He had publicly announced that Nora was his fiancée at the Hunts' party the other time, so their relationship was already confirmed.

Why was Ian refusing to acknowledge it?

However, he soon felt that he had figured it out. "You are right, Uncle Ian. I will get it done."

Ian didn't look at him anymore. Instead, he looked at Cherry sitting on the sofa.

Cherry was also staring at him with her big dark eyes.

At the sight, Joel pushed Ian's wheelchair toward Cherry and said, "Uncle Ian, this is Nora's daughter. Her nickname is Cherry."

Ian's eyes reddened at once. His voice was even trembling a little as he called out, "Cherry?"

Cherry blinked. Then, she called out sweetly, "Grandpa~"

Ian instantly felt like his heart had been coated in honey.

In the past, when Cherry called him Sponsor Grandpa on Messenger, he had merely found her a sweet child. It was only now that he realized that the sweetness reached all the way into his heart.

He nodded. “Hello!”

As soon as he said that, Chester, who was also logged into the game, said, “Boss, look at your live-stream! They are all mocking you!”

Cherry immediately lowered her head when she heard him. She saw in the comments in the live-stream that everyone was laughing at her and saying that Sponsor Grandpa had abandoned her.

“...”

Chapter 422 - Dna Report~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Everyone in the comments was laughing at her.

“Your wealthy grandfather must have found another dog. He doesn’t love you anymore!”

“Hahaha, I’m suddenly very happy to see the host down.”

“Sponsor Grandpa must be tired of you, right? All the big bosses are like this.”

...

Cherry wilted. She pouted and stopped talking.

When Ian saw her like this, his heart ached badly. He quickly took out his phone and secretly charged it. Then, while the others were not paying attention, he quickly went to Cherry’s live-stream and sent her gifts.

The overwhelming gifts suddenly covered the entire screen.

When Cherry saw that the person giving the gift was her Sponsor Grandpa, her eyes lit up.

She shouted happily, “My Sponsor Grandpa is here!”

Ian had surpassed second place and become first. He was satisfied.

However, just as he put down his phone, Justin, who was standing behind him, suddenly took out his phone and tipped a hundred gifts. The rankings instantly changed again.

Ian: “...”

Justin said, “Cherry, you can’t let an outsider control your emotions. Whatever others have, Daddy will give it to you.”

Cherry immediately looked up at him. “Thank you, Daddy!”

“...”

After Justin tipped the gifts, he put down his phone. For some reason, he suddenly felt that the atmosphere in the living room seemed a little off.

How much colder was it?

He composed himself and looked over. He realized that Ian was emitting coldness and looking at him gloomily.

Justin: “?”

He hesitated for a moment and asked, “Uncle Ian, what’s wrong?”

Ian sneered. “Mr. Hunt, are you very free today?”

Justin: “...So-so, I guess.”

Ian said, “Butler, Mr. Hunt still has to handle the company’s matters. How can we keep him here at home for such a small matter? Quickly take him to work!”

Justin: !!

Confused, he looked at Joel pleadingly. However, not only did his brother-in-law not help, he even turned his head to look elsewhere. His eyes, which were usually smiling, were now gloating?

Joel really felt good.

He and Justin governed New York’s economic lifeline. The two of them often interacted with each other and were both powerful people.

When had he ever seen him so aggrieved?

It felt... good.

When Justin saw that he was silent, and since Ian was the head of this family, he had to listen.

After confirming that there was nothing wrong with Nora's body, he simply said, "Alright, I'll come and see Nora again tonight."

Ian snorted. "Nora is fine. You don't have to visit her so often. When she wakes up, she will contact you!"

Justin: "..."

He grimaced and looked at Pete. "Then I'll come and see Pete tonight."

Pete?

Ian was stunned when he heard this. He turned to look at Pete, who had been sitting quietly the entire time. When he saw his face, he was stunned.

Why did Pete look exactly like Cherry?

While he was in a daze, Justin smiled brightly. "Uncle Ian, I forgot to tell you that Pete and Cherry are my and Nora's children."

He paused and added, "They're twins."

Ian: "..."

Justin, who finally had the upper hand, walked out when he saw his stunned look. "Uncle Ian, I'll take my leave then."

He should give his father-in-law more time to accept it!

After Justin left, Ian looked at Joel. "So these two kids have been together for a long time?"

He was talking about Nora and Justin.

Joel nodded. “The children are already five years old.”

Ian paused. “He’s better than you!”

Joel: “...”

He glanced at Mia silently. He was about to say that his child was five years old too, but when he saw Tanya standing beside him, he didn’t say anything.

His child was not hers.

This might become his lifelong regret.

—

Ian went upstairs to look at Nora. After confirming that she was really asleep, he then went downstairs in relief.

Joel let him rest. He glanced at Cherry and nodded. After entering the bedroom, Ian let everyone out and secretly opened Cherry’s live-stream.

Cherry had said earlier that she did not want to talk to her Sponsor Grandpa anymore, so he chose not to acknowledge her first. They could reunite after maintaining a peaceful relationship on the Internet!

Time passed very quickly. Soon, it was nighttime. Suddenly, two little cuties appeared at home, and the entire family became lively.

Joel realized that even Ian had a smile on his face.

Such happy times were always easily disturbed.

After dinner, the sky darkened.

He was about to call his assistant to ask if Hillary had gone overseas when his assistant’s call arrived first. “Mr. Smith, something has happened.”

Joel was stunned. “What?”

The assistant said, “After going overseas, Hillary sued you in Switzerland!”

Sued him?

Joel narrowed his eyes.

The assistant coughed. “She has filed a request for the custody of the child!”

Joel’s voice instantly turned cold. “How dare she? Where are the Joneses?”

The assistant said, “Mr. Jones contacted her and asked her to withdraw the lawsuit, but she refused to listen. She insisted that the child is hers and only hers. Even if she can’t be with you, she will still sue you for the child’s custody!”

With that, the assistant coughed. “If this was in the country, we would definitely have been able to resolve it easily. But now, she’s suing from overseas. It’s not convenient for us to make a move there.”

Of course, Joel understood this, but the problem was...

He narrowed his eyes and asked, “If she’s not from Switzerland, how did she manage to press charges there? Why would the courts in Switzerland take on such a case?”

The assistant said, “We’re still investigating that, but the court seems to be taking this case very seriously. They’re already preparing to send you a subpoena!”

Joel vaguely felt that something was wrong. “Investigate properly!”

“Understood.”

After hanging up, Joel looked at Mia.

The case was actually not complicated. If he didn’t go overseas, there was nothing they could do about it. But Mia couldn’t possibly stay in the country forever, right?

It had only been a day. Where did Hillary find the guts to sue him?!

Outside.

Justin looked at the brightly lit Smith villa and was especially envious.

He really wanted to go in, but after getting the butler to inform him, his father-in-law refused to let him in. He even said that it was getting too late and he would not keep him as a guest.

Justin did not want to be ostracized.

Ian was not someone he could handle unless his future brother-in-law helped.

But to get his future brother-in-law to help him? He had to give him something powerful...

Something powerful...

Justin suddenly thought of the DNA test between Tanya and Mia...

His lips curled up slightly. He had it!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 423 - Mia Is Tanyas Daughter!

In the limousine.

As Lawrence drove, he looked at his boss in the rearview mirror and vaguely felt that he was a little pitiful.

When had the famous Justin ever been rejected?

He sighed silently.

Ever since he got together with Miss Smith, Mr. Hunt had shown him his most patient side.

At this moment, Mr. Hunt was not in a hurry. He was still playing with his phone.

Lawrence almost couldn't help it and drove away!

It was so embarrassing to wait outside the door!

How could he know that Justin was hacking into Nora's email?

His slender fingers pressed on his phone with agility. He was about to enter Nora's email when he was suddenly blocked. The screen almost turned black.

Tsk.

Justin stared at the arrogant red words "get lost" and couldn't help but laugh.

Very good. It was her style.

However, the encryption measures in her inbox were really impressive. Perhaps only Q could do it.

He could not guess how she knew Q. How could she get Q to encrypt one of her mailboxes?

Justin smiled and decided to give up on attacking her email.

Otherwise, she would probably be angry when she woke up and realized that her email had been hacked.

He picked up his phone and called Lily.

The call was picked up quickly. Lily's formulaic voice came through. "Hello, this is Lily. May I know who you are?"

"Justin."

Lily was startled. "Boss's husband?"

Justin: "???"

Lily coughed and corrected him. "No, it's Mr. Hunt. It's so late, why are you calling?"

Justin raised his eyebrows.

Boss's husband? Was this his nickname now?

It actually made him a little happy.

Joy flashed across his deep eyes. He felt that Nora's assistant was very perceptive. He said slowly, "Nora asked you to produce a DNA report two days ago. What was the result?"

Lily subconsciously said, "I'll only report to Boss."

Justin: "?"

Just as he frowned, he heard Lily's tone change. "But your identity is special, so I can tell you. I'll only tell you~"

Justin smiled. "... Go ahead."

"The DNA results show that the two test subjects are confirmed to be mother and daughter."

Justin raised his eyebrows.

He didn't expect Nora to be right.

He lowered his eyes and said slowly, "Thank you."

"You're welcome, Mr. Hunt. Just let me know if you need anything."

After hanging up, Justin thought for a moment and called Sean again. "Five years ago, how was the investigation going on overseas?"

Back then, Nora had investigated her DNA and when he found out about her suspicions, he had said that he could help her investigate Hillary from five years ago.

Even if the DNA showed that Tanya and Mia were mother and daughter, they still had to provide enough evidence to prove that Hillary had stolen the child.

Justin handed the matter to Sean.

After all, it was five years ago. Furthermore, it was in Switzerland, so it was not as fast as investigating in the country.

Sean replied, "Give me another 12 hours and I'll have the answers."

"Okay."

After hanging up, Justin played with his phone.

He could not wait 12 hours to tell Joel such important news. Otherwise, how could he use it as a tactic?

Moreover, judging him by his own standards, it was as if he did not know that he had a daughter back then. He would definitely want to hear this news as soon as possible.

Therefore, he sent Joel a message: “Brother-in-law, let me in. I have an important message for you and Miss Tanya.”

—

“Mr. Smith, we found some clues!”

Joel was on the phone at this moment. The assistant opposite him was in Switzerland, so the investigation was a little slow.

His eyes were cold, and his usual smile was gone. He glanced at Tanya, who was playing with Mia, and said simply, “Speak.”

“Hillary did indeed receive help from others to sue you in Switzerland. Moreover, the Joneses’ attitude suddenly became domineering after going overseas. They said that they will fight this lawsuit to the end with us!”

Joel’s gaze turned even colder. “Whose help did they receive?”

The assistant said a name. “Karl Moore.”

Joel narrowed his eyes.

Of course, he knew this person.

Karl Moore was an American Chinese.

Currently, the underground forces in Switzerland were very large, so he was very famous overseas. His name was often heard in the country.

Although the Smiths and Hunts were the top families which controlled the economic lifeline in the country, internationally, their impacts were still a little small.

But Karl Moore was different.

They were mercenaries, and the people in their team were all retired special forces from Switzerland. They privately accepted difficult missions, such as assassinations.

The name of their organization could be translated to “Assassin.”

Ever since the organization was established, none of the assassination plans had failed!

They were an assassin alliance exceptionally vigilant in the world!

Therefore, the Swiss people maintained a good relationship with them. Even the major families in the country were wary of this organization.

Karl Moore was the leader of the organization. Whether the organization accepted the assassination mission or not was entirely up to him.

The Joneses had nothing to do with such a person. Why was he suddenly protecting them?

Joel frowned. “Why is he helping them?”

The other party might not even take a liking to the Joneses if they packed all their assets and gave them to Karl Moore. Furthermore, they were going against the Smiths. Karl Moore had always shown the Smiths respect.

The assistant said, “I’m still investigating.”

Joel’s gaze turned colder. “Yes. Investigate all that you can. If you can’t, tell Karl Moore that the Smiths respect him, but we’re not afraid of him! There’s no room for negotiation regarding the child!”

The assistant took a deep breath. “Yes!”

After hanging up, Joel saw Justin’s message and slowly frowned.

He had important news to tell him and Tanya?

He was probably telling him that he wanted to enter the house.

But if he was including Tanya... then something must have happened.

Could it be related to the email Nora had mentioned before she fainted?

He looked at Ian and said, "Uncle Ian, let's allow Mr. Hunt in."

Ian said unhappily, "No."

In the afternoon, when he gave Cherry tips, Justin had been suppressing him and had insisted on competing with him for the first place on the list. This made him even more unhappy.

Does he want to marry his daughter? Ha.

Joel looked at Cherry, and the little fellow immediately ran to Ian.
"Grandpa, Grandpa~ Let Daddy in. I miss Daddy~"

Ian: "..."

Chapter 424 - Tanya, You Had A Child Once.

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Could he reject his obedient granddaughter's request?

The answer was no.

Ian's lips twitched as he glared at Joel.

The news of Justin standing outside the door was reported to him by the butler when he came in. Cherry and Pete did not know at all.

During dinner, Cherry even looked at the door curiously and asked, "Why isn't Daddy here yet?"

Ian said coldly, "He's probably busy with work."

Cherry was still a little unhappy. "Okay~"

Ian took the opportunity to brainwash her. "It's most irresponsible of a parent to ignore the child when they're busy. Let's not like him anymore, okay?"

Cherry's eyes widened when she heard this.

Then, she looked at Ian and retorted, "Grandpa, I can't do that."

Ian was curious. "Why?"

Cherry sighed. "Mommy has been busy sleeping since we were young. She's even more irresponsible. At least Daddy spends twice as much time with me every day than Mommy does!"

Ian: “!!”

He had never seen the way Nora interacted with the two children. He did not expect that he would also have to bring his daughter into this.

At that time, he could only change the topic forcefully. “Yes, what I said just now was just a test for you. I didn’t expect our Cherry to be so smart. You actually passed Grandpa’s test.”

Cherry immediately looked up and smiled. Her big black eyes swept past Pete. “Pete, did you see that? Grandpa doesn’t like Daddy and wants to badmouth Daddy. I’m the best! He can’t even say anything about Daddy!”

Pete: “...”

He sighed silently. He kept wondering ever since Cherry came home, why had the tyrant and this grandfather, who was rumored to be very serious, become so childish?

Ian had been hiding it from Cherry and did not tell her.

Moreover, he did not feel guilty at all. How dare Justin secretly tell her not to like her Sponsor Grandpa?!

However, now that Cherry had heard Joel’s words, Ian could not stop her. Otherwise, wouldn’t he become a bad grandfather?

Ian could only say to the butler indignantly, “Invite him in.”

The butler glanced at Joel and left with a smile.

Joel was already the head of the Smiths now. After all, Ian had been on his deathbed in the past and had not cared about the family’s matters at all.

However, Ian’s wish was Joel’s command.

When everyone saw how respectful Joel was to Ian, they did not dare to disrespect Ian either.

Soon, Justin entered.

Wearing a black suit, he walked in steadily. After entering, he greeted Ian respectfully, “Uncle Ian.”

Ian snorted and looked at Joel. “Joel, the guest is here. Treat him well.”

He looked like he wanted to ignore him.

Justin rubbed his nose awkwardly and looked at Cherry.

Cherry had already run over excitedly and hugged his leg. “Daddy, why are you just getting here now?! Didn’t you agree to sleep here tonight? I’m still waiting for you to tuck me in!”

When she said this, Justin looked at Ian. When he saw Ian’s eyes flicker, he chuckled softly and said, “Yes, Daddy was busy with work.”

He did not expose Ian’s lie.

This made Ian feel a little better. Then, he saw Justin looking at him mischievously. “As for sleeping with you tonight...”

He drawled, his eyes questioning.

Ian coughed and looked at the butler. “Have you prepared the guest room?”

The butler held in his laughter. “I’ve already prepared it. It’s next to Miss Nora’s room. The room is very big and comfortable.”

Ever since Yvonne was arrested and Nora’s identity as Ian’s daughter was exposed, the people in the family had accepted Nora as the eldest daughter.

Ian waved her hand. “Alright, Joel. Take the guest upstairs to have a look.”

Joel smiled as well. He let Mia play downstairs and took Justin upstairs. Halfway there, he looked at Tanya. “Tanya, you come too.”

Tanya looked up in confusion and subconsciously stood up to follow him upstairs.

Ian couldn't help but say, "You guys have just reunited. Aren't you two being too mushy?"

Tanya's face couldn't help but turn red.

Joel coughed and smiled. "Uncle Ian, please understand."

Ian: "..."

Why was this kid's skin so thick?!

When the three of them went upstairs, Justin did not go to the guest room immediately.

Joel pointed to his study. "Chat in the study?"

Justin nodded. When they passed by Nora's room, he suddenly gestured for them to keep quiet and then gently opened the door.

The curtains in the room were drawn, and the light was dim.

The temperature in the room had also been adjusted very well. The woman on the bed was still asleep and did not move at all.

Justin approached her and checked her breathing and pulse. After confirming that Nora was fine, he heaved a sigh of relief.

He covered her with a blanket and went out.

Seeing him tiptoeing as if he was afraid of waking Nora up, Joel and Tanya at the door were speechless.

The corners of Tanya's mouth twitched. "Mr. Hunt, Nora is sleeping so well. Even if the sky collapses, it probably won't wake her up. You don't have to be so... cautious?"

Justin didn't mind. "It's better to be gentle. Otherwise, she'll hear the noise in her sleep."

Tanya: "..."

Alright, he was of noble status. Whatever he says.

The three of them then followed Joel to the study.

In the study.

The housekeeper, Lucy, had already prepared tea. Joel looked at Justin. "Have you eaten dinner?"

Justin looked at him silently.

Brother-in-law, he had come over during lunchtime and had been kept outside the door. Didn't Joel know if he had eaten dinner or not?!

Joel coughed. "Go prepare some food for Mr. Hunt."

Lucy nodded.

After Lucy left, Joel saw Justin drinking tea and couldn't help but ask anxiously, "Tell me quickly. What's the matter?"

Tanya looked at him in confusion.

Justin drank a cup of tea before saying slowly, "Miss Tanya, you had a child overseas, right?"

His words were like a tidal wave. Joel looked at Tanya in disbelief, only to see that Tanya's eyes had also widened in shock.

She clenched her fists tightly.

This was her secret. Why did Justin say it out loud?

When he saw her like this, Joel's mind instantly started racing.

He lowered his eyes and smiled bitterly.

So in the past five years, Tanya had already had a boyfriend overseas?

However, he had no intention of blaming her.

After all, he had a child too, didn't he?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 425 - Our Child...

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

When he forced Tanya to accept Mia, he no longer had the right to criticize her.

Even if he had never let any woman near him in the past five years!

He suddenly felt frustrated.

At this moment, he wanted to know who this man was who had been with Tanya. He wished he could capture him and beat him up.

With this thought in mind, he looked at Tanya.

He suddenly understood how Tanya must have felt when he and Hillary had gotten together back then.

After five years, he was with Tanya again and was still so sad and jealous, let alone her back then.

That was why she had decided to leave and go overseas, right?

Perhaps she had not gone overseas simply to pursue her dream of dancing. She had been hurt by him!

When Joel thought of this, his chest tightened even more.

He had been with her through junior high, high school, and university...

He had originally thought that the two of them would walk from their school uniforms to their wedding gowns, from their black hair to their white hair. He did not expect that they would go off track halfway.

When they returned to the same path, he had Mia, and she had another child.

Their love was no longer as perfect as before.

But he couldn't mind.

He did not even dare to ask Tanya if she had liked that man when she had a change of heart midway, only to like him again now.

He did not dare to ask, afraid that he would be dissatisfied with the answer.

He only knew that they had to be together, no matter what.

With this in mind, he walked towards Tanya.

Tanya was also in a daze. When she saw Joel walking over, her expression turned grave and she felt even more guilty. However, just as she thought Joel would question her, she heard him say, "Who is that man?"

Tanya: "?"

She was stunned and looked at Joel in confusion.

Joel sighed. "If you don't want to say it, then forget it. I'll try my best not to mind."

At this point, he turned his head away and did not look into Tanya's eyes. "Where is your child...? You can bring him over. I'll treat him as my own, just like... how you treat Mia... Even if I can't be sincere, I'll still work hard..."

Tanya: "!!!"

She finally understood what Joel meant and could not help but laugh.

As she smiled, tears welled up in her eyes.

This man, this silly man, actually thought that she had another man?

She thought of the past five years. Although she was alone overseas, she had interacted with many aristocrats because she was a dancer.

She did not lack suitors among those people.

But she had never accepted any of them.

At first, she had told herself, she had lost her child and had no right to start a new life. It was a form of punishment.

But it was only now that she realized that it was not because she did not want to look for a man. It was because, with someone in her heart, she could no longer look at anyone else.

Those aristocrats were all very outstanding, but she was blinded by Joel and could not see anyone else.

She looked at Joel with red eyes.

When Joel saw her like this, his heart ached even more.

How did that man hurt her? Was it so painful to recall?

He grabbed Tanya's arm and said in pain and anger, "Why did you split up? Did he hurt you?"

Tanya shook her head.

"Did he have a change of heart?"

Tanya continued to shake her head.

Joel was anxious. "Did you have a change of heart? What happened? Did he bully you? Tell me who he is and I'll kill him!"

Tanya still shook her head, but the smile on her face grew wider.

She said, "No, no. There's no such person."

Her voice was choked.

Joel was stunned. “There’s no such person? Then your child...”

Tanya’s cries became even louder. She looked at Joel and knew that she could no longer hide the child’s existence.

However, she did not want to make Joel sad with her.

She clenched her fists. “Calm down. Listen to me.”

Joel was extremely anxious, but when he saw Tanya’s tear-stained face, he knew that he could not be anxious. He took a deep breath. “Okay, I’ll calm down. Tell me, what’s going on with that man and the child?”

Tanya looked at him and lowered her head again. She slowly said, “There’s no other man... It’s you. It has always been you!”

Joel froze on the spot.

He looked at Tanya in a daze.

A ridiculous thought suddenly occurred to him. “If it’s me, then that child...”

Tanya looked at him and closed her eyes. Large tears rolled down her face again. “The child is yours.”

It was his...

These three words stunned Joel.

Surprise surged in his heart as he grabbed Tanya. “You gave birth to my child? Our child?”

At this moment, he was as happy as a child.

He asked anxiously, “Where’s the child? Where is he?”

When the two of them were together back then, they had once imagined what would happen if they had a child in the future. As it turned out, they really had a child!

But he did not expect that while he was wild with joy, Tanya would still have her eyes closed. Her tears rolled down her face like broken pearls. She did not speak.

Joel's ecstasy gradually calmed down. He looked at Tanya and finally sensed something strange.

They were already together. Why didn't Tanya tell him they had a child?

Also, when he asked if she could be Mia's mother, why did she resist and not say anything...

He pursed his lips and his heart suddenly sank. "That child..."

"...I lost our child."

Tanya said those words with difficulty as her tears flowed even more violently. She opened her eyes and sobbed as she shouted, "After I gave birth, I lost the child before I could even see the child clearly. I don't even know if our child is a girl or a boy!"

"I'm sorry... I didn't protect our child well! I feel guilty when I'm with you! Why should I be happy? I don't even know if my child is dead or alive..."

Following her words, Joel suddenly reached out and hugged her.

At this moment, Joel felt his heart ache so much that he could barely breathe.

How painful Tanya must have been all these years!

It was one thing to suffer through the pain of looking for her child every day, but to have to face his and Hillary's daughter after returning to the country.

Especially when he said that he wanted Tanya to become Mia's mother.

Mia's mother...

Joel suddenly thought of something and looked at Justin.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 426 - A Family Of Three!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Justin had said that he had important information to tell Joel and Tanya.

Furthermore, the moment he entered, he pointed out that Tanya had been hiding something from Joel. Then, was that important matter the whereabouts of their child?!

Joel suddenly understood.

Justin sat by the side and watched the two of them confess to each other.

He did not know what had happened. He could only resolve the misunderstanding between Tanya and Joel before speaking the truth.

Seeing that the two of them were almost done talking and that Tanya was crying so badly, Justin touched his nose and hurriedly said, “Don’t be in a hurry to cry... I have good news here.”

If Nora woke up and found out that he had made her best friend cry for so long, she would definitely beat him up.

Tanya and Joel were still in a sad state. They opened their eyes and looked at him in confusion.

Justin coughed. “It was Nora who felt that something was wrong. She secretly took Tanya’s DNA samples to compare with Mia’s DNA...”

Joel and Tanya widened their eyes.

At this moment, Joel finally understood Justin’s meaning!

Tanya was also surprised and anxious. Why was Nora comparing her and Mia’s DNA?!

As she was thinking about this, she heard Justin continue, “You two are mother and daughter.”

“...”

Tanya’s mind exploded.

She looked at Justin in disbelief and felt that she recognized every word he said, but when she put them together, why could she suddenly not understand?

Wasn’t Mia Hillary’s daughter?

How could she be her daughter?

While she was in a daze, Joel narrowed his eyes and said sternly, “No wonder Hillary didn’t appear when she was pregnant back then. In the end, she suddenly appeared in front of me with a child.”

He looked at Tanya and said, “That night, I was the one who had drunk too much and was schemed against! In the hotel, she insisted that I had sex with her... In my head, the person that night was actually you... But when I woke up, Hillary was by my side instead.”

Before he could finish, Tanya suddenly reacted. “Are you talking about October 25, six years ago?”

Joel was stunned and nodded. “Yes.”

Tanya bit her lip. “That night, it was me...”

Joel was surprised.

Tanya’s expression was a little unnatural when she mentioned that night. “Later on, when you were still asleep in the morning, my mother sent me a message asking me to come home. She said she had something to tell me, so I went back...”

When she returned home, she realized that it was a foreign acceptance letter.

Immediately after, she had taken out a photo of Tanya and Joel sleeping together and handed it to her. She had told her, “I told you long ago that your identity is not suitable for you to be with Mr. Smith! Only the eldest daughter of the Joneses has the right to become Mrs. Smith! Mr. Smith is just playing with you! Since you’re my daughter, I’ll remind you not to be treated as a plaything!”

At that time, she was stunned when she saw the photo. She called Joel, but she did not expect that Hillary would pick up his phone. “What are you doing? He’s still sleeping.”

Tanya was furious.

Two hours later, she called Joel, but his attitude was very cold.

She asked, “What am I to you?”

He sneered. “What am I to you? Tanya, we both know that you’re not that important to me!”

At that time, Tanya’s heart was in ashes as she left the country.

Joel was stunned. He thought about it carefully and knew that he had fallen into a trap. “When I woke up and realized that the person beside me was Hillary, I was shocked. I wanted to look for you and explain everything, but I saw the application form for your overseas study on Hillary’s phone.”

He was silent for a moment before saying, “Hillary told me that everything you did was to use me to go overseas.”

At that time, he was young and impulsive. Just as he was looking at the application, he received a call from Tanya.

However, he had not expected Tanya to question her position in his heart so confidently over a phone call.

He also wanted to ask this question!

Later on, he watched helplessly as Tanya left the country without turning back. He believed Hillary even more and did not look for Tanya over the years.

Now that he thought about it...

It was obvious that he and Tanya had fallen into the other party's trap!!

Joel was momentarily vexed. How could he be so easily deceived? However, he did not expect that Hillary, who was only twenty years old back then, would do such a thing!

Tanya and Joel looked at each other.

After a moment, Tanya suddenly pushed him away and ran downstairs.

Joel knew what she was going to do, so he looked at Justin first and said slowly, "I'll remember this favor."

If it weren't for Justin, Tanya would have been afraid that Joel would be sad because of the child and would not have told him. But if Tanya hadn't told him, he probably wouldn't have imagined in his life that Mia was his and Tanya's daughter!

After all, how could he know that Tanya had given birth to a child for him?!

Justin nodded and Joel followed him downstairs.

Sure enough, he could already hear the cries downstairs. He went downstairs and saw Ian watching by the side. "Little brat, did you bully the little girl? Why is she suddenly crying so miserably while hugging Mia?"

Joel looked at the mother and daughter hugging each other.

Tanya was crying so hard that she couldn't speak. Mia, on the other hand, was frightened by her appearance. She looked at her with wide eyes, but she still reached out and patted her back, feeling helpless.

Joel's eyes turned red as well.

He took a step forward and said to Mia, "Mia, this is your mother."

Mia was stunned for a moment before nodding. "I know. Ms. Tanya will be my mother from now on."

When Joel saw the child's ignorance, his heart ached even more.

He reached out and hugged Tanya and Mia. "No, she's the mother who gave birth to you! Your biological mother!"

Mia didn't really understand this, but she still cried. "Mommy, don't cry. Don't cry..."

When she started crying, Tanya stopped crying immediately. She hugged Mia and said with tears in her eyes, "I won't cry. Mia, don't cry. I'm Mommy. Mommy loves you..."

She gently kissed Mia's cheek.

Ian was confused.

That night, Tanya hugged Mia and fell asleep. Joel was guarding the sofa in the room worriedly. He could see Tanya suddenly waking up in the middle of the night and staring at Mia for a while before hugging her tightly and falling asleep again...

It was a fear and unease of again losing what she had regained after so many hardships.

—

The next day, Joel was woken up by a soft knock on the door.

He walked out gently and heard the butler say, "Sir, Mr. Karl Moore is here!"

Karl Moore?

Joel narrowed his eyes.

Even if he had not come himself today, Joel was going to look for him!

Hillary had stolen his child. She had to pay the price!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 427 - Another Identity~

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Joel glanced at the mother and daughter sleeping on the bed. At this moment, the anger in his heart had reached its peak.

Last night, he counted that Tanya had woken up six times. Each time, it took more than half an hour before she could fall asleep again.

Compared to her... Mia had always been by his side, and he had never been neglected.

But what about Tanya?

How painful must her five years of psychological torture have been?!

Joel clenched his fists tightly. He regretted sending Hillary overseas yesterday, causing her to fall into Karl Moore's hands. Otherwise, she would be living a life worse than death right now.

He retracted his gaze and gently went out. After closing the door, he went downstairs.

In the living room downstairs.

Karl Moore was sitting on the sofa in a black suit. There was a tattoo on the back of his hand, and it was obvious that it spread up to his arm.

He was wearing sunglasses and was tall and strong. One could tell with just a look that he was from the mafia.

At this moment, he was sizing up the Smiths' house and said to the person beside him, "No wonder Black Cat insisted on returning to the country. Look, it's still better in the country. The renovations are very exquisite!"

Black Cat was the top mysterious expert in their assassin organization.

Karl Moore had never seen Black Cat before. He had only posted assassination missions on the Internet. Black Cat had very high requirements for assassination missions.

Black Cat would not kill if it was inconvenient.

The troublesome ones were not killed.

Those who did not commit heinous crimes were not killed.

Black Cat would not kill those who did not deserve to die.

Whether the person should die depended on Black Cat's personal judgment.

If it were anyone else, Karl Moore would have tamed such a troublesome killer long ago. But this person was Black Cat, the number one killer in their organization.

Three years ago, a triad organization appeared in Burundi. Wherever they went, not a blade of grass survived. They raped, killed, and plundered. They did not even let women and children off. It could be said that they committed all kinds of crimes!

They had a powerful armed force and occupied the land of kings. The people in that area were suffering.

At that time, the government was at a loss about this powerful armed force. They had tried to attack it a few times but were defeated. In the end, they had no choice but to post a kill order on the assassination network.

The reward for killing the organization's leader was in millions.

It was not much money, but it had attracted many people to go on missions. However, none of them returned.

At that time, Karl Moore had not planned to take on the mission in the Assassin Organization. After all, the mission was too difficult and almost impossible to complete. However, Black Cat in their organization had privately accepted this mission.

Karl Moore felt that Black Cat was dead meat.

In the end! Black Cat entered that organization alone, took the other party's head, and then retreated unscathed! Furthermore, even now, that assassination was a mysterious affair.

That was because no one knew how Black Cat had killed the other party. They only vaguely heard from the other party that Black Cat was American.

As for whether it was a man or a woman, they did not see clearly.

It was also the battle with Black Cat that allowed the assassins to gain a foothold internationally!

From then on, although Karl Moore was an honorary leader, he was extremely respectful to Black Cat. The entire organization followed his orders.

That was... until three months ago, when Black Cat suddenly said that they wanted to return to the country to settle some matters, and told everyone not to disturb them. Then, Black Cat disappeared without a trace.

Karl Moore decided to bring his subordinates back to New York. Firstly, he wanted to see if he could find out who Black Cat was. Secondly, he wanted to tour his hometown again.

Unexpectedly, they bumped into Hillary...

As he was thinking, Joel and Ian walked out at the same time.

When he saw Ian, Joel consciously stood behind him. Karl Moore was also stunned. "You're still alive?"

This familiar tone...

Joel looked at Ian and saw that although Uncle Ian looked thin, his aura was astonishing. He sat steadily in the wheelchair and retorted, “You’re not even dead yet. How would I dare to die? How dare you bully us Smiths?”

When he heard this, Karl Moore chuckled. “What are you talking about? What bullying? I’m just stepping up for the Joneses. You guys are too much. Why can’t they see their child?”

Ian did not answer. It was obvious that he already knew everything.

He said slowly, “Why are you helping them?”

When Karl Moore heard this, he frowned. “Ah, because I owe Jill a favor.”

Jill was Hillary and Tanya’s mother.

Because after she married the Joneses, everyone had always called her Madam Jones. Therefore, Joel only realized who this person was after a while.

He frowned and heard Ian laugh. “Love debt?”

Karl Moore coughed. “Damn, I was just playing back then. Who knew that she would take it seriously? Since I broke her innocence and left, I have to help my old lover this time.”

Ian’s lips twitched. “You’re giving face to your old lover, but not to me?”

Karl Moore immediately said, “Over the years, I’ve given you a lot of face. Over the years, I’ve never touched the Smiths. Even if someone offered a high price, I never accepted an assassination! Now, give me some face and sit down to discuss this matter!”

He leaned forward and said, “The Joneses aren’t a wealthy family. You gave them a way out. So what? If you ask me, let your nephew marry her daughter! What love? Young man, at my age, you’ll realize that love is useless!”

Joel: “...That’s impossible.”

Karl Moore hesitated for a moment. “Then... worst-case scenario—you give her the child. At least she’ll have someone to rely on.”

Joel explained, “There’s something else going on. Listen to me...”

“Slam!” Almost as soon as he said this, Karl Moore slapped the table, revealing a gun. He said aggressively, “What? I don’t have time to listen to your chatter. Let me ask you something. Do the Smiths not intend to give face to the Assassin Organization?”

After offending such a person, their safety in the future would be uncertain.

Joel narrowed his eyes. Before they could collide, Ian sneered. “Karl Moore, you’re so arrogant. Do you think I can’t use my gun because I’m weak now?”

Karl Moore was not afraid at all. “Brother, I’m sorry this time! There’s nothing I can do about it. I really owe Jill too much, so she asked me to do this. I don’t care what secrets you have, but you have to give me face today!

Unless Black Cat is here, there’s no room for negotiation!!”

In the bedroom upstairs.

Perhaps it was because the commotion downstairs was a little loud, but Nora frowned slightly in her sleep.

Black Cat...

Who the hell was shouting her code name non-stop?! It was so annoying!
How could she sleep!

Chapter 428 - Two Men Working Together

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Nora flipped over in annoyance. She buried her head in the pillow angrily and covered her ears.

Cherry and Pete, who were sitting on the sofa in the room, instantly fell silent.

The characters in Cherry's game didn't dare to move anymore, as if they were afraid of disturbing her.

In fact, Pete did not even dare to write the Mathematical Olympiad questions as he was afraid that the sound of the pen rubbing against the paper would disturb his mother.

When Justin, who was sitting beside the two children, saw this scene, he lowered his eyes and suddenly stood up.

When he stood up, Cherry and Pete looked at him simultaneously and immediately made a "shh" gesture. It was as if even Justin's action of standing up would disturb Nora.

Justin did not think that the two children's performance was too exaggerated. Instead, he lightened his footsteps and slowly walked to the door. He bent down and opened the door before closing it again.

They did not know how he did it, but he did not make a sound at all.

After he left, the noise outside became even louder.

Karl Moore's voice was very loud, and the people standing behind him were all very powerful. They all stared at him.

Ian and Joel's expressions stiffened.

Ian said slowly, "Are you sure you want to fall out?"

Karl Moore snorted. "You're the ones who didn't give me face!"

Joel's voice became even colder. "I can give you face in other matters, but not in this matter!"

Tanya and Mia had just reunited. How could he give Mia to Hillary?!

The Smiths were not to be trifled with either!

If they had the ability, they could just come at them.

After saying that, he casually held Ian's wheelchair. Before Ian could speak, he slowly said, "Mr. Karl Moore, this is New York. Do you think this is a place where you can behave so atrociously?"

With this sentence, a few bodyguards and people from the dark forces hidden in the Smiths' servants slowly stood up and surged into the living room.

The group of people placed their hands on their waists. It was obvious what was inside.

Karl Moore narrowed his eyes.

He smiled without a trace of fear. "The entire assassin organization knows that I'm here. If I don't leave, do you think they will let the Smiths off?"

Joel was still smiling, but that smile did not reach his eyes.

Karl Moore sensed Ian and Joel's true killing intent and became vigilant. "Heh, we assassins will not be threatened by the small Smiths!"

As soon as he finished speaking, a deep voice suddenly sounded. "What if we include the Hunts?"

With that, the people in the room looked up in unison and saw Justin slowly walking down the corridor.

As he was at home, he did not wear a suit jacket.

He was wearing a black shirt and a black tie. Coupled with his black pants... he was dressed fully in black. He had one hand in his pocket and the other hanging casually by his side.

He looked arrogant as he came downstairs.

Joel and Ian looked at each other.

Karl Moore had come to the Smiths to settle Hillary's scores. It could be said that he was only here to look for Joel. However, because Joel was the head of the Smiths, it was inevitable that the family would be implicated.

The two of them knew that Justin was upstairs.

However, in this kind of direct confrontation with the assassin organization, they did not expect the Hunts to appear!

After all!

The Hunts were also a large family, and it did not belong to Justin alone!

Moreover, Justin was not engaged to Nora yet. Even if he interfered and became a messenger or a mediator between them, it was more appropriate for him not to offend Karl Moore directly.

However, neither Ian nor Joel expected that he would actually stand on their side and fight against Karl Moore!

Justin was not afraid of Karl Moore at all.

Or rather, Justin had a trump card, so he was not afraid of him.

Ian narrowed his eyes.

Joel's fox-like eyes revealed his deep thoughts.

They had long heard that Justin was just the head of the Hunts. Therefore, although the Smiths and Hunts were two large families with equal strength in New York, the Smiths had never had the intention to suppress the Hunts.

Someone had even warned them.

Even if they offended the Hunt Corporation, they shouldn't offend Justin!

As he was thinking, Karl Moore was stunned. "Mr. Hunt, why are you here?"

Justin went downstairs and walked to Ian and Joel's side step by step. He no longer had the arrogance he had when he faced Karl Moore earlier. He first called out, "Uncle Ian, Brother Joel."

Then, he looked at Karl Moore. "Because my fiancée is here."

Karl Moore was speechless.

Justin asked again, "Are you sure the assassin organization wants to become enemies with both the Smiths and the Hunts?"

Karl Moore thought about it carefully and frowned.

Of course, he did not want to make enemies of the two most powerful families in New York, but he had to return the favor for Jill.

After all, he was still someone who had tender feelings for the fairer sex.

Jill was crying like a pear blossom bathed in rain in front of his eyes. When he thought of how the two of them had been affectionate for a period of time many years ago, he snorted and looked up.

Seeing that he was about to say something that would shatter the relations between the three sides, Justin suddenly said, "Actually, Mr. Karl Moore, why don't we each take a step back?"

Karl Moore froze.

Justin glanced at Joel.

As the two men looked at each other, they understood each other's thoughts.

It turned out that they had thought of the same thing.

Joel nodded imperceptibly. Justin took a step forward and said, "The face of the Hunts and Smiths is enough to make Mr. Karl Moore take a step back, right?"

Karl Moore thought for a moment. "What do you propose?"

Justin said, "Why don't we leave this case over to the court to handle? Our two families promise not to use our power. We'll hire the best lawyers and fight a fair lawsuit in court! In the end, the court will determine who the child belongs to. Of course, this way, the Joneses will definitely have the right to visit."

Karl Moore pondered this for a moment.

He had come here today because Jill had said that the Smiths had suppressed them with their power, so they did not even have a chance to sue them.

Justin's words made sense.

He picked up the gun on the table. "Alright, let's do that! But even in New York, the influence of an assassin is unimaginable to you. Mr. Smith, Mr. Hunt, I hope you keep your word! I'll go back now and get Hillary to return to the country to prepare for a lawsuit."

Chapter 429 - Returning To The Country!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Karl Moore came and went quickly.

He had always been an energetic man. He had the loyalty of one from the pugilistic world, and he was also frank and domineering. Being able to become the leader of the assassin organization was enough to prove his personal charm.

Actually, if he did not go against the Smiths, he would still be a respected big shot.

After he left, Joel looked at Justin and the two of them smiled at each other.

Ian looked at them and suddenly smiled. “The two brats are starting to scheme with each other!”

Joel smiled awkwardly. “Uncle Ian, it’s not really a scheme.”

Justin smiled faintly. The mole at the corner of his eye was glistening, and his appearance gave Ian a headache.

Why was the man so arrogant?

No wonder Nora had even given birth to his child. He indeed had the right to be proud of his looks. Sigh!

As he thought about this, Justin said, “Hillary is overseas. Switzerland is Karl Moore’s territory. Only by bringing her back can she be executed.”

Karl Moore was an unreasonable person.

Even if Joel told him the truth, he would protect the person he wanted to protect until the end.

Therefore, he might as well beat them at their own game!

As for offending the assassin organization... Ha, Joel and Justin had never considered that!

Hillary had to pay for bullying Mia and Tanya!

Joel smiled at Justin. This smile dispelled all his prejudices and he said directly, "Thank you."

Earlier, if Joel had said to take a step back, Karl Moore might have wondered if he had any suspicious intentions.

However, it was different when Justin suggested it. It was very easy for Karl Moore to trust him.

Justin smiled faintly, hiding his achievements and fame. "You're welcome."

The two men who had competed in the business industry many times had completely reconciled at this moment.

Ian glared at his nephew and could not help but cry in his heart. It's over. The Smiths have been conquered by this man again!

—

After Karl Moore left the Smiths, a row of people walked into a black car.

On the way, someone asked, "Boss, do you want to show the Smiths and Hunts some face? They actually dare to challenge you?"

Karl Moore instantly slapped the guy's head. "Kid, underestimating your enemy is your greatest mistake! Otherwise, you won't even know what hit you."

The guy shrank his neck and scratched his head. “Aren’t they just two very rich families? With Black Cat on our side, we can just make a move and kill the two leaders!”

When Karl Moore heard this, he missed Black Cat a little. “Without Black Cat, I don’t even have the confidence to challenge others. Seriously, where did Black Cat go?”

The subordinate was speechless.

They arrived at the hotel where Karl Moore was temporarily staying. As soon as they entered, they saw Jill running around the lobby anxiously.

When she saw him, she immediately walked forward. When she saw the people behind him, her eyes shook. But for her daughter... she mustered up the courage to ask, “How was it?”

Karl Moore said, “Hillary can return to the country. They promised to fight a court case fair and square in the country!”

A court case?

Jill heaved a sigh of relief and then became worried. “Why must we stay here? Isn’t it your territory overseas?”

Karl Moore sneered. “It’s indeed my territory overseas, but you will receive a court summons here. Whether you go or not is still a question. Anyway, don’t worry. They have agreed not to use any tricks or power this time.”

With that, he looked at Jill. “As long as it’s a fair lawsuit, what are you afraid of? Isn’t it only right and proper for a mother to get her child back? Even if the court takes into account the financial power of the Smiths, don’t worry. With me around, nothing will happen to the Joneses’ financial situation in the future!”

Upon hearing his words, Jill was relieved. “You’re right. Hillary wants to return to the country. We can’t let that adulterous couple live happily!”

Upon hearing this, Karl Moore looked at Jill and asked, “I heard that Tanya is also your daughter?”

Jill’s eyes flickered. “No, she’s my elder brother’s illegitimate daughter. Back then, no one cared about her, so I adopted her. I didn’t expect to raise such an ingrate! Hillary is my biological daughter!”

Karl Moore was enlightened when he heard this.

He had actually investigated Jill. There was less than a year between Tanya and Hillary’s birth. Her pregnancy would take ten months, and with a month of confinement, this was too close!

It turned out that Tanya was not her biological daughter. That made sense.

Karl Moore did not care about these questions. Instead, he said, “I’ve already arranged for someone to bring Hillary back.”

He looked at the time. “Your family will be reunited tonight. You don’t have to be afraid of the Smiths. Since they promised me, they won’t do anything to your family!”

Jill nodded and looked up at Karl Moore pitifully. Her eyes were filled with tears. “Thank you, thank you... Otherwise, we would really be bullied this time. I don’t even know what to do...”

Jill was old, but she still had her own way of acting coquettishly.

Karl Moore found it a little strange.

The way she looked when she was young made people dote on her. When she became older, it was a little... disgusting.

Cough.

Karl Moore moved his gaze away. “Alright, you can go back. Contact me if there’s anything! Don’t worry, I won’t ignore you.”

Jill nodded.

At night, Hillary returned home.

As soon as she arrived at the residence, she saw Mr. Jones pacing around anxiously in the living room. When he saw her, he instantly said, “What are you messing around for? For Mia’s sake, the Smiths will always take care of our family! If you go against them like this, what will happen in the future if you lose?”

Hillary was scolded by him loudly.

Madam Jones scolded Mr. Jones, “What are you saying about the child? This is our daughter. Are you even human? If you don’t care about her, I’ll find someone who can compete with the Smiths. I won’t let my daughter suffer!”

When Hillary heard this, she threw herself into Madam Jones’s arms and cried. “Mom...”

Madam Jones touched Hillary’s head. “Alright, alright. After you snatch the child back, go overseas. I believe he can help you.”

Hillary nodded, but she was a little anxious. “But Mom, what if we lose this case?”

“Lose?”

Jill shook her head. “How could we lose? After all, we already have the upper hand in public opinion!”

Hillary was taken aback.

Public opinion?

Chapter 430 - Public Opinion!

Translator: Atlas Studios Editor: Atlas Studios

Tanya did not know about Karl Moore.

She only knew that they were about to go to court with Hillary.

The next day was Monday. She brought Mia and Brandon to school as usual... As she had stayed with the Smiths last night, Joel personally took the three of them to kindergarten this morning.

At the door, Tanya was a little nervous. "I'll get out of the car first. Don't let the teachers see me!"

Joel stared at her in the driver's seat. "What are you afraid of? Or do you not want to be seen with Mia?"

Upon hearing this, Tanya immediately shook her head. "How could that be?!"

She had just acknowledged her daughter, and she did not want to be separated from her for even a moment.

Joel said, "Then be magnanimous and take your daughter to kindergarten!"

"Alright, then."

Tanya nodded.

The car arrived at the entrance of the kindergarten. Brandon got out of the car first and followed their teacher into the kindergarten. Tanya held Mia's hand and walked in.

When the teachers in the kindergarten saw them, their expressions changed. Someone asked awkwardly, "Ms. Turner, why are you here with Mia?"

Before Tanya could say anything, Mia answered timidly, “Mommy was at my house yesterday!”

‘Mommy’...

This greeting made the other teachers even more puzzled.

They looked at each other and then came to a realization. They forced a smile at Tanya. “Okay, go in.”

Tanya thought that the other party’s gaze was too ambiguous. She lowered her head and brought Mia into the kindergarten.

Then, she sent Mia to her class and went to the dance studio.

Mia sat in her seat after entering the class.

Pete was worried about Nora, so he did not come to school. Mia sat alone in the corner, small and timid.

The other children kept their distance from her.

The adults at home had told them that Mia was weak and that they definitely couldn’t bully her in the kindergarten or get too close.

If anything happened to Mia and her illness acted up, they would be blamed.

Therefore, Mia had always been alone.

It was just that recently, Pete had been closer to her and would bring her along every time they played. Cherry was the class’s favorite, and everyone played around her. Therefore, Mia gradually got to play with everyone.

But today, the children were far away from her.

Mia looked at Fawn sitting beside her and said, “Fawn, let’s go...”

Before she finished, Fawn waved her hand. “I don’t want to. I don’t want to play with you. My mother said that you are an ingrate!”

Mia: “???”

She was stunned and looked around in confusion.

All the children seemed to have heard this and began to point at Mia with disdain.

Someone even asked her, “Mia, don’t you want your mother anymore? Do you want Ms. Turner to be your mother? Isn’t your mother sad to see you like this?”

Mia bit her lip. “But Ms. Turner is my mother...”

However, the five-year-olds could not differentiate the truth at all. They only believed whatever their parents said.

They all began to isolate Mia.

On Mia’s side, she was isolated from everyone. After all, she was a child of the Smiths and they didn’t dare to bully her. However, Tanya’s situation wasn’t much better than hers.

After one class in the dance studio, she had no classes for the day, so she went to the office to rest.

Before she could enter, she heard voices coming from inside.

“She looks like a straightforward person. Why is she interfering in someone else’s family?”

“Yes, you can’t tell from her appearance that she’s such a person...”

“Tsk, can a mistress carve the words “mistress” on her face? But Ms. Turner is indeed good-looking. She has the capital...”

“But Mr. Smith is too much. It’s bad enough that he cheated on her, but he didn’t even let the child’s mother see her child. That’s too much! Indeed, there are no good people in wealthy families.”

“Look, it’s on the trending searches again! Hillary has posted on Facebook!”

Tanya narrowed her eyes when she heard this.

She lowered her head and opened Facebook on her phone.

The top trending topic was indeed a long post on Hillary’s Facebook. Tanya browsed through it. The other party’s general meaning was that Joel had been two-timing back then. After she got pregnant and gave birth to a child, she finally got together with Joel. However, she did not expect the mistress to return and ruin her family. After the man changed his attitude, he became even more ruthless and asked her to go overseas and not meet his daughter again. Tanya even coaxed her daughter to call her “Mommy.” Her only request now is to take her daughter away... She only hoped that the court would give her justice.

If someone not in the know saw this, they would definitely scold Tanya and Joel!

Furthermore, as a famous dancer and an artist, Tanya had her own Facebook. She already had more than a million followers.

Hillary had even tagged her, causing many people to privately message her. Some even cursed her to die a horrible death.

Tanya lowered her eyes at the various vicious words.

At that moment, a voice sounded from behind. “Ms. Turner, what are you standing here for?”

With this sentence, the female teachers in the room who had gathered together and were whispering suddenly stopped and looked at the door in surprise.

Seeing that she had been seen through, Tanya walked into the office.

She looked at the female teachers who were talking and their condemning gazes and said directly, “Sometimes, what you see isn’t everything. Before you know the truth, I hope you can maintain your rationality. Furthermore, the case is about to start. There will always be an explanation!”

However, it would have been fine if she had not spoken. The moment she did, the righteous teachers began to attack her.

“Ms. Turner, I don’t know what kind of emotional entanglements you had with Mr. Smith in the past, and it’s true that Mia’s mother and Mr. Smith are not married. If you get involved, calling you a third wheel is a little too much. But! You shouldn’t have stopped the child’s mother from seeing the child!”

“Yes, the child is still young. Do you think you can hide the truth by making her call you Mommy? When she grows up, she’ll know who her biological mother is sooner or later.”

“Yeah, this is too much...”

“The men in wealthy families are really heartless. If Mr. Smith can treat Mia’s mother like this today, wouldn’t he treat you like this too in the future when he finds someone else to love?”

“Ms. Turner, it’s best to have a conscience.”

“...”

Hearing those words, Tanya sneered. “Then do you know what the truth is?”

Chapter 431 - Ferment

The truth?

Who would care about the truth at this point?

The teachers curled their lips disdainfully and said nothing

After all, they had interacted with Mia a lot in school in the past, and Hillary had seemed like a good mother to outsiders.

Hillary hadn't dared to do anything too obvious all these years. At the very least, there was still Joel who had been keeping an eye on her. How would she possibly dare to abuse Mia?

Thus, no one had ever considered that Mia might not be her daughter.

However, these were the wealthy's private affairs. The teachers didn't dare to make overly-arrogant comments, either. After all, Mr. Smith could easily just make them lose their jobs.

Seeing that no one was saying anything anymore, Tanya didn't bother explaining anything else. After all, the fact that Mia was her daughter was a trump card that Joel was saving for the confrontation in court. Should they reveal it now, Karl might make other arrangements, or even straight-up send Hillary away.

Since no one was saying anything anymore, both parties could just live in peace.

In the afternoon, the principal of the kindergarten came up to them. With a worried look on his face, he said, "Ms. Turner, there are a few reporters outside..."

Reporters?

Tanya narrowed her eyes. In the end, she sighed and said, “Forget it. I’ll go on leave for the next few days.”

The principal was relieved. “Okay. Will you and Mia be leaving together? Or separately?”

Tanya thought for a while. She couldn’t rest assured leaving her five-year-old daughter here. Moreover, the two had only just acknowledged each other, so it would be nice to stay at home together for a few days to bond with each other.

Therefore, Tanya replied, “I will leave with Mia.”

She entered the classroom and told Mia to come out. Then, she decided to leave quietly from the back door to avoid attracting the attention of the reporters at the front door.

Unexpectedly, the moment she exited the back door, another group of reporters came forward and surrounded her and Mia.

“Ms. Turner, what are your thoughts about being called a mistress on the Internet?”

“Ms. Turner, are you really a third wheel in someone else’s relationship?”

“Why are you forbidding the child’s mother from visiting her? Don’t you think it’s too much of you guys to do that?!” “Ms. Turner, a mother’s relationship with her daughter is something you cannot stop or destroy. Mistresses can never completely take the position of a lawful wife! This will not end well for the two of you!”

Tanya frowned and pressed Mia’s head against her chest as she hugged her tightly.

In spite of that, a sharp-eyed reporter still spotted her. She immediately pointed the microphone at the child in Tanya’s arms, and even reached out and tapped the little girl. “You must be little Mia, right? Little girl, do you not want your mother anymore?”

Mia received a huge fright. There was a timid look in her eyes.

She looked over and glanced at the reporter, but Tanya pressed her head back against her chest. Tanya gave the reporter a warning look and said, “She is just a child. Don’t target her!”

The rest of the reporters had moral boundaries to some extent, but that particular reporter remained aggressive. It was obvious at one glance that she had been bribed by Hillary. She sneered, “Are you afraid that the girl will say that she wants her mother if we ask her questions? Is that why you’re not even letting her speak? Ms. Turner, you’re too arrogant for a mistress!”

Tanya wanted to speak, but Mia, who was in her arms, suddenly lifted her head.

The little girl had always been timid and a pushover, but in this instant, she wanted to protect her mother. She shouted, “I want Daddy and Mommy Tanya! You’re not allowed to badmouth Mommy Tanya!”

A child’s reaction was the most genuine.

The rest of the reporters were stunned.

However, the same reporter said, “Little girl, where’s your conscience? Your mom went through so much to give birth to you after ten months of pregnancy. Are you going to be an ingrate? What exactly did Tanya Turner give you for you to protect her like this?! Or is it because you think that your father is richer and more powerful than your mother, so you want to stay with your father instead? How can you be so practical when you’re still a child? Or perhaps, you are being threatened by your father or Ms. Turner?”

Mia had never been questioned like that before. The reporter’s questions made her dumbfounded.

Mist formed in her eyes, and she cried out while in tears, “Sob! Don’t scold Mommy Tanya anymore!”

Tanya was infuriated.

Seeing that the reporter's microphone was about to jab right into Mia's face, and that there was even a camera filming Mia, she pushed the reporter angrily. Then, she grabbed the camera and smashed it onto the ground!

Smash!

The camera shattered all over the ground.

At this point, in the distance, the bodyguards and kindergarten security guards, who had sensed something wrong, rushed over and separated Tanya from the reporters.

Tanya stared at the reporter and said, "Don't drag the children in the adults' affairs! I've already said that just now! As for the camera, I will compensate you for it!"

With Mia in her arms, Tanya strode toward the van nearby.

It was only after they got in the car that Tanya finally put Mia down.

The little girl was shaking. Her eyes were all red, and she had tears in them. She asked weakly, "Mommy, did I do something wrong? Why are those people being so fierce to me?"

Her words made Tanya's heart ache.

She thought of the situation just now, and she became so angry that she felt like she was about to explode.

She picked up her phone and dialed Joel's number at once. "Goddammit, I'm going to sue that reporter!"

When Joel heard her swearing, he asked, "What's the matter?"

After Tanya explained what had happened, Joel's voice was even colder than hers. "That reporter is going to jail for life!"

Joel hurried home and arrived just as Tanya and Mia reached home.

It was only when he saw that the two women were safe and sound that he finally breathed a sigh of relief. However, when he saw that both Tanya's and Mia's eyes were all red, Joel's eyes narrowed. Fortunately, the trial would be commencing the next day, so his wife and daughter would no longer have to suffer such grievances.

He took a deep breath, took a step forward, and put his arms around Tanya's and Mia's shoulders.

He didn't expect the matter to ferment further in the evening, though.

His assistant handed his phone to Joel and showed him the news. When he looked at it, he found that the number one trending topic on social media right now was about that reporter. The reporter was crying as she looked into the camera. "To cameramen and photographers, the camera is tantamount to their life, as well as their most precious partner. But Ms. Turner smashed my camera so arrogantly. She also said that the Smiths would compensate me for it..."

"But they instead sued me after that. If it weren't for a certain someone who helped me out, I would probably be under investigation in the police station right now!"

"Even so, I have received a lot of bloody packages in the mail. It is clear that they are threatening me! I am not afraid of threats, and I will fight against the power they hold to the death! I will not succumb to their threats! Even if the power they wield is too arrogant and too fearsome.

"My friends, if you don't see me tomorrow, then it must be because I've been attacked. I don't want to die! Please help me!"

The video's comments section was full of curses.

Chapter 432 - The Jealous Lover

The wealthy were generally fastidious about handling things in a low-key fashion. Very few would kick up a huge fuss.

Hillary was intending to fight a battle of public opinion so that the judge would sympathize with her more when they went to court. One could say that she was resorting to very unscrupulous means just to win the lawsuit.

To think the reporter had been released, though... From the looks of it, it was Karl who had done something about it. Joel was rather troubled.

The amount of influence that Karl had in the States had exceeded his expectations a little.

He wasn't really bothered, though. As the head of the Smiths, this bit of trouble was nothing to him. He was just a little worried that Tanya would not be able to take it if she saw the comments.

Joel put down the phone and entered the room.

The moment he did, he heard Tanya reading out the private messages that random people had sent her. "This person says that third wheels in relationships always end up miserable! He's right, a third wheel like Hillary certainly won't have any happiness left!

"This one says that we bullied the little reporter. Tsk, how blind is he? Didn't he see the reporter forcing a kid to answer her questions?

"And this one, too. He says that I don't have any class because I hit the reporter. Hah, he's right. Compared to someone like her who reprimands others when she doesn't even know the truth, I certainly don't have that much class. But I at least don't have such a high level of ideological consciousness that I would interfere in other people's matters..."

Joel: "..."

He had almost forgotten what kind of family Tanya had grown up in. She had already experienced several flaming wars a long time ago, so she didn't give two hoots about it anymore.

Cherry was seated opposite her. "Do you need me to scold them for you, God-mom? I'm really good at dissing people!"

"Do you know how to spell what you want to write?" asked Pete.

Cherry: "..."

Pete took the opportunity to persuade her. "You should practice your spelling when you have time! We have to study hard, okay?"

At the mention of studying, Cherry pouted and said, "You are not lovable anymore, Pete!"

Pete sighed.

The tyrant was strict with him, but he simply spoiled Cherry too much. This led to Cherry not knowing how to spell a lot of words, even though she was already five. He looked down at his Mathematical Olympiad problems that were nearly at high school-level, and felt that his sister was simply too stupid!

Tanya laughed when she saw the two children bicker. "The two of you are so... but it's true that you should practice your spellings properly, Cherry. Mia can already spell more than 500 words!"

Cherry curled her lips disdainfully. "If I really wanted to do it, I could memorize 500 spellings in a minute. I just don't want to, that's all! Besides, Daddy said that I am a girl, so I don't have to tire myself out like that!"

Tanya: "..."

She quickly put her arms around Mia and said to her, "Don't follow what Cherry does, okay?" Mia nodded sensibly. "Okay, Mommy!" Every time she heard Mia calling her 'Mommy', Tanya's heart would melt a little. She smiled and said, "My little baby Mia is so well-behaved~"

Mia's cheeks flushed at once.

Next to them, Cherry stuck out her tongue. "You're calling her a little baby when she's already five? God-mom, you are too mushy!" Tanya looked up at her. "No matter how old you become, to your mothers, all of you will always be children!"

Cherry tilted her head but didn't refute her this time.

At this point, Joel came in and said, "Mia is also a girl, so she doesn't need to study that hard."

Tanya glared at him. "Don't be a slave to your daughter like Mr. Hunt! Besides, Mia is different from Cherry..."

Cherry was always filled with confidence.

1

Although Nora hadn't said anything about it before, Tanya had nevertheless discovered that the little girl was very smart, and could quickly master anything she was learning. As for Mia, perhaps because she had been brought up by Hillary, she was always lacking in confidence. She was always afraid that other people would dislike her, or that she wouldn't perform well enough.

A person like her would only be confident and have a better future if she became strong. Every child was different.

Tanya had specially taken psychology classes before she joined the kindergarten as a teacher.

Joel, who had been lectured, touched his nose. Then, he said, "Don't look at the news on the Internet anymore."

Tanya nodded and tossed the phone aside. “I find them very ignorant, too. I read it just now because I wanted to strengthen Mia’s mental resilience. Say, why are they so childish, though? Is it actually that easy to make them think a certain way?”

Joel replied, “They are just a bunch of trolls on the Internet. Don’t bother yourself with them.”

Tanya nodded again and said with a smile, “There are still people who are supportive of me! For example...”

“For example, the young and popular singer, Clement Carter?”

Joel suddenly raised his eyebrows as he stared at the trending topics on social media on the phone before he shifted his gaze to Tanya.

Tanya was taken aback. “What’s up with Clement?”

Joel handed her the phone. Only then did Tanya notice that the hashtag #ClementCarterSpeaksUpForTanyaTheThirdWheel was trending

Tanya: “?”

When she tapped on the hashtag, she found out that Clement’s latest tweet was:

Clement Carter: “Don’t just follow the herd. To me, Ms. Turner has always been an open and straightforward person. She would never do that sort of thing. I trust her. @TanyaDances”

Tanya: “...”

Clement wasn’t a pop star. Rather, he was a singer and music artist. His voice was said to hail from the heavens, and he could switch between high pitch and low pitch very easily.

Clement enjoyed extremely high international acclaim.

He had a rich voice and a very wide vocal range. No matter how difficult the song was, he could easily handle it.

At the same time, he was also part of the Carters in New York. The family itself had a very strong artistic background and was a true family of artists.

When Tanya saw the verbal abuse he was suffering because he had spoken up for her, she couldn't help but ask, "Why is he sticking his head out at such a time?"

The way she spoke sounded as if she was very close to him.

Joel asked sourly, "Does your heart ache because he was scolded?"

Tanya: "..."

She finally noticed the jealous lover in front of her. Tanya burst out laughing and said, "It's Clement, you know. It's not like you don't know him. Didn't we play a lot with one another when we were kids?"

Joel snorted. Tanya said, "When I left the country, he also went abroad for further studies. We once had a cross-industry artistic collaboration where he sang and I danced, so we got to know each other better."

"Tsk."

Joel couldn't help but say, "He sings while you dance. That sounds lovely."

Tanya burst into loud laughter again. She knew that Joel was not really jealous. Rather, he was just teasing her because he was worried that she would be affected by the remarks on the internet.

She pointed at Joel and asked, "Did someone fill you up with jealousy today?" Joel was relieved to see that she was really alright.

In the evening, the two of them watched over Mia.

As they lay on either side of Mia, Joel looked at Tanya and suddenly asked, "Are you nervous about going to court tomorrow?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 433 - Going To Court!

With Mia in between, Tanya looked back at him. Fearing that she might wake Mia, her voice was very low and soft as she replied, “No, I’m not.”

Joel made a sound of acknowledgment.

Tanya thought that he was going to sleep, so she pulled the quilt over herself and closed her eyes.

It was summer, so the air conditioner in the room was turned very low. Tanya and Mia shared a quilt while Joel used another quilt.

When Tanya was about to fall asleep, Joel’s soft voice reached her. “Don’t worry, Tanya. I will definitely make Hillary pay for what she did.”

Surprised, Tanya turned to Joel. In the dark, she could see a cold look in his eyes. He didn’t raise his voice, but it was as if there was power in his words. “I won’t let anyone bully the two of you anymore.”

Tanya pressed her lips together. Her eyes reddened and sorrow welled up in her.

When she was young, she had tried her best and given her all for love, but she hadn’t known how to love. She would kick up a huge fuss whenever she met with the slightest bit of unhappiness and often threatened to break up whenever they quarreled.

It was as if she was fearless.

It’s only when one recovers what they have lost that they finally discover how precious the love is.

She suddenly hated her past self. Why had she called Joel when she saw the photo? Why hadn’t she gone to him with the photo and asked him for a clear explanation?

If she had asked him for an explanation, and if he hadn't said those hurtful words in a flash of anger, the two of them might not have let these five years pass them by like that.

Mia probably would not have been lost, either. Tanya suddenly reached over past Mia. She fumbled around and then held Joel's hand. This time, she would never let go.

—

When they exited the bedroom after waking up the next day, they saw Justin coming out of Nora's bedroom.

Joel subconsciously asked, "Last night, you..." "I slept in the guest room."

The beauty mark at the corner of Justin's eye shimmered as he replied politely, "I just went in to see if she is awake."

Joel breathed a sigh of relief. Sensing that he had made a mountain out of a molehill just now, he coughed and said, "Oh, I wasn't suspecting you of taking the opportunity to take advantage of her. I just wanted to ask if you slept well last night."

Justin glanced at him but didn't expose his brother-in-law's thoughts. After all, his father-in-law still disliked him for some strange reason at the moment.

He needed his brother-in-law's help.

Justin nodded. "I slept pretty well. I'll come to the court with you guys later." Joel said, "Actually, you don't have to go to so much trouble. We've already prepared everything we need in court today." Justin coughed. "I'm going for Nora, lest she gets angry when she wakes up and finds out that I haven't shown enough concern."

Joel: "..."

The corners of his lips spasmed a little. He suddenly felt that his brother-in-law was getting more and more thick-skinned.

The group of people left the house, split up, and got into a few cars. Soon, they arrived at the court entrance.

As soon as they got out of the car, Hillary rushed out from somewhere and went straight up to the two of them before they even entered the court.

Behind Hillary was a large number of reporters.

Thud!

Hillary knelt right in front of Tanya and Joel. Her eyes were red as she said, “Mr. Smith, Tanya. I can give the two of you my blessing and withdraw from the relationship, but you can’t do this to me. Please, I beg you. Give my daughter back to me! Mia is everything to me!”

The reporters whipped out their cameras and started snapping away.

Tanya and Joel looked at each other.

Joel said, “Ms. Jones, the court has the final say today, so please get up.” Hillary, however, was crying very badly. “I was wrong, Mr. Smith. I shouldn’t have pestered you, and I should have withdrawn from the relationship myself, but you can’t just drive me out of the country. Mia was once part of my body, you can’t just separate me from my daughter like this! I believe that Mia wouldn’t be willing to leave her mother, either. Where’s Mia? Mia?”

She looked behind the two of them.

Some of the reporters also looked behind them. They immediately asked: “Where’s the child?”

“Yeah, Mr. Smith, the court instructed you to bring Ms. Smith with you because they may ask the child some questions.” “Did you not bring the child with you? You’re too much!”

Hillary cried even harder. “I haven’t seen Mia for a week, Mr. Smith! I just want to see the girl! Just a look would do!”

Joel and Tanya exchanged a look. Tanya lowered her gaze. When she thought of all the pain she had suffered during those five years, and how reserved and timid Mia was every time she mentioned her mother, a wave of anger surged up in her.

How she wished she could rip Hillary's face apart and cut her into shreds!

To think she still had the cheek to mention the child...

Tanya slowly said, "Hillary, you'll never see the child ever again for the rest of your life!"

After saying that, she held Joel's arm, and the two of them walked straight into the court!

Hillary's tragic and miserable sobs rang out outside. "Tanya, how can you do this to me?! How can you?! My daughter! I just want my daughter!"

The reporters around them did not dare to approach Tanya and Joel-after all, they were outside the court. Thus, they surrounded Hillary.

"Ms. Jones, how confident of winning the lawsuit are you?"

"Ms. Jones, did you file a lawsuit for money or for your daughter?"

Hillary got up. She wiped the tears from her eyes and wept as she said to the camera, "I don't want money! I don't want anything except my daughter!"

With a sad and pitiful look in her eyes, she said, "I know I'm unemployed at the moment, but the Joneses are also rich. I receive dividends from the Joneses' company. I am also willing to work for my daughter's sake!

"My daughter is everything to me!

"I can withdraw from the love triangle, but my daughter is innocent!"

She burst into tears. "Please, everyone, help me! Help me get my daughter back!" She wept fiercely. Her tears made the audience watching the live broadcast full of pity and heartache for her.

For a time, public opinion completely took her side.

Everyone was cursing Tanya and Joel in the comments of the live-stream.

“What makes Tanya think she can take such an aggressive attitude against Hillary? She’s so shameless!”

“Ahhhh!! That sight pisses me off so much! Hillary must win this lawsuit! Otherwise, none of us will accept the outcome!” “Yes, the judiciary should not outweigh feelings. We will fight alongside you in this lawsuit!”

Hillary cried so badly that she had to be helped into the court in the end.

Outsiders were not allowed to enter the lounge at the back.

As soon as Hillary entered, she ran head-on into Tanya.

She cast her eyes down and said sadly, “Tanya, I can give you Joel, but not Mia. I will definitely win the lawsuit!”

Because she already had the upper hand in public opinion!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 434 - The Trial Starts!

Tanya stared at Hillary.

Never would she have ever expected that the woman, who had merely bullied and humiliated her a little five years ago, would actually go as far as to steal her child!

She had only been slightly under twenty years old at that time.

Hillary resembled Jill a lot, but she and Tanya didn't really look alike. Her temper and personality were also similar to Jill's. This must be one of the reasons why Jill had preferred Hillary and disliked Tanya ever since they were kids, right?

With that in mind, Tanya sneered, "We won't know until we reach the end."

Hillary's eyes flickered.

At this moment, Jill, who had entered a moment later than Hillary, spotted the two of them. She immediately charged over, stretched out her arm, and slapped Tanya across her cheek. "You little bitch! Who told you you could come back to the States? It's all your fault that things have come to this point!"

Tanya took a step back.

She was no longer the little girl from the past who couldn't fight back.

She sneered, "We're at the court, Mrs. Jones. Please show some respect, or else I will sue you!"

Jill was furious. "Who are you calling Mrs. Jones? I am your mother!"

Tanya gave her a mocking smile. "Really? But didn't you already tell me a long time ago that you've severed ties with me?"

She took out her cell phone and played an audio recording. It was from five years ago when she was pregnant overseas. It was hard for her to find a job at that time, so she had bitten the bullet and approached Jill to ask for a bit of money for living expenses.

Jill's voice was very calm in the recording.

“$3,000? What are you thinking? I can buy a handbag with that money! Besides, you are already an adult, so I am not obligated to pay for your tuition fees. Think of a solution yourself! Didn't you work part-time during college for your tuition fees? Didn't you say that you will never use even a cent of my money when you were a kid? Heh... “From now on, I will take it that I have never had a daughter like you, while you have never had me as a mother. I hope we will never see each other ever again!”

Those few lines of hers had severed the mother-daughter relationship between Tanya and her. This was also why Tanya had never been to the Joneses despite so much time passing since her return to the States.

When Jill heard the recording, she sneered, “Hah, what an ingrate you are. To think you remember those things I said so clearly. Never mind if you don't want to bear the responsibility of supporting me in old age, because I have never once counted on you to do that, either! But how could you turn around and bully us so maliciously?”

Tanya looked at her and Hillary. She couldn't help but retort, “Who exactly is bullying whom here?”

Her simple one-liner made Hillary and Jill exchange a look. Jill then yelled angrily, “Does it matter who the one bullying the other is? You are the one who's targeting the Joneses now! You'd best agree to settle in private while the trial has yet to start. Otherwise, I will make you pay!”

No one knew what gave her the confidence to say something like that.

When Tanya wanted to reply, Joel asked, “How do you intend to make her pay?” His words made Jill choke

Joel came over, put his arm around Tanya's shoulder, and looked at Jill. "Mrs. Jones, may I ask, what are you planning to do to my fiancée?"

Jill was shocked. "When did the two of you get engaged?"

Joel cast his eyes down. "You don't have to bother yourself with that, Mrs. Jones. I think the two of you should use this time to discuss the case with each other instead of glaring at and saying mean things to my fiancée."

When Jill wanted to reply, Mr. Jones strode over and grabbed both Jill and Hillary. He smiled and said to Joel, "Look at how big a fuss this has become, Mr. Smith... It's all because the kids are so insensible. Please forgive us!"

Joel did not say any more. He dragged Tanya back to the lounge.

After the two of them went in, Mr. Jones flew into a rage as he stared at Jill and Hillary. "Can the two of you stop creating so much trouble?! We are already about to go to court, so stop provoking them and making trouble in private!"

Hillary curled her lips disdainfully. "Dad, all you know is to blame me whenever we run into trouble! They are obviously the ones in the wrong! You're just afraid of Mr. Smith's power, right? But you don't have to be anymore!"

Jill raised her chin slightly at Hillary's words, and she also said impatiently to Mr. Jones, "Alright, that's enough. Karl has already agreed to intervene, so nothing will go wrong!"

Mr. Jones stared at the two women and pointed at them angrily. "Karl will eventually leave. Once he leaves, the Smiths have a thousand and one ways to make us pay! The two of you have created so much trouble for the Joneses!"

However, Jill and Hillary completely ignored him and even curled their lips disdainfully.

Jill even said, “If worse comes to worst, the whole family can just migrate to Switzerland. Karl has both power and authority over there, so he can protect us!”

Mr. Jones: “!!”

He stared at Jill and shouted angrily, “Migrate to Switzerland? The way I see it, it’s more like you and him are still in love, isn’t it?!”

Afraid that others would overhear what he had said, Mr. Jones turned and left angrily.

Hillary stared at him from the back and pursed her lips. She said, “Look at him, Mom. Why do I have such a pushover of a father?! He doesn’t even have the courage to stand up for his daughter! If only Karl was my father!”

Jill’s eyes flickered the moment she said that.

She patted Hillary and said, “Don’t talk nonsense!”

Then, she and Hillary entered the lounge.

Soon, it was time for the trial.

Both parties entered the courtroom and sat opposite each other.

Karl had found a very famous lawyer for Hillary. After both parties took their seats, the judge asked the plaintiff to speak. The attorney immediately stood up and said reproachfully,

“Mr. Smith, where is Ms. Mia Smith? The court had instructed you to bring her here so that she can be asked whether she wants to stay with her father or her mother. Why didn’t you bring her?”

He looked at the judge and went on. “Or is it because you have no respect for the court at all? And think you can do whatever you want because of the Smiths’ power?”

“It has been very long since my client last saw her daughter. By separating mother and daughter from each other, and showing no respect for the court, your actions are simply atrocious!”

As Hillary had made a huge fuss and blown up the lawsuit before the trial, everyone was afraid that the Smiths would bribe the judge, so they had vehemently demanded a live-stream of the court proceedings.

After giving it some thought, the court had agreed to the public’s request.

Therefore, the trial was currently being broadcast live.

People were commenting fiercely in the live-stream:

“Isn’t he showing too little respect to the law?”

“He’s so arrogant! But with so many of us watching, the court won’t cover up for the Smiths!”

Amid the discussion, the judge frowned. After all, the fact that Joel had not brought Mia along had gone against their wishes. His actions were indeed rather disrespectful of the court.

He frowned. At this point, the defendant’s attorney stood up.

Chapter 435 - The Plaintiff Turns Into The Defendant!!

When the people watching the live-stream saw the lawyer stand, all of them started ranting in the comments.

“That lawyer has no conscience! How can he help the Smiths in this lawsuit? Who knows how much money the Smiths have given him?”

“I heard that lawyer has never lost any of his cases. He’s definitely gonna lose the one today, right?”

“Mr. Lawyer, can you have a bit of a conscience? How can you help the Smiths bully a weak and helpless woman? I am so disappointed in you!”

“I hope the lawyer dies together with his whole family!”

Hillary and her attorney next to her were also paying attention to the happenings online.

In addition, there were also people constantly keeping the judge up-to-date about the people’s opinions. After all, he had to take the people’s opinions into consideration, too.

The judge sighed when he heard that everyone was taking the plaintiff’s side.

It would probably be very difficult for the defendant to win the case this time!

While he was thinking about it, the defendant’s attorney said, “Your Honor, members of the jury. First of all, I would like to explain the relationship between my client and the plaintiff.”

He walked out from behind the desk, looked at Hillary, and said, “According to my investigations, Mr. Joel Smith and Ms. Tanya Turner have been in love since they were in junior high, and their relationship continued even after they entered college. They are recognized by everyone as a model couple. Mr. Smith and Ms. Turner’s classmates can testify to this. The plaintiff will not deny this, right?”

Hillary narrowed her eyes.

Her attorney stood up and said, “That has nothing to do with the case. After all, a lot of people’s first relationships do not last. Does every spouse have to give way to their partner’s first love just because they have returned? Be it true love or his inability to forget his previous lover, it is no reason or excuse for Mr. Smith to cheat on and betray Ms. Jones!”

His answer was very well-worded. A whole row of thumbs-ups appeared in the comments.

“That lawyer said it! No matter what, they have already broken up back then. To put it bluntly, even if Jones was the third wheel in Turner and Smith’s relationship back then, the two of them have already had a child together. Tanya Turner shouldn’t have come back!”

“I’ve just imagined a big story about Turner coming back for revenge!”

“Don’t say any more. Let’s listen to them instead. What if the reason for Turner and Smith’s breakup back then wasn’t Jones?”

Almost at the same time the comment appeared, the defendant’s attorney said, “Of course. My client requested that I make this clear in the courtroom in front of the judge and everyone in the country because he doesn’t want Ms. Turner to be called a third wheel.”

The plaintiff’s lawyer couldn’t help but laugh when he heard what he said. He looked straight at the judge and said, “Objection, Your Honor. That has nothing to do with the case. What we are here to talk about is Ms. Mia Smith’s custody, and not who the real third wheel of their relationship is!”

Tanya, who was seated in the defendant's dock, was surprised.

She turned and looked at Joel.

The two of them had agreed that they would immediately lay out sufficient evidence at the beginning of the trial, and change her status from the defendant to the plaintiff. She hadn't expected her attorney to actually walk out and say something like that.

Was Joel... trying to clear her name?

The plaintiff's attorney looked at the defendant's attorney, as well as Joel and Tanya who were seated in the dock. He said, "Even if my client had been the third wheel in your relationship back then, she did not break the law! Moreover, she even gave birth to a daughter for Mr. Smith. As a mother, she has the right and duty to raise her child!"

The defendant's attorney looked straight at the judge. "Your Honor, I mentioned the past because this case can no longer be looked at normally. Humans are creatures of emotion. When everyone is censuring my client, I have the right to defend them. I ask the court for permission to explain things clearly to everyone."

The judge looked at Hillary, and then at Tanya and Joel. At last, he nodded. "Permission granted."

The defendant's attorney looked straight at Hillary. "You were the third wheel in Mr. Smith and Ms. Turner's relationship back then. Do you admit to this?"

Hillary curled her lips disdainfully. "They were just dating back then. It's not like they were married, so you can't say that I was the third wheel at all! Mr. Smith and I were also really in love back then!"

"Is that so?" The defendant's attorney couldn't help but smile. "But as far as I know, even though you claim that you have given birth to a daughter for Mr. Smith, the two of you did not become engaged or hold a wedding. Moreover, Mr. Smith also signed an agreement with you back then. The agreement says that once Ms. Mia Smith is five years old, Mr. Smith will terminate his marriage agreement with you, and the two of you will regain your respective freedom. Accordingly, the Smiths will take care of the Joneses' business during those five years. Once the agreement is terminated, Ms. Mia Smith's custody is to go to Mr. Smith. Therefore, can I interpret this as a transaction, except that Ms. Jones intends to go back on her word?!"

Hillary was rendered speechless.

The people in support of Hillary in the comments were also stunned. For a while, they didn't quite know what to say.

"In that case, it seems that the Smiths aren't in the wrong?"

"But isn't it too much to prevent the mother from seeing her daughter?"

The plaintiff's attorney stood up. "The relationship between a mother and her daughter cannot be described as a transaction. Ms. Jones is not a surrogate mother! That agreement was illegal from the start! Besides, as Ms. Smith's mother, Ms. Jones has visitation rights!"

He glanced at Hillary.

Hillary immediately got the hint.

Before they came here, the two of them had already discussed how they should deal with the agreement. Hillary immediately started to weep. "Yes, that's why I want to ask the court for help in mediation. It was my first time being a mother back then. The Smiths are too powerful, so I had no other choice. But during the last five years where my daughter and I were dependent on each other, we have already developed strong feelings for each other. How can one control their own emotions? Your Honor, what kind of agreement can stop a mother from seeing her own children?"

She then started to cry bitterly. "Please, Mr. Smith, give me a way out! I've already fallen into depression because I can't see my daughter!"

The plaintiff's lawyer immediately produced a diagnostic report for depression. "This is my client's diagnostic report. She misses her daughter too much. I hope the court can be considerate toward her difficulties."

At the sight, everyone in the comments suddenly started to sympathize with Hillary again.

"The Smiths are simply too cold-blooded! The richer people are, the more domineering they become! They don't care for people's feelings at all! How can they let the child grow up in a family like that?!"

"Exactly! It is not right to stop a mother from meeting her daughter! How can they do that?!"

"The Smiths are too much!" "The child's mother is already depressed. She's so pitiful. She just wants to see her child, what's so wrong about that?"

"Who knows, maybe the Smiths had threatened her into signing the agreement back then!"

"My god, look at where the defendants are! Turner and Smith are completely expressionless even when they saw Jones crying so badly! They are so heartless! Capitalists are the worst!"

"Yes, they are too inhumane! The child may not understand anything right now, but she will hate them once she grows up and realizes the truth!"

Everyone's words and the stances they took were conveyed to the judge.

The judge glanced at the defendants. They had completely lost the public's support.

However, at the defendant's dock, Tanya was still glaring at Hillary furiously while Joel was expressionless. Even their attorney looked completely calm as if he was not moved by Hillary's cries at all.

He lowered his gaze and asked, "The defendants, what else do you have to say?"

Joel and Tanya exchanged a look.

Tanya had a firm look in her eyes, but her eyes were gradually turning red.

Joel turned to the attorney and nodded at him.

Following the nod, the defendant's attorney suddenly walked out from behind the desk and looked at the judge. "Your Honor, I have a piece of evidence I'd like to submit."

The judge nodded.

The defendant's lawyer handed over two documents.

The judge was shocked when he saw the documents, and his expression changed drastically. He glanced at Tanya with a complicated look in his eyes, and then looked at Hillary with a frown. Disgust flashed across his eyes.

In the comments, everyone was speculating. "What evidence is that? It actually made the judge's expression totally change." "Oh no, the way he's looking at Smith and Turner isn't that cold anymore. Could it be that they didn't submit evidence but a check just now?" "How can they bribe the judge so openly? They are too much!"

Hillary glanced at the comments out of the corner of her eye. When she saw that all the comments were siding with her, the corners of her lips curled up slightly.

However, it was at this moment that the defendant's attorney slowly said, "Your Honor, members of the jury. On behalf of my client Ms. Tanya Turner, I shall now file a lawsuit against Ms. Hillary Jones for maliciously stealing Ms. Turner's child five years ago!! This led to my client being separated from her daughter for as long as five years. May the law impose the most severe sanction on Ms. Jones! I demand that Ms. Jones compensate my client for emotional damages, as well as damages for material losses incurred while searching for her daughter for the last five years!"

His words caused a furor to go through everyone!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 436 - Pleading Guilty!

Hillary got up abruptly and looked at them in disbelief.

What did they say just now?

How could this be?!

How did she know?!

She understood Tanya very well. Because she loved Joel too much, she would never tell him that she had lost her child. After all, who wouldn't be miserable about losing their child?

But if it wasn't her who had brought it up, Joel would never imagine that Mia might be Tanya's daughter... So, how did they realize the truth?!

Terribly shocked, she stared in front of her in astonishment.

At the same time, countless question marks also flashed across the comments.

“???”

“????” “???”

The plaintiff's attorney was dumbfounded while the comments were being filled with question marks. He asked, “What nonsense are you saying?”

The defendant's... no, the defendant had already turned into the plaintiff at this point. The attorney looked straight at Hillary. As a lawyer, he had always been calm when handling cases, but when he realized the truth, even he couldn't help but subconsciously become angry when he looked at the woman. He spoke loudly and forcefully. “The evidence in the judge's and the jury's hands can prove whether I'm talking nonsense or not! The evidence consists of two reports, one is a DNA test report conducted for Ms. Turner and Ms. Mia Smith, and the other is proof that Ms. Jones had stolen the baby! On the day that Ms. Turner gave birth, Ms. Jones had booked a return ticket from Switzerland! Even though she went there by herself, she had returned with a baby!”

His words made Hillary’s attorney dumbfounded.

Before the trial, attorneys would typically probe into their client’s private affairs in order to prevent the other party from producing surprise evidence that they weren’t prepared for.

Therefore, Hillary had even told her attorney the truth about her being the third wheel in Joel and Tanya’s relationship beforehand. That was why the attorney hadn’t even once accused Tanya of being the third wheel in Hillary’s family, for fear that the other party would take advantage of it to counterattack.

Never would he have ever expected such an unbelievable plot twist!

The plot twist was simply too big. The lawsuit between Hillary and Joel had turned straight into one about Hillary’s crime!!

They had evidence that she had stolen their child!

He didn’t doubt the authenticity of the evidence because the judge and the others would undoubtedly verify it. He was just staring at Hillary in shock, astonishment, and disbelief.

In this instant, he could even feel his career as an attorney ending!

Seeing that her attorney wasn’t saying anything but just staring at her, Hillary panicked. She suddenly stood up. “I didn’t do anything like that! That’s total nonsense!”

Tanya’s eyes narrowed as she looked at her. “The evidence can prove whether or not I am talking nonsense! The DNA test shows that Mia and I have a 99% DNA match!! These numbers could never lie!” Hillary swallowed and looked at the gallery.

Karl and Jill were seated in the gallery.

A somewhat incredulous Jill stood up abruptly when the plot twist came. She subconsciously looked at Karl.

Karl, who also seemed stunned by the plot twist, looked at Jill with a puzzled look.

Jill swallowed. She was about to say something when Justin, who was sitting behind Karl, suddenly said, “Mr. Moore, I’m sure you must know the truth of the matter by now. Wouldn’t it be rather unreasonable if you continue to help Hillary Jones fight for the child’s custody?”

Karl choked.

He had only helped Jill and stood up for her on account of their past relationship. After all, if Hillary was Mia’s mother, the Smiths’ actions would indeed be going too far.

But now...

If he continued to help Hillary fight for the child, then wouldn’t he just be making trouble for no reason?

He coughed and replied, “Of course. The Assassin Organization is not unreasonable.”

Justin nodded. Then, he immediately looked at Mr. Jones, who was seated nearby Jill. The astonishment in his eyes didn’t seem to be fake, and he looked like he wasn’t aware of his daughter’s actions at all. He slowly said, “Mr. Jones, are the Joneses still supportive of Hillary’s fight for the child’s custody?”

Given how even Karl wasn’t going to help anymore, there was no way Mr. Jones would have the guts to step forward, either. He shook his head and stammered, “M-Mr. Hunt, I really didn’t know about what Hillary did! She did it all by herself! It has nothing to do with the Joneses!” Jill looked at

Mr. Jones furiously. “How can you say that? She’s your daughter! Is that how you should be treating Hillary?!”

An annoyed Mr. Jones retorted, “Even if she’s my daughter, I still didn’t expect her to actually do something like that! She stole someone else’s child! How can she do that?!” The furious Jill panicked. “Even so, you can’t just ignore her! Surely you can’t just watch as she goes to jail?!”

Justin didn’t say anything else. Instead, he looked at the stand.

From the looks of it, it seemed that neither Karl nor Mr. Jones were intending to help anymore. In that case, Jill and Hillary would no longer be able to make any more trouble.

On the judge’s bench.

The judge and the jury were already looking at one another. The judge then looked at Hillary. “There is substantial evidence in my hands, and there are both witnesses and physical evidence against you. What else do you have to say?!”

Hillary knew that what’s done is done at this point and that there was nothing she could do anymore to save herself.

She looked straight at Tanya. In the end, she yelled shamelessly, “I... I didn’t steal the child! I did go abroad, and I did go to Switzerland, but I found the child somewhere! It... It was... It was Tanya who abandoned her child! Yes, that’s it! Your Honor, you can’t convict me. I saved that child’s life! In fact, you should be holding Tanya responsible for abandoning her newborn baby!”

Everyone was stunned. They hadn’t expected that Hillary would still say such things at this point.

Even her attorney had shut up and was unwilling to defend her anymore.

The judge looked at Tanya and Joel.

Tanya’s eyes were red and she did not speak.

Joel's jaw was clenched tightly and he had lost the usual smile on his face.

Their attorney stood where he was and sneered, "Ms. Jones, I didn't expect you to be so stubborn. It seems like you're someone who holds out hope until faced with the grim reality!

"Your Honor, I have a few pieces of evidence here that will prove that she had indeed stolen the baby! That day, she went to the hospital where Ms. Turner had given birth and bribed two nurses in the hospital. That was how she had successfully stolen the baby from the hospital!

"Also! Your Honor, these are financial accounts detailing how much money and effort my client, Ms. Tanya Turner, spent in order to search for her child over the years.

"Your Honor, as you can see, Ms. Jones shows no sign of taking the initiative to plead guilty even now! I implore you to punish her severely in accordance with the law!!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 437 - Life Imprisonment!!

The more Hillary refused to plead guilty in the case where evidence was conclusive, the less likely she would receive mercy in court.

Her stubbornness was, on the contrary, a positive for Tanya.

The judge frowned, and the way he looked at Hillary changed.

Hillary's legs went limp and she fell onto the chair. She hadn't expected them to still be able to find evidence of her bribing the nurses when two years had already gone by. On top of that, they even managed to get the two nurses to testify as witnesses!

It was all over.

Everything was over!

Tanya's attorney was still speaking. He said, "Your Honor, my client is a dancer with a sizable income, but every year, she pays most of her money to private detectives to engage them in search for her child...

"The millions of dollars she spends on the search each year are nearly the entirety of her income. If she had really abandoned the child, why would she spend that much money searching for her child?!"

"Ms. Jones is still slandering my client even at this point. Not only that, but she even bribed reporters to create public pressure on my client in an attempt to reverse the lawsuit's outcome!"

"I implore the judge to take serious action against her!"

As the attorney's loud and powerful words rang out, the courtroom fell silent.

After discussion, the judge finally announced, “Given the severity of Ms. Hillary Jones’ crime in stealing the child, and the fact that she shows no intention of pleading guilty, let alone any sign of remorse, we will submit the case to the judiciary and have the Attorney-General’s Office bring charges against her, so that they may give her the maximum sentence possible!”

Upon hearing that, Hillary slumped onto the chair.

The maximum sentence was thirty years of imprisonment!!

Thirty years!

By the time she came out of prison thirty years later, she would be old!

No, she didn’t want to go to jail!!

The court had its own procedures. The court hearing today was for Joel and Hillary’s fight for the custody of their daughter. Therefore, the case was closed without even the need for a full trial.

Hillary was arrested on the spot. She would be under the judiciary’s supervision while she waited for her next court hearing.

The comments in the live-stream had undergone a complete reversal. Everyone was censuring Hillary.

“My god, that’s so disgusting! She is so wicked!”

“Let me give everyone a summary of what happened. Not only was Jones the third wheel in their relationship, but she even stole their baby and claimed that she had given birth to her. And now, she is actually fighting them for custody of the girl? She’s so wicked! That woman is beyond salvation!”

“The fact that Turner has been searching for her daughter for so many years has suddenly moved me so much. I apologize for the derogatory remarks I made against Turner when I wasn’t aware of the truth.”

“I also apologize!”.

“A woman like Hillary Jones should be sentenced to death!”

“Yes, not only did she steal a child, but she even thinks that she’s right in doing so. She shows no signs of repentance at all. If she isn’t sentenced to the death penalty, then she should at least be sentenced to life imprisonment! People like her should spend the rest of their life in jail!”

“I agree with the life imprisonment sentence!”

“Thirty years is too little. I agree with the life imprisonment sentence!”

“Agree with the previous comment!”

“+1!”

“+(my cell phone number)!” “+(my ID number)!”

The public opinion reversed in an instant, and the people took Tanya’s side.

When the handcuffed Hillary was being led away, Jill rushed over and hugged her. “Let go of my daughter! Let go of her!”

The sobbing Hillary yelled, “Mom, save me! Save me! I don’t wanna go to jail!! Sob, Dad, save me!”

However, even after the two of them cried their eyes out, none of the police officers were moved. They dragged Hillary out.

Jill was stunned to the spot. The next moment, she grabbed Hillary’s attorney and shouted furiously, “Why didn’t you say anything just now? We paid money to hire you! Why didn’t you defend my daughter?!” The attorney said with a sense of resignation, “Mrs. Jones, it was stated clearly in our contract that the client is not to conceal any information related to the case. Are you actually demanding an explanation from me when your daughter hid such an important matter from me?!”

He was also rather angry. “Besides, if I had known that the child was stolen from someone else, I would never have taken up the case! I have children, too. People like her should go to jail!”

Jill retorted furiously, “You’re the one who should go to jail, you trash lawyer!”

The attorney sighed and said, “Alright, I’m not going to argue with you anymore. I just want to tell you this now-you and Hillary were the ones who directed public opinion on the case, right? Now, she shall have to undergo the backlash!”

Jill was taken aback. “What do you mean?”

“Previously, the two of you created a buzz to make people take your side in order to put pressure on the court, but all of those people are furious now! They are now strongly demanding that your daughter be sentenced to death! Under such circumstances, I’m afraid your daughter will be sentenced to life imprisonment, at the least, for her malicious actions!”

“Life imprisonment...”

Jill stared straight ahead of her blankly when she heard those two words. She stared at the lawyer incredulously. “She just stole a child, that’s all! What kind of nonsense are you spouting?!”

Seeing that she was being so unreasonable, the attorney didn’t want to talk to her anymore. He merely shook his head and turned to leave.

At the sight, Jill grabbed his arm and said, “Don’t go! Tell me how I can save my daughter! Tell me!”

The attorney sneered, “Is there even any hope of salvation left for someone like your daughter? What’s the point of saving her and bringing her out of prison? So that she can steal other people’s children? Even if you offer three times the remuneration, no one will take up your case anymore, let alone me! Unless they don’t wish to work in this line of business anymore and wish to be attacked instead!”

Jill didn't dare to lose her temper anymore. She held on to the attorney and said, "D-don't go, I won't lose my temper with you anymore. I won't ask for a refund on the legal fees, either. Just tell me what I should do now. I can't just watch as my daughter is sentenced to life imprisonment!"

Seeing that she had taken a step back, and thinking of how he needn't return the exorbitant legal fees anymore, the attorney looked around. He lowered his voice and said, "There is only one way to lighten your daughter's sentence." "What is it?"

"Beg for the victim's forgiveness! If the victim can forgive her, she may still have a chance of a reduced sentence."

The victim's... forgiveness...

Jill's head turned abruptly to Tanya, who was about to leave with Joel.

He was right. Tanya was the plaintiff of the case now, which meant that she was the victim.

Jill let go of the attorney and went straight to Tanya. When she came up to her, she grabbed Tanya's arm and said, "Tanya, my daughter, don't go. Help Mom out. You're the only one who can help Mom now. Go to the judge and tell him that you've forgiven Hillary. Tell him that you don't hold it against her anymore! Go and tell him now! Immediately! Right away!"

Her words made Tanya sneer. All she could feel at the moment was just incredulity.

Chapter 438 - Karl Moore Is Tanya's Father?

Tanya stared at Jill. Little by little, she pulled her arm out of Jill's grasp. She looked at Jill coldly and slowly said, "Did you know? I've always wanted to ask you something ever since I was a child."

Jill was taken aback. "What?"

"Am I really your daughter?"

Tanya's eyes were a little red. "How is it that you can do so much and go so far for Hillary, yet be so cruel to me?!"

Jill was stunned. But immediately after that, she said angrily, "What did I do to you? Did I bring you up and keep you alive so that you can bully me later in life? You are too much! You have to go to the judge right away and tell him that you've forgiven Hillary! Or els—"

"Or else what? What will you do?"

Tanya stared at her, but there was no fluctuation of emotions in her voice at all.

Jill was shocked by her reaction. For a moment, she couldn't say anything.

"Or else you won't acknowledge me as your daughter anymore? Didn't you already sever ties with me a long time ago?"

"Or perhaps, you won't pay for my tuition fees anymore? But have you ever given me any money? "Or perhaps, you won't give me any food? That worked very well when I was young. I was indeed scared when you locked me up in that dark room and didn't give me any food or water. But I'm no longer the four-year-old kid anymore!! Jill, you can't control me anymore!"

The more Tanya spoke, the colder her voice became. “As for Hillary...” Suddenly she bent down, lowered her head, and leaned into Jill’s ear. “Why do you think the Smiths didn’t bother with damage control and allowed public opinion to get to this state? It’s precisely so that she could have a taste of her own medicine!”

Jill was dumbfounded.

When the lawyer mentioned it, she had thought that it was just a coincidence, but from the way it sounded now... It was actually a conspiracy by Tanya and Joel!! The fiercer the people scolded them, the guiltier they would feel once the truth was revealed!

No wonder they hadn’t explained anything the whole time, and even assaulted the reporter!!

Jill’s eyes widened as she stared at the daughter who seemed so foreign to her now. Tanya straightened her back and, with an extremely cold look in her eyes, said, “She stole my daughter and my boyfriend, and even abused my daughter for as long as five years. Jill, even if you kneel here for the rest of your life, I will never forgive her!

“You want me to write a letter of forgiveness? Over my dead body!!”

She turned, took Joel’s hand, and got ready to leave.

However, the furious Jill suddenly rushed towards her and grabbed her. “Why did I give birth to a bastard like you?! You’re a bane to the world! I should have killed you when you were a child! I should have starved you to death!”

Neither Tanya nor Joel had expected her to actually jump up and attack them in the courtroom. She caught Tanya by her hair.

She reached out and tried to scratch Tanya’s cheek, but Joel already had her wrist in a tight grip. He pushed her away with great force, making her fall onto the floor behind her.

Joel looked down at her from above and said, “Please treat my fiancée with courtesy, Mrs. Jones.”

After speaking, he glanced at Mr. Jones, who was in the gallery.

Mr. Jones immediately got the hint. He came over hastily and held Jill back.

Only then did Tanya and Joel leave the courtroom.

As soon as they exited, they ran into Justin in the car park. As the three looked at one another, Joel asked, “How did it go?”

One of the reasons Justin had to be present today was so that he could convince Karl not to take any further action in the gallery.

Justin replied, “No big issues. Karl is an underworld figure and has a very strong aura of one from the underworld around him. With the truth publicly exposed and Hillary Jones arrested, there’s nothing he can say anymore. Besides, the Assassin Organization probably doesn’t want to offend the Smiths and the Hunts, either.” His voice turned cold as he added, “Otherwise, I wouldn’t have given him a chance to leave the country!”

Joel nodded. “He has already done enough to pay back the favor he owes his old lover. Unless Hillary is his daughter, that guy probably won’t do anything for them anymore.”

His daughter?

The moment he said that, both Justin and Joel suddenly thought of something, and they both abruptly turned to Tanya.

The two clan leaders’ gazes made Tanya a little uncomfortable. She glanced down at herself and asked, “What’s the matter? Is there something wrong with my clothes?” Nothing was wrong with them, though! Her clothes were very suitable for the occasion, and nothing was dirty... While she was wondering about it, Joel suddenly asked, “Tanya, have you ever wondered who your father is?”

Tanya: “...”

She sighed and replied, “Of course I have. But every time I asked Jill about it, she would always say that he’s a scumbag and a hooligan who deceived her and made her pregnant...”

A hooligan...

The word made Justin and Joel suddenly glance at each other.

A short while later, Joel suddenly said, “Don’t you find that Karl Moore actually has... a bit of a hooligan-like air around him?”

Tanya: “??”

In the courtroom.

Even after everyone else had left, Jill was still laying on the floor and making a scene. “I’m not going to get up if you don’t save my daughter! You’re a good-for-nothing! What’s the use of a father like you?!”

Mr. Jones was standing next to her. At last, he said, “Stay on the floor if that’s what you want. Who cares?!”

He left right away.

Karl, who was still in the gallery, looked at Jill who was on the floor. He scratched his head.

His subordinate behind him couldn’t help but ask, “Boss, what did you see in her in your younger days?”

Karl also felt a little embarrassed.

He coughed. “Maybe I was blind back then.”

The subordinate was speechless.

He got up and walked toward Jill. Just as he was about to say something, Jill got up by herself and patted the dust off herself. There was none of the shrewish behavior she had just exhibited around her anymore. Instead, she looked at Karl calmly.

Karl coughed, “Are you okay?”

“I’m fine.”

Jill stared at Karl and said, “You have to help me save my daughter!”

Karl cast his eyes down. “You’re not in the right with regard to this matter. Neither can I bring myself to do something like that.”

Wouldn’t he be thoroughly embarrassed if outsiders were to learn of it?

Unexpectedly, as soon as he said that, Jill immediately asked, “Do you know why I chose to beg you instead of Hillary’s father for help?”

Karl shook his head.

Jill said solemnly, “Because Hillary is not his daughter but yours!”

Karl: “!!!!”

He was astounded. “What did you say?”

Jill stretched out her fingers—there were two strands of hair gripped tightly between them. “I plucked Hillary’s hair off her when I made contact with her just now. You can do a DNA test for you and her.”

Chapter 439 - The Busy Lily

Karl was dumbfounded.

He stared at Jill incredulously. His gaze landed on the strands of hair she was holding and he swallowed hard, feeling that his ears must be playing tricks on him. “What did you say?”

Jill sighed. “You can put the timeline together yourself. When I married into the Joneses, I was already four months pregnant! Think about it, isn’t the child yours if I was already four months pregnant at that time?” Karl swallowed. “But Hillary Jones’ birth date doesn’t match!”

Jill sighed. “That’s because I delayed registering her birth for four months. After all, I couldn’t bring shame to the Joneses. You can look into it. I gave birth to my daughter in a private clinic, so they may still have records! Also, no matter what, you should have a DNA test done first.”

Jill handed the strands of hair to Karl. “Only hair with the follicles intact can be used in a DNA test. Be careful not to damage them. By the way, my daughter doesn’t know that she is not my husband’s child...”

Jill said that because she was afraid that Karl would send someone to the prison to sound Hillary out.

After saying that, she started to head toward the exit. Before she left, she added, “No matter what, you should still make sure that your daughter stays alive, right?”

Karl looked at her and narrowed his eyes. “Don’t worry, if she really is my daughter, no one will be able to take her life!”

Jill breathed a sigh of relief.

She lowered her head and said, “I won’t ask for that child from the Smiths anymore. All I ask for now is just for you to rescue my daughter, get her out of prison and take her abroad! I hope you can treat her well for the rest of her life after that!”

Karl hesitated for a moment. Then, he asked tentatively, “If she is my daughter, why didn’t you tell me that from the start?”

Jill stared at Karl. After a long silence, she finally heaved a deep sigh and said, “I only wanted to borrow your authority in the beginning. I don’t wish for anything beyond that anymore. Besides, my daughter wasn’t having any problems at that time, and you were also willing to help me, so it didn’t matter whether or not I told you the truth. But now that I know that you don’t want to offend the Smiths and the Hunts, I can only tell the truth!”

Karl kept quiet for a long while. Suddenly, he broke into a grin and said, “Jill, you should know that I am an outlaw. You know it won’t end well for people who lie to me, right?”

Jill was so frightened by the way he spoke that she shuddered. However, she then said resolutely, “Go and have a DNA test done.”

Karl nodded.

After Jill left, his subordinate behind him asked, “Boss, surely not, right? Is that child-stealing woman really your daughter?”

Karl, however, frowned and said nothing. In the end, he suddenly sighed and instructed, “Send someone to the prison and protect Hillary Jones for now!” “Understood.”

He turned, exited, and walked toward the car.

The subordinate asked, “Boss, where are you going?”

Karl replied, “A DNA testing lab. Find me a reliable one!” “Yes, sir!”

Justin, Joel, and Tanya returned to the Smiths’ manor.

As soon as they entered the manor, someone came forward and whispered something to Joel.

Joel frowned.

The sensitive Tanya asked, “What’s wrong?”

Joel didn’t hide anything from her. After letting five years pass them by, both of them cherished each other very much now. When he heard her question, he replied, “I sent someone to the jail to teach Hillary a lesson, but I just received news that someone has interfered on her behalf.”

Tanya immediately asked, “Who did it?”

Joel replied, “Karl Moore.”

Tanya frowned at the name.

Ever since Joel and Justin voiced their guess, Tanya had been feeling a little uncomfortable. Surely Karl wasn’t really her father, right?

She frowned and did some calculations of the timeline around her birth date. However, she didn’t think it matched.

It seemed like her date of birth was half a year too early?

Besides, it was impossible for her date of birth to be wrong because Hillary was born a year later than her. It couldn’t possibly be that Jill became pregnant with Hillary when she was pregnant with her, right? The age difference between the two of them was only one year anyway! While she was thinking about it, Justin said, “It doesn’t make sense.”

Joel nodded. “If it’s just because of an old lover, Moore is unlikely to help Hillary further. After all, the Smiths and the Hunts can control almost the entire United States. Karl’s assassins may be powerful, but he may not necessarily be willing to offend two big families at the same time!”

This was also why Justin had the confidence to threaten Karl when they were in the courtroom!

Justin said, “How strange. Something we are unaware of must have happened.”

He took out his cell phone and sent messages to both Sean and Lawrence: 'Investigate why Karl Moore helped Hillary Jones in prison.'

Joel also said, "I'll get my men to investigate, too."

With the leaders of the two big families simultaneously investigating the same thing, they would surely get results very soon.

After sending the messages, Justin glanced at Tanya again and suddenly said, "I still find you and Karl Moore somewhat similar."

Joel also stared at Tanya for a while. "Why don't we do a DNA test, after all? It's safer that way."

The two men's gazes made Tanya's lip corners spasm a little, and she became a little hesitant.

She had originally been very resistant to the idea.

After all, Karl had helped Jill to bully her. However, given how the two men were staring at her, it seemed like she had no choice but to do the DNA test, after all?

In the end, she could only nod.

Lily walked down from upstairs at this point.

At the sight of Lily, Justin got a shock. He hurriedly asked, "What's the matter with Nora?"

Joel also looked over with concern.

Lily hurriedly replied, "Relax, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Smith. Boss is fine. She has been sleeping the last two days, so I was afraid that she would have low blood sugar. I just gave her some nutritional fluids." The two men relaxed upon hearing her explanation.

Lily then said, "Boss is sleeping really soundly. Don't worry!"

Justin nodded.

Lily then started to walk back upstairs. She stretched and said, “The last few days have been so exhausting. On top of that, I even have to take care of that handsome thief... oh, I mean Boss’ cousin, in the hospital... I can finally have a good night’s sleep now! I am going to sleep through everything until I naturally wake up!”

She had only just said that when Justin suddenly said, “Er...”

Lily looked behind her. Justin said, “It seems like Nora trusts you very much, so... can you help us do a DNA test?”

Lily: “???????”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 440 - The Queen Of Sleep Is Awake

All Lily wished for at the moment was just to return to Switzerland. When Lily was still in Switzerland, every time her boss wanted her help, all she had done was just to get someone to send her some DNA samples. Three hours were the most she needed to produce the test results.

But after she came back to the States!

First, she had to help her boss take care of her father. Next, she had to take care of her boss' cousin. Now that her boss had fallen into a deep sleep and couldn't assign her tasks anymore, she finally felt as if she could take a breather. Yet in the end, her boss-in-law was assigning her a task?

This was so goddamn... Did they have any intention of letting her rest or not?!

Even though Lily was cursing deep down, on the surface, she nevertheless smiled and asked very professionally, "... Sure. May I know where the DNA samples are?"

Justin: "??"

Joel: "????"

Both of them looked at each other and then, the corners of their lips spasmed at the same time.

All they had thought of was having a DNA test done, but who the hell could retrieve Karl's DNA sample?!

It wasn't like they could go up to him and say, "Bro, I suspect that Tanya is your daughter. Can I borrow a DNA sample from you?"

As the leader of a group of assassins, if there were people who could pluck Karl's hair without him knowing, then he might as well retire from the underworld for good!

Neither of them expected that retrieving Karl's DNA samples would instead become the most difficult task!

—

Elsewhere. Karl went to a DNA testing lab. After they extracted a blood sample from his fingertip, he returned to the hotel.

All the places he went were heavily guarded. Although he hadn't brought a lot of men with him during his return to the States this time, all of them were skilled fighters.

It could be said that even a fly wouldn't be able to get near Karl, let alone a human!

Three hours later.

His subordinate sent him the DNA test report.

Karl took a look—the report indicated a 99% probability that the test subjects were indeed father and daughter!

At the same time, the person whom he had sent to investigate the private clinic also returned.

When Jill was telling him all those things, she had also given him the clinic's information. When they went to investigate, they found that Jill had indeed given birth to a child during that period of time!

The child was also indeed Hillary! The nurse they had talked to during the investigation had said that the girl whom Jill had given birth to had a mole on her ear, and Hillary did indeed have one on her ear!

The records in the clinic were dated five years ago, so there was no way they could have falsified them.

Karl narrowed his eyes and suddenly asked, “Does that girl named Tanya Turner have a mole on her ear?”

His subordinate was surprised. “Why are you asking about her? She doesn’t seem to have one, though.”

They were assassins, so they were very observant.

Although they had only met Joel and Tanya once in court, they remembered everything about their looks!

Karl pressed his lips together. “Because I keep feeling like something isn’t quite right. If Hillary really is my daughter, Jill could have just approached me directly after Hillary was taken away. I would have been able to protect my daughter for sure! There wasn’t any need for her to go to that young missy and beg her for help. I was originally suspecting that the hair she gave me was that young missy’s...” But unexpectedly, the child that Jill had given birth to back then was indeed Hillary.

The clinic had kept pictures of the newborn baby. The mole on her ear was very obvious.

Therefore, Jill had indeed given birth to Hillary four months earlier. In other words, Hillary was indeed his daughter!

Karl abruptly stood up and started to pace back and forth excitedly.

Over twenty years ago, he had gone to Switzerland all by himself to build his career. People in the underworld inevitably got injured some time or another, and the same went for him. During a certain incident, he had injured his genitals.

Therefore, he would never have any children for the rest of his life.

Originally, he had held regrets about this. Although he’d had many women in his life all these years, he didn’t have any children.

Little did he expect that he would suddenly find his daughter during his return to the States when he was here to look for Black Cat instead!

He rubbed his hands excitedly and paced back and forth in the hotel...

It was at this point that he received a call from Jill. He picked up the call. Jill asked, "Have you seen the DNA test report?"

Karl nodded. "Yes."

"Hillary is indeed your daughter. You'll save her now, right? Surely you can't just watch as your daughter dies! The Smiths and the Hunts are very powerful. If she continues to stay in prison, something will happen to her sooner or later. You have to find a way to get her out of there!"

Karl narrowed his eyes. "You don't have to worry about that. I know what I'm doing! To think I actually have a daughter! Just based on this alone, I now owe you one, Jill!"

After hanging up, he paced back and forth in the room.

Even his subordinates couldn't help but be happy for him.

"Boss was still suspecting this and that just now, but look at how happy he is now!" "Of course! Boss has an heir now! He finally has someone who can inherit all the money he earned over the years!"

"Hahaha! It's just that his daughter's character is not that great. She could even bring herself to do something like stealing someone else's child. But tsk, it's not like we are some kind and angelic organization anyway. Forget it!"

Karl scratched his head excitedly with a silly grin on his face as he listened to their conversation.

As he continued grinning, someone said, "By the way, you told us to protect your daughter right? As expected, the Smiths and the Hunts tried to do something to her in the prison, but we managed to stop them! Boss, what are your plans? She's in a prison in the USA after all. We can't guarantee that nothing will go wrong if we break her out of prison!"

Karl, however, didn't speak. A brief moment later, he suddenly said, "I still feel like something isn't quite right. How about this? Get a DNA sample of that young missy named Tanya Turner and have another test done!"

As soon as he said that, everyone else said, "Boss, aren't you making things difficult for us by telling us to do that? Stealing a DNA sample from someone living in the Smiths' manor? You sure think really highly of us!"

"Exactly! Also, why do you still want her DNA sample?"

Karl clutched his chest and said, "My mind can't rest at peace if I don't have it checked. By the way, isn't Black Cat in the States? Look for Black Cat!"

Everyone nodded. "Yeah, that's right! If it's Black Cat, there definitely won't be any problem!"

"But Black Cat is completely ignoring us. Black Cat would occasionally still reply to the emails and messages we sent some time back, but he's been completely ignoring us these last couple of days. It's as if he's vanished into thin air..."

Karl took out his cell phone. "Maybe he's busy. It's okay, just ensure that Hillary isn't bullied in prison for now! I will contact Black Cat and wait for news from him!"

Black Cat was his top assassin. The two have worked together for many years and they shared a very good relationship with each other.

Karl had never considered the possibility that Black Cat might refuse to help.

He drafted a message and sent it to Black Cat: "I have something to ask of you, Black Cat. Can you help me steal a person's DNA sample?"

At the Smiths.

Justin, Pete, and Cherry were currently in Nora's room. Suddenly, they sensed movement from the bed.

The three of them looked over at once.

Nora very, very slowly opened her eyes.

Then, she shifted and stretched.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 441 - Shower You

Nora stretched lazily. After stretching her body, she let out a deep breath and opened her eyes. She had thought that she would open her eyes to see the ceiling, but she did not expect to see three heads looking down on her.

The two little ones stared at her from the side.

Pete asked softly, “Is Mommy finally awake?”

“Shh...” Cherry made a shushing gesture and lowered her voice. “Mommy might just be turning around. Brother, don’t wake Mommy up. Mommy is very scary when she’s awake! One time, she even beat me up!”

Pete immediately covered his mouth.

The two little guys widened their eyes in fear and covered their mouths tightly. They were afraid that they would make another sound and anger Nora, who had just woken up. Nora: “...”

She rolled her eyes at Cherry and said in a hoarse voice that sounded like she had just woken up, “Cherry, don’t cause panic here. When have I ever beaten you up?”

Cherry chuckled and jumped into Nora’s arms. “Mommy, Cherry missed you so much- You don’t know how worried Cherry was the past two days when you were sleeping. I couldn’t sleep well and couldn’t eat well!”

Pete was speechless. He wondered who had been nonchalant and playing a live-stream game for two days!

However, he did not expose his sister. Nora understood her daughter very well and only said, “Is that so? Why do I remember vaguely hearing someone playing games happily?”

Cherry blinked her big grape-like eyes. She was not flustered at all from being exposed. “Sigh, Mommy, I haven’t been in the mood to do anything else these past two days. I can only play games. Even playing games wasn’t as fun as usual. I could only turn my worry for Mommy into motivation and beat people up in the game!”

Pete was speechless. He felt like he had learned something from her!

Nora did not argue with Cherry.

The little fellow was worried that she would not wake up, but it was not as exaggerated as she had said.

Nora was not worried about her daughter’s extroverted personality. She turned her head to look at Pete. Indeed, she saw a hint of deep worry in her son’s eyes. Pete, who was not good with words, was really worried about Nora’s body. Even in her sleep, she seemed to have felt the little fellow climbing onto the bed gently a few times. He even touched her nose and was probably checking if she was still breathing.

She smiled. “Pete, did you miss Mommy?”

Pete blushed and lowered his head. “Mm-hm.”

“Yes, did you miss me or not?”

Nora sat up and teased him.

Pete was not good at sweet-talking. His face turned even redder as he stammered and could not speak. Nora simply teased him. “Sigh, looks like my son didn’t miss his mom! I’m so sad. Why don’t I sleep for a few more days?” Pete panicked and hurriedly shouted, “No, I, I... I missed you.”

Nora laughed and hugged him. “I missed you too. I even dreamed of you!” Pete was stunned. “Dreamed about what?”

Nora: “?????”

She was also stunned. She had always had a lot of messy dreams when she slept. It was as if her brain never stopped working while she slept.

When she woke up, she had already forgotten her dream. How could she still remember what she had dreamed?

But her son was so serious. She couldn't say that she had forgotten, right?

Nora spoke nonsense. Her voice was hoarse as she said, "I dreamed that Pete grew up and became cold to Mommy after marrying some girl. I was so sad, sigh!"

Pete: "!!"

Cherry blinked her big eyes at the side and asked, "Mommy, who did Pete marry? Did he marry Cherry? Then our family of four can be together forever!"

Nora: "..."

Justin coughed. "Your brother can't marry you!"

Cherry looked disappointed. "I see~" However, Pete hurriedly said, "Mommy, your dream is too fake. I don't plan on marrying anyone in the future."

"..."

Looking at his serious expression, Nora was touched.

Justin, who was beside them, looked at their affectionate gazes and instantly felt a sense of danger. He immediately pushed Pete away and said, "Why are you staying at home if you don't want to get married? The only one who can walk with you forever is your partner!"

After saying that, he looked at Nora. Under his pitch-black eyes, the mole on his eye shone.

Nora: "..."

The corners of her lips twitched. She felt that this head of the Hunts was a little unreasonable.

What was there to compete with a child for?

She coughed and lifted the blanket to get out of bed. She realized that she had changed into a comfortable sleeping gown. She hesitated for a moment and asked, "Who changed my clothes?"

She still remembered that before she fainted, her red dress was covered in blood.

However, she felt quite refreshed now...

At the thought of this, Cherry raised her hand. "Daddy changed it for you! Plus, I helped you shower!"

Although it was Lily who gave her a shower on the operating table on the first day, after returning home, Justin helped her every day.

Nora: "..."

This man was the one who had bathed her when she was asleep?! Heat slowly rose in her cheeks. She looked around, her eyes wandering. "Where's Lily?" she asked.

When she was overseas, she had given herself to Lily wholeheartedly after she fell asleep!

After returning to the country, had Lily begun to slack off?!

At this moment, Lily, who had just slept for six hours after taking care of Quentin, sneezed violently.

Then, she rubbed her nose.

Sigh! She really wanted to go overseas. She was so busy after returning to the country that she barely had any free time!

Sensing Nora's shyness, Justin hurriedly said, "Don't worry. I didn't look at anything I shouldn't have."

Nora: "?"

The corners of her lips twitched. "Do you think I'm a child? How did you help me shower if you didn't look?"

Justin was silent for a moment before he coughed. "I covered my eyes and... washed."

Nora's face became even redder. So, he touched her entire body?!

She picked up her phone and walked to the bathroom. "Oh, I'll go take a shower. Mr. Hunt, please go downstairs and get someone to prepare some food for me."

Justin looked at her flustered back and smiled. "Alright. You can take your time with the shower. After all, when I bathed you, I didn't dare to rub anything. I only washed... briefly."

"..." Nora staggered and rushed into the bathroom in a panic.

Justin smiled and went downstairs.

In the bathroom.

Nora took a few deep breaths before looking at her phone. She planned to see if anything had happened during the two days she was unconscious.

Chapter 442 - Let Me Die!

Nora took out her toothbrush first. After putting on some toothpaste, she brushed her teeth with one hand and turned on her phone with the other. She realized that there were a few new emails in her inbox.

Her attention was first on the DNA report Lily had sent her. She paused.

She had slept for almost three days this time, right?

Tanya and Mia's results were out. She hurriedly opened them and realized that it was as she had expected.

However, she quickly saw the top trending news article. It was about the lawsuit between Tanya and Hillary. She instantly realized that Tanya and Joel already knew the truth. Yes, it seemed like he had taken the email to heart.

As she thought about this, she casually browsed through the inbox. When she did not see any urgent messages, she put down her phone and focused on brushing her teeth.

As she brushed her teeth, her eyes slowly darkened.

Her happy mood after being teased by the two children slowly became heavy.

Quentin was still in the hospital. All the bones in his body had shattered. She did not know if he still had a chance to stand up.

Thinking about this, Nora decided to spend some time in the future to think about all kinds of ways to make him stand up.

Yes, according to modern medicine, there was nothing they could do.

Then, she could only look at it from alternative medicine. She vaguely remembered that there was a saying about bone refinement in ancient traditional medicine.

However, that method had been lost for a long time. She did not know if she could still find the relevant information.

With this in mind, she started brushing her teeth faster and faster. After spitting out the water in her mouth, she took a shower and changed into a black top and light-colored jeans before leaving. Her long hair was half dry as it fluttered behind her.

She went downstairs feeling refreshed when she heard Cherry shouting, “Mommy is out!”

Then, enthusiastic applause erupted downstairs.

Nora: “????”

She walked down with a head full of question marks. Then, she saw Ian, Joel, Tanya, Warren, Maureen, Louis, Brandon, Mia, Cherry, Pete, and Justin sitting on the living room sofa. The group of people raised their heads in unison and stared at her as if she was some kind of leader.

Nora: “...” She twitched her lips and went downstairs. Facing this situation, she did not have any intention of being shy. Instead, she looked at Ian first. “Why are you home?”

Ian’s body was still quite weak. He needed all kinds of medical equipment in the hospital to help monitor his vital signs. It was dangerous for him to come home.

Ian heaved a sigh of relief when he saw his daughter looking at him first.

To be honest, although the father and daughter had reunited, their relationship was relatively distant.

Nora was born with a cold personality, but Ian was a little embarrassed. After all, when they had just reunited, he still wanted to die and not stay behind to accompany his daughter. Therefore, he was a little embarrassed.

However, his daughter didn't seem to care about the past. He said, "I'm fine."

Nora frowned and said slowly, "I'm going to eat. I'll go to the hospital to see Quentin later and take you over too."

It had not been easy to save Quentin's life. If she was not careful and something happened to Ian, the gains would not make up for the losses!

When Joel heard this, he looked at Ian.

Over the past few days, he had tried to persuade Uncle Ian to go to the hospital many times, but Uncle Ian was stubborn and refused to leave. Now that his little sister had spoken...

As expected, although Ian was still unwilling, he still said obediently, "Okay."

Joel: "..."

Therefore, even Uncle Ian was subdued by his little sister!

The corners of his lips twitched. Then, the family followed Nora to the dining room.

The Smiths' dining table was very long. There were 10 chairs on each side.

Now, everyone was sitting at the dining table obediently. There was nothing in front of them. They all turned to look at the only person sitting there eating.

Nora: "..."

Suddenly, she felt that the porridge in front of her was a little hot.

It was rare that she could not drink a bowl of porridge in a few gulps like she usually did. Under the gaze of more than ten pairs of eyes from the nannies, she took a spoon and drank it one mouthful at a time.

The small bowl of porridge took half an hour to finish.

After finishing, she looked at the group of people and suddenly asked, “Are you guys... not busy?”

Tanya answered for the children and herself, “It’s the weekend.”

Joel: “Yes, the rest of us don’t work, either.” Nora: “...”

She took a tissue and elegantly wiped the corners of her mouth. Then, she coughed and glanced at Justin.

Justin chuckled softly and stood up to say, “Alright, everyone, disperse! Nora is feeling awkward that you guys are all gathered here.”

Nora: “?”

Who was awkward?

They quickly stood up. Warren and Maureen said, “Well, little sister, if there’s anything you need, just tell us!”

Joel and Tanya looked at each other and said calmly, “I’ll take Uncle Ian back to the hospital with you!”

Ian: “...”

Seeing that everyone had spoken, Louis thought for a long time before finally saying, “Sis, if there’s anything you can’t spend, feel free to ask me for help-“

The family finally dispersed. Nora heaved a sigh of relief.

She stood up. “Let’s go to the hospital.”

The group followed her majestically and went to the hospital in two separate cars. Nora first took Ian back to the VIP ward. After confirming that all his organs were fine, she then walked towards Quentin's ward.

On the way, Joel and Justin sensed her silence.

Joel said, "Quentin hasn't complained about being dispirited or cried over the past two days. Don't worry."

Nora nodded.

However, just because Quentin did not cry or complain did not mean that he was not in pain. That young man loved to be in the limelight.

Now, he was all alone on the hospital bed and could not even move his neck.

With this thought in mind, she walked to Quentin's ICU ward.

To be precise, Quentin was not out of danger yet, so he was still in the ICU.

At this moment, just as they approached, they heard Quentin's pained voice. "God, just let me die!"

The people outside: ??

Joel: "?"

They were just saying that Quentin did not complain about life. Why was he suddenly looking for death?!

He was about to explain when he heard Lily's pained voice. "Don't. Wouldn't it be a pity if someone as handsome as you died? Stay, don't move. I'll wipe your face-"

Quentin: "...Ahhhh, you damn pervert, get lost! You're bullying me because I can't move! God, I'll just die!"

The corners of Joel's lips spasmed.

Tanya could not help but ask, “Should we... maybe... not go in now? Would we disturb them?”

Her words made the four of them stand outside in a pause.

Nora took out her phone and opened her email inbox in boredom. She also opened Black Cat’s exclusive Internet chats.

These were all her habits.

After a long break, she would log on to various platforms to see if anyone was sending her messages.

On Black Cat’s exclusive webpage chat interface, there were many messages. She first opened Karl Moore’s chat window and saw his message. “Black Cat, please do me a favor. Can you help me steal a person’s DNA sample?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 443 - Lily, Work Is Here Again!

When she saw Karl Moore's message, Nora was a little stunned.

Joel and Tanya's lawsuit was spread all over the Internet. However, Karl Moore's name was definitely not written in those reports because those people did not know of his existence.

Therefore, Nora still did not know that Karl Moore was already in New York.

She casually typed a few words: "I'm in New York. It's not convenient."

Karl Moore seemed to be staring at the chat. The moment she sent the message, he replied: "The person I want is also in New York. It's very convenient. By the way, I'm also here. Why don't we meet?"

Nora ignored his request to meet. "...Whose DNA is it?"

Although Karl Moore was a foreign underworld force and the leader of the Assassin Organization, he was not a bad person in the traditional sense.

Based on his neutral rules in the Assassin Organization and the fact that he would not casually kill women and children, Nora had a good impression of him.

Moreover, although he looked stupid and silly, he was actually a very upright and smart person.

Over the past three years, their collaboration had been very fruitful. She was also very satisfied with some of Karl Moore's actions, so she had long treated Karl Moore as a friend. She would help resolve some of his requests if they were not very troublesome.

After sending this message, she saw Karl Moore reply: “It’s a young lady called Tanya.”

Nora: “?”

She stared at the word “Tanya” for a long time before suddenly looking up at the Tanya standing in front of her.

Was this Tanya the same Tanya she knew?

As she was thinking, Karl Moore’s news came again. “She’s currently in the Smiths and is being protected. I’ve also brought a few people over. But you know, in New York, strong dragons cannot suppress local snakes.” Nora: “...”

She pursed her lips and asked, “Why do you want her DNA?”

Karl Moore: “Sigh, I’m wondering if she’s my daughter.”

Nora: “...”

What was going on?

Not even television dramas would dare to write something like that!

She grimaced and replied: “OK, wait.”

After sending the message, she casually put away her phone and looked up at Tanya. Tanya: “...What’s wrong with me? I’m not wearing the right clothes? My pants aren’t zipped?”

Nora: “...”

Tanya’s voice was a little loud. After she said that, the people in the ward sensed the sound outside and immediately fell silent.

Then she heard footsteps and the door opened.

The tall Lily always had exquisite makeup on. She was wearing high heels and had a smile on her face. “Boss, Miss Tanya, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Smith, you’re all here?”

Nora nodded and entered the ward.

Quentin lay on the bed and could not move. His face was very clean, but there were still traces of friction on his cheeks. Some places were a little red.

When he saw Nora, he instantly looked like he had nothing to live for. “Little cousin, can you chase this Lily away for me?”

Nora: “...Not for the time being. Although she’s my assistant, she’s also the best surgeon. Your injuries are too serious. The other doctors can’t clean you as carefully as she can.”

Quentin was covered in wounds. He had to undergo strict disinfection and debridement every day. Hearing this, Quentin sighed heavily. Lily said, “What’s with your expression? I’m not going to eat you! At most, I like your face a little. Besides, it’s already good that I don’t mind you lying there!”

When Quentin heard this, he looked at Nora angrily. “Little cousin, when can I stand up again?! I’m almost done being harassed by your assistant!”

As soon as he said this, the entire room fell silent.

Nora then realized that Quentin had always had a good mentality no one had ever told him that he might not be able to stand up in this life.

She looked at Joel and saw him turn his head away. His eyes were flickering a little as if he did not dare to look at Quentin directly.

Justin held her hand.

When Lily heard this, she was about to say something when Nora suddenly said, “Maybe half a year, maybe a year, maybe two years... Don’t worry, I will make you stand up again.” Quentin agreed. “I believe you.”

These four words were like a huge rock pressing on Nora.

She lowered her eyes and suddenly smiled. “Don’t worry.”

As soon as he finished speaking, Quentin looked at Lily. “But while you do that, can you hire a nurse for me?! Brother, is our family so poor? Why do we need this doctor to take care of me? I need someone else!”

Joel: “...”

Lily told him coldly, “Because, at the moment, ordinary nurses are not allowed to take care of you due to your injuries. It can only be me.”

With that, she sighed. “I have already cleaned your body countless times while you were unconscious. Why are you so shy? Your fair skin is actually no different from a pig in my eyes... Don’t worry, I won’t tell anyone about the mole on your butt.”

Quentin: “...”

Everyone else, “...” Quentin was silent for a moment before suddenly closing his eyes. “Can someone cover my face with a blanket?”

He did not want to live anymore!!!

The others laughed.

At this moment, Lily pursed her lips and said, “Alright, alright. I’ll get another nurse to take care of you. I’m going back to rest well today!”

With that, she yawned. “Yesterday, Mr. Hunt and Mr. Smith asked me to help them with a DNA test. I waited for two hours and didn’t get a sample. I didn’t even get enough sleep! I should finally be able to sleep well today, right?” “DNA?”

Nora was stunned and looked at Joel and Justin.

Justin explained faintly, “Karl Moore came to New York. We suspect that he might be related to Tanya by blood, so we wanted to test him.”

After saying that, Joel frowned. “But the killers around Karl Moore are too difficult to deal with. We sent many people, but they didn’t get close to him, so we haven’t gotten any DNA samples.”

Nora: “...”

Her lips suddenly twitched.

Lily did not notice her abnormality. She stretched and said, “Okay, continue discussing. Call me when you get the samples. Of course, it would be best if that could take at least 12 hours! I’m going back to sleep.”

However, before she could reach the door, she heard Nora cough. “Lily, maybe you shouldn’t sleep yet?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 444 - Black Cat Is Here

Lily: “???”

She almost doubted her life. She looked at her boss in disbelief. “Boss?”

Nora coughed and stood up. “Yes, I’ll get you a DNA sample now.”

Lily was speechless.

When Nora walked out, Justin had already stood up and started following beside her. “I’ll accompany you.”

Nora thought for a moment and said, “Alright.”

With that, she walked toward Tanya.

Tanya stood up in confusion. “What? You want another hug? Since when are you so attached to me? Be careful or your Mr. Hunt will be jealous!”

Before she could finish, Nora pulled two strands of her hair.

Tanya: “?!?”

She covered her head. “Nora! If you want DNA next time, I can give you finger blood. Can you stop pulling my hair? I’m going to become bald!”

“It’s fine. I’ll treat you if you’re bald.”

Nora waved her hand casually and skillfully took out a bag specially used to store these things. She placed the two strands of hair in it. Then, she and Justin went downstairs.

Justin drove while Nora took out her phone and sent a message to Karl Moore. “Address.”

After Karl Moore replied with the hotel's address, he said, "How many days do you need?"

When the people standing behind Karl Moore saw this news, they immediately began to guess.

"I think it would take at least half a day for Black Cat to steal a DNA sample! Black Cat spent two days assassinating the boss of that organization!"

"A day! The Smiths aren't any better than the organization over there. Furthermore, the organization over at Burundi doesn't have much discipline. The Smiths' security system is very impressive. I've already investigated. It's very difficult to break through so many security measures and reach Tanya!"

"I think it would take two days! Because one of them went out just now, I sent someone to follow behind. In the end, I realized that whenever they went out, there were more than fifty security guards and bodyguards following them in secret! Isn't this too scary?"

Ian went out with more than ten bodyguards.

Joel went out with more than ten people.

Justin went out with 18 people.

In total, weren't there more than 50 people following Nora?

When Karl Moore heard this, he could feel his temples throbbing. "More than fifty? I only bring a dozen of you when I go out. Is my lineup a little weak?"

The person behind him twitched his lips. "If you bring out more than fifty people from the organization, who would be left to do our missions?"

Karl Moore coughed and sighed. "What does this mean? It means that the best among us assassins are still not enough!"

Beep. A message notification chimed. Karl Moore looked at his phone. “Come on, let’s see how long Black Cat will take!”

However, when he opened it, Karl Moore’s expression changed. Seeing the extremely strange look on his face, the subordinates immediately asked, “Boss, what’s wrong? Is the time that Black Cat needs too much?”

“Could it be four days? This is a little difficult. There’s a cost to protecting Hillary in prison. If it’s more than four days, we might as well break Hillary out of prison first!”

“It couldn’t be that Black Cat can’t break through the Smiths’ security guards and get Tanya’s DNA, right? But thinking about it, the Smiths’ defense line is indeed not that easy to break.”

“Hahahaha, Black Cat has finally encountered something he can’t handle. Why do I suddenly feel like laughing so much?”

As they giggled, Karl Moore looked up. “Black Cat said half an hour.”

The entire hotel suddenly fell silent.

The group of assassins looked at each other and finally couldn’t help but swear.

“Holy shit!”

“It’s fake, right?” “Black Cat is bragging too much this time!” “Hehe, then I’ll laugh at Black Cat in half an hour!”

The group of people waited to see the joke. Half an hour passed quickly.

Karl Moore took out his phone and was about to send a message to Black Cat when he received a message. “It’s here. Go downstairs.” Karl Moore was speechless.

He looked at his subordinates in shock. Their mouths were wide open in disbelief.

Karl Moore coughed and adjusted his clothes before standing up. “I’ll go downstairs and take a look. Put away your inexperienced looks. You’re really embarrassing me!”

“As the number one assassination organization, you should learn the efficiency of Black Cat!

Someone asked, “Boss, Boss, I just want to ask, who is this Black Cat? This efficiency is not something that can be achieved by humans, right?” “Is Black Cat not human?”

His words made everyone stand up straight.

They all swallowed.

Actually, after Black Cat had killed in Burundi, the assassins started sharing myths about him. But now, they suddenly felt that the myths were not enough?

Karl Moore no longer bothered with these brats and took them downstairs.

People were coming and going in the lobby downstairs.

Karl Moore went downstairs and stood in the lobby, looking around. His subordinates spread out on both sides, not letting anyone disturb him.

Karl Moore was already very excited. He wanted to see what the legendary Black Cat looked like.

He narrowed his eyes and was looking around when a thin figure rushed straight at him!

The surrounding killers agilely wanted to stop him, but the man seemed to have been pushed by someone. He avoided everyone just in time and bumped into Karl Moore!

Karl Moore felt a sting on his head.

Then, the person immediately apologized. “I’m sorry, I’m sorry...”

Just as Karl Moore was about to catch this person, a voice sounded from afar. “Karl Moore...”

He subconsciously thought it was Black Cat. He turned his head but saw no one in the distance.

When he came back to his senses, the person who had bumped into him had also disappeared!!

It was as if he had bumped into a ghost. He shouted for bad luck and took out his phone. Just as he was about to send a message to Black Cat, he saw a message: “Left pocket of your suit.”

Karl Moore: “?”

He was stunned. Then, he lowered his head and looked at his left pocket. There was a bag quietly sitting inside. In the bag were two strands of hair.

Karl Moore was speechless. “Boss? What is this?”

Karl Moore swallowed. “That Tanya’s DNA sample.”

“So the one who bumped into you earlier was Black Cat?!”

Chapter 445 - Result!

His words reminded Karl Moore. He looked at the killers around him and asked, “Did any of you see what Black Cat looks like?”

As soon as he said this, the few of them thought hard about it and realized that they could not remember Black Cat’s appearance.

Because when that person bumped into him earlier, he was wearing a cap, sunglasses, and a mask. His speed was too fast, and those people did not even recognize if he was a man or a woman!

Karl Moore was speechless.

He hastily said, “Check the surveillance cameras!”

Someone was already operating a computer. He could only look up at Karl with a disappointed face. “Black Cat is definitely meticulous. The surveillance cameras have been cleared.”

Karl Moore pursed his lips and sent a message to Black Cat. “You’re already here, why don’t we meet?”

Black Cat... ignored him.

Karl Moore was speechless.

He could only take a deep breath. “Forget it. Let’s go to the testing center.”

“Understood.”

However, someone still asked, “Boss, is this Tanya’s hair?”

Karl Moore narrowed his eyes. “Definitely. When has Black Cat ever made a mistake?”

Everyone nodded.

At the same time, at the back door of the hotel.

Nora got into Justin's car very quickly.

She took off her hat, sunglasses, and mask. Her hair, which was covered by the hat, fell down. She shook her head and said after straightening her hair, "Done."

She raised the bag with a few short hairs in it. "Karl Moore's hair loss is a little serious. I grabbed a bunch, but there are only so few?"

Justin: "..."

Suddenly, he felt his scalp tighten.

Thank goodness, he didn't need to do any more DNA tests.

The car started, and Justin slowly rushed to the hospital. He asked, "How did you get Karl Moore to come downstairs?"

Nora raised her eyes and looked at Justin. "That... is a secret."

Forget it. She had many aliases. Justin was no longer amazed by any of her actions.

The two of them arrived at the hospital. Just as they were about to enter, they heard Quentin say, "They won? Did they really win? I thought that without me, Third In The World would lose! I asked Lily, but she didn't know anything!"

Joel had been busy fighting the lawsuit these past few days. When he found out that Quentin had woken up and was in a stable mood, he had yet to see him.

Not many people who came to see him knew about the competition.

Therefore, Quentin had just found out the outcome of the competition.

Nora was about to push open the door and enter when she heard Quentin say, “I remember the competition rules say that there must be three people, right? Did Big Brother represent our team? Is that why we won the competition? It must be like this!”

Joel stared at Quentin and twitched his lips.

Although not many people knew that Justin was Irvin School of Martial Arts’ Big Brother, Joel knew it very well.

He coughed and said, “Yes, Big Brother competed too.”

“Big Sister competed alongside Big Brother and I missed it? What a pity!” Quentin was still chattering. “But Big Brother and Big Sister don’t get along, right? Big Sister said that she’s not compatible with Big Brother!” Whether they were compatible or not... they had already given birth to two children.

Joel cursed in his heart.

Outside the door, Nora suddenly turned her head and looked at Justin. “... Big Brother?”

She had been so focused on revenge that she had almost forgotten about it! Justin had deceived her so badly!

She thought about how she had criticized Big Brother many times in front of him, but this person had never said a word. She wondered how he had mocked her in his heart.

Nora sneered and suddenly moved her wrist. “Big Brother, I’ve been friends with you for a long time. Why don’t we find a place to spar?” Justin: “!!!”

He smiled with narrowed eyes, the mole at the corner of his eye flashing guiltily. “I think the DNA test is a bit more urgent.”

Nora nodded. “You’re right.”

Justin heaved a sigh of relief.

The next moment, Nora pushed open the door and threw the sample in her hand toward Lily. “The results will be out in three hours.”

Then she turned around, grabbed Justin’s tie, and pulled him downstairs.

Justin: “...”

This domineering posture was too ambiguous. For a moment, he did not know whether to laugh or cry. The two of them went downstairs and found an empty seat. Nora clenched her fists and waved at Justin. “Come on, don’t be merciful. Let me see how powerful this Big Brother is that Master keeps talking about!”

Justin: “...”

Should he fight or not? Wasn’t she making things too difficult for him?

—

At the testing center. After Karl Moore personally delivered Tanya’s hair, he got his brothers to wait and returned to the hotel.

As soon as he returned, he saw Jill waiting for him.

Karl Moore narrowed his eyes and walked forward. “Why are you here?”

Jill immediately asked, “When are you going to save Hillary? It’s been a day. Why haven’t you saved her yet?”

Karl Moore walked upstairs. “There has to be time for everything. I’ve already made arrangements. Don’t be anxious.”

Jill followed behind him. “Karl Moore, you slept with me back then and walked away. I had to marry someone while I was pregnant with your child. You’ve let me down. I don’t have any other requests for you, as long as you save my daughter and take her overseas!”

Karl Moore nodded. “I already know your request. Go back now.”

However, Jill followed him into the hotel room. “No, I want to stay here and watch you arrange my daughter’s rescue! I won’t leave until you save her!”

With that, she sat on Karl Moore’s sofa confidently and folded her arms as she looked at him.

Karl Moore ignored her nonsense and instructed his subordinates to do what they needed to do. He took out some documents and looked at them, handling some matters.

When Jill saw that he was still calm, she stood up and snatched the documents from his hands. She could not help but say, “Your daughter has been in prison for a day. The Smiths and the Hunts have done countless evil deeds. Karl Moore, why is your heart so cold? You can still bear it! Is your job more important? Or is your daughter? It’s been so many years, but you haven’t done anything as a father. Now, you owe her! Can you save your daughter quickly?!” Karl Moore looked at her and frowned unhappily.

At this moment, his phone rang.

Karl Moore picked up the call and his subordinate’s voice came from the other end. “Boss, the results are out.” Karl Moore stared at Jill and asked, “What was the outcome?”

“99%. You and Miss Tanya are father and daughter.”

Chapter 446 - Take Good Care Of Hillary

Karl's grip on his phone tightened. His jaw tensed up and he felt that he must have misheard. He kept his emotions under control and asked again, "What did you say?"

"Boss, Tanya Turner is your real daughter. Hillary Jones is not your daughter at all. That sadistic woman even stole your daughter's child and tortured her for five years..."

"I looked into her background along the way. Ms. Turner suffered a lot in Switzerland during those five years. After she lost her child, she suffered a mental breakdown and was almost sent to a mental institution. Later, someone even framed her and broke her leg. When I looked into it, it turned out that it was also Hillary's doing. Fortunately, she met a genius doctor who fixed her leg for her..."

"Also, as you must already know from the court hearing, it was Hillary behind Ms. Turner and Mr. Smith's breakup back then. She schemed and plotted to sow discord between the two of them and separate them.

"I also found out that everyone knows that Tanya Turner is Jill's daughter. She was Jill's extra baggage when she married into the Joneses back then. The Joneses have always treated Ms. Turner like a servant.

"Also, after the first nine years of compulsory education, ever since she entered junior high, Ms. Turner had been working part-time to earn money for her tuition fees. Her tuition fees when she was attending college in the States also came from her part-time jobs. It seems that Jill has never given her any money for living expenses..."

The more his subordinate spoke, the graver and more solemn Karl's face became.

To be honest, when Jill told him that Hillary was his daughter, he had been somewhat in an internal struggle.

After all, no one wanted their daughter to be a thief who stole other people's children!

But for someone like him, who couldn't ever have any more children, having a descendant was something that didn't come by easily. He didn't dare to wish for more.

When he instructed his men to look into Tanya, he actually hadn't held much hope. He had merely found Jill's behavior a little fishy.

Even though he was the leader of a group of assassins, Karl gave people the impression that he was a very simple and naive man, as if he was very gullible. It was just like how he had seemed like a foolish small-time gangster in the States many years ago...

But if he really were that stupid, how would he possibly have become the leader of the Assassin Organization?

The instant the report was out, Karl was thankful that his daughter was not a woman who did all sorts of wicked and malicious deeds, an acute sense of guilt also surged up in him!

He had never expected his daughter to be living such a hard life!

He had also never expected himself to actually become an accomplice to someone trying to take his daughter's child away from her just as his daughter's life was improving.

He slapped himself across the cheek angrily.

Smack!

He used a lot of force in the slap. After he slapped himself, his mind also became clearer. He turned to look at Jill!

The look in his eyes was fierce and vicious, making Jill feel cold all over. Her confrontational words toward Karl suddenly became stuck in her throat and she stammered, “W-why are you looking at me like that...?”

Karl sneered, “I’m just trying to see just how brave the person is who had the guts to deceive me into bullying my own daughter!” Jill’s pupils shrank when she heard him.

She took a huge step back. Her eyes flickered as she said, “What nonsense are you talking about? I don’t understand what you’re saying!” “In that case, let me explain everything to you properly.”

Karl took step after step toward Jill. “The hair you plucked out when you were at the court is Tanya Turner’s, right?”

Jill hurriedly denied it. “No, it isn’t!”

Seeing that she was still lying even at this point, disappointment flashed across Karl’s eyes. He narrowed his eyes and slowly said, “I have already done another DNA test for Tanya and me.”

That one line of his stunned Jill.

She looked at Karl in disbelief, seemingly never having expected him to be such a perceptive man...

Seeing that she had finally shut up, Karl sneered, “What else do you have to say now?”

Realizing that she couldn’t continue to hide it from him anymore, Jill took another two steps back and put some distance between herself and Karl. She looked at him coldly and said furiously, “So what even if you now realize it? This is something you owe me, Karl! Even if Tanya is your daughter, I’m still the one who gave birth to her! I gave you a daughter, so you have to save my daughter’s life!”

Karl narrowed his eyes. He suddenly took a step forward and slapped her hard across the cheek!

Smack!

The crisp smack caused Jill's voice to instantly disappear.

She could feel her cheek burning, and even two of her teeth had loosened and fallen off. She could taste a metallic sweetness-she was likely bleeding.

Her ears were also ringing. One could easily see just how hard Karl had slapped her!

When she finally came back to her senses, she saw that Karl was already seated on the sofa. He had one leg crossed over the other and was fiddling with a gun. Jill's legs instantly turned into jelly when she saw the icy-cold muzzle pointed at her!

In this instant, the man in front of her suddenly became big and tall. It was as if even the air around him had changed. From a simple and naive nouveau riche, he had turned into a cold and unfeeling underworld boss.

Jill swallowed.

Since the moment she ran into Karl when she was taking Hillary to the airport, the man had always shown her kindness. It made her think that time was still stuck at over twenty years ago when the man was just a little gangster in the streets...

That was why she had kept making various demands to Karl, and even spoke as if she was giving him orders when she requested him to save her daughter. It wasn't until now that Jill finally realized in shock that he was a man who could make even the Smiths and the Hunts compromise. He was not someone whom she could manipulate as and when she wanted...

She had assumed that he was much stupider than he really was!

She was so frightened that she couldn't help but shiver all over. Her lips trembled as she said, "You... you can't kill me..."

Karl's head was lowered as he glanced at her carelessly. "Why can't I kill you?"

“Because... because...” Jill suddenly thought of something. “Because I am Tanya’s mother! I gave birth to her! I brought her all the way up! Even if there’s nothing meritorious about what I did, you cannot deny the effort I’ve put in! I was the one who gave Tanya her life!”

Karl let out an icy laugh when he heard what she said. He looked up and said, “If it wasn’t for that, did you think I would have stopped at just a slap?”

Cold sweat drenched Jill.

Karl got up. He stared at her and ordered, “Get lost!”

A frightened Jill got up abruptly and scrambled toward the door. The woman staggered as she moved as if she was afraid that Karl would kill her the next second.

Elsewhere, in prison.

During the prisoner’s recreation time, someone came up to Hillary.

Hillary couldn’t help but smile as she looked at her. “Did Karl Moore send you to take care of me?”

The woman was a female prisoner. She flexed her wrists when she heard what Hillary said, and the corners of her lips curled up into a strange smile. “Uh-huh. Boss asked me to take good care of you.”

Chapter 447 - A Child With A High Status Elevates Their Mother'S Status

Hillary didn't sense anything amiss even when she heard what the other woman said. Although she had been very scared and in a panic when she first entered the prison, she soon discovered that she was receiving slightly better treatment than other prisoners. There were several times where someone had tried to make things hard for her, but someone else had fended them all off for her.

Later, Jill had visited her and informed her of some of the ongoings. She had also said that Karl would definitely save her and told her not to worry.

As a result, Hillary had completely put her mind at ease.

When she heard what the other woman said, she stretched out her leg and said, "Give me a leg massage. The bed in the cell is too hard. I didn't sleep well last night, I'm really tired..."

The female prisoner cast her eyes down and slowly squatted down. "Sure!"

She bent over and held Hillary's leg. While the prisoner hadn't applied any force yet, Hillary ordered, "By the way, pass my dad a message and tell him to send me some bedding and stuff like that... oh, and skincare products too... I didn't have any products after I washed my face today, my skin is really dry..."

She had only just said that when she suddenly felt a sharp pain in her leg. The pain made her mouth open at once. She was about to yell when someone covered her mouth.

Then, another person rushed over.

Hillary's eyes widened. The next moment, the prisoner giving her a massage suddenly raised her head and gave her a smile. Then, she pressed down harder!

“Ugh...”

Hillary was in so much pain that she was covered in cold sweat all over. However, the woman didn't show any sign of stopping!!

Wom

By the time the prisoners' recreation time ended, Hillary had been taught a good lesson. Upon returning to her cell with the rest of the prisoners, she immediately pulled her clothes to the side. Her body was covered in bruises and some places were starting to swell, forming an unbearable sight!

Tears rolled down her cheeks at once. “Hillary, you have a visitor.” She stood up abruptly. When she went out, she saw a pathetic-looking Jill standing in the room.

The agonized woman hugged Jill at once. “Mom, you're finally here! They are going to bully me to death! Quick, tell Karl the people he sent to protect me are bullying me every day! Make Karl take revenge for me and kill them!”

Her eyes were filled with hatred.

Jill's eyes reddened when she heard her. “It's been tough on you, Hillary! But there's nothing we can do at the moment!”

Hillary looked up at once. It was then that she noticed that Jill's cheek was also red and swollen on one side. Stunned, she asked, “What happened to you?” Jill hugged her and wept bitterly. When the visitation session ended, Hillary hugged her and shouted, “Mom! Mom, you must save me! I will die if you don't save me! I really will die!”

As per the public's wishes, Hillary had been sentenced to life imprisonment.

The moment she thought of how she would be in jail for the rest of her life, she felt acute despair swallow her up...

Jill clenched her fists tightly as she watched her crying daughter being led away.

No, she mustn't allow her daughter's life to be ruined just like that!!

—

At the Smiths.

Tanya was playing with Mia and the others.

Nora was seated leisurely on the sofa. Joel and Justin were sitting on the other side.

Cherry, who was sitting cross-legged, was playing games on her cell phone.

Pete was watching Mia and Cherry. For once, he actually wasn't doing Mathematical Olympiad drills. The family formed a happy and harmonious sight, but in truth, they were actually waiting for the results of Lily's final DNA test.

If the busy Lily were to see what they currently looked like, she would probably call them "evil capitalists"!

Suddenly, the butler entered the room. He looked a little embarrassed as he said, "Sir, the old Mr. Smith is here."

The guest was Samuel Smith, Ian's third uncle who lived in the Smiths' ancestral home. He was also the one who had spoken up for Yvonne previously.

Joel raised his brows.

Samuel had helped Yvonne to make a scene at the hospital the other time, but it was to no avail. After that, he had left while Yvonne was arrested and thrown into jail.

What was he here for this time? Joel's brows drew together, but it wasn't like he could really drive his elders out of the house, so he said dispassionately, "Let him in."

The butler nodded. A short while later, Samuel came in with a woman who looked about forty to fifty years old.

Joel glanced at the two of them. Then, he lowered his gaze and said, "Granduncle Samuel, Grandaunt Sue."

Sue had married into the family after Samuel's first wife passed away. There was a shrewd and capable look in her eyes.

Her eyes, which had a lot of life in them, glanced at Joel. Then, she smiled and said, "Joel, we haven't seen each other for so long! I heard that there was some trouble at home, so Samuel and I immediately hurried over to visit you!"

Samuel let out a cold laugh.

Sue immediately prodded his arm, stopping Samuel from speaking.

She looked at the two women in the living room.

Then, she went forward, held Nora's hand enthusiastically, and said, "You must be Nora, right? You look just like a Smith! You're so pretty! I heard you're engaged to Mr. Hunt?" She looked at Justin cheerfully.

Justin, who was unaware of all the inner workings of the family, nodded politely at her.

Before Nora could say anything, Sue took off the bangle on her hand and stuffed it into Nora's hand. "Even though you've returned to the Smiths, Grandaunt Sue has nothing much she can give you. Here, you can have some fun with this bangle for now!" Nora: "??"

She narrowed her eyes slightly and pushed the bangle back to her. "I can't take this. It's too expensive a gift."

“Aw,” Sue said, “What’s so valuable about this? I have a distant relative in this line of business who’s very knowledgeable about antiques!”

“Nora, I know there was a bit of a misunderstanding between you and Samuel previously, but we are all Smiths here. We’re all still connected to one another no matter what happens. You won’t hold it against him, right?”
Nora: “...”

Sue was simply too eloquent!!

She coughed. Just as she was about to say something, Sue stuffed the bangle back into her hand and turned to Tanya.

The look in her eyes wasn’t that humble anymore.

She said with a smile, “You must be Mia’s mom, the one caught up in all that drama recently, right?”

The children had already been taken upstairs to play when the two of them were coming in.

Justin didn’t want to reveal too much about his children.

Seeing Sue looking at her, Tanya nodded. “Yes.”

“Tanya, right? I met you before when you were a child!” Sue was very enthusiastic. She held her hand and said, “I was visiting the Joneses at that time. When you were pouring us water, you accidentally broke the glasses, so your mom punished you by making you kneel on the floor. You were only five then. You were so small and looked so pitiful kneeling there!” Her words were rather discomfiting.

However, what she said next was even worse. “Who would have thought that you would become Cinderella and give birth to Joel’s child one day? A child with a high status elevates their mother’s status, indeed!”

Chapter 448 - Tanya Doesn'T Have A Notable Background?

Tanya: “???”

“???? :Nora

Everyone in the room could hear the disdain hidden in Sue’s words.

What did she mean by saying that Tanya’s status had risen because she had given birth to Joel’s child?!

She was clearly refusing to acknowledge Tanya’s status!

Who would bring up someone else’s humiliating childhood events in front of other people?

The look in Nora’s eyes turned cold, and she threw the bangle onto the coffee table, producing a crisp clang.

However, it was as if Sue hadn’t sensed anything at all. She went on and said, “Joel, I heard that the two of you started dating in junior high and only broke up when you graduated from college? To think the two of you can still get together even after five years of separation... and that you can still hold your daughter in your arms. Tanya, you must feel very blissful to be able to live in such a big house, right?”

The look in Tanya’s eyes turned even colder. She wanted to pull her hand out of the woman’s grip, but Sue kept holding her hand tightly. “People mustn’t forget their roots. Tanya, it was the Joneses who fed you and brought you up. Now that you have married into a rich family... let’s not talk about repaying their kindness anymore, but at the very least, you mustn’t be an ingrate, right?”

Tanya narrowed her eyes. “I don’t understand what you’re trying to say, Mrs. Smith.”

Joel also got up abruptly. His expression turned cold and he said, “Tanya, why don’t you go upstairs and take a look at the child? Mia seems to be calling out for you.”

Then, he looked at Sue and said, “Grandaunt Sue, how rare of you to visit us today. If you have something to say, then why don’t you speak with me instead?”

Joel was still smiling, but he had completely unleashed his powerful aura.

Tanya breathed a sigh of relief.

She didn’t want to argue with people from the older generation of the Smiths. After all, it was very awkward for her to be living here at the moment.

She and Joel weren’t married, but because she couldn’t bear to be apart from her daughter besides, she had only just been reunited with her—she could only stay at the Smiths’.

It was very embarrassing for her every time the nannies addressed her as “Ms. Turner”.

Yet she couldn’t be so hypocritical as to bring up leaving

Karl was still in New York. What if Jill got him to send people to take revenge on her?

At the very least, before the DNA report was out, there was no way she could leave the Smith manor. However, in the eyes of outsiders, her actions were no different from how Hillary had so shamelessly insisted on living with the Smiths back then. Some people would undoubtedly look down on her!

They would think of her as someone clinging shamelessly to the Smiths as if what she was interested in was Joel’s money.

She couldn't be bothered to explain, though.

She stood up and got ready to go upstairs. However, before she could go, Samuel let out a "hmp", looked at Joel, and said, "What's the problem, Joel? Is your grandaunt not allowed to chastise your woman even a little?"

Joel's expression turned cold at once. "Granduncle Samuel, perhaps it's because I haven't done the proper introductions yet, but Tanya is my fiancée! She is also the future matriarch of the Smiths! May I know what Grandaunt Sue is planning to lecture her about?"

Who would dare to lecture the matriarch of the family?!

The only reason why they had the audacity to go this far right now was that he and Tanya weren't married yet!

Joel found Samuel very annoying and bothersome, but unfortunately, he was the oldest in the family, so he couldn't casually refuse him an audience or drive him out!

When he said that, Samuel laughed and said, "Joel, you must be kidding, right? Her? What gives her the right to be the matriarch of the Smiths? I was already disapproving of your engagement to Hillary Jones back then. The Joneses are just a small nobody family. How can they be worthy of you? Even the mention of it is an embarrassment to the Smiths!

"I was even thinking of introducing you to someone of suitable and matching status when you broke off your engagement with her, but I didn't expect you to find yourself another woman with an even worse background!

"The one from the Joneses is at least the young mistress of their family, but what about this one? She's just extra baggage that that woman from the Joneses brought with her when she married into the family!

"Is there anyone who doesn't know that the Joneses have never liked her throughout her entire life? On top of that, she has such a weird temperament that even her own mother loathes her. How can such an unruly person be the matriarch of the Smiths?!"

Sue echoed him, “He’s right, Joel. You’d better not let her trick you and talk you into being impulsive. If you marry her, you will end up a joke in all the wealthy circles in New York! I’m saying this for your own good. No one will say anything if you keep her as your mistress and have some fun with her, but you have to be careful about who you give the identity of the matriarch of the Smiths to! I have someone whom I can introduce to you. Not only does she have a good personality, but she also has a good character. Why don’t I introduce the two of you to each other?”

Seeing how they were crossing the line further and further with their words, the cold Joel said, “I haven’t reached the point where I need other people to dictate who I should be choosing as my wife. Besides, Uncle Ian has already approved of Tanya.”

Ian held great authority in the Smiths.

Even Samuel didn’t dare to behave obnoxiously in front of Ian even if he was older than him.

It was just that the difference in generational roles between Ian and Samuel was simply too big. That was why he had the guts to come over and say such things.

However, Samuel sneered and said, “I only said a few words, yet you’re saying that I’m ‘dictating’ what you should be doing? Do you have any idea that word has already spread throughout the wealthy circle in New York that you’ve gone out of your mind because of a woman?! It’s to the extent that you’re already going against Karl Moore! If being a hero is what you want, then, by all means, go ahead! But why are you putting the Smiths at stake as a result? You may not be afraid of death, but we want to live!”

Sue nodded repeatedly. “He’s right, Joel. However, our focus right now isn’t about who the matriarch of the Smiths is. After all, it’s not set in stone yet. I’m actually here today to persuade you to reconcile with the Joneses.”

She looked at Tanya and said, “Hillary stole your child and deceived Joel, there’s no doubt that she made a mistake there. But Jill is still your mother, no matter what, right? Surely you can’t disregard even your own mother, right?! You and Hillary are technically sisters. Rather than making a fool out of yourselves in front of outsiders, in my opinion, why not let the whole thing pass altogether...? We can have the two families reconcile while you forgive Hillary. Let Joel do something about it and have her acquitted. This way, you won't make a fool out of yourself in front of others anymore. Don't you think I'm right?"

Tanya: "?!"

Her expression turned cold. "Mrs. Smith, I will never forgive a woman who stole my child, so I would advise you not to bother persuading us any further. If not, you can't hold it against me if I don't show you any courtesy!" Sue curled her lips disdainfully. However, she took a step forward and held her hand again. "You silly girl, I'm not doing this for the Joneses; I'm doing this for you! Think about it, how are you going to gain a foothold in the Smiths when you don't have a notable background? No matter how awful the Joneses are, they can still be considered your family. If you fall out with them, you'll really become someone without a family! If a woman without a notable background like you doesn't have anyone backing you up, how are you going to be with Joel? Am I wrong?"

Chapter 449 - Karl Is Here!

Her words made Tanya feel incredibly furious and shamed!

Honestly speaking, her status was indeed too low in comparison with Joel's.

After all, the Smiths' status was clear for all to see...

Moreover, she was already way past the point in her youthful days where love eclipsed all.

Were it back then, she would have said mockingly, "So what even if I don't have a notable background? Joel and I are truly in love with each other!"

However, the five years she had spent living abroad had made her thoroughly understand what life really was like. She had also come to understand that one's birth and family background were indeed their first hurdle in life!

Some people were born at the top of the pyramid, but she was instead at the furthest end of the line, unable to hold a candle to them.

She clenched her fists tightly, and her face flushed with shame.

Nora couldn't make herself listen anymore. She looked up and said in a low voice, "Who says she doesn't have anyone backing her up?"

Sue looked at her.

She didn't want to offend Nora-after all, she was Ian's daughter!

The entire family knew just how protective Ian was of his own. If she dared so much as to look at Nora the wrong way, Ian would surely crawl all the way out of the hospital and barge into their home to beat them up the very next moment.

However, she still curled her lips disdainfully. At the bottom of it all, she was still just a girl raised in a small household in a small town in California. She simply spoke so arrogantly and was completely lacking in foundation and cultivation.

She asked with a big smile, “Oh? Is Tanya the daughter of an internationally wealthy family? So, she comes from a very impressive family? Why haven’t I heard of that?!”

Tanya: “!”

Just as Tanya was at a loss for words, Nora glanced at Justin.

Justin got the hint and got up at once. “Mrs. Smith, I forgot to make the introductions. Tanya is my younger god-sister.” As soon as he said that, Nora coughed and retorted, “She’s your elder god-sister.”

Tanya was a year older than Nora.

Justin: “...”

He coughed and said, “Well, yes. Therefore, the Hunts are her family!”

Sue narrowed her eyes at once. She smiled awkwardly and said, “Heh. Ms. Turner sure is pretty skilled at becoming god-relatives with others.”

However, with Justin standing there, she ultimately didn’t dare to say anything else.

At this moment, the butler outside came in again. This time, he had a solemn look on his face. Upon entering, he immediately said, “Mr. Joel. Karl Moore has brought his men here again!”

Joel: “??”

He narrowed his eyes and subconsciously exchanged a look with Justin.

In this instant, both men had figured out what Karl was here for!

... even if Lily's test results weren't out yet!

Karl had the DNA test expedited, so the lab completed it in three hours for him. On the other hand, after Nora retrieved Karl's hair samples, she had gone to the hospital to pass them to Lily, who then went to the relevant departments to borrow their equipment and so on. As a result, they were delayed by an hour.

However, if Tanya wasn't Karl's daughter, he would not have come to the Smiths' but gone to break Hillary out of jail instead!

Therefore, a relaxed Joel said, "Invite him into the house."

The butler nodded and left.

However, he didn't expect Samuel to suddenly latch on to this. He looked straight at Joel and said, "Did you see that? He's here again! He must be here because of the Joneses again! If you ask me, you shouldn't have offended people like him!"

Sue also said, "Yes, this is so scary. I heard that gangsters like them don't give two hoots about anything and are very unreasonable! We, the Smiths, are people who obey the rules and do business legitimately. We can't offend big figures like him! Joel, you have to think this through carefully. Are you really going to fight him at the cost of our family?!"

Joel sneered at their words.

He lowered his gaze and said slowly, "Granduncle Samuel and Grandaunt Sue, perhaps Karl is here to make peace?"

"That's impossible! You must be out of your mind!" Samuel angrily rebuked, "Why would someone like him bow down to you? He's definitely here to settle scores with you! You'd better hurry and think about what to say to him!"

Then, he looked at Tanya earnestly and said, "And you, too. Even if you are not a daughter-in-law of the Smiths yet, you are still more or less Joel's woman. Can't you be a bit more sensible and not make so much trouble for the Smiths?!"

Sue nodded. "Ms. Turner, you are still young, so you must feel like you have to get even with them. But by doing so, do you know how much risk you're putting the Smiths at?! There are tons of people waiting to see you make a fool out of yourself! Hurry and talk some sense into Joel. I don't think the Joneses want the child anymore, so why not just have the two families reconcile?!"

Tanya's thoughts were not on these matters at the moment, however.

She stared at the doorway with complicated feelings.

She had a vague inkling why Karl had suddenly come to the Smiths'. She had already considered the possibility when Lily went to redo the DNA test.

But was he really her father?

In that case, did she want to acknowledge him?

She was in an internal struggle about this, so she didn't hear Samuel and Sue going on and on by themselves.

At this point, Karl, together with three of his men, strode through the doorway into the living room. As he entered, his gaze immediately landed on Tanya excitedly. Even his voice was trembling a little as he asked, "You must be Tanya, right?"

Joel stepped in front of Tanya, looked at Karl, and said unceremoniously, "Mr. Moore, may I know what you are here for?"

He spoke aggressively, which shocked Samuel. Samuel immediately grabbed his arm and said, "Mr. Moore, my apologies, Joel is still young and ignorant. You must be here to propose reconciliation, right?"

Karl was a little displeased that Joel was blocking his view of Tanya.

But when he thought of how he was the man whom Tanya loved, he didn't dare to offend him. As a result, he could only look away in dejection. He replied, "I'm here to talk to Tanya."

Samuel immediately gave him an obsequious smile. "Yes, that's right. We shouldn't be impulsive. Let's all sit down and talk it out!"

He glanced at Sue at once.

Sue got the hint. She grabbed Tanya's wrist, lowered her voice, and said, "Ms. Turner, if you are not stupid, then you should know what kind of choice to make, right?"

Tanya frowned. "What?"

Sue finally said, "I'm actually here because your mother came to me and asked me to talk to you. I believe that once you take a step back and give in, the Joneses will owe you one and support you in the future, in which case it won't be impossible for you to marry Joel... But if you insist on falling out with the Joneses and forcing the Smiths to offend Mr. Moore, then I am afraid you can forget about ever establishing a foothold in the Smiths!"

"You must have a good talk with Mr. Moore. Try to meet all of his demands. He is an influential figure that someone like you cannot afford to offend!"

Chapter 450 - Tanya Is My Daughter!!

An influential figure?

Tanya looked at Karl. She had never been afraid of influential people. After all, Karl was only one thing to her at the moment—a father who had tried to help someone else to take her child from her. When Sue saw that she wasn't saying anything, she went on. "You'd best not do anything stupid. I'll tell you this, Joel is willing to stand up for you today because he's still in love with you now. Once he gets bored of you, he can easily push you out and make you suffer! You know what I mean, right?"

Tanya lowered her gaze and replied frostily, "Yeah."

Then, she walked around Sue, stood right next to Joel, and looked at Karl. She said very coldly, "I have nothing to say to you."

Anger filled inside her the moment she thought of how Karl had forced them to go to court with Hillary.

Her words and behavior shocked Sue! She and Samuel looked at each other and hastily took a step forward. Sue grabbed Tanya and chastised her. "Child, watch the way you speak!"

Samuel looked at Karl and explained, "Don't take this the wrong way, Mr. Moore. She is from a small family, so she doesn't know how to speak properly. Rest assured that her attitude is not representative of the Smiths'. After all, she is not Joel's wife yet!" He then looked at Tanya and reprimanded her loudly. "What kind of attitude do you think you're taking towards Mr. Moore?! Hurry up and apologize!"

Joel's eyes turned cold. However, when he saw that Karl's expression had darkened, he thought for a while and decided not to say anything.

Tanya would be living with the Smiths in the future. If Karl unleashed his wrath, perhaps he would be able to intimidate those two old fogeys and stop them from creating so much trouble in the future!

His silence made Samuel think that he had given him his tacit approval. Thus, his voice became even louder as he reprimanded Tanya. "I'm talking to you! Why aren't you listening? Hurry up and apologize!"

Tanya lowered her head and sneered, "He doesn't deserve my apology." Her words horrified Samuel even further. He looked back up-sure enough, Karl was already pulling a long face. He immediately misunderstood and hastily scolded Tanya angrily again. "What's the matter with you? If you don't apologize, then you can forget about ever marrying into the Smiths!" Then, he turned to Karl. "Mr. Moore, please don't be mistaken..."

Next to him, Sue also said, "Mr. Moore, don't be angry. Insensible, awkward, foul-mouthed, and short-sighted; she has always been like this since she was a child! It's all because she's a stray child without a father to bring her up. That's why she has no family upbringing whatsoever!"

As soon as she said that, she heard a click. The next moment, an icy-cold object was pointed right at her head.

Sue was stunned. She slowly turned her head to see a pitch-black hole aimed at her head. When she realized what it was, Sue's legs went limp and she almost fell straight onto the floor!

She was so terrified that she was shaking all over. She pointed to Tanya and said, "Mr. Moore, you... you are pointing that at the wrong person. Tanya is over there..."

Karl's gaze, however, was fixed right on her.

She had the guts to mock his daughter when he was standing right in front of her. He then thought of all the things that his men had found out about Tanya while they were on their way here... His daughter had suffered so much all these years!

Just the mere thought of it made his heart ache terribly!!

He asked coldly, “Did you just say that she doesn’t have a father?”

Sue immediately nodded. “Yes, yes, that’s right. She is the extra baggage that Jill brought with her when she married into the Joneses. Everyone knows that. I even heard that Jill’s ex-lover was some small-time gangster. With a gangster for a father, she must be rotten through and through, either...”

Almost as soon as she said that, she heard a bang!

A gunshot rang out right beside Sue’s ear, which made her jump in shock and fright. Her trousers immediately became scorching hot...

When she recovered, she saw that the gunshot had landed right next to her foot. It had even created a small hole in the Smiths’ marble flooring.

Her legs turned into jelly and she fell onto the floor.

Karl blew at the muzzle and dissipated the smoke rising out of it. Then, as if nothing noteworthy had happened, he said, “Sorry, it went off accidentally.”

Sue: “...”

She nodded obediently. Before she could say anything, Karl lifted the gun and pointed the pitch-black hole at her again.

Karl’s voice seemed like it was coming from the heavens, yet also as if it was close at hand. He said, “Hearing you insulting me like that doesn’t make me very happy, though. How am I a small-time gangster? How is my daughter rotten through and through?”

Sue: “???”

Samuel, who was also scared witless beside her: “???”

Both of them looked at Karl, question marks popping up in their minds at the same time: ‘Huh?’

Just as the two were utterly confused about what was going on, Tanya's voice rang out. "I'm not your daughter!" Karl immediately stopped paying attention to Sue. It was just that he didn't move his hand away, either, so the gun was still pointed at her, making her afraid to move.

Karl panicked and said, "Tanya, Dad knows he's in the wrong now! Jill tricked me! She told me that Hillary is my daughter... That's why I helped her to take your child!" Sue: "???"

Samuel: "????"

The two of them felt that they might be mishearing things due to old age.

What did Karl just say?!

Samuel swallowed and asked, "Mr. Moore, w-what do you mean?"

Karl, who was very troubled that his daughter was refusing to acknowledge him, immediately replied angrily, "What I'm saying is, Tanya is my daughter, and I'm her father! I will fight everyone who dares to bully my daughter, to the death!"

Samuel: "!!!!"

When Sue heard the words "to the death" and saw the muzzle again, her eyes suddenly rolled up in fright and she passed out, her lower body was all wet.

However, no one was paying any attention to that at the moment.

Karl was anxious to acknowledge his daughter, but Tanya had a complicated look on her face. She couldn't accept him right away.

While the two were looking at each other, the butler at the door came in again. With a complicated look on his countenance, he looked at Tanya and said, "Ms. Turner, Mrs. Jones is here. She's at the door and insisting that you go out!"

Tanya frowned.

She glanced at Karl before she turned and went out.

The moment she came to the manor's gates, she saw Jill standing outside with a group of reporters.

Jill was currently holding a dagger to her neck. As soon as Tanya appeared, she yelled, "Tanya, write and sign off on a letter of forgiveness right away! Save Hillary and get her out of jail!"

Her eyes were icy-cold. "Even if we have severed our ties as mother and daughter, it doesn't change the fact that I am still your mother! My blood flows through your veins! If you refuse to save Hillary, I will kill myself right in front of you. Everyone is watching! You drove your mother to kill herself! I want you to never be able to rest in peace for the rest of your life!"

As soon as she said that, a fervor went through the reporters!

A mother killing herself in front of her daughter?!

This was breaking news!

Everyone rushed forward with their cameras and pointed their microphones at Tanya.

"Ms. Turner, what is your decision?"

"Ms. Turner, are you really going to disregard your mother's life?"

"If she dies here, you'll become the person responsible for driving her to her death, and you will definitely regret it in the future. Ms. Turner, hurry up and accede to her request!"

"Ms. Turner..."

At the same time, there were also people doing live-streams of the situation.

With a microphone in his hand, a reporter spoke to his live-stream audience and said, "I heard that Tanya's mother has never treated her well ever since she was a child. But she is ultimately still her mother and the person who gave birth to her. She gave Ms. Turner life. Surely the fact alone that she hadn't abandoned Ms. Turner but fed her and brought her up all the way until she became an adult is enough that Ms. Turner shouldn't let her down, right?"

People were also commenting in the live-stream:

"It's all over! Tanya has gotten into huge trouble now!"

"She doesn't need a mother like that! She shouldn't forgive her. Why should she forgive her?!"

"What a horrific mother. But if Tanya doesn't save her, she will really become someone who killed her own mother. No matter what, she brought Tanya into the world!"

"What can she do now? Can Tanya really watch her mother die in front of her?"

Even without looking at the comments, Jill seemed to know what the people would say.

She sneered at Tanya and brought the dagger even closer to her neck. Someone wanted to come forward and stop her, but she shouted, "Don't come near! If you come any nearer, I will stab myself with the dagger!"

Her words made everyone stop.

Tanya looked at her.

In this instant, her heart was dead.

Would you look at that? That was her mother. For the sake of her other daughter, she was willing to threaten her with her own life.

Tanya closed her eyes. She felt like a trapped beast forced into the most desperate of situations! What could she do?!

In her despair, Karl and Nora came out of the manor.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 451 - Shall I Accompany You?

Nora looked at the situation in front of her and frowned slightly.

She looked at Jill in confusion.

In the past, she had only heard Tanya talk about how biased her mother was, but she had never seen it with her own eyes.

Furthermore, she did not have a mother growing up, so she had felt even less motherly love.

But at this moment, she was still furious when she saw Jill's actions.

She frowned and suddenly walked around Tanya. She took a step forward and walked toward Jill.

Jill was stunned. "Don't come over! If you come any closer, I'll pierce myself!"

Nora's tone was very calm as she said, "Do you really want to die? Then let me tell you. If you want to cut your throat, you must remember to aim it at the large artery. Otherwise, you will probably feel very uncomfortable!" Jill was taken aback. "What?"

Nora stopped in her tracks and did not move forward. She turned around and looked at Joel, who was standing at the door. She said, "Joel, please bring my medical bag over." With that, she smiled at Jill. "I'm sorry, but you should know who I am. I'm a surgeon. After you slit your throat, I'm confident that I can save you. Of course... there's no anesthetic here. To stop the bleeding, I might close the wound directly. You have to endure the pain of the needle passing through your neck... but I'm very fast. It will take less than... half an hour?"

After saying that, Nora smiled again. “Although, the medical equipment at hand is still just for first aid, so I can’t guarantee that there won’t be any scars. But you don’t have to worry...”

The smile on her lips looked strange and cold. “Although it won’t look good and will have the effect of being sewn on like a doll, you won’t die.”

“Of course, it’s also possible to completely avoid a scar, but the chances of that happening are very low.”

After saying that, she looked at Jill seriously. “Mrs. Jones, may I ask when do you plan to pierce your neck?”

Jill: “!!”

Why did she feel so terrified after hearing her words?

Moreover, for some reason, Nora’s voice was very low right now. Her voice was not as sweet as that of an ordinary girl. It was a little cold. Saying things slowly like this was like telling a ghost story. It scared her so much that she shouted, “You, you lunatic!”

Nora raised her eyebrows and did not say anything else.

After being interrupted by her, the reporters beside her felt that the situation was no longer as dangerous as before. They even found it... a little funny? When Jill saw that some of the reporters around her had lowered their heads and smiled, she immediately narrowed her eyes. She looked angrily at Tanya. “Are you going to watch helplessly as others insult your mother? You unfilial child! How did I give birth to you?!”

Tanya lowered her head.

At this moment, she even felt a little helpless. Her tone was very calm, but everyone present could hear the despair in her words through her tone. “What... can I do... to make you cut ties with me?”

Just because she gave birth to her, did she owe her forever?!

Tanya clenched her fists and suddenly looked up at Jill. “Do you know? I wish I could peel off my bones and skin to return this flesh to you!”

Everyone was shocked.

To be able to say such words, Tanya must be feeling extremely pained at this moment!

The live-stream’s comments paused for a moment before someone spoke up for her.

– I can’t stand it anymore. Just because she gave birth to her, she can keep forcing her forever? Why?

— Yes, and this mother doesn’t treat her daughter well at all. This daughter doesn’t owe her anything! Why should she forgive someone who stole her child?

– Suddenly, I feel that it’s too difficult for Tanya. On one side is her mother, and on the other is her daughter. If she writes a letter of forgiveness, what would her daughter think of her when she grows up?

— I cried. Don’t ask why. I felt more desperate than her mother at the moment.

“Ahhhh, Tanya’s story is really too heartbreaking. Don’t sign the letter of forgiveness. If she wants to kill herself, let her die! This kind of woman will only be a burden to the world if she lives!”

– I agree. Let her kill herself. What does it have to do with Tanya?

At the scene, Jill’s eyes widened when she heard Tanya’s words. She was so angry that her entire body trembled. “Okay, then return it to me now! If my daughter can’t come out, you’ll die with her! Who’s afraid of whom?!”

As soon as she said this, Tanya smiled mockingly. “I’m sorry, but I can’t... I still have a daughter to take care of... and so many people who love me are waiting for me. I can’t choose to die because of you!”

With that, the reporters erupted in applause. Some even shouted, “Yes, it’s not worth dying for such a person!” “That’s right. If there’s a problem, solve it properly. If they did something wrong, they have to bear the legal responsibility. If all the criminals start crying and threatening suicide, would we release them all? If we don’t, it would be murder? What kind of logic is that?!”

Everyone knew what was going on. Jill had taken an unreasonable path. In the beginning, the reporters had been led astray by her.

But now, everyone was leaning toward Tanya.

Seeing that the public opinion could no longer be suppressed, Jill immediately exerted force with the knife in her hand and cut a layer of skin!

Blood instantly flowed down her fair neck.

“Ahh!”

When they saw this scene, there were still people who were frightened. After crying out in surprise, they all took a few steps back. Someone even reached out to Jill. “You, don’t be reckless!”

Jill looked at Tanya fiercely. “Don’t say such nonsense here. No matter what, I’m your mother! Can you really watch your mother die in front of you? You have to compromise!”

There was silence again.

The good situation from earlier had turned around again.

Nora frowned.

At this moment, Karl Moore suddenly walked out and toward Jill.

When she saw him, a complicated look flashed across Tanya’s eyes.

When Jill saw him, her legs went weak. She stammered and asked, “Don’t think I’m afraid of you. I’m not even afraid of death now. Why would I be afraid of you...”

Karl Moore definitely could not use a gun in front of so many reporters.

Jill was certain of this, but she still felt panic when she saw Karl Moore approaching her step by step. “W-What are you doing?”

Karl Moore smiled and suddenly held her hand. He aimed her dagger at his chest and exerted some force. “Aren’t you looking for someone to die with? Why are you making things difficult for the child? As her father, I have let her down along with you. In that case, why don’t I accompany you?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 452 - Tanya'S Birthday Is Wrong

Jill was stunned. She subconsciously pulled the knife back.

But Karl Moore pulled hard and stabbed himself in the chest. The tip of the knife pierced his skin and blood flowed out. Jill's eyelids twitched.

However, Karl Moore did not seem to feel any pain. His eyes were still filled with anger and determination. "Look, as a father, I didn't even know that I had a daughter. As a mother, you didn't treat her well, either. The child doesn't owe you anything. It's clearly the two of us who owe the child. Since you want to find someone to die with, then I'll do it with you! Why make trouble for our daughter? Don't you agree?"

He squeezed the knife against his chest again. "Come, use a little strength and it will go in. Then, you will kill yourself. This way, we will be repaying our debt to our daughter!"

"Lunatic!" Jill watched as the knife stabbed into his chest. She was so frightened that her hands relaxed and she took a few steps back. She shouted angrily, "Lunatics, you're all lunatics!"

But Karl Moore held the knife and played with it in his hand. "Aren't you killing yourself?"

Jill glared at him.

Karl Moore said, "Why must you make things difficult for your daughter? Do you have to see her unhappy? Can you stop disturbing your daughter's life?"

With just a few words, he changed the topic.

Jill still wanted to say something, but Karl Moore took a step forward and said, “You regret it again? Then, come, kill me...”

Jill retreated.

Karl Moore took another step forward. “Are you dying or not? Speak frankly! If you’re not... then get lost!”

Karl Moore’s expression suddenly darkened.

Jill had seen how terrifying he was. She was so frightened that her entire body trembled. Then, she ran out. “Lunatics, you’re all lunatics!”

“...”

Since the person involved had escaped, the reporters no longer surrounded the Smiths’ house.

At this moment, Joel stepped forward and said, “It’s not easy for you reporters to come here. How about this? Everyone, come in and have a drink!”

With that, he gave the butler a look.

The butler immediately understood something and greeted everyone warmly. Who among the reporters did not want to visit a wealthy family like the Smiths? When they heard this, they were very happy. They were welcomed inside by the butler.

It was time for the butler and reporters to build relations with each other so that the reporters would refrain from spreading rumors. Of course, everything was handled by the butler on his own.

As the family head, Joel no longer needed to care.

At that moment, his gaze landed on Tanya and Karl Moore. As he expected, Tanya was looking at Karl Moore with a concerned face.

Actually, he could have stepped in and settled Jill earlier. Joel had plenty of ways to deal with someone as shameless as her.

And anyone present could easily beat her back.

However, no one made a move and Karl Moore was given the chance.

Their goal was to help him get closer to Tanya.

From the looks of it, it had worked.

After the reporters were settled in, the group returned to the living room of the residential area.

Tanya's gaze landed on Karl Moore's chest. She asked, "Nora, are his injuries serious?"

Before Nora could say anything, Karl Moore said, "It's not serious, not serious! It's just the upper skin. It's nothing. I don't even bother to look at such injuries, it'll heal by itself."

His words stunned Tanya. "Do you get hurt often?"

How could he not be injured after being in the mafia all year round?

Karl Moore hurriedly shook his head. "Not often. Just occasionally. Occasionally... hehe..."

He scratched his head and revealed an honest expression. "Tanya... Can I call you by your name?"

"..." Tanya pursed her lips and said unhappily, "It's your mouth, I can't control what you call me."

Although her tone was awkward, she agreed.

Karl Moore was overjoyed. He immediately took out a black card from his pocket in excitement and handed it to Tanya. "Tanya, this, this card is for you... You can buy anything you want! There's no limit!"

Tanya: "..."

Karl Moore handed her the car keys in his hand. "Oh, and this. I bought this car when I came back to the country. It's not very functional, though. Drive this for now. If there's some other model you like, buy it for yourself..."

"Oh! do you need a house? Can I buy you one?"

Tanya looked at him and returned the card and keys to him. "There's no need. I'll buy them with my own money."

Her eyes flickered as she looked elsewhere, but she sighed inwardly.

To be honest, Tanya had been disliked since she was young and her mother had hated her every minute of the day. She did not know who her father was, she was already used to living alone.

She could not get used to this newfound father of hers.

Karl Moore stared at the black card in his hand and looked up at Tanya again. He wanted to say something, but Joel walked in front of him. "Mr. Moore, Tanya is with me and doesn't lack anything. You don't have to worry about it for the time being."

Karl Moore looked at Joel and finally nodded. "Alright, I'll take the card back, then."

With that, he looked at Tanya.

His big eyes were filled with desire as if he would be satisfied if Tanya could say just one more word to him.

Tanya sighed. "You... can leave now."

Karl Moore lowered his eyes in disappointment, but he knew that such things could not be forced.

His daughter was already 25 or 26 years old. She was independent and did not need him anymore.

Although he wanted to give her all the love he had owed for the past twenty years, she could no longer keep it.

Karl Moore turned his head and walked toward the door. After two steps, he turned back and looked at her reluctantly.

Tanya: "..."

She rubbed her forehead and suddenly asked, "If you're not busy, why don't you stay for dinner tonight?"

"Yes, yes, I'm free!"

Karl Moore turned back and hurriedly sat on the sofa.

Everyone else: "..."

Why did the leader of the Assassin Organization look so stupid?

While looking on the Internet, he seemed quite smart.

Nora's lips twitched. She sat at the side and drooped her eyes. She picked up her phone and fiddled with something. When others looked at her, she seemed sleepy again. The others sat facing each other, feeling a little awkward.

Suddenly, Nora's fingers paused. She looked up at them and frowned. "Tanya, the date of birth on your identity card is wrong, right?"

Tanya hesitated. "What's wrong?"

However, Karl Moore said, "It's indeed wrong. When I left your mother, it was in August. At that time, if she was pregnant, she should have given birth to you in April next year. Why was your identity card showing that you were born in January?"

Tanya was stunned. "Could it be that my age was changed? I was born four months ahead of time?"

“That’s even more wrong.”

Nora looked at her. “You and Hillary are only less than a year apart. If your mother gave birth to you in April, how did she birth to Hillary?”

After a woman gave birth, it would take at least 40 days before she could get pregnant again!

Tanya was also stunned. “Then, what’s going on?”

At this moment, Karl Moore frowned. “Is Hillary not her biological daughter?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 453 - Back Then?

When Karl Moore was making Tanya's DNA, he had gotten someone to get Hillary's DNA from prison as well.

Hillary was not his daughter.

That was for sure.

However, there was something wrong with Tanya and Hillary's birth dates. One of the two children had to be someone else's. Otherwise, this did not make sense!

After all, it was impossible for Jill to have Tanya while pregnant with Hillary!

However, when Karl Moore said this, everyone shook their heads. "That's impossible."

Jill treated Hillary so well and Tanya so badly. As soon as this thought crossed her mind, Nora suddenly looked at Karl Moore. "Are you sure the one who gave birth to your child back then was Jill?"

Karl Moore was speechless.

He was stunned and continued to scratch his head. "It's her. Although we haven't seen each other for more than twenty years, I can't possibly mistake her for someone else! Her looks are right there! And her name is also the same. I can't possibly sleep with someone and not know who she is! Besides, we were dating seriously back then."

"That's strange." Nora raised her almond-shaped eyes and looked at Karl Moore with a faint smile.

Karl Moore frowned. "Speaking of which... this isn't the strangest thing. Did you guys know? After she told me that Hillary was my daughter, she even gave me an accurate date of birth. I got someone to investigate and saw the birth records in the clinic. However, that child was not Tanya. It was indeed Hillary because the child had a mole on her ear. Furthermore, I later checked the information on Hillary's identity card and realized that the date of birth was actually fake. In other words, Hillary's identity card is eight months younger!"

Everyone was stunned. "April 25th?"

"Yes, that's right."

Karl Moore frowned. "Tanya is my daughter. She can only be born in April or May. Hillary was also born in April of that year. It can't be that Jill gave birth to twins where one is mine, and the other isn't, right? Is that possible?"

Nora looked at him in a speechless manner. "Logically speaking, there is a chance. It's just that it's a very rare occurrence. For example, if she had two eggs that month and slept with..."

She did not finish her sentence.

Karl Moore understood and instantly flushed in anger. "In other words, even if I hadn't left back then, she had still betrayed me?" Two children born at the same time could only mean she got pregnant at the same time!

Jill had slept with him for less than two days, and she was already with that Jones guy?

This was simply a great humiliation!

The others around him were speechless.

Nora suddenly pitied this person who had been cheated on.

However... the probability of getting pregnant with two men's children at once was very low. Would it really happen to Jill?

The Joneses.

Jill returned home in low spirits.

Mr. Jones was sitting on the sofa watching television. When he saw her appearance, he sneered. “You’re being rebuffed, right? I told you not to go... Karl Moore already knows the truth. Why are you running over?”

Jill glared at him. “Who asked you to be useless! You can’t even save your own daughter! If it weren’t for our daughter, I wouldn’t have lied to him!”

Mr. Jones sneered. “It’s fine if you’re lying. I’m just afraid they’ll find out what happened back then!”

As soon as he said this, Jill’s eyes flashed. She stood up suddenly and gulped. “No, no way?”

Mr. Jones said, “You told him about the nursing home. We didn’t erase any records in order to convince him! Won’t they suspect anything?”

Jill bit her lip hard. She was very confident. “So what if they’re suspicious? They will never think of the truth!”

When Mr. Jones heard this, he did not rebut her. However, he still looked at her deeply and sneered before standing up and walking into the bedroom.

Jill followed behind him. “If Tanya doesn’t help me save my daughter. I won’t let this go!... Why are you so useless? If I were you, I would have saved my daughter even if I had to give up all my assets!”

Thud!

Mr. Jones slammed his fist against the wall and looked at Jill. “That’s enough! Hillary is not the only one in the family! The rest of us still have to live! I think Hillary has been spoiled by you since she got to where she is today! She has always been above Tanya in everything since she was young. How would she not be arrogant? Even now, she still doesn’t reflect on herself...”

He stared at Jill. “I’m begging you. Stop! I still want to live peacefully in old age!” With that, he turned and left.

Jill stared at him and clenched her fists tightly.

If he wanted to live peacefully in his old age, he could not save her daughter?

Absolutely not!

—

At the Smiths.

After dinner, Karl Moore had no reason to stay this time. He could only leave reluctantly. Before leaving, he said, “Tanya, I can still...”

Tanya interrupted him. “I have to work tomorrow.”

“...” Karl Moore got the hint. “Alright, I understand!”

After he left, Tanya heaved a sigh of relief.

Nora looked at her. “If someone is treating you well, why are you unhappy?” The corners of Tanya’s mouth twitched. “If Uncle Ian was so enthusiastic about you, would you have been able to handle him?”

Nora: “...”

She couldn’t help but shudder when she thought about it.

Fortunately, Ian was more reserved. Otherwise, she would have a headache all the time.

The two of them took the three children upstairs. Justin stood up and was about to follow when Joel suddenly said, “Mr. Hunt, Nora has woken up. Shouldn’t you be going back?”

Justin said without blushing or skipping a beat, “We still need to observe her for two days. Also, Cherry and Pete aren’t going back to the Hunts, so....”

II

11

The corners of Joel's lips spasmed.

At this moment, Justin's phone suddenly rang. He picked it up and heard a female voice on the other end. "Speaking of which, Justin, my big brother, you haven't been home for a few days? Don't you know there's someone waiting for you at home?"

Hearing this voice, Justin's usually light and cold eyebrows furrowed as he reprimanded softly, "Speak properly!"

"Huh?" The voice was lazy and charming, and there was a hint of seduction in her words. She chuckled softly and said, "I always talk like this. Are you still not used to it?"

Justin: "...When did you return?"

"When I missed you."

His expression turned colder. "Call me when you learn how to talk."

He hung up. At the Hunts'.

Brenda Hunt stared at the phone and pursed her lips.

Opposite her, Mrs. Hunt was complaining. "... Did you hear that? He's so mesmerized by that vixen. He stayed at the Smiths' with Pete and doesn't want to come back! I heard that he's even babysitting that woman's child! As the head of the Hunts, he not only wants to marry a woman who has given birth to someone else's child, but he also treats that woman's daughter as his own. Is that even right?! Pete too, I don't know what kind of drug that woman has given to my Pete. He's so good to that woman's daughter! Every day, he would call her his sister... Brenda, you have the best relationship with your brother. You have to help me persuade him!"

Brenda fiddled with her nails. “Tsk, they’re just two girls, one big and one small. They want to take hold of my big brother and Pete? I’ll meet that little one first tomorrow.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 454 - Meet The Small One~

Hearing this, Mrs. Hunt heaved a sigh of relief.

After Wendy Hunt left, Mrs. Hunt's butler asked, "Mrs. Hunt, do you think Miss Wendy can do it? Why do I get the feeling that she doesn't quite care?"

Mrs. Hunt lowered her head. "How is that possible? Ever since she was young, Wendy has had the best relationship with Justin in this family! Although she doesn't say it, when has she ever returned to the country without bringing a lot of gifts for Pete? The more casual she acts on the outside, the more she cares inside! Don't worry, she won't let her elder brother suffer!"

The butler heaved a sigh of relief. "It's really a headache for Mr. Hunt to care so much about that person."

Mrs. Hunt sighed. "Yes. Initially, he just liked her a little, so I let him be. But look at how obsessed he is now. He's living with Pete in the Smiths! If word gets out, he'll become a joke!"

The butler nodded frequently.

Mrs. Hunt said, "I just want Wendy to take the lead!"

The butler couldn't help but say, "Aren't you afraid that she will defect to the enemy? She has been the most supportive of Mr. Hunt ever since they were young!"

When Justin was young, he would do everything according to the rules.

Occasionally, when he was rebellious, Brenda would help him.

It was just like when he was four years old and wanted to eat snacks with high sugar and oil content. Mrs. Hunt and Mr. Hunt did not agree.

When the entire family was scared of disobeying them, only Brenda dared to bring him food in secret.

As the only daughter of the Hunts, Brenda was doted on at home.

When she grew up, she became more and more outrageous. Although Justin always reprimanded her, everyone knew that the two of them had a good relationship!

Mrs. Hunt smiled. “If it was anyone else, she would definitely support him! But this time, it’s different. Wendy is a perfectionist. In her heart, Pete is her nephew. Then, the woman who gave birth to Pete is the only sister-in-law she will accept!”

The servant instantly nodded and smiled. “Mrs. Hunt is indeed wise!”

—

The next day.

In the Smiths’ living room.

Brenda sat there elegantly and looked around. Louis, who lived at home, was entertaining her. “Sister Brenda, you’re finally back!”

Brenda immediately smiled. “You missed me too?”

Louis nodded. “Yes, you’re right!”

Brenda raised her eyebrows and asked charmingly, “Really? How much?”

Louis: “??”

Brenda glanced at him again. “You’re already an adult, right? Are you still a virgin?”

Louis: “??”

His face instantly turned red. “S-Sister Brenda...”

Brenda leaned forward slightly and teased him. “You don’t have a girlfriend yet? Why don’t I find you one? What do you think of me?”

Louis: “!!!”

He had long known that Brenda was the famous player in the circle, but he did not expect that she would not even let him off! He stood up in shock and was about to say something when an icy reprimand came from upstairs. “Speak properly!”

When Brenda heard this, she immediately sat up straight and looked up. She saw Justin walking down with a cold expression.

Brenda replied, “Big Brother, I am talking properly!”

Justin frowned and reprimanded, “You’re a girl. Can’t you be more careful with your words? Also, don’t you have a boyfriend? Why are you still....”

He glanced at Louis and did not speak.

Brenda shrugged. “Oh, we just broke up.”

Justin: “...”

He took a deep breath and suppressed the gloominess in his heart. He sat down opposite her. “You’re not young anymore. Can’t you look for a serious relationship?”

Brenda: “...I’m very serious every time!”

“

Justin really couldn’t do anything to this player sister!

He touched his forehead. Brenda had already leaned over. “Justin, you’re not old, why are you so conservative? And since you’re so conservative, how did you find such a girlfriend?”

Justin looked at her. “What girlfriend?”

Brenda was delighted. “I knew it. You’re not serious. You’re just playing with her, right?” However, just as she finished speaking, Justin said, “That’s your sister-in-law.”

Brenda narrowed her eyes and said unhappily, “Sister-in-law?”

Justin nodded.

Brenda opened her mouth to say something, but Justin glanced at her warningly. “Be respectful.”

Alright, she swallowed the words that were about to come out of her mouth.

At this moment, the door upstairs opened again. Pete carried the Mathematical Olympiad textbook downstairs. Just as he went downstairs, Brenda rushed over excitedly and hugged him. “Ah, my dear baby Pete, I missed you so much!”

Pete’s body froze as he called out seriously, “Aunt Brenda.”

“Hey!” Brenda looked up. “Why didn’t you come down with Dad?”

Pete answered seriously, “Oh, because I live in my mom’s house.”

Brenda was speechless.

She looked at Justin with a head full of question marks, but she saw that Justin was ignoring her.

She could only look at Pete again. “What about your mommy?” Pete: “... Mommy and Little Sister are still sleeping. I was worried my homework would disturb them, so I decided to come downstairs to do it.”

She was still sleeping...

This woman and her daughter were really lazy!

At this moment, the sound of the door opening came from upstairs again. Then, Cherry's adorable voice could be heard. "Brother, why didn't you wake me up?"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 455 - Sleeping So Long?!

Pete looked at his sister and then at his aunt. He hurriedly threw down the Math Olympiad book. Just as Cherry was about to go downstairs, he rushed up and stopped her. “Cherry, Aunt Brenda is here!”

Cherry: “?”

She stuck her head out and was about to look down when Pete stopped her.

Cherry asked in confusion, “Pete, is she not a good person?”

Pete was silent for a moment before shaking his head. “That’s not it. The thing is... Aunt Brenda is a little weird. You... should stay away from her.”

Cherry: “?”

Brenda, who was listening to the two children talk downstairs, was speechless. Why did she feel like she was being despised?!

She stood up. “Pete, what happened to you? Is that how you talk about me? Come down here!”

Pete glanced at Cherry and signaled for her to go back inside. Then, he walked downstairs slowly. Just as he went downstairs, he saw Brenda looking at him with a faint smile. “Pete, come.”

Pete walked in front of her.

The next moment, Brenda stretched out her demonic claws. “Come, take off your pants. Let me see if you’ve grown up!”

Pete: “!!!”

He turned and ran. Brenda wanted to chase after him, but she was stopped by Justin. “Stop.”

Pete ran upstairs and heaved a sigh of relief. He lowered his head and looked at Justin. Indeed, Justin said, “Pete, go in and look after your sister. Tell your mommy and sister not to come down.”

“Okay, Dad!”

With that, Pete pushed open the bedroom door and went in.

Brenda was speechless.

She raised her eyebrows and looked up. Then, she sat beside Justin and held his arm. “Justin, aren’t you... protecting her too much? I can’t eat her up!”

Justin felt a little uncomfortable with her being so close to him. Even though he and Brenda were only normal siblings, he still pushed her arm down. “You can’t eat her up.”

It was good enough that Nora didn’t eat her!

However, what Justin was worried about was...

Her little sister might lead Nora astray!

Brenda liked men and had had boyfriends since kindergarten. She would play with whichever handsome man she could find... Cherry, who had a face complex, might very well turn like her.

Although Nora had not expressed her fondness for beauty yet, the days would pass. What if she was led astray?

Justin wanted to fundamentally eliminate this possibility!

Furthermore, he definitely, definitely, must not let Brenda and Cherry get together. Brenda stared at him and narrowed her eyes slightly. At the mention of that woman, Justin always looked cautious. Knowing her personality, he would not even allow her to see Nora. Brenda snorted and stood up, swaying her waist. “You refuse to let me see her, but I still want to see her. I want to see what kind of stunning beauty could mesmerize my brother! Anyway, I have nothing on in the morning and only have to meet someone at noon. I'll sit here. I don't believe that she can sleep until noon?"

Justin was silent for a moment before he suddenly stood up. "Okay, do whatever you want. I'll get going first."

Brenda: "??"

Justin went upstairs and entered the study in the guest room to work.

Brenda really sat downstairs and looked at the people coming and going. Louis was so frightened that he slipped out. When he passed her, Brenda was still looking at him. "Louis, what are you doing? Are you going on a date?"

Louis paused in his footsteps. "...I arranged to play games with Chester."

"Gaming?" Brenda smiled. "You're going to meet a girl, right?"

Louis: "??"

He answered seriously, "Brenda, it's really gaming!"

Brenda rested her chin on one hand and nodded with a smile. "I understand. You guys have to be careful. Remember to use protection. Don't fool around"

Louis: "!!!"

He emphasized again. "Brenda, we're really just playing games!"

Brenda tilted her head and smiled. "I know. I'm talking about games too. Be ready. Don't get killed by others."

Louis: "..."

The corners of his lips twitched. "I'm leaving first!"

There was wind under his feet as if he was afraid that Brenda would say something shocking!

Brenda sat on the sofa and looked upstairs in boredom. Then, she looked at her watch. It was almost 11 AM.

Had Nora stayed up all night?

At this moment, the housekeeper Lucy brought her a fruit platter. Brenda took the opportunity to ask, “Did your Miss Smith stay up late last night?”

Lucy shook her head in confusion. “No, Miss Nora’s schedule is very strict. Every night at 10 PM, no later than 12 PM, she will definitely sleep! Yesterday, she slept with Master Pete and Miss Cherry at 9 PM.”

Brenda: “??”

She slept at nine. Why was she still asleep?!

She must have slept for 14 hours.

She looked at Louis in confusion. “Is she feeling sick?”

Perhaps she was sick?

Lucy was unhappy. “Our Miss Nora is very healthy!”

What was Miss Hunt saying? Although she was quite good-looking and elegant, why was she cursing someone else to be sick?!

Brenda hesitated for a moment, but her voice was still elegant and charming. “Then she slept for 14 hours. Aren’t you going to take a look?”

What if she’s fainted in the room?!

Lucy looked unconcerned. “It’s only been 14 hours. What’s the rush?”

Miss Nora had slept for more than fifty hours in the past two days. Wasn’t she still energetic?

Lucy shook her head and looked at Brenda. Brenda looked like she had never seen the world.

Brenda was speechless.

She felt like she was in a fantasy world.

When everyone from the Smiths came down for lunch, Maureen called out to her politely, “Miss Hunts, it’s time to eat.”

Brenda stood up and looked at the table full of people. She asked, “Aren’t you going to wait for Miss Smith to come along?”

Maureen: “Oh, she probably wants to sleep for a while more. Let’s eat first! Come on!”

Brenda was speechless.

She said in a daze, “There’s no need. I’m meeting someone for lunch. I’ll get going.”

After she left the Smiths, she still felt dizzy.

The moment Brenda left, there was finally some movement on the bed upstairs.

Nora opened her eyes in a daze and took out her phone. She saw that there were a few missed calls on her phone.

They were all from Morris.

She hesitated for a moment before calling him. Morris picked up quickly. “Miss Smith, our department has formed a special team to investigate the human trial back then. Now, I would like to invite you to be our team’s external forensic doctor. Are you interested?”

Nora stretched and was about to answer that she was not interested when she heard Morris say, “Don’t you want to know what exactly happened to your mother back then? Also, I have some very important information about you. I wanted to inform you that you're actually in a lot of danger!"

These words made Nora narrow her eyes.

She recalled her mother's words. "...You have to be mediocre, or your life will be in danger!"

What kind of danger could she be in?!

Morris continued, "Of course, if you can join us, I'll tell you some secrets about the case!"

When Nora heard this, she lowered her almond-shaped eyes. "Tell me first."

"...Alright."

Chapter 456 - The External Forensic Doctor

Nora could hear the resignation in his voice, but joining a team, though? First, she would have to see whether the team was good enough or not.

Otherwise, they could forget about wasting any of her sleeping time.

She leaned against the headboard with her legs folded and said, “Speak.”

Morris slowly said, “I have almost found out why your mother fled back then.”

His one-liner made Nora focus at once. “Why?”

Morris said coldly, “The organization was conducting human trials back then. We still don’t know what exactly they were researching, but after the boxing champion Abigail’s incident, we heavily suspect it to be a drug that can enhance the human body’s agility and physical strength!” To be honest, Nora had suspected as much for a long while now. After all, she had heard from Quentin that Victor was just a nobody gangster two years ago. How could he possibly become a peerless martial arts master in just two years’ time?

He must have taken some kind of drug that could enhance his physique.

However, once produced, such drugs would surely be mass-manufactured, right? It wasn’t like it was poison, so why were they being so mysterious about it?

Perhaps because he could hear the doubt in her voice, Morris gave her the answer. “Victor suddenly went crazy in the cell.”

Surprised, Nora asked, “You mean...”

“That’s right.” Morris nodded. “The drug has huge side effects that affect a person’s nervous system. That’s why the drug has been a prohibited substance all this time.”

Nora cast her eyes down and asked, “So, what does this have to do with my mother?”

Morris took a deep breath. “Do you know how we found out about the drug research organization’s existence?”

He wasn’t really counting on Nora to answer, so he went on and said, “We encountered a similar case many years ago. Some people took drugs that can strengthen their bodies, and then... they suddenly died. We extracted the chemical components in their blood at that time. Together with the chemical components in Victor’s body this time, we can conclude that they have indeed been researching the same drug all this time, but have never succeeded. Don’t you find it strange, though? They have been studying the drug for more than twenty years, yet the chemical composition hasn’t changed much. It was just a matter of how much of each chemical they used in the formula. Are they really so certain that the formula is correct?”

Nora shook her head. “No, they won’t do that.”

She also made medicines herself, so she understood the underlying issues very well.

If one had theories about a drug, they would definitely test it out and adjust its content. However, if they didn’t succeed even after many attempts, they would give up.

But why were they being so persistent?

Unless...

Nora clenched her fists and slowly said, “Someone has succeeded with that formula before.”

Morris was glad to see how keen Nora's senses were. He nodded and said, "That's right, someone has successfully used that formula before. That's why they kept trying and persevered with the formula! As far as I know, the success of that formula is related to your mother!"

Nora slowly sat upright. "You mean..."

Morris' calm and steady voice traveled over the phone again. "I've looked into your mother's life history. When she was a teenager, she went to Switzerland for pharmaceutical studies. I suspect that she had joined the organization at that time!"

Nora was stunned.

To be honest, even as of now, she held disgust for the organization. Human experiments had simply crossed moral boundaries.

She had guessed before that perhaps the organization was looking for something in her mother's possession, causing her to flee from their murderous pursuit. The organization must think that the object they were after was now in her possession. That was why they were pursuing her so relentlessly. However, never would she have ever expected her mother to be part of the organization. She said a little coldly, "Are these your conjectures, or do you have evidence?"

Morris's voice deepened a little. He replied, "It's conjecture, but we found records of monetary transfers from unknown sources in her bank records. Additionally, when my mother was investigating the case back then, your mother was a crucial figure involved."

Nora fell silent.

Her heart, however, was gradually sinking.

Her mother... To be honest, she had never felt much for her all along. After all, even in the oldest memories she had, her mother was already gone. Nevertheless, she had always felt that her mother was a good person.

Morris was very reliable. Since he had said so, then he was more or less already certain that her mother had indeed been part of the human trials project back then.

In fact... Going by her talent in pharmaceuticals, even Nora herself suspected that her mother must have held a high position in the organization.

She stayed silent for a long while.

She didn't know whether or not she should agree to Morris's request.

In the midst of her hesitance, Morris said, "It is said that there remains a pill of the successfully developed drug somewhere in the world. Since the drug can make Victor a new man in two years, do you think Quentin's injuries... Would be curable?"

His words made Nora abruptly raise her head.

All the bones in Quentin's body were broken. Even though there was an alternative medicine legend that was said to be able to cure his injuries, even she herself couldn't be sure of it at the moment.

When she thought of that, her voice became firm. "I can join the team, but I have two conditions."

"Speak."

"If we find the drug, even if you can't give it to me, you have to give me the formula."

"No problem. What about the second condition?"

"Oh," Nora said casually, "Don't disturb me when I'm sleeping."

Morris seemingly took a deep breath. "No problem. By the way, Captain Brenda, who was stationed overseas, has returned today. Let's take the opportunity to have the members of the team meet and discuss our plans. Make a trip down here, I'll send you the address."

“Yeah.”

Brenda drove her red Porsche to a French restaurant. She opened the door, walked in, and headed straight to a person sitting in the corner. “Hello, Captain Ford,” she said.

Morris stood up straight and stretched out his hand to her seriously. “Welcome back, Captain Brenda.”

The two shook hands. After taking their seats, Morris was the first to speak. He said, “We have found some information about that mysterious organization from back then, so we have set up a team to deal with the case. It is an honor to have Captain Brenda back to help us out.”

Brenda propped her chin in her hands and asked, “Let’s not worry about that for now. I have a question for you, Captain Ford.”

Morris sat up straight. “Go ahead.”

Brenda could be said to be an Interpol officer. Did she perhaps have information related to the case?

The thought had only just formed when he instead heard Brenda unhurriedly ask, “Do you have a girlfriend, Captain Ford?” Morris: “?”

He pressed his lips together and lowered his gaze. “Captain Brenda, our meet today extends only to issues related to the case. In addition to you, me, and a few other detectives on the team, I also intend to hire a forensic doctor. What do you say, Captain Brenda?” Brenda continued to rest her chin on her hands. “An external forensic doctor? Is it a he or a she? And are they good-looking?”

Chapter 457 - I Met Her!

Morris: “???”

Shouldn't she be asking for the other party's name and occupation first? Why was the first thing she was concerned about instead whether they were good-looking or not?!

He lowered his eyes. “Captain Brenda, I'm talking business here!”

Brenda waved dismissively. “Hey, so am I. Understanding your teammates is also a key to a successful team, isn't it? Besides, I have an allergy, so my requirements for who I work with are rather high.”

Morris was taken aback. “What kind of allergy?”

Brenda sighed. “I am allergic to ugly people.”

Morris's jaw tightened. The woman looked at him pitifully and said, “Really, I'm not kidding.”

Morris stared at her for a while with a cold look on his face. But shortly after, he gave in and said, “It's a woman...”

He thought of Nora's delicate little face and her constantly half-lidded eyes, as well as her almond-shaped eyes when she occasionally raised her head and looked at someone attentively, and he slowly added, “She's pretty.”

Brenda stared at him and suddenly smiled. “Okay, got it.”

Morris took a deep breath and started talking about Nora's occupation. “She is a surgeon. Her name is Nora Smith.”

Brenda's lazy eyes instantly flicked upward. She was a little dumbfounded. “What?”

Wasn't that Justin's lazy girlfriend who only knew to sleep in all day?

After Nora got up and ate something, she slowly headed to the address that Morris had sent her.

It was a French restaurant.

The restaurant had very distinctive interior decor, and it was obvious at a glance that it was a very expensive restaurant.

She casually pushed the door open. Right away, she spotted Morris, who was seated at the quietest spot in the corner directly opposite the door.

Dressed in a black suit, he exuded an upright aura all around him.

When Nora walked over, she discovered that a woman was sitting opposite him.

The woman looked about 24 to 25 years old. She had large wavy curls and was wearing a tight-fitting black dress. Her posture was casual and lazy, and she had a pair of deep-set eyes that looked very bewitching and also... somewhat familiar.

She also had an impressive figure. Her chest was full and bulging. It was obvious at a glance that hers were the real deal...

Also, even though she was seated, Nora could still see one of her outstretched legs. Long, fair, and slender, it looked so tender that it made one wish they could pinch it.

Tanya's face was also very attractive, but hers was a different type of beauty. Tanya's beauty was very aggressive, and her big eyes looked a little exotic.

They hadn't been aware previously, but they now knew that her father was Karl. Since Karl's parents were of mixed ethnicities, this meant that a quarter of Tanya's blood was also of another ethnicity. That explained everything.

However, this wasn't the case for the woman in front of her. She was likely not of mixed race. It was just that she was good-looking and knew how to dress up. On top of that, she also knew how to exhibit the most beautiful side of a woman, so she looked exceptionally... like the female version of a scumbag.

Ahem.

Nora felt that it wasn't quite right of her to think of a woman like that, so she looked away. As soon as she did, she sensed the woman staring at her.

Brenda knew that Nora must be very pretty, but she hadn't expected her to be this pretty.

Nora was a standard American beauty. She had an oval face, a defined nose, full lips, and almond-shaped eyes... Her face should have looked extremely gentle and very charming, but because of her lazy and casual demeanor, her slightly downcast eyes, and the careless and casual air around her, she gave people the illusion that she was a cold and frosty person instead.

Yet the contrast didn't seem out of place on her at all. Instead, it gave her a mysterious aura that attracted people's gazes.

No wonder Justin was so infatuated with her. She sure was really good-looking.

Brenda looked away.

Morris introduced the two of them to each other. Then, he said, "Our team's focus is to investigate the incident from all those years ago. Captain Brenda and I will be in charge of the usual arresting and collection of evidence, but once we catch the suspects, we may have to trouble Ms. Smith to do the relevant medical analyses."

"It's no trouble."

Nora couldn't help but yawn. "Feel free to come to me anytime then."

Morris nodded. “We will pass you the samples and so on that we collect. I’ve heard that Anti’s medical team is the most professional one in the world. I’m sure you guys will be able to find out more from the analyses than we can. Also, we will also be handing Victor over to you for medical treatment.” Nora nodded. “No problem.”

Lily would be the one handling all these things anyway. She was already busy taking care of Quentin, Ian, and Old Maddy every day. An extra Victor shouldn’t be any problem to her.

Nora, the unscrupulous businesswoman, thought to herself without any psychological burden whatsoever.

Morris had asked the two of them out today to let them meet each other. Now that they have met, he said, “Then... I guess that’s it for today?”

Nora nodded. She didn’t have any objections.

Brenda, however, subconsciously felt the urge to quip back at him. She said, “Tsk, Captain Ford, I came all the way here on an empty stomach just to meet you, yet you aren’t even treating me to lunch?”

Morris: “?”

He glanced at Nora. After musing for a moment, he finally said, “I’ll treat you two to lunch, then.”

Brenda was about to nod when Nora got up. “No, it’s fine. I have already eaten, so I will leave first.”

Although she didn’t have a lot to do, she, unfortunately, had too many identities!

With every identity of hers having a little work each, she was already up to her neck in work. How would she possibly have the time to enjoy French cuisine here?

She got up and said, “Enjoy your lunch.”

Just as she turned and got ready to leave, Brenda also suddenly got up. She said, "I'll pass on lunch too, then. Don't forget that you owe me a meal, Captain Ford. Let's have lunch together another day."

After teasing Morris, she followed closely after Nora. "Ms. Smith, since we are already teammates, why don't you invite me over to your place to hang out?"

Nora: "?"

The woman looked quite likable and wasn't the type of person she disliked. Besides, for some reason, her eyes also gave her a good impression of her.

Therefore, she nodded after thinking about it. "Alright."

Nora had driven to the restaurant in her jeep. Brenda abandoned her own car and got straight into the jeep's passenger seat. "Let's go!" she said.

The way she acted so familiar with her... However, Nora still didn't think much of it. She started the car and went back to the Smiths' with Brenda.

After entering the house, Brenda looked up and said, "Hey mate, since I'm already here, why don't you let me meet your daughter?"

Nora: "?!?"

Pete and Mia had gone to the kindergarten. Cherry was home, though.

But why was she suddenly asking to meet her daughter?

After a moment's hesitation, she replied, "Okay."

She went to the upper floor to bring Cherry down. Meanwhile, Brenda raised her eyebrows.

She was simply going to meet the person that Justin hadn't wanted to let her meet!!

In the midst of her thoughts, an adorable voice rang out from the upper floor. “Mommy, who are you taking me to?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 458 - Aunt Brenda, I'M Cherry!

Brenda immediately lifted her head and looked curiously at the corridor.

Since Nora was so pretty that she couldn't make herself dislike her, she should at least dislike that little extra baggage she had, right? Otherwise, Justin would be at too big of a disadvantage.

After all, Pete was so cute and quirky!

Unless the little girl was even prettier than Pete, why should Justin have to take care of an extra daughter for no reason? While Brenda was feeling indignant on Justin's behalf, she spotted a tiny little figure walking over from the spiral staircase. She was wearing a beautiful princess dress with a fluffy skirt, as well as a headband with a bow on her head. The little girl looked awfully adorable.

Brenda had noticed her clothes first. Then, her gaze traveled upward to the girl's tiny face, upon which a familiar face instantly entered her sight!

Brenda was stunned to the spot!

She... She...

Wasn't that goddamn Pete?

Stunned, she looked at Nora in disbelief.

Nora pointed to her and said to Cherry, "It's this big sister here. She's Mommy's... colleague."

She finally came up with the term after thinking for a long while.

However, after she spoke, she realized that Cherry didn't greet Brenda. When she turned and looked at Cherry with puzzlement, she instead saw Cherry exclaim, "Aunt Brenda?"

She had seen Brenda downstairs in the morning, but by the time Brenda looked up, Pete had already rushed over and stopped her.

That was how she knew that Brenda was her aunt!

"Aunt Brenda?"

Nora, who was a little taken aback, looked at Brenda. A moment later, Lucy, the housekeeper, also walked over and said in surprise, "Ms. Hunt, are you here for Mr. Hunt again? He has something to do at the office in the afternoon, so he isn't here right now."

Nora understood now. No wonder Brenda's eyes had looked a little familiar. As it turned out, it was because they resembled Justin's!

Moreover, her last name was Hunt... She must be the cousin that Justin got along with relatively well, right?

While she was thinking about it, Brenda's brows drew together. She pointed to Cherry and said to Nora, "Don't move!"

She took out her cell phone and took a photo of Cherry. While taking the photo, she even turned on the camera's beauty mode and said to Cherry, "Say cheese." Cherry smiled and even made a victory sign.

After Brenda looked for a good angle and took a beautiful photo, she finally stood up straight and asked Nora, "Does Justin know that you're dressing the kid like this?"

Nora: "?"

She blinked. "Probably?"

'Probably'?

Brenda pretended to be angry. “Are you actually making the kid wear a dress while Justin is out? You’re too much! I’m going to send the photo to Justin!”

She opened Messenger and sent the photo to Justin with the message: “Justin, look at your child! It’s your little girlfriend’s handiwork-“

Nora said, “... He knows.”

He was the one who had bought all the dresses.

Brenda, however, was looking at the photo happily. At the same time, she was also secretly whining inwardly, ‘Tsk, Pete is such an unparalleled beauty. Why does he have to be a boy instead? I’ve always wanted to dress him up like a girl and take photos of him, but Justin never agreed to it... Look at how good Pete looks in a dress!

Little did she expect Nora to succeed at what she had failed, though.

But despite her thoughts, she adopted a disdainful attitude on the surface. She said to cherry, “You’ve fallen so low, kid! Justin, that stick-in-the-mud, definitely won’t be able to accept this!”

She waited happily for Justin to get angry.

However, perhaps because Justin was busy, he did not reply immediately. Of course, even when he was not busy, he couldn’t be bothered to reply to her messages, either, ahem.

Brenda looked at Nora after she sent the message.

The woman was certainly pretty, but her behavior was too ridiculous!

To think Nora had actually accomplished what Brenda had always wanted to do but couldn’t!

This alone already made Brenda a little fond of Nora.

No, wait...

This was a critical moment! She mustn't let her love for beauty cloud her senses!

With that in mind, Brenda sat on the sofa coldly and said, "Come over to Aunt Brenda!"

Cherry looked at Nora. However, Nora merely raised her eyebrows. She didn't pay her any attention and instead went upstairs. Thus, she hopped over and sat beside her miraculous aunt.

Beep.

A text message had arrived.

Brenda took out her cell phone. However, it was not a reply from Justin but a message from a handsome guy she had just met. He wrote: 'Dinner tonight?'

Brenda replied: 'Sure.'

She had only just replied when another handsome guy sent her a message: "Let's have dinner tonight."

Brenda: "?"

She looked at the first guy, and then at the second. She became a little hesitant. With her chin resting on her palm, she asked Cherry, "Which one is more handsome?"

However, she paused for a moment after she asked the question, finding herself simply ridiculous. What was she asking a child something like that for?

As soon as the thought formed, an adorable voice rang out beside her ear. "I think this guy is more handsome, Aunt Brenda! Although I like the other one too, his nose is not good enough!"

Brenda subconsciously agreed. "You think so too? I've already thought so a long time ago! The other guy is not the most handsome one either, though. I found quite a few young handsome guys recently. C'mon, I'll show one you-

Cherry nodded and leaned over. Shortly after, a weird conversation took place in the living room:

“Aunt Brenda, this guy is handsome! I would rank him as number one!”

“Which part of him is handsome? I think he's too young and not masculine enough. I like this one. He has muscles.”

“Muscles don't look good! I prefer exquisite-looking guys!”

“... My goodness, you actually know what exquisite means? How about this? Aunt Brenda will gather all the handsome guys and let you pick one next time!”

But as soon as she said that, she suddenly realized something. She turned toward Cherry abruptly to see the little girl staring at her phone with bright and shiny eyes.

Brenda: “???”

Surely... not?

Not only had Nora dressed Pete up like a girl, but she had also changed his sexual orientation?

Was she doing this so that he wouldn't be able to have a son in the future, thereby preventing him from inheriting the family's assets? This was unacceptable!!

There was no way Cherry would know what she was thinking, though. She said excitedly, “When are you gonna bring them over, Aunt Brenda?”

Brenda's expression turned cold. “I can't show you the handsome guys anymore. Pete, You shouldn't be liking handsome guys but beautiful women instead! Beautiful women like Aunt Brenda!”

Cherry was dumbfounded. Was she forbidding her from looking at handsome guys?

No, she couldn't have that!

Thus, she put her arms around Brenda and said cutely, "Aunt Brenda, I'm not Pete! I'm Cherry, yeah!"

Brenda: "?"

She silently placed her palm over Cherry's forehead. "It's not like you have a fever, what nonsense are you talking about?". Right at this moment, Pete came back from school with a school bag on his back. He held Mia's hand and entered the living room. Brenda was flabbergasted when she saw him. Then, she turned to look at Cherry again!!!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 459 - Aunt And Niece Sharing The Same Interests

Brenda's eyes widened in astonishment. She rubbed her eyes in disbelief and muttered, "Huh? Am I seeing things?"

But even when she opened her eyes again, Cherry and Pete were still standing together in front of her.

She was a little overwhelmed for a while there. "There are two... two Petes?"

Cherry let out a small sigh. "Aunt Brenda, I already told you, I'm not Pete! I am Cherry! Cherry Smith!"

Cherry Smith... Wasn't that the extra baggage that Nora was about to bring into the Hunts?

But why would she look exactly like Pete?

Brenda was still in a daze underneath the crystal chandelier in the Smiths' manor. Pete had already let go of Mia and ran over in front of Cherry. He grabbed the dazed Cherry and protected her behind him. "What are you doing to my little sister, Aunt Brenda?"

Brenda: "?"

She blinked. At last, she figured it out. "You and Cherry are... twins? In that case, Nora is your mommy?"

Pete frowned and looked at her as though she was mentally disabled. "Of course. Haven't I been calling her Mommy all day long?"

To Pete, the woman he called Mommy was the woman who had given birth to him. He was completely unaware of the concept of stepmothers. Brenda:

“...”

She looked at Cherry again. Suddenly, she gave her a charming smile and said, “Hahahaha! I have a little niece too now! Cherry, right? Come on, I still have several handsome guys here that I haven’t shared with you!”

Cherry stepped forward to walk towards Brenda. However, Pete held her hand and said, “Cherry, didn’t Daddy already tell you to stay away from Aunt Brenda? She will lead you astray!”

Brenda: “...”

The corners of her lips spasmed and she couldn’t help but look at Pete. “What are you saying?”

Cherry also piped up. “But I find Aunt Brenda very nice!”

“... Which part of her is nice?” Pete said.

They had only just met and probably hadn’t even managed to talk much, yet she already found her ‘very nice’?

Cherry said, “... Aunt Brenda discusses handsome guys with me! She also promised that she would take me to look at handsome guys!”

Pete: “...”

Cherry went around Pete and walked up to Brenda. The two of them put their heads together and started to chat excitedly again.

Pete sighed silently when he saw it.

At this point, Mia came up to him and asked, “What’s the matter, Pete?”

Pete sighed silently and said, “It’s nothing, Mia. Remember to stay away Aunt Brenda. Don’t let her lead you astray!”

Mia immediately nodded. “Okay! Everything that Pete says is correct! I will listen to you!”

Pete looked at the well-behaved and sensible Mia, and then at Cherry, who was already talking about handsome guys with her aunt. He took out his cell phone, opened up the chat with the tyrant, and sent him a message: ‘Daddy, Cherry and Aunt Brenda have already become fast friends.’

Sure enough, Justin called Brenda the very next moment!

The ringtone started to play.

Cherry’s puzzled voice rang out. “Aunt Brenda, who’s Stick-in-the-Mud?”

Brenda rejected the call and replied with a big smile, “We don’t have to pay any attention to him!”

Who else could it be?

The guy who was always trying to convince her not to be the queen of scumbags, of course!

For Justin to call at a time like this, he was definitely planning to threaten her into staying away from Cherry, so why would she ever pick up the call?

After Brenda spent over an hour with Cherry, Nora finally went downstairs after settling work matters.

As soon as she did, she discovered that Brenda’s attitude towards her had undergone a complete reversal. She made eyes at Nora and asked, “Nora, you were already in a relationship with Justin six years ago, weren’t you?”

“... I suppose,” replied Nora.

Although she didn’t have any impression of him, nor had she ever met him back then, the two of them had produced children with each other.

The next moment, Brenda sighed and said, “My heart goes out to you, Nora.” Nora: “?”

Brenda held Cherry in her arms. As the two of them continued looking at the phone, she said, “The two of us can openly admire handsome guys, but you are bound by marriage to Justin instead! What else can women look forward to in life once they can’t change boyfriends anymore?”

Nora: “...”

“Forget it. Now that I’ve abducted Cherry, Justin is already close to his limit. If I abduct you too, he will probably explode.”

Brenda tilted her head and winked at Nora. “But since you are my sister-in-law, I can help you out at work.”

Nora: “??”

Brenda said, “Morris is a workaholic and a cold and ruthless machine. He has very demanding work requirements. Since he has hired you as the team’s forensic doctor, he will definitely be very strict with you in the future. Don’t worry, though, because I’m here! Leave it to me!”

Was Morris very strict?

Apart from the other time where he had forbidden her from leaving her cell, he had been very nice to her otherwise. Even when she went to take revenge and killed someone in the martial arts tournament the other time, he had pretended not to see anything and hadn’t made things difficult for her.

Nora couldn’t be bothered to explain anything, though, so she replied, “... Oh, okay.”

The next moment, Brenda’s expression suddenly turned solemn and she said seriously, “Nora, the organization we’re dealing with is very petty, though. Once they catch wind of the fact that you are also in the team, they may come after you.”

She lowered her head and smiled. "I came back to the States because I found some clues. My informant told me that someone from that organization has returned to the States."

Nora nodded when she heard this. She asked, "How are we going to find them?"

"Why would we look for them?"

Brenda waved in a practiced manner. She rested her chin on both hands and blinked at Nora. "Considering how pretty the two of us are, they will definitely take the initiative to come to us."

Nora: "?"

Seeing how puzzled she looked, Brenda smiled and said, "Never mind, I won't tease you anymore. Given how many people there are going in and out the country every day, we definitely won't have any clue as to who the person from the organization is. Therefore, what we should do now, is wait. We'll wait for him to slip up himself. Since he has returned to the country, surely he didn't come back just for a vacation, right?"

Only then did Nora understand what she meant.

The other party would surely be up to something, and once they took action, they would surely leave behind traces of their activity. She nodded.

Brenda was indeed well-deserving of her position as a captain. Even though she looked delicate, beautiful, and scumbag-like, she was very experienced in these things!

It was just that... she couldn't help but wonder which direction they would choose to take action from?

For some reason, Nora had a vague feeling that they would choose to target her.

But the people around her... The Smiths were already under protection now. The Andersons were also under the Smiths' and the Hunts' protection.

As for the Hunts, they had even more watertight security. It seemed like the only opening they could target was... Tanya?

Nora immediately looked at Pete and Mia. "Pete, Mia. Where is Tanya?"

Pete replied, "God-mom was held back by Mrs. Jones after school. She said that she wanted to talk to her, so they told us to go home first."

Mrs. Jones... Jill?!

Why was she approaching Tanya again?!

Nora frowned.

Tanya was stopped by Jill the moment she stepped out of school.

She frowned and looked at the woman.

Jill said, "Let's talk."

Tanya replied, "We have nothing to talk about."

Jill suddenly said, "Don't you want to know why I've always treated you badly? Don't you want to know how you were born?"

Chapter 460 - I'M Your Mother

Her words hit Tanya's weak spot.

She kept quiet for a while before she finally said, "Okay."

Jill said, "Let's go to the cafe over there."

Opposite the Golden Sunshine Kindergarten was a relatively empty and luxuriously-decorated cafe. It was opened for parents who came to the kindergarten to pick up their children.

It was a very high-end cafe, and the menu was expensive.

After Tanya and Jill entered the cafe, Jill said, "Two cappuccinos please, thank you."

The service staff nodded. He was about to leave when Tanya said, "Change mine to a latte."

After speaking, she looked at Jill and said, "Cappuccinos are too bitter."

Jill frowned. "Hillary loves cappuccinos the most because it's good for diet... Forget it, you can drink whatever you want."

... Tanya did not say anything.

Jill even knew what kind of drinks Hillary liked, yet she never knew what she liked.

She lowered her head. Too lazy to waste any more time with her, she said straightforwardly, "So, what exactly do you want to say? Is there any problem with how I was born?" "Of course."

After Jill replied, the service staff served them their coffees. He placed them on the table.

Jill picked up the cappuccino and stirred it with a spoon. She slowly said, “I presume you’re already aware? You and Hillary were not born a year apart. The two of you were born on the same day. In fact, Hillary was born an hour earlier than you.” Tanya clenched her fists when she heard this.

When she was still young and ignorant in her childhood, she had fought with Hillary for her mother’s love. However, Jill had always said, “She’s your younger sister! You have to give in to her!”

“If you don’t give in to your younger sister, I will beat you up!”

“What are you fighting with your younger sister for? She is the eldest daughter of the Joneses while you are nothing!”

Hillary had troubled her a lot just because she was younger than her...

Who would have thought that age actually wasn’t the issue at all in the end?

Tanya clenched her fists. “And then?”

Jill didn’t feel that what she was saying was in any way embarrassing or shameful. She merely spoke as if she was just narrating a story from the past. “When I was still with your dad, he was very unreliable. He often disappeared for long periods. Even after dating him for two months, I still didn’t even know what he was really doing for a living. All I knew was that he was always fighting and never behaved decently. I had no future with him.”

Tanya clenched her fists. “Then why did you give birth to me?!”

Jill raised her head and glanced at her. Then, she lowered her eyes and slowly replied, “Do you think I wanted to? I thought you were Jo...”

She suddenly paused and calmed herself down. Then, she said, “I thought you were also the Joneses’ child... When I was pregnant, even after computing the timeline, I still couldn’t tell if you were Karl’s or Hillary’s father’s child. But did you know? My social status was not good enough back then. If I wanted to marry into the Joneses, then I could only do so by having their child. Therefore, I steeled my heart and kept the child.”

Her lips curled into a smile. “But in the end, when I did a DNA comparison after you two were born, I instead discovered that you were not his daughter. I realized Karl must be your father.”

She stared at Tanya. “Because of this, Hillary’s father flew into a rage and we almost broke off the engagement... Although he still married me later, my position in the Joneses was still very awkward! All of this was because of you!”

Tanya clenched her fists. “So, that’s why you hate me so much?”

Jill nodded. “That’s right. This is the truth behind what happened back then. Hillary elevated my status and allowed me to marry into the Joneses, whereas your existence brought shame to me! Do you think I could have still liked you?”.

Tanya took a deep breath.

She suddenly understood why Jill treated her two daughters so differently.

She had always wondered why Jill had given birth to her if she didn’t love her father or her.

Now, she finally knew the truth.

She lowered her eyes and slowly asked, “Why are suddenly telling me all of this now? Are you trying to make me feel guilty?”

She sneered, “Because that’s not going to happen.”

Jill, however, shook her head. “No, I don’t need you to feel guilty about it. I know you are innocent, but this is the truth. Whether you feel guilty about it or not, this is the truth. It is also a fact that, because of you, I was unable to hold my head up high in the Joneses for so many years! I came to you this time because I want to make peace with you.”

Tanya was taken aback. “Make peace?”

“Yes. I’ll let you off while you also let me off... We go our own separate ways in the future. How does that sound?”

Tanya looked at the person in front of her.

She was very calm, and her thoughts were also very clear. Her words made Tanya feel as if her heart had turned cold.

Tanya said, “I have nothing to do with you in the first place.”

Jill kept quiet for a while before she finally said, “You still have to promise me something.”

Tanya knew that the highlight of the show was finally here.

Despite all the things that Jill said thus far, she was but just appealing to her emotionally.

The condition was what she truly wanted.

She said, “There is no way I’ll ever write a letter of forgiveness. Not in this lifetime, not in the next.”

Her words made Jill’s eyes flash with hatred. However, she quickly suppressed it and said, “I know you are heartless and don’t care whether Hillary lives or dies! So, I’m not here for that.”

“Then?”

Jill lowered her head. “It’s for my own sake.”

Tanya was taken aback.

Jill said, “Because of Hillary’s incident, I am close to having no place in the Joneses anymore! That’s why I have to reconcile with you. You are at least Joel’s girlfriend now, so you will be able to keep me safe and worry-free in the Joneses.”

Tanya: “?”

Seeing that she was about to speak, Jill cut her off at once and said, “No matter what happens, I am the one who gave life to you. The fact that I am your mother will never change. Because of you, for so many years, I wasn’t able to enjoy life for even a day at the Joneses. Now that you have finally become distinguished, why don’t you let me ride off your coattails a little? If not... With a daughter like Hillary, the Joneses are already in talks about having your Uncle Jones divorce me.”

“I signed a prenuptial agreement when I married into the Joneses back then, so I can’t take even a penny with me after the divorce. If life really becomes hard for me, I would have to trouble you in the end.”

Tanya: “...”

For a while, she actually found herself at a loss as to what to say.

Jill got up and said aggressively, “I know you have someone spoiling you and loving you now, so you are not afraid of anything. But I am your mother, the ties between the two of us will never be severed. You cannot refuse me, can you?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 461 - The Mastermind!!

Jill's calm words were different from the threats and promises she had made at the door.

She even chuckled softly. "It's like what you said at the Smiths' house back then. You wish you could return your body to me... I don't want your bones or blood. I just want you to make peace with me." Tanya looked at her. She was a little puzzled and confused.

—

When Tanya returned to the Smiths, Joel and Nora were already waiting for her on the sofa. When they saw her, they immediately asked nervously, "What did you talk about? Did she threaten you again?"

"No."

Tanya sat on the sofa and repeated Jill's words.

She did not hide anything because of Jill's words. She knew that things were not as simple as she had thought.

After hearing her words, Nora asked, "Did you reject her?"

Based on Tanya's personality, she would definitely reject her.

She was never one to be afraid of threats.

Tanya shook her head. "Not yet. I said that I wanted to think about it. I wanted to ask Joel for his opinion, and she agreed."

Nora was stunned. "Why would you suddenly say that?"

Tanya hesitated for a moment. "I don't know if I'm being paranoid. I keep feeling that something is wrong."

Nora and Joel looked at her. Nora sensed something and asked, “What’s wrong?”

Tanya sat on the sofa and continued, “Ever since I was young, Jill loved Hillary the most. I remember one time when Hillary was sick, she stayed at the hospital all night. Later, even when she fell ill herself, she still went to see Hillary.”

“She definitely has a deep mother-daughter relationship with Hillary. I even felt jealous back then...”

Tanya frowned. “I was really stunned when she suddenly came to say those words to me very calmly today. I never expected that she would give up on Hillary!”

How could a woman who loved her daughter more than her own life give up on her in just two days?

OV

What Jill had said today made sense. It was the obvious choice for an absolute selfish person. However, when this matter was placed on Jill, who was an extremely biased mother, there was something strange about it.

At the very least, Tanya would not believe it!

Joel frowned. “Perhaps Hillary would be safer in prison if you reconcile with Jill?”

Tanya was puzzled. “Perhaps?”

But she still felt that something was wrong.

Nora suddenly said, “Promise her and see what she plans to do next!”

Tanya: “?”

Joel glanced at Nora and said, “Yes, do according to what Nora says.”

Tanya nodded. "Alright, I'll call her back."

She took out her phone in front of Nora and Joel and called Jill. The other party picked up quickly. Jill's voice had a hint of nervousness that could not be detected. "Have you thought it through? How was your discussion with Mr. Smith?"

Nora glanced at Tanya, and Tanya understood what she meant. She replied unhappily, "We've discussed it. Joel agreed. From now on, tell everyone that we've reconciled, alright? The Smiths don't want a troublesome person like you to keep bothering them forever."

Jill agreed. "Okay, that's it. I'm hanging up."

After hanging up, Tanya looked at Nora and spread her hands.

Nora frowned.

The reason she had asked Tanya to suddenly agree to Jill's request was that she remembered what Brenda had said that afternoon.

She had to pay attention to the abnormality around her.

But why would Jill be trying to make peace?

Nora said calmly, "Wait a while more. I think she will definitely call again."

Half an hour later, just as Nora was suspecting that her judgment was wrong, Jill called.

Nora immediately sat up straight and motioned for Tanya to answer the call.

Jill's faint cries could be heard over the phone. "Tanya, your Uncle Jones didn't believe that we had reconciled. He even beat me up..."

Tanya's expression did not change at all. "So?"

Jill answered carefully, "So, can you help me explain to him?"

Tanya did not speak, but she let out a mocking laugh.

After a moment of silence, Jill said, “I know you might not want to come over. It’s okay. I have another way to show the public that we have indeed reconciled.”

Tanya: “What way?”

Jill said, “Do you remember your uncle’s cousin? He just graduated this year and is looking for a job. Can you arrange something for him in the Smiths’ company? That way, everyone will know that we’ve reconciled. You don’t have to say anything... This is just a small matter for the Smiths, right? Of course, you don’t have to arrange any key positions for him. He just has to be at the headquarters... At the headquarters, it would show that I helped him find a job.”

Nora: “??!”

This request was too mundane!

She grimaced and nodded at Tanya. Tanya said, “Joel agreed. I hope you can keep your word in the future and stop pestering me.”

Jill said, “Okay, I’ll send your cousin’s resume to you later.”

After Jill sent the resume, Nora immediately asked for a copy and checked this person’s past.

She suspected that this cousin might not be as ordinary as Jill wants them to believe.

However, she did not expect that after investigating this person, she would not find any problems.

She hesitated.

Was Jill really just looking for a job for a cousin?

In the prison.

Visiting hours.

Jill stood in the visitation room. When she saw Hillary limping over, her heart instantly ached. Her eyes turned red as she held Hillary's hand.

"Hillary, I've succeeded! Can that person really save you?"

Hillary nodded and said impatiently, "What else? We're already in this situation. Is there anyone else who can save us?"

Jill hurriedly said, "Don't get angry. I just feel that it's a little hard to believe... Besides, your cousin is also confused about his new work arrangement..."

Hillary said irritably, "Just do what I tell you to do! Why are you asking so many questions?! And make him obedient too!"

"Okay, okay..."

The visit ended, and next on the schedule was recreation time.

Hillary supported her tired body and walked to the side.

When no one was paying attention, she suddenly said, "My mother has arranged for someone to enter the Smiths. Shouldn't you fulfill your promise and save me from here?"

As she spoke, she slowly looked up at another person in a prison uniform.

This person was an acquaintance.

Chapter 462 - 2 Strange Illness

Without even raising his head, he placed a drug into Hillary's hand. "Eat this and you can leave."

Eat it?

Hillary bit her lip and stared at the white pill. "What medicine is this?"

"You don't need to know. Just know that if you eat it, you can go out." The person walked away after repeating himself, leaving Hillary standing there staring at the medicine in her hand.

Should she eat it or not?

She suddenly clenched her fists and looked at the back of the person in the distance.

Thinking about how she had met this person and the changes around her during this period of time... Hillary suddenly steeled her heart and took the medicine while no one was paying attention.

She did not know what this pill would do for her.

"What? Hillary suddenly fell ill?"

At the Smiths, when Tanya received the call, she was a little stunned. It was a call from the court. After all, Hillary had stolen her daughter. Now that she had been released to the hospital for treatment, the court had to inform Tanya of her whereabouts.

Tanya frowned. "What illness is it?"

The voice on the phone replied in a monotonous voice, "Ms. Tanya, Hillary's condition is still being examined at the hospital, but it's quite serious. She seems to have had a heart attack and has been in a coma."

“Okay, I understand.”

After hanging up, Tanya looked at Nora hesitantly and said, “Hillary has always been in good health. Why would she suddenly have a heart attack?”

Nora frowned. She suddenly said, “Why don’t we go to the hospital to take a look?”

Tanya subconsciously asked, “You suspect that she’s faking it?”

The only people who could come out of prison were the patients.

Nora nodded and looked at the time. She happened to be free now, so she simply stood up. “Let’s go. I’ll accompany you.”

When still in prison, Hillary had already seen a doctor. The doctor was helpless and had sent her to the city’s Hospital Finest.

Tanya drove and brought Nora to the hospital. The two of them walked upstairs slowly.

Nora dragged her feet as if she could not walk. Her eyes were slightly lowered, and she exuded a domineering aura.

Tanya’s mouth twitched as she watched from the side. She felt that this person really knew how to put on a show. She was clearly sleepy, but she could still make the biggest pose in the world.

Everyone around looked over. Tanya could only grab her hand and pull her to walk faster toward the ward the court staff had told her about.

As soon as they arrived, they saw Jill standing outside the ward, pacing back and forth anxiously. She seemed to have heard footsteps and turned to see them. She immediately rushed over and pointed at Tanya as she scolded, “What are you doing here? Isn’t it enough that you caused my daughter to end up like this?! Do you have to see her die before you can be at ease?!”

Tanya: “...” She frowned and felt that the Jill she had seen two days ago was not the same person as the Jill from today. Or rather, the Jill today was the Jill she was familiar with. The one from two days ago was so calm that it was terrifying.

Nora looked at Tanya's thoughtful expression. Now was not the time to quarrel with Jill. She interrupted Jill's next question and asked, "How is she?"

Nora was the eldest daughter of the Smiths and was also Justin Hunt's girlfriend.

Jill was a little worried as she said unhappily, "She's not dead yet! However, the doctor hasn't been able to find any problems until now. She's still in a coma!"

At this point, she looked at the two staff members guarding Hillary at the entrance of the operating theater with resentment. "It must be because you found a bad doctor for her! Seeing that my daughter is down and out, you didn't treat her properly, did you!" The two staff members were about to speak when Jill suddenly thought of something. She looked at Nora suddenly. "By the way, aren't you Anti? You're the world's number one surgeon. You're also known as the master surgeon. Quickly go and see my daughter!" Nora: "..."

She stared at Jill and then at the two people at the door. She raised her eyebrows slightly. "Okay."

She also wanted to see what Hillary was up to!

As she thought this, Jill said to the two guards, "This is Doctor Anti. Can you let her in to see my daughter?"

The two of them looked at each other. It was now a critical period for Hillary to seek treatment. They had found two specialists in the hospital, but they could not see any problems. They had called Jill over because Hillary still had the right to seek treatment.

Now, Nora was considered someone hired by Jill, so they said, "Then come out as soon as possible."

“No problem.”

Nora waved at the two of them and then nodded slightly at Tanya. She gave her a reassuring look before entering the operating theater.

Hillary had probably been here for three to four hours. At this moment, she was lying on the operating table with all kinds of testing equipment around her.

Nora looked at the data displayed on the device first.

Her heart was beating normally.

Blood pressure was normal.

All the statistics were up to standard. Even the blood test report was at the side, eliminating hypoglycemia. However, Nora observed that her brain waves were indeed abnormal.

This meant that... Hillary was not pretending to be ill?

Then why was she unconscious? There were only nurses in the operating theater now. The other doctors had already gone out to discuss this case. Nora went to the other side and prepared to take her pulse.

She placed her fingers on Hillary’s wrist and closed her eyes.

A minute later, she opened her eyes and retracted her fingers. She frowned at her.

At this moment, the door to the operating theater suddenly opened and a tall figure walked in.

She looked up and saw a female doctor wearing surgical clothes. Behind her were a few nurses. As the group of people entered, they saw Nora. The female doctor frowned and reprimanded, “Who are you? The operating theater is not a place you can enter as you please! Please leave!”

Nora narrowed her eyes.

Just as she was about to speak, the staff guarding the door whispered, “This is the doctor hired by the inmate’s mother.”

After saying that, the staff introduced her to Nora. “This is Doctor Elaine Miller, our lead doctor. She is also the most skilled person in our department!” When Elaine heard this, she immediately rebuked the two of them. “Nonsense! The person lying on the hospital bed is a criminal. Before we figure it out, how can we let the doctors outside see her? Even Dr. Larson is helpless when it comes to her condition. Her family can’t be thinking that any random doctor can treat her, right?”

Nora was originally prepared to leave after she came in.

After all, she was not kind enough to really treat Hillary. She had only come in to confirm if Hillary was really sick.

Now that she had confirmed it, she was about to leave. However, she was unhappy when she heard this.

The staff also mumbled, “She’s not a random doctor.”

Elaine sneered. “Dr. Larson is the best doctor in the domestic and foreign departments. Is she better than him?”

Chapter 463 - Alternative Medicine And Modern Medicine!

Elaine was famous for being a demoness in the hospital.

However, her medical skills were good, and no one dared to provoke her.

The staff member who had been scolded for no reason could not help but retort, “Yes, she is.”

Elaine was stunned and then sneered. “Oh? Then tell me, who is she? If she’s better than Dr. Larson, why haven’t I heard of this person in all my years in the medical world?”

The staff coughed and looked at Nora.

Perhaps it was because she had joined Morris’s investigation team and became an external employee, Morris had specially sent her a document to prove her identity... Therefore, Nora had a good impression of these staff members.

After all, they were considered her colleagues.

Seeing her colleague in such a difficult position, how could Nora just leave?

She raised her eyebrows at Elaine and suddenly said, “Hello, I’m Doctor Anti. If you haven’t heard of me, I’m probably too unremarkable, I guess.”

Elaine was obviously stunned when she heard this.

The nurses behind Elaine immediately covered their mouths and looked at her in shock. They exclaimed, “Anti?”

“Oh my god, I’m seeing Anti!”

“Anti is the best international doctor. If Dr. Larson is the best in the country, then Anti is the best in the world. She’s even better than Dr. Larson!”

“She’s my idol!”

As the nurses were whispering, Nora realized that Elaine had an intense frown on her face. She seemed to be a little stunned when she heard this name. She felt awkward after being slapped in the face like that but calmed down quickly. Elaine did not continue talking about this matter. Instead, she looked at the staff and continued to reprimand them. “Even if Jill has found the best surgeon, you shouldn’t have just let her in!”

With that, she glared at the two of them. “The criminal’s condition is still unclear. What if she’s pretending to be sick and intends to escape? Once the two of you were deceived, she might have run away before I came here!”

The two staff members lowered their heads and pursed their lips.

It was obvious disdain.

Elaine’s words were righteous, but she had not said anything earlier. Now that she brought up this topic, it was obvious that she was embarrassed and angry.

However, the two staff members did not reveal their thoughts. Instead, they looked at each other and coughed. “Yes, we were wrong.”

Elaine looked at Nora and said to the two of them again, “Now, please get rid of everyone unrelated to the case! I want to see the patient!”

“Yes!”

The two staff members looked at Nora.

Nora raised her eyebrows and did not make things difficult for them. She left the operating theater.

When she came out, Tanya stepped forward and asked, “How is it?”

Nora thought of Hillary’s pulse earlier and said softly, “She’s really unconscious, but we still have to investigate the specific reason.”

As long as it was not an act and she didn’t plan to escape, everything else should be fine.

Tanya nodded.

At this moment, Jill came over. “Miracle doctor, how’s my daughter?” When Nora heard this, she said, “Oh, they have another famous doctor in the hospital. She seems to be diagnosing her!” Jill was taken aback. “What do you mean?” Nora thought about it and replied, “Elaine.”

Elaine...

Jill was suddenly enlightened. “Oh!”

Before Nora could say anything, Jill said, “She’s the most famous doctor in New York. She’s different from ordinary doctors. She’s the only alternative medicine doctor in the industry!”

“Alternative medicine?”

Nora was a little surprised.

In this day and age, there were fewer and fewer young doctors who majored in traditional alternative medicine. Furthermore, most of the doctors who could be the best in traditional alternative medicine were old.

Traditional alternative medicine emphasized reading, hearing, and cutting. One needed to accumulate experience based on medical cases.

However, Elaine was clearly only in her twenties...

At this moment, the door to the operating theater was suddenly pushed open and Elaine walked out.

Behind her, a few nurses said, “Doctor Elaine is really impressive! We didn’t find any problems, but the moment she arrived, we found out!”

“That’s right. We have also heard of how magical alternative medicine is, but we never believed it. We felt that it’s no different from witchcraft. I didn’t expect to actually witness the power of alternative medicine today!”

As the group of people flattered her, Jill went up to her. “Doctor Elaine, what’s wrong with my daughter?”

Elaine said, “I checked her pulse and found that she’s indeed in a coma, not pretending. The specific reason still needs to be confirmed with blood tests, but I already have a general idea.”

The nurses around them immediately nodded.

However, Elaine suddenly looked at Nora and said, “Sometimes, modern medicine is indeed very useless. In her situation, all her vital signs are normal. From the perspective of modern medicine, there are no problems at all. Most ordinary people would have symptoms such as spleen and stomach dysfunction, kidney deficiency, and other symptoms, but they can’t be detected if they don’t reach a certain level. Once they reach a level that can be detected using modern medicine, it means that the illness is already very serious. This can highlight the importance of alternative medicine. It also requires alternative medicine to nurse a person’s body! The mystery of alternative medicine is definitely not something modern medicine can compare to!”

Nora: “?!”

Tanya whispered into her ear, “Nora, why do I feel like she’s implying you’re inferior to her?”

Nora: “...Be more confident. Get rid of your feelings.”

Tanya: “...”

The corners of her mouth twitched as she could not help but purse her lips. “She’s good at alternative medicine, but you’re good at modern medicine. What’s there for her to be arrogant about?!”

Nora chuckled and did not answer. However, Tanya’s voice was not low, and Elaine immediately heard her. She frowned and looked over. She simply walked in front of Nora. “Anti, honest words are unpleasant to the ear. There are some things I have to say!”

“Do you really think that just because you’re the best doctor, your medical skills are amazing? Alternative medicine is the most profound! Furthermore, your mother, Yvette, was an outstanding talent in the alternative medicine world. You didn’t inherit her skills and instead went overseas to learn modern medicine! No matter how good your modern medicine is, I still look down on you! It’s because you have abandoned the essence of the ancestors! In my opinion, only the best alternative medicine practitioner can truly be considered a medical expert! You’re only holding a scalpel. No matter how good you are, it’s just familiarity making perfect!”

When she said this, Nora instantly narrowed her eyes. “I only know how to hold a scalpel?”

Chapter 464 - Sudden Death

The entire corridor fell silent.

The other nurses looked at each other.

Elaine was the best in alternative medicine in the country, while Nora was the best in international modern medicine. When these two people met, they did not know who to help at that moment.

However, Elaine was not afraid of her. She said, “What? Do you think I’m wrong? Or do you think modern medicine is better than alternative medicine?”

Many people felt that alternative medicine was unreliable, especially in Western countries. Some even thought that it was a scam.

Elaine’s words had clearly set a trap for Nora.

If she said modern medicine was good, she would offend most of the alternative medicine doctors in the capital. And in New York, there were many prestigious alternative medicine doctors!

If they all came together to suppress her, they could definitely make Nora’s life a living hell.

However, if she said alternative medicine was good, Nora would be showing weakness and ruin her own prestige.

Nora looked at her and did not understand why this person was targeting her. However, the corners of her lips curled up slightly and she said, “Be it modern or alternative medicine, in my opinion, they’re just ways to treat illnesses and save people! It doesn’t matter they’re noble or cheap. They can’t be compared!”

Everyone nodded in agreement.

Elaine's expression darkened. She seemed to be a little unhappy that she could not trick Nora. She sneered and said, "Then why did Miss Smith choose modern medicine instead of alternative medicine? According to what I know, your mother was an outstanding talent in the alternative medicine world back then! Why didn't you inherit her mantle? Instead of studying alternative medicine, you chose modern medicine. Doesn't this explain Miss Smith's thoughts?"

Nora: "?"

She raised her eyebrows slightly. "Miss Smith, you're not telling me it's just your hobby, are you? You have a mother who's famous for her alternative medicine skills, but you like modern medicine. Doesn't this show your attitude?"

Tsk.

Nora pursed her lips. Was this Elaine planning to pin her on the saying that modern medicine was better than alternative medicine?

She was really persistent.

She suddenly smiled and said, "How do you know that I didn't learn alternative medicine?"

Elaine was stunned by her light tone. However, she continued mocking, "Oh, did you learn alternative medicine? Then why haven't I ever heard your name in the alternative medicine world?"

After saying that, she did not wait for Nora to speak again and looked at her phone. "Alright, I don't have time to debate with Miss Smith here today. After all, I still have a case to settle. I'm not as free as Miss Smith."

Nora: "?!?"

Before she could say anything, Tanya said, "Eh? Isn't it Doctor Elaine who suddenly walked over to talk to Nora? We didn't stop you from leaving either! You make it sound like our Nora is pestering you. Isn't that a little strange?"

Elaine: "..."

She glared at Tanya and left.

After she left, Nora and Tanya looked at each other and were about to leave too. However, just as they turned around, they heard Jill's angry voice.

"Tanya, did you do this on purpose?"

Nora turned back to look at Tanya, only to see her stunned. She looked at Jill in confusion.

Jill's fingers were about to poke her nose. "Doctor Elaine is Hillary's attending doctor. You offended her with your words here. You must be trying to get her to take revenge on Hillary!"

Tanya's expression instantly darkened.

A strange feeling surged in Nora's heart.

She also had two children, but regardless of whether it was Pete or Cherry, she doted on them. She was afraid that she would neglect one of them and make the other unhappy.

Pete and born sensitive, while Cherry was born to be more carefree. However, she had not overlooked Cherry and wronged her. After all, her family background was good. Why did Jill have to do this?

Jill did not have any motherly feelings for Tanya, right?

Otherwise, how could she have done this?!

Jill was also a little unhappy that Nora had offended Elaine. However, she did not dare to get angry at Nora. She threw her temper at Tanya. "How old are you already? You don't even know how to act! Is this the time for you to shoot your mouth off? Even if you're criticized by others, so what if you suffer a little? Why do you have to fight for the upper hand? Do you think your younger sister isn't dying quickly enough?"

Tanya suddenly roared angrily, "My younger sister?"

She looked at Jill. "How dare you say that the person lying inside is my younger sister? Isn't she supposed to be my elder sister?!"

Jill immediately choked.

She gulped and Tanya said again, "What I told you back then was only a superficial reconciliation. Don't think that we have really reconciled. However, you're right about one thing!" Jill was taken aback. "What?"

Tanya narrowed her eyes and sneered. "I really think that the person lying inside isn't dying fast enough! She has already been arrested. Even if she doesn't have a future, she can't make up for the crime of stealing my child! I really hope that she dies from this illness!" Jill was furious. She stretched out her hand and was about to hit Tanya. "You evil girl!"

Unfortunately, before she could do anything, Nora had already moved in front of Tanya and grabbed Jill's wrist. She looked at Jill coldly and said, "Mrs. Jones, Tanya is my sister-in-law now. Before you hit her, did you ask for the Smiths' opinion? Or do the Joneses no longer care about the Smiths' opinion?"

Her words made Jill choke.

Nora whispered again, "Of course. Karl Moore is still in New York. If you have any objections to his daughter, why don't you talk to him?"

Nora touched her chin and suddenly approached her. She said again, "By the way, do you know what Karl Moore is doing now?"

Jill was stunned.

She only knew that Karl Moore was from the underworld, but she really did not know what he was doing Now that Nora said this, her heart sank. "What?"

Nora only smiled and did not say anything.

However, this made Jill even more afraid. She swallowed her saliva and saw Nora suddenly reach out her hand. She raised her thumb and index finger and aimed them at Jill's head.

“Bang!”.

Jill was shocked and subconsciously took a step back. Then, she saw Nora's lips curl up slightly.

Strange evilness appeared on her obedient face.

She had originally thought that Hillary's illness this time could be considered a blessing in disguise. After all, she could stay in the ward and avoid prison.

However, no one expected that two days later, news would suddenly spread that Hillary had died in the ward.

Upon hearing the news, the police quickly surrounded the Smiths.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 465 - Cause Of Death!!

“Hillary is dead.”

Tanya looked at Nora as she spoke.

She stared at her in shock and disbelief. Nora frowned. “What’s going on?”
“I don’t know.”

Tanya pointed at her phone. “I was just informed that she’s brain dead. The doctors just took her off the ventilator.”

She subconsciously clenched her fists and took a deep breath. “This might be her retribution!”

Nora felt that this matter was a little strange.

Two days ago, she had gone to see Hillary and checked her pulse. Hillary was indeed in a coma and she might have been able to find out the specific reason with a blood test. At that time, she was worried that Hillary would pretend to be sick and escape from the prison. After confirming that she was really sick, she had felt relieved.

Later on, Elaine took over Hillary. Furthermore, because of her special status, Nora did not pay attention to her anymore.

But why was she dead?

She frowned as the butler walked in and said, “Miss Nora, someone from the police station is here. They said...”

He gulped. “They said that further investigation has revealed that Hillary’s death was a murder . As for the murderer, they have sufficient evidence and have come to arrest the culprit.”

Murderer...

Nora frowned. “What’s going on?”

How could the Smiths be related to the murderer?

The butler did not understand either. At this moment, the police rushed in and said, “We already have evidence of your murder. Please surrender immediately!”

Nora: “...”

She thought about it carefully. Two days ago, she had only seen Hillary in the operating theater. At that time, there were surveillance cameras in the operating theater, so these people could not have framed her. The police officers walked towards her. Nora sighed slightly. Why was she fated with prison...

The last time Old Maddy fell sick, it was the same. This time, it was the same...

She had originally planned to follow the clues and find out who the mysterious person was that had come to New York. However, she did not expect that things would turn out this way.

As she sighed, the police officer walked past and behind her. He took out handcuffs and handcuffed Tanya!

Nora: “!!”

Were the policeman’s words directed at Tanya?

But how was that possible?!

Tanya looked surprised as she looked at the police officer in confusion. “What are you doing? Why did you arrest me?”

The police officer said, “You’re suspected of murdering Hillary. We have both material evidence and witnesses, so we’re arresting you now! Please don’t resist.”

Tanya was stunned. “What? How could I have killed someone?!”

Nora also made a prompt decision to block the police’s path. She asked in a deep and calm voice, “What’s going on? Do you have an arrest warrant? What’s the evidence? Also, please show your police badge. Do you really think you can come in and arrest anyone you want?”

The police officer did not expect Nora to be so domineering. He first took out his police badge and showed it to her before showing his arrest warrant.

The arrest warrant was real. Nora could not stop them. After all, if she really stopped them and escaped, it would mean that they had fled for their crimes and would be confirmed as guilty. Nora looked at Tanya and said calmly, “You go first. I’ll contact the lawyer immediately and prepare to bail you out.”

Tanya took a deep breath and nodded. “Okay.”

When Tanya was brought out by the police, Jill arrived as well. When she saw Tanya, her eyes were red and she looked like she had gone mad.

“Tanya! You killed Hillary! I knew it. You always wanted her dead! You vicious person! You murderer! I should have strangled you to death when you were young! I should have thrown you to death! A person like you shouldn’t have appeared in this world!”

She rushed toward Tanya in anger, but the police stopped her.

Jill was stopped by someone. Her hands and feet tried to claw out to her, but she could not touch Tanya.

She continued to curse. “You killed my daughter. I don’t want to live anymore, but before I die, I will take you with me! I will make you pay!”

The police formed a protective circle around Tanya.

She looked at Jill in shock.

The person in front of her had already gone mad. It was obvious that she had decided to go all out. It was courage that allowed her to risk her life for her daughter.

This was not about gaining benefits, but true selfless motherly love!

But if she loved her daughter so much, why was she always so cold to Tanya? Tanya looked at Hillary in confusion and muttered, “Am I not your daughter?”.

“No! I don’t have a daughter like you! You’re a murderer! You’ll die a horrible death. I’ll curse you to go to the deepest pits of hell after you die!”

“...”

These extreme evil thoughts and curses made Tanya slowly retract her gaze.

She did not say anything else and followed the police into the car.

—

At the hospital’s mortuary.

Elaine was wandering around Hillary’s corpse. She frowned and inspected the marks on the corpse. She said, “There are scratches on the victim’s body. Her fingernails were torn off, which means that she went through an intense struggle when she was alive. We have detected an unknown drug composition in her body. Our initial estimate is that its poison. We’re pretty certain that she died from the poison.”

After the examination, the nurse beside Elaine could not help but say, “Doctor Elaine, could her death be related to her previous unconsciousness? Could it be that she was poisoned in the prison and had fallen sick because of it? We just didn’t notice.”

These words made Elaine clench her fists tightly. She looked at the nurse with a sharp gaze. “What nonsense are you talking about? We indeed could not find out the reason for her coma, but we did not find anything in her blood, either... It was clearly after Tanya saw her that she died from the poisoning!”

The young nurse said, “But...”

“But what?” Elaine glared at her. “Are you a doctor or am I? Even if a forensic doctor comes to investigate, this would be the only judgment!”

The young nurse gritted her teeth. She knew that this matter had to be resolved like this.

Otherwise, it would mean that Elaine’s medical skills were bad and she could not treat Hillary well.

However...

She couldn’t help but say, “There’s Doctor Anti too!”

What if the international expert could tell the real cause?

However, as soon as she said this, Elaine smiled. “She’s already dead. Do you think just any random doctor can look at her body? With me around, even a forensic doctor won’t be able to touch her!”

With that, she said, “Don’t worry. Unless someone from the special department comes, no one can overthrow my judgment!”

Chapter 466 - Evidence!

The nurse was stunned. “Special department?”

The young nurse did not know about them, so she asked hesitantly, “What’s that?” Elaine said, “It’s a department above the normal police service. If they take over the case, all of us have to listen to them... Forget it. You won’t understand even if I tell you this. Anyway, after this case is successfully closed, I’ll have enough experience accumulated to apply for a position in the special department.” If she could join the special department, it would be an honor for her!

Moreover, Captain Ford from the special department... had an honorable status and was admired by everyone. At the thought of this, Elaine’s face turned a little red as she became excited.

She signed her diagnosis and autopsy report and handed them to the nurse. Then, she looked at the nurse and said, “The cause of death has been determined, let’s cremate the corpse now.”

The nurse was stunned. “So fast?”

“Yes, it’s summer now. Corpses rot if they’re left out for too long. Even if there’s a freezer, there’s no need to keep her body.” The nurse courteously replied, “Then I’ll contact the victim’s family.”

“Okay.”

After saying that, Elaine looked at her. “Contact her now.”

The nurse did not expect her to be so anxious. He asked, “Ah?... Ah, okay.”

—

When Tanya was taken away, she only said one sentence to Nora. “Take good care of Mia.”

After she was taken away, Nora went upstairs first.

It was the weekend today, so the children did not go to school. They were playing inside and seemed to have heard the noise downstairs. Therefore, when Nora entered, she saw Mia anxiously wearing her shoes. She asked in a small voice, “Why was my mommy arrested?”

Pete said, “Don’t worry. They must have caught the wrong person.”

Cherry held her phone. As they were in the midst of an intense team battle, she looked at Mia and then downstairs.

She hesitated for 0.01 seconds before throwing her phone down and putting on her shoes. “Let’s go downstairs and ask Mom!”

Nora pushed the door open and entered.

When she saw the three children, she said, “Mia, your mommy has something on and needs to go to the police station. Don’t worry.”

Mia asked hesitantly, “Is she really okay?”

Nora got down on her knees and ruffled through her hair. “She’s really fine. Your mommy is such a good person, and the police officers specialize in catching bad people. Why would they catch your mommy?”

Mia tilted her head and thought about it carefully. “Yes, Aunt Nora is right. Then, when will Mommy be back?”

“She’ll be back tonight.”

Nora coaxed her patiently. Her voice was very soft. Although it was deep, it was very gentle. After saying that, she looked at Cherry and saw that the little fellow’s big eyes were darting around. She pouted and then silently said to Nora, “Mommy, you’re lying.”

Nora: “...”

She knew that this brat was smart and could tell that things were not so simple.

However, Cherry cooperated and persuaded Mia. The little fellow looked up and said confidently, “Mia, don’t be afraid. Even if something really happens to your mommy, my mommy won’t just sit there and do nothing! Besides, your daddy is very powerful too! If they can’t do it, then look for my daddy!”

Mia tilted her head. “What if your daddy can’t do it, either?”

“Then find my auntie and grandma!” Cherry patted her chest. “Don’t worry. My auntie and grandma are the best!”

Mia was really deceived by her confidence. She nodded. “Okay.”

Nora said, “You guys have fun here. I’ll get the nanny to watch over you all. You all have to stay at home obediently today, okay?”

Mia: “Okay!”

Cherry said, “Don’t worry, Mommy! I’ll take good care of Mia and Pete!”

Pete: “...”

When Nora saw that Mia had calmed down, she went out and picked up her phone to call Joel. However, the moment she went out, she felt a tiny tug on her pants.

She lowered her head and met Pete’s stern but serious face.

He thought for a moment and said, “Mommy, I just saw that God-mom was taken away by them in handcuffs.”

Nora: “?”

Was her son so observant?!

It was too difficult to lie to him.

She lowered her head and was about to say something when she heard Pete's clear analysis. "You should contact Uncle and Dad immediately and get a lawyer to bail God-mom out. If they came here for an arrest, they must have had an arrest warrant. That means they have solid evidence, but God-mom definitely didn't do anything bad. You should look at the evidence. If I'm not wrong, the evidence must have been tampered with."

"..." Hearing his logical analysis, Nora felt for the first time that her son was indeed very smart.

Although he did not like to talk much and spent all his time doing Mathematical Olympiad questions, he was indeed worthy of being a child of the Hunts. Even when faced with dire situations, he could maintain his composure and think clearly.

She touched Pete's head. "Okay, I'll do all of that. But Mia is in a bad mood, so can please take good care of her?". Pete looked at Nora helplessly. "Mommy, I'm not a three-year-old child anymore." These words to coax a child were useless on him.

However, Nora said seriously, "Pete, Mommy isn't coaxing you. I'm telling the truth. Cherry has a rough personality and a big heart. I'm worried about letting her take care of people. But if it's Pete, Mommy would be relieved!"

These words made Pete's face turn red. He nodded and even spoke up for his sister. "Sister is also very good."

Nora: "..."

This fellow was really adorable!

Nora left the house and called Joel. Joel already knew about the situation when the police came in to arrest him. He said, "I'm bringing my lawyer over. I'll probably arrive with them."

Nora nodded. "Sure."

Nora and Joel were not allowed to see Tanya before the case was processed. Only the lawyers were allowed to discuss these matters.

After more than half an hour, the lawyer walked out with a frown. “The matter has been clarified! They do indeed have the evidence to back Ms. Turner’s arrest! Hillary’s death was caused by the toxins in her body. During the time she was detained, only Miss Tanya had seen her! She injected something in Hillary’s infusion drug. All of this had been recorded by the surveillance cameras. We’re at a great disadvantage right now!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 467 - Confess!

When they heard this, Nora and Joel were stunned.

Tanya had met Hillary in private? And she had injected something into her IV tube? How was that possible?!

Although Tanya hated Hillary, she would not do something like that because she still had Mia to take care of. She could not do anything illegal. Joel was the first to speak. “Impossible.”

Nora nodded as well. “Although Hillary is unconscious, she will still go to jail even if she wakes up. She has already received the punishment she deserves. Tanya would not harm her again!”

The lawyer sighed. “But Ms. Tanya once told Jill that she would never forgive Hillary. She even wanted Hillary to die.” Nora: “...”

She had indeed said this when Jill questioned her in the hospital. Moreover, there was a nurse beside her at that time.

The lawyer said, “Someone has evidence to prove this. Therefore, Ms. Tanya has a motive for the crime. In addition to the surveillance video and the toxins collected from the body... there is both human and material evidence. Furthermore, Ms. Tanya has already confirmed the evidence from the surveillance cameras...”

These words stunned Nora and Joel. The two of them looked at the lawyer in disbelief and questioned at the same time, “How is this possible?”

The lawyer frowned as well. “I can’t get bail now, but I’ve requested to meet Ms. Tanya. The two of you can follow me.”

Joel and Nora nodded.

Soon, the formalities were completed. Nora followed behind Joel and the lawyer and slowly entered the interrogation room.

Tanya sat there inside the interrogation room, looking a little flustered and helpless. She clenched her fists tightly and turned her head away the moment they entered.

After the others had left, Nora remained silent. Joel, on the other hand, said slowly, “Tanya, you didn’t really go to see Hillary, right? There must be something wrong with their surveillance cameras. Why are you admitting to it? Did they torture you?” When Tanya heard this, the panic in her eyes gradually calmed down. She looked a little depressed and shook her head. “No. The police work according to the law. They can’t torture me. You’re thinking too much.”

Joel stared at her. “Then why did you admit to it? And what’s with the surveillance cameras?”

When he asked this, Nora had already started playing the video on her phone.

In the video, Tanya could be clearly seen entering the ward and taking out something to push into the IV line. Nora stared at that face. After knowing Tanya for so many years, she could almost confirm...

Tanya suddenly looked up and said slowly, “I didn’t want to kill her!”

Her words confirmed everything the lawyer had said!

Nora put her phone away.

She thought that it was all a lie, but she did not expect it to be true!

If the video was real, they could not do anything

When Joel heard this, he was extremely surprised. He, who could remain calm in the face of death, asked anxiously, now that it concerned Tanya, “You... You really went to see her? What did you inject her with?”

Tanya lowered her head and took a deep breath before saying, "It's called Benzoplatin. This thing can make her feel pain even in a coma."

The interrogation room fell silent.

Tanya held her head and said in pain, "I didn't want to kill her. I just wanted her to feel pain... Joel, do you know? I interacted with Mia a lot before I realized that there are some scars on Mia's private parts... They are all old scars. I asked Mia about it, and she told me... that it was her mother, when she was young. Because she was insensible, she cried and made you frown, so Hillary used a cigarette butt to burn her privates!"

Tanya's words were still trembling.

A day ago, she had given Mia a bath...

Actually, she should not look at a child's private parts when she grows older.

As a father, Joel had not seen it since Mia was three years old.

But Tanya loved Mia too much. When she saw the small mole on Mia's shoulder, she wanted to check her entire body.

She did not expect to find such a big scar...

It had been a long time ago, and the scar was very big. It was obvious how much Mia had suffered back then!!

She had asked Mia about it, who had said in fear, "Mommy, I'll be serious and obedient in the future. Don't punish me like this."

At that moment, Tanya felt like she had lost her mind!

No wonder. No wonder her daughter, who had been pampered by Joel since she was young, was so careful. She did not have any arrogant habits at all.

No wonder Mia was so afraid of Hillary...

So that was the reason!!

Tanya was trembling with anger. She held back her rationality and coaxed Mia to sleep before sitting there in a daze for the entire night.

She knew that even if she revealed this matter, Hillary would already be dead because this matter could not be changed to a death sentence... The one who would be affected the most was Mia.

Mia would be pitied because of this.

She did not want her daughter to be pitied.

However, she could not vent her frustration and anger at all. It was only in the morning that she made up her mind.

Even if she had to be a bad person or a murderer this time, she would not let Hillary off so easily! Because seeing her child in pain was the most intolerable thing for a mother! Therefore, she had searched for drugs that could make one's nerves feel extremely painful and had secretly gone to the hospital to inject them into Hillary's IV bottle.

Hearing Tanya's words, Joel stood up suddenly.

The man, who was more than 1.8 meters tall, was trembling like a sieve. He looked at Tanya in disbelief. "How... how is this possible..."

His daughter had actually suffered like this under his watch?!

He clenched his fists tightly, his eyes filled with tears. "It's... my fault."

Tanya shook her head. "You're a father, and she's a girl. How could you have known? If it weren't for the coincidence, I wouldn't have looked so carefully at my daughter... She's already five years old... Hillary took advantage of this!"

She suddenly looked up with red eyes and said in a trembling voice. "So, I don't regret it. Even if I kill her, I'm willing to face the consequences! But what about my Mia?"

Towards the end, she looked a little lost.

Almost as soon as she said this, Joel held her hand and suddenly said, “Tanya, what does this have to do with you? I was the one who gave you the medicine!”

Tanya was stunned. “When did you give it to me...”

At this point, she suddenly understood.

Joel was trying to take the blame!

Her eyes were red as large tears rolled down her cheeks. She lowered her head and wiped her tears. “Stop fooling around...”

However, Joel said firmly, “I’m useless. I couldn’t protect my wife or my daughter... Back then, I broke up with you because of a small misunderstanding. Now that something like this has happened to my daughter, it’s my fault. It’s all my fault... I want to tear Hillary to pieces!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 468 - Too Late!

Tanya grabbed his hand. “This isn’t your fault. It’s my fault. I didn’t say anything and hid everything... I blamed myself for believing Jill’s words back then and going overseas. When I found out I was pregnant, I forced myself to give birth, but I didn’t have the ability to protect the child...”

As she spoke, her voice was choked with tears. “That’s why I can’t let my daughter live under her shadow forever. I want my daughter to know that people who’ve done bad things to her will pay the price!”

Large tears rolled down her cheeks again.

However, Joel seemed determined. He suddenly stood up. “Tanya, you don’t have to hide it for my sake. I know you love me, but there’s really no need for you to be so silly... Besides, you couldn’t have bought that medicine by yourself!”

Tanya bit her lip.

Yes, ordinary people could not buy that drug, but what about the future mistress of the Smiths?

She had used Joel’s name to buy that medicine!

She cried and said, “I’ve already admitted my crime! Mia can’t live without her father! Joel, if you still have any feelings for me, don’t be a jerk at this time!”

Joel did not stay silent and only said, “Mia is a girl. She needs her mother more.”

Nora watched as the two of them argued. She was still digesting the news she had just received.

She didn't expect Mia to be treated this way. Not to mention Tanya, even she couldn't accept it. If such a thing happened to Cherry...

Not to mention inserting a drug, she would immediately shoot Hillary into meat paste with a gun!

While she was also feeling angry, these two people were going back and forth. They were both going to shoulder the lawsuit. Nora could only abandon all her senses.

Now, Tanya and Joel were angered by Mia's matter. The two of them had no rationality to speak of, so they did not notice that there was a problem with Tanya's story. She interrupted the two of them. "Erm, don't fight over it. That medicine is not fatal."

When she said this, Tanya and Joel's voices paused.

The lawyer sighed. "Yes, this thing is poison, but it won't kill her. However, the coroner's conclusion is that Hillary's body was originally weak. She died because she was injected with this thing!"

Tanya smiled bitterly. "Of course, I knew it wouldn't kill her... Although I lost my rationality back then, I knew that Mia still needed me! I couldn't let a scumbag ruin my life! That was why I researched online for medicines that could cause pain but would not kill... I didn't expect her to die."

No matter how angry Tanya was, she would never leave Mia alone again. However, she could not swallow her anger. Therefore, she chose to compromise.

She had punished Hillary in a safe way.

She never expected that the medicine, that only worked on the nerves and did not harm the human body, would actually take Hillary's life!

When the lawyer heard this, he asked, "When you searched on the Internet, what were the keywords?"

Tanya replied, "Painful but not fatal." The lawyer heaved a sigh of relief. "That's good! We can use this for a counterattack! It can prove that you didn't intend to commit murder! It was accidental murder! In addition to the fact that you have a child... I think the judge will show mercy!" Joel hurriedly asked, "How benevolent can the judge be?"

The lawyer looked at Joel. "Mr. Smith, if you were the one who had done it, then it would have been intentional murder. Therefore, only Ms. Tanya would be able to use this counterattack. And because it wasn't intentional, and because Hillary's actions were too hateful, the judge will pity Ms. Tanya. I'm confident that Ms. Tanya will only be sentenced to three years at most!"

When Tanya heard this, she looked at Joel. "Wait for me. I'll see you in three years."

Joel pursed his lips and suddenly said, "I'll give you a grand wedding in three years."

Tanya's eyes turned red. "Forget it. If you marry a woman who has been in prison, you will be laughed at."

"I'm not afraid of being laughed at. I just feel very useless." Joel clenched his fists. "Tanya, I'm sorry."

It was the end of visiting hours. Nora and Joel stood up and left with their lawyers.

As soon as they left the room, Joel looked at the lawyer. "If I had attempted murder on purpose to avenge my daughter, how long would I be sentenced to?"

The lawyer was stunned, but when he saw that Joel was serious, he calculated in his heart and said, "10 years."

Joel smiled. "Okay, that's the plan."

The lawyer was stunned. “Mr. Smith, it’s 10 years! It’ll only be three years for Ms. Tanya!”

Joel lowered his eyes. “Do as I say.”

He would rather be in prison for 10 years than letting Tanya suffer for another three years.

The lawyer instantly became bitter and vengeful. He simply looked at Nora. “Miss Smith, please persuade Mr. Smith!”

Nora was deep in thought and did not hear him at all. She only reacted when the lawyer tugged at her sleeve. “What?”

The lawyer could only repeat Joel’s decision.

However, Joel, who was beside her, gradually sensed Nora’s abnormality. He frowned and suddenly asked, “Nora, do you find something odd?”

Nora nodded. “I’ve been thinking about it. Could Hillary really die if injected with 5 milliliters of Benzoplatin? According to what I know, Benzoplatin only affects the nerves and makes people feel pain, but it’s harmless to the body.”

Joel did not know medicine, so he did not suspect anything when he heard about this medicine.

However, after Nora said that, he suddenly frowned. “You mean...”

Nora shook her head. “I’m not sure either, but I still think we should go and see the corpse.”

Joel nodded immediately.

He looked at the lawyer.

The lawyer also understood something. He hurriedly went to look for someone and asked to see the corpse.

When the staff member heard this request, he did not reject it. He picked up his phone and called the morgue. However, when the call connected, he was stunned. “What? She’s already been sent to the crematorium?”

When he said this, the three people present were all stunned!

Nora and Joel exclaimed at the same time, “Oh no!”

Before coming to the police station, neither of them had expected the corpse to be dealt with so quickly, so they did not think of protecting it at all.

After all, she was already dead!

They were no professional criminals, after all. They had overlooked this!!

Joel rushed to the phone and asked, “When did you send it out?”

The person was stunned. “Half an hour ago...”

After Tanya admitted to it, this case was basically set in stone. Therefore, the handling of the corpses was also within the rules! Joel and Nora looked at each other. Without a word, they rushed out the door. Nora jumped into the driver’s seat and said to Joel, “Sit tight!”

As soon as she said that, the car rushed out!

Joel was already making a call, but the vehicle carrying the corpse had already arrived at the crematorium. The corpse had been sent in and the door was closed!

When burning corpses at high temperatures, once they entered the furnace, they could not be taken out again!

Because it was impossible to stop halfway.

So... it was too late!

They were a step too late!!

If the corpse was cremated, there was no chance of turning the situation around!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 469 - A Turn Of Events!!

Screeeeech!

The car stopped at the entrance of the crematorium. Almost the moment the car stopped, Nora and Joel jumped out.

The guard was stunned. He went forward and asked, “Hey, what are you guys doing? You...”

Before he could finish speaking, Joel had already pushed him away. Nora turned sideways and slithered in. The security guard was a little surprised by the two of them. After being stunned for a moment, he chased after them. “Stop right there! This is not a place where you can just barge in!

Unfortunately, the two of them had already run toward the entrance of the crematorium!

At the entrance, a few cars were parked orderly. Elaine sat in the front passenger seat of the car and leisurely stared at the venue, which had already closed the door.

When she saw her, Nora rushed forward and stared at her. “Where’s the corpse?”

Elaine raised her eyebrows. “What corpse?”

Nora replied, “Hillary Jones’ corpse!”

Elaine smiled. “Why should I tell you where her body is? Who do you think you are?”

As soon as she finished speaking, Joel had already opened the door to the front passenger seat. Nora grabbed Elaine’s arm and pulled her out of the car.

The two moved like flowing water, stunning Elaine. When she came back to her senses, she was already standing in front of Joel and Nora! Nora grabbed her wrist tightly and asked, “Tell me, where is Hillary Jones’ corpse?”

Elaine tried her best to shake off her grip and said angrily, “Why should I tell you? Let go of me right now! Otherwise, you’ll be breaking the law!”

At this moment, the guard at the door rushed over and blocked their way. The guard asked, “What’s going on?”.

Elaine shouted, “Call for help immediately. Someone is breaking the law here!”

When the guard heard that, he hurriedly found a few people and surrounded Nora and Joel. Someone had already taken out a weapon and aimed it at them.

Joel took a deep breath. “I suspect that the cause of the deceased’s death has not been investigated clearly, so we need to stop the cremation immediately! Send the corpse out right now!”

As soon as she said this, those people looked at Elaine.

Elaine smiled. “Mr. Smith, what’s wrong? The Smith family is so powerful. Are you planning to tamper with the corpse? My colleagues and I have already determined the cause of death and signed it. Moreover, Ms. Tanya has already confessed! Why can’t you let Ms. Jones rest in peace? If you take her out halfway through the cremation... that’s impossible!”

Joel stared at her. “Are you guys stopping or not?”

The Smith family members were around, and some people had even followed them in.

If this group of people did not stop, he would cause a riot here!

The Smiths were not easy to bully!

Elaine was shocked by his gaze. She sneered and said, “What? Is the Smith family planning to attack us? Let me tell you, everyone around here is my colleague. We’re not afraid of you at all! Everything has to be done according to the rules! Without orders, we can’t stop the cremation!”

Orders...

By the time the lawyer applied for an order to stop the cremation, her body would probably already be burnt to ashes!

This Elaine was clearly making things difficult for them on purpose. Or rather, she wanted to close this case completely.

Elaine lowered her head and played with her nails. She spoke first. “Mr. Smith, you’re just a wealthy man. No matter how powerful you are in the business industry, you’re just the husband of a criminal in my eyes! You want me to stop the cremation and I have to do as you say? Do you really think you’re some big shot?”

She looked at Joel. “Let me tell you, unless someone from the special department is standing in front of me right now, I’m not changing my mind!” Joel’s expression turned cold as he looked at the burning room. He was about to order his subordinates to attack when Nora’s cold voice suddenly sounded. “Then I order you to stop the cremation immediately!”

As soon as she said this, Nora took out the documents Morris had given her from her pocket and handed them to Elaine. “The special department’s external forensic doctor, Nora Smith, requests that you immediately stop the cremation!”

III

Everyone around fell silent.

Elaine swallowed her saliva. Nora had already looked at the few staff members following behind her. She waved the documents in front of them and roared, “Special Case Departments! Priority is above all departments! I order you all to stop immediately!”

“...Yes.”

Someone said, turning around to press the button.

However, Elaine stopped the other party and stared at Nora. “I need to determine the authenticity of this document. What if it’s fake?”

The staff was stunned and said, “This... It can’t be fake, right?”

Elaine explained slowly, “You can fake any certificate these days. I think this certificate might be fake! We still have to be careful when handling matters!”

The staff could only nod. “Please let us determine its authenticity.”

Nora took back the documents and said righteously, “I’m on a special mission! Please cooperate with me immediately. If the evidence is destroyed, would you bear the responsibility?! Don’t you know what’s important? Stop immediately!”

The staff looked at Elaine. “Elaine Miller...”

Elaine narrowed her eyes. Her gaze suddenly landed behind Nora. She smirked. “Yes, I suddenly feel that what Miss Smith said is right. Then, let’s stop for now!”

The staff member heaved a sigh of relief and ran to the switch of the device. Just as his fingers touched the button, the device made a beeping sound.

He was stunned.

He turned to look at Nora in shock and said, “It’s too late. The corpse has already been burned.” Nora: “??”

She looked into the room and pushed the door open. “What room is it?!”

The cremation facility could handle a few bodies at once.

The staff swallowed. “Number Five.”

Nora rushed in front of Number Five. There were only bones in front of her. The rest had already been burnt to ashes...

Joel followed in as well. When he saw the situation in front of him, his expression darkened.

Elaine followed him in and said slowly, "Sigh, I'm sorry. Look, I wasted some time and accidentally burned it all. It's over..."

Almost as soon as she said this

Thud!

Nora punched her in the face!

She glared at Elaine angrily. "You were deliberately stalling for time!"

Elaine took a few steps back after being punched. Her cheeks instantly puffed up, and even her mouth tasted bloody.

Golden light shone in front of her eyes and she felt dizzy. She stared at Nora's hand. She did not expect this woman in front of her, who looked soft and weak, to have such strength in one punch.

She was beaten until her head was dizzy. She stared at Nora. "What right do you have to beat up a colleague? This is illegal!" Almost as soon as she finished speaking, Nora punched her again, hitting her other cheek heavily!

After two punches, Elaine's cheeks were all red and bloody.

Nora stared at her. "You're deliberately interfering with the matters of the special department. It's a light punishment to be punched twice by me!"

Looking at her sharp and cold eyes, Elaine covered her face and retreated in fear. She shouted in a daze, "I don't know what you're talking about... This isn't over. I'm going to complain to the higher-ups!"

"I will also report to my superiors and see if they listen to you or me!"

Nora left these words angrily before leaving the incineration room with Joel.

Joel looked at Nora, who was walking in front of him angrily. The man was very calm. His eyes even shone with a fierce light. He slowly said, “Nora, don’t be angry. I originally wanted to do everything by the book, but since these people seem too keen to disregard the law, don’t blame me for not following it, either!”

The Smiths had always kept a low profile. To outsiders, they were always smiling. Therefore, people felt that the Smiths were easy to bully, right?

However, they did not know that... it would be easy for Quentin’s secret organization to save Tanya!

At most, he would settle down overseas with Tanya!

Anyway, Uncle Ian had found his biological daughter. He could temporarily handle everything regarding the Smiths in the country...

Just as he was thinking about it, he saw Nora, who had gotten into the car, suddenly turn around and look at him. The anger from earlier had disappeared completely and was back to its usual nonchalance.

She smiled. “Joel, don’t be rash. I know what to do about this.”

Her almond-shaped eyes shone with a strange light.

Joel: “?”

He narrowed his eyes and thought of how Nora had been acting very rashly ever since she found out about this.

He did not know much about medicine, so when he heard that Tanya had drugged Hillary, he really thought that it was poison. He did not think in the other direction, nor did he think about protecting the corpse. However, Nora understood. She still listened to Tanya explain the reason and allowed the lawyer to find out what had happened. Then, she seemed to have realized the need for the corpse and rushed over anxiously.

Thinking about it now, why did he feel like she was acting? Joel thought about it and said, “Then Tanya...” “Don’t worry.”

Nora only left two words before starting the car. She first took Joel to the Smiths before driving out again. She drove around the city twice and shook off the people following her before entering a villa in the suburbs.

As soon as she entered, Brenda said in a hoarse voice, “Sister-in-law, you’re here? Come and help me take a look. Which of these guys is more handsome? They all asked me out for dinner tonight, but I haven’t decided who to eat yet...”

Nora hesitated. “Who to eat?”

Brenda covered her mouth with her delicate fingers. “Oh, look at me. Why am I speaking my thoughts out loud?”

Nora: “...”

Brenda sat lazily on the sofa in front of her. Her long, fair legs were crossed, her short skirt just wrapped around her butt. She was so sexy that she looked like a stunner.

Her eyes were charming as she looked up. If not for the cold freezer beside her, everyone would have thought that she was about to have a beautiful date.

Nora ignored her and looked at the corpse in the freezer. Hillary was lying quietly inside. Her injuries were obvious and one could tell that she had experienced a lot of pain before she died.

Chapter 470 - How She Became Pregnant Back Then!!!

Actually, when Jill came to look for Tanya, Nora had already reported to the special department.

She suspected that Jill was related to that mysterious organization, so Brenda and Morris continued to pay attention to this case.

When Hillary was lying in the ward, the special department had already secretly gathered her blood samples and handed them to the special department's internal inspection department for comparison.

Nora looked like she did not care about this on the surface, but she was actually giving the other party a chance to relax.

After all, they were still unable to apprehend their opponents this time, let alone know who they were...

However, Hillary's death was indeed beyond Nora's expectations. Nora knew the moment Hillary died.

When the police came to the Smiths to arrest Tanya, she had really thought that the other party was coming for her with the intention of sending her to prison. At that time, she had already thought about making a trip to the police station and seeing what was going on.

But what she did not expect was... those people were targeting Tanya.

When Tanya was arrested, she sensed something was off and sent Brenda a message. After securing the evidence, she cooperated and began her performance.

Since the other party wanted to slander Tanya, they must have a backup plan... In that case, she would beat them at their own game and see what kind of conspiracy they were up to!

It was indeed Hillary's corpse that Elaine had sent into the crematorium. However, Brenda had been waiting inside for a long time and had secretly swapped the corpse.

Nora then rushed to the crematorium and made an angry scene. It was to let her hidden opponents think that Hillary had indeed been burned!

Nora looked at Hillary and asked, "Have you inspected her?"

Brenda tilted her head and said in a charming voice, "Isn't that your job? It was already very difficult for me to steal the body!"

Nora could not help but have goosebumps. Could this person speak more normally?

She put on her gloves and went to examine the body. Through the body, she could determine the last moments of the deceased's life.

—

Hillary woke up in pain in her daze.

The pain in her body made her curl her fingers uncontrollably. She wanted to open her eyes, but she could not. She knew she might die.

How could she be dying?

She suddenly remembered that after eating the pill that person had given her, her entire body suddenly felt hot as if it was going to burn. Before she fainted, that person had sneered and scolded, "Trash! You can't even handle this little medicine!"

Hillary wanted to reach out and grab her. She wanted to shout for the other party to save her. She even wanted to say, "Didn't you promise me? Why didn't you let me out?"

However, the other party said, “I only promised you that you would leave. I didn’t say whether you would leave alive or dead! You’re too useless!”

Then she fainted.

If she had not been injected with Benzoplatin, she might not have woken up.

However, now that she was awake, she could barely move her body. The pain in her body became more and more intense as if all the nerves in her body were expanding...

She screamed in pain. She felt like there were ants crawling over her. She scratched her skin and then her arm. Her entire body was covered in scratches, but they could not alleviate the pain under the skin!

She did not want to die. Even if it hurt, she did not want to die...

But death was getting closer and closer to her... until she slowly closed her eyes.

“Are you done?”

As Nora stood up straight, Brenda asked.

Nora nodded and briefly explained the situation of the corpse. “There are many scratches on her body. It should be neurological pain caused by Benzoplatin. It woke her up before she died. If Tanya had not injected her with a drug, she would have died without ever waking up.”

Brenda was surprised. “What was the cause of death?”

“She was poisoned, but it doesn’t seem like poison either.” Nora frowned. When Hillary was sent out, she had already taken her pulse. At that time, her pulse was very chaotic. Brenda asked, “So was it poison or not?”

Nora said, “I’ll get Lily to dissect the corpse and investigate properly. It will take time.”

Brenda hummed in boredom and took out her phone to take a look. Then, she looked up at Nora. “You hit Elaine?”

Nora replied casually, “Yeah.” Brenda tilted her head. “I don’t like her either, this person is too ugly. But weren’t you just acting? You clearly knew that the corpse was with me. You shouldn’t have been so angry that you wanted to hit her, right?”

Nora raised her eyebrows. “No... my hands were itchy.”

Brenda was speechless.

She twitched her lips and suddenly smiled. “You’re in big trouble!” Nora walked to the sink and asked while washing her hands, “Yes?”

Brenda stood up, her slender legs wearing a pair of red high heels. She walked slowly behind her and said, “Elaine has reported you to the higher-ups. She said that you beat up a colleague to vent your personal feelings.” Nora raised her eyebrows. “What else?”

Brenda smiled and said, “Of course, Captain Ford is protecting you. He said that you were just anxious. After all, our case is still confidential, and we can’t reveal the truth. However, Elaine is unwilling to let this go. She insisted on letting you be punished and making you apologize!”

Nora nodded and did not say anything else.

Brenda asked curiously, “What do you plan to do next? Before we expose the mastermind, we can’t clear Tanya’s name. Are we going to let her be detained first?”

“Of course not.”

Nora said firmly, “Mia will cry at home.”

Brenda blinked her beautiful eyes. “Then what do you plan to do?”

“What should we do?”

Nora suddenly smiled. “We’ll just mind our own business, of course.”
Brenda: “???”

That night, the special department came forward and accepted the murder case, saying that it was related to the case they were investigating

Then, the lawyer hired by the Smiths completed the bail procedures. Tanya was picked up that night and returned home safely.

Brenda sat in the car and looked at Nora, who was napping in the front passenger seat. She pursed her lips. “Is this what you meant by our business?”

Nora yawned. “Yes.”

Everything was going according to the plan. The bail procedures were all standard. No one could say anything!

Brenda’s lips twitched. “You’re really domineering.” They were clearly letting her go free! Then, she smiled. “But now, our Captain Ford is going to have a headache.”

The suspect in the murder case was released... To be precise, she was no longer a suspect. She had already been convicted. Morris was definitely under immense pressure.

However, Nora did not say anything. She continued to squint her eyes.

The special department could handle cases, but they could not let her friend suffer.

Tanya had been implicated because of them. Why should she go to jail for their sake? She yawned and looked at Brenda. “Take me home. Thank you.”

Brenda was speechless.

As she drove, she asked curiously, “When do you think the mastermind will make a move?”

Nora yawned again. “In two days! If we catch the mastermind, the truth will be out.”

Brenda: “...You’re really confident.”

Nora ignored her words. She was already leaning against the bed and falling asleep.

After Brenda took her to the Smiths, she realized that Justin was standing at the door, waiting for them. The car stopped and Brenda was about to wake Nora up when Justin suddenly made a shushing gesture.

Then, Brenda watched helplessly as Justin picked up the unconscious Nora and carried her upstairs slowly. Five minutes later, Justin walked down from upstairs. Brenda said, “Justin, you can’t really be a live-in son-in-law, right? When are you coming home?”

Justin’s dark eyes glanced at her, and the mole at the corner of his eye flickered. He did not answer and asked, “It’s so late. Where did you guys go?”

Brenda: “...Work.”

Work...

Justin knew that Brenda’s work was confidential, so he rarely asked about her work. However, when he saw Nora entangled with her today, he frowned. “What work?”

Brenda blinked and replied frivolously, “That... is our secret~ I can’t tell you!”

With that, she stood up and left.

When Nora woke up the next day, she casually picked up her phone and took a look. However, she suddenly realized that an unfamiliar number had sent her a message. “Do you want to know how you got pregnant back then? I can tell you the truth.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 471 - The Truth?

How did she get pregnant...

This had always been a mystery! Although Justin had once lied to her and said that she had taken the initiative to force him... Nora did not believe him.

She was just too lazy to expose that man.

After all, she was very confident in herself. She was sure that she would not lose such an important memory! Furthermore, she had investigated the recording of that day and she had indeed not left the house.

They originally thought that someone had entered their house... but Justin did not have any memories of this either.

It seemed like both of them had been schemed against.

But why was she plotted against into having a child?

She was silent for a moment before replying: "Tell me the truth."

The other party replied very quickly, but the content stunned Nora. "You just woke up?"

This familiar and intimate tone!

She narrowed her eyes slightly and stared at her phone. The other party seemed to have sensed that something was wrong, so another message followed quickly: "I waited a long time for your reply."

Nora: "..."

The other party seemed to hesitate. "What do you mean by '...'?" Nora: "..."

Was this person looking for her to chat?

The other party did not understand the way the Americans chatted. The other party did not seem to be American?

At this thought, she replied: "Speak."

The other party: "I can't tell you for just like that. How about this? Promise me one thing and I'll tell you." Nora: "?"

The other party: "Americans are really strange. Why do you people always use punctuation to express your thoughts? Forget it. My condition is that as long as you join our organization, I will tell you the truth."

Nora: "..."

Was this person a clown sent by a monkey? Her eyes turned cold as she replied: "I'm not interested."

The other party: "So you want your friend to go to jail?"

Nora stared at the words on her phone and sneered. Her slender fingers tapped on the screen a few more times before replying, "The word compromise does not exist in my dictionary."

The other party: "It's not a compromise. I just admire you very much. After all, you're the world's number one surgeon. Of course, if you join our organization, other than telling you the truth, I can also help you become stronger."

Nora: "?"

She ignored this message and sent a text to Morris: "Have you found out?"

The moment she saw the other party's message, the special department had already begun investigating the cell phone number.

Morris replied: "...I can't find anything. It's a ghost account. The message was passed through several networks before it reached you, and our people can't track it.”

Nora: “...”

How troublesome. The Special Case Department? They could not do a single thing?

She turned on her computer and prepared to do it herself.

She sent another message: “Why do you think you're stronger than us?”.

The other party: “You don't have to worry about tracking me. With the level of those hackers in the country, you won't be able to find anything unless it's Q or Y from the Hacker Alliance. But forget it. Why am I telling you this? You probably don't know about the Hacker Alliance, right?”.

Nora chuckled softly. “Oh? What's the Hacker Alliance?”

As she replied, she captured the signal!

Actually, the messages were very well hidden to be tracked with just a few messages. Even Nora could not capture it through one or two messages.

Therefore, she had been trying to chat with him.

Otherwise, she would not have wasted this time!

A new tracker appeared on the computer. It was the other party sending her another message: “You don't have to worry about this. You just need to know that if you join us, you can choose any industry at will and reach the top!”

The best in any industry...

She narrowed her eyes.

Was this organization really that powerful?

It was no wonder they had attracted so many people! Morris's special department had been established for many years, but they had not been caught... They were indeed a thorny existence.

She was about to continue fishing for information when the other party suddenly sent another message. [The special department is investigating me? Do you think I will be found out just because you hired Y or Q? I have hackers who are comparable to Q and Y! No matter how good the kids from the special department are, they can't compare to me!)

[Also, how did they know that I contacted you? Did you tip them off?]
[Haha, Nora, for your mother's sake, I originally planned to have a good chat with you. But now, it seems like you really want to do this the hard way!)

“Since that's the case, let's start with your friend! I can tell you clearly that there's another reason for Hillary's death. Unfortunately, I won't give you the evidence, and since Hillary's corpse has already been incinerated, you guys won't be able to find any evidence. I'll let you see your friend go to jail with your own eyes! This can be considered an appetizer for you for not appreciating my kindness!”

Four messages were sent in succession. However, Nora did not look at the content of the messages. She kept following and tracking them!

Unfortunately, the tracking was suddenly intercepted. The other party should also be some expert hacker...

Nora wanted to compete and find out the other party's location. However, she did not expect the other party's signal to suddenly disappear.

He was running away without fighting!

Nora frowned. At this moment, Morris called. His voice was very calm. “The signal suddenly disappeared.”

Nora nodded and continued, “The other party sensed it and has already threatened me.”

Morris was surprised. “What threat?”

Nora said, “He wants to send Tanya to prison.”

Morris asked, “What should we do now?”

Nora sighed. “I was hiding the reason for Hillary’s death to lure the snake out of its hole. Now that he’s out, there’s nothing to hide! Of course, it’s to clear my friend’s name!”

Morris agreed to this suggestion, but he seemed a little disappointed. “It’s a pity we couldn’t find their location.”

“What’s a pity?”

Nora suddenly smiled. “I found it.”

Morris was shocked. “You found it? How did you do it? Where is it?” Nora touched the tip of her nose. “Yes, I got a hacker friend to help. I’ll send you the exact location. You guys go and arrest them immediately.”

“Okay.”

Morris had just finished speaking and was about to say something when a chaotic sound came from the other end.

Nora only vaguely heard Morris say, “Wait a minute.” Then, his voice became clearer. “Miss Smith, they’re really fast.”

Nora was taken aback. “What’s the matter?”

“Hillary’s death caused a sensation on the Internet. Everyone is now calling for the arrest of the murderer!”

Chapter 472 - Flip The Case!!

Nora smiled. "Internet?"

"Yes," Morris said. "But there are also some people who are scolding the dead. They say that she must be severely punished for stealing a child. She deserved to die! As a mother, Tanya was right. Please show mercy!" Back then, in order to snatch the child, Hillary had caused an uproar on the Internet.

Now, she had suffered a backlash again.

Even if the netizens did not know the truth and really thought that Tanya had killed her, they would feel that she deserved to die.

The online consensus toward Hillary was not that great!

Nora lowered her eyes and smiled. "Okay, then let's reveal the truth!"

"Okay."

Nora was about to hang up when the other party suddenly said, "About that..."

Nora paused. "Yes?"

The other party said, "Come to the department. First, you need to check the corpse and take a look at the blood report. Secondly... Elaine has been complaining about you."

"Tsk."

Nora said, "You want me to see her make a fool of herself?"

"..." Morris was silent for a moment before saying, "Elaine can be considered a colleague. Unfortunately, she made a huge mistake in this case. Don't you want to know what's going to happen to her?"

"...I really do."

After all, she liked to see others get slapped in the face. Nora smiled.
"Alright, I'll come over now."

After hanging up, Morris sent her an address. It was an office building in New York.

Nora ate some food and was about to leave when she saw Tanya sitting on the living room sofa, playing with Mia.

Tanya was on bail now, so she applied for leave instead of going to school. She also applied for leave for Mia. The two of them could build a relationship at home.

When she saw her, Nora suddenly thought of something. She stood up and went upstairs. When she came downstairs again, she was holding a box of labeled ointment in her hand. "Here."

Tanya took it. "This is?"

"Medicine for treating scars."

When Tanya heard this, she was silent for a moment before taking the ointment and saying to her, "Thank you."

It was very embarrassing for a girl to have a big scar on her private parts. Fortunately, Mia was still young and could be saved.

This box of ointment had been for Cherry when she was young. She had been naughty and accidentally cut her leg, leaving a scar. Nora had developed medicine to remove the scar. Cherry was fine after applying it for a month.

Although it was not packaged, it was filled with expensive herbs.

Tanya naturally trusted her medical skills.

Nora waved his hand. “You’re welcome.”

With that, she touched Mia’s head and left.

However, as soon as she went out, she saw Jill standing outside the Smiths’ house with the reporters. She was holding a sign in her hand with a few words written on it: “Murderers will die a horrible death! May the court judge Tanya!”

The other reporters held their cameras.

The reporters’ values were still correct. After Nora went out, they immediately surrounded her.

“Miss Smith, are the Smiths really protecting Ms. Tanya?”

“Although Ms. Tanya’s murder is pardonable, she is not a symbol of justice. It is wrong to kill someone in private. If the Smiths adhere to the law, they should send Ms. Tanya to court. I believe they will give a fair judgment! She will not be bailed out like this!”

“Is it legal for you to bail Ms. Tanya out now?”

III

Amidst all kinds of questions, Nora turned back and looked at the Smiths.

Although the butler could stop them and prevent them from entering and could even call the police to say that they were disturbing the residents, this would make the Smiths seem like they were bullying others.

Her eyes turned and she suddenly smiled. “Of course, it’s legal.”

“Impossible!” a reporter said. “Ms. Tanya’s case has complete evidence. She’s not allowed to be bailed out!”

Jill roared, “Yes, you’re clearly using the Smiths’ power to bail her out and plan to smuggle her out of the country! Don’t think I don’t know! I won’t let you succeed!”

The others also said, “That’s right. How could they have bailed her out?”.

Nora did not look at Jill, who had aged 10 years in a single day. Instead, she looked at the reporters and raised her eyebrows. “Since you don’t trust me so much, why don’t we go to the police station to take a look? I’ll get the Smiths to prepare a car and take everyone there.”

When the reporters heard this, they looked at each other and finally nodded in unison. “Then let’s go take a look!”

Nora nodded and instructed the butler behind her.

Jill shouted, “You can’t go to the police station. You have to wait here with me. Let Tanya turn herself in! Go and get sentenced! You...”

Unfortunately, the reporters had received benefits from the Smiths previously. In their hearts, the Smiths were reasonable and a good family. This time, going to the police station to check the bail procedures was also an important report, so everyone ignored her. In the end, the Smiths’ butler arranged a few cars and took this group of reporters and Nora to the police station beside the special department.

The special department in New York was located in an office building. At first glance, it looked like a company.

Right next to it was a police station.

Elaine was a government doctor and belonged to their system. Therefore, her complaints were registered in the police station.

Nora had just gotten out of the car when she happened to see Elaine driving over. Her face was still swollen, and she looked very funny and ugly.

The teeth in her mouth had fallen off, blurring her words.

However, she saw the reporters behind Nora and heard the reporters questioning her. “Will they really show us her bail documents?” “Is Ms. Tanya’s bail really legal?”

Elaine narrowed her eyes and suddenly took a step forward. She said to Nora, “Miss Smith! You came at the right time! I’m here to complain about you today! I know that you’re on a different mission from me, and your position is higher than mine! But does a high position allow you to beat up your colleagues at will?”

At this point, she lowered her head and looked like she was about to cry. “I know you’re unhappy that your best friend has been arrested and has become a murderer. But I’m an upright forensic doctor. Hillary’s death is under my jurisdiction. Just because I showed evidence that is unfavorable to Ms. Tanya, are you going to take revenge on me?!”

As soon as she said this, the surrounding reporters immediately captured the information in her words.

The reporters looked at Elaine and held microphones in front of her. They asked, “Madam, may I know what’s going on?”

“How did Miss Smith become your colleague?”

“Why did she beat you up?”

Elaine wiped her tears and looked up at Nora. “Miss Smith is a famous surgeon both domestically and overseas. She’s...”

The special department was a mysterious existence and was not publicly known.

Elaine paused for a moment before saying, “She was hired as a forensic doctor by our higher department. She used this privilege yesterday to transfer Ms. Tanya’s case from our police station. Ms. Tanya had already confessed and was waiting for her sentence. I didn’t expect that after she was transferred to Miss Smith’s department, she would actually be bailed out!”

She said aggrievedly, “This is a case that I’m handling. I definitely won’t allow anyone to escape the law! Therefore, I came here today to get Miss Smith to withdraw from this case and return this case to us! I'll make sure Ms. Tanya receives the normal sanctions of the law!"

She was wearing a uniform, and her words were very trustworthy.

Furthermore, Tanya's bail was indeed abnormal. Coupled with Elaine's swollen face and the content of her complaint...

The reporters instantly believed her.

They started to attack Nora again.

"Miss Smith, is this the truth you want to show us?"

"You're hired as a forensic doctor, so you can use your authority to suppress others? I object!" Nora stood in front quietly. Before she could say anything, her phone vibrated. Two messages were sent over. It was still that mysterious number.

[Miss Smith, is it fun?]

(If you want to overturn the case, you can only beg me. If you call me master, I'll help you. How about that?)

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 473 - Ms. Tanya Is Not A Suspect!

Master?

Was there something wrong with this person's mind?

Nora sneered. Her slender fingers tapped on the keyboard. "Call you what?"

The other party: "Master."

Nora: "Good boy~"

After sending this message, her phone exploded. The other party had sent several consecutive messages:

[I'm not calling you Master. I'm asking you to call me Master!]

[You're doing this on purpose. You're taking advantage of me!] (Heh, you still say she's your best friend? I think you don't care about her life or death at all! In that case, let your best friend go to jail! Not only your best friend, but everyone related to you will suffer!)

(I want everyone around you to die!)

The last message made Nora's pupils shrink suddenly.

She suddenly clenched her fists.

Since the other party knew how she had gotten pregnant, it meant that they had orchestrated the whole thing!

Then they probably also knew that she had two children and that Justin was the child's father...

The words “everyone around you will die” made her anger rise. Her pretty face was cold as she typed word by word: “If anyone beside me loses a single hair, I will make your organization barren!”

After sending the message, the other party seemed to be frightened by her tone and did not reply for a moment.

However, Elaine was already fuming in front of her. “Miss Smith, is this your attitude when we talk to you? You keep playing with your phone and ignore us? Why? You’ve entered... the department and become a leader. Your priorities are higher than ours. Am I not worthy of talking to you?”

Nora then put down her phone. She looked up and said calmly, “Why are you still so noisy if you know that?”

Elaine: “?”

She was stunned. She did not expect Nora to be so arrogant in front of her reporter friends!

She said angrily, “People are not divided into levels. Even if your position is higher than mine, you’re too much! Furthermore, I’m about to apply to join you. When the time comes, we’ll be colleagues of the same level... No, according to my qualifications, I’ll be ranked higher than you. Why are you so arrogant?”

Nora looked at her in surprise. “If people don’t differentiate between levels, why do you care so much about it?”

Elaine: “!”

Nora raised her almond-shaped eyes slightly and said again, “Also, I’m not looking down on you. I just... don’t want to talk to you.”

Elaine: “...”

This woman spoke very little, but every now and then, she would say something that would make one choke to death!

She said angrily, “I came here today to complain about you. What kind of attitude is this? Wait and see! I’ll look for your leader now!”

Nora turned her body away. Her posture was still calm. “Oh, do as you please.” Elaine: “!”

At this moment, knowing that Nora was here, Morris welcomed her personally. Dressed in a black jacket, it accentuated his narrow waist and long legs. He was tall and straight like a pine, making him look righteous. When he saw so many reporters at the door, he frowned and looked at the person beside him in dissatisfaction. “This is a heavily-guarded place. How can outsiders make a racket here?!” The security guards immediately understood and stopped the reporters. When Elaine saw this, she immediately said loudly, “Captain Ford, what’s the meaning of this? Our reporter friends are only here to seek justice. Is there anything we can’t announce to the public?”

Morris immediately glanced at her.

Elaine choked in fear. However, when she thought of her motive for coming here today, as well as the faint pain on her face that was still there until now, and the pain in her mouth because her teeth had dropped and were swelling up, she instantly shouted, “Captain Ford, you have to get Miss Smith to give me an explanation! I’m handling the case normally here, but she suddenly rushed over. I wanted to check if there was anything wrong with her identification documents. Besides, I only delayed her for a few seconds. Who asked her to come so late? Even if I gave in back then, it was too late! It was clearly her own mistake, but she still vented her anger on me!”

There was such a thing?

When the reporters heard this, they immediately picked up their cameras and snapped photos. Someone even asked, “Sir, may I know what’s going on?”

Elaine turned back to look at them. “Now that things have come to this, I’m also very angry, so I won’t help her hide it. Because the suspect is her friend, she used her authority to snatch the case away from our department and forcefully took the person away! This is really wrong! Captain Ford, Miss Smith is an external forensic doctor. Did you not tell her the rules of our system?”

Morris’s expression instantly darkened.

He narrowed his eyes and slowly said, “Doctor Elaine, this case involves our department. Our department’s nature is confidential to outsiders. I think it’s because you don’t know the rules, right?”

Elaine’s heart sank when she heard this.

The worst-case scenario had indeed happened.

Morris had always been a protective person. Even if someone in his department made a mistake, as long as it was not a matter of principle, he would help them bear it. Now, he even protected Nora?

Indescribable jealousy welled up in her!

She looked at Morris and shouted, “Captain Ford, I know you’re protective of your team, but even so, are you going to protect someone who secretly let a suspect go?”

A reporter took the lead and shouted, “That’s right. Do you always let murderers be released?”

Morris looked at the reporters sharply. “Please watch your words. Ms. Tanya is not a suspect anymore!”

Chapter 474 - I Want To Bicker With You!

The reporters were stunned. “What?”

Elaine also frowned and became a little flustered. She swallowed her saliva. “Captain Ford, y-you’re actually talking nonsense in order to protect your own people? This case was solved by our team. I participated in the treatment and autopsy of the deceased the entire time. It was clearly Tanya who poisoned her and caused her death! This is our team’s verdict. What do you mean she’s not a suspect.

Morris frowned and looked at her. “The case has been handed over to us, so we’re in charge. I don’t need to report to you.”

With that, he looked at the reporters. “I don’t need to report anything to you. However, in order to clear Ms. Tanya’s name, I will explain and clarify!

We’re arresting a major criminal, and Hillary’s sudden illness in prison was caused by that person!

Hillary’s true cause of death was not the drug Ms. Tanya used!”

These words were spoken forcefully. Although there was no concrete evidence, the reporters were already shocked by Morris’s masculinity. No one dared to doubt such a fair man.

The reporters did not dare to say anything.

Elaine bit her lip.

This case had been solved very quickly. Because of this, she had been praised by the team and had even gained a lot of experience.

She could only apply to join the special department because of this qualification, but now, Morris was saying that he wanted to overturn this case?!

She did not dare to go head-to-head with Morris, so she expressed her surprise. “Captain Ford, are you mistaken? I was the one who wrote the autopsy report. She was only sick previously because of her spleen and stomach issues, which led to endocrine disorder! When she was unconscious, all her bodily functions were normal! How could she have suddenly died? You can’t just say whatever you want here. It’s wrong to accuse me of writing a wrong autopsy report!” Anyway, the body had already been burned. It was impossible for these people to get any evidence.

We

Elaine wanted to insist that her autopsy report was correct. Otherwise, she would have been severely negligent!

After saying this, she looked at Nora and sighed. “Miss Smith, Captain Ford’s conclusion was given by you, right? But you’re a modern medicine doctor. It’s understandable that you couldn’t find out the reason for Hillary’s coma back then. But you can’t pretend to know something you don’t understand and spout nonsense here!”

Nora raised her eyebrows and looked at her. Before she could say anything, Morris rushed to scold her. “I never speak nonsense! The reason I said this is because I have evidence! Hillary was injected with a new drug!”

Evidence...

Elaine swallowed.

Only then did she suddenly realize that Nora stopping her from burning the corpse might really have been a request from the special department! In that case, did she really delay the important matters of the special department? But even so, she could not admit it now!

She frowned. “What new drug? When Hillary was sent to the hospital, I did a full body checkup for her. This new drug doesn’t exist at all. Her blood sample was normal!”

When Nora heard this, she thought of the situation that Lily had investigated and slowly said, “The drug doesn’t produce any external effects when injected into the body. The equipment can barely detect it, either, but it will slowly take effect. It can cause a person to die suddenly in three to four days!”

Tanya had injected a psychotic drug and caused Hillary to act up in advance. However, that was definitely not the reason for her death! When Elaine heard this, she felt even more guilty. However, she still braced herself and said, “How can you prove what you said? I have reason to suspect that you’re talking nonsense. How could there be such drugs! I’ve never even heard of it!”

“Oh.” Nora smiled faintly. “Then you must be quite dumb.”

Elaine: “...”

She was furious. “Miss Smith, I suspect that you’re fabricating a reason! You said that the drug in her body will only act up in three to four days, but now that the corpse is gone, how can you prove it?”.

After saying that, she looked at Nora proudly.

As long as the body was gone, this case would be locked. There was no way to turn the tables!

If she insisted on it, she could even continue to complain to the higher-ups that the special department was using their power to vent their personal desires!

When the higher-ups blamed her, Captain Ford could only fire Nora, who was an external forensic doctor. Elaine herself could also take advantage of this wave of popularity to increase her qualifications and enter the special department.

Just as Elaine thought about this, she heard Nora say with a faint smile, “Who said that the corpse is gone?”

Elaine was stunned. “What do you mean?”

“It means that... the corpse is lying in the autopsy room of our special department,” Nora said lazily. “If you don’t believe me, Captain Ford can take you in for a walk?” Elaine: “!!!”

She recalled that day. In order to quickly close the case, she had personally supervised the cremation.

And because her corpse had already been burned, Nora even beat her up angrily!

But it turned out... the corpse had not been burned at all!

Nora was acting that day!

She had even beaten her up...

Anger surged in Elaine’s heart. “You stole the body?”

me

“What do you mean by stealing? If you don’t know how to talk, you should shut up. Can a corpse transferred away by the special department be considered stealing?” Brenda walked out of the special department in her beautiful seven-centimeter high heels.

Her wavy hair was spread out behind her, her dress red and beautiful. When she walked, her waist twisted and turned, bringing with it her own charm.

Amorous. The word described her perfectly.

When she saw Brenda, Elaine’s eyes instantly revealed fear. She took a step back and knew that she had offended the wrong person this time!

However, she could not admit her fault. Therefore, Elaine patted her head immediately. “So this case really involves your secret department! But Captain Ford, Captain Brenda, why didn’t you say so earlier? If you had said so earlier, I wouldn’t have made this mistake! Also, when the deceased was sent to the hospital, I did a full body checkup. She was indeed in a coma because her body was out of tune. I never expected it to be like this!”

She sighed. “This is all a misunderstanding. In that case, I won’t bicker with you. After all, you didn’t do it on purpose.”

With that, she turned to leave.

After all, the corpse had not been burned. They must have already obtained evidence! She could not hide her thoughts anymore. Now, she could only confirm that she had been careless and not talk about anything else.

She had to get away from here as soon as possible. As for the matter of her being beaten... She gritted her teeth. She knew that she would not be able to take revenge today, but it was never too late to take revenge! When she found an opportunity, she would make Nora pay!

Elaine quickly analyzed the pros and cons and made the right choice. She turned around and was about to leave when Nora said, “Wait a minute.”

Elaine turned around and heard the girl say in a relaxed voice, “If you don’t want to bicker with me, I’ll bicker with you.”

Chapter 475 - I Got You!

Elaine stopped in her tracks. As she cursed in her heart, she tried hard to squeeze out a smile. She turned back and looked at Nora. She smiled and said, “That’s true. I was wrong this time. If you hadn’t taken the corpse in time, I’m afraid, I would have really destroyed the evidence! It’s my mistake. I was wrong. Captain Ford, when I go back, I will submit a report for inspection. Is that okay?”

She was indeed a smart person.

Nora curled her lips disdainfully.

A mistake at work should not have been aggressive, but the nature of Elaine’s mistake was too evil. She must have not found out the real cause of Hillary’s death back then and wanted to hide the fact that she had not been treating her well. That was why she had pushed all the blame onto Tanya!

How could she forgive such a person?!

Nora did not wait for Morris to speak and said, “Can it really be just as simple as losing your job?”

Elaine had already scolded Nora’s ancestors in her heart, but she still looked apologetic. She smiled bitterly and said, “My medical skills are not good enough. I couldn’t tell.”

“It’s not that you’re not good at medicine.”

Nora suddenly spoke.

Elaine heaved a sigh of relief. She felt that the other party was still sensible and knew to give her some face. She was about to smile and agree when she heard Nora’s next words. “You have a bad character.”

Elaine: “!?!”

She suddenly looked at Nora. “Miss Smith, I don’t understand what you mean. My character is bad because I made a mistake? Can you guarantee that all the other autopsy reports have been perfect? Have there been no misjudgments since ancient times?!”

“I can’t.”

Nora replied calmly, “But it was a deliberate misjudgment.”

Elaine narrowed her eyes. “I don’t know what you’re talking about!”

“Then we’ll be more direct.” Nora glanced at Brenda after saying that.

Brenda: “...”

Alright, since her sister-in-law did not want to talk, it was her turn. She coughed lightly and said, “You were eager to close the case and seek benefits!”

Elaine bit her lip. “I admit that I wanted to close the case, but I won’t admit that I was anxious for credit! I made a mistake in this case, but I didn’t do it on purpose!” “Oh?”

Brenda tilted her head. “Then why did you want to burn the corpse as soon as possible?”

Elaine: “...Because, because it’s summer now, I was worried that the corpse would start rotting!”

Brenda laughed. “There are freezers in the morgue.”

Elaine swallowed again. “But Ms. Tanya had already confessed. This case could have been closed. Why would I still keep the corpse?”

“You’re wrong.”

Brenda’s gaze suddenly became sharp. “The case had never been solved. You’re no longer neglecting your duty. You’re profaning your position! You used your identity to dispose of the corpse so that we wouldn't find anything unusual!"

Elaine still wanted to say something when Brenda suddenly smiled. "Of course, this might not be because of your selfishness. There's another possibility."

Elaine heaved a sigh of relief. "What possibility?"

"Maybe you're in cahoots with the person who poisoned Hillary Jones!" With that, Brenda suddenly covered her mouth and pretended to be surprised. "Ah, I didn't expect you to be a spy for the other party, Elaine."

With that, she looked at Morris. "Captain Ford, shouldn't such a person be arrested quickly and interrogated properly? She's too suspicious!" When Morris heard this, he looked at Elaine cooperatively.

Elaine: "!"

The cases that the Special Case Departments handled were all major cases. In fact, Morris had the right to capture her first and report later! And criminals who could be arrested by him could be interrogated using special methods. It was completely different from other departments.

The moment Elaine thought of the Special Investigation Department, she instantly shuddered and shouted, "I didn't!"

Brenda stared at her, still smiling. "Then how do you explain why you were in such a hurry to burn the evidence?"

How could she explain...

Elaine knew what was important!

Of course, it was to seek benefits!

At least that would save her life!

Elaine was forced to admit her mistake. "...I was wrong! I couldn't find the cause of Hillary Jones' illness when I was treating her. In the end, she died. I didn't want to be accused of having poor medical skills. Coincidentally, Ms. Tanya had given her a hallucinogen, so I pushed all the blame to her! I was anxious to burn the corpse because I was afraid that Miss Smith would discover something!"

The reporters below were in an uproar.

At this moment, the truth was out.

Everyone aimed their cameras at Elaine and took photos. Brenda took the opportunity to smile. "Dear reporter friends, you can report her for defamation, but don't report anything on our department – We're the confidentiality department. If we appear in your reports, I'll... find all of you for a date and tea."

When she said this, her tone was ambiguous, but everyone understood the threat in her words.

Therefore, all the reporters promised, "No, no, we will only clear Ms. Tanya's name. We will not report your department's case!"

"That's good. You guys are really a bunch of cuties."

Brenda's gaze landed on the handsome photographer in the first row. Then, she quickly looked away and at Elaine without any reluctance. "And you, do you know what to do?"

Elaine: "...What do I do?"

Brenda: "Omg, why are you so stupid? How can you have a boyfriend like this? You've already admitted your mistake. Why don't you hurry up and write a report? Then wait for the higher-ups to handle this!"

This handling... was at least a suspension!

Elaine clenched her fists in anger. In the end, she could only nod. She gritted her teeth and looked at Nora. "Okay, I'll write a report!"

After the reporters and Elaine left in a hurry, Nora took out her phone and took a look. Her last message to the other party was: “If anyone beside me loses a single hair, I will make your organization barren!”

After a minute, the other party sent her another message.

[I’ve investigated what it means to be barren, but there’s no grass where our organization is!)

Nora: “??”

Was there something wrong with this person’s brain?

As she was thinking, the other party sent another message. (You didn’t burn the corpse. I finally understand. You’ve been scheming against me all along! You were waiting for me to contact you and then seize the opportunity to arrest me! Unfortunately, I have many people protecting me. You can’t catch me!)

Nora narrowed her eyes and typed a reply: “I’ve already caught you.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 476 - Frightening You~

In a luxury hotel in New York.

A tall, slender, and thin figure sat there. Only his chin and lips were visible. His rosy lips looked a little bewitching. The corners of his lips were curled upward slightly, revealing a row of white teeth. His smile was as evil and charming as a little devil's.

When he saw the words "I've caught you", his smile suddenly froze. He stood up abruptly and immediately said anxiously to the people on either side of him, "Quick, their men are here! Withdraw at once!"

Everyone immediately packed their things. After gathering their little luggage with them, the group walked out with great momentum.

But as soon as he reached the door, he suddenly stopped. Then, he slipped over to the window and looked down. After observing carefully, he suddenly broke into a grin and cursed angrily, "Shit! I almost got fooled by that woman again!"

He paced back and forth in the room angrily while cursing under his breath. "How insidious! Cunning! Wily! Sly! ..."

After using those four terms, he seemingly couldn't think of any more suitable words. After racking his brains, at last, he cursed angrily, "How clever! Smart! And alert! I absolutely have to turn her into my servant!"

The people standing around protecting him were speechless.

They really wished they could remind their little master that words like "smart", "clever", and "alert" were compliments...

But when they saw how angry he was, they wisely decided to shut up.

Brenda leaned over and glanced at Nora's phone. "Who are you texting? Surely you didn't find yourself another handsome guy behind my cousin's back? Nora, you mustn't do something so uncool!"

Nora: "?"

She was about to say that she hadn't when Brenda said, "Good things have to be shared. You mustn't keep the handsome guy all to yourself if you've found one. Remember to share him with me."

Nora: "..."

As it turned out, the Hunts had such powerful genes. No wonder Cherry was so obsessive about good-looking people. Those genes definitely didn't come from her, nope.

Nora handed her the phone.

Brenda was puzzled when she saw the messages. "Didn't we already check the address you gave us, Nora? It's a large international hotel. There are foreign guests traveling to and from the country staying there. We have already checked the place out. More than 100 people checked in yesterday. We could only lock on to those 100 or so people and investigate them one by one, but we didn't catch anyone at all!"

"... Oh, I was just trying to scare him."

It was that idiot's fault for talking to her like that every day.

Brenda: "..."

Nora added, "Besides, it may just trick him into appearing."

Brenda raised her eyebrows. However, she understood what Nora meant the next moment. "If I were him, then I would definitely panic and want to withdraw immediately after seeing the message. In that case... whoever evacuates in a panic at this point would be who we're looking for!"

Nora nodded. "Yeah. It all depends on whether he falls for it or not."

For some reason, the person texting her gave Nora the feeling that he was some kind of funny idiot. The messages he sent made her feel as if he was pure and innocent, yet also evil and demonic.

He was just like an unworldly little demon king who had innocently come to the human world to play. In a moment of pure curiosity, he had casually killed a few people. In his world, there was no good or bad, or right or wrong. To him, the only concept he had was whether something was fun or not...

Otherwise, why would a normal person talk about making someone their servant or being someone's master? He was so childish that it was laughable.

Brenda and Morris immediately contacted the undercover officers who had surrounded the hotel, and told them to observe the place. In the end, the conclusion they came to was...

Brenda said, "A few guests happened to be checking out of their rooms. Our men are currently following them, but from how they look, they don't seem to be the ones we're looking for."

"That's normal, too." Nora said, "He must already have his guard up since the first time I tricked him. This shows that his brain is at least functioning normally."

Brenda and Morris: "..."

"But," Nora's lips curled upward slightly as she said, "It's worth all the effort if it scares him."

Brenda stepped forward and put her arm around her shoulders. "Nora, when I first saw you, I thought you were a cold and well-behaved girl. From how it looks like now, though, it seems that there are also times where I misjudge!"

Which part of her was well-behaved? She was clearly mean and arrogant!

She was merely wearing sheep's clothing that made people think she was well-behaved, that's all! It was all her almond-shaped eyes' fault!

Nora yawned and ignored her. Instead, she looked at Morris. "Let's go to the hotel and have a look?"

Morris nodded. "My thoughts exactly."

The two of them walked toward their respective cars. Brenda went after Nora and got into her car. "I wanna go too- After all, being in the company of a handsome guy like Captain Ford is a very enjoyable experience!"

They had only met a few times, but Nora had already become immune to whatever she said. She ignored her completely and started the car.

The car quickly arrived at the Grand Hotel Venice.

Grand Hotel Venice was one of the few rare six-star hotels in New York. Those who stayed here were all either rich or noble. Some foreign businessmen also stayed there.

The hotel lobby was luxuriously decorated. The leather sofas in the lounge area were of very good quality.

After the three of them arrived, Brenda went to handle check-in procedures for a room. She said along the way, "The best way to monitor him is to infiltrate the enemy's ranks! I shall stay here for the next few days!"

Then, she looked at Morris and raised her eyebrows. "Captain Ford, will I be reimbursed for the expenses?"

Morris: "..."

He said hesitantly, "It's very dangerous for a woman to stay here by herself. How about..."

"That's... not quite a good idea, is it?" Brenda suddenly said shyly, "Is Captain Ford thinking of staying here with me? But that would make us a couple staying together..."

The corners of Morris' lips spasmed. He couldn't help but keep feeling like Captain Brenda was a little unreliable. He said, "You've misunderstood, Captain Brenda. What I mean is, I'll be the one staying here instead."

Brenda looked at him. Her beautiful eyes blinked, and then she smiled and said, "You're thinking of enjoying life here on the pretext of working, aren't you? I won't be fooled! You have two choices-either we stay here together, or I stay here by myself~"

"... You can stay here, then."

Nora did not consider staying in the hotel at all. She merely took out her cell phone-sure enough, the person without a phone number had sent her another text message: 'Thinking of tricking me? No way! Heh heh.'

Nora replied: "I wasn't tricking you. I'm in the hotel lobby right now. Do you dare to come down here?"

After sending the message, she provoked him again:

"Oh, I forgot. You are just someone unfit to be seen in public, so how would you possibly dare to come and meet me, right?"

In a room upstairs.

"Shit!" The man was infuriated. He walked straight to the door and said to his subordinates in bad English, "She's provoking me! But I have to go down because I am not a coward! I'm going to catch her, bring her up here, and make her kneel down and beg me for mercy!!"

Chapter 477 - I'M Q

When the men heard him, they panicked and stopped him. “Sir, you can’t-“

But before he could finish, the man pushed him aside. “Step aside and let me out! I’m not going to let that little fatty look down on me today!”

The men weren’t as strong as him, so he broke free easily. He walked toward the elevator hall outside.

At the sight, the men looked at one another and suddenly said, “It seems like we can only rely on the old method again.”

—

Nora waited for a while after she sent the message.

The other party’s thoughts were very pure like a child’s. Although he had a high IQ, provocation might still work on him. Unexpectedly, though, not only did he not come down, but he did not even reply to the message. In the midst of her hesitation, a familiar figure suddenly walked out of the hotel’s elevator hall.

Nora was a little taken aback to see him.

It seemed like the other party had also spotted her. His eyes lit up and he walked over. While walking over, he held a handkerchief over his mouth and coughed a few times.

Seemingly having coughed up something, he glanced at the handkerchief. Then, he folded it and placed it in his pocket. He walked over with a gentle smile and said, “I wasn’t expecting to see you here, Ms. Smith.”

Nora was taken aback. “Mr. Gray?”

The person in front of her was none other than Anthony Gray's uncle, Caleb Gray!

Nora narrowed her eyes and looked around. She asked, "What are you doing here?"

Caleb coughed again and said, "I have a client here... I'm here to discuss a business deal with him about herb purchase. Cough, cough, cough... It's been a long while since I last saw you, Ms. Smith, but you are still as radiant as ever. What are you doing here, though?" Before Nora could speak, Brenda suddenly rushed in between the two of them. After looking left and right, she patted Nora on the shoulder and said, "Hey, how sneaky of you, Nora!"

But before she could finish, Nora said, "This is my ex-fiance's uncle."

The rest of Brenda's words were pushed back down her throat.

Caleb coughed another couple of times and smiled. His rich and mellow voice was very pleasant. "That makes me sad, Ms. Smith. Aren't we friends?"

He thought that she was being too distant while introducing him just now. Nora thought for a moment. The two of them had talked quite a few times by now, so she nodded and replied, "I guess we are."

Caleb sighed and shook his head dotingly. "You sound a little too much like you're forcing yourself to say that."

Nora smiled. Suddenly, she said, "If this was a text, my response would probably be a series of ellipses right now."

Caleb held his forehead and said, "Am I rendering you so speechless that you don't want to talk to me anymore, Ms. Smith?"

Nora stared into his eyes. When she saw that he looked normal and comfortable when he said that, she smiled and replied, "Not at all."

Caleb seemed like he wanted to talk to her a little more, but after checking the time, he said, “I wanted to invite you for a meal to thank you for your help with my pharmaceutical company’s registration the other time, but I have a business meeting later, so... next time?”

Nora stepped aside. “Let’s do that next time.”

Caleb walked past her. The man was wearing a black suit. He was already 29 years old after all, so he looked exceptionally mature and gentle. Nora was staring at him from behind when Brenda stretched out her hand and waved in front of her. “Stop staring at him, he’s already gone! With such a handsome and gentle guy like him, why did you choose a stick-in-the-mud like Justin? He isn’t romantic at all.”

III

Nora retracted her gaze and looked at Morris.

Morris nodded. He held his hand over his earphone and spoke into it in a low voice. Two minutes later, he said, “He is indeed here for a business meeting. The other party is a medicinal herb merchant from overseas. He also has another business meeting later.”

Nora breathed a sigh of relief when she heard that.

She had suspected Caleb of being the mysterious person just now.

However, Caleb spoke very elegantly and his words were all very appropriate. He differed too much from the mysterious person who didn’t know much English.

Moreover, she had deliberately brought up the topic of ellipses to sound him out just now.

Caleb also understood the meaning of ellipses.

Therefore, it should be okay to rule him out... right? While thinking about it, she lowered her head and looked at her cell phone again-the other party still hadn’t replied to her message yet.

The three of them waited for a few hours in the hotel lobby.

Seeing that there still weren't any clues-in fact, the other party wasn't even sending messages to Nora anymore-Nora stood up and said, "The two of you can continue standing guard here. I'm going back first."

Brenda nodded immediately. "A third wheel like you should have left a long time ago, Nora. Captain Ford and I will be fine by ourselves here!"

After Nora left, Brenda took out her cell phone and picked up a call. "Nora has already left and is going home now, Justin! What is she doing? Can't you just ask her? What are you asking me for? It's not like she's gonna be in bed with me..."

Beep... beep... beep...

The disconnected tone rang out on the other end of the line. Brenda curled her lips disdainfully. "What a prude. He can't even take a joke."

—

Nora drove back to the Smiths. As soon as she entered, she saw Justin waiting for her in the parking lot. The man stared at her, making Nora feel as if she was being caught fooling around with another man.

She got out of the car and asked, "What are you doing here?"

"Waiting for you."

The man answered casually and naturally. Then, he turned and followed beside her. "What are you investigating lately?"

Nora thought for a while and replied, "How I became pregnant."

She glanced at Justin. Sure enough, the man touched his nose guiltily after hearing her answer.

Nora's lips curled into a smile. "C'mon, spill. What kind of evidence do you exactly have, and how far have your investigations gone?"

Justin must have also fallen victim to someone's schemes back then. If not, he would not have hated Pete's mother so much back then, let alone not know who she was.

Seeing that she seemed to be aware of everything now, Justin sighed and said, "Actually, I was telling the truth in the beginning."

The beginning...

In other words, Justin had indeed been unconscious for a while at that time. But if he was unconscious, and also had no memory of what he did, then how did she get pregnant?

While Nora was thinking about it, her cell phone beeped twice.

She lowered her head and picked it up-it was another text message from the unknown number: 'Haha, when I went downstairs, you were already gone!'

Nora: "..."

'Although you made me really angry, I am still willing to give you a chance and show you how strong our department is.' 'I have already unleashed my second big move. Are you ready?' Nora: "?"

Why was he talking like he had serious eighth-grader syndrome?!

He had targeted Tanya the first time. Who would he target for his second big move?

While thinking about it, she saw Joel suddenly hurrying out of his room. He had a serious look on his face and was walking quickly to the car. Before Nora could say anything, he drove off.

It looked like... something had gone wrong?

—

The Smith Corporation was in an utter mess.

As soon as Joel entered the office, the people in the IT department said, “Mr. Smith, this is simply too bizarre. Our network suddenly went kaput without any warning! All the computers have also been infected with viruses. I’ve pulled out the network cables, but it didn’t seem to be working. The invader is using a very powerful virus...”

Joel took a deep breath. “Where’s Speedy?”

Speedy was a hacker that the Smiths had hired. One could say that he was the Smiths’ treasure.

Legend had it that the Hunt Corporation had paid a high price and hired Y as their network consultant. As a result, no one dared to invade the Hunt Corporation.

As for the Smith Corporation, their hacker was Speedy.

The manager of the IT department said, “The master is trying to fix the network, but I think it’s hard to say how it’ll turn out this time!”

The IT manager frowned and said, “The other party is very aggressive and also has very solid skills. We suspect that they are a well-known hacker!!”

As the manager spoke, Joel entered the room, upon which he saw Speedy, who was pulling a long face, trying to repair the network. However, the computer screen suddenly blacked out.

Someone had invaded the network!

Speedy had no chance of repairing the network at all.

When Joel saw this, he walked up to behind Speedy and said, “Ask him who he is.”

Someone who could beat Speedy would undoubtedly be very skilled!

After all, Speedy and Solo were equally famous!

Speedy got it. Mr. Smith was planning to negotiate with the other party.

He typed: 'Who are you?'

The other party replied: 'I am Q.'

Joel narrowed his eyes.

In the hotel room.

Someone asked, "Why are you claiming to be

Q, sir?"

The man sat there with a wicked smile at the corner of his lips. He replied, "Because Q is someone who doesn't surf the Internet very much, so no one can find him. His name can also instill fear in people. Besides, if I say that I'm Q, they won't think of going to the real Q for help. Of course, our hacker toy is indeed not bad. It seems that she has managed to adapt to the genetic modification drug- She's much more useful than Hillary Jones! That piece of trash wasted a dose of my drug! Hmph!

"But since the Smiths' network can't be used anymore, they'll have to listen to me now! Haha!"

He leaned triumphantly against the sofa and held both hands behind his head. "Say, if a huge company can't use the Internet, how are they going to operate? Will my little servant come and beg me now??"

"Tsk, I'm suddenly really looking forward to it!"

He sat upright and added, "By the way, tell our new toy to give them some more goodies as best as they can! We must drive them into a corner! This way, I would be able to negotiate with my little servant-!"

"... Yes, sir."

After he left, a voice suddenly rang out faintly in the room.

A rich and mellow voice reprimanded, "Stop messing around!"

“How am I messing around? Don’t you find this very fun? Also, what makes you think you can order me about? I am the little master! I have the final say in everything! Go away, you sickly guy!”

The people standing guard outside didn’t react even when they heard the conversation. It was as if they had already long since become accustomed to it.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 478 - Ungrateful

“Sigh. Mr. Gray is the only one who can keep the little master in check a little.”

“Yeah. It’s all thanks to Mr. Gray today. Otherwise, the little master would really have run all the way down...”

The people guarding the door couldn’t help sighing

—

“Q?” In the Smith Corporation’s office, Speedy was stunned. He looked at the alphabet on the screen with great surprise. “Q is the current leader of the Hacker Alliance. Y is the only one in the world who can contend against him. But Y has already announced that he will not go against Q... So Q and Y can pretty much be said to be invincible!”

Everyone else in the IT department didn’t dare speak when they heard what Speedy said. All of them looked at Joel.

Joel stared at the screen. He looked calm as he typed: ‘Mr. Q, may I know what you are after?’

The other party: ‘I want you to go bankrupt, haha.’

His reply was filled with hostility, which caused the entire IT department to panic for a while there.

Joel narrowed his eyes and continued typing: ‘Is there some kind of misunderstanding between us?’

The other party: ‘Not with you.’

Joel: ‘Then who is it?’

The other party: 'Your younger sister.'

Joel wrote: 'What did my sister do to offend you?'

The other party: 'Hmph, I took a fancy to her and want her to be my servant, but she is actually being so ungrateful!'

Joel: "?"

He narrowed his eyes and typed: "Well, that's certainly pretty ungrateful."
The other party: "Right? So many people dream of becoming my servant, but I never agree. How dare she refuse me when I chose her?"

Joel: "What I mean is, you're pretty ungrateful."

The other party fell silent.

Joel continued to type: 'It's for your own good that I'm forbidding the Smith Corporation's young missy from becoming your servant.' The other party: 'How so?'

Joel replied: "I'm afraid that she'll drive you to your grave."

The other party: "!!!"

The lip corners of the staff standing behind Joel couldn't help but spasm. Their boss was simply too sharp-tongued. However, they didn't dare to say anything, and could only look at one another.

The other party soon sent another reply: 'What does that mean? My life expectancy will be shortened? Why?'

Joel: "?"

A question mark appeared above his head before he realized that the other party might be a foreigner, so he might not understand certain English phrases.

Thus, Joel changed to a straightforward choice of words. He wrote: ‘What I mean is, you are not blessed enough to have her around! Neither are you worthy of it!’ The other party understood this time. His speed of response clearly became faster obviously, he had become a little angry. He wrote: “Since you are so reluctant to part with your sister, then you’ll have to suffer my anger! In this age of the Internet, I wonder how many days the Smith Corporation can survive without the Internet?”

“Haha, I’m really looking forward to seeing how the second biggest company in the country takes step after step towards its doom!”

Joel narrowed his eyes. He wanted to say more, but the other party obviously couldn’t be bothered to argue with him anymore and had turned off the computer screen.

In an instant, all the computers in the Smith Corporation went down and could not be turned on anymore.

Joel got up. Speedy sat in front of the computer and started to repair the network again. However, he was sweating profusely. How could he possibly be a match for the top hacker Q?

Speedy felt immense pressure. He suddenly stood up and said, “Mr. Smith, I... I’m not doing this anymore.”

Joel looked at him sharply. “Are you unable to do it? Or are you afraid of doing it?”

Speedy swallowed and replied, “Both, I guess! Q and Y are the leaders of the Hacker Alliance. If I offend him, I’ll have a hard time in the Hacker Alliance in the future!”

Joel frowned. “As far as I know, the Hacker Alliance does not restrict your work, nor does it require you to avoid going against Q and Y.”

Speedy lowered his head. “Yes, there are no clear rules, but if I offend my boss, I won’t be able to stay in this line of work anymore. I’m sorry.” Joel stared at him and suddenly said, “You don’t usually do much work, do you?”

But the Smith Corporation pays you a huge amount every year. Do you think we give you that money so that you can easily quit on us during crucial moments like these?”

Speedy frowned when he heard him. He said, “Mr. Smith, I have a good suggestion for you now, and that is to get Ms. Smith to admit her mistake and give in to the other party. The servant and master talk is probably just a joke! There is no need for the Smith Corporation to fight them just because of a joke.”

Joel’s expression turned cold. “I am the head of the Smith Corporation. Your task is to repair the network for me!”

Speedy swallowed and suddenly walked to the door. “Mr. Smith, I can’t do this! I’m leaving!”

The IT manager frowned as he watched Speedy leave. He asked, “Mr. Smith, if even Speedy leaves, what are we going to do next?!”

Joel lowered his eyes.

Speedy was simply too unprofessional! He had gotten cold feet and escaped just because of fear. Joel had really misjudged him. He slowly said, “Continue trying to repair the network. I will think of something!”

After speaking, he looked at the panicked employees at a loss around him and said calmly, “None of the Smith Corporation’s revenue comes from telecommunications. Our businesses are all in the physical industry. What’s there to be scared of even without the Internet? It’s just a 30% loss!”

After making the bad-ass statement, Joel left, planning to ask Nora what was going on.

Chapter 479 - Do You Have A Feud With Q?

The Smith Corporation's situation actually wasn't as good as how Joel had put it just now.

The physical industry was currently in decline in the States whereas new media networks were flourishing. The Smith Corporation had also opened a few companies doing online businesses.

All the servers were in the Smith Corporation. Once the servers went down, those in other places...

He had only just thought of that when someone hurried over and said, "Mr. Smith, our games' players are all sending feedback that they can't access the games. They are threatening to uninstall the apps!"

"Mr. Smith, the live-streamers on our live-streaming app are asking why they can't access the app and what's wrong with the servers!"

"Mr. Smith, we had to make a fund transfer for the big deal today, but now that there is no Internet, we can't complete the transfer..."

All sorts of problems came one after another.

Joel got his subordinates to deal with them one by one, and then he entered his office.

It was already evening by then. The troubled Joel rubbed his temples and took out his cell phone. His finger was already on Nora's number when his executive assistant pushed the door open and came in. "Mr. Smith, we are trending on social media!"

Joel was surprised.

He closed the call app and went to take a look at the trending topics on social media first.

There were five to six trending topics, such as #SmithCorporationServersBreakDown, #SmithCorporation GetsHacked, #XXMobileGameServerDown, and so on. They occupied the first few places among the most popular topics.

Obviously, someone had paid money to make them trend.

Comments had already exploded:

“Oh my god, has something gone wrong with the Smith Corporation’s network? Can we still trust the Smith Corporation?”

“Why were they hacked? Do they take cyber security so unprofessionally when they are such a big company?”

“My personal information registered with the Smith Corporation won’t be stolen, right?”

“This is unacceptable! How can they still call themselves the second-best enterprise in the country when this is all they can do? Is a company whose network defenses were breached so easily really trustworthy?!”

“This is too much! I finally took time off today to play games for a whole day, yet they are suddenly telling me that the server is down, so I can’t log in? What the hell? I’m uninstalling this! Goodbye!”

All sorts of rumors flew all about the Internet.

Everyone in the company could only keep watch on the ongoing with their own Internet hotspots. All of them were terribly anxious, yet also helpless.

The IT department was even starting to call up people for help. However, the moment IT experts heard that it was Q targeting them, no one dared to come over and help.

The people in the IT department had no choice but to work overtime! But no matter how hard they tried, they simply weren't the other party's match!

Q was constantly online. Once they found a flaw and fixed it, Q would attack again. It was impossible for them to guard against him!

Everyone panicked.

“Mr. Smith, this is terrible! Our stocks are plummeting!”

His executive assistant delivered another piece of bad news. All the trending topics about their server downtime had finally ushered in the most terrifying crisis for the Smith Corporation!

Once the stocks reached the lower limit, their company would be in danger!

Joel narrowed his eyes and said, “Find a way to intercept Q and stop him from damaging the servers further for now. I will look for someone to help.” The assistant nodded. Just as he was about to leave, someone pushed the door open again. It was Samuel.

He looked at Joel furiously. “What's the matter with the Smiths' stocks? The price has fallen so much! Are all the people the Smiths are raising all rubbish? They can't even repair a lousy Internet network?”

Behind him was his executive assistant's assistant. She looked absolutely flustered as she said, “I'm sorry, Mr. Smith. I couldn't stop him.”

Joel glanced at her and then looked at his executive assistant.

The executive assistant nodded and left the office with his assistant.

Samuel sat opposite him. “I heard that it's Nora who offended Q? I knew that the woman was a jinx! She caused so much trouble the moment she returned to the family! Since they are just doing this because they're angry, how can you still fight him so stubbornly and put our entire business at stake?! Our stocks are plummeting right now, and it is very likely that we'll be delisted after hitting the lower limit! The Smith Corporation is a listed company, it is not something you can use to defend her for her nonsense!”

Joel corrected him. “He claims that he is Q, but he may not necessarily really be Q. I am already looking for someone to confirm his identity.”

Samuel was so furious that he was dumbfounded. “How would he be able to take down our network and put so many people at a loss if he wasn’t Q? Besides, why would he pretend to be Q? Just what are you thinking about all day long?! Is the problem him being a right now?”

Joel ignored him. Instead, he took out his phone to confirm something first. He dialed Nora’s number. “Nora, I heard that there’s some bad blood between you and Q? What exactly happened?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 480 - She Isn'T Q

At the Smiths.

At the sight of Joel rushing out as though there was some kind of trouble going on, Nora narrowed her eyes. She felt that it might have something to do with herself.

She turned and walked to the car, planning to go to the company to take a look.

Unexpectedly, before she could get into the car, Cherry and Pete rushed over and clung to one of her legs each.

Cherry raised her head. “Mommy, where were you the whole day? Why didn't I see you?! I miss you so much!”

Pete didn't say anything, but his eyes, as he looked at Nora, were full of attachment.

Nora: “...”

To be honest, she had never neglected Cherry just because she was busy with work. At the most, she wouldn't spend time with her to make up her sleep hours.

However, Cherry was by her side even when she was asleep. Therefore, it was true that the two children rarely saw Nora so busy that she didn't even come home.

Nora ruffled Cherry's hair. “Mommy has something important to do. Let Mommy go first, OK?”

Cherry bit her lip. “But I miss Mommy!”

Nora looked at Justin helplessly.

The man sighed, and a hint of a doting look appeared on his handsome face. He thought about it for a moment and then said, "Alright, let Mommy go to work. Daddy will accompany you to sleep tonight, okay?"

Cherry and Pete could only nod.

Nora finally got into the car and went after Joel. However, his car was already out of sight. After a moment's thought, she went one round and finally headed towards the Smith Corporation.

—

After tucking both the children to bed, Justin went out.

As soon as he came out, he picked up his phone and called Brenda. She picked up very quickly. "What now, Justin?"

There was a very cold look in Justin's eyes. "Has Nora met with some kind of trouble?"

Otherwise, given how much she loved sleeping, she would be asleep with her children at home at this time!

Brenda replied, "No, we're just trying to solve a case."

Justin subconsciously asked, "Would she still be out this late if all you guys are doing is trying to solve a case?"

Brenda, however, laughed when she heard what he said. "My word, Justin, do you know what you sound like? You sound like a housewife who waited at home the whole day, but her husband didn't come home in the end! Hahahaha! Are you feeling lonely?"

Justin: "..."

Had it been any other time, he would have hung up on her a long time ago. But when he thought about Nora, he nevertheless said, "Tell me what it is."

Brenda replied, "... I can't tell you about it. It's confidential."

Upon hearing the word 'confidential', Justin immediately realized even further how important the matter was.

He didn't say anything else, much less force Brenda into making a mistake at work. Instead, he disconnected the call and prepared to enter their system on his cell phone to take a look.

But before he could, his phone rang. It was Lawrence.

When he answered, Lawrence said, "Mr. Hunt, something has happened to the Smiths."

Justin narrowed his eyes. "What's the matter?"

Lawrence replied, "Ms. Smith supposedly offended Q, so Q has approached the Smith Corporation, hacked into their entire network, and is giving them a lot of trouble! He wants Ms. Smith to bow down and apologize!"

A lot of people from the IT department had seen the content of Joel's chat with the other party that time.

Although it wasn't spread to outsiders, it was nonetheless easy for people in the industry to find out if they wanted to.

Lawrence was a source of gossip himself, so he knew all the news about everyone.

Justin, however, frowned and said, "He isn't

"He isn't Q."

At the same time, Nora, who had just arrived at the lobby of the office building, also received a call from Joel. Upon hearing what Joel said, she immediately gave that answer calmly and coldly.

Joel was not surprised. "Then who is he?"

"... A psycho."

“... Well, if it’s not Q, then I will continue looking for other people for help.”

After confirming that the other party was not Q, the rest of the hackers would dare to help now.

Joel completely believed what she said. He immediately started arranging for an assistant to spread the news that the hacker was not Q.

Samuel was furious as he listened at the side. “Joel! Is he not Q just because she says he isn’t? Who else can beat Speedy so quickly besides Q and Y?! No one else in the world is that good at hacking!”

Joel glanced at him. “Granduncle Samuel, I have things to attend to here. If there’s nothing else you want, then you can leave now!”

Samuel became even more furious. “Joel, I’m saying this for the company’s sake! It’s not worth risking the Smiths for the sake of a child who wasn’t even raised by the Smiths!”

Joel looked at him and suddenly smiled. “I think she’s worth doing so.”

Samuel wanted to say more, but Joel was already looking out the door aggressively. He ordered, “Take him outside!”

“Yes, sir!”

His executive assistant rushed into the office with bodyguards and surrounded Samuel.

Samuel shouted at him angrily, “Joel, you are even more authoritarian than Ian! This is too much! Too much!! With a CEO like you, the Smiths will be finished sooner or later!”

He was dragged out of Joel’s office.

Outside the door to the CEO’s office on the top floor were several managers waiting to report urgent work-related news. When Samuel saw them, he immediately yelled, “Did all of you see that? He’s such a bastard!”

“The person that Nora offended is not Q? Hah, he must really be blind! He’s going head-to-head with an international hacker just for the sake of venting his anger! He must be out of his mind!”

The managers were also stunned when they heard that the hacker was not Q.

Someone asked, “Who can it be, if not Q?”

Y was the external help that the Hunt Corporation had hired, so it was impossible that he would attack them. Therefore, this must definitely be Q!

It was impossible for there to be a third hacker in the world who could match Q and Y!

Someone whispered, “Mr. Smith must have become muddleheaded, right?”

“Yes, I also think so...”

When Samuel heard their questions, his voice immediately became even louder. “He has already proven that he’s Q with his hacking prowess! But what about you?”

He shouted at the office door, “The Smith Corporation is indeed not afraid of a hacker, but in order to vent your anger on the hacker, you have made the company suffer so many losses. Who is going to bear the responsibility for all those things on the Internet and the damage to our reputation? Also, is he not Q just because you say so? Do you have any evidence? All you’re doing is babbling nonsense. Do you think that Q will become ours just by saying that?”

While heading upstairs, Nora had already learned what had happened through the Internet.

When she finally arrived upstairs, she immediately heard Samuel’s mocking shouts directed at the CEO’s office.

She smiled sarcastically, lowered her voice, and slowly said, “He is indeed not Q.”

Samuel suddenly looked at her and said, “Is he not Q just because you say so? You make it sound as if you know where Q is!”

Nora’s lips curled into a smile and she let out a low chuckle. “I sure do.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 481 - Nora Smith Is Q!

Surprised, Samuel and everyone else looked at Nora in disbelief.

Someone swallowed hard. “Y-you know where Q is?”

Nora did not speak any more. Instead, she pushed the door open and entered the room.

Joel was sitting there quietly waiting for her. From the way he looked, he didn't seem anxious at all. He looked clear and confident about what he was doing.

Nora had thought that she would see him tired and haggard, but unexpectedly, he was actually so calm. She raised her eyebrows.

Joel smiled. “You've come.”

“Yeah.”

Nora stood right beside him. “How did you know I would come over?”

Joel replied, “When Jill asked me to arrange for a position in the company for her nephew the other time, I knew at once that you would definitely have a back-up plan. Come on, spill it, what are you planning to do?”

Nora: “...”

She kicked Joel's chair lightly to indicate to him to step aside. Joel stood up. When Nora sat down, she asked curiously, “What if I didn't have a back-up plan? After all, the other party is saying that they're Q, you know!”

Joel stood beside her and smiled. “Do you think that restricting our Internet alone is enough for one to have the Smith Corporation's destiny in their hand when I've already been in the company for so many years?”

As though he was teaching her, Joel explained patiently, “One must have everything within their control. Since the Smith Corporation does not have a world-class top hacker, our main form of business mustn’t be Internet-related! This way, even if the company’s network is down, the breakdown will only have minimal influence and will not affect the whole company’s operations. As for the stocks... I naturally also have ways to counterattack and even things out.”

Enlightened, Nora gave Joel a thumbs up. “Impressive.”

Joel rested one hand on the table and his other on the chair. As he stood behind Nora and watched her turn on the computer, he couldn’t help but ask, “Do you know Q?”. “... Yeah, I suppose you can say that.” Joel couldn’t help but say, “If they are reliable, can you find a way to hire him as a cyber security consultant for the Smith Corporation?” He sighed and said, “The Hunt Corporation has Y guarding them, so they are not afraid of attacks from any hackers, which has made their operations in this aspect very smooth. I just don’t know how Justin managed to get a top hacker like Y to become so loyal to them. I also don’t understand why he trusts Y so much...”

Joel sighed emotionally and added, “In this respect, it’s a weakness for the Smith Corporation. Uncle Ian had only assigned Quentin to the hidden forces since the rest of your cousins were all unreliable. He’d originally planned to train and groom Louis into a hacker, but he instead became interested in games... In the end, the Smith Corporation does not even have a top-class hacker that we can trust!”

By then, Nora had successfully turned on the computer. As she placed her hands on the keyboard, the corners of her lips suddenly curled upward a little. “Joel,” she said.

Joel paused. “Hmm?”

An unorthodox glint flashed in Nora’s almond-shaped eyes. “The Smith Corporation does now.”

Joel was taken aback.

His first thought was that Nora must be very familiar with Q, so Q would be a very reliable ally... He was about to speak when he saw Nora's fingers flying across the keyboard at high speed.

As she implemented coercive measures against the hacker, the dark screens slowly started lighting up.

The screen was still black, but it was unlike the unresponsive screens from just now where nothing happened no matter what keys they pressed. Together with the rapid movements of Nora's fingers, rows and rows of programming code moved up the screen.

It was so fast that Joel couldn't even see what exactly she was typing... Utterly stunned, he looked at Nora in disbelief.

For a moment, he felt that his cousin's profile looked so serious and determined. There was a strange charm and confidence in the unorthodox smile on her lips.

It wasn't blind confidence she had; rather, it was strong and powerful confidence that she had in her own abilities!

A thought suddenly formed in his mind, and a surprised and astounded Joel slowly asked, "You... you're Q?"

He thought of how calm Nora had been right from the beginning. Originally, he'd thought it was because she had already made arrangements for everything. For example, perhaps she knew the real Q and was able to get Q to help them tide through the difficult situation.

Or perhaps, Nora had borrowed Y from the Hunt Corporation!

Joel had imagined all sorts of scenarios, but he'd never once thought that Nora might be Q herself!

How could this be...?

She was already the world-famous number one surgeon domestically and internationally!! Nora took aggressive measures and cut off the enemy's virus attack, allowing the computer in front of her to function normally. In fact, she had even repaired the servers as well. They were currently in the midst of restarting, which would take a certain amount of time.

Nora had easily resolved the Smith Corporation's Internet crisis in under ten minutes!

She stretched, turned her head sideways to look at Joel, and nodded.
"Yeah."

Joel: "..."

He was a little dumbfounded.

At this point, the deputy CEO knocked on the door. He poked his head in and asked softly, "Mr. Smith, since Ms. Nora has said that she knows Q, can she ask Q for help?"

Joel raised his brows.

The deputy CEO said, "All the computers in the company are still unusable at the moment. Everyone uses them for work, so no one can't work normally right now."

Joel looked at Nora.

"One hour," said Nora.

Joel looked at the deputy CEO. "Give all the employees a day off. They can come for work as per usual tomorrow."

When the deputy CEO heard this, he glanced at Nora with a complex look. Then, he turned around and went out.

After he left, Joel asked, "Is an hour enough for you to restore everyone's computers?"

"Oh," Nora flexed her wrists and said, "I only need five minutes."

Joel: “??!”

Nora put her hands on the keyboard again. “I asked for an hour because I’m planning to have some fun with the other party. While I’m at it, I will also... catch them.”

Joel: “...” Nora had already decided to play along with them a long time ago. When Jill sent her nephew into the company, she had already sensed something.

Therefore, she had long since known that something might go wrong with the Smith Corporation. She had allowed it to drag on all the way until now just so she could get the mastermind behind the scenes to surface.

Needless to say, she naturally knew that the one surfacing was just a high-level hacker in the mysterious organization. It was the easiest for one to expose their identities in online battles, so the “little master” whom she had been exchanging text messages with might not be with the hacker at the moment.

But every little bit counted, regardless!

At this moment, her phone vibrated.

She picked it up and took a look-sure enough, the little psycho had sent another message: ‘My little servant, do you like my gift to the Smith Corporation?’

Nora’s lip corners quirked upward. She wrote: ‘Yeah, I like it quite a lot.’

After all, it had exposed another member of his organization!

Chapter 482 - She Is Far Inferior To Q!

In the hotel.

The man stared at Nora's reply. When he saw the words "Yeah, I like it quite a lot", he was a little stunned. He scratched his head and asked bewilderedly, "Why does she like it? Does she resent the Smiths now and wishes for their downfall?"

His bodyguards and assistants suggested hesitantly, "How about... We stop the attack?"

"No!" The man grinned. His voice was filled with excitement as he said, "She must be trying to deceive me! Does she think that I'll let her off if she says that? How naive! Get our new toy to give them some more goodies!"

"Yes, sir!"

After his subordinates left, the man took his cell phone and sent another message to Nora: "My little servant, since you like it so much, I'll give you something even better to be happy about..."

—

At the Smith Corporation.

After seeing his reply, Nora paid no more attention to him and tossed the phone aside.

She looked at the computer.

She had only restored Joel's computer at the moment. Additionally, the servers needed time to restart, and the rest of the computers hadn't been restored yet. Thus, the opponent hadn't yet realized that their attack had failed, and was still under the impression that it was a success.

At this moment, all the screens of the computers that had been shut down suddenly lit up. Rows of text started appearing:

'Mr. Smith, how does it feel to not have even a single hacker out there who dares to help the Smith Corporation?'

When the computer screens outside lit up, Nora was already typing away at high speed. As she searched for the enemy hacker's location, she replied: 'You are not Q. Who are you?' The person chatting with them on the computer was no longer the little psycho on the phone! This was because there was actually a bit of faint resentment and anger in their speech.

It was resentment and anger towards Joel.

More text appeared on the screen:

'An old friend.'

'An old friend whom you abandoned.'

'Hahaha! I'm sure you've never imagined that I would ever return, right? And this time, I can shake things up real bad for all of you!'

An old friend...

Nora suddenly thought of something. She looked up at Joel, upon which Joel nodded at her. Thus, Nora immediately understood. She wrote: 'You are Yvonne.'

With her identity now exposed, the woman didn't bother with pretenses anymore. She wrote:

"That's right! I am Yvonne! The person whom all of you had looked down on! But I am back now! My hacking skills have improved to a whole new level again. Do you now regret what you've done, Joel? Hahahaha!"

Nora: "..."

Joel: "..."

At this instant, Nora felt really strongly that the little psycho must be sick in the head. Everyone he had approached were all people whom she didn't get along with.

Also, Yvonne had actually managed to hack the entire Smith Corporation all by herself! This showed that her hacking skills had indeed improved by leaps and bounds during this period of time!

Nora frowned.

Her cell phone beeped again at this point. She looked down and found that it was a message from the little psycho: "You should know by now who the hacker is, right? In that case, you should now have a more intuitive understanding of our genetic modification drug, right? It's very powerful, isn't it? Are you tempted now? As long as you join us and become my servant, I will give you the drug. You can improve anything you want about yourself!"

The genetic modification drug!!

So, what the special department had been studying all this time was a genetic modification drug!

Nora sent a screenshot of this to the three-man group chat with Morris and Brenda.

Then her phone beeped again-it was another message from the little psycho: 'Yvonne used to be a pretty good hacker, but taking the genetic modification drug, in just ten days, she is now a top-class one! She is now on par with Q and Y! Do you want to become even better in your medical skills?'

Nora raised her eyebrows and replied slowly: 'In terms of medical skills, it seems like I am already the best.'

When the other party saw her reply, he fell silent for a long time.

It seemed that he had never thought that Nora would say that. He hesitated and replied: “Then I can make you stronger in other ways! Such as physical strength and speed! Have you heard of Big Brother and Big Sister? Their physical strength and speed are the best in the country. I can make you as strong as them! Nora: “...”

She replied: “That is not necessary.”

The little psycho: “Why? Don’t you want to become stronger?”

She was already the strongest. Nora held her forehead and replied again: “Perhaps it’s because I don’t want to be that strong?”

Joel was standing next to her and reading her chat with the little psycho. The man, who already knew her identity as Big Sister, was speechless.

She must be the queen of all humblebraggers out there!

Joel couldn’t help but look up at the heavens.

Suddenly, he couldn’t tell anymore if it was really a coincidence or what. Of all the things the other party could say, why was he simply trying to tempt Nora with the things that she was already skilled at?

“Our genetic modification drug is very powerful! Once you use it, you can become as powerful as yourself!”

What a joke!

The other party fell silent again. Then, he became angry and wrote: “I don’t believe there’s anyone in this world who doesn’t want to become stronger! I’m sure you also want to, you’re just being stubborn. Heh heh, in that case, I will show you the skills of a hacker on the same level as Q!”

Nora: ‘You are mistaken.’

The little psycho: “Mistaken? What am I mistaken about? Even if someone only manages to become stronger after taking the genetic modification drug, it doesn’t change the fact that they’ve become stronger. I don’t think I’m mistaken!”

Nora: “... What I mean is, she is far inferior to Q. She isn’t even worthy of being her servant.”

Joel: “...”

Nora, is it really alright for you to praise yourself like that?

But for some reason, the sight simply felt so good!

The little psycho: “That’s impossible! Heh, our genetic modification drug allows one to develop a certain aspect of themselves to the extreme! It can affect one’s IQ! She is definitely on par with Q now!”

He didn’t seem to understand much about hackers, so Nora didn’t say anything else to him.

However, it seemed like he had told Yvonne what she had said, so Yvonne became angry. She typed on the computer: “Hah, Q is indeed the world’s top hacker, but so what even if I am not as good as Q? Can you even find the real Q? All of you are at my mercy now!” Nora: “...”

Why was there always a group of arrogant people that simply insisted on shoving their faces toward her so that she could slap them in the face?

She didn’t even want to slap them anymore, yet they just kept making things difficult for themselves. This simply made... her hands itch so much!

She sighed. Yvonne sent another message: “Why don’t I live-stream the current situation to you? These are all trending topics on social media. The Smith Corporation’s stocks have already fallen by 10%! If you still don’t beg me for mercy, it’ll probably reach the lower limit! Haha!!”

Chapter 483 - A Fake Will Always Be A Fake

It seemed like Yvonne really wanted to show off her achievements, so she started to show them the trending topics on social media that day on the computer.

There were few new trending topics, such as #AllEmployeesOnLeaveInSmithCorporation, #SmithCorporation OffendsQTheHacker, #SmithCorporation StocksDropBy10%, and so on.

Some Smith Corporation employees had revealed that all the top-level executives were now waiting for orders in the CEO office on the top floor and that so far, everyone was at a loss as to how to counter Q.

As all the computers had crashed and couldn't be switched on, the rest of the staff had all been given a day off. However, the employees didn't feel any joy about that but were instead worried that they would wake up to the news of the Smith Corporation being declared bankrupt the next day, leading to them losing their jobs.

It was rumored that the young missy of the Smith Corporation had offended the top-class hacker Q. That was why they had brought Q's revenge upon themselves. By right, a hacker shouldn't have been able to influence the network of such a large company, but this was Q, the legendary existence. It was said that Q alone could breach a country's cyber defenses!

The Smith Corporation was finished!

The Smith Corporation's stocks had already fallen by 10%, and the network in the entire company had been down for over fifteen minutes. At present, investors were still observing the situation.

If they couldn't restore the network within an hour, then it was possible that investors would get rid of the stocks they had on hand. When that happened, they might hit the lower limit!

The Internet analyzed all the terrible outcomes that the Smith Corporation might face.

Yvonne presented them one by one.

Fortunately, Joel had already given all the employees in the company a day off. Otherwise, the ordinary employees might break down if they saw the content.

However, even though the two inside the office were calm and composed, the people outside were already in a huge panic.

In order to prevent Yvonne from realizing that they had already taken control of the situation, Nora hadn't taken back the control of the computers outside.

Thus, when Yvonne was showing the articles on the screen, the computers outside were also displaying the same thing.

The deputy CEO and top-level executives were fearful and horrified. The executive assistants and secretaries also looked at one another. For a while, none of them knew what they should do.

Samuel looked at the closed door to Joel's office and yelled furiously, "It's over! It's all over! The Smith Corporation is about to be destroyed by Joel!"

The executives looked worried.

Speedy, the hacker who had just left the Smith Corporation and returned home, heaved a huge sigh when he saw the news.

He felt that he couldn't have made a more correct choice.

In fact, in that instant, he was even afraid that Q might retaliate and take revenge on him.

Speedy was a member of the Hacker Alliance. He immediately took out his cell phone and sent a message to the Hacker Alliance.

Speedy: “Boss Q, I have already withdrawn from the Smith Corporation. I’m not going to go against you! Don’t worry. Also, if you need me to provide you with some of the Smith Corporation’s network vulnerabilities, I can also do that...”

Although he knew that doing this wasn’t right, Speedy had no other choice.

If he offended the Smith Corporation, if worse came to worst, he could at least go out of the country.

But if he offended Q, then he could forget about staying in the hacker industry. He was very clear about that!

After sending Q a private message, he thought about it and posted a tweet.

Unexpectedly, the moment he posted the tweet, it trended.

Speedy: “The Smith Corporation shouldn’t have offended Q. I have absolute respect for Q, so I hereby announce my withdrawal from the Smith Corporation. Also, thus far, no one has dared to contend with Q on the Internet.”

Speedy had been worried after he posted the tweet that his actions might offend the Smith Corporation, but when he saw how his tweet had taken the third spot among all the trending topics, he suddenly gained peace of mind.

It was obvious that the trending topics algorithm had also been hacked. All the negative news about the Smith Corporation had been pushed to the top!

It was apparent that the other party was very strong and capable!

His decision to take sides at the critical moment had played a decisive role.

With that, surely Q wouldn’t hold a grudge against him anymore... right?

—

While Speedy was on tenterhooks, Yvonne had displayed his tweet on the computers in the Smith Corporation.

Additionally, after his tweet trended, someone had filled everyone in on who Speedy was. Everyone immediately lost even more hope in the Smith Corporation successfully restoring their network!

‘Oh my god, even Speedy has quit. Who else can save the Smith Corporation?’

“Q really isn’t someone to be offended. I mean, look at the alphabet itself—they are the queen of the hacker world!”

“How apt! I’m suddenly in awe of the queen. At the same time, I’m also worried about the Smith Corporation. Just how exactly did they offend a big figure like that?”

Next to the numerous comments were Yvonne’s own comments:

“Heh, even Speedy has betrayed you at a crucial moment, Joel. What does this show?”

“It shows that no one can be trusted except your own family! If you apologize to me and let me return to the Smiths, and also publicly announce that you’re abandoning that hillbilly called Nora Smith, I can come back immediately!”

“Of course, you also have to declare that I didn’t do anything wrong back then. Dad didn’t die anyway. He’s currently resting healthy in the hospital, isn’t he?”

“Once you accomplish all of this, I don’t mind letting go of my control over the Smith Corporation and letting all of you go back to normalcy. But if not...”

As Joel read her messages, he suddenly looked at Nora and said, “Reply to her, ‘A fake will always be a fake.’”

Nora: “...”

From what Yvonne had written, one could tell that the woman actually still missed the Smiths.

Otherwise, she wouldn't ask to come back.

She hadn't expected Joel to actually say something as harsh as that, though.

What Yvonne minded the most was her identity as an adoptive daughter. Joel's words were entirely capable of sending her into a flying rage.

Joel had pretty good potential in honing a sharp tongue.

With that in mind, Nora typed that to Yvonne.

Sure enough, Yvonne flew into a rage.

“Joel! I see you as my elder brother, yet you are treating me like this! You have never cared about me, have you?! “I'll tell you this—I am now angry! Very, very much so! I am going to completely destroy the Smith Corporation's network, as well as all the files in everyone's computers!

“Just you wait! I will make you pay for saying that! Even if you regret your actions and want to beg me for mercy, it is too late!!”

Following these words, all the computers in the company suddenly went back to normal. Then, all the internal hard drives were opened, and the cursor moved to the Delete button.

Once she clicked the button, all the data in all the computers would be completely destroyed!

When that happened, chaos would definitely break out in the Smith Corporation!

In a dark room somewhere.

Yvonne stared at the computer screen in front of her. The light from the computer shone on her face, making her look exceptionally hideous and terrifying!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 484 - Caught You!

Yvonne stared at the screen, a weird and insidious smile gradually forming on her face. Once she clicked on that button, she would be able to see the Smiths' downfall!

Her fingers were shaking in excitement.

Then, she opened her eyes wide and pressed the button!

What she should have witnessed the next moment was all the data files in the company being erased. What she should have witnessed was Joel in a panic and at a loss, but unexpectedly...

The moment she pressed the button, the computer screen in front of her... suddenly blacked out!

At the Smith Corporation.

When Yvonne was about to destroy the documents, Nora had already taken action. Her fingers tapped away on the keyboard at high speed. In no time, she had set a trap for Yvonne.

Yvonne's skills had indeed improved a lot-at the very least, even as of now, the special department still hadn't managed to pinpoint her location through traces of her activity on the Internet.

If one were to look closely, one would see that Nora was actually wearing a Bluetooth headset in one ear.

Brenda's voice was currently playing in the Bluetooth headset. She said, "Yvonne Smith had indeed disappeared from prison when the sick Hillary Jones was picked up two days ago. The strange thing is that if not for what you've just discovered, even as of now, no one has noticed it at all! It is very likely that they have set up arrangements inside!"

Morris stayed silent for a while. Then, he said, “Please stall for a bit more time. We are still tracking her location. Once we find it, we will arrest her at once!”

“... Captain Ford, your men kinda suck!” said Nora.

Morris: “...”

He coughed and said, “The guy on the team is already a top-class white hat. It’s just that Yvonne Smith has indeed become very skilled in this respect after her genetic mutation. Just like what she said, she’s already comparable to Q and Y now. It’s normal that we can’t catch her right away.”

Those who provided service for other people were called hackers, but if a hacker was working for a country itself, then they were known as white hats. Nora didn’t like the sound of that. She said, “I told you, she’s nowhere near Q and Y at all!” Like her, Y was also the leader of the Hacker Alliance. The two of them had had showdowns with each other before, so they both knew just how skilled the other was. Being compared to Yvonne was simply too much of an insult to both of them!

Morris: “...”

Brenda couldn’t help but be amused. “Nora, how do you know that they aren’t on par with one another? It’s true that comparison is necessary, though. Why should someone who took a genetic modification drug be comparable to naturally-endowed ones like us?! Hehe, wait for me, I’ll go to Justin and borrow Y!”

Brenda actually felt a little sheepish when she was saying that.

Y was the insurance that ensured the Hunt Corporation’s network security, but everyone knew that Y never took outsiders’ employment requests.

Not even Brenda’s.

Three years ago, when she was carrying out a mission abroad, the other party had more powerful hackers on their side while the hackers in her department were not that skilled. She had called Justin to borrow Y but had been strictly rejected.

Y was so mysterious that no one knew where he really was. Justin had really kept him too well-protected.

Also, when she asked Justin why he trusted Y so much, he even said there wasn't any particular reason why.

This had even made her once suspect that there must be some kind of deal involving physical intimacy between Justin and Y!

But since it was for Nora's sake this time, she wondered if Justin would be willing to let his pretty little wife out to help Nora?

While she was thinking about it, Nora said, "No, it's fine."

Brenda was taken aback. "Huh?"

Nora's lips curled into a smile. "Q alone is more than enough to deal with her."

Brenda was a little dumbfounded at first.

The next moment, however, she suddenly realized something. She swallowed hard. "Nora, you... you have Q helping you out? W-where is he?"

No wonder Nora wasn't in a panic all this time!

"... Q has been here all along."

Brenda became even more astonished. "But we did not notice a third person in the room! ... Oh, I see!"

Brenda exclaimed. Just as Nora thought that she had finally understood what she meant, she instead heard Brenda say, "Does Q only need to provide support online? So, he doesn't have to be present at all?!" Nora: "..."

Never mind. Since she had misunderstood, then so be it.

Seeing that she wasn't saying anything, Brenda assumed tacit agreement. She immediately started to tease her. "Nora, have you seen Q in person before?"

"... Yes."

After all, she had to look in the mirror every morning after she woke up and went to wash up, right?!

Brenda became even more interested. "Then... is he handsome?"

Nora: "?"

"He must be very handsome, right?! People with technical skills are usually very handsome! Nora, how sneaky! How can you hide a handsome guy all to yourself and not introduce him to me?!"

Nora, who found her really noisy, cut her off. "I've found Yvonne."

Morris' voice rang out in a timely fashion. "Arrest her at once!"

—

In a small dark room somewhere.

Yvonne had been brought there after she came out of prison.

This was a room in a small guest house and was only a few square feet big. Apart from a single bed, the only other thing in the room was the computer.

Even the toilet in the room she used to occupy when she was living in the Smiths' manor was bigger than this!

But she knew she had no right to protest.

She and Hillary had both taken the genetic modification drug. Hillary had died because she couldn't withstand the drug's effects.

But she had succeeded.

God knows how excited she had been when she discovered that her understanding of hacking had become so clear that it was like the fog lifting!

She knew that she would be able to take her revenge very soon!

Those among the Smiths who had looked down on her, those who had bullied her... all of them would receive retribution very soon!

She was in a very good mood. Those people would be suffering while she welcomed a new life and became the new god of hacking!

Y?

What was the big deal about them? From now on, the world of hackers would be hers to triumph in!

Yvonne was so excited at the thought that she was even trembling a little.

Why did the computer in front of her suddenly blackout, though?

Yvonne's first reaction was that the computer's electricity supply had gone out—because, given her skills, she didn't think that anything would go wrong with her hacking!

But when she went to look at the power supply, she found that the power supply was plugged in.

She was taken aback. When she stayed there and thought for a while, the computer screen turned on again.

A few words appeared on the screen:

'Do you think you can do whatever you want just because you know a little bit of hacking?' This was... she had been invaded! She stared flabbergasted at her flawless defensive firewall.

Her fingers trembled as she typed: ‘Who are you?’”

The other party: ‘Q.’ As the alphabet appeared, Yvonne immediately understood something.

She sprung to her feet. Just as she was about to run to the door, someone suddenly kicked the door open. Then, a group of people rushed in!

“Freeze!”

“You’re under arrest!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 485 - We Have Q!

“We’ve caught her.” When Morris’ voice rang out in the earphone, Nora had also just received a text message on her cell phone-it was from the little psycho again.

“You’re still not giving in even now? Looks like you really wish for the Smith Corporation’s downfall!

“Hehe, the Smith Corporation’s stocks have already fallen 20%. Are you still not gonna beg for mercy?

“C’mon, my little servant, make up your mind! Otherwise, even if my new toy lets you guys off, the Smith Corporation will still suffer heavy losses! How can a company that cannot even guarantee their network security be trusted?”

Nora raised her eyebrows as she read the text messages.

She ignored him and looked at the time—all the servers had successfully rebooted. Her long, slender fingers landed on the keyboard and she started to type away at high speed.

Five minutes later, all the computers in the company returned to normal!

The Smith Corporation-including all their subsidiaries that relied on the servers-was back to normal!!

Outside.

As Samuel looked at all the trending topics on social media that Yvonne was showing them flash by on the computer, he became so infuriated that his blood pressure soared to the high heavens!

To be honest, he also owned some of the Smith Corporation shares and received dividends every year. Although he and Ian didn’t get along and he didn't like Joel, should the Smith Corporation really be ruined, he would also be implicated!

This was also the reason why even though Samuel had kept on making an appearance in minor incidents over the years, apart from ruining Ian and Joel's moods, he had never actually done anything during major incidents!

Of course, he didn't have any authority to make any decisions, either.

However, he had never colluded with outsiders to cheat his own family's company.

But now!

Samuel was so mad that he was practically stamping his foot. He pointed at the things on the computer screen and yelled furiously at the people around him, "Didn't she say that she knew Q, and would ask the real Q for help? Is this what the so-called Q she invited can do?"

"She's such a jinx. She has never done anything good ever since her return to the Smiths!"

"Why did she offend Q for no reason? She's too much!"

"Oh, my shares! They have already fallen by tens of millions of dollars!"

Samuel clutched his heart and shouted to the people around him, "Remember this, if I collapse here today, it's all because of that unfilial Nora Smith!"

The executives: "..."

No one said anything. All of them stared at the screen nervously.

Although no one was saying anything, all of them were still nervous. Given how things had already come to this point, they felt that Mr. Smith was simply too calm!

Someone swallowed. “I think it’s better that we get Ms. Smith to borrow Y from the Hunt Corporation!”

“Sigh! The Hunt Corporation’s Y is like a national treasure. How would they loan him to us so easily? Don’t even think about it!”

While they were talking—in fact, they couldn’t even bear to look at the screen anymore—they suddenly saw the one-click Delete button for the computers’ hard drives appear on the screen!

Right away, everyone panicked!

The executives looked at Joel’s office. Someone even rushed over and said, “M-Mr. Smith! If all the data in the computers are deleted, we will suffer heavy losses!”

What came out of the office was Joel’s voice that still sounded as calm and collected as ever. He said, “Got it.”

The people outside were close to going crazy from their anxiety!

However, a minute later, someone suddenly let out an exclamation.

Everyone turned and followed his gaze to see that the computers had restarted... They had succeeded!

Someone couldn’t help but ask, “Surely it’s not because they have already deleted all our data, so they decided that they can restore the computers for us now, right?”

Hearing this, the executive assistant hurriedly rushed to his workstation, opened up his hard drive, and then found that...

“Nothing was deleted!”

When the rest heard this, they all ran to their workstations excitedly!

A girl sighed emotionally and said, “Oh my god, my computer is okay now! Nothing has happened to it at all, it’s exactly the same as before! It’s as if it hadn't been invaded at all! Ah, the picture of my idol is still here!" Another man exclaimed, "F*ck, even my porn videos are still here?"

There was a moment of silence in the executive assistant department.

The man suddenly raised his head in embarrassment and scratched his head. "I... I was just joking..."

These people, who had stayed in the office and worked overtime, were the first to discover that the network had been restored. However, spreading the news required a certain amount of time.

In a hotel room somewhere.

A man leaned against an armchair with one leg perched over the other. His black suit-clad legs were long and straight, and his leather shoes were also smooth and shiny. He looked very smug. He grinned and said, "My little servant will be reporting very soon, heh heh..." But as he said that, the assistant next to him suddenly exclaimed, "Sir, 1-look at the trending topics on social media..."

The man was taken aback for a moment. He glanced over, upon which he became dumbfounded.

Then, someone suddenly rushed over in a panic. "Sir, it's over! Yvonne has been arrested!"

"Shit!" The man cursed in a low voice. "Useless piece of rubbish! You're all a bunch of rubbish!"

Nora had just repaired the network when someone knocked on the door. Joel's executive assistance said, "Mr. Smith, look at the number one trending topic!"

Number one trending topic? Joel raised his brows and looked at Nora in surprise. "You even paid to make a topic trend?"

Nora: "?"

She blinked. “What does paying to make a topic trend mean?”

Joel was dumbfounded. He’d originally thought that the incident would definitely trend on social media once Nora repaired the network, but for it to become the top trending topic so quickly, there was no doubt that someone was manipulating this behind the scenes. He’d thought that Nora was the one behind it, but in the end, she wasn’t aware at all?

While thinking about it, Joel opened Facebook. When he saw the top trending topic, he suddenly looked at Nora with a complex look on his face.

Nora: “?”

She craned her neck and looked at Joel’s hand. A resigned Joel could only hand the phone to her. “Here, take a look.”

The top trending topic wasn’t about the fact that the Smith Corporation’s network problems had been resolved. Instead, it was...

The Hunt Corporation: “Do you need Y to help? He’ll be there whenever you call. @SmithCorporation”

Nora: “!!”

She looked at Joel in surprise, upon which she saw his eyes flicker a little. Then, he took the phone back, logged in to the Smith Corporation’s official Facebook page, and replied.

The Smith Corporation: “We appreciate the gesture. But The Smith Corporation is going to be fine on its own. @HuntCorporation”

Netizens who were originally unhappy about the Smith Corporation were astounded by the two posts!

“We all know that the Hunt Corporation has hired Y as their network consultant—they hired such a powerful person as a consultant to deter their enemies. But isn’t the Smith Corporation being a little too funny here? Q was the one who invaded their network, yet they are still being stubborn and refusing to accept the Hunt Corporation’s kindness!”

“What would be a good way of saying ‘We have Q.’?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 486 - Nora... Is Angering People To Death

After all, in the beginning, the Internet was spreading the news that Q had invaded Smith Corporation. Therefore, the netizens felt strange when Smith Corporation suddenly said that they had Q.

Someone even questioned, — We have Q. I know these words if I look at them separately. But when they're put together, why can't I understand what they mean? Below this question, Smith Corporation answered seriously: "It means that we have hired Q to be our Internet consultant. From now on, Smith Corporation has made up for its shortcomings! Please use our services without any worry! There will be no more problems!"

Everyone: "??"

Everyone was stunned.

Wasn't Q invading Smith Corporation? Why had Q suddenly become a consultant for Smith Corporation?

Just as the netizens imagined a heartbreaking story of love and murder, Smith Corporation Official sent another Weibo post explaining the entire situation!

For a moment, everyone was in an uproar!

— How is that possible? If Q had been hired as a consultant, why would Speedy have resigned? Furthermore, Speedy publicly posted on Weibo saying that he did not dare to offend Q?

– That's right. Even Speedy said that the one who invaded Smith Corporation was Q. How could there be a mistake?! What is Smith Corporation playing at?"

Speedy had jumped out himself. At this time, he still did not know that Smith Corporation's Internet had been repaired. He was at home browsing Facebook and waiting for Q's reply. Therefore, when he saw Smith Corporation's message, he was the first to find it unacceptable.

He was stunned. He reposted Smith Corporation's Facebook post and labeled it with a question mark to express his confusion. But just as most people were questioning the authenticity of this news and the netizens were discussing it, someone suddenly sent a message! On the hacking forum, Q used his public account to send a message:

Q: "I have officially accepted Smith Corporation's recruitment and have become Smith Corporation's consultant. Someone was impersonating me to attack the Smith Corporation, whom I have already handed over to the police! I will also send her to court for legal punishment!"

Speedy: !!

When he saw this news, he suddenly trembled.

He swallowed. Suddenly, his personal inbox lit up. It was Q who had replied: "Oh, then you don't have to stay in the hacker world anymore."

Speedy: "..."

His fingers softened and his phone slipped out of his hand...

#SmithCorporation'sInternetNetworkRecovery, #SmithCorporation SupplementedTheirInternet Shortcomings, #SmithCorporationCarriedoutAnOnlineCombat Exercise, and other topics immediately became trending under Joel's control.

ne

The people who had been scolding Smith Corporation finally reacted.

Some gamers even realized that the Internet seemed to be smoother after entering the game! The gaming experience was better!

Another analysis post went straight to the top of the trending searches.

Smith Cooperation used to focus on the physical industry with the Internet industry as support. The development of new media was not good enough, but now, they had filled this shortcoming. With Q as a backup, Smith Cooperation's future was promising!

Many people had seen this trending post. Accordingly, Smith Cooperation's stock price that had plummeted to nearly 20% suddenly began to rise crazily!

The price of a single share was almost equal to that of Hunt Corporation!

As everyone watched Smith Cooperation's stock prices skyrocket, someone even started a conspiracy theory.

– Now, I feel that all of this was self-directed and acted out by Smith Cooperation. They used the attack to attract everyone's attention, and in the end, they retaliated! It was simply beautiful. Today, Smith Cooperation's shares soared crazily!

– Ahhhh, I don't care what kind of conspiracy it is. Smith Cooperation is the greatest of all time! With Q, Smith Cooperation is like a tiger that has grown wings!

— If Smith Cooperation's momentum continues to be so fierce, it feels like the number one family is going to change!

– Oh my god, Smith Cooperation must have taken over the trending searches today!

When Nora saw this Facebook post, she raised her eyebrows and smiled as she sent the link to that little lunatic.

Then, she replied: "You've spent too much. You helped us get on the trending searches." The other party was silent for a full two minutes before he gritted his teeth and sent, "Shit!"

Nora was very satisfied when she saw this word.

To be able to make this little lunatic curse, it was enough to show that he was extremely angry, right?

Smith Cooperation's crisis had been resolved. She stretched and said to Joel, "I'm going home."

Joel nodded.

Nora stood up and stretched her neck before walking out slowly. The moment she pushed the door open, Samuel and the other executives immediately took two steps back and made way for her.

At this moment, everyone looked at her with admiration.

Samuel even took a trembling step forward and held her hand. For the first time, he said in a tone that was not hostile, "Nora, you must maintain a good relationship with Q! You must win him over by hook or by crook, okay?"

Nora glanced at him and knew that Samuel was frightened this time.

If the Smiths went bankrupt, he would also suffer losses!

However, when she thought of how he had come to cause trouble time and time again, Nora's eyes flashed. She thought of Samuel's hobby that Joel had told her about and said, "Samuel, Q likes antiques the most, especially the blue and white porcelain from the Qing Dynasty. You also know that I came from California, and I don't have such precious things. Sigh! Q said that if I can't find it for him, he won't cooperate further with us!"

Samuel: "!!!!"

That blue and white porcelain was his most precious collection. It was worth almost a hundred million dollars! How could he give it away just like that?!

However, when he thought of how quickly Smith Cooperation's shares had fallen after the Internet collapse today, he felt as if his heart was on a rollercoaster. He gritted his teeth. “What’s wrong with that? I have it! Give it to Q right now!”

Nora narrowed her almond-shaped eyes and revealed her white teeth. “Get it sent to the Smiths.”

“...Okay.”

Nora left after saying this. Joel, who was sitting in the office, also heard their conversation: II 11

His little cousin had such a devious side to her!

... How cute!

—

Nora returned to the Smiths.

After parking the car, she looked at the time. It was almost 11 PM. The children’s rooms upstairs were dark. They must have slept long ago.

She entered casually and was about to head upstairs when she saw the man sitting on the sofa.

There was no one else in the living room. Under the warm and comfortable light, Justin was looking at his phone. There was a rare relaxed joy on his face, the corners of his lips curled up slightly. Even the mole at the corner of his eye was curved into a happy smile. The man had his legs crossed and was staring at his phone.

Nora walked over in surprise and looked at his phone. She wanted to know what the man saw that made him smile so happily.

Unexpectedly, it was...

Chapter 487 - I'll Tell You A Secret~

When Nora looked over, the man was browsing Facebook

On Facebook, there was a small-time user called “Nora—Justin Couple”. Below, it posted:

[Ahhh, what should I do? Did you see what Hunt Corporation said at the critical moment? I'm at your beck and call! I feel so spoiled!] [I'm a fan of a couple from two companies!]

[The domineering Mr. Hunt is seeking attention. The cold Beauty Smith has rejected him!]

[He has Y while she has Q. The emperor and queen of the hacker world are in their hands. They look more compatible!]

(Ahhhh, I saw a text, it's so sweet! Link attached!)

Justin's slender fingers opened the link, and inside was a short piece of a text:

“Actually, Hunt has always been deeply in love with Smith. Smith has long had her heart set on Hunt, but the two strong people have never learned how to express themselves. They only worked hard to show their best sides in front of each other.

Smith tried hard, but she was tripped by someone. The moment she fell, Hunt suddenly realized something. It was too tiring for Smith to chase after him.

Hunt stopped in his tracks and reached out to her. ‘My hand is right here. Come as you wish.’

Smith looked at that hand but did not clench it tightly. Instead, she stubbornly pressed her hand against the ground and stood up. “I have my own hand.”

Smith did not notice that when she said this, her tone was filled with shyness... To be continued...”

Justin looked at the words and smiled, liking this Facebook post.

Justin was currently logged into Hunt Corporation’s official account.

This little like immediately made the netizens hype up again. Everyone shouted, — Ahhhh, the couple is real!!

Nora was speechless. No matter what Justin did, he was always serious and very vigilant. However, she had been standing behind him for so long, yet this man still did not notice her arrival. The corners of Nora’s lips twitched. She watched as Justin liked every post that praised them. When he had liked more than ten, Nora could not stand it anymore and turned around to go upstairs.

When she increased her pace, she attracted Justin’s attention!

He looked up suddenly and smiled when he saw Nora. “You’re back?”

Nora: “...Yes.”

She wanted to say something, but when she turned her head back to look, she saw that Justin had already lowered his head again and was looking at his phone. He had started his journey of likes again.

Nora: “...”

The “thank you” was stuck in her throat.

This fellow had deliberately created a “Y” that could be used at will in a high-profile manner. He had even shouted loudly on the Internet and bought the top trending searches just to help them.

Nora shook her head slightly and sighed. She prepared to go upstairs.

She had just taken the first step when she heard Justin's bright voice.
"Nora."

Nora stopped in her tracks and looked at him.

Justin finally looked up. His eyes were still smiling, and his dark eyes were as bright as the stars. "Is Q you?"

Nora: "..."

She was silent for a moment before asking, "Then is Y you?"

In the silence, they looked at each other. Suddenly, they smiled again.

No words needed to be spoken.

Nora went upstairs to sleep. When she woke up again, the sky was bright. She picked up her phone and glanced at it. She realized that many people had contacted her, but most of them seemed to know that she was resting, so they had only left messages.

Nora ignored Brenda, Morris, and the others. Her gaze first landed on Lily's message. Usually, Lily would not look for her for no reason. Now that she was suddenly looking for her...

Nora hurriedly unlocked her phone and dialed her number. Lily picked up immediately and said, "Boss, Old Maddy seems to have regained some rationality. He kept nagging about looking for you! I'm trying to calm him down, but I think he has something to say to you." If he had something to say... Nora thought of the secret her mother had left behind and sat up immediately. "I'll be right there!"

She got out of bed, put on her clothes, and rushed downstairs. Then, she went to the car park and drove straight to the hospital!

In the hospital.

Nora came to the door of Old Maddy's room. Before she entered, she heard Old Maddy shouting, "Where's Ian's daughter? Where's Yvette's daughter? I want to see her! Her mother has a secret that she wants me to tell her! Shh, I won't tell you. I'll only tell her! I can only tell her!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 488 - A Secret!

When Nora heard these words, she hurriedly pushed open the door and walked in.

Lily was pressing on Old Maddy's arm. Ever since he was poisoned by Yvonne, his body had not been well, and his mind had not recovered.

His expression was still not good, and the burns on his body were terrifying.

Lily comforted him. "Boss is coming soon. Don't be agitated..."

Old Maddy danced around and kept shouting, "I want to see Yvette's daughter! Quickly call her to see me! It'll be over if she's late! I want to tell her a secret..."

Lily almost couldn't control him anymore. At this moment, Nora entered the door. When she heard the door opening, Lily turned back to look at her and finally heaved a sigh of relief.

"You're finally here!"

Lily stood up and said with resentment, "If you hadn't come soon, Old Maddy would really have gone crazy this time!"

Nora ignored her nagging and walked straight to the bed. When he saw her face, Old Maddy calmed down.

His turbid eyes suddenly became clear. He looked at Nora quietly for a while before smiling. "You're here." "I'm here."

Nora held his dry hand. His fingers were especially dry because they had been burned before, and his skin was very wrinkled.

She asked softly, "What's the matter?"

Old Maddy looked at her and his eyes gradually calmed down. He smiled. "I want to tell you that you need to have a child!"

Nora: "?"

She was stunned. "What?"

"You need to have a child! Now, now! Hurry!" Old Maddy suddenly became anxious and pushed her out. "Do it now."

His words were incoherent, making her even more confused.

However, Nora's heart jumped a little. She seemed to have thought of something and asked, "Why?" "Why?"

Old Maddy was stunned. "Yes, why?"

He was pushing Nora's hand, but he suddenly quietened down. He scratched his head hard. "Why? Why can't I remember why? Why? Why? Why ?..."

He muttered softly to himself. After saying these words, he grabbed his hair hard because he could not remember the reason. A few strands of hair had been plucked off by him from his already barren scalp, but he still could not seem to remember.

He suddenly slapped his head angrily. "Why? Tell me quickly. Why?" Nora saw that he was gradually losing his mind and seemed to be getting more and more anxious. She hurriedly held his hand. "Old Maddy..."

When Old Maddy saw her, he did not think about why anymore. Instead, he held her hand. "Quickly go and have a child. Go!" Nora: "...I already gave birth."

"You gave birth?"

Old Maddy was stunned. "It really happened?"

"It's true."

There were even two of them.

Nora did not say the last sentence. She only stared at Old Maddy. When she saw that he seemed to have heard this, she heaved a sigh of relief. Then, he slowly closed her eyes. His emotions seemed to have calmed down. Nora asked tentatively, “Can you remember anything else?”

Old Maddy whispered, “I can’t remember. I can’t remember. I’m old. I’m crazy... And I can’t think. My head hurts. My head hurts so much...”

“Okay, don’t think about it yet. But if you remember anything else, you have to tell me.”

Nora reminded him softly. Old Maddy nodded. “I’ll remember. I know...”

After Old Maddy fell asleep, Nora walked out of the ward.

Lily looked at her. “Anti, I think Old Maddy’s condition has improved. At least he was talking to you normally just now. But he’s so strange! Why did he want you to have a child?”

Nora shook her head to indicate that she did not know.

She told Lily, “Take good care of Old Maddy. When his physical fitness reaches a certain level, I’ll continue his treatment.”

Old Maddy might be someone who knew about some things back then! Only by curing Old Maddy could she possibly know some of her mother’s secrets.

Since she was at the hospital, Nora went to visit Quentin again.

Quentin lay there and was getting another nurse to feed him fruits. As he ate, he said, “Don’t look at how I’m paralyzed on the bed now and can’t even lift a cup of water. You don’t know how powerful I used to be.”

At this point, he took a bite of an apple and continued, “My martial arts are especially good. It’s not a problem for me to fight ten people alone! What’s with your expression? When I’m done, I’ll fight ten for you to see!”

When Nora heard this, she stopped in her tracks.

As she stood at the door, she heard the nurse say, “Okay? How big is your heart? Do you know how serious your injuries are?”

Quentin smiled. “Do you know who my cousin is?”

The young nurse: “...I know. It’s Anti!”

“Other than Anti, she’s also Big... Forget it, I won’t tell you anymore. You won’t understand even if I tell you. Anyway, she’s very good at fighting!”

The young nurse asked, “Is she better than you?”

Quentin: “...Damn, she’s just a little better than me. Really, just a little. When I recover, I’ll practice for another ten years. I’ll definitely beat her! Because she’s too lazy. She only knows how to sleep every day... If she doesn’t practice, she’ll only worsen! Why should I tell you about fighting? What I want to tell you is that with her around, I’ll definitely be able to stand up!”

Nora clenched her fists silently. Her almond-shaped eyes drooped slightly. It was as if there was suddenly a heavy burden on her shoulders.

She did not expect Quentin to trust her so blindly.

This made her feel pressured.

She did not enter and instead turned to Ian’s lounge.

Ian was holding his phone and looking at something. However, Nora could vaguely hear Joel’s voice.

She was about to take a closer look when Ian heard her enter. He quickly switched off her phone and looked at her guiltily. “Nora, why are you here?”

Nora: "...How are you?" Ian smiled. "I'm quite good. I feel like I can be discharged in a few days."

Nora nodded.

Ian looked at her.

Nora pursed her lips.

Ian was still looking at her.

Nora sat down at the side and stood upright.

Ian was still looking at her.

For a moment, there was nothing between them. A faint awkwardness filled the room.

Looking at her new father, Nora still felt a sense of estrangement.

After all, she had seen him fewer than a dozen times.

Nora stood up. "If you're fine, I'll get going." Ian subconsciously asked, "You're leaving so soon?"

He had not seen enough of his daughter! Nora nodded. "Yes, I still have something to do."

She walked towards the door and had just opened it when Ian's voice suddenly came from behind. "Nora, you just went to see Quentin, right?"

Nora paused.

She did not turn back, but she still heard Ian's voice. "It's okay. As long as you try your best, even if the outcome is unsatisfactory, it's okay. I know Quentin. He won't blame you."

Nora felt relieved. She felt as if strands of warmth were flowing into her heart again.

She lowered her head. “Yes.”

With that, she turned around. “Thank you.”

After leaving the hospital, Nora got into her car and planned to interrogate Yvonne.

However, she suddenly thought of something and picked up her phone. She suddenly sent that little psycho a message: “Can I ask you a question?”

The little psycho replied quickly: “Beg me.”

Nora: “Then forget it.”

Little Psycho: “No, you have to ask!” He was extremely curious about what questions his little servant wanted to ask.

Nora: “No.”

Little Psycho: “Ask! I can answer you a question for free!”

Nora was waiting for this sentence. “Why must I have a child?”

The moment this question was asked, the other party replied.

After seeing that reply, Nora’s eyes widened in shock...

Chapter 489 - Little Psycho?

On the other end of the line, the other party's message was very clear.

(You'll die if you don't have children.)

Nora stared at those words and felt that she did not understand what they meant. She frowned and sent another message. "Why?"

The other party: "This is the second question. Beg me."

Nora: "..."

She lowered her eyes. "Please, will you tell me?"

The other party: "It depends on my mood."

He clearly did not intend to say anything.

Nora ignored him and threw her phone aside.

She did not understand what this answer meant, but from what she heard, she felt that things were developing in a strange direction.

Why would she die if she did not give birth?

She sat in the car quietly and thought for a long time before starting the car and heading to the special department.

In the special department.

Previously, when Yvonne was in an ordinary prison, she had always felt that her prison break was very simple. Therefore, even after she was arrested by the special department, she still sat there calmly and did not say anything.

Morris and Brenda did not torture her, but they did not get any useful information.

Ever since she was arrested, she had been in the interrogation room. She did not eat, drink, or sleep. At this moment, she looked very haggard, but the gaze in her eyes was very firm.

Nora entered the interrogation room and sat opposite her. She thought for a moment and suddenly said, “Are you waiting for them to save you?”

When Yvonne heard this, her eyes trembled before she raised her head. “I don’t know what you’re talking about.”

Nora spoke again. “Your computer skills have improved tremendously recently!” A complacent smile appeared on Yvonne’s face. “If you’re mocking me, then I can tell you that there’s no need. Do you really think that the Smiths can do whatever they want with Q? If you have the ability, wait a while for me. I will definitely be more powerful than Q!”

When she said this, there was only confidence on her face without any hesitation.

Nora frowned a little when she looked like this. She did not know where her confidence came from.

She suddenly said, “How are you going to compete with Q? Even if you invaded Smith Corporation this time, you needed someone to bring in a hard drive for you. What’s the point of breaking the firewall from the inside?”

Hearing this, Yvonne bit her lips. Indeed, this invasion was because Jill’s nephew had brought in a USB flash drive when he entered Smith Corporation. From then on, she had planned this attack.

What a pity...

They had put in so much effort, but Q had easily disintegrated them!

Yvonne lowered her head and sneered, “You don’t have to provoke me with your words. Anyway, I won’t die if I’m arrested for a while. You can wait for me for half a month. I’ll let you know what it means to be a peak hacker!”

Her words were very arrogant.

She looked at Nora and reached out her hand. “Do you know how it feels to suddenly become stronger? My mind suddenly became clear. Some algorithms that were originally as difficult to overcome as mountains were easily figured out by me. My logic was clear, and everything was in my mind! In my palm...”

Nora saw that when she said these words, she seemed to be in a daze. She frowned and suddenly said, “Hillary was suddenly in a coma. When the prison guards couldn’t find out the reason, she was sent out of the prison. You took the opportunity to hide in the car and escaped, right?”

Yvonne was stunned.

Nora said again, “Are you certain that if they can save you once, they can save you a second time? Did you expect to be arrested by the special department this time?”

She could be easily rescued from ordinary cells because the restrictions there were indeed not very strict.

However, the special department was the most tightly guarded department in New York. Where did Yvonne get her confidence from to think that she could escape from here?

Yvonne was not frightened by Nora’s words. She lowered her eyes and sneered. “They won’t give up on me.” “Why?”

Nora asked.

Yvonne smiled. “Because I’m about to become the best hacker in the world. They need a genius like me!”

Nora listened to her and frowned. It seemed like that little psycho had promised Yvonne something. Otherwise, a selfish person like her would have betrayed them long ago.

But how could that little psycho rush to the special department to save someone?

She shook her head and sneered. “Even so, you have to ensure that you can touch your phone or computer. But can you touch them here?”

Yvonne shook her head. “You don’t have to scare me. If you want to use torture, then use it. I’m not afraid at all! But what do you want me to say? Heh, I have no comment!”

With that, she lowered her head and looked like she did not want to talk anymore.

Nora could only leave the interrogation room.

Morris walked forward and asked, “We can’t use torture right now because we’re drawing blood for testing.”

Nora clenched her jaw. “You mean...”

Morris nodded. “She admitted that she became so powerful because she was injected with a genetic modification drug.” Nora instantly pursed her lips tightly.

Genetic modification drug...

This was the first time she had directly felt the changes brought by the genetic modification drug.

Yvonne’s computer skills in the past were indeed ordinary. She was just scaring laymen.

But this time, even with the help of Jill’s nephew, Yvonne had hacked everyone’s computers in Smith Corporation in a short period of time. She was indeed very powerful!

If it was anyone other than Nora—even if Solo was here—they would not be her match!

Could that genetic modification drug really develop a person's brain to the limit?

If that was the case, then could Quentin be saved?!

Seeming to have sensed her hesitation, Morris said, "You can go to the laboratory and take a look at the current report."

Nora nodded and entered the laboratory at the side.

The people there were all researchers. They had taken Yvonne's blood and were examining it. Nora walked over and took the report. She saw that there was indeed some unknown component in her blood.

Everyone was still examining the composition, and they were temporarily unable to distinguish the structure.

Nora took the reports over and checked them one by one.

She read the last copy first...

Suddenly, she stood up and looked at the documents in her hand. "Oh no!"

"What's wrong?"

Someone asked.

Nora stood up and was about to walk out. However, before she could step out, a low voice suddenly sounded from the interrogation room!

Chapter 490 - Another Identity~

Hearing that low voice, Nora rushed into the interrogation room.

Yvonne fell to the ground with her eyes closed. She seemed to have lost consciousness, and the guards were frantically patting her as they shouted, “Wake up, wake up...”

Nora took a step forward hurriedly. “Move!”

When the staff worker saw that it was her, he immediately made way.

Nora came to Yvonne’s side and used one hand to check her breathing while the other hand pressed on her pulse. Her breathing was already very weak, almost gone.

Even her pulse became unclear.

Nora swallowed.

The person beside her shouted, “CPR!” Nora immediately stopped him. “No!”

“Why?”

She slowly said, “The unknown composition in her blood is increasing exponentially. Those things can improve her genes, but they will also take her life!”

Although the results of those reports were from the same batch of blood, the unknown concentration of components changed every hour.

As the change was not big and the coefficient was too small, the researchers did not notice it immediately.

However, when Nora went to take a look, she realized this problem!

The unknown components in her blood were like bacteria. From the moment they entered her body, they began to reproduce!

As time passed, it slowly spread throughout her body.

Nora also realized this before shouting “no” and rushing over.

The worker did not understand the full story, but he understood what she meant. “You’re saying that if we perform CPR, it will cause the blood in Yvonne’s body to flow faster and increase the growth of those things?” Nora nodded. “Yes.”

The worker was anxious. “Then there’s nothing in these emergency measures that can save her now!”

How were they supposed to get any clues when she was dead?

When Nora heard this, she reached into her purse and took out a bunch of silver needles. Then, she quickly took out a short needle, stabbing Yvonne’s head twice.

After two stabs, Yvonne let out a cry and slowly opened her eyes. She did not understand what was going on and asked, “What are you guys doing? What’s wrong with me?”

Nora lowered her eyes and said slowly, “The genetic modification drug they injected into you multiplies endlessly in your body.” Yvonne was stunned for a moment before she seemed to understand something. “So they’re lying to me? But how is that possible? I’m so powerful, why would they lie to me? Without me, they can’t find another hacker! I know now. Are you acting? Are you trying to get something out of me?! Let me tell you, don’t think I’ll believe you just because you said you could treat me!”

Nora pursed her lips and looked at her. “I can’t treat you.”

Yvonne was stunned. “What?”

The silver needle in Nora’s hand was still inserted into her brain. “I’m just holding your breath now, but I can’t stop those reproductions. You only have one minute.”

Yvonne was stunned.

She looked at Nora in a daze and felt the pain in her temples. There seemed to be something crawling in her body. It made her feel cold and afraid.

She looked at Nora in disbelief. Suddenly, waves of pain came from her bloodstream! The pain stimulated her nerves! It made her feel like her entire body was about to burn!

This pain made her realize that Nora was not lying!

Yvonne widened her eyes in shock and grabbed Nora’s hand in disbelief. “Save me, save me. I don’t want to die. I don’t want to die...”

Unfortunately, the more agitated she was, the faster her blood flowed.

Almost after she said that, she suddenly coughed out a mouthful of blood and fell to the ground again!

Nora frowned and whispered into her ear, “Don’t you want to take revenge? Tell me, who contacted you...”

Yvonne looked at her, still in shock.

Suddenly, she grinned and said the last sentence of her life. “As long as you can’t get what you want, I’ll be happy...”

The interrogation room was silent.

Nora stared at the woman in front of her. She had fallen to the ground with her eyes staring into empty space unwillingly. Her face, distorted due to the pain, slowly relaxed after she died.

Morris and Brenda heard the sound and rushed over. When they entered, they saw Nora standing beside them with a frown.

The two of them looked at the worker beside them hesitantly and asked, “What happened? What did she say before she died?” The worker shook his head. “Nothing...”

Nora also came back to her senses. She was actually a little puzzled earlier. She understood that the moment Yvonne was arrested, she had been abandoned by that little psycho.

Yvonne definitely understood this logic. That little psycho was her murderer, but what was this woman thinking? Why was she unwilling to tell her who it was even until she died?

Especially that last sentence. It was clearly saying that as long as you were unhappy, I would be happy!

Was a woman’s jealousy really that strong?

She winced and quickly recovered from this state.

Yvonne’s problem was definitely her own, and it had nothing to do with Nora!

She turned to look at Morris and Brenda and said, “I realized that the genetic modification drug isn’t safe to use at all.”

Morris and Brenda looked at her simultaneously.

Nora slowly said, “That drug can at least be said to be imperfect. After being injected, although her genes had indeed improved in a short period of time, the drug infinitely replicated in her body. It stimulated the limits of her body. Yvonne died was because her brain had reached its limits and could not keep up with the drug’s stimulation. In the end, she died from the backlash!”

When Morris and Brenda received this news, their expressions instantly turned grave. Even Brenda no longer had her usual image as she looked at her seriously. “So, they gave Yvonne a semi-finished product?”

Morris nodded as well. “This at least proves one thing! They haven’t perfected the drug yet!”

Yvonne’s death was worthless. However, to Nora, it was like a blow to her head, waking her up. There were no shortcuts in the world.

She was the only one who could treat Quentin’s illness. That genetic modification drug would have pushed Quentin to his death.

As she thought about this, she went out and prepared to make a trip to her alternative medicine doctor’s house to ask if there was any way to regenerate a person’s bones.

In the car, she received another message from the little psycho: “Are you thanking me now?”

Nora: “?”

Next, she saw his message: “I’ve already killed the two women you hate the most. You’re welcome.”

Nora: “...”

Little Psycho: “You should have realized by now. The genetic modification drug that Hillary and Yvonne used is semi-finished. The reason I gave Yvonne to you was to show you the effect of that drug. Even the semi-finished product can let people break through their limits. Don’t you want to know what kind of changes a finished product will cause? Aren’t you tempted?”

Nora replied, “We caught Yvonne, you didn’t give her to us. Thank you.”

The little psycho was silent again before replying: “Little servant, since you don’t know what’s good for you, don’t blame me for being rude! After serving two appetizers, don’t blame me for being unruly to you next! Hehe...” Nora frowned.

This person was really annoying. Why was he pestering her? However, if he did not pester her, she would not have a chance to solve the case.

Nora lowered her eyes.

She did not know who the little psycho was going to target this time.

As she was thinking, her phone suddenly rang. She glanced at it and realized that it was Simon, the uncle of the Andersons. She picked up the call and heard Simon's voice. "Nora, something has happened!" "What?" Nora's heart sank.

Then, she heard Simon's voice. "Elaine Miller has been suspended. You seem to be the one who did it, right? She's now slandering you everywhere. She said that you worship modern medicine and look down on alternative medicine. That's why you chased her out of the system! Do you still remember Mr. Myers? When he heard about this, he immediately contacted Elaine and made this matter bigger. Now, the entire alternative medicine world knows that Anti looks down on alternative medicine. They want to reason with you!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 491 - Slapping The Hypocrite In The Face!

Nora: “?”

She drove the car steadily and comforted him. “It’s okay.”

Seeing that she seemed unaffected, Simon sighed. “I know you are not afraid of them, but Nora, it’s just that... there are many families with long histories of practicing alternative medicine in New York. Alternative medicine has also been developing particularly well in the pharmaceutical industry. If you offend the alternative medicine practitioners in New York, you won’t have an easy time in the future. So, I’m wondering if you want to look for an opportunity to clear things up.”

Simon was sure that Nora could not have said such things. After all, the Andersons themselves came from a background of alternative medicine.

Nora nodded. “Okay, I will clarify things if I find the opportunity.”

Simon nodded. “Okay. Take care of yourself. I saw Jon and Elaine speaking to each other just now. They’re likely targeting you.”

“... Where are you?” asked Nora.

“Oh, at a conference. Alright, I’m hanging up.”

Simon hung up. Next to him, Melissa said, “Actually, I don’t really think there’s a need for you to warn her about that.”

Simon shook his head. “Although Nora does not rely on her medical skills to support herself, and that with the Smiths and the Hunts, no one in the medical field will dare to do anything to her; her identity as Anti is clear for all to see. No matter what, it’s not a good idea to offend people of the alternative medicine circle. Why are there simply so many people who insist on targeting Nora?”

Melissa sighed. “She is too dazzling. All the inconspicuous little black bugs love circling around shiny things.”

Simon choked. He couldn’t help but laugh. “What harsh words, dear.”

Melissa straightened her back, the classy dress she had on wrapped around her graceful figure. She smiled and said, “It’s true, after all...”

When she wanted to speak again, Elaine walked over and said somewhat respectfully, “Mr. Anderson, Mrs. Anderson... I know I shouldn’t be coming over and disturbing the two of you so presumptuously, but I have something I think I should still say.” Simon looked at her. Now that the Andersons had established a firm foothold in New York with the Carefree Pills, there was no longer anyone willing to offend them at alternative medicine conferences like this.

As for Jon, because of his son’s death, he had hated Nora to the core all this time and went around smearing her reputation whenever he found an opportunity to. However, everyone else was afraid that they wouldn’t be able to get Carefree Pills anymore if they offended the Andersons, so Jon hadn’t managed to gain any momentum for the time being.

Regardless, because of what Jon had said, they more or less still secretly looked unfavorably upon Nora.

Simon knew that Elaine must be up to no good, so he glanced at Melissa and stepped aside.

Melissa slowly lowered her gaze and smiled. “What would Ms. Miller like to say? If it’s about business, then we should talk in private. As for other things, I don’t think there’s anything that Ms. Miller and I can talk to each other about?”

Seeing how that she was refusing to show any consideration for her feelings, Elaine stepped in front of her. “Mrs. Anderson, I decided to speak with you because I simply cannot stand how arrogant Nora is anymore, so I thought of giving her a kind reminder. She may have studied modern medicine and is now the world-famous Anti, but does she think she can look down on alternative medicine just because of that? Alternative medicine has been passed down from ancient times and has even spread abroad now. How can one of our own disparage it so casually?” Melissa: “...”

Her expression darkened at once. “Ms. Miller, you don’t have to go back and forth in front of me hiding behind the kind pretense. I am almost fifty this year while you are about the same age as my daughter. There’s no way you can keep your sneaky little thoughts from me! If you really had kind intentions, then you won’t choose to embarrass me like this in public! Neither is there a need for you to create for yourself the image of a just and morally upright person who cannot bring herself to continue watching this. We all know very well what is going on here. Even though there are some conflicts between you and Nora, there is no need for you to raise the issue to a higher plane of moral principles! Besides...”

Melissa looked straight at the people watching the show. “Not only has Nora never once looked down on alternative medicine, but she also has a very deep understanding of alternative medicine. After all, her mother was a leading figure in the world of alternative medicine back then! She found the Carefree Pill formula in the manuscripts that her mother left behind. Part of the credit for the Carefree Pills that all of you have at home right now goes to none other than Nora!”

Her words easily crushed Elaine’s pretenses and astounded those around them whose feelings had been stoked by Elaine.

After saying that, Melissa and Simon exchanged a look. With even a second glance at Elaine, the two of them left.

Elaine wanted to go after them and say something, but it was to no avail—because the two of them had already been surrounded by the people around them. “Mr. Anderson, why don’t we talk about the Carefree Pill supply for next month....”

At the sight of Simon and Melissa surrounded in the center by everyone, Elaine gnashed her teeth in fury. It was at this moment that Jon came over. He stared at the couple with a fierce and sinister look in his eyes and said, “Those people have all been drawn in by the Andersons’ Carefree Pills. They no longer show any respect for the dignity of alternative medicine!”

Elaine stomped her feet angrily. “Mr. Myers, what should we do now?”

“What should we do?” Jon suddenly narrowed his eyes. “Since we cannot make them do what we want, then we should go to someone of great reputation and prestige!”

“Who are you talking about?” Elaine asked excitedly.

“Dr. Zabe!”

Jon’s words, however, made Elaine hang her head in disappointment. “Dr. Zabe can’t even get onto his feet anymore. How is he going to come over to uphold justice for us?”

Jon, however, laughed and said, “There’s something you don’t know. While Dr. Zabe certainly can’t make an appearance anymore, he has a disciple—the one and only disciple he ever took! That person is the true leader of the world of alternative medicine now!”

Chapter 492 - 2 There Will Always Be A Way!

Upon hearing this, Elaine hesitated for a moment. “But that person is so mysterious, and I’ve also heard that they don’t really bother themselves much with miscellaneous affairs. Also, no one knows where they are. Will they help us?”

Jon, however, smiled mysteriously at her. “Do you know what Yvonne Smith gave the elderly Mrs. Hunt some time back during her birthday party?”

Elaine answered hesitantly, “The Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill...”

At this point, Elaine suddenly understood something. “You mean that person has been in New York all this time?”

Jon nodded. “Moreover, even though Dr. Zabe has been ill for so long, he has been in good spirits all this time, so someone must have treated his illness for him. Who else can that person be, aside from his disciple?”

Silvester was obviously dying because of old age.

He was already over ninety, yet despite his bodily functions failing, he was still in good spirits and as weird as ever. Everyone had been speculating in private that it must be his capable disciple who had treated his illness!

Upon hearing what Jon said, Elaine nodded immediately. “You’re right! If they come forward, Nora Smith’s reputation in New York will be ruined!”

Even if she was a modern medicine practitioner, and even if she had the Hunts and the Smiths backing her up, in the field of medicine, she would still become a joke who had the audacity to challenge alternative medicine!

Jon nodded. Then, he looked around once more before he leaned toward Elaine and said, "I'll leave for now. I'm heading to the Zebes' to take a look!"

Elaine nodded excitedly.

Nora, who was unaware that someone was plotting against her, was currently driving to the Zebes'.

On the way there, she bought some fruits for Silvester.

When she arrived at the Zebes', Silvester's son treated her exceptionally kindly. After all, she had helped him to earn a lot of money from Yvonne the other time!

Silvester's son led her into the house earnestly, whereupon they saw Silvester seated in the garden and basking in the sun.

Silvester was getting advanced in age. He had numerous wrinkles on his aged visage, and he could no longer walk.

Despite that, he was entirely unconcerned and continued to read his book.

Nora sat down in front of him and greeted him. "Master."

Silvester glanced at her. "Didn't I tell you not to come over if there's nothing important? Why are you here again?!"

Nora thought for a moment and then asked, "I wanted to ask you if there is any way to regenerate a person's broken bones?"

Regenerating a person's broken bones... This concept, which seemed to only exist in martial arts novels, was also a legend in reality.

Silvester slowly put down the book and closed his murky eyes.

Nora didn't speak anymore. She knew that her teacher was musing over her question.

Her introduction to alternative medicine when she was a child, as well as her subsequently becoming Silvester's disciple was, in fact, thanks to Quinn. He had introduced her to Silvester after seeing her talent in alternative medicine.

Silvester and she often discussed alternative medicine over the phone... To be honest, this actually wasn't a good way for someone to learn or teach, but Nora was someone who could immediately understand a topic with just a bit of guidance, so she had ended up studying under Silvester's tutelage like that.

Nora had long been accustomed to such behavior from Silvester, so she stayed quiet and waited for him.

A short while later, Silvester opened his eyes and said, "A bone adhesion balm actually used to exist. If you use it with traditional massage techniques and acupuncture, there may be a chance that it'll work. However, the bone adhesion balm's formula doesn't exist anymore, so you can only create it yourself. Also, the balm exists only in legends, I have never seen it before."

Nora nodded when she heard this.

Silvester called his son over and told him to show Nora the books with mentions of the bone adhesion balm. He said, "I have taught you everything that I know. This is something that I don't know, either, so you'll have to research it yourself! Alternative medicine is extensive and profound. Even after spending my entire life studying it, I have but only scratched its surface. As long as you persist, there will always be a way!"

Nora was full of respect for him.

She stood and took the books respectfully. She wanted to say something, but Silvester instead picked up his own book and continued reading. "You can leave if there's nothing else. Don't bother me all the time!"

"... Yes, sir."

Silvester's son was already in his sixties and was rather advanced in age. When he heard what Silvester said, he personally saw Nora out.

At the same time.

At the gates to the Zabe residence, the sound of a car pulling over suddenly rang out.

Jon's car came to a stop. He opened the car door and walked to the gate. After straightening his clothes, he knocked on the door.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 493 - The Misguided Nora Smith??

A servant soon opened the door. Jon said, "I'm here to see Dr. Zabe."

When the servant heard this, he said, "Please wait a minute. He is currently with a guest."

A guest... Jon was a little surprised.

Silvester rarely agreed to visitors, and this had been the case for many years. He rejected the visitation requests from most of the people who wanted to learn from him.

After all, he was in poor health. It was also said that he had mild problems with his memory now.

Apart from the few old-timers like him who at least had some status in the field of alternative medicine, there was almost no one else who could meet with Silvester.

However, there was an alternative medicine conference taking place that day, so the old-timers were all there at the moment. Who would visit Silvester at this time?

While thinking about it, Jon asked, "Who is it?"

The servant smiled and said nothing. Jon immediately knew that he had crossed the line. He smiled and said, "Please let him know that I'm here. I will wait here."

"Okay."

When the servant entered Silvester's room, Silvester's son just so happened to be seeing Nora out. "This way, Nora."

Nora said, “You should also pay more attention to your health too, Mr. Zabe.”

Silvester’s son had also learned medical skills from Silvester. Therefore, even though there was a very big age gap between the two of them, Nora was actually his junior. Silvester’s son laughed and said, “Sigh, that’s the way it is once you become old. I do want my old man to live a few more years, though! This way, I can take care of him for a few more years!”

Nora heaved a silent sigh inwardly when she heard this.

When she was a child, she always heard Silvester scolding his son and calling him mediocre, because he was unhappy that he couldn’t inherit his skills in alternative medicine.

During those times, her senior would always just smile naively.

But now... Silvester was already over ninety years old, yet his son, who was in his sixties, was still by his side. Wasn’t that also bliss in some way? Some people had a lot of children, all of whom were talented, yet some went overseas and some traveled far away from home. Few stayed by their side.

Nora subconsciously thought of Pete and Cherry... Well, given how smart the two of them were, they definitely wouldn’t be clingy in the future.

Once she got on in age, the two of them likely wouldn’t keep showing up in front of her. This way, she wouldn’t become annoyed seeing them all the time, either. The only person whom she would see all the time would probably just be Jus...

No, wait!

What was she thinking? They weren’t even married yet, so why was she saving a place for him in her retirement plan?

Nora shook her head and stepped out while sighing emotionally. The moment she did, she spotted Jon at the door!

The moment the two of them made eye contact, Jon became dumbfounded.

He looked at Nora in surprise, and then at Silvester's son in confusion. An astounded look formed on his face, but he quickly suppressed it.

Nora, however, ignored him and nodded at Silvester's son. "I'm leaving. You don't have to see me off any further." Since they had a guest, he definitely wouldn't be able to see her off anymore.

She wasn't an outsider anyway.

Silvester's son smiled and said, "Alright, go ahead!"

Nora walked straight past Jon and left.

Even after the door was closed, Jon still hadn't recovered.

What was Nora doing at the Zabes?

Silvester's son was already speaking politely to Jon. He asked, "Are you here to see my father?"

Jon nodded. Unable to suppress his curiosity, he asked, "That's Nora Smith, right? I heard that she is Anti, the surgeon."

Silvester's son nodded. "Seems like it. What's the matter?"

Jon followed behind Silvester's son, and the two headed to the garden where Silvester was. Jon went along with the flow and asked, "What was she doing here?"

Silvester's son paused for a moment and thought of how Nora didn't want anyone to reveal her identity-after all, once exposed, she would definitely become very busy. Thus, he answered, "Oh, she came to borrow a few books."

She came to borrow a few books?

Jon narrowed his eyes. The way he saw it, she probably came to explain herself to Silvester, right?

Hah.

It seemed that she had panicked. After all, publicly making a statement that alternative medicine was inferior to modern medicine was indeed behavior that would attract a lot of hatred. Although they had managed to keep outsiders in check with the Andersons' Carefree Pills, should Silvester decide to do something, the Carefree Pills' formula would be everywhere!

Once that happened, what else could the Andersons produce?!

The Andersons were surprisingly smart about this, though, and knew that they should seek asylum from Silvester at once! It was just a shame that Silvester absolutely hated people that despised alternative medicine the most.

In his youth, he had once been suspected of being a fraud and once had a showdown with a modern medicine practitioner. Moreover, as the chairman of the Alternative Medicine Association in the country, his existence itself was what gave the alternative medicine community confidence!

At this point in Jon's thoughts, he had already reached the garden. When he saw Silvester sitting there and basking in the sun, he stepped forward and said, "Mr. Zabe, how are you doing these days?"

When Silvester saw out of the corner of his eye that it was Jon, he continued to hold the book but retracted his gaze. With his murky voice, he asked, "What are you doing here?"

Silvester had always disliked Jon.

This was something that everyone in the industry knew. Unfortunately, Jon's medical skills were the next best after Silvester in the next generation of alternative medicine practitioners. Thus, after Silvester stopped bothering himself with the alternative medicine field's affairs, Jon had taken over as the leader of the alternative medicine field for a period of time.

When Nora first arrived in New York, Jon's position in the world of alternative medicine had been impregnable!

Jon sat opposite Silvester and said, "Mr. Zabe, I am really at my wits' end now. That's why I'm coming to you for help!"

Silvester glanced at him, his aged eyes full of disdain. "What can I help you with? Mr. Myers flatters me so!"

Jon was so scared that he hastily got up. "I'm not worthy of such politeness from you!" Knowing that the man did not like him making polite small talk, Jon went straight to the point. "I'm here today because there's a young modern medicine practitioner who is showing blatant disregard for alternative medicine just because she can use her scalpels well. She has publicly declared that alternative medicine is inferior to modern medicine!"

Bam!

Silvester threw the book in his hand onto the table and sneered, "Are there still people with such misguided beliefs in New York?"

Jon was delighted at his reaction. "Yes, that's right!"

Silvester sneered, "Aren't the few of you going to teach that young woman a lesson?"

Jon hurriedly lowered his head and said respectfully, "I want to, but unfortunately, her family is big and powerful, so Lincoln and the others don't dare to confront her at all. I said a few words at the conference just now, but was immediately rebutted and told not to hold it against a young woman! Is this about that, though, Mr. Zabe? It's obviously a matter of one's attitude!"

Silvester snorted coldly. "Which family is it? Are they that powerful?"

Jon hurriedly said, "It's all because the Harmonia Pharmacy's Carefree Pills are simply selling too well. All everyone can see is money, so no one dares to stand up even for something like this anymore! No matter what, a young person who has said the wrong thing should be chastised a little!”

The Andersons?

Harmonia Pharmacy? Silvester was taken aback. “Who are you talking about?”

Jon replied, “It’s the person who visited you just now, Nora Smith.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 494 - Jon Gets Slapped In The Face

“What?”

As though he was stunned, and also as though he had not heard Jon clearly, Silvester’s voice rose instantly. Jon hurriedly explained cautiously, “She’s the daughter that the Smiths have just acknowledged. Her name is Nora Smith. I heard that she is also Justin Hunt’s fiancée... Oh, she also has another important identity, Anti the internationally-known surgeon. She is greatly admired as Anti. I reckon the young woman has gotten too full of herself after being praised a little, so she thinks she’s now invincible in the medical field.”

Jon glanced at Silvester cautiously at this point.

He was actually a little unsure about this.

Given how Yvonne had been able to buy the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill from Silvester, this showed that Silvester was actually in contact with the Smiths.

In particular, when Nora came to borrow the books just now, she had actually succeeded in doing so...

This showed that Silvester was also unwilling to offend the Smiths and the Hunts, right?

With that in mind, he coughed and said, “Mr. Zabe, after giving it some thought... Given her status, it isn’t a good idea to offend her especially when she has the Smiths and the Hunts backing her up-but considering the positions we hold in the circle, there are certain things that we must do! We cannot chicken out and disregard our beliefs just because of her status. So, I was wondering, how about you lead the way and we go over to teach her a lesson?”

Silvester frowned and looked at him with a complicated look on his face. “Did you just say that Nora Smith said that alternative medicine is inferior to modern medicine?”

Jon nodded hurriedly. “Yes, she said so in front of all the nurses in the hospital. Elaine Miller heard it. She’s the one who told us the story because she says that she couldn’t stand it anymore. All the other nurses have been bribed by the Hunts and the Smiths, so none of them dare to make any mention of this.”

That was what Elaine had said.

As for whether or not they had really bribed the nurses, Jon didn’t care at all!

He just wanted to ruin Nora!

Unexpectedly, when he said that, Silvester suddenly scoffed and said, “That’s impossible.”

Jon was taken aback. “Why wouldn’t it be possible, Mr. Zabe? News of what she did has already spread. Despite the terrible impact the incident has caused, she still blatantly came here to visit you. Surely she wasn’t here to give you a warning, was she?”

He had deliberately chosen the word “warning”. Given Silvester’s status, doing something like that would be too much.

However, Silvester was not sent into a rage at all. Instead, he looked straight at Jon and said, “Jon, I’m already over ninety years old. These tricks of yours are too childish in my eyes.”

Jon: “...”

Silvester shook his head and said, “Originally, I was planning to recommend you to take over my position as chairman of the Alternative Medicine Association. After all, that lazy disciple of mine doesn't like to bother with such things. Although I don't like you, you are scheming enough and you also have the means. In addition, your attitude toward alternative medicine is still considered somewhat pure... But I didn't expect that now that you've gotten on in age, you have instead lost the ability to see through things properly. Forget it, I'd better choose someone else for the position!"

He pointed straight at the door and said, "Goodbye!"

His firm and determined tone made Jon stunned and frozen in place!

He couldn't even understand what was going on. "Dr. Zabe, what I said is true. How can you not believe me? She is full of hostility towards alternative medicine!"

"Hah, even if you claim that everyone in the world is full of hostility towards alternative medicine and despises alternative medicine, there's no way she would do that!"

Silvester sounded very sure, which made Jon even more bewildered. "Are you that partial towards her? Why? Did the Smiths or the Hunts give you some kind of benefit? Dr. Zabe! What are you afraid of when you're already so old? How can you give in to the allure of such worldly possessions?!" Silvester became even more speechless when he heard this.

He gave his son a look, upon which his son immediately summoned the butler over and sent Jon out at once.

Jon was ruthlessly driven out of the Zabes!

When the door slammed shut, Jon was still standing there, unable to react.

Why was Silvester so sure that Nora would never say those things?

Nora was Anti. As an internationally renowned surgeon, wasn't it logical and reasonable that she would look down on alternative medicine?

Nora must have given him enough money just now!

This was unacceptable! To think even Silvester had been bribed.

Were the alternative medicine practitioners of the States... really doomed for a downfall?!

Nora wasn't aware of the events at the Zabes'. She had already returned home. With the stack of books in her arms, she went upstairs and entered the study.

After sitting down, she began to read and immersed herself in research.

She wanted to cure Quentin.

It wasn't until a hand pulled away the book in front of her that she finally stopped. Nora frowned with displeasure, turned her head, and rebuked, "Cherry?"

Cherry was usually the only one who would be up to mischief while she was reading.

Unexpectedly, when she turned her head, she instead saw Cherry and Pete seated on the sofa beside her and looking at her worriedly.

The person who had taken her book was actually... Justin?

Nora's frown instantly deepened.

As soon as this expression of hers formed, Cherry immediately whispered to Pete, "I think Daddy is finished, Pete!"

"... Why is he finished?" asked Pete.

Cherry continued to whisper, "Mommy's about to explode! She will definitely smack Daddy's bottom!"

Pete: "..."

Nora: "..."

She touched her head awkwardly. Then, she looked at Justin... only to see that the man's chiseled face actually looked kinda... expectant?

Uh... Her eyes must be playing tricks on her.

She rubbed her temples and asked, "What time is it?"

Justin: "It's seven o'clock. You have to eat something and then wash up. It's time for bed."

Nora: "..."

She coughed. "It's too early."

Justin said, "You usually go to bed at this time. You can continue reading when you wake up tomorrow!"

Nora, however, tried to grab the book from him. "I don't have any appetite. Let me read for a couple more hours."

But as soon as she stretched out her hand, the nimble man took a step back, Nora did not manage to grab the book.

Justin raised his eyebrows and looked at her. "Go and eat."

Nora got up. Just as Cherry was worried that Mommy would give Daddy a huge thrashing, she instead unexpectedly saw Nora turn around and head downstairs. She was actually... obediently getting something to eat?

Eh?

Had Mommy changed?

When she got downstairs, Nora found that dinner that evening was pasta.

After she sat down, she took out her cell phone. When she turned it on, she found that several people had sent her messages.

One was a text message from the little psycho: “My little servant, are you ready for my challenge? I’m going to hire Q at a high cost. Do you think I will succeed?”

A gleam of light flashed in Nora’s eyes as she took a bite of pasta. She replied: ‘No.’ The little psycho: “Hehe, let’s have a competition, then!” Nora slowly typed: ‘Why should I compete with you?’

Sure enough, the little psycho fell for it. He wrote: “Then let’s make a bet. If I can get Q on my side, then you are to become my little servant. If not, then I will answer one of your questions in return.”

A question!

Nora’s lips curled upwards. That was exactly what she wanted!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 495 - Name Your Price, Q

Nora had too many questions she wanted to ask the little psycho, including how she became pregnant, why she would die if she didn't give birth, and even about her mother...

Also, she had already discovered a long time ago that the little psycho actually kept his word. At least, he hadn't deceived her the other time.

She narrowed her eyes and replied: 'Deal.'

After sending the message, she happily accessed the Hacker Alliance's website. Lying quietly in Q's private message inbox was an email.

This was the only place that outsiders could send messages to when they wanted to hire hackers.

Because this was the Hacker Alliance, there was no need to worry about being attacked by other hackers. After all, the world's most powerful hackers were all there, no one would dare to challenge them.

At the other end of the dining table.

Cherry and Pete sat respectively on either side of Justin. All three of them sat quietly as they watched Nora eat.

However, Nora didn't even spare them a glance.

Cherry heaved a silent sigh. "Who is Mommy texting? She actually smiled! Surely Mommy hasn't found herself other handsome guys out there, right?" When Pete heard this, he gave Justin a pitying glance. Justin's expression darkened and he said in a low voice, "Don't talk nonsense."

Cherry rested her chin on her chubby little hands and pouted. "I'm not talking nonsense, Daddy. I know Mommy too well. Sigh, when we were abroad, I told Mommy to find me a Daddy, but she said that she wasn't interested in foreigners. Now that we're back in the States, as expected, she must have become all starry-eyed after seeing handsome guys!"

Justin: "..."

Pete asked hesitantly, "But what if Mommy is making a business deal with someone?"

Cherry rolled her eyes. "Pete, when have you ever seen Mommy making money?"

Pete: "?"

Cherry sighed like a mini grown-up. "She only has 75 million dollars worth of savings. In spite of that, she doesn't bother doing anything every day. If not for my grandaunt overseas, I would probably have been raised in poverty!"

Pete was stunned. "Mommy only has 75 million dollars?"

The amount of money he had at his disposal when he played around with investments whenever he was bored was already more than 150 million dollars!

Cherry nodded. Pete said, "... Mommy really is very poor, then."

"Exactly!" Cherry looked as if she had expected better from Nora. She said, "If Mommy really wants to make money, she can make a lot right away, but she instead said that 75 million dollars are enough! How is that enough? It can only buy four sports cars! Sigh!"

Pete nodded hard empathetically. "I will make lots of money and support Mommy in the future."

At this point, a weak voice suddenly came from the door. "Say, um, do the two of you mind supporting an uncle, too?"

Cherry and Pete turned in unison to see Louis standing there. He was looking at them eagerly with his eyes glowing.

Both Cherry and Pete looked away and started talking to each other again.

Cherry said, “If Mommy doesn’t want Daddy anymore, then we will have to be separated in the future. Who are you going to follow?”

Without any hesitation whatsoever, Pete gave Justin a disdainful look and replied, “Mommy. What about you?”

Justin: “???”

He was about to reprimand the two of them for talking nonsense, but when Pete popped the question, he immediately turned and looked at his daughter!

Surely Cherry wouldn’t also abandon him and pick her mother over him, right?

Fearing that he was not the most important person in his daughter’s heart, Justin had been working hard during this period of time to bond with Cherry!

Sure enough, Cherry looked like she had difficulty choosing. She sighed and said, “I can’t go with Mommy. If I do that, Daddy would be really pitiful.”

Justin was touched at once.

As expected, his daughter really was his precious and understanding little baby! She was simply so sensible! However, the next moment, Cherry said, “How about this? I’ll get Daddy to build a house for me and put lots of handsome young men inside. I just need one to cook for me, one to clean the house, one to sleep with me, and four more to play games with me! This way, I won’t disturb Mommy and Daddy’s new lives, and all of you can also come and visit when you miss me! Isn’t my idea great?”

Justin: “?”

e

V

It seemed like there was something a little wrong with his precious little baby? It was to the extent that he felt like his hands were itching a little!

The corners of his lips spasmed and he repeated silently in his heart: “She’s my daughter... She’s my daughter... Endure, endure...!”

Pete, however, advised her earnestly. “Cherry, you mustn’t let Aunt Brenda lead you astray. You mustn’t think of handsome young men all the time!” Cherry tilted her head. “Then shall I think of beautiful young ladies?”

Pete: “??”

As Justin listened to their conversation, he thought of how he had panicked when he mistakenly thought that Pete was secretly a little princess in his heart. He mustn’t have the little princess whom he had just acknowledged become a dude deep down in her heart!

Therefore, Justin immediately said, “It’s better that you like boys instead!”

Cherry immediately applauded. “Oh yeah! Daddy’s the best!”

Pete: “???”

While the three of them were talking, Nora had already read the email that the little psycho had sent: ‘Q, as long as you leave the Smith Corporation, you can name your price.’

Name her price... Tsk, the little psycho sure was rich!

Nora ate a quarter of the pasta on the plate in one bite. As she chewed, she typed a reply and sent it to the little psycho.

In the hotel.

The man leaned back on the sofa. The curtains were tightly drawn together, and no light could shine through at all.

In the room, someone's coughing suddenly rang out. "Cough, cough, cough! If you continue to fool around like this, you will bring about your own downfall sooner or later. I'm warning you, don't go against her!" The little psycho's sharp voice rang out next. "Are you being nosy again?! I told you, I'm in charge in New York! I am the little master whereas you are just my servant! Besides, why do you care about her so much? Have you fallen in love with her, so you cannot bear to part with her anymore? You'd best not forget our plans!" "Cough, cough, cough..." After another coughing fit, the rich and mellow voice rang out once more. "What nonsense are you talking about? Why would I fall in love with her?" The little psycho broke into a grin. "No? Then why do you keep stopping me from harassing her? Haha!"

"That's because... cough... she is harder to deal with than you think!"

"Hard to deal with? That little fatty grew up under my nose, how could she possibly be hard to deal with? You're overthinking it too much! Haha, I shall use Q to completely suppress her now! And show her how dark and sinister the world is!"

"Cough, cough, cough! Can you really convince Q?"

"Money makes the world go round. If I can't, then there is only one possible reason why." "Cough, what is it?"

"That I'm not offering enough money!"

As he said that, a beep indicating the arrival of a text message rang out. The little psycho immediately raised the phone excitedly like a child and said, "See? Q has replied to me! Now let's see how much Q is asking for!"

As he said that, he opened the email...

Chapter 496 - Playing Along With The Enemy!

However, he was stunned when he saw the email.

Written in the email was a row of text: 'My last name is Smith.'

The evil smile on the man's face immediately disappeared and he cursed softly. "Shit!"

Going by how Q's last name was Smith and their reply at this juncture, the man immediately understood that Q was a Smith!

A Smith...

If Quentin hadn't been injured, hospitalized, or caused such a huge ruckus, outsiders indeed wouldn't have known of his existence at all.

Even so, to think the Smiths were also rearing a top-class hacker in addition to already rearing someone in the shadows!

No wonder Joel hadn't panicked in the least when Yvonne attacked the Smiths! Who was Q?

The man looked straight at his bodyguards and ordered, "Check Q's identity!"

"Yes, sir." After one of the bodyguards left, a low chuckle rang out in the room. "Cough, cough, cough... Haha, I told you, don't provoke her." There was frustration in the little psycho's shrill voice. "Did you already know? Tell me, what else do you know? Are you hiding anything else from me?!"

The gentle and mellow voice sighed. "All I know is, you shouldn't mess with her. I will find a way to get you what you want."

The little psycho immediately yelled, “What can you get from her? The Grays had been taking care of her since her childhood, and also protected her for so many years! Yet you still haven’t gotten your hands on what we want!”

He kicked the chair furiously.

Pushed to the side, the chair made contact with the curtains, causing a ray of light to shine through the curtains onto a man in the room.

With a handkerchief in his hand, the man seemed to be suppressing a cough. He was wearing a pair of gold-framed glasses and his handsome face looked a little pale and sickly it was Caleb!

He frowned and retorted, “Yvette Anderson had already said back then that we won’t be able to get our hands on it through coercive measures! We should try getting along with her daughter instead!”

After he spoke, he walked over and drew the curtains to prevent others from looking in.

The little psycho’s grim laugh rang out in the room. “Get along with her? How? You have already been on good terms with her for so many years! If it wasn’t for your nephew who messed up and ruined our plan, she would have been part of the Grays by now! And we would have already gotten everything we wanted! Since your plan has failed, you must obey my orders now! Besides, I am the little master!”

Caleb started coughing again. He sounded as if he was about to cough his lungs out the very next second. “Anthony was stupid enough to break off the engagement, but I have already punished him.”

The little psycho’s shrill voice rang out angrily again. “Punished him? Is driving him out of the country even considered a punishment? It’s because you are too indecisive! That’s why it has come down to this!”

Upon being scolded, Caleb let out a few muffled coughs with his head down.

Seeing that he had seemingly shut up, the little psycho was satisfied. He broke into a grin, revealing shiny white teeth. “You spent twenty years setting up a trap for them, but got played by Yvette Anderson in the end! You can only rely on me to vent that anger now! Just you wait, I will turn her into my little servant! Heh heh...”

While they were talking, someone knocked on the door.

Caleb immediately stopped talking. It was as if he wasn't there at all.

The little psycho said, “Come in.”

The bodyguard entered the room and said, “We've looked into it. The Smiths indeed aren't hiding any more youngsters in the family. Among the ones still around, Louis Smith is the one who messes around with computers the most. We have reason to suspect that he is Q!”

“Heh!”

The little psycho said, “How dare they make fun of me. Catch him!!”

“Yes, sir!”

The bodyguard turned and left.

After Nora logged into Q's email account and sent an email to the little lunatic, as expected, the other party did not reply anymore. After waiting for a long while, the other party finally sent her a text message on her cell phone: “It's my loss this round! You can ask me what you want! You can only ask one question, so make good use of the opportunity~”

Nora stroked her chin as she stared at the message.

She only had the chance to ask one question. In that case, what should she ask about first?

Why she would die?

Or how exactly had she become pregnant?

She thought for a long while, but in the end, she only asked about one thing: ‘What is your name?!

If she couldn’t decide which of her questions took more priority, then she might as well ask for information about the other party. This way, it would make it easier for them to catch him!

Sure enough, the other party replied: “Tsk, you are so interested in me. Surely you aren’t in love with me, are you?”

Nora: ‘Answer the question.’

The little psycho: Trueman Yale.’

Nora: “?”

Why did the name sound so strange?

Would anyone really call themselves something as literal as “true man”?

However, she didn’t fuss over it. Instead, she quickly sent the name to Morris and told him to check if there was a Trueman in the list of guests staying in the hotel!

Morris quickly replied—there wasn’t. His answer was within Nora’s expectations.

She sent the little psycho a message: ‘Is this your true name?’

Trueman: “It’s even truer than my name itself!”

Nora: “...”

Never mind.

She put down the phone and sent another message to Morris.

Louis, who had been completely ignored, looked at them. At last, he sighed and said, “Never mind. I’ll go play games with Chester instead!”

His presence was simply redundant in the house!

He felt this especially strongly whenever he came back and saw Justin seated in the living room, which made him feel as if he had returned to the Hunts' manor instead of the Smiths' every time he came home.

He went out and drove out in his fancy little car. He went to feed the stray cats and dogs in the community, and then he drove out again, humming under his breath as he did.

On the way to the Hunts' manor was a residential complex filled with villas. As few people lived there, the roads there were quite empty.

Louis was driving when a car suddenly rushed toward him from behind and rammed straight into his car!

Frightened, Louis stopped the car and walked straight to the back. As he did, he rolled up his sleeves and said, "Do you know how to drive or not? Are you blind?"

What bad luck!

The car repairs would cost him money! While speaking, he saw two large and muscular men in black suits suddenly get out of the car!

Louis was taken aback. He sensitively realized that the accident might have been deliberate. He swallowed hard and started to retreat in fear, but one of the two men was already standing right in front of him!

"Come with us, Q. Our master wants to see you."

Louis: "??"

He waved, wanting to explain that he was not Q. But before he could even speak, the man stepped forward abruptly, grabbed his arm, and yanked him straight into the car!

Someone got into his car and followed after the other car.

After the two cars disappeared, a jeep slowly drove out of the bushes in the distance and followed after them!

In the car.

Nora's lips curled into a smile. This time, she would see for herself who exactly Trueman was!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 497 - Trueman Yale!

“Mm! Mmm...”

Louis, whose head had been covered with a black bag and his mouth gagged, was brought into a room by four men.

His eyes widened in horror. He wanted to speak, but he couldn't say anything. All he could do was emit muffled cries. The four bodyguards on either side of him were steady on their feet. It was obvious at a glance that they were trained in martial arts.

There was also another man holding his weak and thin arm. It was as if he could twist and break it with just a bit of force!

Louis was terrified. It wasn't until he was forced to sit and securely bound with ropes that the other party finally took out from his mouth whatever they were using to gag him.

Louis gasped for breath.

The four strong and muscular bodyguards looked at him. The thin man was such a coward. He had been shaking the whole time on the way here after they kidnapped him.

His behavior made them look down on him.

They'd originally thought that he would immediately beg for mercy after they ungagged him. Given how the little master hated such people the most, they reckoned that he would probably order them to kill him straight away!

But in the end...

The terrified Louis was still shaking in his boots, but he instead said, “Um, can you guys loosen the ropes a little? It's cutting into that place of mine!”

The bodyguards: “??”

Louis wanted to shift, but the ropes were simply too tight, rendering him unable to move.

The kidnappers on either side of him didn't look like they intended to untie him. From the looks of it, they weren't going to help him. Sigh, how uncomfortable.

But shortly after, he heard a slightly shrill voice say, “Loosen the ropes a little. Don't injure him.”

Louis was overjoyed. While the bodyguards were loosening his ropes, he smiled in the direction of the voice and said, “Thanks a lot! I didn't expect kidnappers to be this kind these days. Everyone understands the rules of the industry, right? Family members should not be implicated! Although I don't have a wife yet, you can't put my future son at risk, either, right?!”

After he finished speaking, the room fell silent again for a moment. As he had been blindfolded, Louis couldn't see what the person talking to him looked like. He tilted his head and thought about it, but in the end, he could only break the silence again. He asked, “The good men here, what are you kidnapping me for? Let me put it out there first – I don't have any money! I am the poorest among all the Smiths!”

His words made Trueman choke on his breath. Then, he snorted and said, “It's impossible that Q would be poor. Doesn't the Smith Corporation pay you any wages?”

Q?

Why were they talking about Q again?! Louis was speechless. “I'm not Q!”

Trueman sneered, “Drop the act, I have already looked into you a long time ago!”

Besides, he had been trembling when he was brought into the room by the kidnappers just now, yet he had suddenly stopped shaking. Additionally, the first thing he had said was to loosen the ropes around him. It was evident that the fear he'd displayed just now was all fake! The guy had great mental resilience!

Louis: “?”

He looked tentatively in the direction of the voice. “Uh, who are you? Even if I am Q, what do you want with me? Are you enemies with

Q?”

Trueman said slowly, “I wouldn't say there's a feud between the two of us.”

“Then that means you're after my money and my good looks?”

Louis cowered. “Surely my looks aren't worth kidnapping me for, right? Besides, judging from your voice, you're probably a man. I'm also a man... Oh my god, surely you don't have some kind of fetish, do you?”

Trueman: “!!”

Trueman was seriously ticked off by Louis. They also started digressing. “Even if I'm into men, I won't be interested in someone like you!”

Upon hearing this, Louis became indignant. “What's wrong with me? Which part of me is bad-looking?”

Trueman: “??!”

He replied disdainfully, “Your dirty blond hair is enough to turn me off!”

“F*ck you, I'm on the one on top, okay?!”

“Shit! I'm the one on top too!”

Seeing that the two weirdos were digressing further and further, Louis suddenly heard a violent cough. “That's enough. Let's talk business.”

As soon as the voice rang out, Trueman came back to the matter at hand. “You made me digress from what I wanted to talk about! I don’t like men! Don’t think too much about it!”

Louis said, “... Then that means you’re after money? Gosh, don’t you know that I am the poorest son in the family? I only get $15,000 a month! I literally use up all my money by the end of the month! I have $4,508.51 on me right now. If you want, I’ll just give it to you. Why bother going so far and even damaging my car? You have to pay for my car repair costs!”

Trueman retorted, “Who would want that bit of money from you?!”

Louis said, “Then why kidnap me if you’re not interested in it? Are you planning to demand ransom from Joel? Sigh!”

With tears abound in his eyes, Louis said, “I am the most unpopular person among the Smiths. Everyone at home treats me as if I don’t exist! If you ask Joel for $15,000, he may still give it to you. But if you ask for more, he would probably abandon me. Sob...”

Trueman grinned as he listened to Louis. “You’re so pitiful, hahaha-“.

Louis got mad. “What are you laughing at if you think I’m pitiful? Don’t you have any sympathy for others?” “Sympathy? What’s that? Nope, I don’t.” Trueman started chatting with him again.

This time, the coughing person didn’t even need to say anything. Louis straight-up reminded him and said, “C’mon, talk. What the hell did you kidnap me for?!” Trueman replied, “Heh, of course, it’s because you helped the Smiths! Your identity as Q means that there are irreconcilable differences between the two of us! But if you agree to join us and betray the Smiths, I can pay you a lot!”

Louis was a little startled when he heard the first half of his words. He was about to explain that he really wasn’t Q when he heard the part about remuneration at the end. His blindfolded eyes lit up at once!

Remuneration meant money, which was what he lacked the most at the moment!

Louis coughed. “How much can you give me?”

Seeing that he was betraying the Smiths so easily, Trueman sneered, “The Smiths are simply too much. They refuse to pay you much, yet they still want you to work for them. But our organization is different. We definitely cherish top-class hackers like you! Name your price!”

Name his price?

Louis said cautiously, “Seventy-five...”

Before he could finish the rest of the “seventy-five thousand dollars” he was about to say, Trueman interrupted him. “75 million dollars to stop you from ever working for the Smiths again? No problem!”

Louis: “!!!”

He was dumbfounded. In fact, he was even somewhat in disbelief. “Really?”

He was offering him so much?! Trueman said, “Truer than even my name itself!”

Louis swallowed. “I don’t believe you will give me that much money!”

Trueman immediately said, “I can give you a deposit!”

After speaking, he looked to the side and said, “Transfer 15 million dollars to his bank account!”

“Yes, sir.”

Trueman rested his chin on his hand and said, “This way, you won’t be able to explain yourself to the Smiths anymore. Heh, you can call this a way of sowing discord between you guys!”

Louis: “...”

While the few of them were spacing out, faint footsteps suddenly rang out outside the door. Then, with a loud bang, someone opened the door!

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 498 - Exposing Her Own Identity!

Nora followed the kidnapers all the way to an inconspicuous little house.

Surrounded by weeds, the place looked like a small community due to being demolished, except that the new houses hadn't yet been built. Small houses of varying heights filled the place, making it very suitable for people who might have to flee or move about.

Therefore, Nora didn't rush in immediately when she arrived.

Firstly, she was concerned that there might be an ambush inside.

Secondly, she was afraid that she wouldn't be able to keep so many of them under control, which might allow Trueman to escape. Thus, she waited for a couple of minutes until Morris and Brenda arrived with the men from the special department. Only then did they rush in together.

Morris was dressed in a black windbreaker as usual, and he looked smart and dashing.

What surprised Nora was that Brenda was also wearing a black windbreaker, making her fair skin and black clothes form a sharp contrast. Coupled with the woman's good looks, she looked exceptionally like eye candy.

Seemingly having sensed Nora's gaze, Brenda raised her eyebrows and blew her a kiss in a dashing manner. She smiled and said, "Don't be scared, Nora. Just stay behind me when we rush in later. I will protect you!"

"...Oh, okay," Nora said.

Morris gestured behind him, upon which someone immediately came forward. One of the men pushed open the door gently and threw a smoke bomb into the room. Then, Morris kicked the door open with a loud bam and rushed in like the wind!

Brenda wanted to protect her sister-in-law, but when she turned her head, she instead saw Nora following closely after Morris and rushing into the room.

She got a huge shock at once. When she hurriedly followed them in, she found that Morris had already subdued one of the bodyguards while another bodyguard was attacking Nora!

Ever since her big fight with Abigail the other time, it had been very long since Nora last had a good workout. She was about to punch the man when something suddenly flashed across her vision. Brenda appeared in front of her and swiftly took down the big muscular man in front of her.

Then, she quickly kicked another man. They didn't even need anyone else to do anything. She and Morris took out the four bodyguards two-to-one by themselves.

The smoke from the smoke bomb gradually dispersed. The others from the special department surrounded the place to prevent anyone from escaping. Nora quickly walked over to Louis. After making sure he was okay, she breathed a sigh of relief.

Louis, however, was dumbfounded. "Who are you?"

"It's me."

Nora took off the bag covering Louis's head as she spoke. Upon regaining his sight, Louis's eyes immediately reddened and tears fell from his eyes.

Thinking that he was badly frightened, Nora pressed her lips together at the sight. To be honest, this was indeed her fault.

After she sent the mail to Trueman as Q, she'd originally thought that he would text her and demand an explanation. However, the other party had instead gone silent.

After thinking about it for a while, when Louis went out, she suddenly realized that Trueman might have misunderstood something.

She had then immediately contacted Morris. She also went after Louis, but before she could catch up to him, he had been kidnapped.

As a result, she hadn't been able to talk to him about this in advance.

At the bottom of it all, she was the one who had implicated Louis.

Nora was about to comfort him when Louis asked, "Why couldn't you have come a little later instead?"

This way, he would have received the 15 million dollars!

Nora: "??"

After Louis said that, he turned to where Trueman had been speaking just now.

When Nora followed his gaze and looked over, she spotted a monitor and a surveillance camera. They had likely been in the midst of a video call just now. The other party's screen had blacked out by now, so Nora couldn't see the other party's appearance. However, the audio was obviously still connected.

Nora hesitated for a moment and slowly said, "Trueman?"

Trueman's voice was a man's, and it sounded a little shrill. "Heh! So it really is you! Did you think I would put myself in such a dangerous situation?"

Nora also sneered, "Of course, I didn't think that I would catch you all at once, either. But getting rid of a few of your subordinates and making you lose four bodyguards also sounds pretty good, doesn't it?"

Her words angered Trueman. "Shit!"

It was only when she heard his response that she truly became sure that he was indeed Trueman.

But after that, she heard Trueman laugh. “However, you only managed to capture four of my bodyguards despite using Q as bait, whereas I have reached a consensus with Q during this period of time!” Nora: “?”

A little surprised, she subconsciously asked, “What consensus?”

“Heh,” Trueman said, “I have reached an agreement with Q just now. I’m buying him out with 75 million dollars to provide me service. Also, I have paid him a 15 million dollar deposit just now. After that, I will have him hack the Smith Corporation at an appropriate time!”

Nora: “?!”

She was stunned. “What?”

Trueman became even smugger. “Yes, that’s the deal between the two of us! I’ve already transferred a 15 million dollar deposit to his bank account. Q, once you succeed, I will transfer the remaining 60 million dollars to you! I hope you won’t let me down! Haha-“

Nora looked at Louis.

Louis had been freed by then. When he heard what Trueman said, he took out his cell phone at once, upon which he saw the notification from the bank informing him that he had received a fund transfer of 15 million dollars in his bank account.

Even Louis himself was dumbfounded. “He really transferred it to me?”

After speaking, he suddenly realized something. He swallowed and hurriedly looked at Nora. “Nora, I was just joking with him... and stalling for time!”

His words made Trueman laugh even harder. “Not bad, Q! By answering them that way, you should be able to win the Smith Corporation’s trust and recognition!”

Then, he looked at Nora and said, “It is true that he was just stalling for time, but can you guarantee that he hasn’t become partial towards me? Hahaha- He has already told me all about his hardships just now!”

A puzzled Nora repeated, “His hardships?”

“That’s right!” Trueman said, “The Smith Corporation has groomed such an excellent hacker, but Q has never accepted any external gigs all these years, so he doesn’t have any income! On top of that, the Smith Corporation only gives him a monthly salary of $15,000! To think you people are oppressing and letting a top-class hacker like him go to such waste! I’m sure Q must already be full of resentment towards you!” Nora looked at Louis. “Resentment?”

Louis hurriedly waved. “No, I promise I don’t harbor any resentment towards Joel at all!”

Trueman, however, laughed. “Uh-huh, no resentment at all! But Nora, would the Smith Corporation still dare to use Q, who has already taken a 15-million-dollar deposit from me? Can you really rest assured knowing that? And Q, what about you? Are you willing to live knowing that other people will forever be suspicious of you?”

His way of driving a wedge between the two of them...

Had Louis really been Q, Trueman would really have succeeded.

But unfortunately...

Nora suddenly smiled. “Who told you that Louis is Q?”

Trueman was stunned to hear that. “What do you mean?”

Nora looked at the camera and slowly curled her lips into a smile. “It means that...”

Chapter 499 - Mr. Gray, You Know Trueman Yale!

“Thank you for the 15 million dollars! I’ll just take it as compensation for our little Louis!”

As soon as Nora said that, on the other end of the call, Trueman seemed to realize something. He immediately exclaimed, “Is he really not Q?”

Nora did not answer him.

Nevertheless, it seemed like Trueman had understood. He immediately cursed in a low voice, “Shit! You—”.

But before he could finish, the call was cut off!

Nora frowned.

Wasn’t Trueman the little master? Who would dare to disconnect his call when he was still speaking?

In the midst of her hesitation, Louis stood and looked at Nora cautiously. Then, he blinked and asked, “Um, Nora, those 15 million dollars... are you really giving it to me as compensation to help me get over the shock?”

This was the biggest amount of money that Louis, whose monthly living expenses had been withheld from him by Joel ever since he was a child, had ever seen in his life. He had seen a million dollars at Chester’s house before, but this was the first time he was seeing funds that amounted to more than ten million dollars!

He had counted on his cell phone just now there were several zeros between the sum and his savings!

Little Louis would like to express just how dumbfounded he was at suddenly becoming a millionaire like that!

Upon hearing what he said, Nora was puzzled. “You don’t want it?”

“No! No! I want it very much!” Louis immediately stuffed the bank card into his pocket and covered his pocket with both hands. The way he looked was as if he would fight to the death anyone who dared to take the bank card from him!

The corners of Nora’s lips spasmed. She simply couldn’t bear to watch him anymore.

Brenda couldn’t help but whisper to Nora, “Nora, are the Smiths about to go bankrupt?”

Look at how desperate they had forced little Louis to be!

It was just 15 million dollars, yet he was close to regarding it as his family heirloom.

Nora: “...”

She suddenly found Louis a little embarrassing.

Nevertheless, she looked at Morris.

Louis had received 15 million dollars from the battle between the special department and the mysterious organization. Although he had tricked the other party into giving it to him through his own abilities, should Morris request that he submit it, Louis would have to do so.

In the end, Morris behaved as if he hadn’t heard them at all. He turned to the bodyguards on the floor and said, “Tell me, where is your master?”

Alright, it seemed that he wasn’t going to bother doing anything about it

In that case, Nora didn’t pursue the matter about Louis any further. Instead, she turned and left.

Even after the four bodyguards were arrested, the other party hadn't become anxious. This showed that Trueman was very sure that the four of them would not betray him.

In that case, there was probably not much use even if they interrogated them.

She decided to take Louis out of the room.

On the way out, she asked Louis, "What did Trueman say to you?" Louis's eyes were constantly fixed on his pocket. His fingers were also still pressed against it. He was behaving even more neurotically than when he had been kidnapped. "Nora, do you think anyone will steal my money?"

Nora: "..."

Louis went on. "Or rob me? Or... Will the bank confiscate the money when they see that I received 15 million dollars for nothing? I won't wake up tomorrow to see the money gone, right?"

Nora rubbed her temples and continued to drive her jeep. "Since you are so worried, why don't I inform Joel about it and have him take care of the money for you?"

Her one-liner successfully made Louis sit up straight. "That won't be necessary. I think I can manage it myself."

"You aren't afraid of losing it anymore?"

"No, not anymore!"

Nora could only repeat her question from just now. "What did Trueman say to you?"

Louis began to think.

The Smiths' genes were relatively good, so everyone in the family was smart. Moreover, the incident had only just happened, so Louis remembered everything. He repeated his conversation with Trueman from beginning to end.

When she heard the part where they were talking about whether Trueman was kidnapping Louis for money or for his looks, Nora's lip corners couldn't help but spasm. She found their conversation absolutely meaningless.

However, right at this point, she suddenly heard Louis mention that someone had coughed in the middle of the conversation and that he had reminded the other man to go back on track. She narrowed her eyes.

Nora suddenly looked at Louis. "Someone was coughing?"

At the hotel.

Trueman was smashing things in an exasperated rage. He shouted angrily, "Just who exactly is Q?! Surely it can't be Nora Smith, right?!" Caleb coughed twice before he sighed and replied, "Perhaps it really is her." "That's impossible!" Trueman yelled shrilly, "A normal person can be top-notch in a certain industry, but it is impossible for them to be top-notch in two! Unless they've taken our drug!"

But after he said that, he paused and asked incredulously, "You mean..."

"Cough, cough, cough..." Caleb was still coughing violently. "Don't forget that her mother is Yvette Anderson! Also, when she fled the organization back then, she had taken the organization's most prized possession with her."

Trueman was stunned. However, he quickly sneered and said, "That's true... No wonder she is not interested in the genetic modification drug anymore! It seems that I'll have to take some other measures!"

At this moment, a cell phone suddenly rang. Trueman picked up the phone and glanced at it. "It's yours!"

Caleb tapped the answer button, upon which Nora's familiar voice rang out on the other end. "Hello, Mr. Gray. I wonder if we can meet?"

Caleb lowered his head. "Of course. Cough, cough, cough, cough... You can pick the place."

Nora selected an address. When she hung up, she looked at Louis and asked, "Was that the voice you heard?" She had gone on speaker mode during the call just now!

Louis nodded and confirmed it. "Yes! I'm very sure that's the voice!"

The coughing and the deep, mellow voice were simply too distinctive.

Nora's jaw tensed up and she nodded.

After she sent Louis to the Smiths' in the jeep, she said to him, "You can go in first. I will go and meet him." Louis nodded.

Louis got out of the car obediently. When he entered the living room, he saw Justin seated on the sofa. When the latter saw him, he asked hesitantly, "Where is Nora?"

Louis's hand was pressed against his pocket as he stared at Justin warily. The way he looked at everyone was as if he thought they would steal his money. He replied, "She went on a date!" Justin: "??"

When Nora arrived at the cafe they had agreed to meet at, Caleb was already seated. He was holding a handkerchief and coughing.

There was a glass of water in front of him.

At the sight of Nora, a gentle look appeared on his face and he said, "I'm not in good health, so I can't drink coffee at night."

Nora nodded and sat opposite him. "Sorry, I'll pick a better place next time." Caleb smiled. His gentle features were as refreshing as a spring breeze. Dressed in a gray suit, the man, who was nearly thirty, exuded a mature charm. He asked, "What can I do for you, Ms. Smith?"

Nora thought for a while and went straight to the point. “Mr. Gray, you know Trueman Yale, right?”

Caleb was taken aback.

Nora leaned forward and stared straight at him. “Can you tell me, what exactly do you people want from me??”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 500 - Jealous

Seemingly because he hadn't expected that Nora's senses would actually be so keen that she would outright say that, Caleb was stunned. Then, he subconsciously looked around.

"Don't worry," Nora said, "I didn't inform Captain Ford and the others."

Caleb was even more surprised when he heard that. Then, he finally regained his senses and let out a wry laugh. "How much of it have you guessed?"

Nora leaned against the chair. "I don't know why my mother especially chose to go to California after she left New York. Later, I found out that the Grays had already started making a living in California at that time. Therefore, is it correct of me to say that she went to California to propose a partnership-or rather, seek asylum-with the Grays?"

Caleb nodded. "Your mother was a brilliant person. No, the part about seeking asylum is not true. The two families could only be said to be cooperating with each other."

Nora didn't expect Caleb to respect her mother so much that he would actually explain.

She nodded. "After my mother passed away, it was because I had a marriage agreement with the Grays that Henry didn't starve me to death."

She had actually already been aware of a lot of things when she was a child.

When she was three, there was once where she was simply too hungry. When she went downstairs to look for food, she had heard what Henry said at that time. He had said, "She has a marriage agreement with the Grays after all. The Grays have also approached me several times to tell me to take care of her, so no matter what, we mustn't let her die."

One could say that her marriage agreement with the Grays was what had protected her during her childhood. However, Quinn had already gone to look for her at that time, so even if Henry had really been determined to starve her to death, Quinn would not have let her die anyway.

“Yeah, this was an agreement with your mother. We were to ensure that you survive until you come of age.”

Caleb didn't hide anything. After saying this, he took out a handkerchief, held it over his mouth, and started coughing violently. The coughing fit this time seemed a little hard to quell. It wasn't until he took a sip of water that he finally managed to suppress it.

Nora fell silent for a moment at this point of the conversation.

In the past, she didn't have much of an impression of her mother. After all, she had already passed away when she was still a child. The only thing she had an impression of was the audio message that she had left her, and even so, the message had warned her not to be too conspicuous and to be mediocre. Otherwise, she would be in danger.

After that came the audio recording that her mother had left behind which Caleb had let her listen to the other time. It was a conversation between her and Henry when they were making the deal. What she had said at that time was, ‘everything was fine as long as she didn't starve to death.’

Her words were obviously like those of an irresponsible mother.

But when she thought about it in this instant... Quinn, the Grays, and perhaps also some other things that she wasn't yet aware of—they had all been arranged by her mother to protect her!

When she thought of it that way, Yvette's image in her heart suddenly became fleshed out.

Nora calmed herself down and asked, “Was that why the Grays had firmly refused to break off the engagement even when I became pregnant by accident? Was that why they had still insisted that Anthony marry me?”

Caleb nodded. “Yes. We had already promised your mother, so we couldn’t breach the agreement just because of that.”

Nora frowned.

She then asked, “Then how did I get pregnant?”

When Caleb heard this, he sighed. “I really don’t know about that. Your pregnancy was something that I totally hadn’t expected. Otherwise, Anthony would never dare to go against my orders and abandon the marriage agreement, resulting in the current awkward situation.”

Nora was a little taken aback. “So, the agreement between my mother and the Grays was that I would marry into the Grays... And then she will give you something after that?”

Caleb nodded.

Nora finally got it. “No wonder Anthony only asked for the company that my mother had left behind after he broke off our engagement. But I’ve already checked the company—there’s nothing in there! I’ve also asked some of the old-timers there. None of them know anything about what my mother may have left behind. So, what exactly are you guys after?”

Caleb was a little surprised to hear this. “She didn’t leave anything behind?”

Nora nodded. “Or at least, I haven’t found anything even as of now.”

This was a fair conversation. Since Caleb had told her about the past, Nora should also be truthful with him.

Caleb frowned. Then, he heaved a huge sigh. “I’m afraid he’s not going to believe it.”

“Trueman?” asked Nora.

“Yeah.”

Nora then asked aggressively, “What on earth does he want?”

After hesitating for a while, Caleb shook his head. “I don’t know what it is, either. All I know is that it is very important.”

Nora frowned.

What was it that was so important to Caleb and the mysterious organization?

She looked at Caleb hesitantly. Suddenly, she thought of something. “Mom said that if I shine too brightly, I will attract lethal danger to myself. She must be talking about the mysterious organization, right? Was it because of you that they didn’t discover me during all those years I was in California?” Caleb nodded. “Yes, but from the moment that you returned to New York, the mysterious organization has discovered your existence. My protection of over twenty years has all become meaningless.” Nora was taken aback. “Why did you hide my identity for me?”

Caleb was a member of the mysterious organization. If the members of the mysterious organization were looking for her, then why was Caleb helping to hide her?

Caleb’s jaw tensed up when he heard this. He suddenly said, “Because... I promised your mother. Besides, I actually don’t agree with some of the mysterious organization’s practices. Cough, cough, cough, cough...”

He started coughing again at this point.

Nora looked at him.

After the coughing fit, Caleb finally said, “Sorry.”

His brows were locked in a deep frown as if he was suppressing something. “I don’t actually know much. I am just an outsider in the mysterious organization.”

An outsider... Yet he could speak directly with Trueman?

Since Trueman was known as the little master, he must have a high status within the mysterious organization!

some reas

In spite of that, for some reason, Nora felt that Caleb's words were very trustworthy. She nodded and said, "Okay, I believe you."

She stood up. "I have one last question for you."

Caleb nodded. "Go ahead."

Nora asked, "My mother... Is she a good person or a bad one?"

Caleb was taken aback for a moment.

A mysterious organization that conducted human experiments was undoubtedly not anything good, yet Nora's mother had been involved with them the whole time.

Later, she was even pursued by the mysterious organization...

Something must have happened.

After a long silence, Caleb finally sighed and said, "I'm sorry, I don't know. When your mother left the organization, I was still very young.'

Still very young... yet he could make a deal with her mother?

Now that she thought about it, Caleb must have been only four or five years old when her mother gave birth to her, right?

Nora became hesitant. She was about to ask something when Caleb suddenly asked, "If... and I mean if... If your fiancé back then had been me, would our relationship be different now?"

Nora was taken aback at his words.

She didn't see that the cafe's doors had opened and that Justin was already striding toward them.

OceanofPDF.com

Volume 6

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 501 - Biological Siblings~

Nora did not understand why Caleb would suddenly say this. While she was in a daze, a deep and magnetic voice interrupted the two of them domineeringly. “Mr. Gray, it’s a pity that there are no ifs in this world.”

She was slightly stunned and turned around to see Justin standing behind her.

He stretched out a hand and pressed it on Nora’s shoulder as if he was announcing his sovereignty. His eyes were even deeper as he looked at Caleb. “Also, I don’t need anyone to help me raise my child and wife.”

After saying this, he looked at Nora. “Are you guys done talking?” Nora: “... Yes.”

For some reason, when she met the man’s eyes, she felt guilty as if she had been caught red-handed.

Justin lowered his head slightly and smoothed her hair before smiling. “Then, come home with me? Cherry and Pete won’t sleep without you.”

“... Alright.”

The two children were clearly very sensible. Why did he say that they would not sleep without their mommy?

Nora’s lips twitched as she followed Justin out.

After taking two steps, she was suddenly stopped. “Miss Smith.”

Nora turned around and saw Caleb standing up as well. He continued to cough, and when he met Justin’s hostile gaze, he smiled. “I just want to ask you one last question.”

“Go ahead.”

Nora was very polite to him. After all, this person was in the same generation as her mother. Actually, she still had to call him uncle.

Caleb said, “Since you recognized me, why didn’t you bring anyone with you?”

These words made Nora pause.

After some thought, she suddenly smiled. “I believe in my mother.”

Caleb was stunned.

Nora said, “She handed me to you, so you probably won’t harm me. By the same logic, since I don’t know the truth, I can’t have you arrested just like that.”

Caleb’s deep eyes revealed a hint of relief. He lowered his head and coughed twice before smiling. “I understand.”

Nora glanced at him and could not help but say, “If there’s anything you need my help with, please feel free to ask.”

After all, he had protected her for so many years. If he asked her to help treat an illness, she would definitely not reject him.

Caleb nodded. “...Okay.”

After saying this, Nora left with Justin.

Caleb stood at the same spot and watched the two of them leave. Suddenly, he lowered his eyes, revealing a lonely look. He returned to the hotel.

As soon as he entered, he heard Trueman’s sharp voice. “What were you guys talking about?”

Caleb coughed. “It’s nothing. You don’t need to know.”

Trueman sneered. “Caleb, have you forgotten who you are?”

Caleb did not say anything.

Trueman seemed to see through his thoughts as he smiled. “I know. You like her!”

For the first time, Caleb’s tone became serious. “Don’t speak nonsense!”
“Hahahaha, this is the first time I’m seeing you angry. To be able to make the usually gentle you so angry, it looks like I’ve exposed your thoughts! Are you regretting now that the person engaged to her back then was not you? Moreover, it should have been you!”

“Shut up! Cough, cough, cough, cough...”

“Tsk, it’s so fun to see you so exasperated right now. Hahaha... If you don’t tell me what you were talking about, do you think I won’t know? I’ll definitely find a way! Caleb, you better recognize reality and not betray the organization, okay?”

—

Nora did not know about the dispute in the hotel. At this moment, she was driving with Justin on the way back to the Smiths.

The man sat in the front passenger seat and did not say a word.

Nora glanced at him from the corner of her eye. Her lips curled up slightly. “Why do I smell jealousy?”

Justin sighed. He really couldn’t do anything to her.

He was about to say something when Nora’s phone rang. She picked up the call and Maureen’s voice came from the other end. “Nora, where did you and Mr. Hunt go? Mrs. Hunt is here!”

When he heard this, Justin’s phone rang. He picked it up and Brenda’s voice came from the other end. “Justin, Grandma went to the Smiths!”

Nora: “...”

Justin: "..."

At the Smiths.

Joel looked at Mrs. Hunt politely. "Mrs. Hunt, it's already so late. Why did you come to the Smiths? You could have called me over if there's anything..."

Supported by the butler, Mrs. Hunt bent over and looked upstairs with a walking stick in her hand. "Where's Justin?"

Joel coughed. "He went out."

Mrs. Hunt asked again, "Went out? But I heard from his office that Justin doesn't have to work overtime today. Where's Miss Smith?"

Joel: "She went out too."

Mrs. Hunt laughed dryly. "So the two of them abandoned their children and went out together?"

Joel was a little awkward. "Not really..."

"Why? Did they take the children out as well?"

Joel explained, "Mr. Hunt went to pick Nora up from work."

Mrs. Hunt lowered her eyes. "Although we have a nanny at home, it's really inappropriate for these two to leave the two children at home."

Joel nodded. "You're right. When they return, I'll definitely tell them this."

Mrs. Hunt smiled. "Mr. Smith, I wonder which room my Pete is in? I'll go upstairs to see him."

As she spoke, she stood up and was supported by the butler as they walked to the elevator.

Joel wanted to stop her. "Mrs. Hunt, this isn't quite appropriate."

Mrs. Hunt stopped in her tracks. “Why not? As his great-grandmother, I’m going to see my great-grandson. Is there a problem?”

Joel was about to speak when Mrs. Hunt smiled. “Of course, I can’t see her daughter without Miss Smith’s permission. But I don’t need to trouble you to worry about my great-grandson. Which room is he in?”

Mrs. Hunt was really angry!

Justin had already stayed with the Smiths for more than half a month. If this continued, The Hunts would become laughing stocks in New York!

Hearing the faint disdain in her words, Joel’s expression darkened.

He suddenly smiled. “In room 203 upstairs.”

He accompanied Mrs. Hunt upstairs. When they arrived at room 203, Mrs. Hunt frowned. “This should be Miss Smith’s room, right? Pete is sleeping here?”

“Yes,” Joel said. “Pete insisted on sleeping here.”

Mrs. Hunt sneered in her heart. “Then I’m going in to take a look! At the same time, I can see Cherry! But, Mr. Smith, your family is too careless. Although Cherry and Pete are only five years old, they’re not biological siblings. It’s not good for them to sleep together like this, right?”

Chapter 502 - Mrs. Hunt Was Slapped In The Face!

Joel's expression turned even uglier.

Before he could say anything, another voice said, "Mrs. Hunt is right."

Joel was stunned. He turned around and saw Ian coming out.

He was in good health and no longer needed to be hospitalized. Today, Lily had finally agreed to let him be discharged. He couldn't wait to go home and meet his granddaughter and daughter. However, he didn't expect to see Mrs. Hunt right after he returned.

Especially after hearing what Mrs. Hunt said, he was furious.

Ian endured the discomfort in his heart and pushed the wheelchair over. Although he was sitting and was very thin, his aura was very strong.

Mrs. Hunt felt a little uncomfortable when she saw him.

Although Joel was very powerful when it came to managing Smith Corporation, he was still a grandson. Just like Justin, no matter how powerful he was, he was still her grandson in front of her.

Therefore, she could still suppress him.

However, Ian had been in power for so many years. He was very dignified, especially back then when Justin had yet to grow up and her son had failed to live up to expectations. In fact, the Hunts had always been suppressed by the Smiths until they could barely breathe.

Therefore, she was very afraid of Ian.

2402:800:618d:862d:a18b:6ca1:3a2d:a7cd

A smile immediately appeared on her face. “How is your health? Have you been discharged?”

Ian said nonchalantly, “I won’t die yet. At least I can support my daughter for a few years to prevent her from being bullied again at such a young age!”

When Mrs. Hunt heard this, she immediately said, “How could that be? Who dares to bully your daughter?”

Ian looked at her and smiled. “Mrs. Hunt, we both know that women are physically weaker than men. When they marry someone, won’t they become someone else’s? But as long as I’m still a father, I won’t allow my daughter to be looked down on!”

Mrs. Hunt lowered her eyes. “If she wants to be looked at by others, her family background is one thing, but her character and capability must be passable, right?”

When he heard the word “capability,” Ian raised his eyebrows and smiled even brightly. “Your words have reached the bottom of my heart. In the future, the person my daughter is going to marry will definitely admire her from the bottom of his heart. He will respect and love her. If there is even the slightest bit of contempt, I will not agree to it!”

Mrs. Hunt lowered her eyes and smiled. “Even if it’s for your sake, I don’t think anyone in New York will dare to look down on her. But Miss Smiths’s daughter... she’s called Cherry, right? Well, with the Smiths protecting her, she should be fine...”

The Smiths were protecting her...

Ian sneered. “Yes, Cherry has nothing to do with the Hunts. Is that what you mean, Mrs. Hunt?”

Mrs. Hunt smiled. “You can’t say that. Miss Smith and Justin are together now. Of course, Cherry is also half a daughter of Justin. It’s not that the Hunts can’t afford to raise a girl. It’s just that her status makes it a little awkward.” Ian interrupted her, “I understand what you mean. Don’t worry about this. I like Cherry very much. She wouldn’t be bothering the Hunts to take care of her!”

His words made Mrs. Hunt heave a sigh of relief.

To be honest, although Justin had Pete, with his status and face, which woman was not in his reach?

So many wealthy ladies were fighting to marry into their family!

But he just had to fall for a woman with such a burden. It would be so embarrassing if word got out!

This was what Mrs. Hunt had been struggling with recently.

As the matriarch of the Hunts, it was fine even if Nora had grown up in the countryside.

In the future, she would not be allowed to interfere in the family’s financial matters.

She would just treat it as raising a flower!

Anyway, Pete would grow up very quickly. In the future, she would find an appropriate wife for Pete and let her replace Nora. After all, Nora was Ian’s daughter. With her status here, she was worthy of the Hunts! But alas, if only Nora did not have that daughter!

Now that Ian had taken on the little girl, everything was easy. A genuine smile finally appeared on Mrs. Hunt’s face. She felt that the Smiths were really very sensible. However, it made sense after some thought. It was definitely Nora’s fortune to be able to marry Justin. The Smiths must have felt that they had picked up a huge bargain.

She felt an inexplicable sense of superiority and did not notice the mockery on Ian’s face.

After Ian solved this big problem, Mrs. Hunt felt that she should express her stance. Therefore, she smiled and said, “Don’t worry, Ian. I’ll treat Miss Smith well in the future.”

When she said this, Ian made a surprised expression, but then he came to a realization. “The Smiths and the Hunts can be considered family friends. If Mrs. Hunt sees my daughter on any occasion in the future, it’s only right that you take care of her.”

Mrs. Hunt:?

She was stunned and suddenly felt that there was something wrong with this sentence.

What did he mean by seeing her on some occasion...

She said directly, “What occasion? Are you planning to let the two of them move out after their marriage?” Ian was even more surprised. “What marriage?”

Mrs. Hunt was even more confused. “After Miss Smith and Justin get married...”

Ian frowned. “How could the two of them get married?”

Mrs. Hunt was stunned. “Aren’t they together?”

Ian laughed. “It’s just two young people in puppy love. Who hasn’t fallen in love before marriage? However, I haven’t agreed to their marriage!” Mrs. Hunt was even more confused. “But they’re already engaged!”

“Engaged?”

Ian was even more surprised. “Why didn’t I know about the engagement? When? Where? Did they exchange rings?”

Mrs. Hunt: “!!”

She frowned. “You... don’t agree with them being together?”

Ian lowered his eyes. “Of course not. Mr. Hunt is not a good match. Even if my daughter marries him, I’m afraid she won’t be able to resolve the complicated situation in your family. Haha, our family doesn’t have any internal conflicts. Nora grew up in the countryside. She’s simple-minded, but she can’t take on the role of Mrs. Hunt!”

Mrs. Hunt: “...”

She suddenly felt a little delighted!

This was not her separating Nora from Justin. It was Ian!

She did not want Justin to marry someone who had a child and to raise another person’s child. It would be so embarrassing if word got out!

She smiled instantly, her chin lifting.

Before she could say anything, Ian pointed at the room and said, “By the way, weren’t you going to see Pete? Don’t let me keep you!”

He was waiting for Mrs. Hunt to be slapped in the face!

Mrs. Hunt nodded and pushed the door open happily before walking in. The lights in the room were switched on, and the two children were sleeping on the bed.

The one facing her had an exquisite and cute little face. Wasn’t it Pete?

She walked over and touched the child’s cheek. At this moment, the child on the other side suddenly turned around...

Chapter 503 - Face Slapping Mrs. Hunt!

Mrs. Hunt really liked Pete.

He was smart and calm even at such a young age. He was definitely the best choice for the future successor of the Hunts. Moreover, she had given Pete the most love and had also cared about him the most.

Therefore, when his cousins fought with Pete, she was always biased toward him.

She had come over today because she missed Pete too much. Other than when she was sick, she had never stayed away from Pete for so long.

At this moment, when she saw Pete lying there with his eyes closed and his mouth open as he slept, her heart melted. Her expression softened a little as she reached out to touch his face.

Pete was really good-looking. Even if he was a girl, he would definitely have a kingdom-toppling beauty. Speaking of which, a mother who could give birth to a child like Pete should be quite good-looking. As she was thinking, she suddenly heard the sound of someone turning over.

She looked up. With the help of the dim night light, she could see the child sleeping on the other side suddenly turn over. As if he had sensed that there was someone in the room, he sat up.

The child was in a daze. He rubbed his eyes with his chubby hands and looked at Mrs. Hunt. The next moment, he woke up and shouted in surprise, “Great-Grandma?”

Mrs. Hunt: “???”

She was stunned. She looked at Pete, who was sitting up, and then at the sleeping Pete. She stood there in shock.

For a moment, she felt that the light in the room was too dim and she was dazzled.

She swallowed a mouthful of saliva and rubbed her eyes. She looked over again... The child's hair was a little messy. It was indeed Pete! However, the other child was sleeping soundly. She even smacked her lips as if she had eaten something delicious in her dream. It was also Pete!

Mrs. Hunt turned to the nanny beside her in surprise. "You, come and help me take a look. Which one is Pete? Am I seeing things?"

The nanny was also stunned.

No matter how she looked at them, she could not tell them apart. "Mrs. Hunt, why do these two look like young master Pete... Do all children look the same?"

"How can they be the same?! Our little fatty is so ugly!" The nanny: "..."
Mrs. Hunt, they're all your great-grandchildren. Is this really appropriate? However, the two of them were old and dazzled by everything they looked at. Therefore, they still did not understand what was going on. They did not dare to turn on the lights lest they disturbed the children's sleep. The two of them exchanged words. Joel and Ian, who were standing at the door, looked at each other. The uncle and nephew were tactful and did not speak or remind each other.

It was all to see Mrs. Hunt slap her own face!

The two of them did not speak. They were sensitive people. Pete, who had woken up the moment Mrs. Hunt entered, sighed helplessly. "Great-Grandma, my sister and I are twins."

Mrs. Hunt was stunned. "Sister? What sister?"

Her voice was a little high, waking Cherry up from her deep sleep. She rubbed her eyes with her chubby hands and looked at Mrs. Hunt in a daze. Then, she was slightly stunned and called out in her childish voice, “Great-Grandma? Why are you here?!”

“What...”

The words made Mrs. Hunt realize something. She looked at Cherry in disbelief and then at Pete. She finally understood!

She swallowed and said, “Y-You’re Cherry?”

Cherry was in a daze for a while. When she turned back and saw that her brother was already looking at her, she knew that her identity with her brother had been exposed. Therefore, she could only nod. “Yes! Pete and I are twins!”

Mrs. Hunt: “!!”

She took a step back and almost fell to the ground.

How... how was this possible?!

She looked at Pete again. “In other words, your mommy is Nora?”

So Nora was Pete’s biological mother!

Pete nodded.

At this moment, Justin and Nora returned home and the two of them went straight upstairs. When Justin saw Ian and Joel at the door, his heart sank.

Then, he strode forward and called out, “Grandmother.”

Mrs. Hunt slowly turned around. When she saw Justin, she shouted, “Justin, y-you have two children!”

Justin: “...I know.”

Mrs. Hunt suddenly appeared in front of him. “Why didn’t you tell me? Why didn’t you tell me that Miss Smith is Pete’s biological mother?!”

Justin glanced at Nora and sighed softly. It was all because Nora wanted to keep it a secret.

At this moment, Ian suddenly said, “Mrs. Hunt, it’s already so late. Since you’ve seen Pete now... Shouldn’t you be taking Justin back now?”

When Mrs. Hunt heard this, she choked. She looked at Ian and said, “Ian, look, it was a misunderstanding... What we said just now doesn’t count, right?”.

Mrs. Hunt finally realized that she had made a mistake when she thought about how Justin had not mentioned anything about this biological mother all these years. Now, Mrs. Hunt finally realized belatedly that she had made a mistake!

However, Ian said, “It counts. Why wouldn’t it count?!”

Mrs. Hunt hurriedly said, “How can it? Isn’t this breaking up a loving couple?”

Ian smiled. “Didn’t you also disagree with this marriage earlier? In that case, why should we force each other?”

Mrs. Hunt hurriedly said, “I agree now! For the sake of the two children, don’t be calculative with me, okay?”

Ian’s expression was serious. “Mrs. Hunt, you’re mistaken. Although she already has a child, my daughter doesn’t have to worry about not being able to find a good family.”

Mrs. Hunt became even more anxious. “She’s Pete’s biological mother. Other than the Hunts, who else would marry her?”

These words were even more overboard.

As soon as she finished speaking, Justin shouted, “Grandmother!”

Mrs. Hunt instantly realized that she had said something wrong. She hurriedly looked at Ian and saw that his expression had darkened. “What? The Hunts are already domineering to the point that if I don’t let my daughter marry into your family, others will not be allowed to marry my daughter? My family is not to be trifled with! If this doesn’t work out, and my daughter isn’t able to get married, I’ll take care of her forever!”

Mrs. Hunt still wanted to say something, but Ian had already turned to look at Joel. “Joel, it’s getting very late. See the guests out!”

Joel stood up immediately. “Mrs. Hunt, please...”

When Mrs. Hunt saw that they did not care about their reputation, she was even angrier. “There’s no need for you to chase us away. We’ll leave ourselves! Justin, Pete, Cherry, pack up and let’s go home!”

However, when she said this, there was no movement behind her for a long time.

Chapter 504 - Smiths Select A Son-In-Law!

Mrs. Hunt's thoughts were simple.

Children were the ones who held their mothers back the most. As long as she took the two children away, she would not have to worry about Nora not coming to their house! However, she did not expect there to be no movement behind her after she spoke.

She turned around and saw Pete and Cherry looking at her in a daze, while Justin's mouth was pursed. Mrs. Hunt was stunned. "Justin, what are you waiting for? Carry the child! Look at how sleepy Cherry is..."

As soon as she finished speaking, she heard Ian's voice. "Mrs. Hunt, we just said that Cherry has nothing to do with the Hunts. You can only take Pete away."

As soon as she said this, Pete chimed in, "I'm not leaving. I want to stay with Mommy."

Mrs. Hunt: "!!"

She was stunned. Then, she said in shock, "These two children are from the Hunts. Of course, they have to come with me!"

Ian was very domineering. "What Hunts? This is my granddaughter. She has the Smith blood in her!"

Mrs. Hunt held her chin up. "Ian, I know that society is developing, but our wealthy families still care about passing on our daughters. Your daughter will get married sooner or later. The children of our Hunts can't go to another family to suffer!"

Ian smiled. “Who said my daughter is going away? I’m going to find a househusband for my daughter in the future! Anyway, since I don’t have a son, Nora will take on the responsibilities!”

With that, he looked at Joel and asked, “Joel, do you mind?”

Joel stood up straight. “Of course, I don’t mind. Even if Nora manages Smith Corporation, I have no objections.”

Ian raised his eyebrows and looked at Mrs. Hunt. “Did you hear that?”

Mrs. Hunt: “!!”

She could not win against Ian, so she could only look at Justin. “Justin, aren’t you going to say anything?”

With that, she whispered, “Justin, if you want to marry Miss Smith and make her bow her head in compromise, you have to take the two children away! I guarantee that she’ll chase after you!”

When she said this, Justin’s gaze turned even colder.

He had long known that his grandmother did not like Nora.

She preferred traditional daughters who would be at home with her husband and children, just like a mother... She would remain just as the children’s mother in the Hunts forever!

However, with Nora’s personality, it was impossible for her to be trapped at home.

And this time, Mrs. Hunt had come to the Smiths, first, to look after Pete, and second to bring Nora down a notch!

How could Justin allow Nora to be looked down upon at home in the future?

Therefore... he knew what Mrs. Hunt said was true-as long as she took away the two children... or even one of them, Nora would not be able to escape.

But he could not do that.

He lowered his head and held Mrs. Hunt as he slowly said, “Grandmother, let’s go.”

Mrs. Hunt was stunned. “What about the children?”

Justin sighed. “Nora gave birth to the children in the first place. The children will only follow us if she asks them.”

Mrs. Hunt looked at Nora. “Miss Smith, let the children come with us. At the very least, let Pete come back with us!”

Nora shook her head. “Sorry, I can’t.”

It was more probable for Cherry to go back with them. However, it was impossible for Pete!

Ever since she fell asleep a few days ago, she could clearly feel that Pete was more attached to her. Now was the critical period to treat her son’s mild autism. How could she let the Hunts take him away?

Mrs. Hunt misunderstood. “Are... are the Smiths really going to snatch our child?”

She turned to look at Ian. “Ian, the two families had planned a marriage alliance in the first place. Letting Miss Smith marry Justin is the best choice. Why do you have to do this? Aren’t you afraid that we’ll turn against each other?!”

Ian smiled arrogantly. “My health is not good, and I don’t know how long I can live. Therefore, I don’t care about what happens in the future. I only know that my daughter should not be taken lightly!”

Mrs. Hunt choked.

Before she could say anything, Justin had already grabbed her arm forcefully and interrupted her. “Uncle Ian, Joel, Nora, we’ll head back first. I’ll have to trouble you to take care of Pete and Cherry.”

With that, he brought Mrs. Hunt downstairs forcefully.

After the group of people left the Smiths, Ian sneered. “At least this kid knows his place!”

Joel thought of his friendship with Justin during this period of time and said, “Mr. Hunt has always been quite good, right? But Mrs. Hunt is too unreasonable!”

After saying that, he seemed to be afraid that Nora would mind, so he explained, “Nora, Mr. Hunt left because he wanted to take Mrs. Hunt home. Don’t think too much about it.”

Nora did not think too much about this. She just felt that her ears had finally become much quieter. No one would stare at her as she ate anymore, despising her for eating so much!

She felt herself relax. She stretched her body and entered the bedroom. “I understand.”

After she closed the door, Ian suddenly waved at Joel. “Tell me, how does Nora feel about Justin? Does she like Justin?”

Joel touched his nose as confusion flashed across his fox-like eyes. “Uncle Ian, speaking of this, I also find it strange. Nora’s personality is more distant, and she’s cold to everyone. I didn’t see any intimacy between her and Justin, either... I really can’t say if she likes him or not.”

When Ian heard this, he nodded thoughtfully and said, “In that case, you understand...”

His voice trailed off.

After hearing the entire sentence, Joel looked at Ian in disbelief. “This... isn’t too good, right?”

Ian: “That’s what we’ll do!”

Joel: “...Alright.”

—

On the way back to the Hunts. Mrs. Hunt carefully observed Justin’s expression, but when she saw that her grandson’s expression was still dark, she couldn’t help but cough and say, “Justin, it really wasn’t my fault today. I didn’t say anything, but Ian set me up!”

Justin didn’t say anything.

Mrs. Hunt said again, “Don’t be like this. If you really like that Miss Smith, I’ll personally visit another day and invite her back. How about that?”

This was what Justin wanted.

Grandmother had always looked down on Nora. Then he had to let her know how difficult this marriage was!

Other people’s daughters would have to beg a hundred times before they would agree, right?

Furthermore, he could get Grandmother to apologize to Nora! That way, when Nora marries into the Hunts, she would not be criticized by Mrs. Hunt. This was also why he had not stopped Mrs. Hunt from speaking earlier.

However, just as he woke up the next day and was about to head downstairs, Brenda suddenly ran in front of him. “Justin, bad news! The Smiths are going to choose a husband for Nora!”

Chapter 505 - A Good Show!

Justin paused when he heard this, and his expression darkened.

Before he could say anything, Mrs. Hunt had already walked over with large strides. She snorted coldly. “What’s there to be nervous about? The more the Smith family acts like this, the more it shows that they’re worried their daughter won’t be able to get married! Besides, if they can choose a husband, we can also get your brother a wife!” As soon as she said this, Justin called out softly, “Grandmother!”

It was a warning.

Mrs. Hunt was a little angry after being called out by him. “Justin, you can’t be bewitched by a woman! I thought about it and realized that Pete still has to come back. After all, it’s your bloodline and the best heir of our next generation! I was originally worried that Pete’s biological mother’s family wasn’t good enough... But now, with the Smith family’s bloodline, it will definitely be very good!”

Seeing that Mrs. Hunt had yet to realize her mistake, Justin lowered his eyes. “Grandmother, if I am to get married in this life, It’ll only be to her.”

With that, he straightened his clothes and left.

Mrs. Hunt pointed at his back and instructed Brenda, “Listen to him. What is he saying? How can a man like him be trapped by a woman?!”

Brenda did not say anything about this, but she still said, “Grandmother, Justin has never said anything he can’t do.”

Mrs. Hunt was stunned.

Of course, she knew her grandson’s personality. Moreover, all her dissatisfaction with Nora in the past had basically disappeared now.

Although she had grown up in the countryside and did not have much knowledge, Mrs. Hunt could tolerate this shortcoming just because she had two children.

Mrs. Hunt frowned. “I think the Smith family is just bluffing. Just watch. No one will be willing to marry her! After all, her identity isn’t ordinary! Not to mention her baggage, the Smith family will be under Joel’s control in the future. After all, she’s not Joel’s biological sister. After Ian is gone, no one will support her. Furthermore, her status in the Smiths will be very awkward. There should not be many people who dare to come forward to be her husband!”

Brenda immediately said, “Grandmother, I think you’re right. That’s why I’m going to Nora’s house to help her look... Ah, no, I’m helping Justin keep an eye on her! Let’s see who’s so blind to dare come knocking!”

With that, she went downstairs, strutting in her high heels. Mrs. Hunt: ??

—

At the Smiths.

“Cherry, he’s too short!” “But he’s good-looking!” “What’s the use of being good-looking? If a man is short, he’ll be a level-two cripple! You can’t have him!” Brenda took the photo and took out another one. “This is not bad. He has abs!”

Cherry: “But Mommy likes little puppies, not wolfhounds!”

Brenda frowned. “My brother isn’t a little puppy, right?”

Cherry nodded. “That’s why Mommy finds him so plain!”

Brenda sighed. “Doesn’t that mean my brother won’t have a chance?”

Cherry nodded again. “I’ve always felt that Daddy has no chance!”

When Pete heard these words, the corners of his lips twitched. He did not tell the two of them. He felt that Mommy treated Daddy differently.

When Nora woke up, the living room was in a mess.

Even in the room with good soundproofing, she could hear the commotion downstairs.

She hesitated and got up. After washing up casually, she went out and prepared to go downstairs to eat something. However, when she went downstairs, she saw six men sitting in the living room!

Most of these people were in their twenties. Some were gentle, some were mature, and some were bright and handsome. Every type was different.

son

Brenda and Cherry stood up with a sense of accomplishment. “Nora, come take a look at these men!”

Cherry puffed out her chest. “Mommy, I didn’t even log in to my game the entire morning just so I could choose these men with Auntie!”

Nora casually took out a piece of bread and ate it while looking at them. Then, she asked Brenda tentatively, “If you want to find a boyfriend, you should be doing it at the Hunts, right? Isn’t it inappropriate for you to be at the Smiths?”

Brenda: “?”

She waved her hand. “No, these are all for you to choose from! Cherry and I are just looking at them!”

A question mark slowly appeared in Nora’s mind: ?

These men were for her?

She was stunned for a moment before saying, “I... don’t need a bodyguard.”

Brenda: “No! These men are here for the son-in-law selection Uncle Ian prepared for you! You can choose anyone!”

She pointed at the first one. “This is James. Their family deals in electronics, so it’s not bad. This is...”

Seeing that she was about to introduce everyone present, Nora interrupted her. “Stop.” Then her almond-shaped eyes swept over the people. “I’m not interested. Please leave.”

With that, she went upstairs.

She still had to look at the medical books she had gotten from her master, Dr. Zabe! How could she have the time to look at handsome guys here?

But at this moment, a voice sounded. “Miss Smith...”

Nora stopped in her tracks and turned back. She saw a man who was about thirty years old taking a step forward. He was wearing a gray suit. He said, “I’m Blaine Jonas. I wonder if you still remember me?”

Nora was taken aback for a moment.

She still remembered Blaine Jonas. He was an internationally renowned surgeon. The two of them had once held a seminar for a certain patient. She nodded slightly. “Why are you here?”

Blaine smiled. “I originally came to discuss a medical case with you, but I didn’t expect to be treated as a blind date and be arrested.”

Nora: “...Oh, I’m not free for the time being.”

Blaine was not angry. He seemed to have heard about her personality long ago, so he smiled and said, “Yes, I know you’re not free. You should have my contact number. Contact me whenever you’re free.”

“Okay.”

Nora went upstairs.

This was originally just a small episode. Nora did not take this person seriously at all. However, in the afternoon, she suddenly received a message from Trueman Yale. “The show I prepared for you is about to start!”

Nora: “?”

As she was in a daze, her phone suddenly rang. It was the Andersons.

She picked up the call and Simon’s voice came from the other end. “Nora, do you know a surgeon named Blaine Jonas?”

Nora clenched her jaw. “What’s wrong?”

Simon’s voice was very serious. “He has now issued a challenge to the alternative medicine doctors in New York! He said that alternative medicine is all fake and modern medicine is the proper treatment method.

Furthermore, he suggested this as your good friend! There are witnesses who saw him coming out of the Smiths today. Therefore, everyone thinks that you’re the one provoking alternative medicine!”

Nora: “?”

She frowned. “I didn’t ask him to go.”

Simon took a deep breath. “But everyone believes it now. It’s probably too late for you to say anything.”

Nora was puzzled. “How did he make the challenge?” Simon sighed. “He has a few patients on his side, and there are also a few patients who came for alternative medicine. He has agreed to see if alternative medicine can treat those people or will modern medicine do the job! From this, we can determine which method is better!”

Nora: “?”

Modern medicine treated the symptoms but not the roots. Alternative medicine treated the roots, but slowly!

How could they compare? As she was thinking about this, Simon spoke again. “Furthermore, he directly challenged Dr. Zabe. Dr. Zabe is already old, so he definitely can’t accept the challenge. He let his disciple accept the challenge!”

Nora: “????”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 506 - Modern Medicine And Alternative Medicine Competition!

Worry crept into Simon's voice again. "Nora, now that he has gotten involved, you're going to be in a pickle."

Like what had happened previously, if the matter had just been about something she had supposedly said, Simon could still suppress the matter and explain to everyone that she hadn't said anything like that.

However, Blaine had popped up out of nowhere and issued a challenge to the alternative medicine circle. On top of that, he had done that in her name and even claimed that he was fronting the campaign for her.

Winning or losing was no longer important because Blaine's actions had successfully caused a confrontation between alternative and modern medicine practitioners!

Should Nora show up with Blaine, it would cement what she had supposedly said previously. Even if she won the competition, she would lose the support of the alternative medicine community and would struggle in the States in the future.

Yet, if she stepped forward and apologized to the alternative medicine community, people would say that she had chickened out. Angering the modern medicine community would also make her life a struggle in the country. This wasn't to say that she wouldn't be able to use her identity as Anti to make money anymore, though. However, she would no longer be respected by people in the medical profession both domestically and internationally like how she currently was!

Moreover, as the Smiths' young lady and the future matriarch of the Hunts, she would also end up making the Smiths and the Hunts look somewhat flighty and frivolous.

In short, there were a lot of disadvantages!

Nora figured out all this in an instant. She curled her lips into a smile. When Simon was about to nag at her some more, she suddenly said, "Don't worry, Uncle Simon, I know what I'm doing."

Simon's anxious words immediately became stuck in his throat.

After so much had happened, Simon now wholeheartedly trusted and believed in his niece. It was as if he was sure that she could resolve the problems just because she had said that she knew what she was doing.

Thus, he paused for a few seconds before he finally said, "... Alright, it's great that you have a solution."

Nora made a sound of acknowledgment. When she wanted to hang up, Simon said, "By the way, when will you be free to come home for a visit? Your aunt and both your cousins miss you!"

As soon as he said, Nora heard Logan's voice faintly in the background. "Who misses her?! Dad, don't talk nonsense!"

Next to him, Melissa asked softly, "When did Nora say she will be back? I will make her an entire table of delicious food!" Nora then asked, "Where is Sheril?"

Simon replied, "She's at the lab. Ever since you borrowed the lab to make the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pills, and she won a bet with some of the old stick-in-the-muds there, they have completely conceded defeat to her. Everyone at the lab listens to her now and has been trying out many new ways of making medicine. She's so busy that she doesn't even come home anymore."

It was indeed a good thing to be able to find what one liked and stick to it.

Although Sheril lead a simple life, it was a fulfilling and happy one. Nora thought of Sheril's optimism and cheerfulness when she was living with the Andersons, as well as the conflicting contrast between her cute and docile appearance and her love of vodka. She smiled and said, "Well, as long as she is happy."

As soon as she said that, Melissa snatched the phone from Simon and said, "Nora, get in touch with her when you have time, and get her to participate in other activities. The key thing here is that it's time that she starts dating!"

Nora was dumbfounded. She didn't expect that a woman as elegant as her aunt would actually force her daughter to date.

She coughed. "Okay."

After hanging up, she picked up the phone again. After a moment's thought, she called Blaine.

The two of them had both been part of a patient's consultation years ago, so they had exchanged contact information with each other.

Blaine picked up the call very quickly. "Anti, are you here to thank me? I've long been unhappy with the alternative medicine circle. They are no different from a bunch of frauds! Imbalance of energies in one's body? What nonsense! We modern doctors are not gonna recognize such talk! It's just a pity that your words the last time didn't have enough of an impact, so I have given you a hand. With that, the two of us will be able to cause a huge stir in America's alternative medicine circle and turn it upside down!"

Nora: "?"

After hearing what he said, she cast her eyes down. "Who says that alternative medicine is inferior to modern medicine?"

Blaine paused for a moment before he asked, "What? Do you actually think alternative medicine is better than modern medicine?"

Nora lowered her gaze. “You don’t have to deliberately misinterpret my words. Neither did I say anything like that. I just find your act of provoking the alternative medicine circle... very stupid.”

Blaine snorted. “What do you mean by that? I did all of this for you! Never mind that you’re not thanking me for it, but you’re actually saying that... I get it now. Surely you’re not chickening out now that you’re back in the States, are you?”

“To think the top surgeon of modern medicine is afraid of the alternative medicine practitioners in America! Aren’t you afraid that you’ll offend the modern medicine circle if you say that?! Alternative medicine is just a niche, whereas modern medicine has become mainstream. I urge you to think carefully about this! Also, I’ve contacted a few modern medicine doctors and made an appointment with people of the alternative medicine circle for a competition two days later. If you don’t show up, I’m afraid the modern medicine doctors who put you on a pedestal will be very disappointed in you! I will send you the address. You are free to decide whether you want to show up or not!”

After saying that, he hung up. Then, he sent her the address.

Nora: “...”

She had obviously been the one who called to question him. Where did Blaine get the confidence to talk to her like that?

Nora’s expression had darkened.

She let out a cold laugh. Then, her phone rang. When she picked up the call, she found that it was Sheril. Sheril asked tentatively, “Nora, did you issue a challenge to the alternative medicine circle?”

Nora was angry at the moment, so she immediately answered, “It wasn’t me. Some idiot did that.”

Sheril’s cautiousness immediately disappeared and she became furious. “I knew it couldn’t have been you! Given how strong your skills at making medicine are, why would you ever look down on alternative medicine? This must be a conspiracy that Blaine or whatever his name is came up with! He must be sick in the head. Otherwise, why would he do that? Don't worry, Nora, the few of us have already discussed this, and we've decided that I will participate in the competition! I will beat Blaine and then declare in front of everyone that you were the one who made the Zabe Corporation's Calming Pills and that not only are you a master of modern medicine, but also a master of the pharmaceutical industry!"

Nora: "?"

Touched, she said, "Okay. I'm rooting for you."

Sheril also felt rather embarrassed after saying that, so she immediately asked with a smile, "By the way, will you be there on that day?" Would she be there?

Nora's lip corners curled up into a smile. "Of course."

Of course, she had to be there. Otherwise, how was she going to slap Blaine in the face?!

Besides, alternative medicine's effects in treating illnesses had always been slow. Without her, going by the skills of those few people in the alternative medicine circle, she felt that they might lose to Blaine!

Sheril breathed a sigh of relief. "Okay. Don't worry, Nora, I will definitely settle this for you! Even if I lose the competition, at the very least, I mustn't let the people in the alternative medicine circle hate you... I am confident that I can at least achieve that!"

Chapter 507 - Black Cat?

After they hung up the call, a short while later, Sheril suddenly sent her an article. It was an article on a website for the domestic alternative medicine community to communicate and exchange ideas with one another. The article had provided an objective evaluation of the upcoming showdown between alternative medicine and modern medicine.

Blaine's medical skills had been improving by leaps and bounds recently overseas. He had just performed a very risky operation two days ago where the operation process was recorded. His hands were so steady that they were comparable to Anti's. In fact, some people overseas were already starting to compare him with Anti and discussing who the top surgeon really was.

Needless to say, Anti was still publicly recognized as the number one-after all, Blaine had only just caught up.

However, this was enough to make the alternative medicine practitioners in the country wary. Blaine was definitely not someone who looked impressive but lacked real worth. He did indeed have a couple of tricks up his sleeve!

The article also introduced and talked about some of the diseases he had treated...

After Nora closed the page, she saw a message from Sheril: 'Nora, do you think the alternative medicine circle can beat him?'

A competition of medical skills where physicians of both circles treated patients on-site was, in itself, already disadvantageous for alternative medicine practitioners!

Modern medicine practitioners could make use of all kinds of equipment, but alternative medicine practitioners could only rely on their own judgment. To make matters worse, the effects of their medical treatment were slow to appear, so people wouldn't be able to immediately see the effects.

Blaine was no doubt a little hard to deal with. On top of that, he had even called upon several leaders of the modern medicine circle...

Nora replied: 'Hard to say.'

Sheril: "... You don't have to be so honest!"

Nora smiled.

She put down her cell phone. The housekeeper at the door had told her that her cousin from California was here, so she left her room. As soon as she did, she heard Louis's voice downstairs. "Ms. Black! Long time no see!"

Lisa's timid voice rang out. "W-why are you at home again?!"

Louis replied, "I was about to go out and play games with Chester, but then I saw you! Come on, I'll play host!"

Lisa said, "No, it's fine. I have something to talk to my cousin about. You can go out!"

Louis said righteously, "That won't work. As a host, I must accompany you."

Lisa: "

Nora couldn't bring herself to listen any further. She went downstairs, looked at Lisa, and asked, "Why are you here?"

Lisa walked up to her anxiously. "Nora, I heard that you are going to challenge the alternative medicine circle?"

"..." Nora's lip corners spasmed. "Do you already know all about it?"

Lisa nodded. "News has spread throughout the school. We have alternative medicine majors in the university. All the alternative medicine majors are very angry now, and conflicts are starting to form between them and the modern medicine majors!”

Nora: “...”

She didn't expect news of the incident to spread so quickly, or the influence to be so great!

Lisa went on. “Also, there are reporters camping at the school gates and asking if you're an externally hired professor in the school. When I was coming over, the dean of neurosurgery told me to tell you not to come to the school for now.” Nora nodded. “Got it.”

Lisa glanced at her cautiously. “Nora, how are you intending to settle this?”

Nora patted her shoulder. “Don't worry about it.”

Lisa breathed a sigh of relief.

Next to them, Louis became puzzled. “What are you guys talking about? Nora, why are you provoking the alternative medicine circle?”

Nora looked at him and suddenly raised her eyebrows. She asked, “Which do you think is more impressive, modern medicine or alternative medicine?”

Louis replied, “... That would depend on how much money each spends!”
Nora: “?”

Lisa was also surprised. “But medical fees will differ according to the respective illnesses!”

Louis lifted his chin. “Heh heh, what I mean is, it depends on how much the alternative and modern medicine circle would pay me. Whoever gives me more money is the one I find more impressive!”

Both Nora and Lisa found themselves speechless for a while.

Then, Louis put his hand over his pocket and asked, “Nora, is this money really mine?”

Nora: “...”

Why was Louis still worried about the money when so much time had already gone by since the incident?

She nodded.

Louis suddenly jumped up. “Nora’s little cousin, when are you leaving? After I see you off, I’ll go to the bank to apply for a few cards!”

Nora asked curiously, “What are you applying for a few cards for?”

Louis grinned and said, “You don’t get it, do you? You can’t put all your eggs in one basket! I’m going to apply for a few dozen cards and deposit a bit of money into each. This way, if Joel confiscates one of my cards, I will still have money stashed elsewhere!”

Louis got a little ahead of himself. He said, “Also, I haven’t gotten quite used to suddenly becoming a rich man yet! I’ve made up my mind-I’m going to give the cats and dogs a feast to celebrate tonight! They can have the most expensive imported canned food! Also, I’m going to take them to the pet shop for baths, and then buy houses for them...”

After seeing off the worried Lisa and Louis, Nora felt that things had finally become quiet around her.

Unexpectedly, the wheelchair-bound Ian pushed himself out again at this point. She also couldn’t quite understand why Karl was standing next to him.

Surprised, she asked politely, “Uncle Karl, why are you here?”

Karl replied casually, “I’m here to discuss marriage.” Everything clicked in Nora’s head now.

Well, that was true. It didn't make sense for Tanya and Joel to stay together like that without a proper relationship. Joel should indeed give Tanya a rightful status.

She was about to ask whether they had agreed on a wedding date when Ian asked, "Did you run into some kind of trouble?"

Nora paused for a moment. She was about to say something when Karl said, "Was someone blind enough to bully you? Do you want the Assassin Alliance to get rid of them for you?"

Nora: "??"

Was the way they dealt with problems always this straightforward?

While she was wondering about it, Ian sneered, "Do you think you can just kill people so casually outside of your own country?! Is there anyone among your assassins who can take someone's life without anyone knowing in the States?"

Karl immediately replied, "Black Cat can!" Nora: "????"

So, his way of helping her was getting her to personally kill them off herself?

Ian curled his lips disdainfully. "Tsk, you're always going on and on about Black Cat... Don't you find yourself embarrassing..."

Karl, however, didn't find it embarrassing in the least. "Hah, the way I see it, you're just jealous that I have Black Cat because the leader of your dark forces has been hospitalized, so you don't have anyone doing things for you anymore!" Ian: "..."

Karl went on. "In the past, you could still put up a fight with me by relying on the dark forces, but now? You don't have Quentin anymore, but I still have Black Cat!"

Ian: "..."

Seeing Ian's expression darken further, Karl immediately smiled. "Black Cat is our top assassin, no one can compare to him! Even if Quentin is in the pink of health, he won't be able to compare to him!" Seeing that Ian was about to blow his top, Nora couldn't help but say, "Uncle Karl, who says the Smiths don't have Black Cat? ..."

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 508 - Getting The Marriage Certificate!

Her words took Karl by surprise. “What do you mean by that, Nora?”

Nora raised her eyebrows. She was about to speak when Ian said, “It means that the Smiths have someone who is even more impressive than Black Cat! Don’t think that you can keep going on and on about Black Cat just because you have Black Cat in your organization. We’re talking about the children’s marriage now, yet you keep going on and on about Black Cat. Can you get any more annoying?!” His words made Karl choke at once, but then he suddenly reacted and said, “This isn’t right, Smith. I am the one marrying my daughter to your nephew. You should be the one begging me instead! Why should I be the one coming over and talking to you?”

Ian, however, scoffed, “If you don’t want to talk to me about it, then I will go and talk to Tanya.”

As soon as he said that, Karl hurriedly said, “No, no, talk to me!”

Tanya and Karl had only just acknowledged each other, and their relationship was not very good. Karl couldn’t adopt the attitude of a father-in-law in the Smiths at all!

However, Karl would never allow his daughter to marry into the Smiths so quietly, either!

While he was thinking about it, Tanya and Joel entered the room walking hand-in-hand.

Both of them looked like they were in love with each other, and Tanya’s eyes looked like they were smiling

Joel’s smile had also become bigger and even more attractive than in the past. At the sight, Nora asked, “Did something good happen to make the two of you smile like that?”

Tanya glanced at Joel and blushed a little, though she didn't say anything.

Joel walked up to Ian and Karl. He smiled and said, “Uncle Ian, Dad, Nora, all of you are here. It just so happens that I have good news for you.”

All three of them were taken aback.

Karl was the first to react. “What did you just call me?”

Joel took out a folder and handed it to them. “Tanya and I registered our marriage and got our marriage certificate today. We are husband and wife from today.”

II

!

The news was simply too astounding—or at least, Nora was dumbfounded. She looked at Tanya incredulously.

Karl was also stunned. “You... Aren't the two of you being a little hasty about this?” Tanya shook her head. “We've already let each other slip by us for five years. We don't want to let another five years slip by us.”

Her words made Karl shut his mouth.

Ian stared at the two of them, so happy that even his eyes had turned a little red. He patted Joel's hand and said, “That's great! Great!”

While the bunch of them were all moved, Karl said with dissatisfaction, “The wedding...”

Tanya said, “I originally didn't want to hold a wedding because I felt that it was pointless when we already have a child... but Joel didn't agree to it. So, we've decided to invite our friends and family for a simple wedding a week later!"

Hearing this, Karl lowered his head. There was a faint layer of mist in his eyes. "Hmph, at least you know what's good for you, kid!"

Joel smiled and said, "Dad, Uncle Ian. I have some details of the wedding that I want to discuss with the two of you."

While speaking, he, Ian, and Karl entered the study.

Tanya stayed where she was and looked at Nora. She said, "Nora, I also have something to ask of you for the wedding-" Nora raised her eyebrows. "What is it?"

At night.

Justin left the Hunts' manor.

As soon as he left, Mrs. Hunt walked over with the help of the housekeeper. She sighed and said, "It's only been a day that he didn't see her, yet he's already unable to hold himself back?"

The housekeeper said, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder. Besides, with the news of the Smiths looking for a son-in-law, Master Hunt must be terribly anxious."

Mrs. Hunt snorted. "I didn't hear anything about them looking for a son-in-law, but I did hear something else!" "What?"

"As expected, the Smiths' young lady is a hillbilly who has never seen the world! She had the audacity to challenge the alternative medicine circle! She can't even see what she's made of anymore! If someone like her becomes the matriarch of the family, she will definitely offend a lot of people and make a lot of enemies for the Hunts! My head hurts the moment I think of this!"

As the housekeeper held Mrs. Hunt's arm, she asked, "She challenged the alternative medicine circle?"

“Yes!” Mrs. Hunt sighed and said, “Alternative medicine is extensive and profound, and the knowledge within is amazing. Do you remember the Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill? Wasn’t it much more effective than modern medicine? From where exactly did a little surgeon like her find the courage to challenge the alternative medicine circle? The way I see it, the moment Dr. Zabe’s disciple takes action, he’ll crush her beneath his feet!”

The housekeeper frowned. “Will that bring trouble to the family?” Mrs. Hunt sneered, “It won’t go as far as that, but I do think this is something that’ll do her good! After all, once the competition is over, both the alternative and modern medicine circles will detest and despise her! With that, the Smiths will finally realize the position she’s in. It will be much easier for the Hunts to propose marriage after that!” The housekeeper was surprised. “You’re still intending to let her marry into the family?” Mrs. Hunt sighed. “Look at how Justin is behaving. If I don’t let her marry into the family, I will lose my grandson and great-grandchildren! I find the current situation pretty good. We’ll let outsiders suppress her arrogance first!”

“That’s true...”

After the conversation, Mrs. Hunt said, “Get ready. We will go to the Smiths to propose marriage two days later.” “Yes, ma’am.”

—

At the Smiths.

“They’ve got their marriage certificate?” Justin’s surprised voice traveled over through Cherry’s phone.

Cherry nodded. “Yeah! So Mia’s mom and dad can be together forever now! Daddy, will you and Mommy get a marriage certificate too?”

Nora was sitting on the sofa and reading a book about medicine. Upon hearing this, she subconsciously looked at her cell phone, upon which she heard Justin say, “As long as your mother agrees to it, I can do it anytime.”

Nora blinked and smiled.

Cherry and Pete chatted with Justin a little more. Then, Justin asked, “What is your mother doing?”

Cherry replied, “... She’s reading!” “Pass the phone to your mother.”
Cherry handed the phone to Nora.

Nora put down the book and leaned back on the sofa lazily. “What is it?”

Justin coughed. “Put the phone off of speaker first.”

Nora raised her eyebrows and glanced at Cherry and Pete, who were looking at her eagerly. The two little fellows were just like two huge third wheels.

She turned off the speaker mode. “Speak.”

“Nora, I miss you.”

Nora: “!!”

When she heard this, she subconsciously glanced at the two kids again. For some reason, her cheeks suddenly felt a little warm.

She stretched out her hand and fanned herself. Then, she said, “And?”

“Come down.”

Nora was taken aback at his words.

She subconsciously got up, opened the door, and went downstairs. She left the living room and walked towards the parking lot.

It was very dark outside.

She had just walked under a big tree when someone suddenly grabbed her wrist. She was held down, and then a man’s familiar aura pounced on her.

Nora wanted to say something, but the next moment, her lips were sealed...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 509 - Kissed!!

The little corner was very dark. Faint light passed through the area, revealing a man in a black suit pressing a woman half a head shorter than him against the wall. He cupped the woman's cheek in one hand while his other wrapped around her waist. It looked as if he had her trapped there, but in truth, Nora was still a short distance away from the wall. Justin had done this so that the wall behind her wouldn't make her cold...

The man's large hands were scorching hot. The heat passed through her thin summer clothes, seemingly scalding her skin at the waist.

Nora subconsciously wanted to push him away, but her lips had been sealed by him.

The man's lips were like jelly, soft and cool to the touch. When they made contact with Nora's lips, it made her freeze in place.

Her eyes widened in surprise and she saw the man's face right in front of her.

His eyes were dark and bottomless, saturated with burning passion and affection. In the dim light, the beauty mark at the corner of his eye seemed a little more alluring than usual.

His sharp and defined nose bridge, as well as his skin that seemed poreless even at such close distance, made Nora unable to put up any resistance whatsoever.

The New York skies had always been dull and gray. It was as if even the moon high up in the sky was hiding behind the clouds from shyness because of them.

Thump... Thump...

The violent pounding of heartbeats reached Nora through their chests, which were pressed against each other's. At first, Nora thought the heartbeat was hers, but she suddenly realized that it was actually Justin's...

The heartbeat seemed to possess some kind of captivating charm, which made her stop her hands from moving. Coupled with the man's breathing, which was slightly heavier than usual, Nora's cheeks slowly became burning hot.

She couldn't help but swallow hard.

Then, she felt something cool on her forehead

—the man had rested his forehead against hers. The feeling on her lips had disappeared. His voice was a little hoarse as he said, "Nora, I missed you."

Nora blinked. The man had already said that on the phone just now, but when the words rang in her ears in this instant, she felt as though there was a small, thin electric current slowly passing through her ears all the way to her heart.

She swallowed again.

Seemingly having sensed her reaction, the man suddenly let out a low chuckle.

Nora's cheeks turned red. She was about to ask him what he was laughing at when the man suddenly sealed her lips again. But his kiss wasn't like the one before. Instead, he tentatively parted his lips...

The man's cool and clear breath, as well as the smell of vanilla, invaded her nose and mouth as if it wanted to take the air out of her lungs...

The man was domineering and dedicated. He invaded and swept through her territory greedily as though he loathed to spare even an inch of her...

The kiss ended.

Nora gasped for breath. For the first time, she realized that kissing actually took so much energy.

However, neither of them noticed that there were currently two heads staring at them from upstairs. One of them had a gloating look on his face while the other's face had cracked a smile.

Two minutes ago.

An indignant Karl said, "My daughter has married your nephew just like that?"

Ian sat in the wheelchair calmly. "Duh, if not, then what else do you want?"

Karl paced back and forth. "There was no proposal, no asking for her hand in marriage from her parents, no nothing. Just like that, they have gotten married so hastily?" "... Hah." Karl clutched his chest. "Can you put yourself in my shoes and think about it from another angle? Would you be willing to allow a man to abduct your daughter like that?"

"No," answered Ian.

"Right? So you..."

But before he could finish, Ian sneered and said, "What I mean is, Justin had always slept in the guest room when he was staying with the Smiths! My daughter doesn't care about him at all! She's unlike Tanya, who grew up with Joel as childhood sweethearts, and is deeply in love with him. You can't stop them at all. Therefore, my daughter will not be easily abducted by anyone. Sorry, but I can't imagine myself in your shoes at all."

Karl: "..."

The smug look on the man's face was simply too annoying! If Ian wasn't in a wheelchair and terribly weak, he would probably have gotten into a fistfight with him long ago!

The corners of his lips spasmed. He was about to say something when both of them suddenly heard some noise outside.

Karl and Ian were taken aback.

Then, as if he had realized something, Ian hurriedly pushed the wheelchair over to the window on the second floor. Through the window, he could see the lower floor. Justin was hugging and kissing his daughter? Ian felt a twinge of pain in his chest.

He clutched his chest.

The situation in front of his eyes was no different from seeing the precious treasure that he had worked so hard to protect all these years being stolen by a pig!

“Haha!”

Karl couldn't help but laugh. His expression was the complete opposite of Ian's. He pointed at Ian and said with a grin, “The way I see it, the Smiths are about to welcome double happiness! Say, do you want to marry your daughter off too at Joel and Tanya's wedding? Tanya and Nora are best friends anyway, so I'm sure they won't mind!”

Ian: “!!!!”

He was livid. He looked behind him and suddenly spotted a basin of water. He immediately took it, planning to pour it downstairs!

However, his hands stopped mid-air.

What if the water got onto Nora?

As soon as the thought formed, he could only angrily put the basin of water back where it was. He was about to yell and separate the two of them downstairs when Karl whispered, “I'd advise you not to say anything right now.”

Ian turned to him, his eyes all red. “It's because she's not your daughter, isn't it?”

Karl grinned. “That was exactly how I felt when Tanya married Joel. How I wish I could kill that brat...”

“Heh, do you think you can kill anyone from the Smiths when you’re in the States?”

“I have Black Cat... Forget it, we’re digressing. What I want to say is, you can’t do that! Tanya and I have only just acknowledged each other, but isn’t that also the case for you and Nora? Think about it, has Nora ever called you Dad?”

Ian fell silent.

Karl went on. “Nora is much colder than Tanya in terms of personality. It’s much harder for someone like her to warm up to someone. It must be very awkward between the two of you, right? Think about it, if you accidentally run into her secretly kissing a man, wouldn’t things become even more awkward in the future?”

“?? :Ian

Karl then said, “Therefore, the only thing you can do right now is to pretend you didn’t see anything! Lest your daughter drifts even further away from you!” Ian: “!!”

When he thought about it carefully, what Karl said actually made a lot of sense!

He reluctantly and indignantly suppressed his anger and pushed the wheelchair back and forth a few times. Then, he went to the window and looked down again.

When he did, he found that the two of them were kissing again... and this time, the pig’s hand was even starting to wander!!

Chapter 510 - I Haven'T Had Enough Of Kissing You Yet

Ian's blood pressure instantly soared. How could he possibly tolerate that?

He rolled up his sleeves and almost jumped straight down to stop the two of them. However, he suddenly heard movement from the first floor-it seemed that someone had returned and was driving to the parking.

The sound finally separated Justin and Nora and also caused Ian to stop moving.

Nora's heart was pounding wildly. She felt that her heart rate must be at least 130 at the moment!

As expected, falling in love sure was hard work. It was pretty much an anaerobic exercise at this point!

She touched her chest and felt the pounding heartbeat. Then, her eyes deliberately roamed about as she avoided making eye contact with Justin.

There was a scorching look in the man's eyes.

Sensing Nora's reluctance, he did not go any further. Instead, he reached out and touched his lips. Then, he chuckled again and said, "I want more..."

When Nora was about to speak, the man sighed and said, "What a shame, though."

Seeing that he wasn't planning to go any further, Nora breathed a sigh of relief. Nevertheless, she asked, "What is?"

Justin looked at her. "It's a shame that we're at the Smiths' right now. Also, your father seems a little hostile towards me, so I have to take it a little easy here. If he sees us, it will become even more difficult for me to take you as my wife.”

As Nora listened to his aggrieved voice, she retorted, “What else were you intending to do if we weren’t at the Smiths’?!”

Although she spoke stiffly and a little coquettishly, one could still hear the shyness in her voice.

Justin smiled and took a step closer. “Kiss you some more.”

Nora: “...”

The man continued. “I haven’t had enough of kissing you yet.”

“If we’re in a room where there’s no one to disturb us, and I won’t have to worry about your father seeing us, I think I can kiss you for a whole day.”

IL11

Nora’s cheeks turned even redder and she glared at him. “You’re shameless!”

Justin sighed. “I used to think that I was a serious man. Brenda even used to call me a stick-in-the-mud all the time-after all, I couldn’t bring myself to listen to her sweet-talking all day long. But now, I suddenly understand.”

“Understand what?”

Justin let out a low chuckle. “With you, I can’t help but want to act shamelessly all the time.”

Nora was close to becoming unable to listen to him any further. Right at this moment, Louis, who was humming a little tune, walked over. In order to go from the parking lot to the house, he would have to walk past them.

Nora pushed Justin and said, “Hurry up and leave!”

Justin stared at her reluctantly. “Then... I’ll come again tomorrow?”

Nora ignored him. She turned and entered the house instead.

Justin hurriedly hid behind a big tree. He waited until Louis had walked by before he stepped back out. As he touched his lips, he let out a sigh that sounded as if he hadn't had enough yet.

Ian's fists were already iron-hard!!

He took a deep breath. Suddenly, he turned and summoned the butler.

When the butler entered, Ian instructed, "Install lights at this area outside my window... no, install lights in every part of the villa tomorrow!"

The butler: "?"

—

Nora entered the living room. Before she could go upstairs, Louis had already bounced into the room with his bleached blond hair.

When he saw Nora, the young man, who was in a good mood, waved and called out, "Nora!"

Nora nodded at him.

Louis glanced at her suspiciously. "Nora, why are your lips so swollen?" Nora's cheeks instantly turned red. However, she had always been a calm person, so she coughed and put her awkward hands in her pockets and replied coolly, "Oh, I ate something spicy just now."

"... No wonder your face is also so red. I thought you had a fever!"

Nora: "..."

She turned in annoyance and started heading to the second floor. Louis called out, "By the way, I found out today that some of my puppies and kittens are sick. Can you take a look at them for me? No hurry, you can just come with me tomorrow!"

Had it been any other time, Nora would definitely have agreed.

However, she had become annoyed because of her embarrassment just now, so she said, "I'm not a vet!"

She went up the stairs after saying that.

Louis: "?"

He scratched his head in bewilderment. His cousin seemed angry, but it didn't seem like it, either. Never mind, he would just take the cats and dogs to the vet the next day, instead! With that in mind, Louis was about to head upstairs, ready to go to his room to wash up and then play some games. But when he turned around, he instead saw Ian in his wheelchair looking at him quietly. There was a trace of... a satisfied and relieved smile on his face?

Louis shuddered all over.

He stood ramrod straight in fright and called out respectfully, "Hi, Uncle Ian..."

Ian smiled and said, "Have you enough money for your expenses, Louis?"

Louis subconsciously held his hand over the few dozen cards in his pocket. His eyes widened and he asked warily, "Uncle Ian, w-what's the matter?"

Was Uncle Ian intending to confiscate his money?

After all, Joel had controlled his pocket money because Uncle Ian had started it!

However, the next moment, his Uncle Ian beckoned him over kindly and said, "Here's $150,000. You can spend it however you want."

Louis: "???"

He took the money in trepidation. He didn't quite understand why Uncle Ian's personality had suddenly changed? However, the naive Louis didn't bother thinking about it. He had only one thought in his mind at the moment: He now had the money for his pets' medical expenses at the vet's tomorrow!

The New York University of Medicine.

Lisa woke up in the morning. As the one and only postgraduate student under Anti's tutelage, the dean had given her a single dorm room, so her living conditions were very good. She got up, washed up, and went to the school cafeteria for breakfast.

As soon as she entered, she felt people looking at her and gesturing.

Lisa kept her head down and got something to eat. With her lunch box in hand, she went to an empty seat. Just as she was about to take a seat, the person next to her suddenly said, "Sorry mate, the seat's taken."

Lisa didn't think much about it. She nodded and went to the other side with the lunch box.

However, she had only taken a couple of steps when the other person who was seated at the table said, "But the seat isn't taken, is it?"

The schoolmate who had driven her away didn't bother lowering his voice at all, as if he wanted her to hear it. He replied, "Yeah, it isn't, but I don't want to sit and eat at the same table as a piece of trash."

Lisa was taken aback.

Another student immediately asked, "Who is she? Why is she a piece of trash?"

"She's Anti's one and only student! Just because Anti has picked up a few modern medicine skills abroad, she has forgotten her roots. Isn't a person like her a piece of trash? How can her students be any good??" "Huh? I see, it's Anti! She was originally my idol, but she has gone too far this time. Modern and alternative medicine have already been at loggerheads all these years. How can she so openly look down on alternative medicine?"

The group of people immediately launched into a discussion.

Lisa bit her lip. Had they been insulting her instead, she might have endured it. However, she couldn't tolerate them insulting Nora, so she said, "The truth is not like what you people are claiming it to be!"

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 511 - Dilemma?

The moment Lisa said this, the students immediately fell silent. Everyone looked at her simultaneously.

The female classmate who had spoken earlier sneered and said, “Oh, if it’s not what we said, then what is it?”

Lisa explained, “Anti has never said that. It was someone else who slandered her!”

“Slandered her? Why would they slander her alone? Besides, if she was slandered, what about Blaine? Blaine is her friend. He’s organizing people to participate in the competition! Things have already come to this, yet you say it’s slander? How laughable!”

“That’s right. There are also a few students from the modern medicine department who agree with Anti. They’re gathering people to support Anti! Heh, you’re a student of Anti, yet you’re saying such things in school. I’m speechless!”

These people who had accused Lisa were from the alternative medicine department. It was normal for them to be filled with hostility toward Anti.

Lisa hurriedly waved her hands. “No, Anti respects alternative medicine very much. Really, she has never said those words. Don’t misunderstand her...”

When she said this, those people were stunned.

However, someone suddenly said, “Lisa, what’s wrong with you? What if Anti has said it? We all studied modern medicine. So what if we look down on alternative medicine? Alternative medicine is a cheat and has evolved from witchcraft! We were still secretly supporting Anti. I didn’t expect you, Anti’s student, to be the first to betray her! You’re too much!” “That’s right. If you think alternative medicine is good, why don’t you go and study that instead? Why do you take up a spot as a modern medicine postgraduate student? Also, Anti accepted only you as a student. How could you embarrass Anti instead of helping her?”

“Exactly! You’re too much!”

The students who studied modern medicine were certain that Lisa was lying to curry favor with those who studied alternative medicine. Everyone criticized her one by one.

“You’re really shameless to curry favor with the alternative medicine world!”

“That’s right. You can even betray your own teacher! If Anti knew that she had taken in such a student, I wonder how angry she would be!”

When Lisa heard this, she was so anxious that she was about to cry. “I’ve already asked Anti. She really has no intention of looking down on alternative medicine. You’ve misunderstood...” “What’s there to misunderstand? You’re just two-faced, aren’t you? Why? What benefits has alternative medicine given you to be a burden for Anti?”

“That’s right. Modern medicine has always been against alternative medicine. Anti is just saying what everyone thinks. What’s wrong? Lisa, if you’re afraid, don’t learn from Anti!”

The people from modern medicine were criticizing her, and the people from alternative medicine were also being sarcastic. “Hehe, we won’t take Anti’s students! Is that trash worthy of challenging our alternative medicine?”

“That’s right. Do you really think modern medicine is that good? Before modern medicine was introduced, it was always alternative medicine that treated the illnesses, okay? Alternative medicine is just a little downtrodden, that’s why you look down on it... A true alternative medicine master’s skills are very impressive, okay? It’s countless times better than you who only know how to use scalpels and instruments to treat illnesses!”

The modern medicine students could not take it anymore. “Heh, what a joke. We’ll know if they’re good or not after the competition! Our modern medicine has famous doctors, Blaine and Anti. What about you guys? Aren’t all your experts just a bunch of old men?”

The alternative medicine student sneered.

“How terrifyingly ignorant. Do you know that the most powerful person in our alternative medicine world right now is Dr. Zabe’s disciple?! Now, everyone in alternative medicine has joined forces and requested Dr. Zabe to let his disciple come back and participate in the competition to restore our reputation!”

“That’s right. In front of the truly powerful alternative medicine practitioners, not to mention Blaine, even Anti can only kneel down and call him daddy!”

“It’s not certain who will call whom daddy! Do you only know how to boast? Hehehe!”

“We’ll see!”

Modern and alternative medicine students were divided into two factions and were clearly separated in the canteen.

Lisa wanted to explain further, but no one listened to her.

The alternative medicine students despised Anti, so they were very hostile toward Lisa. The people from modern medicine hated what she said even more and rejected her. None of them treated her well.

Lisa took a deep breath and could only hug her lunch box and return to her dormitory to eat.

After eating, she left and went to the school to receive this week’s assignments.

Most of the graduates underwent surgeries with their mentors and studied during the surgery. As a student of Anti, the hospital director was taking very good care of Lisa.

The surgeries she had to learn every week were all arranged by the director.

Today, she was going to follow Dr. Larson. She was also the chief physician of Hospital Finest who was going to perform brain surgery. However, when she went to the hospital to report, Dr. Larson saw her and suddenly frowned. “What are you doing here?”

Lisa was stunned. “Teacher, I’ve come to learn from you...”

“Haha, no one is allowed to participate in my surgery.” With that, Dr. Larson entered the operating theater and prepared to change his clothes.

Lisa was stunned.

When the assistant beside him heard this, he pursed his lips. “The news of your betrayal of Anti has already reached Dr. Larson. He’s someone who can’t stand the sand in his eyes! Don’t participate in this surgery!” “That’s right. How despicable!”

“You admitted defeat after being criticized by a few alternative medicine students. You’ve really embarrassed Anti!”

A group of researchers pointed at her and entered the operating theater to change her clothes, leaving Lisa standing there alone.

.

Her eyes turned red as she bit her lip.

As she stood there, the senior in charge of the internship in the school walked over. When he saw her, he immediately said, “Lisa, this is your next study assignment.”

Lisa reached out to take it, but she was stunned when she saw the contents. “Senior, I-I’m not a vet...”

She was ordered to watch and learn from the vet!

The senior sneered. “Do whatever I tell you to do! Are you still picky about your studies? So what if you’re a vet? Some animals also need us to operate on their brains. This is to let you see the difference between a human and an animal’s brain!”

Lisa: “...”

Lisa knew that he was talking nonsense, but what else could she do other than listening to him?

It was already very troublesome for Nora. She did not want to cause her any more trouble. She picked up the list and walked to the vet’s department.

The senior saw her leave and entered the laboratory. He saw Dr. Larson in the changing room, holding his phone. When he saw him, Dr. Larson said, “Get ready. I’ll call Anti right now and tell her what this student has done!”

The senior nodded. “Yes.”

Chapter 512 - Complain!

The other students were preparing the instruments for the surgery. Dr. Larson picked up his phone and called Nora.

Unfortunately, no one picked up.

Dr. Larson frowned.

Actually, he had never liked this Anti in his heart. She was a nominal teacher, but she had never appeared in school. She had a great reputation at such a young age, and she could not even be contacted normally!

Like now!

Dr. Larson was so angry that he threw his phone into the cabinet. He thought about it and took it out in the end. He sent Anti an email before closing the cabinet and entering the operating theater.

Lisa arrived at a veterinarian hospital that had collaborations with New York University School of Medicine. She went to the front desk showed her ID to the receptionist. Then, the person in charge walked out.

At the vet's side, a senior from the western medicine team was in charge. When he saw her, he asked in surprise, "Why were you assigned to the vet?" Students in the Neurosurgery Department were very popular in school!

Lisa smiled awkwardly and did not say anything

The senior looked at her student ID. "Lisa? Your professor is... Anti?"

He exclaimed, "So you're Professor Anti's student!"

Lisa nodded.

The senior asked her to wait a moment and then took out his phone to contact the people at the school to ask what was going on. When he found out the reason, he frowned.

After hanging up, he looked at Lisa in disdain. “Okay, go find a place to help.”

Lisa sighed and nodded before walking back.

There were several types of veterinarians.

Some pets were carefully raised. When they were sick, their owners would bring them over to seek treatment. These pets would be treated as treasures by their owners, and they would not be stingy with their money.

There were also some stray animals sent by non-profit organizations. These animals were usually dirtier, and they had some infectious diseases.

Most veterinarians did not like this kind of work. Most importantly, they would not receive any extra tips from the owners!

Just as Lisa arrived at the back, someone pointed at the two kittens that had just been sent over. “Go and give these two kittens a bath first!”

Lisa was stunned. She had never come into contact with pets before. Furthermore, she did not keep pets at home. Most importantly!

She was allergic to cat fur!

She stood on the spot and said, “Sorry, I’m allergic to cat fur. Um...”

As soon as she finished speaking, the person pursed her lips in disdain. “If you’re allergic to cat fur, why are you a vet? Are you here to be a joke?”

Lisa bit her lip. “I... I’m not a vet...”

“If you’re not a vet, why are you here?”

Lisa wanted to explain, but the person waved her hand at her. “Hurry up! You’re really a princess. You only know how to pick and choose when you’re working. You just arrived, and you’re already so picky?”.

Lisa’s eyes turned red again. She lowered her head and could only find a mask to wear. Then, she walked to the stray cat beside her.

Stray cats were usually more aggressive. They would bare their claws at her.

Lisa stared at it and squatted down to help.

As she worked, she could hear the senior mocking her from behind. “I knew it. She’s just being pretentious! What allergy to cat fur? Ha!”

Lisa almost cried when she heard this.

But she said nothing.

As they were talking, someone suddenly ran over and said with a smile, “Oh my god, there was a rich second-generation heir who brought four cats and dogs over. He looks generous! Come and help!”

The rest of the people exclaimed when they heard this.

Usually, when rich second-generation heirs came to seek treatment, they would give the nurses some extra tips. These people immediately put down their work and pushed their pets into the cages to be locked up before walking out.

Lisa did not understand this. She stood up and followed behind them.

However, when she walked to the front hall, she was seen by a senior. The senior immediately pointed at her and asked, “What are you doing here?”

Lisa was taken aback. “Didn’t you ask us to come and help?”

The senior sneered. “It’s only your first day here, and you want to snatch credit and tips from us? Dream on! Go back and continue bathing the stray cats!”

Lisa: “...Okay.”

She did not expect there to be such things in the veterinary world. Just as she was about to leave, she heard the senior from before say, “What happened?”

Before Lisa could say anything, the senior said, “It’s all because of this newbie. On her first day here, she’s already fighting for credit with us! However, she’s so picky when it comes to work. She doesn’t know anything and just charges forward to show off!” The senior frowned. “Your argument here has frightened the guest’s pets!”

The senior immediately reprimanded Lisa. “Did you hear that? It’s all your fault for scaring the guest’s pet. If anything happens to the guest’s pet, it’s all your fault!”

Lisa clenched her fists tightly.

She lowered her head. “I didn’t say anything.”

“It’s clearly your fault. Why are you still talking back?” The senior did not give up. Just as she was about to continue reprimanding him, a voice was heard.

“Alright, alright. My pets are not that weak. If you guys are done arguing, hurry over and treat them!”

This impatient voice made Lisa suddenly raise her head and look at the front hall in disbelief.

At this moment, Louis walked over with four cages. “Why are you guys arguing? It’s so annoying. You...”

As he spoke, he suddenly saw her. His eyes instantly lit up. “Eh, little cousin? Why are you here?!”

The moment he said this, the seniors instantly looked at Lisa!

What did this distinguished guest call her just now?

Little cousin?

—

At the same time, in the Smith villa.

Nora woke up slowly.

She stretched and picked up her phone. Then, she saw the email. Dr. Larson told her everything and added, “This is your student. You have to handle it yourself!”

Nora narrowed her eyes.

She had forgotten about Lisa’s situation in school.

While she was hiding in the Smiths, no one dared to come over and scold her. However, Lisa was different!

At the thought of this, she picked up her phone and called Lisa.

The call was picked up very quickly. Lisa picked up the call. Nora asked, “Did they take their anger out on you because of me?”

Lisa answered without hesitation, “No.”

Nora nodded and felt relieved.

Just as she was about to hang up, Louis’s voice suddenly sounded. “Who is it? Is it Nora? Tell her quickly that you have been assigned to a pet hospital!”

Chapter 513 - Are You Satisfied With My Arrangement?

Lisa originally did not intend to trouble Nora.

After all, she had misunderstood that they were related by blood in the past. But now, she knew that was not the case. Nora was already good enough for treating her like before.

She had to be tactful.

Furthermore, the competition was about to begin. Even if she suffered a little, it would only be for the next two days. Therefore, Lisa did not intend to say anything.

However, she never expected Louis to interrupt at this moment.

Furthermore, Louis had snatched her phone away. The blonde Louis rattled on the computer. “Nora, aren’t you the one protecting this little cousin of yours? Did you know that she was assigned to a pet hospital? Furthermore, she was bullied here! She’s even allergic to cat fur. Now, her face has rashes! Come and save her quickly. Otherwise, your little cousin will be bullied to death!”

Lisa: “!!”

She wanted to snatch the phone, but Louis jumped up and refused to give it to her.

Nora was asking on her phone, “Which pet hospital?”

Louis told her the hospital’s name.

Nora nodded. “Got it.”

Louis was still talking. “It doesn’t matter if you’ve got it. You have to resolve this quickly. Your little cousin is too weak. She didn’t even make a sound when she was scolded. She’s really pitiful.”

Nora: “...”

“You... Give me back my phone!” Lisa was so angry that she reached out to snatch the phone. However, Louis was much taller than her and she couldn’t snatch it. She could only jump up, but this jump disrupted her balance and she fell to the side! “Hey, be careful!”

Louis hugged her waist and used himself as a shield before falling to the ground!

Lisa collapsed onto him!

The two of them made intimate contact again.

Lisa looked at Louis in shock.

As for Louis, he looked at her red face. He was so close that Lisa was frightened. She stretched out her hand and struggled to get up, but she pressed it against Louis’s chest. “Ouch!”

Louis shouted, “Lisa, you’re taking advantage of me!”

Lisa: “...”

She hurriedly stood up and picked up her phone. She wanted to tell Nora not to worry about her, but she realized that the call had already ended.

She said to Louis angrily, “You, why are you troubling Nora?”

Louis: “... That’s your sister. We’re all family. How can helping you be troublesome?”

Lisa: “??”

Louis looked at her confidently. Lisa was so angry that she couldn't speak. She could only bite her lip hatefully.

Louis said, "Oh, right, Nora wants you to go back to school. You don't have to stay here anymore."

Lisa nodded and left.

Louis followed her hurriedly. "I'll take you to school!"

Lisa: "No need..."

Louis chased after her. "It's not your fault that you're so ugly, but it's your fault if others see you and go blind from your ugliness. Are you really going to harm people?" Lisa: "?"

Louis smiled annoyingly. "So, let me take you back!"

The New York University of Medicine.

Nora's Mercedes Benz jeep stopped in the parking lot and she went straight upstairs. She killed her way to the office of the dean. Dean Shaw indeed did not know what the students below were doing. However, after hearing Nora say all this, Dean Shaw instantly frowned. "Ridiculous! How can the teacher's matter be blamed on the students? I will definitely get someone to investigate this matter thoroughly!"

Those students who used their power to bully others had such a bad character in school. What would happen when they entered society?

They had to find out who they were and punish them severely!

Nora could always rest assured when Dean Shaw handled things. After all, the two of them had worked together so many times. She nodded and said coldly, "Dean Shaw, I'll leave my student to you. Now that this has happened..." Dean Shaw sighed. "I know what you mean. Alright, I'll compensate her. There's a very good surgery in a few days. I can arrange for her to go on a tour. Don't worry. She's just a student. The school won't do anything to her. The bigger problem now is you!" Nora raised her eyebrows and asked, “What’s wrong?” Dean Shaw pointed at her. He felt that this person was really good at finding trouble. He asked, “Let me ask you something. Did you say that alternative medicine is useless?”

Nora’s answer was straightforward. “No.”

Dean Shaw nodded. “I knew it. But now, the matter has become serious. Do you know? Students are the easiest to rile up, and they are the most hot-blooded. In school, there was already a disagreement between modern and alternative medicine departments. Now, with you, the entire school is in chaos!”

He sighed. “Many modern medicine students look down on alternative medicine, and the alternative medicine academy is very angry. They have already jointly proposed to the school to revoke your status as a student mentor!”

Nora raised her eyebrows. “Then? Do you need me to clarify?”

When Dean Shaw saw that she was still neither anxious nor slow, he sighed. “There’s no need. I’ll suppress it for you. But there has to be an end to this matter. If you clarify, most of the students won’t believe you anymore! Everyone will only tacitly agree that you submitted to the school’s pressure. This matter is even being talked about on some foreign medical forums!” Nora was stunned. “Foreign forums?” Dean Shaw nodded. “Yes, I don’t know who pushed it either. Of course, it might also be because your status in the medical world is too high. Your slightest movement attracts the attention of foreign countries. They have someone posting on the news that you will definitely be apologizing on the Internet. Furthermore, they say that you are not trying to cause a conflict between alternative medicine and modern medicine, nor are you looking down on alternative medicine. Because China focuses on alternative medicine, you will definitely be threatened by China. If you don’t change your words, you will never be able to go there.”

Nora: “...”

Weren’t foreigners too scheming?

It was just a sentence, why did they have to interpret it like that?

Dean Shaw said again, “Especially after your student explained it for you. The people from alternative medicine didn’t believe it, but the people from Western medicine believed this news. They said that your student’s actions were foreshadowing your apology! Therefore, you’re in a tough spot now.” If she apologized publicly, the foreigners would have had guessed right.

If she did not apologize publicly, she would have to bite the bullet and acknowledge it.

Dean Shaw’s head hurt.

Nora raised her brows.

At this moment, her phone rang.

She picked it up and saw Trueman’s message. “Are you satisfied with my arrangements, Doctor Anti?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 514 - Passionate

When she saw this sentence, Nora suddenly understood.

No wonder the people overseas had noticed her words. It turned out that all of this was arranged by Trueman!

Beep!

Trueman's second message came: "Now, you can't even survive in the alternative medicine industry anymore. I can show you the way."

Nora curled her lips and typed slowly. "Tell me."

Trueman: "Come with me. Join us, leave New York. Your modern medicine skills are top-notch in every country. You will be respected!" Nora: "..."

This Trueman really refused to change!

But this time...

She was a little tired of it.

She lowered her head and suddenly said, "Let's make a bet."

Trueman: "What bet?"

Nora: "Bet if I can get through this safely. If I lose, I'll leave with you. But if I win, you have to answer five of my questions."

Trueman: "Five questions... You're really greedy!"

Nora was about to reply when Trueman sent another message. "But there's no problem! This time, I definitely won't let you off easy!"

In the hotel.

After sending the message, Trueman's lips curled into a dark smile.

The person at the side asked, "Little master, can we really suppress her like this?"

Trueman smiled. "Do you know what talented people hate the most?"

"What?"

"Being disciplined!"

Trueman stared ahead and smiled. "She's so unwilling to admit defeat. How can a person who doesn't give in to me obey the discipline of the Medical University? Whether she wins or loses this competition, apologizes, or admits to this matter-she will either be expelled from the Medical University or end up being controlled by them. Someone like her will eventually leave because she can't stand it!"

That person did not understand. "But Anti is the number one international surgeon! I don't understand."

Trueman smiled. "Most powerful people only know how to protect themselves!"

Nora's matter had already become very influential. The principals and deans of the New York University of Medicine would definitely push Nora out to bear the public's anger!

After all, if Nora did not go out, they would be the ones to face the anger!

Powerful people loved to shirk their responsibilities.

—

Nora put down her phone and looked up at Dean Shaw again. However, she saw that although he still had a worried expression on his face, he still said, "If there's nothing else, you should rest well at home these next few days! Sleep more!"

Nora comforted him. “I know. Don’t worry. The competition will end in two days. I won’t make things difficult for you.”

Dean Shaw nodded.

Nora walked out.

After she left, Dean Shaw’s assistant, Michael, walked in. He said with a worried expression, “Dean Shaw, the principal is here!”

Dean Shaw went out personally to welcome the principal.

The principal frowned. The moment he entered, he explained the situation outside clearly. “Now, it has become a trending topic on the internet. People are focusing on how such a person can become a teacher in an authoritative school! She has caused a conflict between modern and alternative medicine and is simply misleading the students! There is also a group of reporters who have surrounded the school! They say that the people want such a teacher to be dismissed from their post!”

With that, he looked at Dean Shaw and asked, “What do we do now?”

Dean Shaw frowned as well. “What do you think we should do? I was the one who recruited Anti, and she’s also our neurosurgery supervisor.”

The principal sighed. “She’s an external resource! She’s indeed unreliable!”

Dean Shaw immediately nodded. “Why don’t we think of a way to get rid of her title?”

The principal was deep in thought.

Michael, who was standing at the side, became anxious.

What did the director and principal mean?

Were they really going to give up on Anti?

Others might not know the truth, but Michael, who was with Dean Shaw, knew that Anti had been used!

The words on the Internet were forcing her!

Anti was Michael's idol. Michael looked at the director and principal in front of him. For some reason, he suddenly felt angry.

But then, he felt helpless.

In the past, the Americans were relatively weak and could not keep scientists around. Talent flow was the greatest problem, but many people had said that this was because they were not broad-minded enough.

Look... it was starting again.

Whenever there was a problem, the first person to be pushed out would always be a talent! He lowered his head and clenched his fists. He was suddenly a little disappointed with the school. What was the point of staying in such a school?

He looked up and was about to say something when he suddenly heard Dean Shaw's voice. "It's a little difficult to hire her as an official graduate mentor. After all, Anti's personality is too strange! But I will definitely work hard to resolve this matter!"

The principal instantly patted his shoulder. "Yes, you can do it! You must protect such a talent for our school and our country!"

Michael was speechless.

He was stunned and looked at the principal and director in disbelief.

He swallowed. "But... but what if someone pursues this matter?"

Dean Shaw said, "Heh, like I said, I was the one who recruited Anti. I'll bear full responsibility! Even if I'm scolded on the Internet, even if I'm dismissed, Anti must not be chased out!"

His voice was sonorous and powerful.

However, the moment he said this, the principal smiled as well. “Dean Shaw, you can’t snatch this duty from me! I’m the principal of the New York University of Medicine! Research is your professional duty. Leave this external matter to me! Our school can’t be threatened by reporters and be forced to compromise!”

Dean Shaw was silent for a moment. “But the higher-ups...”

The principal smiled. “The higher-ups have already arrived. According to the rules, Anti will be suspended for investigation, but I’ve already guaranteed that this is all a misunderstanding. This is all an outsider’s scheme! If Anti had really said that or if she really took the opportunity to escape from New York, I’m willing to take full responsibility!”

Dean Shaw’s eyes turned red. The two elders looked at each other and smiled after a while.

Michael stood at the side and watched.

A ball of fire suddenly ignited in his heart.

See, this was the unity we needed!

His country was already getting stronger and stronger, and the embrace of his country was also so warm. It would definitely not disappoint the rare talents who stayed behind!

The sky gradually darkened.

In school, Nora did not know about the Principal and Dean Shaw’s difficulties. She did not know that things had become so serious.

The medical competition would take place the next day. She looked a little worried.

Others thought that she was worried about tomorrow. Unbeknownst to everyone, Nora was staring at her phone. On it was a message from Justin

“Nora, I’ll call you when I’m downstairs.”

It had been half an hour since she received this message, but why was Justin not downstairs yet?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 515 - We Have To Act Fast

Cherry and Pete held their little heads and looked at Nora. However, they saw Nora, who usually went to bed early after taking a shower and had nothing to do, yawning as she held her phone in boredom.

Cherry blinked her grape-like eyes and asked, “Mommy, why aren’t you asleep?”

If Mommy did not go to bed, how was she going to play games?!

Nora glanced at her and yawned again. She was so sleepy that she could barely open her eyes.

If he still did not come, she would fall asleep!

Pete suddenly asked, “Mommy, are you waiting for news from Daddy?”

Nora: “?”

Her eyes instantly jumped open. She looked at Pete and coughed. Her voice was slightly hoarse and carried a hint of panic that no one else could detect. “How did you know?”

Pete sighed. “Because Daddy is in the living room downstairs!”

Nora: “???”

She asked in surprise, “What?”

Pete nodded and said, “Yes, I saw Daddy coming from outside earlier. I happened to bump into Grandpa, so I called him in. The two of them are chatting downstairs now!”

Nora: “...”

She sat up and thought about it. Then, she went out and saw two men sitting downstairs.

Justin sat on the sofa with his back straight.

Ian was sitting in a wheelchair drinking tea. The two of them sat facing each other but did not speak. The living room was very quiet.

Nora looked at them and was about to go downstairs. When she turned around, she saw Joel and Tanya sitting beside the bedroom door on the second floor. The two of them had even moved two chairs over. Both of them looked like they were watching a show.

To make matters worse, there was a plate of melon seeds in the middle.

When she saw Nora, Tanya grinned at her and spat out a melon seed skin. She explained, “The two of them have been sitting opposite each other for ten minutes without saying a word.”

Joel nodded at the side. “It looks like Justin is in big trouble if he wants to marry Nora.”

Tanya raised her chin when she heard that. “I think it was too easy for you to marry me! Many people chased after me back then!”

Joel chuckled gently. “Yes, it’s mainly because my wife cooperated well and didn’t give my father-in-law any space to rebel.”

With that, he said, “Otherwise, it would have been more difficult for me. After all, Uncle Ian is still reasonable, but Karl...”

Before he could finish, Tanya glared at him. “What are you trying to say?”

Joel immediately changed his tone. “Karl is more straightforward and not as scheming as Uncle Ian.”

“...That’s more like it!”

After saying that, Tanya grabbed a bunch of melon seeds. After some thought, she stuffed them into Joel's hands. Joel chuckled and took them over to help peel them. He then placed the seeds into Tanya's mouth.

The two of them sat very close to each other and had an intimate posture. Nora pouted and then walked downstairs.

When she went downstairs, she happened to hear Justin asking, "Uncle Ian, do you have anything to say to me? I came here today to... see the children."

Ian asked casually, "Even if I have nothing to say, can't you accompany me for a while?" Justin replied, "... Of course, I can."

He adjusted his black suit. "If you need my company, I'm free no matter how long it takes."

"..." Ian choked. "There's no need for that. I'm just a little lonely right now and need someone to accompany me."

Anyway, he was not allowed to go upstairs!

Justin coughed and nodded. "No problem. If it gets too late, I can just stay the night. I'll help you keep watch tonight?"

Ha.

Who knew whose room he would go to in the middle of the night?

As Ian thought about this, he said, "There's no need for that. I'm not used to people guarding the night for me."

Justin leaned forward and poured him a cup of tea. After Ian took a sip, Justin asked, "Uncle Ian, regarding my grandmother, I'll apologize to you here! But don't worry, I'll definitely make her bow down to Nora."

Ian's attitude was cold and he was very difficult to talk to. Even now, he did not relent. "It doesn't matter if she yields or not. Anyway, Nora has nothing to do with your family."

Justin sighed. “Uncle Ian, Nora and I...”

“You and Nora had two children by accident. It’s indeed troublesome, but don’t worry. No matter what, you’re still the child’s father. If you come to see the child, I won’t stop you.”

Justin seemed to have choked. He lowered his head. “Uncle Ian, what must I do to make you agree to our marriage?” Ian did not expect him to make himself sound so pitiful, to the point that he choked on his words. He frowned and began to count his shortcomings. “The families of the Hunts are all at odds. The side family has been fighting with you all this time, right? And that grandmother of yours is not someone easy to deal with. After Nora marries you, the family matters will be too troublesome. These are all things I can’t agree with.”

Justin nodded. “I know. There are many problems at home, but I will work hard to resolve these problems before coming to propose.”

Ian frowned. “We’ll talk about it when the time comes. If there’s nothing else, you can leave!”

Justin slowly lowered his head, his expression revealing some grievance. When she saw him like this, Nora suddenly thought of the first time she had seen him. It was in the hotel. The man was like a moon surrounded by stars, dazzling. Such a person would smile when facing Karl Moore, threatening him domineeringly, but when facing Ian, he accepted the unreasonable criticism.

Nora lowered her eyes and suddenly said, “Cherry missed you. Come up and see her.”

Justin’s eyes lit up when he heard this. He subconsciously took two steps toward Nora, but then he stopped and looked at Ian hesitantly.

His expression was as if he did not dare to go over unless Ian allowed it.

Ian: “!!”

He finally understood. This fellow had not spoken since he entered and was waiting for him to speak. Whoever spoke first would lose, but why did Justin suddenly start to give in?!

So it was because Nora had come downstairs!

This pretentious guy!

However, since he had just reunited with his daughter, he definitely couldn't separate the two of them forcefully. Therefore, he said angrily, "Go." Justin revealed a happy expression. "Thank you, Uncle Ian!"

Then, he followed Nora upstairs.

Ian: "..."

He suddenly felt very aggrieved!

Justin, who was following behind Nora, smiled. He followed Nora upstairs. When he saw Joel, he paused for a moment and nodded before following Nora into the bedroom.

As soon as they entered, he said to Cherry and Pete, "I saw Mia just now. She's looking for you guys."

Nora: "?"

When Cherry saw Justin, she had already jumped off the sofa and was running toward him. When she heard this, she stopped in front of him and asked hesitantly, "It's already so late. Mia is still awake?"

Justin coughed. "Yes."

Pete glanced at the tyrant and stood up helplessly. "Cherry, let's go."

Nora looked at him chasing the children out the door. Then, with a click, he locked the door and turned to look at her. "Nora, we don't have much time. We have to hurry."

Nora: “?????”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 516 - The Scheming Father And Son

Nora's eyes widened in astonishment and she looked at Justin in disbelief.

She really had asked him up just to let him visit the children!

Wasn't the guy a slave to his daughter?

Why did he chase Cherry out of the room when he hadn't even touched her little finger yet? Also, what was he talking about when he told her that they had to hurry?!

The corners of her lips spasmed and she subconsciously asked, "Hurry and do what?"

Almost right after she spoke, Justin turned and walked towards Nora. In just a couple of steps, he came up to her, held her around the waist, and said aggrievedly, "Although a man shouldn't be talking about going fast, I still want to have you as soon as possible."

Nora: "!!!"

With the man coming so close to her, she could smell the vanilla scent on him again. The man's masculine pheromones filled her nose and made her swallow. She wanted to push the man away, but Justin had already lowered his head and was whispering into her ear. He said, "Nora, this is my first time, so I don't have any experience. Please be patient with me."

III

The man's voice was very deep, making him sound like a subwoofer. His voice was so pleasant it could give one an eargasm.

Nora felt as if her ears were being tickled. In fact, she felt as if even the depths of her heart were slowly starting to itch. However, she could nevertheless sense that the man was nervous—his heart had started to pound violently again.

Her cheeks turned red. She wanted to speak, but the man suddenly nipped her ear.

Nora froze all over at once!

The sensation on her ears was soft and icy-cold. He nibbled on her ear gently, making her feel as though an electric current had surged straight into her heart!

She wanted to push Justin away, but it was as though all her strength had been sapped away, rendering her unable to move. The next moment, the man pushed her down onto the soft bed.

Then, his lips covered hers once more.

His lips were soft and delicate, making Nora slowly close her eyes...

Justin had always exercised self-control in everything he did, but after he kissed Nora the night before, he had dreamed about kissing her the whole night.

He never knew that kissing was this addictive.

It was as if it wouldn't be enough no matter how much he kissed her...

As a result, during the ten minutes that Ian had kept him downstairs after he arrived, he had been terribly distraught.

When he came upstairs, he couldn't wait any longer to continue where they had left off the previous evening Nora felt her chest becoming awfully tight. It was as though the man had sucked away all the air in her lungs, making her so tense and nervous that her body was becoming limp.

She was already a mother, but in her memory, this was the first time that she was being so intimate with a man. This continued until...

Knock, knock.

It was only when someone knocked on the door that the two of them finally came back to their senses with a start.

Nora subconsciously glanced at her cell phone

—they had already been kissing for half an hour... But she clearly felt as if only a minute had passed...

“Sigh!”

Justin sighed softly and said, “Time flies... Even though I’m already making the most out of the time we have, it still feels like there isn’t enough.”

Nora: “...”

Knock, knock!

Someone knocked on the door again. Then, Ian’s voice rang out outside.

“Nora?”

Nora abruptly pushed Justin away and sat up straight when she heard Ian’s voice. She took a couple of deep breaths and glared at Justin before she finally walked over to open the door.

As soon as she opened the door, she saw Ian standing outside and pulling a very long face. Behind him were Cherry and Pete.

Cherry said “Daddy lied! Mia is already asleep! Mommy, Daddy, what were the two of you doing, though?” Nora was about to say something to gloss over the topic when Pete asked, “Were you two making more brothers and sisters for us?”

Nora: “!!!”

She almost choked on her saliva!

Her cheeks immediately flushed crimson. She sounded a little panicky as she replied, “No, we weren’t!”

Behind the children, Tanya and Joel were craning their necks and watching the excitement like the nosy bystanders they were. In particular, Tanya’s pretty eyes swept across Nora’s face before finally stopping at her lips. She stared at her lips thoughtfully for a while, and then a touch of a smile formed on her face.

Pete frowned. “Oh, you weren’t? Mia said that her parents told her that they are planning to give her a younger sibling, so they kicked her out of the bedroom while her mom and dad slept together. That’s why I thought Mommy and the tyr... I mean, Daddy were also making younger brothers and sisters for us!” Tanya: “??”

Joel: “???”

How did the focus turn to the two of them when they were just watching the excitement?!

Tanya’s cheeks immediately turned red. The miffed woman glared at Joel and then, she turned and left.

Joel hurriedly followed after her. “Tanya, don’t be mad...”

Tanya’s spluttering voice traveled over faintly: “It’s all your fault for saying such nonsense to the child...”

After the two left, Pete gave Nora a look. Only then did Nora understand that Pete was actually trying to help her. That’s for watching the show and not helping out! Not only did Tanya and Joel not help, but they had pretty much even brought stools and popcorn over. Regardless, despite Pete’s young age, he knew how to set up traps for others. He was simply too scheming!

Nora's lips curled into a smile and she finally looked at Ian.

Ian was glaring at Justin angrily. "What were the two of you doing?". "... Discussing that matter about modern and alternative medicine, of course," replied Justin.

Ian didn't believe him. He frowned and asked, "That's it?"

Justin nodded with a straight face. "It's true, Uncle Ian. What else could we have been doing? Even if you don't trust me, surely you trust Nora, right?"

Ian: "??"

The corners of his lips spasmed a little. In this instant, he suddenly felt as if he was being forced to suffer in silence.

Of course, he didn't trust him!

He had already seen the two of them cozying up to each other outside the night before!

Now that they were hiding in the room today, they must have gone even further than what they did the day before.

But could he say that he didn't believe what Justin said?

No, he couldn't!

Because if he did, then Nora would realize that he'd seen them the day before! When that happened, things would become awkward for all three of them!

Ian suddenly felt like he had been tricked.

He glared at Justin furiously, upon which he heard him say to Nora, "I'll come again tomorrow... to visit the children. Uncle Ian, you said just now that I am the children's father, so you won't stop me from coming over to visit them. In that case, you won't stop me from coming tomorrow, either, right?"

Ian: "..."

Was he openly moving in now?! He felt like throwing up blood! He took a deep breath and held back his anger. At last, he said reluctantly, "Yeah."

With a faint smile in his eyes, Justin looked at Nora with lingering affection. The look of reluctance to part in his eyes was so intense that Nora felt if it might make her stick to him.

She retracted her gaze, opened the door, and drove both Justin and Ian out. Then, she whispered, "See you tomorrow."

The next day, it was finally time for the modern versus alternative medicine competition!

After Nora woke up in the morning and washed up, she drove straight to the New York University of Medicine's grand hall.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 517 - Exposing Her Own Identity!

Blaine had arranged for the competition to be held in the grand hall.

His purpose in doing so was to provoke the students in the school. After all, these students had yet to become part of the working society, so they were some of the most passionate people around.

When Nora arrived at the school's entrance, she could already see reporters heading to the grand hall.

She frowned slightly, not understanding why the school wasn't doing anything about it. Right at this moment, she heard the reporters' voices:

“Hah, even though we had strongly requested that the medical university suspend and investigate Anti, they rejected our request and are defending her very fiercely. On top of that, they even said that this isn't a competition of skills but more like a debate instead, and have sincerely invited everyone from the medical profession to come over and watch! How are they so confident that they can clear Anti's name?”

“Exactly. I'm also very confused. It's as though the university has something they can use as leverage. I don't believe they can really clear her name!”

The two of them entered the school while discussing the topic.

Nora, however, stood where she was and broke into a frown.

A moment later, her lips suddenly curled into a smile.

To be honest, foreign universities had also invited her to become a professor or take on similar positions in their schools before, but she had rejected them all. She had only become an external professor at the medical university because of Shaw.

She didn't have any feelings for the New York University of Medicine.

After all, the school was ridden with all sorts of issues, such as the postgraduate entrance examination the other time, as well as Michael Lange...

However, in this instant, she suddenly felt like the school was actually very cute and lovable.

Their level of magnanimity alone already put the New York University of Medicine way above the foreign universities!

The thought of all the messages criticizing alternative medicine on foreign websites made Nora narrow her eyes. She strode toward the auditorium.

She came relatively late. By then, the people in the auditorium were already split into three different factions.

One faction was made up of firm supporters of modern medicine. Blaine was their leader.

Another faction was made up of supporters of alternative medicine. Jon and Elaine were their leaders. Some students of alternative medicine in the school were also part of the group.

The last faction was made up of people remaining neutral. Dean Shaw was the leader. Michael and Lisa, as well as Sheril who was concerned for Nora, were all standing there.

Blaine and Jon were currently lashing out at each other while throwing medical terms around. Blaine even cited a few patient case studies as a challenge for Jon.

Blaine had initially proposed that each side would provide a few patients for the other side to treat, but the plan was rejected. After all, it was highly inappropriate to bring the patients to the venue.

Besides, they didn't bring the instruments and equipment used in modern medicine, either.

Both sides debated endlessly with each other, and their words became increasingly sharper.

When Nora arrived, Dean Shaw was making a concluding speech. He said, "Whether it is alternative medicine or modern medicine, both are meant for the patients' well-being. We should not be promoting one and belittling the other! Therefore, there is no meaning to the debate today at all! Mr. Myers, you're an old-timer in the field of alternative medicine. I only have one question for you—is modern medicine really inferior to alternative medicine? Can you guarantee that you have never taken any modern drugs in your entire life? Or that you have never had any CT scans done?"

Dean Shaw's words made Jon choke.

Blaine immediately let out a contemptuous laugh. However, before he could speak, Dean Shaw spoke again. "Don't be so happy yet, Dr. Jonas. My question for you is, when women with fertility problems have CT scans done, most of the time it doesn't show any problems. Can you help them resolve their endocrine disorders and problems with their weak spleen and stomach?"

Blaine also choked.

Dean Shaw sighed. "Therefore, it is utterly meaningless for us to be arguing about this. Alternative and modern medicine complement and supplement each other. The ultimate goal should be to cure the patient!"

Prior to this, both sides had already experienced intense debates, and over the course of the debate, everyone present had all gained an understanding of the subjects to some extent. Thus, when Dean Shaw said what he did, all the students became rather thoughtful.

Just like that, the confrontation between modern and alternative medicine practitioners calmed down.

Nora, who was among the crowd, felt that Shaw had handled the problem in a rather comprehensive and well-rounded manner.

However, Jon suddenly went on the offensive. He said, “Dean Shaw, what you said is indeed correct, but the person who caused this dispute is Anti, your school’s external professor! If she hadn’t made such an arrogant and ignorant claim that modern medicine is superior to alternative medicine, how would things have come to this point?”

Elaine nodded. “Yes, everyone here is an elite from all walks of life, but just because of one sentence she said, everyone has come here to fight about these issues, leading to the current situation. All of this is because of Anti!”

Blaine also immediately chimed in and said, “Yes, I was also influenced by Anti. That was why I had challenged the alternative medicine circle in a moment of pique. Now that I think about it, I feel so ashamed of myself. Mr. Myers, I was too impulsive!”

Jon waved and said, “You’re still young, so it’s understandable that you would get ahead of yourself. However, we mustn’t let the culprit go scot-free!”

Blaine and Elaine highly approved of what he said. “Yes, I strongly suggest that Anti be punished!”

Given how things had come to this point with regard to the incident, to be honest, punishing Anti would serve as giving everyone and every industry a proper explanation. With that, the incident would also pass.

Nora stood in the crowd and folded her arms.

The next moment, Dean Shaw waved and said, “Now that things have come to this, I shall just tell everyone the truth! To be honest, I was the one who told Anti to say those frivolous things!”

His words took Nora by surprise. Then, Dean Shaw said, “In recent years, there have been endless battles between the modern and alternative medicine circles, and everyone also has different ideas about the subject. I have always wanted to hold a debate like this and have everyone come forward to discuss the subject! But my position in the circle is lowly and my words unimportant, so I came up with such a method to have Anti arouse public outrage. Sure enough, everyone has turned up!” Nora: “??”

Seeing how dubious the students around her were, yet none of them were pressing the issue any further, she couldn't help but smile.

She hadn't expected Shaw to come up with such a solution. It seemed like she wouldn't have to expose her identity anymore today?

That worked out for her quite well. This way, those old stick-in-the-muds in the alternative medicine circle wouldn't come to her anymore. They were simply too much trouble.

The thought had only just formed when a voice rang out from among the students. “Dean Shaw, in order to protect that external professor, you're really giving it your all!”

Nora frowned and looked over sharply, but before she could catch sight of the person talking, an audio recording suddenly started playing

“Sir, at this point, it's kind of meaningless even if Anti clarifies that she didn't say anything like that. Why don't we take the opportunity to host a debate, and then say that it was all my idea?”

It was Dean Shaw's voice.

The principal's voice then rang out. “Shaw, it's gonna be tough on you, then!”

“Nah, it's not. For the sake of the school, as well as for Anti, this is something I should do!”

When the recording finished playing, the whole auditorium fell silent for a moment.

Then, the whole place exploded.

All the students glared at Dean Shaw and everyone started shouting. “You liar!”

“Dean Shaw, in order to let a professor with a bad character stay, you people sure are doing a lot!”

“The New York University of Medicine is the best medical university in the country, but to think it’s also so dirty and corrupted! It really takes the cake!”

“My goodness, all of this is a scam!” With someone taking the lead, this immediately triggered all the students’ anger at being deceived. Be it the modern medicine students or the alternative medicine students, all of them were incited into yelling furiously.

“Dismiss Anti from the school!”

“Dismiss Anti! We will not stand for being in the same school as a professor like her!”

When everyone started becoming worked up, Lisa and Sheril couldn’t help but shout, “Anti really didn’t say anything like that! All of this is because someone is trying to defame her!”

However, someone immediately retorted, “Some of us heard her saying that with our own ears. Dr. Jonas has also admitted to it. Are you still refusing to tell the truth? Even now, Anti is still hiding at the back and refusing to come out. I really look down on her!”

“Yes, Anti is the black sheep of the Medical University! She must be expelled!”

“

In the midst of all the speculation, Nora narrowed her eyes and slowly stepped onto the stage. The moment he spotted her, Blaine immediately shouted, “Anti, why did you incite us into fighting with the alternative medicine circle, yet you yourself failed to show up? You hypocrite hiding behind the crowd!”

Jon also pointed at her and reprimanded, “Do you not dare to own up to your deeds? How could you make Dean Shaw shoulder the responsibility for you?! You are such a disgrace to the medical profession!”

Elaine even shouted, “Dear students, I heard with my own ears her saying that alternative medicine is inferior to modern medicine. Given how she despises alternative medicine, how can someone like her remain in the Medical University?!”

As the three of them spoke, the students became even more outrageous.

Even the reporters were so angry that they pointed their microphones at Nora.

“Anti, why are you doing this?”

“Do you really look down on alternative medicine?”

Nora looked at all the agitated people around her. They were already starting to become violent. She looked at the reporter calmly, her voice reaching all the students’ ears through the microphone.

“I have never said that. Neither have I ever looked down on alternative medicine. To me, alternative medicine and modern medicine are both methods of curing diseases. Neither has ever been superior or inferior to the other!”

As soon as she said that, everyone stopped talking.

The reporter was also stunned.

Blaine narrowed his eyes. “That’s not what you told me in private, Anti!”

Jon also sneered, “You must be scared, right? Did you become frightened after seeing so many of us here? So you decided to compromise?! But it seems that it’s too late even if you change your stance now!” Elaine also shook her head. “Anti, making mistakes isn’t that scary. It’ll be fine once you rectify your mistakes. Even Dr. Jonas has apologized, so why can’t you just apologize?”

Nora looked at Elaine. “I told you, I didn’t say that. You and Blaine are the ones slandering me, so why should I apologize?” Elaine bit her lip. “How did I slander you? If I was the only one saying that, then perhaps I’m the one making up lies, but even Dr. Blaine has said so. You clearly meant it!”

The reporters also spoke up.

“Anti, you keep saying that you didn’t say it. Do you have any evidence?” As soon as they said that, Dean Shaw panicked.

How could anyone possibly have evidence of whether they have said something or not?

Smiles, however, appeared on Elaine and Blaine’s faces. They knew that the reporters had been misled by them.

No matter what Nora said at this point, no one would not believe her.

Unexpectedly, the next moment, Nora’s lips slowly started to curl upward. She suddenly smiled and replied, “Of course, I have evidence.”

“What kind of evidence is it?”

Chapter 518 - There'S No Way She Would Ever Say Anything Like That!

Elaine frowned and looked at Nora.

It was at this moment that a student in the crowd suddenly raised her hand slowly. "I... I can prove that Anti didn't say anything like that..."

Everyone looked at her in unison.

The student looked very timid. Seeing that everyone around her was looking over, she became a little nervous. She swallowed and said, "I was interning in that hospital that day, and was fortunate enough to witness the argument between Dr. Miller and Dr. Anti. From the beginning to the end, it was Dr. Miller who kept saying that Anti looked down on alternative medicine, but Anti had never agreed with it. What Dr. Anti said had no intention of belittling alternative medicine at all!"

Nora looked at the student in surprise.

She was likely a postgraduate student majoring in nursing at the school. Otherwise, she would not have been able to intern in the hospital. It indeed took a lot of courage for her to step forward and clear her name at this moment.

Without Shaw's actions just now, perhaps everyone would have believed her, but now...

Sure enough, some of the students around them believed what she said while some looked obviously skeptical. Elaine sneered, "In order to protect Anti, the school sure is doing a lot! The dean is lying together with students..."

An uproar went through the place.

The student's eyes turned red. "I'm not lying. What I said is true... Really, you have to believe me!"

However, only a few people around her believed her and stood with her, whereas the rest instantly stepped away from her as if she was some kind of virus.

Elaine sighed.

Her sigh made the students even more distrustful of the girl's words.

The student bit her lip. "I swear that everything I said is true. Otherwise... otherwise, I will never find a boyfriend for the rest of my life!"

Her oath was certainly harsh.

Some students believed her while some started to hesitate.

Jon, however, sneered, "Swear? Are college students all so superstitious these days?"

When the student heard that, tears fell from her eyes. "I am not being superstitious. I... I'm just using the oath to express my resolution. I really am telling the truth! What must I do to make all of you believe me?"

Someone next to her asked, "Are you stepping forward and saying that because Anti offered you some kind of benefit? Why didn't you say it before?"

The student bit her lip. "Everyone was condemning Anti previously. I have been speaking up for Anti in the dorms all this time, but none of you listened to me... I was also scared. When Lisa spoke up for Anti, all the students from the modern and alternative medicine majors came together to ostracize her. I was scared that it would also happen to me... But now, I don't find the incident so serious anymore. We can't dismiss Anti just because of something like this... I didn't expect things to become so serious..."

She was so aggrieved that she started to cry.

Elaine sighed and said, “Miss, you shouldn’t be covering up for her. This is completely about Anti’s attitude! Every school is paying attention to the cooperation of modern and alternative medicine now. In fact, our school has even launched a major that specializes in merging modern and alternative medicine! Yet here she is, instigating conflicts between modern and alternative medicine. This is really unacceptable. Why are you still trying to protect a teacher like her?”

The verbal attacks pushed the student close to a mental breakdown. “I’m really not trying to protect her! What I said is all true!”

Blaine sighed. “Alright, alright, let’s not push her into a corner anymore. Let’s just take it that what she said is true. Anti has never said that to Dr. Miller in the hospital, she has only said that to me. Will that do?”

He looked at Nora and said, “Dr. Anti, I have always admired you very much, and have also always regarded you as my idol. My purpose in returning to the States this time was also to visit you. But during my debate with the few seniors in alternative medicine just now, I have realized how ignorant I was. We were really wrong to think that way. To be honest, it’s okay to admit to the mistake openly. Science advances via dialectical discussions in the first place! You shouldn’t be too stubborn!”

Then, he looked at Shaw. “The dean was trying to defend you, too. As long as you apologize, I’m sure everyone will still be willing to forgive you!”

Nora: “...”

He sure was imposing his will on her. The corners of Nora’s lips spasmed. Although she was used to being lazy all the time, she could still detect the language trap in Blaine’s words.

Nora couldn’t help yawning.

She finally understood what he was saying. Blaine might have put it nicely, but they weren’t asking her to admit to her mistake at all. Rather, once she admitted to it, they would kick her out of the school!

Besides, it would cement all the more the belief that the female student was lying.

Shaw was a leader of the academy. If he was forced to lie because of certain circumstances, at the most, everyone would just secretly question his character, but they wouldn't dare to do anything to him.

However, the female student's life in school would be utter hell in the future!

At this point, Jon also spoke up. "Nora, you are Yvette Anderson's daughter and can be considered our junior in the alternative medicine profession. It's not like we can't give you a chance to turn over a new leaf if you make a mistake! Your mother was so impressive in the alternative medicine circle back then, but why are you not studying and practicing alternative medicine but so obsessed with modern medicine instead? Sigh! Just apologize. Once you've apologized, on behalf of the alternative medicine circle, I won't hold it against a zealot like you anymore!"

II

11

These people were really coming at her one after the other without any pause in between. They practically weren't giving her a chance to speak at all.

Following Jon's words, everyone looked at her in unison. Nora finally retorted slowly, lazily, and coldly, "Who says I didn't study alternative medicine?"

Her words immediately stunned everyone at the bottom of the stage.

Jon frowned. Right at this moment, the auditorium doors were pushed open once more.

Everyone turned to the doors in unison, upon which they saw a 60-year-old man stride in. He was in good spirits and looked very kind – he was Silvester’s son!

Although Silvester’s son wasn’t a top-class physician in the world of alternative medicine, he was nonetheless very impressive when compared to others. Moreover, with Silvester’s status in the alternative medicine circle, his own status was also very high.

At the sight of him, Jon and Elaine hurriedly went forward. “Mr. Zabe, why are you here?”

Silvester’s son smiled and said, “I heard that you guys are holding a debate on modern and alternative medicine here today. My father was a little worried, so he told me to come over and take a look.”

Jon nodded. Then, he pointed at Nora and sighed. “Mr. Zabe, you saw that, right? That’s the young lady who visited the Zabes the other time. She openly said that alternative medicine is inferior to modern medicine, and even now, she still doesn’t even have the courage to own up to her mistake. Sigh!”

He had deliberately pointed out that Nora had visited the Zabes before, so that Silvester’s son could not openly defend her in front of the public!

But unexpectedly, as soon as he said that, Silvester’s son said in surprise, “There’s no way she would ever say anything like that!”

Jon frowned. He was about to question Silvester’s son as to whether the Zabes had been bribed when Silvester’s son turned to Nora...

Chapter 519 - She Is The Last Disciple Of Dr. Zabe!

The next moment, Silvester's son walked up to Nora and said, "Nora, Dad has a message for his disciple-he wants me to tell you not to stir up so much trouble outside."

The whole place suddenly fell silent.

Everyone looked at Silvester's son in disbelief. Even Jon was dumbfounded. In fact, he even wondered for a moment if he had misheard.

However, the next moment, he frowned and asked, "His disciple? Mr. Zabe, how come I'm not aware that Dr. Zabe has taken another disciple?"

After questioning Silvester's son, Jon sneered and looked at Nora again. "No wonder you keep saying that you have evidence. So, this is why you visited the Zabes the other time? Hah, what impressive means! Do you think you can speak justly and righteously today just because you've become Dr. Zabe's disciple? The Smiths sure have impressive means! They are absolutely top-notch at dealing with public relation crises!"

He was implying that Nora was just putting on an act by becoming Dr. Zabe's disciple!

The students became even more furious when they heard this.

Elaine, who had also recovered, sighed. "Are the wealthy all so brazen? All they do is cover up when they make a mistake, and will never admit their mistake! They really have no respect for the law! Also, for the university to protect her like this, might the Smiths have also given them some kind of benefit?"

Her words were becoming more and more overboard.

The reporters at the side snapped away with their cameras. Some even started filming them, intending to publish articles attacking the Smiths.

“They are too much! The Zabes are simply disappointing! Dr. Zabe is so highly respected, yet even he has been bribed!”

“Gosh, as expected, no matter which industry it is, there are always inside stories!”

“Has Dr. Zabe been threatened by the Smiths?”

Amid everyone’s speculations, Nora let out an icy sneer.

This was exactly what people were like in society. No matter what one did, they would always be questioned by others. Had she been an inconspicuous nobody doctor in the alternative medicine field, she really wouldn’t be able to get through this today! Her gaze swept across all the students present.

There was a rather eclectic mix of people present that day. Apart from the school’s students, there were also some outsiders. The reason why she had been dragging this out and staying quiet was to observe who the ones guiding public opinion in the crowd were!

After that... she would catch them all!

Seeing that the situation had more or less sufficiently developed and that the few people guiding public opinion in the crowd were basically done speaking, at last, her lips suddenly curled into a smile. She said, “Who says I am a newbie to the profession?”

Jon frowned. “Heh, Dr. Zabe only has those few disciples. It can be said that even I have studied under his tutelage before. If you are not a newbie, then what are you?”

Famous doctors in the alternative medicine field like Silvester only took a few disciples.

Nora’s lips curled in a smile. “Are you sure you’ve met all of my teacher’s disciples?”

Jon sneered, “Of course. Except for the very last disciple that Dr. Zabe took, I have met all of his other disciples!”

However, when he said that, Nora looked at him with a half-amused look on her face.

Jon frowned and carefully recalled the conversation they just had. Suddenly, he realized something and his eyes widened abruptly. A look of disbelief formed on his face. “Y-you... you... surely you can’t be...”

Silvester’s son stepped forward with a smile and said, “That’s right, Nora is my father’s last disciple! She is also the one and only official disciple that Dad has ever taken! Dad often says that Nora’s medical skills have already reached what his were like when he was at his peak!”

The peak of Dr. Zabe’s medical skills? Then didn’t that make her the top physician of alternative medicine in the world?

It went without saying that Jon knew that Silvester was full of praise for his one and only official disciple. He had a strange personality and rarely agreed to meet with others, but once he did, and whenever someone brought up that disciple of his, he would always sing praises of her.

Therefore, it was pretty much tacit agreement among everyone that his one and only official disciple, who had never made any public appearance, possessed the most top-notch alternative medicine skills among all the practitioners at the moment.

But... how could that person be Nora?!

Elaine was even more flabbergasted. “T-that’s impossible! If she were Dr. Zabe’s official disciple, why would she study modern medicine?!”

When Silvester’s son heard that, his expression darkened. “Alternative and modern medicine are but means to cure illnesses. Medical universities have already established both modern and alternative medicine majors. Can’t Nora study a bit of modern medicine if she wants to?”

Elaine swallowed.

Everyone at the bottom of the stage felt that what he said sounded extremely reasonable, yet also found it unreasonable... After all, who would become the top master surgeon of modern medicine just by studying “a bit” so casually?

Silvester’s son even lowered his gaze and said, “It was because Dad didn’t have anything else he could teach to Nora back then, so he told her to try studying modern medicine. That was why she started studying it... Nora started studying alternative medicine first. The Carefree Pill from a while back was only developed after she improved the formula. Why would Nora ever call alternative medicine inferior to modern medicine?”

All the students were stunned. They all looked at Nora.

Everyone who studied alternative medicine knew that Dr. Zabe had an official disciple, but that person’s whereabouts were always a mystery, and no one knew who they were. No one would have ever thought that it would actually be Anti!

Just how outstanding must someone be in order to stand at the pinnacle of two industries?

There wasn’t any need to say anything else anymore this time. Everyone believed it now! The female student who had stepped forward to speak up for Anti couldn’t help but burst into tears with a loud wail. “I told you I was telling the truth, but none of you believed me. Sob...”

Everyone was speechless.

It wasn’t so much that they didn’t believe her. It was mainly because Elaine and Blaine were so adamant about it...

When the thought formed, everyone looked at Elaine and Blaine in unison!

Elaine was already as pale as a sheet. It seemed like she hadn’t expected such a plot twist. She swallowed hard.

As for Blaine... Wait, where was Blaine?

The place where he had been standing just now was empty!

In the instant that Silvester's son had said that Nora was his father's disciple, Blaine had already figured out what was going on. While Jon was confronting Silvester's son, he had already taken the opportunity to slip away!

He had already reached the door at this point. The students also finally remembered him. They pointed to the door and shouted, "He's running away!"

Hearing this, Blaine hurriedly opened the doors and quickly slipped out!

But as soon as he stepped through the doors, he was detained!

Brenda looked at him with a big smile on her face and took out his cell phone. Sure enough, she discovered that he was in the midst of a call and the other party was none other than Trueman!

At the hotel.

In the room, Trueman's furious voice rang out. "Shit! I got played by her again!!".

Caleb sighed. "I already told you a long time ago not to go against her!"

Trueman was livid. "But how could she possibly be top-notch in both alternative and modern medicine? Not to mention that she is also Q... It is impossible for someone to have that much energy to achieve top status in three different industries... unless..."

He suddenly realized something and his head whipped up. "Unless!"

But before he could finish, the door of the hotel room was suddenly kicked open. Morris immediately rushed in and shouted, "Freeze, Trueman Yale!"

Chapter 520 - Slap In The Face!

Nora had deliberately arrived a little later and prevented the debate in the school from ending right at the beginning. Firstly, this was because the students had become a little carried away during this period of time after being incited by others, and they had nowhere to vent all their passion and enthusiasm. It was indeed good for them to have a debate and vent their emotions.

Moreover, it was true that science advanced and developed from the constant debate and overthrowing of theories in the first place. She believed that after a debate like that, medical students would gain a deeper understanding of alternative and modern medicine.

Furthermore, she wanted to stall for time.

After taking the stage, she had rebutted them a little, claimed that she had evidence but delayed producing it, and allowed the people at the bottom of the stage to spout nonsense in order to buy Morris time to arrest Trueman. After all, Trueman would definitely pay attention to the debate competition. Through elimination, Morris had already locked on to a few guests staying at the hotel and was currently investigating them one by one.

It was also to let Brenda arrest the people who were pretending to be students, but were, in fact, here to stir up trouble.

Brenda slowly walked into the auditorium with Blaine's wrists held firmly in a tight grip. She wore a pair of high heels and sashayed as she walked.

In the auditorium were also a few plainclothes officers holding down the few students who were guiding public opinion in the crowd just now.

The place was in chaos. Shaw didn't understand what was going on at all. When the students were arrested, he became even more anxious. He stepped forward and asked, "Who are you? What are you doing?"

Brenda gave Blaine a clean and swift kick and made him take another step forward. She fished out her credentials and waved it in front of Shaw and the students. Then, she said, “Dean Shaw and all the students here, today’s incident is related to a criminal case that has been ongoing a long time! A foreign organization tried to recruit Ms. Nora Smithin other words, Anti—but was rejected by her, so they became angry and deliberately set this up! Their purpose in doing so is to drive Anti away, so that America would lose a highly sophisticated medical talent! Blaine Jonas is their spy!” As soon as she said that, an uproar went through the students.

No one had ever imagined things to develop this far!

Everyone swallowed.

Someone reacted:

“No wonder people have been dragging Anti’s name through the mud on foreign websites! So that’s what was happening!”

“Anti is the top master surgeon in the world. Most importantly, she is still very young. The future of such doctors is absolutely limitless! These people are too despicable! We almost fell for it and drove Anti away ourselves!”

“Yeah, if you think really carefully about it, this is really terrifying! Think about it, if Anti weren’t Dr. Zabe’s official disciple, even if she had a thousand mouths, she would never have been able to explain herself. Even if the officer steps forward and tells us it’s some kind of foreign Internet conspiracy, we may not believe it! We would think that this was a trick the medical university had come up with to keep Anti! Gosh, what a devious move!”

“Yes, even if Anti were to stay in the school, she probably won’t be respected by the students anymore. If I imagine that... this is too scary!”

III

While everyone was realizing what was going on, someone said, “Blaine Jonas is a spy, that’s why he defamed Anti. But what about Jon Myers and Elaine Miller?”

At once, everyone looked at Jon and Elaine in unison.

Elaine was already swallowing hard when Brenda entered the auditorium and announced that this was an operation to arrest spies. She became even more terrified in this instant and immediately said, “I didn’t! I...”

Before she could finish, Jon rushed up to Elaine and slapped her. He pointed at her furiously and shouted, “Fess up, did you collude with them? Is that why you came to me and misled me into standing up for alternative medicine with you?!”

Elaine: “?”

She knew that Jon was planning to abandon her. At once, she narrowed her eyes and retorted furiously, “I didn’t! All I did was badmouth her behind her back, but you were the one who really blew up the matter! Mr. Myers, don’t forget that you even said that you wanted to drag Dr. Zabe into this! All just to deal with Nora! Because she is an Anderson, and because she gave the Andersons the Carefree Pill! I’m sure everyone in the alternative medicine circle is aware of your grievances with the Andersons. Don’t think that you can whitewash yourself...”

“I was misled by you!”

While Jon and Elaine were having a dogfight with each other, Brenda sneered and took a step forward. “Excuse me, are the two of you done quarreling?”

Elaine and Jon immediately shut up and looked at Brenda. Elaine swallowed. “Captain Brenda, y-you must believe me. I have also been part of the police force. I will never do anything to betray the country...”

Jon also anxiously explained, “Ma’am, I really was wronged...”

Brenda’s fiery crimson lips curled upward. She smiled and said, “I don’t have the eyes that can see through everything. I’m not going to be able to tell if the two of you are spies or not,

SO...”

She stepped back. Then, her voice suddenly became frigid and she ordered, “Take them into custody and interrogate them in accordance with the regulations!”

“Yes, ma’am!”

As the exchange took place, another two people emerged from the students and caught Jon and Elaine on the left and right respectively!

Jon and Elaine panicked.

“Ma’am, I’m really not a spy. Listen to me...”

“Captain Brenda, I’m innocent. I just found Nora an eyesore, that’s all. I did not betray the country...” Unfortunately, Brenda couldn’t be bothered to listen to them. She curled her lips disdainfully and ordered, “Bring them back!” With a wave, her men immediately took out all the people they had just arrested, leaving behind only the New York University of Medicine students.

Nora glanced at them and followed Brenda out.

However, before she could step out, Shaw stopped her. “Anti, if you already had something planned, why didn’t you tell me in advance? I wouldn’t have had to make up that story for you. Who knows what the students are saying about me behind my back now?!”

Nora raised her eyebrows and said coolly with a smile, “It’s not like you’ll lose weight if someone ostracizes you a little.” Shaw: “...”

He heaved a huge sigh. “I don’t care, I have suffered a lot of physical and emotional damage because of this. I did it all for you, so you have to compensate me!”

Nora: “?”

Shaw then said, “Look at how passionate about learning our school is! Why don’t you stop being an external hire and just take up an official position in the school? What do you think of the position of deputy dean of the School of Neurosurgery?”

“No, Nora is Dad’s student. She should be working in the School of Alternative Medicine instead!”

Silvester’s son was the dean of the School of Alternative Medicine in the university. Upon hearing what Shaw said, he hurriedly rushed over.

Shaw panicked. “But I was the one who got Anti to become a professor here!”

“Heh, that’s because I didn’t say anything. If I were to make a request, do you think Nora would dare to refuse?”

While the two were arguing, Nora slipped away quietly. After going out, she took a deep breath and went straight to the special department. She was going to visit Trueman!

Chapter 521 - The Truth About The Pregnancy Back Then!

Nora had just left school when her phone rang.

She got into her jeep and picked up the call. Mr. Zabe's voice immediately sounded on the other end of the line. "Nora, where are you?"

Nora: "...Silvester, I still have something on. I'll take my leave."

Mr. Zabe said, "You can't leave. Let me tell you, I'm already old. I'm in my sixties and about to retire! The position of New York College of Traditional Medicine's director must be yours!"

As soon as he said this, she heard Dean Shaw's voice. "Anti, as the world's number one surgeon, you are destined to hold a scalpel. Don't be fooled by Mr. Zabe!"

"What fooled? This is my father's order! As my father's disciple, she should take over!"

"Heh, you know she's a disciple. But is Anti your disciple?!" "...Don't be unreasonable here. Let me tell you, it's a waste of Nora's talents to hold a scalpel!"

"Why is it a waste of talent? She can solve many unsolved human mysteries! She can provide great help to the advancement of medicine! It would be a waste of her talents if you make her study alternative medicine!"

"Tsk! Dean Shaw, you're shameless!"

"Mr. Zabe, you're the shameless one, aren't you? You're clearly threatening her by using your father to suppress Anti!"

As the two of them argued, Nora said, "Why don't..."

The voices on the other end stopped instantly. Then, Dr. Zabe and Dean Shaw spoke simultaneously. “Nora, who do you choose?”

“Anti, you can’t betray me! I lied just now because of you!”

“Heh, did Nora need you to lie? What an unnecessary move!” “...You!”

Seeing that the two of them were arguing again, Nora raised her eyebrows and suddenly said, “Sigh, Silvester, Dean Shaw, what are you guys talking about? I entered the tunnel and there’s no signal. We’ll talk later... Ah? My phone ran out of battery too? It’s switched off?”

With that, she turned off the phone, afraid that the two of them would call again.

It was... a headache.

Nora touched her forehead and kept driving.

It was finally quiet. 20 minutes later, she arrived at the special department. When she entered, she saw that the staff members were all very busy.

Voices could be heard from every interrogation room. Some people were still locked up in cells. As there were not enough interrogation rooms, they had not been interrogated yet.

There were probably too many people who had just been arrested.

Nora thought about this and walked straight into the interrogation room. It was as if he had heard that she was here, Morris welcomed her.

The man was still wearing his jacket and leather boots. His long legs were thin, making him look very capable and masculine.

Nora admired it silently for a while before retracting her gaze and asking, “Which interrogation room is Trueman in?”

Although there were not enough interrogation rooms, an important core member of a mysterious organization like Trueman would definitely be in the interrogation room.

The two of them had been texting for so long and had even exchanged messages. Nora was really curious about Trueman. She did not know what this person was like.

Unexpectedly, when she said this, Morris's expression froze. He lowered his eyes and said, "I didn't catch Trueman."

Nora: "??"

A question mark slowly appeared in her mind. When she was at the university, she had clearly heard Captain Ford rushing into the hotel through her Bluetooth earpiece.

They had found the other party's hotel. How could they not have caught Trueman?

As she was hesitating, Morris sighed. "Trueman escaped and was not in the hotel. We only caught a group of bodyguards. When we entered the hotel, we realized that Trueman had been on a video call with them."

Nora: "!!"

She frowned. "When did he escape?"

Morris shook his head. "I'm not sure. I was there personally to keep an eye on him, but I didn't sense him leaving at all. Besides, the bodyguards were all around, and he was the only one... It was as if he could predict that we would arrest him, so he ran away in advance!"

Nora was not very surprised by this conclusion.

Trueman seemed to have a high status in that mysterious organization. He had always been called Little Master. It was not unusual for such a person to be cautious.

Furthermore, it had been a few days since he checked into the hotel. If it were her, she would definitely have changed places.

She sighed. “What a pity.”

“It’s not a pity.” Morris suddenly said, “Because we’ve captured many key figures this time, especially those bodyguards. They’ve all come into contact with the core information of the mysterious organization. The clues they can provide are definitely more than ever before!”

Nora nodded.

At this moment, she realized that Morris was looking at her. He seemed to want to say something but stopped himself.

SO

Nora frowned and asked, “What are you trying to say?”

Morris was silent for a moment before saying, “We caught someone you know.”

Nora: “?”

She asked in surprise, “Who?”

“... Caleb.”

When Morris said this name, Nora was a little surprised!

Caleb’s status in that organization should not be low. How could he be captured so easily?!

She frowned and asked, “How did they catch him? Are they sure he’s related to the mysterious organization?”

Morris said, “When we rushed into the hotel room, Caleb was talking to Trueman. Trueman seemed to trust him very much. I’m sure he has a deep relationship with the mysterious organization!” Nora frowned.

Morris continued, “Because we still don’t know Caleb’s identity in the mysterious organization, we don’t dare to torture him. But he hasn’t said a word since he was arrested.” Nora was about to say something when her phone suddenly rang. She picked up her phone and realized that it was Trueman who had sent her a message. “Little servant, I lost this game, but Caleb’s health is not good. If possible, please give him a cup of hot water and the medicine found on him. He needs to take his medicine on time. Thank you.” Nora: “...”

It was as if they were in cahoots!

She frowned and replied in front of Morris: “Why should I help you?”

Trueman: “Didn’t you want to ask me some questions? I can answer them for you.”

When she saw this, Nora’s eyes narrowed.

She clenched her jaw and finally asked the biggest question in her heart: “Tell me first, how did I get pregnant back then?!”

She knew that at this point, Trueman was begging her to cooperate. He would not dare to lie to her! Therefore, she would definitely get an answer now!

Chapter 522 - The Final Truth Must Be Cruel!

After Nora sent the message, Trueman replied: “Give him the medicine first.”

Nora: “...”

This person knew how to bargain.

She looked at Morris.

After all, they were in the special department. If Morris did not agree, this deal could not be completed.

Morris was silent for a moment. There was a look of deep thought on the man’s determined face. Then he nodded, his cold facial features filled with determination. “Ok.”

The two of them arrived at the storage area and saw the medicine Caleb had taken out when he was detained.

Nora looked at the medicine bottle. It was a medicine to treat coughs and also had some function to clear the lungs. In order to prevent Caleb from hurting himself, she even specially opened the medicine and took a look. The medicine inside was a mid-tier drug. She crushed a pill, smelled it, and tasted it. Finally, she nodded at Morris to confirm that the medicine was fine.

Morris turned around and brought Nora to the interrogation room.

The two of them came to the innermost interrogation room, completely made of metal. No matter how strong the person inside was, they could not escape.

Morris pushed open the dark iron door, making a creaking sound.

Nora saw Caleb sitting there immediately.

I saw

He placed his hands in front of him obediently and lowered his head. When he heard the sound, he did not turn around. It was as if nothing around him had anything to do with him.

He was coughing and holding a piece of tissue in his hand. There were traces of blood on the tissue.

“Cough, cough, cough!... Cough, cough, cough!”

The entire interrogation room was filled with his coughing sounds, making one feel uncomfortable.

Nora frowned.

She picked up a paper cup and took a cup of water from the water dispenser beside her. Then, she walked to Caleb and placed the medicine in front of him before handing him the water.

Caleb took the water and medicine. His hands were trembling slightly as he lowered his head and said, “Thank you.”

This was the first thing Caleb had said after he was arrested.

Nora replied, “You’re welcome.”

Caleb’s fingers paused slightly. Then, he looked up in surprise. When he saw Nora, he seemed to freeze.

Hesitation appeared in his eyes. Then, he returned to normal and took the medicine.

After taking the medicine, he drank the entire cup of water.

Seeing that Caleb still seemed to be coughing, Nora took the cup and walked to the water dispenser at the side. She helped him get another cup of water and handed it over again. Caleb stared at the cup and his gaze landed on Nora's slender and fair fingers.

He was silent for a moment before taking the cup and drinking again. However, he did not look at her again as if he was unfamiliar with her.

Nora looked at his expression and was slightly stunned.

The next moment, she realized. If the two of them acted too familiar, perhaps it would arouse the suspicions of the special department? That was why he was deliberately cold to her.

Nora hesitated for a moment before sitting opposite him.

Morris had already closed the door, cutting off the probing outside.

He sat down with Nora and took out a notebook and pen. It seemed like he needed to prepare some statements. "Mr. Gray, may I know what your relationship with Trueman is?"

Caleb coughed, but it was clearly much lighter than before. It should be because of the two glasses of water and the medicine.

He looked up at the two of them. "You don't have to rack your brains to interrogate me. I won't say anything. I have nothing to do with Trueman."

The moment he said this, Morris said coldly, "If that's the case, why would he text Nora to give you medicine? A person like him doesn't care about the lives of others, but he gives you special treatment!"

Trueman was a very cold-blooded person.

So far, he had killed four people.

One of them was Abigail, and the other was Victor. After the two of them were defeated by Nora, one died on the spot, and the other was arrested. In the end, they died in their cells.

Then, he gave Hillary the drug, and she died from pain.

He even killed Yvonne.

Now, the other bodyguards were being tortured in all sorts of ways, but he did not care at all. He only cared for a sickly Caleb.

As soon as Morris finished speaking, Caleb suddenly raised his head. He stared at Morris and Nora in disbelief. Then, he said with a trembling voice, “Don’t make any deals with him!”

This sentence was filled with vigilance.

Nora frowned.

Morris hesitated for a moment and glanced at Nora.

Obviously, it was good progress now that Caleb was speaking after Nora entered!

Morris interrogated him. “Why? He only asked Miss Smith to give you medicine, and then he would answer some of her questions. This doesn’t seem to do Miss Smith any harm!”

Caleb’s expression became nervous. He said to Nora again, “Listen to me. Don’t make any deals with him!”

Nora: “...”

She frowned. “You should be more concerned about yourself!”

Caleb took a deep breath. He still lowered his head. Even in the dark interrogation room, he looked gentlemanly and refined.

His voice was rich and powerful. “Miss Smith, Captain Ford, you don’t have to waste your effort on me. I still say the same thing. I won’t say anything. You can torture me... Cough, cough, cough...”

A flurry of coughs interrupted him.

He coughed violently, looking as if he was going to cough his lungs out. It was unbearable to watch.

After this bout of coughing passed, he said, “My broken body is already riddled with holes. I won’t be afraid of any pain, so your torture is useless against me. Of course, you can try... Cough, cough, cough...” Nora and Morris looked at each other.

Without even trying, they knew that this violent cough would tear someone’s throat apart. His organs would definitely be very uncomfortable. At this time, any other stimulation would be good for him. He could divert his attention.

Besides...

Looking at Caleb’s body, he would probably not be able to survive if he was tortured too much.

This was also one of the reasons why Morris had not used torture.

Nora stood up and walked to Caleb. She reached out and pressed his wrist.

Caleb wanted to pull his wrist out, but Nora used a little strength and he could not break free. He could only frown and say, “Miss Smith, it’s useless even if you try. If it was possible, I would have let you treat me a long time ago. Cough, cough, cough...”

Nora frowned and ordered, “...Shut up.”

Alternative medicine practitioners hated it when patients moved or talked. They had to be calm. Her fierce words made Caleb choke. He could not even cough.

Time passed by slowly. Nora frowned tightly.

She looked at Caleb in disbelief. She seemed a little indignant as she closed her eyes again and continued to take his pulse.

A minute later, Nora opened her eyes in surprise.

Caleb retracted his hand silently and covered his mouth with the tissue beside him again. Because he was holding back his cough, his mouth tasted like blood.

He let out a shaky breath and some blood sprayed on the tissue.

It looked like he was going to vomit blood and die the next second...

Morris asked, "How is it?"

After learning that Nora was Dr. Zabe's disciple, Morris trusted her medical skills even more.

Nora hesitated for a moment. Just as she was thinking what to say, Caleb said slowly, "End-stage lung cancer. I know." Nora: "..."

She looked at Caleb in shock.

Caleb smiled. "I knew about this illness before I returned to the country, so I haven't asked you to take a look at it. It's useless because there aren't any good anti-cancer drugs."

Nora's mouth tightened.

Caleb coughed again and wiped the corner of his mouth. "You don't have to look at me like that. I know I won't live past thirty."

He was 29 years and 10 months old now. He only had two months to live.

Furthermore, lung cancer was a very torturous disease.

Actually, dying early was a form of relief.

Of course, he did not say that.

Nora nodded at Morris.

Morris's expression instantly darkened. Facing such a patient, the Special Case Department had no other means.

He looked at the guard at the door and said, "From now on, set a fixed time every day. Remember to give him medicine."

"Yes."

After giving his instructions, he then looked at Nora and gave her a look. Nora nodded.

She stood up. "Mr. Gray, you... have a good rest."

With that, she walked out with Morris.

However, just as she reached the door, she suddenly heard Caleb's voice. "Miss Smith, I have something to say to you."

Nora looked at him. "Please speak."

Caleb was silent for a long time before finally saying, "There may be some stones better left unturned because the truth will definitely be cruel."

The truth was cruel...

Was he implying something?

Nora clenched her fists. "What do you mean?"

Caleb lowered his head, looking like he would not speak again. Nora left the interrogation room full of thoughts.

She arrived at the lobby of the special department with Morris. Then, Nora took out her phone and sent a message to Trueman. "He has taken the medicine. Do you need me to send you a video to prove it?"

Trueman replied quickly: "No need."

Nora: "Then where's my answer?"

Trueman's reply this time was a little slow. He was probably editing the content. It took him five minutes to send a message. When she saw his answer, Nora's eyes widened in shock...

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 523 - The Truth!

Nora stared at her phone. She looked at the content of the message. She did not expect such a reply. She had imagined countless possibilities and guessed all kinds of situations, but she was unwilling to believe this.

Trueman's message was very clear: "It's artificial insemination."

Artificial insemination... These four words allowed her to imagine that after she fell asleep back then, someone had entered her room and injected her body...

Even her giving birth was a conspiracy by others?

She clenched her fists tightly.

Morris was also staring at her phone at the side. As Trueman was involved in the mysterious organization's case, he had been observing their chats the entire time. When he saw this reply, he looked at Nora in surprise.

He had originally thought that Nora's children were born because she and Justin were truly in love. He did not expect this to be the case... He was in disbelief, let alone this woman.

Nora's fingers tightened around the phone. Her chin was clenched tightly and her face was expressionless, but one could vaguely feel the anger surging out of her.

From the first time Morris had met her, he had always felt that Nora had a calmness that could not be affected even if Mount Everest collapsed in front of her. It was as if nothing in the world could stump her.

Later on, he also realized that the girl was very skilled. Be it in alternative medicine or modern

An outstanding person should have their own pride.

At this moment, she must be feeling furious.

At the thought of this, Morris took a step back and decided not to look at her messages anymore. He did not want her to feel even more embarrassed and indignant.

Nora was indeed very angry.

She had clearly been working hard to learn all kinds of skills and knowledge since she was young. She was clearly not afraid of anything now, but how could she be controlled by others?

Even when giving birth, she was given no choice!

As she lowered her eyes and stared at her phone, Morris suddenly said, “It will take some time to interrogate all the people. This is not your specialty. Why don’t you go back first?”

When Nora heard this, she narrowed her eyes.

She looked at Morris and nodded. “Okay.”

With that, she turned and left.

After she left, someone came to Morris’s side and said, “These people have very tough mouths. They haven’t said anything yet.”

Morris frowned. “Interrogate them again.”

The other party nodded and sighed. “Our interrogation methods are indeed advanced, but they are still not top-notch. From what I know, the world’s number one killer, Black Cat, has an interrogation method that can make criminals talk about anything!”

Morris glanced over.

The other party immediately shrugged.

Brenda appeared out of nowhere and said, “No matter how powerful Black Cat is, he’s not in our special department. What’s the point of saying this? Let’s go. I’ll accompany you to take a look.”

As the two of them spoke, Morris’s gaze was fixed on the door.

The girl’s back was stubborn, but there was a sadness he had never seen before.

He suddenly wanted to comfort her, so he took two steps toward the door. When he reached the door, he suddenly saw a tall man standing in front of the girl’s car in the parking lot...

Morris stopped in his tracks.

—

Nora lowered her head and walked to the jeep in an extremely bad mood. She took out her car keys and unlocked the car.

When she got closer, she suddenly looked up and saw Justin leaning against her car, looking at her silently.

The man had his back to the sun. His black suit made him look capable. His legs were thin and long, and he was wearing black leather boots.

On his fair skin, those dark eyes were staring at her deeply. The mole at the corner of his eye was obvious.

Nora was stunned to see him. She asked, “Why are you here?”

Justin opened the driver’s seat door very naturally and got in. Nora walked around to the front passenger seat. After she sat down, the man started the car and answered her question. “I’m here to pick you up from work.”

Nora: “...”

The two of them went back home. Nora was silent and did not say anything.

Justin seemed to have sensed her emotions and asked, “What’s wrong?”

Nora suddenly looked at him. “I know how I got pregnant back then.”

Justin was slightly stunned before he smiled. “How did you get pregnant?”

Nora saw that his expression was relaxed and pursed her lips before saying, “Artificial insemination. So the night you lost your memory, you were probably taken by someone...”

She did not say the rest, but Justin definitely understood.

Nora felt that her and Justin’s lives had been plotted against. The moment he heard this, the man would definitely be very angry and furious.

Just like herself, he had a helpless resentment toward things that he could not control and was clearly schemed against.

Unexpectedly, Justin’s expression was calm, as if he was not angry at all. He even answered casually, “Oh, what a pity.”

Nora: “?”

Just as she was confused and did not understand what this meant, she heard him say, “Unfortunately, you didn’t get pregnant naturally.”

Nora: “!!”

She frowned and asked, “You’re not angry?”

“No.”

Justin answered simply with one word. At a red light ahead, he stopped the car and waited. He turned to look at Nora. The man smiled and said, “Actually, I’ve never been interested in how you got pregnant. I only know one thing.” Nora was stunned. “What is it?” “I’m very happy and thankful that you’re the mother of my children. I’m even thankful to the person who schemed against me.”

Nora: “??”

She frowned. “What kind of thinking is that? If it were someone else, would this matter be any different from... being raped?” Justin smiled when he heard this. “I’m not angry because it’s you!”

The light turned green. Justin looked ahead and started the car, his deep eyes staring at the road ahead.

There was something he did not say.

If the two of them did not have a child, he probably would not have had any interactions with Nora in this life, right?

—

At the Smiths.

Ian and Joel were sitting on the sofa, anxiously waiting for news from the Medical University.

The matters over there had just been settled. The reporters had not released any news yet. Nora’s phone was switched off again, so they did not know the results.

At this moment, the butler walked in. “Mrs. Hunt is here.”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 524 - A Slap In The Face!

Ian frowned. “What?”

With that, Mrs. Hunt walked in and smiled. “Ian, I’m here today for the marriage between Justin and Miss Smith.”

Ian pursed her lips. “Mrs. Hunt, why would they get married?”

Mrs. Hunt smiled and lowered her eyes. She sat on the opposite side of the sofa and did not have the attitude of asking for Nora’s hand in marriage. Instead, she looked high and mighty. “Miss Smith has caused so much trouble and gone to the School of Medicine to participate in some debate today. I heard that Dr. Zabe sent his most capable disciple to the school. I’m afraid Miss Smith won’t get any benefits this time!”

Hearing this, Ian and Joel looked at each other, their eyes filled with worry.

Initially, the Smiths had planned to help with this matter. Ian and Joel had many plans to handle this matter.

However, when Nora found out about it, she only told the two of them not to worry. She had a way to stop them from interfering and ruining her plan. That was why the two of them did not make a move.

On one hand, they believed that Nora had the ability to handle it.

On the other, they were still worried.

Hearing Mrs. Hunt’s words, Joel said, “Are you sure Dr. Zabe’s last disciple has gone there? Is he... the one who treated someone’s pulse through a curtain?”

When Nora was young, she had come to New York with Henry. She had once gone to look for Dr. Zabe. Coincidentally, someone questioned the ability of Dr. Zabe’s last disciple. Therefore, Dr. Zabe let Nora take someone's pulse through a curtain. His medical skills instantly got their fame back.

Therefore, all these years, although Nora had never traveled around New York, the fact that Dr. Zabe's last disciple had good medical skills was recognized by the alternative medicine world!

When they heard that Dr. Zabe's disciple was going, Joel and Ian became worried.

Mrs. Hunt smiled. "Yes, that's the one! So, I'm afraid Miss Smith is in trouble this time. I wonder if the Smiths have prepared some follow-up public relations plans? We can't let Miss Smith become a pest in the medical world, right? Also, I heard that many people at the school are proposing to remove her from her position as an external professor! If that happens... Will she really have to hide overseas?"

Mrs. Hunt's words seemed to be filled with concern for Nora, but every word seemed certain that Nora would not be able to get through this.

Ian frowned. "You don't have to worry about this! After all, this is our family's business!"

Mrs. Hunt smiled. "Ian, I have a suggestion this time. I have a way to let her avoid this matter!"

Joel and Ian looked at each other again. They both felt that there was no way this old witch could be so kind?

Joel narrowed his eyes and asked unhappily, "What way?"

Mrs. Hunt did not sense his unhappiness at all. She smiled. "If Miss Smith marries Justin, with the power of our families, we will definitely not let her suffer in New York!"

Joel and Ian frowned.

Mrs. Hunt continued, "In the past, the two families had an engagement. Now that the two children like each other, our family is not one forget righteousness when it comes to benefits. If we see that Miss Smith is in trouble, we can't do something like trying to clear our ties. Therefore, once Miss Smith becomes Madam Hunt, even if she does something ridiculous, who in New York would dare to rush in front of her and say nonsense?"

She said, "This is a mutually beneficial thing. Ian, you won't reject me this time, right?"

With that, she smiled at Ian. The wrinkles on her face were almost sticking together! Ian sneered. "Who said Nora would definitely lose? Don't you have any confidence in her?"

Mrs. Hunt immediately said, "It's not that I'm not confident in her. I'm just too confident about the last disciple of Dr. Zabe! We don't care about alternative or modern medicine. As long as she can treat illnesses, she will be a good doctor. But do you know that the last disciple of Dr. Zabe developed Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill?"

At the mention of this, Ian and Joel's expressions turned a little ugly.

Yvonne had spent a lot of money to buy a pill, but she did not give it to Ian, who needed it more. Instead, she had given it to Mrs. Hunt to curry her favor.

At that time, Joel was angry.

Later, when something happened to Ian at the Hunts, he had used that pill... It was as if the gift from the Smiths was being taken back!

Speaking of which, the Smiths did owe Mrs. Hunt for this matter.

Joel lowered his eyes. Just as he was about to say that he would pay a high price again to buy Zabe Corporation's Calming Pill, he heard Mrs. Hunt continue, "That pill is a priceless treasure. As for that pill, it's a little overboard to say that it can bring the dead back to life. However, at the critical moment, it's still useful to save lives! Not to mention that Ian used this pill to extend his life back then, later on, when I returned to my mother's house, my sister-in-law suddenly had a cerebral hemorrhage. At that time, the family doctor said that there was no hope. However, I took out that pill and fed it to her. Even when she was sent to the hospital, she was still breathing and had recovered!”

Mrs. Hunt was full of praise as she said, “So, I don’t have to say much about the effects of Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill, right? And how skilled must be the person who can make it? He must have already mastered alternative medicine! In that case, he can be considered my sister-in-law’s savior! How much of a chance does Nora have of winning against him?”

When Ian and Joel heard this, they felt even more uncertain.

Actually, if Nora won this debate, people would at most say that she was young and frivolous. She had the true ability, so it was nothing.

The worst outcome was that they would be mocked if they lost! If Dr. Zabe’s disciple really arrived, would Nora really lose? As the two of them were thinking, the butler at the door spoke again. “Sir, someone from the Andersons is here.”

The Andersons?

Ian hurriedly said, “Please come in!”

With that, Simon and Melissa walked in quickly. The moment they entered, Simon looked around and asked anxiously, “Where’s Nora?”

Before Ian could speak, Mrs. Hunt said, “You guys heard about Miss Smith too, so you’re anxious, right? She hasn’t returned yet! She might have lost the competition and lost face...”

Simon was surprised to hear this. “Lost the competition? How could she have lost? Sheril called just now to tell us about the competition. She didn’t lose!”

Mrs. Hunt said confidently, “How is that possible? I received news that Dr. Zabe’s last disciple has gone there to participate in the debate. How could Miss Smith win?”

Simon looked at her and said with a strange expression, “Do you not know who Dr. Zabe’s last disciple is?”

He was shocked to hear the news and had come to seek confirmation!

Mrs. Hunt sneered. “It doesn’t matter who it is. Even if it’s the Hunts or the Andersons, we can’t give in to her in this matter... After all, this is a conflict between alternative and modern medicine! Unless... Miss Smith is that last disciple, this matter won’t end well!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 525 - The Entrance Is Going To Be Destroyed!

Mrs. Hunt had just finished speaking when Simon smiled and asked, “How did you know?”

Mrs. Hunt: ?? What did she know?

She looked at Simon in surprise and recalled what she had just said. Then, she was stunned. It couldn't be what she had said...

Ian and Joel were also stunned as they frowned at Simon.

At this moment, the sound of a car stopping could be heard from the door. Then, Nora and Justin walked into the living room. The two of them had just entered when they were stunned to see the people in the room.

Nora's gaze swept past Mrs. Hunt and the Andersons. She called out in surprise, “Simon, Melissa why are you guys here?”

Simon immediately welcomed her with a smile. “We came to see you. What other surprises do you have that we don't know about?! You're Dr. Zabe's last disciple?!”

As soon as he said this, Ian almost stood up from the wheelchair, but his legs softened and he sat back down.

Joel was slightly surprised.

The person who was the most shocked was Mrs. Hunt. She stood up suddenly and held the butler's hand. Then, she looked at Nora and Simon in shock. “What... what did you say? She... she's Dr. Zabe's last disciple?”

“That's right!”

Simon smiled. “When Sheril called to tell us, I couldn’t believe it!”

At this point, his eyes turned red. “Yvette’s medical skills really have a successor! Nora, you must continue to learn from Dr. Zabe and try to surpass him!”

Melissa immediately pushed him and smiled. “What are you talking about? The child will definitely be more outstanding!”

Simon instantly nodded. He took out a tissue and wiped his tears. Then, he looked at Nora. “You’ve really brought glory to Andersons! As expected of Yvette’s daughter!”

Melissa also said, “Yes, you’re outstanding in not only alternative but also modern medicine... You really surprise us! What else are you good at?”

Nora: “Actually, it’s nothing.”

As soon as she said this, Cherry’s voice was heard. “Mommy, don’t you know how to hack as well?”

Simon smiled. “Oh, do you know programming?” Nora: “...A little.”

“Tsk!”

A laugh sounded. Nora turned around and saw Justin suppressing his laughter and saying, “Yes, just a teensy bit.” Nora glared at him and motioned for him not to say anything. Simon smiled. “It’s okay. If you like it, you can treat it as a hobby! You don’t have to be too good at it. The two things that cross borders in medicine are already the best!”

“Yes, there are specialists in every field!” Melissa agreed. The two of them looked at Nora with eyes almost glowing

While the few of them were chatting, Ian looked at Mrs. Hunt again. When he saw her shocked expression, he said, “Mrs. Hunt, why are you so agitated over such a small matter? Nora is only average at alternative medicine. She just happened to create Zabe Corporation’s Calming Pill and happened to save your sister-in-law's life. She's just your family's benefactor. Don't be so agitated. Calm down!"

Mrs. Hunt felt like she had been slapped in the face and was speechless.

Joel's lips twitched.

Uncle Ian, who was the one who stood up in shock and fell back down! He spoke as if he was very calm...

However, he could not poke Ian's sore spot. He smiled and said, "Uncle Ian and Aunt Anderson were both outstanding figures back then. How could the child you two gave birth to be any less capable? Nora's intelligence and genes are definitely stronger than yours! Now, no one will dare to slander Nora anymore, right? I want to see who in New York dares to look down on her?"

Mrs. Hunt's face turned even redder.

Simon raised his chin and said proudly, "Back then, Yvette's suitor shook the entire New York. Almost all the young talents liked her! Now that Nora is so outstanding, who would dare to look down on her? Nora is the second Yvette!"

Mrs. Hunt knew what they were hinting at.

Back then, people who wanted to marry Yvette could line up for days! They were indirectly praising Nora!

When Mrs. Hunt thought of what she had just said, she was instantly furious. She jabbed the walking stick in her hand on the ground and said angrily, "Miss Smith can't compare to Yvette back then, right? After all, Yvette didn't have two children! No matter how good Miss Smith is, some people will still be calculative about this! I think it's better if she's with the children's biological father."

Ian frowned.

Justin's face darkened. "Grandmother!"

Mrs. Hunt instantly smiled. “Alright, don’t be angry. I’m done talking. I just heard that the Smiths were looking for a son-in-law a few days ago! But I haven’t seen many people coming. The only one who came seems to be that Blaine? Look, wealthy families still care about this...”

The Smiths fell silent.

Mrs. Hunt’s words were very true. There were indeed no outstanding people coming to seek Nora’s hand in marriage. After all, many wealthy families would shrink back at the sight of a woman with a burden.

Unexpectedly, the butler rushed in hurriedly after that. He looked a little anxious. “Sir, something bad has happened! A group of people has gathered outside! They said they want to marry Miss Nora!”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 526 - The Person Who Plotted The Artificial Insemination!

Amid the silence in the room, Ian suppressed all his emotions and tried his best to make himself seem calm. He said, "Let... them in."

The butler nodded.

When he went out to let the people in, the atmosphere in the living room suddenly became rather strange. Everyone looked at Mrs. Hunt.

Mrs. Hunt also broke into a frown. She had repeatedly been forced to eat her words today, which made her very embarrassed, but she mustn't admit defeat.

She looked outside and said, "Well, that actually does make sense. News of the Smiths recruiting a son-in-law has already spread for a few days, so there will definitely be people dreaming of rising up the social hierarchy calling on you. People like them are just here for the Smiths' money, though! They are... men that sponge off their wives!"

After saying that, she seemingly managed to convince herself. "Yes, that must be the case..."

Ian and Joel: "..."

Simon and Melissa's frowns deepened further.

A smiling Melissa stepped forward. The woman wearing a classy dress looked very elegant. Although she was nearly fifty, her complexion was fair and delicate, and she didn't look old at all. She said softly, "Mrs. Hunt, how are you so sure that they are all men intending to sponge off their wives when no one has even come in yet? Given how outstanding Nora is, there will undoubtedly be a lot of people coveting her. Not all of them may necessarily be good men, and I reckon that situations like what you've just described will definitely exist, but don't worry, Nora's marriage is something very important to both the Smiths and the Andersons. We will definitely keep our eyes peeled and make sure we look for someone good for her! So, you don't have to worry about that, Mrs. Hunt!"

Previously, when Mrs. Hunt invited Melissa to the Hunts', she had adopted a very arrogant attitude. It could be said that Melissa had taken care to be cautious with everything she said and did, but even at that time, she had carried herself with grace and poise. Now that she had the Smiths' support, Melissa was even more confident. Her voice was polite and gentle as she said unhurriedly, "Of course, Yvette also had a ton of suitors back then. It was only after careful selection that she finally picked Mr. Smith. The apple of the Smiths' eye will no doubt excel even more. Besides... Given how outstanding Nora is, and how she already has children, she doesn't necessarily have to rely on men in order to survive. Times have already changed, there is no lack of youngsters! I heard that Ms. Hunt herself has announced a few years ago that she's a non-believer of marriage. At that time, so many people had sung praises of Ms. Hunt and said that she was so dashing and heroic. Therefore, we'll just let Nora decide based on her mood..."

"If she's in a good mood and finds someone who tickles her fancy, she can try dating him. If she really doesn't take a fancy to anyone, then that's that. Do you think the Smiths and the Andersons won't be able to support Nora financially? Besides, with Nora's medical skills alone, how many people do you think are begging for her..."

Every word she said was justified and well-founded, and they made Mrs. Hunt choke so badly that she couldn't even say a word.

Mrs. Hunt took a deep breath and said, "Then let's see if there is anyone she likes!"

As she said that, footsteps came from outside the door and the butler's voice traveled over. "This way please."

Mrs. Hunt looked over. She'd initially thought that there would only be two or three visitors, but little did she expect that a dozen or so people would enter all at once!

On top of that, all of them were married ladies of wealthy families whom she often met?!

Mrs. Hunt was dumbfounded.

The person in the front was the wife of a director from a government organization. As soon as she entered, she looked straight at Nora, took a step forward, and held her hand. She said, "You must be Ms. Smith, right? Oh my, look at how pretty you are! You look just like how Yvette did back then! No, you're even prettier than her! I heard that the Smiths are looking for a good life partner for you? What do you think of my eldest son? He is a lawyer, and should be a good match for you!"

Nora: "..."

The lady was so enthusiastic that she didn't quite know what to say. At this point, another lady stepped forward. She smiled and said, "Don't listen to her, Ms. Smith. Her eldest son is a lawyer, so he's terribly busy. He won't be able to find time to accompany you at all. My son, on the other hand, has more free time! He is the president of a company and doesn't usually have much to do. I have photos of him on my phone. Would you like to have a look?"

"There's also my son..."

The Smiths didn't have a matriarch, so for a while, everyone flocked to Nora.

Nora had never witnessed anything like this. Moreover, she had never been adept at talking, so she was stunned by their enthusiasm.

At the sight, Melissa kindly walked over and stopped in front of Nora. "Ladies, Nora's mom passed away early. If there's anything you need, you can talk to me instead. I'm her aunt, but I'm just like a mother to her!"

Nora breathed a sigh of relief at once. She quietly took a step back, nodded slightly, and said, “Everyone, I’ll go and have a change of clothes first.”

After that, she bent over and picked up Cherry, who had slipped behind Melissa and was tiptoeing to look at the photo of the handsome guy on the phone. Then, she went straight upstairs.

Cherry said, “... Mommy, I don’t need to change! Let me stay with Grand aunt Melissa! I miss Grand aunt Melissa!”

Nora: “...”

What you miss are those photos in the ladies’ cell phones instead, don’t you?!

She ignored Cherry’s request and took her upstairs. Then, she ignored the plea for help in Justin’s eyes and merely raised her eyebrows as she gave him a silent message: ‘Good luck.’

Justin: “...”

Mrs. Hunt was in disbelief as she stared at the women.

Those ladies were some of the most famous people in New York. It was difficult for them to even come together, so how come they had all suddenly come to the Smiths’ today? Seeing that everyone else had all gathered around Melissa, she grabbed Mrs. Lovell, who hadn’t gone over yet, and asked, “Mrs. Lovell, you guys... Don’t you know that Nora already has a child?”

Mrs. Lovell looked at her and smiled. “I know that, Mrs. Hunt!”

Then, she said, “But if Ms. Smith didn’t already have a child, how would my son possibly have a chance with her?”

Mrs. Hunt: ??

Mrs. Lovell took the opportunity to say, “My elder brother wanted to marry Yvette Anderson back then, too. With her good genes and her good looks, the offspring she gave birth to would definitely have been very smart and good-looking. Unfortunately, only people like Mr. Smith and Mr. Hunt were worthy of Yvette, and she did indeed choose Mr. Smith in the end. Families like ours stand no chance at all! But things are different now! Since Ms. Smith already has a child, surely she'll lower her expectations a little?"

Mrs. Hunt: "!!"

She was stunned.

Mrs. Lovell immediately nodded. Then, she lowered her voice and said, "Think about it, how amazing a person was Yvette back then? Yet her daughter has outdone her! Not only is she the top surgeon, but she's also the person standing at the very pinnacle of alternative medicine! If someone like her marries our family, wouldn't I enjoy a long life? Besides, the children that Ms. Smith gives birth to will definitely be very smart! This will completely improve my family's genes!"

Mrs. Hunt stared at the people in front of her in a daze, finding all these rather unbelievable. "Don't any of you mind that she has given birth before?"

Mrs. Lovell smiled. "Of course not! Having one more clever person in the family will definitely be a help to the family in the future!"

Next to them, Justin's posture suddenly became ramrod straight, and he felt a huge sense of crisis.

Upstairs.

Nora did not change. After tossing Cherry onto the sofa, she picked up her cell phone and continued to send messages to Trueman: 'Who plotted my artificial insemination back then?'

Although she was very fat back then, she had already learned a lot of different skills by then. It was very difficult for anyone to set up traps for her.

Additionally, Justin had also taken charge of the Hunt Corporation by then, and he usually brought bodyguards with him whenever he was out. Just who exactly were they? To think they could retrieve Justin's sperm without anyone noticing?

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 527 - Karl Is Troubled

It seemed like Trueman wasn't looking at his phone, so he didn't reply right away after Nora sent the message.

After staring at the phone for a while, Nora tossed it aside and went to take a bath.

Cherry and Pete came together. There were identical frowns on their little faces. Cherry said with dissatisfaction, "Pete, Grandpa is introducing boyfriends to Mommy again! Sigh!"

Pete was about to comfort her and tell her that it was okay when Cherry remarked enviously, "When will my Daddy find me a bunch of young men?"

Pete: "?"

He'd thought that Cherry was worried that their parents would be separated, but as it turned out, she was just being envious of Mommy?! She was simply hopeless!

The corners of Pete's lips spasmed and he looked at the bathroom.

Then, he put down the book in his hand and slowly walked out the door.

—

"Mr. Smith, before I came here, my husband said that he didn't manage to beat you when he was fighting for Yvette back then, so your daughter has to show my son some courtesy this time! At the very least, let them meet and try to get along with each other!"

Seeing that Melissa simply refused to say anything, someone shifted their target to Ian instead.

Ian's usually lifeless countenance was filled with smiles and pride at the moment.

In the past, everyone would deliberately ban any mention of Yvette Anderson in front of him. None of them had dared to mention her name. However, the mention of her name instead filled him with pride now.

He smiled and replied, "Of course!"

Justin: !!

Suddenly, he felt very upset that he didn't have any elders who could speak up for him. He glanced at Mrs. Hunt resentfully. The elderly woman looked very awkward and embarrassed. She stood there with her hands on her walking stick, looking like she wanted to speak with Ian, yet didn't know what she should be saying

Justin lowered his eyes and sighed inwardly.

His father had run away from home with his mistress when he was only five. His mother had also moved out and never returned. His grandmother was the one who had brought him up, so he had great respect for her.

Thus, he couldn't adopt aggressive measures against his grandmother.

Moreover, should his grandmother continue to be dissatisfied with Nora, given her skill in infighting within the household, he was afraid that she would keep making trouble for Nora.

That was why Justin had allowed her to keep making trouble for the Smiths—so that she would keep being rebuffed.

It was only after she had been rebuffed and realized how strong and powerful Nora really was that she would be truly convinced. This way, when Nora married into the Hunts in the future, at the very least, she wouldn't make things difficult for her.

Thus, he did not rescue her from her predicament.

He simply stood there without saying anything. Suddenly, someone pulled his sleeve. Justin lowered his head to see Pete standing by his leg and gently tugging his arm. When he looked over, the boy asked in his young and tender voice, “Daddy, aren’t you worried that someone will snatch Mommy away?”

Justin: “?”

He raised his eyebrows. Only then did he realize that everyone around them had stopped talking and were looking at both father and son in surprise.

Mrs. Lovell didn’t quite understand. “Daddy… Mommy… Mr. Hunt, what does he mean by that?”

Pete blinked and replied, “My Mommy is Nora!”

Everyone: “?!?”

Everyone looked at Ian and Mrs. Hunt with puzzled looks on their faces.

Only then did something click in Mrs. Hunt’s head. She came back to her senses and said with a smile, “Tsk, look at me, I’ve forgotten to announce something to everyone! Ms. Smith is our little Peter Hunt’s biological mother. Peter and her daughter are twins! In other words, Cherry is a child of the Hunts! So, we won’t bother you guys to take care of her anymore!”

Everyone: “!!!”

Everyone looked at Justin. “So, Mr. Hunt and Ms. Smith are in a relationship? How far has the relationship gone?” Mrs. Lovell asked.

Mrs. Hunt nudged Justin. Justin knew what she meant, but he nevertheless looked at Ian subconsciously. Sure enough, the man had broken into a frown. As such, Justin lowered his gaze and replied, “I am still trying to woo her.”

His words made Ian’s frown relax. Mrs. Hunt, however, was a little mad. “Justin!”

Justin glanced at her but said nothing.

The others remarked, “Oh, you’re still wooing her? Then that means we still stand a chance! It’s just that... I wonder what is your stance towards the matter, Mr. Hunt?”

Mrs. Hunt took a step forward. She was about to say something domineering such as “Whoever tries to woo Nora would be going against the Hunts”... Once she said that, it would definitely force some of them into retreating.

Unexpectedly, before she could speak, Justin replied calmly, “It’s a fair competition.”

His one-liner made Mrs. Hunt feel as if her breath was caught in her chest. She couldn’t get it out, nor could she force it back down.

After she finally sent away all the people who had come over to propose marriage, even Melissa heaved a huge sigh of relief.

When Pete saw Justin off, the little fellow sighed, looked at Justin contemptuously, and said, “Daddy, you are so useless.”

Just now, he had deliberately come downstairs and called them Mommy and Daddy loudly just to help him out, but little did he expect him to be so useless.

Justin, however, raised his eyebrows. The beauty mark at the corner of his eye shimmered as he said with a smile, “It’s useless to drive them all away. It’s pointless even if they curry favor with Mrs. Anderson or your grandfather.”

A puzzled Pete asked, “Then what is useful?”

“The most effective method is to snag your mommy.”

Justin always focused only on the crux of the matter. As long as Nora was willing to be with him, even if Ian opposed to them being together, would there be any use?

Pete: “??”

As he watched Justin leave, he suddenly felt like his father was still the more scheming one after all!

When Pete returned upstairs, Nora had already taken a bath and was lying on the bed reading a medical book. She was still having a headache over how to cure Quentin.

At this moment, her cell phone suddenly rang.

Thinking that Trueman had replied, she picked up the phone and took a glance. However, she instead saw a text message: “I will do my best to woo you. Even if you don’t accept me, I won’t use the children to hold you hostage.”

Nora: “...”

Her lips curled into a smile. Her anger and frustration at finding out that she had fallen victim to someone’s ploy seemed to have disappeared for the most part when she saw the message.

The next day.

When Nora woke up and went downstairs, she saw Karl in the living room. He was following behind Tanya and asking with a smile, “Can your wedding be brought forward by two days? How about holding it tomorrow?”

Tanya felt a little helpless. “The hotel and everything else has already been booked. We can’t change the date just because we want to. Besides, the schedule is already very tight now. Is there something wrong?”

Karl looked a little anxious, but he nevertheless replied, “No, it’s fine, it’s fine...”

He scratched his head. “I just feel a little nervous, so I want to get everyone done and over earlier!”

Tanya became a little angry when he said that. “If you’re busy with something, then you can leave. To be honest, it doesn’t matter even if you don’t attend my wedding!”

Karl had never fulfilled his duties as a father in Tanya’s life during the past two decades. The relationship between Tanya and him was inherently conflicting right from the start.

Karl hurriedly waved and said, “No way! I’m really fine. I will definitely be there at your wedding! I’m your father, Tanya!”

He broke into a grin and looked at her ingratiatingly.

Tanya snorted at the sight and continued to prepare for the wedding. However, deep down, she still felt rather uneasy.

She suddenly looked at Karl and asked, “Is something the matter with your company?”

In order not to make Tanya worried, Karl and Joel had come together and made up a story. They told Tanya that Karl was the CEO of a listed company abroad. They did not intend to let her know about all those things in the underworld.

Karl said seriously, “Nothing’s wrong, really! Besides, what can be more important than my daughter’s wedding? Don’t think too much into it! If you don’t want to change the wedding date, then we won’t change it! You can just be in charge of taking good care of your skin and sleeping for the next few days. All you need to do is to turn up like the beautiful bride you are on the day of the wedding!”

Tanya breathed a sigh of relief and uttered an “okay”. Then, she continued to fill out the invitations.

Seeing her busying herself with her tasks, Karl sat on the sofa next to her. A gentle smile formed on his rough face.

At this moment, Karl’s phone suddenly vibrated.

When he answered, his expression instantly changed. He stood quietly and walked out. Nora happened to be taking out bread and milk from the refrigerator at this moment. She was about to eat them when she noticed his reaction. After thinking about it, she followed him out.

Karl had a very serious look on his face. His voice was very low as he said, “No! I can’t leave now! I promised Tanya that I would attend her wedding, so I have to be there! You don’t have to say any more. You guys can go back first. Don’t worry about me!”

He hung up after he said that. When he looked back, he was shocked to see Nora there.

Nora frowned. She looked at Karl steadily and suddenly asked, “Have you met with some kind of trouble?”

Karl laughed. “No way. Don’t think too much into it, hahaha.”

After saying that, he walked back into the room. As he did, he sent a message on his cell phone.

As Nora stared at him from the back, she suddenly thought of something. She picked up her cell phone and switched to Black Cat’s account. Sure enough, she saw a message from Karl: ‘Sos! Help, Black Cat!’

Nora replied: ‘Just come straight to the point if you have something to say.’

Karl sent another message: ‘If something happens to me in the future, please do me a favor.’

Nora’s pupils shrank: ‘What is it?’

Karl: ‘Protect my daughter, Tanya.’

Nora: “What happened? If you don’t tell me, I’m not going to help you.”

Chapter 528 - Caught!!!

No matter what happened, Nora would always take good care of Tanya.

She had deliberately said that just to force Karl to tell her the truth.

A short while later, Karl replied: “I trust your character very much, Black Cat, so I’m leaving Tanya to you!”

Nora frowned.

The Assassin Alliance was an illegal organization and most of their crimes were committed abroad. In addition, the Assassin Alliance was very loyal. Most of the commissions that Karl accepted were requests for revenge, and he never killed the innocent indiscriminately. This was also the reason why she was willing to stay in the organization.

Karl might seem like a goofball and acted like a gangster, but he was, in fact, an intelligent and meticulous man.

The organization’s assassins had never taken any lives in the country. It stood to reason that they wouldn’t be in any trouble after he returned to the States, so what was going on?

Seeing that Karl was refusing to say anything, Nora decided to call Black Panther.

Black Panther was Karl’s number one assistant. He was also one of the bodyguards who had returned to the States with Karl this time. He was originally not known as Black Panther. After she became famous as Black Cat, Black Panther wanted a name similar to hers, so he had changed his name.

Nora had been speechless at the time.

She wanted to tell him that that wasn't her real name, but he didn't really understand their naming conventions. On top of that, he didn't like studying, so he simply refused to believe her.

In addition, if anyone in the organization called him by his original name and not Black Panther, he would get angry. This led to him really changing his name to Black Panther in the end.

She used a voice changer and asked, "What happened to Karl?"

Black Panther sighed. "It seems like he's gotten himself into trouble. He didn't tell me anything about it, and only told us to leave America as soon as possible. But he's insisting on staying instead..." Nora frowned and said, "You guys should leave first."

Even Black Panther wasn't aware of what was going on. Just what had Karl done? While she was wondering about it, Tanya's voice came over from the living room. "Nora, hurry up and come with me to try on the wedding dress!"

When Nora walked over, she saw Tanya standing there excitedly. "They worked overtime to alter the wedding dress I chose, so it's done now. I also customized the bridesmaid's dress for you. Let's go and try it on together!"

Nora glanced at Karl. Even though he was trying his best to maintain his demeanor, his brows were still locked together, and he kept looking down at his phone time and time again. When Tanya walked over to the door after grabbing Nora, she suddenly looked back at Karl and asked, "You... Do you want to come with me?"

Go with her?

Karl originally looked anxious, but when he heard her, his eyes lit up and he suddenly smiled and said, "Yes, let's go together! I want to see you in a wedding dress!"

Tanya looked happy and in good spirits. When she heard his reply, she smiled and said, "Okay. Did you drive here? Joel is heading over from the office, we're meeting at the bridal shop." Karl replied, "I did, I did! Let's go! Dad will take you there!"

The few of them went out together and got into Karl's car.

While Karl was driving, he put his phone on the stand as a navigator.

Nora and Tanya sat in the backseat.

Tanya was sitting right behind Karl, so she couldn't see his expression. However, there was some faint excitement on her face. To be honest, there was something she had never mentioned all this time.

She had never had a father in her life. What she was the most envious of was that Hillary had a father who protected her.

She stared at the seat in front of her and suddenly said, "Thank you!"

Karl was taken aback.

Tanya turned and looked out the window. "To be honest, when I was a child, I always wondered about something. When I grow up and get married in the future, what should I do if I didn't have a father to marry me off? I'd always known that Uncle Jones would never do it on behalf of my father..."

Her words took Karl by surprise.

His jaw tensed up and then, he grinned and said, "Well, now you do, Tanya!"

After saying that, the look in his eyes became firm and resolute. Tanya smiled. "Yeah."

She felt unprecedented happiness in this instant.

She had found her daughter.

She had found her father.

Her relationship with Joel had also returned to what it had been in the past...

It seemed like she had no more regrets in life... She was immersed in the joy of trying on the wedding dress, but Nora's gaze was fixed on Karl's phone instead...

Although she was in the backseat, she had good eyesight. She could clearly see the text messages on Karl's phone.

Beep!

Beep!

Beep!

He received numerous messages, all of which were messages from Black Panther urging Karl to leave and meet them. The few of them had left to look for a helicopter. This way, they could just fly off.

But after taking a few glances at the phone, Karl instead turned it off.

For some reason, the atmosphere became tense.

Nora took a deep breath. She had almost immediately concluded that Karl was definitely not being pursued by enemies.

After all, as the leader of the Assassin Alliance who had killed so many bad guys, there would eventually be bad guys approaching him for revenge.

There was no way Karl would put Tanya in danger with him.

So, after ruling out that possibility, what exactly was happening to Karl? Just what was about to happen?

While she was thinking about it, the few of them arrived at the bridal shop. After getting out of the car, Karl followed Tanya into the shop and they went upstairs.

A worker brought the wedding dress over, and Tanya went to try it on. There was also a dedicated makeup artist there to put on some simple makeup for her.

Outside, Joel was looking at a row of suits. While he was picking some out, he suddenly looked at Karl and suggested with a smile, “Dad, why don’t you pick one too? You can wear it at the wedding.”

Karl’s gaze swept across the suits when he heard that. In the end, he picked a dark red one. “Tanya’s wedding is a joyous event. I’ll wear this one!”

Joel nodded.

The group of people went to the fitting rooms.

Nora instead became the most leisurely person there.

A short while later, Karl walked out in a suit. As he neatened his clothes, he seemed a little at a loss, and he didn’t even know where to put his hands. He asked nervously, “Does it look good?”

Nora smiled and replied, “... Yeah, it does.”

At this point, the fitting room’s curtains were pulled open. Tanya stood there in a pure white wedding gown. When she saw Karl, she raised her eyebrows in slight surprise. Then, she smiled and stretched out her hand to him.

Seeing how pure and beautiful she was, Karl’s eyes shone brightly. He raised his hand, but when he was about to touch Tanya’s hand, he hurriedly retracted it, took out a piece of tissue from his pocket, and wiped his hands meticulously... At the sight of how nervous he was, Nora couldn’t help but laugh. Was he really that man who dominated the underworld?

At this moment, her cell phone suddenly rang. When she answered, Morris’ voice came from the other side. He said, “We’ve made one of them talk. He’s confessed! It turns out that the few of them entered the country with someone’s help! We’ve found his accomplices!”

His voice gradually merged with reality. Taken aback, Nora asked, “Who is it?”

As soon as the question left her mouth, she heard footsteps coming toward her. Then, a few plainclothes officers and Morris rushed in. They pointed their guns at Karl and shouted, “Karl Moore, you have been surrounded! Freeze!”

Nora’s head whipped to the side abruptly and she looked at Karl in disbelief.

Karl seemed to have seen this coming long ago. His hand, which he had just wiped clean, stayed in mid-air just like that. He hadn’t taken his daughter’s hand yet. However, he didn’t try to take it anymore.

He merely turned his head to Morris and said calmly, “Don’t be nervous, I won’t resist. Can I change my clothes, though? I shouldn’t ruin the ones I’m wearing right now.”

Chapter 529 - Is Karl Really An Accomplice?

Both of Karl's hands were raised when he spoke.

He stood in between Morris' gun and Tanya, using his body to block her as if he was afraid that someone would misfire and end up injuring Tanya.

Morris looked at Nora.

Nora nodded slightly at him.

Only then did Morris say, "Change here."

"Okay."

Karl took off his suit and folded it neatly. He wanted to pass it to the worker next to him, but the worker was so scared that he was already squatting next to him with his hands over his head.

He could only pass the clothes to Joel.

Joel was staring at him with a frown. "Dad..."

"It's fine, it's fine."

Karl patted his hand lightly. "It's just a misunderstanding. I'm fine."

Joel's jaw tensed up and he looked at Morris. He was about to take a step forward and say something, but Karl stepped in front of him and stopped him. He shook his head. Then, without daring to look at Tanya, he said in a low voice, "Take good care of Tanya and Mia."

After saying that, he reached into his pocket.

“Freeze!”

A plainclothes officer yelled warily at him.

Karl immediately raised his hand. He looked at the few men again and said gently, “Don’t get worked up, don’t get worked up... I told you, I won’t resist. I’m just taking out something.”

Morris nodded again.

Karl took out a bank card from his pocket and handed it to Joel. Joel was surprised. “This is?”

Karl smiled. “My wedding gift for the two of you.”

After saying that, he held his hands over his head and walked towards Morris step by step. Before he reached them, Tanya suddenly asked, “You... What’s the matter?”

Karl looked back at her. He was still smiling and his voice was comforting. “I’m fine, I really am. Don’t worry, it’s just a small matter. You don’t have to worry. Just rest assured and prepare for the wedding. I will try my best to come back on your wedding day. I promised that I will personally marry you off.”

Tanya’s eyes were red.

Dressed in the pure white wedding gown, she looked holy and clean. The sight made Karl smile.

Morris put away his gun at this point. He took a step forward, took out his handcuffs, and handcuffed Karl’s wrists. Only then did everyone else relax.

To be honest, when they discovered that Karl was the accomplice, everyone had been very nervous.

Logically speaking, it should have been very hard for them to catch a big boss like him.

Besides, from the day before to this current point in time, he actually had sufficient time to escape, but he hadn't.

Everyone had thought that they would be in for a fierce battle, but it didn't happen.

Karl had surrendered just like that?

Everyone looked at one another, still somewhat in disbelief.

Even when Karl was brought into the car downstairs, everyone still felt that things had progressed too easily.

—

In the bridal shop, it was only after Morris left with his men that Tanya seemed to finally recover. She stared straight at Joel and asked with a trembling voice, "He... Will he be okay...?"

Karl and Joel had lied to her that Karl was a businessman, but Tanya was no fool. How would she possibly not sense the gangster-like aura around Karl and his men? Joel held her hand. "Let's go home first. I will find out what is going on!"

Tanya nodded.

When the two were talking, Nora had already left the shop. She followed after Morris. After they went downstairs, a few people escorted Karl into the car.

Nora looked at Morris. "Are you sure it's him? As far as I know, Karl never involves himself with domestic affairs."

Morris nodded. "We have already looked into it. When Karl came back to the States, he had indeed returned with the group of them. It is said that they were also the ones who arranged for Trueman Yale's departure. That's why we didn't notice anything." Trueman had left the country silently. No one knew where he had gone.

This incident was indeed beyond Nora's expectations.

But if Karl was the one who had done it, then everything would make sense.

Sending a person out of the country was something that couldn't be any easier for the Assassin Alliance.

She frowned and looked inside the car again. No matter how she looked at it, Karl didn't seem to her like someone who would be connected to the mysterious organization.

Seeing how concerned she looked, Morris said, "We are just asking Mr. Moore back with us to aid in our investigations. Once I have any news, I will let you know."

Nora nodded.

However, she knew that Karl had most likely done it.

Without sufficient evidence, Morris and the others would never ask him to go with them at gunpoint just to cooperate with the investigation.

After Karl got into the car and was taken away, Nora picked up the phone and dialed Black Panther's number again.

Black Panther answered very quickly. "What's the matter, Black Cat?"

Nora asked, "Did you guys bring a few outsiders into the country when you came to America?"

Black Panther was surprised. Then, he asked, "Is it because of them that Boss is suddenly in trouble?"

Nora's heart sank.

Instead of answering her question, Black Panther had instead asked her a question of his own. However, his response had indeed answered her first question.

Her jaw tensed up and she slowly asked, “What exactly is going on?”

Black Panther sounded very anxious. “I knew something would go wrong! When Boss suddenly said that he wanted to come back to the country and have a look, I already felt like something wasn’t right. Then, he said that he was here to look for you, so I didn’t think much about it. But unexpectedly, when we were departing, I discovered that he had brought a few people with him. Those people didn’t look like good news to me, so I tried to persuade him not to do it, but Boss didn’t listen to me. He even told me not to be nosy, and said that it had nothing to do with me! But look, something has happened! Just who exactly are those people?” Nora couldn’t disclose the special department’s information, so she didn’t answer him. Instead, she asked coldly, “When did the Assassin Alliance start taking gigs like this?”

Black Panther obviously sounded a little guilty. He replied, “That’s what I thought, too. Our organization isn’t lacking money. It was indeed too rash of Boss to take the job! What should we do now? The few of us will come back at once and save Boss!”

Nora stopped him at once. “This is the United States, it’s not a place where you guys can mess around! Go back and wait for news from me!”

With Karl arrested, Black Cat naturally became the leader of the Assassin Alliance. Black Panther was full of admiration for her, so he immediately replied, “Understood.”

After hanging up, Nora thought for a while and told Joel and Tanya to go home for now. As for herself, she drove to the special department, intending to have a good chat with Karl.

When she arrived at the special department, Morris was already done interrogating him. When he saw Nora, he kept silent for a while before he said, “He has confessed.”

Nora: “?”

She walked straight to the interrogation room. When she opened the door, she saw Karl sitting there.

Nora sat opposite him and asked directly, “Uncle Karl, if you want to attend Tanya’s wedding, then tell me, where is Trueman Yale?”

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 530 - Jill's Secret!

When he heard her, Karl looked at Nora and asked, "If I say that I don't know, will you believe me?"

Nora was taken aback. "Why wouldn't you know?"

Karl sighed. "I really don't know how he left the country. I am only responsible for bringing them into the United States! Moreover, after we arrived in the country, we went our separate ways. I didn't involve myself with them after that."

Nora frowned.

She'd originally wanted to give Karl a chance to redeem himself, but with the way he was putting it, it really was Karl who had brought them into the country?

She broke into a frown.

Karl said, "It is indeed my fault for forging their documents and bringing them in and out of the country illegally. I am willing to be punished for it. You guys can decide the sentence!"

These were small charges, so he would probably be sentenced to jail for three to four years.

Seeing Karl confessing to his crimes so readily, Nora couldn't help asking, "As far as I know, the Assassin Alliance never takes such jobs. Why did you take the job?" Karl sat on the chair casually. His big and muscular body on the tiny chair made the chair look as if it would collapse any moment.

He rolled up his sleeves, revealing the tattoos on his arm. He was the very picture of a delinquent from the underworld.

He grinned. “Why else could it be? Because they offered a lot of money, that’s why!”

Money...

Before Nora could say anything, Morris had already spoken. He said, “Mr. Moore, as far as I know, they only gave you 1.5 million dollars to enter the country. Others may be tempted by this amount of money, but considering how you are worth a few hundred million dollars, surely you won’t be interested in the job, right? I hope you can cooperate with our investigation! You have to give us a logical reason! Otherwise, we have reason to believe that you are in cahoots with the mysterious organization!”

Morris’ suspicions were well-founded, and even Nora couldn’t refute him.

Karl sighed. “It really was for the sake of money! People like us don’t have any boundaries for what we do. What’s bringing a few people back to the country when we are used to even murder? You think a few hundred million dollars is a lot of money? That money is slowly accumulated from several million-dollar jobs! I’ll say this, though I have never killed anyone in the United States, so you have no right to arrest me because of this!”

He spoke clearly and logically and was totally a wily old fox.

Nora looked at him, her jaw tensed up. She knew that Karl wasn’t telling the truth.

In the eyes of outsiders, the Assassin Alliance was indeed an underworld organization. As long as one offered them money, they would take the commission and do the killing.

However, she knew that the Assassin Alliance had boundaries!

Besides, there was an unwritten rule in the Assassin Alliance, and that was—they were not allowed to kill Americans! Because they didn’t want to leave behind criminal records in the States.

This rule was set by Karl, which went to show that the man had feelings for the country.

In fact, one could even say that Karl might have already made up his mind to retire in the States.

Yet he was suddenly saying that he was willing to do anything for money. She didn't believe him at all!

Before returning to the States, Karl was completely unaware that he had a daughter. In the organization, he often advised others: "It's enough to just have enough to spend. Don't get too caught up in greed!" Besides, even Black Panther could tell that those people were problematic. Would he not be able to see it?

Something was definitely wrong here!

Nora stood up suddenly, nodded to Morris, and left the interrogation room.

Since Karl refused to say anything, then she would investigate this herself!

She didn't believe that there was anything in this world that Q and Black Cat wouldn't be able to resolve!

Nora went straight back to the Smiths'.

She was originally planning to go upstairs to do something, but when she was parking, she unexpectedly found an outsider's car in the parking lot.

Puzzled, she walked into the living room. Before she even got close to the living room, she heard Jill's voice coming from the room. "I knew he was a bad person. He was already covered in tattoos when he was young. It was obvious from a glance that he wasn't a reliable man, but I didn't expect him to be such a vicious criminal! Now that he has been arrested, hah, he really deserves it! What goes around comes around! He has to pay the price for killing so many people! The way I see it, he can forget about ever getting out of prison!"

The things she said were extremely awful.

Tanya sneered, “No one knows or can be sure what the truth is, or why they arrested Dad! I don’t need you to talk nonsense here!”

“Talking nonsense?” Jill’s voice instantly rose. “Tanya, do you have a conscience or not? Are you still calling a murderer like him your father?! If I were you, I would never acknowledge him!”

Nora frowned.

She was about to enter the living room when Hillary’s father, aka Jill’s current husband, said, “Tanya, don’t hold it against your mother for saying such awful things. We rushed over as soon as we heard the news. If even a small family like the Joneses have heard about the incident, then I’m afraid all of New York probably knows by now? With a father like him, even if you don’t mind, won’t Mr. Smith mind? The Smiths have a reputation to uphold! What’s more, Mr. Smith’s and your wedding is in two days.

Surely you need someone to give your hand away at the wedding, right?! That’s why we are here... Your mother is ultimately still your mother, how can she just stand by idly and watch you be married without someone to give your hand away? We’ve already discussed this between the two of us. Since you grew up with the Joneses, why don’t you get married as a Jones instead?”

Nora was infuriated. She pushed open the door, but she immediately heard Tanya sneer, “Mr. Jones, Mrs. Jones. I am not worthy of your kindness. Please leave!”

After saying that, Tanya immediately ordered the butler, “See the guests out! The butler came in. “Mr. Jones, Mrs. Jones. This way please!”

Mr. Jones got up. However, Jill shouted at Tanya angrily, “Tanya, you’re mistaking a good man for a bad one! Our suggestion is all for your own good! Yet you’re not appreciative of our gesture?”

Tanya didn’t have the time to talk to them. She was terribly troubled at the moment.

When she didn't speak, the butler said aggressively, "Mrs. Jones, if you refuse to leave, then I will have to call security!"

"Don't touch me, I can leave by myself!" Jill glared at Tanya. Suddenly, she said, "By the way, don't the Smiths have a real estate project that they are looking to partner up for? You can approach the Yeet Enterprise. Remember to tell Joel this."

Tanya: "?"

She found what she said ridiculous. "Why should I?"

Jill was also sneering. "Because I took $300,000 from them! I'm your mother! Even if you're dead, you have no choice but to acknowledge it! Since I've taken the money, you, as my daughter, have to get things done! I've already written them an IOU! If you don't get Joel to work with them, then they will come to you for money!"

After saying something so shameless, Jill sneered again, "You'd best think carefully about what a father like that will bring you! The Joneses are at least innocent and have never broken the law! I'd advise you to think about this carefully."

Tanya was really very tired. She stared at Jill and suddenly asked, "Why are you treating me like this?"

"Why?"

Jill suddenly became furious. She pointed at her and ranted, "You caused Hillary's death, so you owe us all of this! You have to back Uncle Jones and let him support the Joneses! Otherwise, for as long as you're alive, I, your mother, will never stop harassing you and making life difficult for you! Now that that goddamn Karl isn't here anymore, I shall see what else you people can do about me!"

No matter what, her parents were the ones who had given her life.

Jill was her mother, so she and Joel couldn't really kill her.

Previously, Jill hadn't come over to make a scene anymore because Karl had intimidated her. But now that Karl had been arrested, Jill immediately saw hope again.

“Get lost!”

Tanya yelled at her.

Jill slowly walked toward the exit. “Don't forget what I told you and remember to tell my fantastic son-in-law that! Also, remember to let me know when Karl's sentence is passed... Hahaha!”

Tanya was so furious that her chest was heaving up and down. Nora lowered her eyes. She stepped forward and bumped into Jill, who was about to leave! After the collision, she stepped aside and raised her eyebrows at Jill.

Jill cursed furiously, “Are you blind?”

But when she saw Nora, she swallowed back down the curses at the tip of her tongue. She merely muttered “Tsk, what bad luck” under her breath and went out with Mr. Jones. Nora looked at them from the back with a cold look in her eyes. Then, she took out a miniature earphone and put it in her ear. Just now, when she made contact with Jill, she had planted a virus into her cell phone. Her cell phone was now Nora's listening device!

She wanted to hear what the two people would say after they left.

Jill's completely different attitudes towards her two daughters, Hillary and Tanya, puzzled her. If a mother could love her daughter to the point of how she coddled and spoiled Hillary, then how could she possibly be so indifferent and hostile to her other daughter?

Something she was unaware of must have happened back then! No matter how substantial the reasons that Jill had previously given were, she didn't believe it one bit! She turned on Jill's cell phone and eavesdropped on the couple's conversation after they left the Smiths.

OceanofPDF.com

Chapter 531 - Back Then!

The two of them likely had only just gotten into the car and left. Only their breathing and the sound of the car starting and moving could be heard at the moment. For a while, neither of them spoke.

Nora looked upstairs while she listened in on them-Tanya was holding her head and she looked worried and anxious.

Nora looked around and asked, “Where’s Joel?” “He went to ask Dad what happened.” Tanya raised her head blankly and looked at Nora. She asked in a puzzled manner, “Nora, my father... Is he really a bad guy?”

Nora’s jaw tensed up. She looked at Tanya and sighed. “There are no so-called good guys or bad guys in this world... Neither is there true good or evil...”

When she was a child, she had abhorred evil.

But as she grew up and came into contact with more and more things, her many identities also came into contact with a lot of people. Only then did she gradually come to understand.

In this world, no one was strictly evil or good.

Take, for example, Jill. She was a complete villain from head to toe for others, but to Hillary, she was a good mother.

And take, for example, Karl... He indeed had a lot of blood on his hands and also looked fierce and menacing, but in Nora’s eyes, a man like him was instead likable.

Tanya, who didn’t get the answer she wanted, hung her head once more.

After a while, the landline at home suddenly rang. The nanny picked up the call, upon which she looked at Tanya and said, “It’s Mdm. Sue.”

Tanya frowned.

It was Sue from the ancestral home again.

Before she could say anything, Nora went downstairs and answered the phone. As soon as she said “hello”, Sue said, “Tanya, has your father really been arrested? Oh my, is a scary man like him finally going to be brought to justice? How delightful! He even fired at us the other time. Heh, does he think he can just shoot at others so casually? He’s such a boor!”

Nora couldn’t bring herself to listen any further, so she went straight to the point and asked, “What exactly do you want?”

It was only then that Sue realized that it was Nora on the phone. Surprised, she said, “Nora? Well, all the better if it’s you on the phone. I’ll tell you this, Karl Moore is a huge villain. Now that he has been arrested, they definitely won’t let him out anymore. We’ve already asked around; it’s said that he committed murder. Tell Joel to hurry and divorce Tanya! This is also what your granduncle wants. The Smiths mustn’t have a murderer’s daughter as a daughter-in-law! It would be horrible if news of this were to spread!”

Nora frowned and sneered, “Are you a police officer?”

Sue choked. “Huh? Of course not!”

Nora said, “Oh, it’s fortunate that you’re not. Otherwise, there would have been so many cases of injustice in the world!”

Despite being dissed, Sue didn’t get angry. She said, “Oh Nora, I know you’re on good terms with Tanya, but just giving her a bit of money in private will suffice. Someone like her is not suitable to be the matriarch of the Smiths! News of the incident has already spread in New York! There are even people saying that Jill was right to leave Karl Moore back then and that Tanya is regarding a bad man as her kin! She should be repaying the Joneses for their kindness! How can she abandon the Joneses just because she has climbed up the social ladder? Isn’t a woman like her too cold-blooded? She’s so ungrateful!”

“... I’m hanging up,” said Nora.

As soon as she said that, Sue said anxiously, “Wait, don’t hang up just yet! I’m talking business here. Do you know who spread all this news? It’s Jill! She deliberately spread the news everywhere until the whole city was talking about it. Think about it, even if Tanya does become the matriarch of the Smiths, is there anyone in New York who would respect an ingrate like her?”

Smack!

Nora hung up huffily. As soon as something happened to Karl, an all too eager Jill had immediately started dragging Tanya’s name through the mud. She was too much!

She lowered her gaze. Right at this moment, she finally heard Jill and her husband’s conversation in the earphone!

Mr. Jones said, “Don’t fall out with her like that. Doing that will not benefit anyone! Can’t you take a softer attitude with Tanya?”

Jill’s voice was very shrill. “Why should I? I feel like killing that little bitch the moment I see her face!”

“That’s enough! You have to change that attitude of yours!”

Jill sneered, “Hah, you weren’t the one in pain and suffering during that incident back then, of course you wouldn’t mind! But I do!”

“Back then, back then... That’s all you keep talking about. Why are you bringing up all those things from back then again? Don’t talk about it anymore. Aren’t you afraid that Mr. Smith will come to know of it?”

“What are you so scared of? We’re in our car right now! You have never wanted to talk about it all these years. Since you refuse to let me talk about it, all the more I will do so! Back then...”

Chapter 532 - Nora'S Methods!

The couple's voices traveled through the earphone, their conversation taking Nora by surprise.

Through their argument, she slowly learned the truth of what had happened back then.

She was utterly stunned.

One could say that she had experienced a lot over the years, but even so, she never would have expected a villain like Jill to really exist in this world!

Her jaw tensed up and her brows locked together into a tight frown.

Lily came back at this point.

A guest room had been prepared for Lily all this time. Every once in a while, she would come back, take a day off, and rest. After all, she was terribly busy at the moment. Not only did she have to take care of Old Maddy, but she also had to take care of Quentin.

She stretched and entered the house. After stepping into the house, she looked at Nora and said, "Anti, long time no see."

Nora stared at her. Suddenly, she pulled off her earphone, coughed, and asked "Lily, are you busy?"

Lily: "??"

She slowly looked at Nora and then, the corners of her lips spasmed. She said, "Boss, you must be the most exploitative capitalist in the whole country."

She really was back just to rest for a day! On top of that, this was the only day she had come back this whole week.

Nora, however, got onto her feet. She took out the hair that she had pre-packed-needless to say, she had plucked those strands of hair off Jill's head when she collided with her just now. The hair follicles were still attached.

Lily: "!!!"

The corners of her lips spasmed, and she felt like she was close to getting accustomed to it by now. She asked, "Whose DNA are you going to check this time?"

"Jill and Tanya's," replied Nora.

"... Got it."

They had done DNA tests for Tanya quite a few times by then. Lily already had records of her data, so she didn't need any more samples. She took the samples from Nora and headed to the door dejectedly. As she did, she said, "Boss, you really have to give me a pay raise."

After watching Lily leave, Nora turned and went upstairs.

Joel came back at dinnertime in the evening. With a big frown on his face, he looked at Tanya and said, "I've gotten someone to ask around. Dad didn't do anything serious, so he will probably be out after two or three years of jail at most..."

Tanya breathed a sigh of relief.

Two to three years of jail for a bad man really wasn't that long.

Tanya had actually been worried that Karl would be imprisoned for life. She looked at Joel and said, "If you can pass him a message, tell him that I will wait for him outside, and will provide for him in his old age."

Joel nodded.

Nora, who was seated at the side, listened to them, feeling that Joel was indeed rather capable.

The special department's matters were handled with a very high level of confidentiality. On top of that, Morris was a tough nut to crack, no matter what kind of attitude one took with him. It was extremely difficult for one to find out what was going on within the department.

Yet Joel had found out after running here and there for an afternoon.

This showed that the special department wasn't entirely impenetrable. Next to them, Warren and Maureen were eating with their heads down. Perhaps because of Karl's incident in the afternoon, the couple —who were usually the ones livening up the atmosphere at home—didn't speak.

But if one were to look at them closely, they would see that Maureen had a furious look on her face while Warren was smiling ingratiatingly at her. Maureen, however, had turned away and was ignoring him.

Nora was preoccupied with thoughts of Jill and Tanya's DNA test because she wanted to verify the truth of what they had said in the car, so she didn't notice that there was something wrong with the couple. After dinner, Joel suddenly looked at Tanya and said, "When I was getting someone to ask around about Dad today, I actually met him."

Tanya was taken aback.

Joel kept quiet for a while before he sighed and said, "He wants you to carry on with the wedding as planned, and is asking us not to delay the wedding because of him."

Tanya bit her lip and lowered her head. "He's thinking too much. Why would we cancel the wedding because of him?" Nora glanced at Tanya. She knew that her best friend was being verbally stubborn again. She had heard Tanya call the hotel this afternoon to cancel the wedding banquet... When the hotel told her that the deposit was non-refundable, she had even snapped at them impatiently and said that they needn't refund her then.

But...

“The wedding should indeed carry on as planned,” said Maureen suddenly. She still sounded a little stiff, but one could faintly hear the concern in her voice. She said, “For some reason, news of what happened to Tanya has been spread everywhere and the city is abuzz with rumors. My family even called to ask about it today. If the wedding is canceled, those unaware of what's going on will think that Joel has become unhappy with Tanya. Also... there are already a lot of people speculating that the wedding will be canceled.”

The things that those people said had sounded way worse, actually. “... The Smiths will never accept a murderer's daughter. I even heard that her father is an underworld figure. Jill had been forced into a relationship with him back then, and he even forced himself on her... He's even a rapist! How scary! It's fortunate that he has been arrested!”

“Heh, like father like daughter. Tanya is his daughter, so she's not going to be anything good either. If I had a father like him, I would be too ashamed to marry Mr. Smith!” “Wait for it. The Smiths will definitely come up with some kind of excuse to cancel the wedding. After all, if they hold such a lavish wedding now, it will look really bad when they divorce in the future.”

There were all sorts of speculations, and Maureen's family had relayed them all to her.

Tanya would be living in New York as Mrs. Smith in the future. She couldn't possibly be like Justin's mother and lock herself up in a villa in the suburbs all day, never going out or socializing for the rest of her life.

As long as she had to socialize, she would have to come into contact with others. And as long as she came into contact with others, disputes would inevitably happen.

Therefore, they mustn't let Tanya be looked down upon!

Upon hearing what Maureen said, the few of them got together and discussed the issue. In the end, they decided that the wedding would continue as planned!

The worried Tanya and Joel went upstairs. Maureen also went upstairs with Warren, one behind the other, leaving only Nora who walked up the stairs slowly.

Upstairs.

Nora sat on the sofa, her hands flying about on the keyboard at high speed.

She now understood what was going on with Jill. However, she had to figure out the truth about Karl too!

She intended to investigate what exactly had happened when Karl left New York back then...

Seeing Nora hard at work, Pete, who was lying on the bed, sent a message to the tyrant: "Something has happened at home. This is a good chance for you to impress Mommy, why aren't you here? You're so useless!"

Pete frowned and heaved a huge sigh. He was simply so mentally exhausted!

In order to let the family of four reunite, he was shouldering too many responsibilities all by himself!

The tyrant was usually so smart, yet he wasn't making use of such a great opportunity to impress Mommy? With her cell phone in hand, Nora hacked into a certain system.

To be honest, she already had a vague guess deep down and was just here to verify it. But unexpectedly... the moment she hacked into the system, she was obstructed by a master hacker!

The two of them went back and forth. Even after a few rounds of fighting, neither of them could beat the other. However, perhaps because the other party was part of the public security system and thus held an advantage on their home turf, Nora was temporarily at a disadvantage.

The other party opened a chat channel and asked straightforwardly: 'Who are you?'

Nora: "?"

She thought for a moment and replied: 'I am Y.'

Y was Justin anyway. Surely he wouldn't hold it against her if she borrowed his name, right? After all, Justin was very powerful in the country, whereas her identity as Q had already been exposed in front of quite a few people.

After sending the message, she asked: 'Who are you?'

The other party kept quiet for a long while before they finally replied: 'Oh, I am Q.' Nora: "???"

Chapter 533 - Jill's True Colors!

Nora stared at the screen for a while before she suddenly realized something. Well, that made sense. Out of the few known hackers in the world, who else besides Y could compete with her for a few rounds? Justin hadn't showed up the whole day even after learning what happened to Karl. As it turned out, he had the same suspicions as her, so he was also hacking into the system in the middle of the night?

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed.

Just because Justin hacked into the system first, she had thought that he was someone from the other side.

The corners of her lips spasmed again. Her phone rang at this point and then Justin's low and deep voice came from the other side. "Are you planning to make me take the rap again?"

Nora thought back to when the two of them had first met. Every time she did something with one of her identities, upon being discovered, everyone would think that it was Justin who had helped her. She didn't want to reveal her identity at that time, so she hadn't refuted it.

However, the two of them weren't familiar with each other yet at that time. She had even felt a little embarrassed having him take the blame.

As for now... Had she already become so used to it?

Nora coughed and changed the subject. "What did you find?"

Justin, who had sensed her intentions, let out a low chuckle. His laugh reached her ear through the phone, making her feel as if she was about to have an eargasm.

Justin slowly said, "I discovered that there isn't any information about Karl in the system!"

A surprised Nora subconsciously replied, “Something’s off.”

As she spoke, Justin stopped obstructing her and Nora entered the system too.

When Karl went to Switzerland more than twenty years ago, he had actually sneaked into the country illegally. Therefore, there definitely wouldn’t be any record of him purchasing air tickets or leaving the country.

However, before he entered the country illegally, Karl had been a gangster in New York. At that time, when he was dating Tanya’s mother, he had committed a crime and ended up being arrested. That was why he had broken off contact with Tanya’s mother.

So, how could he not have any criminal record in the police station?

The fact that there wasn’t anything was, in fact, the biggest problem of all!

Justin said, “I’ve already checked for more than three hours. He indeed doesn’t have any criminal record.” Nora took a deep breath. “I see.” She exited the system.

There were only two possible reasons for Karl’s lack of criminal record in the system. The first was that Karl himself had engaged a hacker to infiltrate the system and delete his records after he made a name for himself.

After all, he was part of the Assassin Alliance abroad. The less others knew about him, the better it was.

Of course, there was also the second possibility

– his records had been transferred away, so they weren’t on the Internet.

But why had they been transferred away?

This was what Nora had to investigate next.

She said to the phone, “I’m hanging up.”

She planned to go to the special department to interrogate Karl again the next day.

But unexpectedly, when she said that, Justin quickly replied, “You’re so heartless.”

There was a bit of resentment in his voice. “... What?”

Justin sighed. “You throw me away once you’re done using me. Are you already denying doing anything with me when you haven’t even pulled your pants back up?” Nora: “??”

She hadn’t done anything with him at all!

Nora hung up straight away. Her cheeks were a little red. What kind of nonsense was that man spouting? What pants didn’t she pull back up?!

Elsewhere at the Hunts’.

Justin, who had been busy for more than four hours, came up empty-handed. However, the computer made the corners of his lips curl upward into a smile in the end.

He shook his head and went to bed.

After he lay down, he fell asleep very soon.

He couldn’t tell if it was because he had talked about pulling up one’s pants with Nora, but he had an unexpected dream that night.

In the dream, it seemed like someone had drugged him and knocked him out, it was six years ago.

While he was half-awake, he’d had his way with a woman... The woman was very fat and very soft... In his daze, he seemed to have seen a pair of almond-shaped eyes.

“Huff!”

Justin's eyes suddenly flew open and he stared at the ceiling.

To be honest, he couldn't remember a thing about how he had been drugged and knocked out, or how his sperm had been retrieved six years ago. Throughout all these years, that was the sole night he had no memory of.

But the dream from the previous night was too real.

It felt so real it was as if he had actually experienced it... Looking back at it now, it seemed like the memory of that night back then was gradually coming back to him.

The next day.

After she woke up, Nora originally planned to head to the special department to ask Karl what exactly was going on with his criminal record. However, the moment she went downstairs, she instead saw people coming and going in the living room, which was filled with people.

Tanya was sitting on the sofa and looking at these people with a numb look on her face.

As for Maureen, she was busy greeting the wealthy ladies visiting them.

Most of them were here to ask if the wedding would still be held. When they heard that it would be, they started to give her wedding gifts in the pretense of friendship.

Maureen found someone to make a note of the gifts and their senders, so that Tanya could return the favor later.

Seeing how troublesome the situation was, Nora frowned.

She suddenly didn't feel like having a wedding anymore. How boring must it be to just sit and wait on the sofa? If she had that much spare time, she might as well just go to bed instead!

But it seemed like she was thinking too much. She didn't have many friends in the States anyway. It was different for Tanya, who grew up in New York, after all... With that in mind, Nora went down the stairs and up to Tanya. She said teasingly, "To think you said that you didn't have any friends. Does this look like you don't have any friends?" "... Do you even remember your kindergarten classmates?"

Nora: "?"

Tanya smiled wryly and said, "I really don't have any impression of them. These people even said that they danced with me when we were children! How would I possibly remember anyone from when I was five or six?!"

Nora instantly understood.

These people were here to ingratiate themselves with the Smiths in the name of being good friends with Tanya!

The corners of Nora's lips spasmed.

At this point, the butler hurriedly walked in and said, "Ms. Nora, Mdm. Tanya, this is terrible! Mrs. Jones is here again! She's crying at the door because we refuse to let her in..."

Nora and Tanya looked at each other.

The butler sighed. "We do want to drive her away, but with so many people coming and going today, it won't reflect well on us if people were to notice. How should I handle this?"

Nora sneered.

She was originally planning to find an opportunity to spill the beans about Jill and Mr. Jones' conversation in the car. With Jill rushing over to court death now, this was undoubtedly a great opportunity!

She sent Lily a message straightaway: 'Have you brought the DNA report back?' Lily responded very quickly: "I'm on the way."

When Nora saw her reply, she stood and raised her almond-shaped eyes, making her seem like someone who took swift and resolute action. She walked out of the house slowly and said, “Then let’s go and meet her.”

Tanya originally didn’t want to, but Nora was already walking out of the house, so she could only follow behind.

As soon as the two went out, they saw Jill sitting on a big rock outside the gate to the Smiths’ manor. She was wiping her tears with a handkerchief.

Next to her, someone was passing by and asked, “Mrs. Jones, are you crying because you can’t bear to part with your daughter, who will be married soon?”

Jill heaved a huge sigh. “Of course. I gave birth to her after all. No matter how badly I treat her, she was once part of my body...”

When Hillary and Tanya were embroiled in a lawsuit, Jill and Tanya had fallen out very badly. To be honest, everyone knew that the relationship between the mother and daughter was not good.

So, what was Jill here to show off about?

A lot of people had come to the Smiths’ to deliver gifts today. More than a dozen ladies had slowly gathered around Jill by now. Including their chauffeurs, assistants, and servants who had come with them, there were nearly thirty people surrounding Jill at the moment.

Jill stood there and wept. “My life is so hard. What could I do after those things happened and I became pregnant with that murderer’s child back then? Being young and kind, I could only give birth to the child... It’s true that I didn’t treat her well, but she is the child of a murderer and even a rapist! I can’t help but think of her father whenever I see her. How could have I treated her well? Sob...”

As soon as she started weeping, the unsuspecting people around her immediately realized something.

“As it turns out, there is actually more to it than it seems!”

“It’s no wonder Jill treats Tanya so badly, then. If you look at how she treats Hillary, she’s actually not a wicked mother. To be honest, if I were her, I might not have been able to even keep the child.”

“Me too... Come to think of it, I even scolded Jill for treating her daughter badly back then. But if that’s the case, then her actions are indeed forgivable!”

“She has already done pretty well by giving birth to Tanya and giving her life! After that, she even raised her and didn’t kill her... Come to think of it, Tanya should really thank her.”

“I wasn’t understanding towards her previously. They are both her daughters, so how could she treat them so differently? Whenever I visited the Joneses when I was young, she had never really treated Tanya well. But now, I suddenly understand why she did that.”

Everyone passed comments one after another.

Jill wept even more miserably. “Yes, I was really hesitant back then. I didn’t want to give birth to her, but in the end, I still couldn’t bear to abandon a tiny little life, so I gave birth to her!”

She looked at Tanya, who had come out. She cried and shouted, “Tanya, I know I was wrong. All of this is my fault. I misplaced my resentment towards your father on you. Can you forgive me?”

As soon as she said that, everyone looked at Tanya.

“Ms. Turner, why don’t you forgive her?”

“Yeah. In a situation like this, if you still don’t forgive her, then you’ll be the one at fault!”

“She didn’t mean it...”

Lily’s car arrived at the gate at this point.

Chapter 534 - Trying To Take Advantage Of The Smiths? Are You Worthy?

Lily's car couldn't enter because the gates were completely blocked. She could only park the car at the roadside. With the DNA test report in hand, she walked around the crowd and strode towards Nora.

