

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +233544142683Ohene Ome: CHRISTIAN WORLD PRESENTS

The Open Secret

Episode One.

.
. .
.

Tina's POV. (Point of view)

I sat down and was entirely busy on my phone, when my husband came in.

"Honey good evening"

I greeted him, and he responded by giving me a kiss... If *you ask me, I would tell you that I have a perfect husband, to me, he is everything that God could offer, so faithful, peaceful, loving and also God fearing.

Its barely one year we got married, I have nothing to worry a* bout *except that am yet to conceive, its not too long but am really worried about it because I know that a healthy man and woman have 98 percent chances of making a baby, why is mine so different, I love babies a lot and I a m already running out of patience.

*

"Darling, Amaka put to bed today" I said to him as he sat beside me.

"Thats really great, congratulations to her" he said not being much concerned.

"I wish I can carry mine soon " I said and he looked at me.

"I have told you to stop wishing, we will equally carry our own at the due time" he said and that is what he will always say, it never bothers him a bit.

"I know, but darling, do you think we are alright, healthy woman and man finds it easy to make babies" I said.

" you forgot something, God is the giver of children " he said again.

"I know, but I suggest we visit the hospital to check our selves, pls" I pleaded.

"Its that all you want? " he asked again.

"Yes darling "

I said in a hurry before he changes his mind.

He has never agree to that, not even for one day, I wonder why he is so stubborn about this, he dont even worry about it as his fellow men will do.

"Alright, we will go, so that I can rest for you"he said and left the living room.

.
. .
.

Frank POV (point of view)

I sat on the bed immediately I entered into our bedroom, how do I even cope forever with my wife disturbance and worries, knowing fully that I can not impregnate a woman.

I have decided to keep this secret forever but where will I start, this woman is so desperate to have a baby, oh God why me, why did I find myself in this situation.

I love my wife so much and if she ever finds out my situation, she will probably leave me.

"What do I do now? " I asked my self..

"Its like I have to go and see my personal doctor, he is the only one that knows my problem,.

I have to bribe him, never to tell us the real test result, maybe he have to say it the other way around.

Like indicating that its my wife that have a little problem, not me"

I was still talking to my self, when my wife enters,.

"Are you alright? She asked.

"Yes am okay, we will be going for the test next week,. We will do the test at St. Christopher hospital, where my best friend works. He will carry out the test" I said.

" hmmm, honey, why st Christopher? You really like that place, but I accept, all I want its for us to go for the test. " she replied.

"Let me get your food" she concluded and left.

.

.

. Doctor Charles POV.

I was listening to my best friend who was sitting next to me in my office, I wonder why he wanna keep such secret, the truth is that because of his situation, he won't be able to impregnate a lady unless by the grace of God, both of us have been fighting this situation to know if we can heal him but all to no avail.

"My friend, why do you want to keep such secret, dont you think, she will find out one day. " I asked

"It is in our hands, please Charles, I will not like to loose my wife because of this, let's hide it, just tell us that she is having a little infection that can be cured soon and she will conceive.

Please, secure my home, am begging you" he said.

"Hmmmmm, this is too hard to do, for me to lie over the real result is too bad, but you are my closest friend and you have done a lot for me, I will do that but dont give up, keep fighting against your infidelity so that one day, all this will be a story. "

I finally accepted but really felt guilty, am sure that mrs. Tina is very much healthy, and fodging the result is a sin against human being and God.

I gave a sigh of relief immediately he left my office and I took a second glance at the cheque of one million naira he left on my table, he bribed me with the money.

my friend Frank is such a wealthy and a kind man, I wonder why bad thing always be fall the good ones, he so much deserve to have children but we dosent have to question the almighty God.

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: CHRISTIAN WORLD PRESENTS

The Open Secret

Episode Two.

.

.

. Tina's POV.

I sat down in my office with my colleague by my side, she was really busy typing something but my attention wasent there.

I was thinking about something since morning, I decided to go and see a doctor first, I needed to confirm my fertility capability, I dont even know if my husband will go for the test.

maybe he just said yes Inorder to stay far from my worries.

I couldn't wait for the work to be over, I took my bag and left the office around three pm.

I drove straight to Royalhood hospital, not too far from my office, I did the enquireries on how to see the doctor and few minutes, I was already sitting next to him.

"Good day doctor" I greeted.

"Good day madam, how may we help you? " he asked.

" eemhhh, doctor It is getting to one year I got married, I couldn't conceive, so I came to check my well being" I stated.

"Alright madam, but you should have come with your husband" he said.

"My husband is not at home now, thats why I came alone, but he will still go for a test" I replied.

"The reason I suggested you came with him was because, in this type of situation, we need to find out who has the fault so that the problem will be solve accordingly " he said again.

"But, we will see you through, you will undergo some series of test, but the result will be out in two days time" he added.

"Alright sir " I replied.

Within two hours, we are through with the test and I went home to take some rest.

.

.

.

Two days on, I went back to the hospital to collect my test results, I ~was doing all this without my husband knowledge and I dont even know the spirit that was pushing me so hard to check myself before going to anoth~ er hospital with my husband.

"Madam, you have no problem at all, you have atleast 98% chances of conceiving with a healthy man too" he said as he offered the results to me.

"You mean am perfectly okay? " I asked again.

"Yes madam"

"So what could be my problem of not conceiving" I asked again.

"Madam, like I said, you will only conceive with a healthy man, thats why I said come with your husband, so that if he has any problem, we will find the solution" he said.

" Does it mean that my husband has a problem? "

"Not a must, atimes it can be fate or destiny, Gods time is always the best but nevertheless, he have to go for a test to confirm ".. He said and I left some minutes after.

Frank POV

My wife came back with a worried face again today, no need of asking.

I already know what her problem is, I have already assure her that we will visit the hospital, so I dont know why she must be worrying almost all day, all I know is that with child or without, I really love her and am ready to love her forever, not because its my fault but because I love her naturally.

"We are going for the test tomorrow " I announced and expected her to be happy but she just nodded.

"What is the problem? " I asked but she said nothing.

how I wish God can change my situation so that I can help my wife make babies, that will be the greatest thing that will ever happen to her but its well, God is never asleep though, I cuddled her as she slept off right in my arms.

.
. .
.

Three days later after the test analysis, we came back for the result.

"Frank, you are very much okay" doctor Charles said and my wife looked up as if she is expecting something different.

"Tina, you have a little problem, scanty growth of strep that can lead to staphylococcus if not being treated well and now."

my wife could'nt even allow him to finish.

"Doctor, are you sure? " we both became surprise at the question.

"I mean, is the problem the reason for me not to conceive? "She asked again.

"Not really, but you have to take care of it as soon as possible, it can lead to not conceiving, thats if you leave it to develop to staphylococcus " doctor Charles said again.

After one hour discussion and certain questions from my wife, we left the hospital, her mood was written all over her, she looked like a surprised person, was she expecting to hear that am the one that has fault here or what, I can't really understand her feelings.

" Honey, I think we have to visit another hospital, let's see another doctor ' that was her first word she said to me since we entered Into our house.

"Why? " I asked.

"Because we dont have to rely on one doctor " she replied.

"Doctor Charles is not just my personal doctor but also an educated doctor, he is enough to rely on" I said back.

"Honey, this is not matter of education, the perfect one that dosent make mistake is Jesus" she added.

"Are you trying to tell me that doctor Charles made a mistake " I asked.

"Yes, because I dont have any strep, not even a single illness, am fine, so I think, he made a mistake " she replied.

"How did you know? " I asked.

The truth is that I visited a doctor not long ago, he told me am fit. " she replied and I was surprised and speechless.

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +233544142683Ohene Ome: ~The Open Se cret

~

Episode Three.

·
·
·
Frank POV

I opened my eyes so wide like a surprised he goat.

"You mean, you went to the hospital on your own without telling me? " I asked.

"Am sorry, its just a hospital that is near to my office, just that am so desperate to know my well being please forgive me" she pleaded.

She thought that I am angry but I was only afraid, now that she has found out that she is alright, she might find out the truth, no wonder, she was suggesting we visit another hospital.

"You are so desperate" that was all I said.

"Its okay, I accept all, but please let's see another doctor, honey we need to know what is wrong with us on time" she said again.

"Please woman, let me be" I said and left her all alone.

Tina's POV .

It have been one month after we visited the hospital but my husband have not agree to what am telling him, he even started keeping late night to avoid my problems.

I became more worried, I was even so confused.

"what is actually wrong, who among these doctors are right?" that was the question I always asked myself.

That was when I thought to myself that I would have to go back to that doctor that carried out the first test on me.

Three months later after much pleadings and the deaf ears my husband paid to them, I decided to visit Doctor Ransome for the second time.

"Good day doctor, do you remember me?" I asked.

"Yes of course, madam where have you been? I did not see you again" he asked.

"Doctor, my husband refused to come with me, after visiting his personal doctor who said that he has no problem and that I have scanty growth of strep that can lead to staphylococcus " I said as I offered the test result we carried out at St. Christopher's hospital to him.

"That is a lie, you did a test here before you went there right, your test confirmed that you are okay, you can go and confirm in another hospital. " he said while looking at the result.

"Doctor, I believed you so much, that's why I told my husband that we have to see another doctor, but he refused" I added.

"Madam, I think your husband is hiding something from you, how can someone rely on one doctor on a situation that is yet to be solved" he said.

"Doctor am tired of everything, my husband is so stubborn, very soon we will do our two years wedding anniversary, yet no solution was found, no reasonable solutions from that his doctor" I said amidst of tears.

"Madam, stop crying, you need to put more pressure on him, tell him all you can to make him accept the suggestion, the earlier the better, or maybe give me the address of his working place, let me go and talk to him" he said and I didn't hesitate to do that.

After some time, I left the office to my house.

Frank's POV .

My wife is really taking this so far, by telling a doctor to come and talk to me.

I think that doctor is the person that is encouraging her to do all this. Few minutes before the doctor left my office, I drove straight to St. Christopher's hospital, went straight to my friend office and I sat next to him.

"You can't believe what happened today" I said.

"What was that" he replied.

My wife sent a doctor to come and tell me to visit another hospital for test" I added.

"What? What kind of courage does that woman have? " he asked.

"My dear, I don't blame her, that woman knows that she is well, and I think that she is suspecting me" I said.

"How? "

"Remember that I told you that she went for a test that confirmed that she has no single problem before we came here, and am very much sure that she doesn't believe you, not even me because I refuse to see any other doctor" I said.

"Hmmm, Frank you better don't see any other doctor unless you want to expose us" he said.

"I will never do that, am I insane? " I added.

"Are you sure that the doctor will not ask to sleep with your wife, you know, this woman is very desperate." He said.

"Ehhhhh, no no no, it can never happen, I trust my wife."

"Not in such issue, this woman needs a baby, just go and warn the doctor seriously to stay away from your wife" ..

I saw some reason on what he said.

after some discussion with him, I left the hospital.

Tina's POV.

My husband came back earlier than before, I was so surprised but I decided to keep quiet but not until he started shouting at me and asking me why I sent a doctor to come and advise him.

"Frank, if you are not hiding anything, come, let's see another doctor" that was all I said to him and he jumped up again from the bed.

"Look, let me tell you, you are my wife and you have no single right to tell me what to do, better stay away from that good for nothing doctor" he shouted back at me.

"If I am to stay away from him, then you have to stay away from that your fake doctor" I said again.

He wanted to raise his hand on me, but he put it down as if something touched him.

From that day onwards, no peace and harmony in the house, atimes he will come back without touching my food, and the most surprising this is that my husband still refuse to see another doctor.

Its suspicious but I will never keep quite.

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: ~The Open Secret.

~

Episode Four.

Tina's POV

.

Life became more difficult because I have never live to see or meet such a stubborn one like my husband.

Its getting up to six months, yet he strongly stood on his decision, now, I believe that he has a secret he never wanted me to find out, but what could that be?.

I have been disturbing doctor Ransome, and am sure he is equally tired, the last time I went there, all he was saying was that my husband is hiding something from me but what exactly is that?

Its two years already, not minding that its exactly our wedding anniversary, I left to work that morning and when I came back later, I saw my husband, his personal doctor and another friend of his relaxing in our sitting room.

There was a cake and wines on our center table, I guess he wants to celebrate our anniversary but I dont even care a bit.

I came in, greeted them and went inside my room, I pretended as if I didnt notice anything.

I changed my dress into something light, went inside the kitchen to find something for myself, he came in later and met me inside the bedroom while enjoying my meal.

Frank's POV .

I waited for my wife to come out to the sitting room but yet she didnt, I decided to go in and look for her.

"Darling, can't you see or even notice something in our sitting room, my friends are here to wish us happy anniversary " I said to her, but she laughed mischievously.

"Let them go home with their wishes, I don't need it" she said and I became more confused.

"What is it again? " I asked.

"Frank ~please, before you came in here, I was eating and please I would like to enjoy my meal without any disturbance" she said again.

"I dont know why you are so difficult " she couldn't even allow me t~ o finish, she stood up and said to me.

"Frank, in this house, we have our different ways and decision, go and enjoy your anniversary let me enjoy my food" she left the room with the plate of rice.

After some time, I left the room, needed an excuse to give to my friends so I told them that she is not feeling fine.

At night, I tried touching my wife but to ~my outmost surprise she refused, for complete one month now, she have been avoiding me, today that she managed to sleep in my room, she beat my hands off anytime I tried cuddling~ her.

"Darling, what is it nah, why are you denying me my right" I said as I stood up and on the light.

"Please sir, am tired of all this your touching and sex things in this house, allow me to rest" she said.

"Meaning what" I added.

"Meaning that since two years now, this sex have not yield to anything" she said.

"Am I God? Why are you talking to me as if its my fault" I shouted back at her.

"Of course its your fault, prove it by seeing another doctor". She said.

"I see, that doctor is actually taking what rightfully belongs to me" I said.

"I dont care, insinuate whatever you like, all I know its that I rather divorce you than cheating on you" she added.

"Please, let me just touch u tonight" I said in a calm tone.

"You are actually dreaming" she said while dragging a pillow off from my head.

"No sex until you agree to see another doctor, and I will actually raise an alarm just in two months time, if you don't see another doctor and divorce follows" she said as she left the room.

I opened my mouth like a senseless he goat, I know my wife too well, he hardly change her mind but letting her know that am not a man will ruin my life entirely.

Tina's POV .

I have actually decided to give him no peace of mind in our home, my husband is so heartless and I will never forgive him if I find out that something is behind all this.

Two days on, I was in the doctors office, of course, I have never cease to see him, he is a good advicer and he have been encouraging me to be strong.

"Madam, your husband is actually hiding something from you, I see how much you really need to conceive and that man is not even ready for that at all, if you can go outside and get pregnant" he said and I raised my eyes in surprise.

"Doctor, you mean I should cheat on my husband?" I asked.

"Yes, some women do that once they find out that their husband can not do so" he added and I baffled.

"No, I will never do that, see, I rather divorce him than cheating on him, I will forever feel guilty, no doctor I can't" I said.

"Hmmm, am not forcing you, you own yourself and am sure you know what is good for you, just that I dont know what else to do, your husband reactions shows that he will never be ready to do as you suggest" he said and I started crying.

"Okay doctor, let me take my leave, let me go and face my trouble, once I get tired, I will go back to my fathers house" I said and when I wanted to leave, he stopped me.

"I think I have another suggestion, that's if you can do that " he said and I sat down and listened.

"Can you get your husband semen?" he asked in a calm tone.

"Huh... You mean his sperm? But how can I do that?" I asked trying to put more interest .

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: The Open Secret .

Episode Five

Tina's POV

This is really funny, to get my husband semen, but let me just wait to hear from him because I don't even know how to do such.

"Doctor how do I do that, and how can that be of a help?" I asked again.

"You can do that, if you can romance your husband very well and make him reach orgasms, he will be able to release sperm then you collect it" he said and I guess its sound so easy to him.

"The fact is that I dont even know how to romance, I married as a virgin, to do that its so hard" I said.

"Then go for a sex class, I can tell my sister to add you up on watsap sex class. Am trying to help you out because with the semen, we can run a test and find out what is really wrong" he said and I became more convinced.

"Okay, my problem now is that if he release, how do I get the semen." I asked.

"Very simple nah, you have to off the light while doing that, but make sure its in the morning, so it will not stay longer before we use it for the test, when your husband release you feel it, get a small container with you and collect it, no matter how small, he will not find out because he must be carried away, dont forget you have to do it in the darkness, you have to take that risk in order to get what you want" he added.

I gave a sigh of relief, its really not easy, I dropped my number Inorder to be added in the sex class on watsap group.

One week later, am done with the sex class, I learnt everything but the question is how do I practice it? Its really funny.

During this one week, I tried so much to be in peace with my husband, he must be surprise but he never knew that I have a specific plan.

That faithful morning about 5:20 am.I was lying with my husband on the bed, its time to carry out my plan.

I stood up and looked at him, he is fast asleep, I undressed my self and started kissing him, he woke up and was very surprise, he couldn't see my face because I off the light like the doctor said, he just held my waist because I was sitting across his body.

I made sure my small container was around me, I kissed him from neck down to his belly button, using my tongue to do the magic with my left finger on his nipple.

Now, he is moaning gently and that gave me the perfect boldness to continue my work, before I could reach his for dck he has already been carried away, I sucked him like I have never done before, now, his moans are increasing and I guess he is ready to release, I used my hand to mersage his dck gently and was also squeezing his nipple.

Boom, he released and I get my container, my hand began to shake because I was really afraid, I did that successfully because he was laying down and was giving a sigh of relief and also because I off the light, he couldn't see my face, I think he really enjoyed it. I stood up, went inside the bathroom, and hid the container, he almost caught me because he stood up and followed me to the bathroom without my consent.

We met at the door and he held me so tight again.

"Darling are you really the one that did this to me this morning?" he asked.

"Yes of course, that is what you have always wanted right?" I added amidst of fear.

"Tell me, how did you learn all this?" I know he must ask that question.

"Just to make you happy, I paid for a sex class on watsap group" I replied.

"Like seriously?" he asked.

"Yes".

"Alright, that means, I have to give it to you this morning like never before" he said as he lifted me up.

Hmmm, this man nearly killed me with sex that morning, I have really invited problem by myself, I felt so tired that I nearly forgot that I had an appointment with my doctor.

I waited till he left for work, then I took a permission in my work place and left to the hospital.

The doctor was so happy when he found out that I carried out the plan successfully. He told me to come back in three days time for the result and I went back to my work place.

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: The Open Secret .

Episode Six.

Frank's POV

My wife really surprised me in such a way that I couldn't get my mind off from what happened in the morning, even his attitude changed recently, she stopped the fight, the nag, the worries and everything, at least this few days, I had peace of mind and I pray that it remains that way because am totally tired of her troubles,

. I even decided not to talk to her doctor again, there was never a time I like looking for trouble just that my wife worries nearly put me into it.

I know its all my fault but what do I do, am still afraid to open up because loosing my wife is the highest thing that would ever happen to me.

.

. Tina's POV .

Just for the few moments, my home was calm again, it returned exactly to what it looked like at the first time of our marriage but am not really happy, am just covering up because it seems as if am about to find a solution to my problem.

After preparing the breakfast, I served my husband his own food and started preparing for work.

I left my office around 3:00pm to the hospital because I have an appointment with the doctor.

"Doctor good day". I greeted while trying to relax my spirit because I was feeling so worried.

"You dosent look so bright, are you alright?. " he asked.

"Yes doctor, what about the result, is it ready?" I asked.

"Relax, everything is under control, madam your husband has an infection, it is called chlamydia. It is a sexual transmitted disease caused by a micro organism" he added and my heart skips each moment he drops a statement...

"This particular infection can lead to infidelity and that is what your husband is going through, he will not be able to get you pregnant because of this infection. " he added again.

By the time he rounded off, tears have gathered in my eyes, I was speechless, I held my head with my both hands.

"So my husband is this wicked, Chaii!! " I cried out in pain.

"Please calm down, I believe that every single problem has a solution, you just need to gather your self together" he said.

"Doctor what do I do now? " I asked.

"HmMMM, you have to give me some time, my dad is an urologist, I will talk to him about this issue, so please you wait till I do that" he said.

"Oh my God, what have I gotten my self into? " I was still crying.

"You just have to calm down, we will find a solution to this, but you have to pretend as if you don't know anything, let's find the solution first, put yourself together okay?" He said again.

I left to my house with a heavy pain in my heart.

my husband noticed my mood but I warned him seriously never to ask me any question, I controlled myself In order not to bring up the issue like the doctor said, because if he finds out that I collected his sperm and gave it to the doctor, that one will be another problem.

since he have started with keeping a secret, let us keep going with it, but I hated my husband because of this, I felt like killing him because he is nothing but a devil, so his plan was to keep me here to remain a barren woman forever.

I am sure that he made up this plan with his useless doctor to keep me as a foolish one.

That night was a painful night, I regretted everything that happened between me and Frank, I cursed the day I met him, I choosed him thinking that he is the right one without knowing that he is a green snake under the green grass.

"You are acting so strange since yesterday night, are you alright" that was his question but I ignored him.

"Am I not talking to someone" he asked again.

"Please, let me be" I shouted at him.

"You have started right? "

"If you would like to go out from this house with your whole body intact, let me be, but if you want to go with a broken head, talk to me again" I said again and right now my eyes have changed its color.

I stood up from the couch and faced him with my eyes wide open. He drew back a bit, folds his hands and started looking at me as if am a strange person.

"Tina, what have come over you? " he asked.

"You are the mad person here, the betrayal, devil, infact you are my worst mistake," I shouted back at him.

"This is not you Tina, what is it please" I pushed him out from my way and left to the kitchen, I brought out a knife and when he saw me with the knife, he ran out from the siting room. I really acted like a mad person, and I was really mad at him.

I didnt went to work for complete two days because I felt sick, I was heart broken and I totally lost my appetite, not even a single food enters my mouth until the doctor called me, he told me to come to the hospital and meet him.

I managed to eat in order to get the strength that will carry me to the hospital, just three days and I have already loose a lot of strength, I became so lean that to walk is even so hard for me.

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +233544142683Ohene Ome: The Open Secret .

Episode Seven.

Tina's POV

The doctor excused me for some time in order to see a patient, when he came back, he looked at me and smiled.

"Do you want to kill yourself over this issue? Its that going to be the solution,? Why do you look so unkept, just under one week, huh? " he said.

"Doctor, you will not understand, I can't believe that my husband can be so heartless to keep such secret from me under the same roof" I replied.

"You know what, I think that man really loves you, he may be afraid of loosing you, I want you to calm down, everything will be alright, I assure you that"he said,.

"Am so confused, I don't even know what to do" I said.

"Just calm down, like I said every problem has a solution, I have talked to my dad, the infection has a treatment but it will cost you a lot" he said.

"Doctor how much? " I asked.

"Well, he will under go these treatment under two months, so the medicine for that two months is #150, 000" he said.

"No problem doctor, the problem now is how will he receive the treatment, am afraid too, how do I convince him to take the medication, am afraid, if he finds out what I did, especially now that I have insulted him a lot, I will be in trouble" I said.

"You would have not insulted him, I told you to calm down that everything is under control, listen, I don't think its necessary for your husband to know what we did now, let's see if we can treat this infection first, then it can be a testimony , he will not react much then if he realize that he is well. " he said and that really make sense.

"Then how do I do that? " I asked.

"During this time of treatment, your husband needs natural fruit juice and also fruits, the medicine are in form of tablet, every morning and evening, grind the tablet and put it inside the fruit juice, you have to be in peace with your husband in order to convince him to take the juice morning and night without suspecting you, the serious caution is this, during this two months of treatment, No sex" he said and I opened my eyes so wide.

"Huh? " I asked again.

"Yes, that was what my dad said, he didnt give me 100% assurance that the medicine will heal him entirely but he said that it have work on so many men that had this same issue, so try it and also with prayer" the doctor said.

"But how do I really deny my husband sex for complete two months? Is he not going to suspect me?" I asked.

"Well, embark on midnight prayer and tell him that a pastor gave you a two months midnight and during these time, you have to concentrate without having sex, just use your sense" hmmm, this doctor is too clever, A man that is my only companion in the days of my trouble, may God bless him abundantly.

Frank's POV .

I became so much afraid under my own roof, I can't really tell what is wrong with my wife, her recent troubles were so terrible.

But just two days after that incident, she calmed down and was quite again, but I noticed she lost weight, she looks moody too though the last time she tried smiling but the smile didn't betray me.

Just today, she came back from work in the evening with bag of fruits, she came in smiling to me.

"Darling" she said.

"Honey welcome, why all these fruits, are you planning to start selling fruits" I asked still afraid because I don't know what she is up to.

"No, it's for us, we need this fruit for a healthy life" she said while smiling.

"Really, why the sudden fruit stuff in this house?".

"I said it's good for our body, even the fruit drink, I will be preparing it by myself," she said and kissed me.

"Okay o" I said as I watched her walk into the kitchen.

I decided to ask her the reason behind her recent actions, ~that was at night, she came out with fruit drink and a fruit salad, and offered them to me, after drinking the fruit drink and eating the fruits, I ~waited for her to pack the plates.

"Honey, why did you behave that way the other day? " I noticed her look when I asked that question, but she smiled~ and say.

"Just a stupid friend that annoyed me, you know how I feel when am angry, honey please forgive me." She said but yet am not convinced but I decided to sweep this issue under the carpet.

Tina's POV .

Just two days after the discussion with the doctor, I paid him the money and he gave me the medicine and also the prescription.

Today is the fourth day, just morning and night, I always give my husband the fruit drink which contains the medicine too, just this evening, he asked a funny question..

"Darling did they tell you that this will help us to make a baby? " I became speechless.

"HmMMMM, all I know is that its good for us okay, we are using it to cool off" I replied.

"Just that you dont get tired of preparing the juice every evening, I hope you dont get tired someday because am loving this your daily juice o" he said I gave I sigh of relief.

At least he dosent suspect anything.

But what about the sex issues, do you think its going to hook me at that point?

TBC.

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: ~The Open Secret.

~

Episode Eight.

Tina's POV

It wasn't an easy task trying to do all this in secret, giving my infertile husband treatment without his knowledge.

It's a kind of funny but to me it was really a big task, my joy was that, he has never for one day rejected my fruit drink.

Today is the eleventh day of the treatment and my husband has never asked me for sex, I used this method of reading the bible immediately I entered into our bedroom, once it's 12:am. I started praying.

But tonight being the eleventh night, my husband never minded that I was reading the bible, he started touching me, I was removing his hands but when I did that the third time, he stood up and started shouting at me.

"Tina, what is your plan in this house, to start denying me sex like you did the other time, see I am not a child, stop playing with my feelings"

I actually know that one day, all this will happen, I know that my husband can never keep quiet and watch me pray all night for complete two months.

"Darling, I am doing this for our own good, a pastor gave me a two months midnight prayer because of our situation, and he told me to concentrate without having sex, please, can you sacrifice that two months for our own good" I said in a calm voice.

"Really, midnight prayers that is against your own husband touching you, I have never heard something like that since I was born, I am sure you are joking with this right, Tina two months without sex!" he shouted again.

"Honey, do you know that sex is pleasure of the flesh, and atimes for you to get what you want, you have to deny your self those things that gives your flesh pleasure, you have to suffer yourself, please bear with me please" I added.

"You are not serious" he said and left the bedroom.

I broke into tears, I don't actually know what am getting myself into, I dont even know if my husband will start looking outside for girls because of all this, that night I prayed to God like never before, I asked for his grace and mercy because I don't even know what else to do.

The next day, I was afraid that my husband might reject the fruit drink, since he was angry and even slept in the sitting room.

I woke earlier, clean the house and prepared the breakfast but he was still sleeping, I brought out his clothe ironed them and placed them on top of our bed, then I went straight to the couch where he was laying down and tap him gently.

"Honey wake up, its morning already" I said and he opened his eyes gently, he stoop up and threw him self inside my arms.

"Am so weak"he said.

"Good morning to you darling, am sorry but guess what, all you need to do is to brush your teeth, your food are ready" I said.

"Like seriously?, I cant wait to eat o" he said and gave me a peck, then left the siting room.

I was surprised, he didnt react, it was as if the holy spirit touched him that morning, I was so happy he never behaved as if we had quarell the other night.

From that day on, he started sleeping in the sitting room, but I wasent happy about it because I know he is doing that out of annoyance.

I just hoped my husband will not go outside and start seeking for sex.

Just one day, I talked to him about the issue of sleeping in the sitting room, I told him that it will be better if he starts joining me in the prayers, that it was one month already and very soon the two months without sex will be over, he misunderstood me again that night and he shouted at me, that maybe am having sex with the so called pastor.

I ignored him because I know what am actually after, and I know my husband, he can say anything to you once he is angry but my greatest happiness was that he have never rejected the fruit drinks, atimes, he will even ask me for it.

.
. .

Frank's POV .

Later on, I found out a lot of reason to join my wife in her prayers, the woman actually needs a baby and that was what prompt to all this, though, atimes I weep inside of me, knowingly that impregnating my wife is only by Gods grace.

I have fought this infection for complete four years but yet all to no avail, I even lost hope entirely and always cry because of the pains am causing my wife because of all this.

I joined her in the prayers, and one month later, all was over, but what I kept wondering about was the fruit drink which she ceised to make for me all the time like before, I asked her while she took a break but she gave an excuse and promised that she will start doing it all the time again, but my mind tells me that there is something behind that fruit drink.

Maybe its among the pastor praying things but like usual, I waved everything off. I started enjoying my wife again on bed.

Tina' s POV .

After that two months, my husband nearly killed me on bed, but let me not talk about that one.

I went and told the doctor how successfully everything went and he told me to go and wait patiently and also told me what to eat and drink in order to boost my ovulation.

What do you think??

TBC

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +2335441426830hene Ome: The Open Secret .

Episode Nine.

Tina's POV .

My mind wasent stable both in the office and at home because I was actually expecting a good news.

one day, while coming back from work, I drove straight to the chapel, packed my car at the gate and came inside the chapel.

I began to talk with my father in heaven with tears in my eyes.

" O' Lord, I know that your grace is sufficient and that was why I always seek for Your grace, you made me, put me inside my mom's womb and had already ordained me, I know you never say that I will be a barren woman and what ever you say I will be, that is what I will actually be and that is why am kneeling in front of you, anoint my womb in order to carry my own child, father what ever my husband and I have done in the past, forgive us and give us our own child O'lord. "

I continued with my prayers with the tears in my eyes.

I was there until a young guy came in, when I wanted to go, he stopped me.

"Woman, your prayers are already answered, I saw a baby that is following you, this child is a child that will bring peace and fortune in your home, go home and bless the name of the Lord" he said while closing his eyes.

"Amen, thank you so much sir" and before I could leave the premises, the young man have already disappeared into the thin air, I became afraid and left immediately.

.
. .
.

Two months on, there was nothing like a quarell between me and my husband, the kind of peace that was restored was so awesome and am really enjoying it.

I became sick one day that I couldn't even go to work, I was vomiting all day with a severe headache, I took a fever pills but yet I didn't regain my health, by the time my husband came back I was lying helplessly on the bare floor, he rushed in immediately and carried me up.

"Honey, whats happening to you? "He asked.

"I dont know" I replied.

"I think you have to go to the hospital please, you need a medical attention " he added.

"No, I will get well, just take me into the bathroom, I want to take my bath" I said and he did that immediately, he helped me in the bathroom and even prepared the dinner, that was the first time my husband is cooking anything since I got married to him.

The next day, he woke up earlier, and also got the breakfast ready.

"Honey, wake up, so that you can eat and bath, we need to go to the hospital this morning" he said.

"No, Frank, am alright now, I just need to have some rest this morning, if it become worst again, I can find my way to the hospital, dont worry okay? " I said.

"Am worried, but if you say so, I will be calling you on phone okay? " he said and started preparing for work.

When my husband left the house, a thought came Into my mind.

"Maybe I am pregnant " I said as I looked at my self, even my breast are so full and my face was looking so bright even though I was really sick.

"Should I go and get pregnancy strip test? " I asked myself, later on, I decided to do that. After the test, two lines appeared which indicates that its positive but I decided to be very sure, I gave my husband a call and told him that I want to go the hospital, he permitted me and also ask me to give him a call in anything he needed to know,.

Royalhood hospital have become my favorite hospital and doctor Ransome is now my companion. Hi kwaku ish on+233544142683 to read more stories from our telegram page. I met him at the office after showing him the test tube and also telling him how I felt recently, he smiled and said.

"I know that my God is too faithful to fail a faithful wife like you, the reason I took the risk to help you was how you told me that you will never cheat on your husband and I told myself that you deserve to be bless by God, now see your blessings around you" he said and laughed out loud.

"Doctor, do you mean am truly pregnant" I asked again.

"Mrs. Tina, do not worry, you will undergo a blood test Inorder for us to confirm. "

.

Two hours later the result came out, guess what? I am seven weeks pregnant, it was like a dream but its a reality, can't you see that God really answers prayer, my joy knew no bound, I rushed home and met my husband in the siting room, he saw how happy I was and he was the first person that asked me,

. "whats happening? "

"Darling, just guess" I said.

"Guess? Tina please tell me, whats this happiness all about? "

"Just sit down" he did and I sat on his laps, brought out the test result and gave to him, after reading it, he looked at me in a confused manner.

"Are you joking with me or what? " he asked.

"Honey am not, we are actually expecting our own baby as soon as possible" I said while smiling.

But his mood was what I can't really explain, he was actually forcing out a smile, I know my husband and I know how he acts when he is really happy.

"Its everything alright? " I asked.

"Yes darling, of course am very happy " he said as he faked a smile but I know that all is not well, but as for me, I was so much over whelmed.

Frank's POV .

"Is she actually joking? " was the first question I asked my self. Can God really do this miracle or could it be what am thinking?

Could it be that my wife have gone to cheat on me because she needs a baby?

Many things kept running through my mind,I have to go And see my doctor, like seriously am not happy over all this, I will equally deal with my wife if he have gone outside to get pregnant.

(Like seriously, men are terrible)

TBC .

[3/31, 7:18 AM] +233544142683Ohene Ome: The Open Secret .

Episode Ten

(Final Episode.

Frank's POV .

Doctor Charles was a bit busy when I came into his office, I waited patiently for him and after ten minutes, he was done.

"Dr Charles am really worried right now" I said.

"Really? What is the problem?" he asked.

"My wife came back with a news that she is pregnant day before yesterday, can that be possible?" I asked.

"Hmmm, well, am not God, it can happen but that is only if you had undergo any treatment recently" he said.

"No doctor, ever since that last time we tried that medications and it didn't work, I have never see any other doctor, talk more of taking a treatment." I replied.

"Then, its impossible, your wife must have gone outside and get pregnant " he said.

"I thought as much as you did, oh my God, so my wife had the guts to cheat on me" I cried out.

"My dear, I told you earlier to go and warn that doctor but you refused, you have seen it all now" he said.

"I think I caused all this, I would have tell my wife everything, at least she will never had the guts to go out and bring in another man's child, no I can never bear this, let me go and confront her" I said and when I was about to leave, the doctor stopped me.

"Take it gradually like a matured man, if she denys it, force her to come for a DNA test" he said and I think he really made sense.

Tina's POV .

Three days on, I bought some gifts and goods and went to the motherless babies home Inorder to show appreciation because I went there when I was yet to conceive, when I came back, I met my husband at home, I greeted him but instead of him to respond, he started shouting at me.

"Woman, where are you coming back from" he said.

"From the motherless babies home of course, I told you right" I said in a calm voice.

"Really, the child is yet to come out and you have already start going for thanksgiving, you desparate woman" he shouted.

"Really, since I became pregnant, you totally changed, I wonder what is really wrong with ~you, its there anything you are hiding or do you belong to anywhere that rejects baby" I said pretending as if I dont know what~ is wrong, of course I know but I want to watch him act fully.

"You must be stupid, Tina, I have been enduring all your trash but in this one, your cup is full, who is the owner of this pregnancy? " he asked and I laughed out so loud.

"Wowww, oh my God, see question, you know what, mr. Frank, I have no answer to that question, DNA test will give you the answer to that question and after that, if the child really belongs to you, you will tell me the exact reason why you think that I can go outside and bring in another's man's child for you." I said.

"You think you can betray me, we are going for the DNA test in st Christopher hospital because I know that your useless doctor is behind all these." He said and I became so annoyed.

"Frank, you are so terrible, you see your useless life, very soon, your secret will be known, betrayal that calls another person betrayal" I said and when I was about to leave, he said again.

"We are going for the test tomorrow morning"

"Why not tonight? heartless man" I said and left him there.

I called my doctor and told him everything, he told me that now its the perfect time to open every secret and that he will be right there at the hospital, I thanked him and cut the call.

Ten hours later, our result was ready, and doctor Charles sat down looking so confused.

"Frank, the baby belongs rightfully to you" he said.

"But Charles, how come? " he asked.

"I dont know, am confused too" he said.

"Wow wow wow, confused set of people, can you tell me why you are all confused? I asked why laughing, just then, doctor Ransome entered and they were all surprised again.

Dr Charles offered him a seat.

"Frank my dearest husband and secretive husband, can you please tell us why you denied your unborn child" I asked and he was looking at me as if am a ghost.

"Doctor and a secret keeper, can you please tell us why you are also confused? " I asked again and doctor Ransome started laughing.

"Mrs. Tina you are really funny. Hmmm, Mr. Frank I know you can remember me very well, my fellow doctor, I am dr Ransome and also a personal doctor to mrs. Tina here.

Frank, can you remember vividly when I ~came to your hospital and begged you to come for a test just like your wife suggested" he asked and I watched my husband nodded like an agama lizzard.~

"Since you refused to come, we decided to use ~these method, I asked her to get your semen for a test and she did that, that was how we found out that you had an infection which was preventing you from getting your wif~ e pregnant.

I decided to help your wife" he said and now they were looking so guilty.

"My dearest husband, I can't afford to loose you, and I can't go for a divorce and I can't actually remain a barren woman so I decided to help us through the help of Dr Ransome" I added.

"If you can remember the morning I gave you a romance like never before, that was the day I collected your semen, am so sorry that I did all that, it was all because I want us to have a child, my recent threat with a knife was when I found out that you are having an infection that made you infertile, the juice I was giving you morning and night contains the medicine I bought #150,000, Inorder for us to have a baby, am sorry my husband, all these was a secret that I kept but you started with a secret" he couldn't let me finish, he burst out in tears and knelt down before me.

"My wife please forgive me, I was the cause of all these, I never wanted to loose you, that was why I paid Dr. Charles to forge the result, please! " he cried out.

"I was really angry because you and the doctor turned around and said that I am the one that had infection if not for doctor Ransome, I would have believed that but thank God, the storms are over, I forgive you because I really love you and also because God have heard my prayers" I said and led him up, we hugged each other so tight.

That was how peace and harmony returned back to my home as I gave birth to my set of twins and also two more kids and we live happily ever after.

No more secret, we both became so open to ourselves because we already learnt that we can be of help to each other.

The End.